For Lovers of Style

Pretty Hat Embellishments.

Large-sized silk cord is something entirely new in hat trimmings and is most effective. A dark blue felt toque is trimmed with blue silk cord of a peacock lighter shade. This cord is wound several times around the crown and looped and knotted at one side, the ends being brought together and fastened with a shaded blue cachochon in the center of the looping. Silver cord and cabochons form an effective trimming on white felt and black velvet hats respectively. Silver centaine braid is sewed to velvet or ribbon, and with half of the middle, or the edges, of the ribbon left plain, is then used for bands and flat bows. Silver and gold gauze ribbons are used for hat bindings.

Furs as Trimmings.

Furs as trimmings are charming. The best skating frocks will show trimmings of sable, mink and even ermine; the latter especially is very costly. The cream and white cloths and corduroy velvet now in vogue are vastly improved by an edging of mink or sable, though martin-tail is a good substitute. It is in skating frocks that we shall see the most perfect specimens of the short skirt; it is at its best cut with a second full frill round the feet, which assists in giving the graceful swing that makes skating such a pretty pastime.

Russian Coat.

Walking suits made with long coats in Russian style are essentially smart as well as serviceable and are well adapted to the fashionable materials of the season. This one is made of gray sibeline with figures of white and combines the Russian coat with a plain five-gored skirt. The coat is a specially desirable one and includes the wide sleeves that mean comfort as well as style, while the skirt is cut with their rich silver decoration, and combines with chiffon or crepe for opera and theater wear. It is very unusual and extremely picturesque. The showy Turkish bolero are also present in the season's fancy dressy wear by combining them with black or white blouses, and, subduing their flashy gilt effect by an overembroidery of coarse black silk.

Tucked Blouse.

Tucked blouses or shirt waists are held exceedingly smart and are shown in the new washable fabrics as well as in wool and silk waistings. The model shown is a special favorite with lady good one and well adapted to all materials and to dress waists and simple gowns. The applied box plait at the center front is both new and desirable and is gradated to give a narrow line at the waist, a broad one at the shoulders, an effect which is repeated in the tucks that are taken back while those at the front give a pointed waist effect and provide fullness below. The sleeves are simple and are gathered into full bee wings which match the stock collar. The model is made of pine green pongee crepe with collar and cuffs of velvet and cut steel buttons.

The waist consists of the fitted lining, which is optional, fronts and back with the box plait that is separate and adjusted in position. The sleeves are tucked above the elbow, full below and are finished with the cuffs and wings. The lining is not used, if one prefers to omit it.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 4⅞ yards 21 or 27 inches wide, or 2¾ yards 44 inches wide, with ¼ yard of velvet for collar and cuffs.

The pattern, 4619, is cut in sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure.

4619 Tucked Blouse, 32 to 40 bust.

Debutante's Costume.

A soft, white, clinging goods known as sicilienne, very popular this year, is cleverly used in a debutante's costume. The corsage is arranged with a bandkerchief yoke and back, heavy lace being employed, and the tucked sleeves disclose slightly into the white silk crush belt of girdle shape. The goods is tucked on the shoulders and wherever else the lace parts to show it. The sleeves also are tucked to the elbows; the fullness is allowed to puff and the lower part of the sleeve is of lace which matches in kind the bertha and yoke. A flared cuff is the finishing feature of the sleeve. The skirt falls in graceful folds and shows considerable of a train. In design the skirt offers a striking novelty, being built in five sections, the horizontal tucks concealing the joinings. Each section has its own tucking which keeps the skirt in complete harmony with the tucked waist. The lace yoke is a shirred puff and the drop skirt has several flounces, the upper ruffle being of chiffon and making a fluffy finish for the pretty skirt. Natural nothing heavier than white silk and chiffon should be allowed to go under all this daintiness.

4494 Russian Coat, 32 to 40 bust.
4483 Five Gored Skirt, 22 to 32 waist.

Pretty Teagown.

The teagown is quite as elaborate in its way as the dinner toilet and may be indeed called "picture" frock. Exquisite was one of softest pearl gray satin, with a broad "empire" band of silver embroidered chiffon also appeared on the hem of the flowing skirt. Just caught on the shoulders with rhinestone clasps of brussels applique, lined with gray chiffon; the underslieeve was also of gray chiffon with falling corners of lace.

Rose Petticoats.

A very beautiful white of the girl who does not consider expense to be life pale-tinted cloths—gray, biscuit-color, silvery-white or oyster shell—with "drawn-pink" peau de cygne, the petticoat being pale rose peau de cygne, with many chiffon ruches shading from "dawn-pink" to deep rose. And one daring French "rose skirt" carried an under frill of black chiffon, very chic and lovely, but almost too audacious.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine tenths of our ills are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Encouragement for the Author.

"While we are returning you manuscript as being unavailable, wrote the appreciative editor to the inspiring author, "we are sorry we have not, in one particular, written sufficient originality to justify us in prophesying that you will get a something to merit the attention of the public. It is the first case on record, so far as we are able to learn where a collar button has been used for a brad."

GREAT BRITAIN FORCES RUSSIA

Balfour's Threat Is Said to Have Brought the Czar to Time.

MUSCOVITE LOSES PRESTIGE

Surrender Includes Opening of All important Ports in Manchoria, Withdrawal of Claims to Seoul and Abandonment of Port Arthur.

London cable: The surrender of Russia to Japan because of the announced determination of Great Britain to adhere to the uttermost to the terms of the Anglo-Japanese treaty was reported by the Russian correspondent of the Times.

Opening to general commerce of all the important ports in Manchoria, the complete withdrawal of Russian pretensions to Corea, and the possible abandonment of Port Arthur as a military stronghold, are the most important points in the terms of surrender as reported to the Times.

The determination of the Czar thus to sue for peace at the cost of a crushing blow to Russian prestige is attributed to the bold pronouncement by Premier Balfour in discussing the Anglo-Japanese treaty in a speech at Manchester last Monday night.

"Great Britain to the fullest extent," said the Premier at that time, "will carry out all the obligations imposed upon her by her treaties."

is Construed as Threat.

In its leading editorial the following morning the Daily News interpreted this declaration as "a plain and unnecessary threat to Russia." That is was a warning to the government at St. Petersburg was questioned by none. Its decisive effect, if the dispatches to the Times are confirmed, will be regarded as the great first British diplomatic triumph in recent years.

The correspondent of the Times at Moscow comments on the severity of the censorship of all dispatches referring to movements of troops or fleets.

The Standard's Tien-Tsin correspondent says it is reported that Russia has asked China to send 15,000 troops to Manchoria to protect Chinese subjects.

Guard the Railway.

The Port Arthur correspondent of the Daily Mail says China's firmness in reocupying Mukden has complicated Russia's arrangements for the defense of Manchoria. It doubles the difficulties of guarding the long line of communications between the boundaries and the coast line. There are about 200,000 Russian troops in Manchoria. Half of them are employed in guarding the railway, which is 2,000 verstes long.

Japan Need Not Borrow.

A dispatch to the Telegraph from Tokio reports the speeches made at the Japanese bankers and business men's banquet to the British and American naval and military attaches and newspaper correspondents. The chairman said that Japan could meet the cost of a war with Russia easier than she met the cost of the war with China, though she knew the impending struggle would be more serious. Japan's trade is now fourfold what it was then. She need not borrow abroad. She could arrange for a two or three years' struggle without borrowing.

The correspondent discredits messages from Europe saying that Russia will accept Japan's terms. He says they are manufactured and cannot retard action.

Points in Dispute.

In what it claims as an authoritative statement, the Daily Graphic announces that the negotiations have arrived at a stage leaving the points upon which neither Russia nor Japan is inclined to yield, and as to which no means of a compromise have yet been found.

Both these points concern Manchoria, and their acceptance would not in the slightest degree modify the legal status quo or change the administrative situation in Manchoria, but Japan insists "that they be embodied in a treaty between Japan and Russia, while Russia, as a matter of proper propre, refuses to accept such dictation at the hands of Japan. Much, however, is still hoped from the Czar's influence. The statement adds:

"Of course, any attempt of Russia to increase very largely her naval forces in the far east by moving her Black sea or Baltic fleets would make war a question of only a few hours."

This statement seems to be borne out by the dispatch from Tokio that Japan had received Russia's communication saying that Russia would respect the rights and privileges already acquired by the powers in Marchoria under the existing treaties with China, except in the case of the establishment of foreign settlements, which shows that negotiations are continuing on the question of Manchoria.

RELEASE BANKER FROM PRISON.

Indignation Over Parole of James M. Key From Penitentiary.

Wabash, Ind., special: Great indignation prevails at Andrews and Huntington over the discovery that James M. Key, the wrecker of the Commercial bank at Andrews, has been paroled. Key was convicted two years ago of looting the institution and sentenced to from two to twenty years in the penitentiary. A few weeks ago Judge Hanna, who tried the case, was asked if he would favor the release of Key and replied in the negative. Neither the prosecuting attorney nor anyone else was informed of the contemplated parole and all efforts were surprised by the action of the prison authorities. It is charged that influence from without the state was brought to bear in Key's favor. An indictment for forgery was hanging over him and he would have been arrested on his release had such not it been given. He is now supposed to be in St. Louis.
