ELA TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

In order to encourage higher standards of scholarship, we have decided to change our study hall system to some extent. Heretofore, we have permitted all students to use magazines as they sat in the future only honor students will be permitted to use magazines during study hours. By honor students we mean those who have a scholarship average of B or above and with no grade below C. It is the opinion of both students and faculty that our scholarship average should be higher and we are using this method to encourage higher standards.

Work on the Declamatory contest is progressing nicely. There are twenty entries in the four divisions—dramatic, humorous, oratorical and extemporaneous. Mrs. Loomis is in charge of the coaching of the first two groups and Miss Browne will conduct the oratorical and extemporaneous groups. More interest is being shown than during any previous year and we are hoping we will make a good showing in the sub-district contest to be held in Palatine this year. The preliminary contest will be held at Elgin, April 19. Be sure to save the date. Give these young people and their school the support they deserve. It is only through cooperative effort of the school and the patrons that we succeed.

Honor Pupils

The honor roll of Elia for the first six weeks of the second semester has been completed. The girls at Elia seem to lead in scholarship for the honor roll has no boys on it. The freshmen and sophomores lead in scholarship. Those pupils having an average of B or with no grade below B are: Caroline Fehman and Marjorie Soderberg, average of B meaning a grade of 8. Both girls are freshmen. The sophomore girls are Caroline Schaeferman and Violet Umkdenstock with an average of B meaning 84 and 83, respectively. The seniors had an average of B. The seniors had no one in this group.

Those pupils having an average of B, with no grade below C are as follows: freshmen, Pauline Fisher with an average of B; sophomores, Ruth Schwaner and Emma Tine, with an average of B and H, respectively, and seniors, Mabel Krueger, with an average of B.

"I'm enjoying my vacation, thank you," says Mr. Trigger

Mr. Trigger was only human, after all. He hated winter because it meant hours spent in bullying the furnace, trying to keep the house halfway comfortable.

But now that the Triggers have gas heat, winter has new joys for them. Mr. Trigger likes to brag about the vacation he's having from shoveling coal and carrying out ashes.

It's a real vacation for Mrs. Trigger, too. She had to take care of the furnace from eight to six when Mr. Trigger was at the office—and it always seemed to start "acting up" when Mr. Trigger was away.

Why don't you see about a vacation from furnace-tending? Let a thermostat regulate clean, carefree gas heat automatically for your home. Call your Public Service Store and we'll tell you all about our special spring installation offer—and estimate just what gas heat will cost through the heating season.

If you would like an attractive little booklet containing further adventures of the Trigger Family with gas heat, write your Public Service Store. We'll be glad to send it to you. Obligation? None at all.

DAIRYMEN WANT OLEO ENFORCEMENT

UNEXPECTED FARM RELIEF

Good news for American cotton farmers has recently come from an unexpected source. And it is from a most pivotal and authoritative source at that—the world's fashion headquarters—Paris.An association of cotton manufacturers engaged in promoting a greater use of the South's staple has just issued a bulletin which contains the following:
"Paris is featuring cotton this season as never before.
The French people, although they do not produce a single pound of cotton within their own country, are nevertheless the greatest friends of the American cotton growers today.""They recognize the inherent beauty and serviceability of our great product and lead the world in featuring cotton dresses. Following the lead of Paris, prominent dress manufacturers and department stores in America are also featuring cotton."Continuing, the statement declares that cotton has thus come to public attention as never before, having been modernized in new weaves, textures and designs.
So, with cotton again in style and recognized as the most durable of textile fabrics, certainly the well-dressed woman need not hesitate to wear it. Style shows featuring cotton are being organized in many cities, and the new and finer fabrics now available are receiving enthusiastic acceptance.Thus it appears that the fashion authorities of Paris may prove to be a greater aid to the cotton farmers of the South than any of the other agencies which have been set up for their relief.

WHALES CUT HOG-DEMAND

It may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true that the growing whaling industry is having an adverse effect upon the demand for hogs. In several foreign countries whale oil is being used for making margarine, thereby reducing the market for American lard.One large packing company reports that the production of whale oil has increased 300 per cent in the last four years, and now equals one-half of all the lard produced in the United States. This has been due to the discovery of a process whereby the fishy taste of whale oil may be removed, making it more palatable as human food.To supply this vast quantity of oil, about 30,000 whales were killed last year, each yielding more than 100 barrels on an average, there being 400 pounds of oil to the barrel. In modern whaling the animals are killed by an explosive carried by a harpoon fired from a gun, and the carcass is reduced to oil, fertilizer and canned meat by a large ship on the spot equipped for the purpose. While meat is not very desirable for food, but on account of its cheapness it is used in some Oriental countries.The use of whale oil in the United States is confined largely to the manufacture of soap and lubricants, none being used here for margarine making. But in foreign markets the whale is becoming a real competitor of the American hog.

WHAT FOLKS WANT

If one were to ask a number of people to say what the national, state, and local governments should do for the benefit of the public, the answers received would probably include these:Reduce taxes.
Reduce the number of public officials and employees.
Reduce all public expenditures.
In the same breath many would probably demand that the government should also:
Build more roads.
Provide better schools.
Enforce the laws more effectively.
Erect more public buildings.
Pay off all public debts.It does not require a great deal of intelligence to comprehend that the accomplishment of these directly opposing objects is impossible.If people continue to vote bonds for roads, bridges, schools and public buildings, if they demand more officials of the law, better sanitary and health measures, and so on, it is going to cost more money, with an inevitable increase in taxation.

WOOD ALCOHOL DANGER

Federal regulation of the sale of methanol—wood alcohol—is proposed in a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Bingham of Connecticut, and in the House by Representative Goss of the same state.These companion bills provide that "wood alcohol shall not be used in any article of food or drink, or in any medicinal or toilet preparation, or in any radiator anti-freeze compound," or sold for any purpose, except under a special permit from the Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol.The bills also provide that all containers in which wood alcohol is sold shall have labels containing the words "Deadly Poison; Wood Alcohol" in red letters at least one-half inch high, with the customary skull and cross-bones used on poison labels, also in red. There must also be the following warning in letters at least one-eighth of an inch high:"Warning: Wood alcohol is extremely poisonous and may cause blindness or death if it enters the body through the mouth, by skin absorption or by inhalation of vapors." According to its author, the bill is intended to prevent flooding the country with wood alcohol or methanol anti-freeze compound, which is said to have already caused more than 400 deaths and countless cases of blindness.Many of the best medical and scientific minds agree that such legislative action, both state and national, should be enacted, but other hundreds of deaths and cases of blindness may occur before the necessary restrictions on the sale of wood alcohol are made effective.A Yale professor says the weather causes a loss of half a billion dollars a year. But think of the raw material for conversation it yields.Before complaining that other writers steal one's stuff it is just as well to wait until the real author has been forgotten.

WITTY AND WISE

Willing to overlook his wife's insistence, that her dog sleep with them, Claude Erickson of Chicago talked when she asked him to kiss his mother-in-law.A thief stole the 100-gallon copper tank of a captured still from the basement of the police headquarters at Eldorado, Ark.On the 50th anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Peickock were rewed by their son, Rev.
Paul Peickock of Union City, N. Y.Mrs. Rose Gomes of Cambridge, Mass., testified in her divorce suit that her husband splashed her with water to take the wave out of her hair.Charles Daniels of Portland, Ore., drew a $500 fine and six months imprisonment for firing several shots into a home, because he "didn't like the way they left their porch light on."Jasper Spencer of Philadelphia was excused from the jury when he told the judge that he never could keep awake while sitting in a comfortable seat listening to an interesting speech.Choosing the Best A LENTEN MEDITATION"But seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matt. 6:33)
The Lenten season is essentially preparatory. As Easter is the celebration of the greatest event in the Christian calendar we can appreciate its great worth only as our lives have made fitting preparation for it. Only the person who has given adequate thought to the Kingdom of God and His righteousness can form a fair estimate of the worth of eternal life as the Lord set it before us in His matchless example. The immortality of the soul is most readily grasped through the resurrection of our Lord.So crowded are our lives by many conflicting appeals that we can hope to come to our own only as we settle our thoughts on the things of supreme importance. Only as we give preference to the things of God can we avoid a confusion which is bewildering to any one.Many reasons may be given why we should give our first loyalty to God and His Righteousness, but there are only two to which we want to give our minds to in this brief meditation, namely, the limitation of our own lives and the infinite worth of the things of God.Among so many calls which come to us we must decide to which we will answer because it is impossible to heed all. What shall be the basis of our choices? Some might say: "First come, first served," and others we will answer these which are nearest or those which call loudest. None of these ways would prove satisfactory to our own highest interests. For the first may not be the best, and the nearest may not be most worthy, and the finest things are never the most noisy. Things of greatest value never crowd themselves upon us.If we do not wish to fritter away life's energy which is limited, and waste our great opportunity, then we must give first consideration to the things which mean the most to us. For it is in other things as Ruskin has said with respect to reading: "Do you know, if you read this you cannot read that?" Our own limitations compel us to choose between things because life is too short to do every thing we may wish, and there is not energy enough to do everything.But say some people I am so driven in my business that there is no chance for me to do anything else. We know something of the keenness of competition in these days, and yet we are here to do business, and God has never expected man to be enslaved by it unless he so wills. It is easy to offer excuses when only reasons should dominate life. The Master tells the story of a man engaged in real estate or a farm, and another in live stock, and a third so engrossed in his new home with its social obligations (Lk. 14:15) that none of them were able to break away long enough to come to the great feast. The facts are that these were poor slaves to secondary interests when God calls man to give first consideration to the PRI-MARY INTEREST.We grant that these all have their place in life, but life is sure to deteriorate where the spirit is robbed of its fellowship with God and the things of His Kingdom. The person devoted to things will reach a time when he ceases to satisfy his immortal longing for God. When he has reached this state where life's great opportunity to enrich itself in spiritual treasures is lost, what is to be done?This is just one illustration of many of its class. A person had made his material fortune, and then thought to spend some time in travel, and so got some of the joys he had missed in his drive for things. In Europe he rushed from one place to another. Once when in a great art gallery he went from room to room, and in passing an attendant this poor man said: "Nothing here worth seeing—not a thing."To this man in charge replied: "If you please sir, these pictures are no longer on trial—the spectators are."But riches are not the only things which hinder mankind from enjoying the great blessings of God. Sometimes it is the cares of the world and the pleasures of the world which often rob us of the riches which God so freely offers unto all who will come unto Him. Jesus said the heathens concerned themselves primarily about things, but He wanted his people to trust God to provide the necessities of life if they would but put His Kingdom and His Righteousness first. I cannot develop this thought in the brief space allotted.
But the greatest needs of the working and anxiously struggling children of men is to have God with them to stabilize them, and to calm their troubled feverish spirits, and to endow them with His divine power in life's struggle.
Then should all come off victors, and even in this life partake of some of the glory which belong to the Children of God.This is the message which the Church is trying to bring to this generation. The best way to get the blessings of God which we need for our own salvation is to join in worship of God where others go, and by the right association, and through the inspiration to be gotten from such spiritual services shall we find Him, and the Kingdom, and the Righteousness which He so freely offers unto all who will come to Him. And we all need this New Life, and the Supporting Presence of God with us in our lives here and now.

PRAYER

O God, open our eyes that we may see Thee, and thus come to know thy goodness, and to love Thee; to give Thee, and the things of thy Kingdom, and all that it means; to give it the place in our lives which belongs to it.
This we ask in the Name of Jesus Christ our Savior and Lord. Amen.

School District

In 1809 a vote was taken on the place of holding the next town meeting and Barrington Station received 106 votes to 41 for the center of the town. In 1870 and 1871 the station also received the highest number of votes and in 1873, the station received all the votes.In 1850 the town was divided into sixteen road districts; in 1851 into seventeen; in 1857, eighteen; in 1858 into nineteen; in 1860 into twenty; in 1861 into twenty-one; in 1862 into twenty-two; in 1863 into twenty-four; in 1869 into twenty-five, and in 1882 the number was reduced to twelve.

The Schools

On November 23, 1840, a notice was given of a school meeting to be held at the house of W. H. Oth on the 24th day of December. At the meeting an election was held on the question of dividing the town into school districts. The judges of the election were William Van Orsdel and Jesse F. Miller and Homer Wilmarth was clerk. Seventeen votes were cast for the organization; none appear to have been cast against it. The trustees elected were Philip Hawley, Homer Wilmarth, Thomas Perkins.On Jan. 1, 1841 the town was divided into 12 districts. No. 1 was the east half of the town, No. 2, the northwest corner; No. 3 the west center of the town, and No. 4, the Southwest corner. District No. 5 was formed Jan. 30, 1841. Park District No. 1 formed in 1845 became Union District No. 101806.The trustees of the school fund have been Alvah Miller to Jan. 1, 1845; John C. Allen to April 4, 1848; William Vallette to April 22, 1848; Wm. Devo to February 22, 1854; and Jerome W. Kingsley after that.Good School Balance The exact figures and facts respecting the origin and early growth of the school fund do not appear on the records, as turned over by William Devo to his successor, February 22, 1854 it was $2280.52 at which sum it remained for years. The first appropriation of interest on the school fund was made July 1, 1842 and was as follows: To district No.
1, $13.45; to No. 2, $10.47; to No. 3, $8.55; to No. 4, $31.40 and to No. 5, $8.00, a total sum of $73.72, the rate of interest on the fund then being 12 per cent per annum. The fund then must have been at that time about $625.00.In 1843 the number of districts was increased to six; in 1846 to seven; in 1847 to eight; in 1856 to nine and in 1867 to eleven. As a general thing the schools of this town continued in a flourishing condition.

Attention Voters

In order that the voters of Barrington can carry out the duties and privileges entrusted to them in the ballot, to the best interests of the village, the qualifications of the candidates for the various offices must be carefully considered. These qualifications include not only the personal characteristics of the candidates, but also their business and political relationship, and their views on municipal affairs.Personal honesty and integrity are, of course, first essentials, without which no candidate can be considered. A knowledge of law, business ability, and a sincere desire to be of service to the community are highly important requisites for officeholders in a competent and thrifty administration of municipal affairs.In addition to having the necessary personal qualifications, it is necessary that the candidates have no political or business connections that will in any manner interfere with their duties to the village which they will assume upon taking office. A public official cannot fulfill these duties to the best of his ability when to do so will cause him financial risk or loss, nor can he have the best interests of the community at heart if he is affiliated with a "machine," or with any political organization or faction that extracts promises or imposes obligations in exchange for support at the polls. A desirable candidate must be responsible only to the voters, and to them directly.In the village election to be held in a few weeks, there are two outstanding candidates who measure up to the standards mentioned, and who are worthy of the support of every voter. They are:

JOHN E. HEINRICH, for President of the Village Board

CHESTER R. JARDINE, for Trustee

Not only are these men qualified for the offices, but their policies of municipal government will be of immeasurable benefit to Barrington. They declare themselves opposed to "machine" politics in any form or guise, and have, therefore, not aligned themselves with any group of politicians nor bargained for the support of any faction or organization. They also declare themselves opposed to the creation of new municipal bodies to no good purpose, and generally designed only to increase the possibilities of patronage.Such new municipal bodies include the proposed Sanitary District, which is offered as a solution of the sewer case. They declare that the creation of such a Sanitary District will be, at best, only a temporary settlement, but will not dispose of the pending litigation for all time, the costs of which must eventually be borne by the tax-payers. On the other hand, it will impose upon the whole community a tax-levying and tax-collecting body that will not be responsible to the voters, but will have wide powers in directing vital municipal functions. Such unnecessary and expensive municipalities, with jurisdiction overlapping and confusing the jurisdiction of the village government, should not be permitted to exist. By election of competent and trustworthy candidates to the Village Board the voters make such additional bodies wholly superfluous, and place all municipal affairs in the hands of the Board, which is directly responsible to them and which they can control by means of the ballot box.In view of the above, the voters of Barrington can rest assured that they will make no mistake in giving their full support to Mr. Heinrich and Mr. Jardine and thereby making certain the election of competent officials.BARRINGTON CITIZENS COMMITTEE

Bebe Daniels at Catlow Sunday

Next Saturday's attraction at the Catlow theatre is titled "The Truth About Youth." It is a story of a young man's life that is different from any similar story that has ever been written.

With such youthful stars as Loreta Young, who is still in her teens and David Manners, who is in his early twenties, in the cast "The Truth About Youth" has been correctly cast. The elder element of the picture is capably taken care of by Conway Tearle, J. Farrell MacDonald and Myrtle Steadman. In other roles are Yola D'Avril, Myrna Loy and Ray Hollar.

A shining love story of modern life, "My Past," the Vitaphone production which features Bebe Daniels, is announced as the Sunday and Monday attraction at the Catlow theatre.

"My Past" is based on the sensational novel of the same name with the screen play and dialogue written by Charles Kenyon.

Bebe Daniels portrays a great star of the legitimate stage in the picture. The story deals with her private life instead of her professional spotlight career.

Lewis Stone and Ben Lyon enact close friends and business partners, but are rivals for the affections of the actress.

A "triple characterization," the first to be portrayed by one player in the history of the screen, is enacted by Ruth Chatterton in her new vehicle, "The Right to Love."

This intriguing drama of romantic sacrifice through three generations, which plays the Catlow theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday is a dialogue picture of Susan Glaspell's book, "Brook Evans."

Miss Chatterton plays the roles of a young girl of 1800, the same character as a mother in 1907, and the part of a modern daughter.

"The Right to Love" offers Miss Chatterton her third mother role, the other two being "Sarah and Son," and "Madame K."

Friend's night prices will be in effect for the Tuesday showing of this picture.

So that the clocks in the Methodist Episcopal church of Wilbraham, Mass., may be kept running constantly, the late Jesse L. Rice left a trust fund of $1,500.
