Chautauqua Entertainers are Good and Test is Well Filled Each Afternoon and Evening

—Be Sure to Attend.

The annual chautauqua assembly had a auspicious opening Tuesday afternoon. The tent was well filled for the opening entertainment, the audience being comprised, in the greater part, of women and children, as is usual at the afternoon presentations. R. Foster Stone, a world traveler, lecturer and pastor whose many years platform experience was more apparent, spoke interestingly and instructively of the famous Passion play presented once in each ten years at Oberamergau in Bavaria. The illustrated announcement issued by the chautauqua association aptly describes Mr. Stone as a "jovial, great hearted, able man a big man with a big voice." Mr. Stone spent last summer in Europe and witnessed the Passion play in its entirety so that he is well qualified to talk upon that subject.

Misses Lucy and Sarah Adams, "the Lilliputian sisters," with their accompanist, filled out the balance of the program with songs and tableaux. The Adams sisters are said to be descendents of the famous Adams family of America, of which John Adams and John Quincy Adams were members. They are forty-six and forty-nine inches tall and formerly traveled with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb. The approval of their listeners was attested by the enthusiastic applause which followed.

Tuesday evening all the seats were filled. The Adams sisters appeared again and the audience was spellbound by the Otterbein quartet, however, gave most of marked ability in instrumental and vocal music. The quartet as a whole was par excellence, and each number of it is an artist in some particular line. Two are soloists, one an excellent pianist and the other an elocutionist and whistler. These selections were listened to with marked approval and each number was rewarded with great applause. The audience would have remained until morning if the program could have been prevailed upon to furnish enter tainment.

Today James Sloane Corkey, an Irish orator and humorist is furnishing the instructive part of the program, while the place of the Hardy sisters, afforded to appear today, is being filled by the Russell Musical Novelty company.

Henry G. Sawyer, president of the Star Manufacturing company of Carpentersville, died at his home at the Sherman hospital in Elgin, aged 67 years. He was born in Elgin. Mr. Sawyer of Elgin, when they were boys, he started a business partnership which continued until his death. Their start in business was made in 1866, when they borrowed enough money to pay chance to occupy a small carpenter shop. Mary Kingsley of this village, their first deceased wife, survives the death of Mr. Sawyer. He was married a third time.

The fifty-eighth annual Lake county fair opens at Libertyville September 5 and will continue until and including the eighth.

LAKE ZURICH.

Miss Etna Marsh from Louisville, Kentucky, is visiting at the Hillman home.

The baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thies, junior, was baptized last Sunday by Rev. J. Bergstresser and received the name of Ruth Etna Marsh.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Frank and Mr. and Mrs. W. Toms took a trip to Lake Geneva, August 2.

Misses Florence and Grace Reed and Ella Ellis Bennett are guests of Mrs. Selp this week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frank, a fine baby boy on Wednesday, August 2. Rhemer's office.

CONFESSES TO SHOOTING.

Christ Jorgensen Admits Firing Shot July 8, Which Killed Cousin and Injured Brother.

A belated confession made by the 17-year-old Jorgensen boy who had outwitted the coroner's jury and his relatives and friends, cleared the mystery surrounding the death of Elmer Schafer, the victim of an independence day accident at Lake Zurich.

Christ Jorgensen of Chicago, the boy who was suspected of firing the shot which killed his cousin and wounded his brother, Walter, made the confession.

Taken on a visit by his father to the scene of the tragedy—the Schafer home at Lake Zurich—and deprived of the Elmer suspicion of his brother, the Jorgensen boy broke down and told how he had fired pistol blank at his brother and cousin.

The remarkable part of the affair was the fact that the boy, under stress of great excitement, quickly made up a story at the time of the accident accusing himself from all suspicion, that his younger brother, whose eyes were injured by the accident which killed his cousin, persistently corroborated him in his denial.

In the confession he admits that the boys took to punch up their story, they accomplished as much as an experienced criminal lawyer could at a secret consultation with a guilty client. When Christ could be convinced that a neighbor to say that his brother had injured his cousin, and that there was either unconscious or dead, the brothers were assured to tell a fictitious story which would exonerate the boy and word one with another.

At the inquest, although there was an inestimating fear in the surroundings, they succeeded in baffling their questioners.

They were not permitted to hear statements made by each other before the coroner's jury, but their stories were so harmonious. Questions were answered promptly and frankly, apparently.

"Elmer was in the room and Walter walked to join him," said the boys to the jurors. "Elmer had the gun and it went off, killing himself and injuring Walter."

Only once did Chris show emotion under fire, in a manner that was attending the funeral of his cousin, and suddenly became hysterical.

REV. LOCKHART REMAINS.

Popular Pastor of the Baptist Church Begins His Fourth Year's Pastorate Here August 27

The Baptist congregation was highly pleased last Sunday evening at the announcement that the unanimous desire to retain Rev. G. E. Lockhart for a fourth year was to be favored. A substantial increase, which Pastor Lockhart will receive was greatly appreciated.

Mr. Lockhart is deserving of all the credit that he can receive. He came here three years ago when the Baptist society in this village was not nearly so strong as it should and could have been and by persistence, hard work and an active interest to the cause that he was pleading pieced the Baptist religion in this town on the place which it should rightfully occupy. Great results, both material and spiritual have been attained by Rev. Lockhart and what he has accomplished may be gained by the statement that the membership of the church has grown far more than tripled, and that the church building which was in a very bad state of repair has been entirely renovated, inside and out, and in practically modern shape. Nearly a total of over twenty-one hundred dollars has been expended upon the structure to date, and the work has been wisely and judiciously used. A handsome new pipe organ, a new furnace, a new memorial windows, a reconstructed basement and new carpet are a few of the things that have required the money to pay for all of this work, with the exception of the pastor's salary, the earnest, has all been collected through the quiet, persistant work of the pastor.

Rev. and Mrs. Lockhart left Tuesday for an eastern trip. They will visit Mr. Lockhart's mother in Ford and Mrs. G. H. Lockhart, at Carver, Massachusetts, and go to Niagara Falls, Toronto, Montreal, and take a trip through the white mountains of New England. Rev. Mr. Lockhart will preach at places in the east during his absence and will return during the latter part of August to prepare at once for a large and interesting redecoration of the remodeled church building.

Dr. Barber, optician, will be in Barrington Tuesday, August 8, at Dr. Rhemer's office.

SEEK BIG INSTITUTION

Land Offered Here for Million Dollar State Asylum—One of Many Sites Under Consideration.

William Grace has offered a large tract of land to the township as a site for the $1,000,000 insane asylum to be built by the state. The offer was made Tuesday afternoon at a township meeting matter in charge which was in session at Northfield.

The time for filing applications closed yesterday at midnight and although a score of fifty cities have offered locations, Barrington stands a fair chance. The tract which Mr. Grace offers is ample in size, the land excellent for the purpose, the location is near Chicago, and within the part of the state where the asylum is needed.

The institution is to cost, completed, a little over one million dollars. The asylum at Elgin has become overcrowded, and with the increase of insane patients for the state to care for, the legislature last regular biennial session, made some arrangements for a new institution. The state board of trustees of the state legislature little or nothing was accomplished along this line but last year the legislature appropriated $1,000,000 we appropriated to purchase and build the state asylum.

It is the plan of the state to build a much larger and finer institution on the site than the one which it has at Elgin. That asylum, when it was built, was thought large enough to care for the state for years, but unfortunately it has been found that it is overcrowded. In fact it has but a small percent of the insane patients of Illinois.

SHUMAN-MEYER.

Wedding of Two Popular Young People Celebrated Monday in Chicago.

On Monday, July 31, Miss Maude Meyer of Barrington was married in Chicago to Mr. Frank Shuman of Minneapolis. Rev. G. E. Lockhart of the local Baptist church performed the ceremony and Emma Hawley, a cousin of Miss Meyer, and Miss Jewel accompanied the bride and groom. Mr. Shuman was the best man.

Both of these young people are so well known in Barrington that it is not necessary to dwell upon words of praise for them. They are of the most admirable type of manhood and womanhood and with them go the sincerest wishes of all for a life around that they will be happy and proper.

Miss Meyer is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Meyer of Main street. Her life has been passed in this town and she has accomplishments and natural gifts far above the average, being an artist, a musician and a fine conversalist. She is a popular bold arts.

Her personal beauty and cordial manner to friends and charitable nature have marked her as an exemplary young lady whose departure from this village is regretted.

Mr. Shuman is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Shuman of Wolf Lake Park, Security of Barrington. The family have been prominent in this town during the home now in possession of J. C. Collins. His boyhood days were passed here and among his boyhood friends and deserved the respect of all for his sterling worth. He is a salesman for a fancy grocery firm and is prosperous and ambitious.

Mr. and Mrs. Shuman left Chicago Tuesday afternoon for a trip around the great lakes. They will land at Duluth and go from there to Minneapolis where they will make their home for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Meyer, Leah Meyer and Frances Dolan went to Chicago Tuesday to wish them "bon voyage."

HAVE GOOD COWS.

Holsteins Belonging to G. E. Hagen and J. Hart Capture Prize.

In the June Holstein competive contest 86 cows were entered by the leading dairymen, whose cows had to test that two local men, G. E. Van Hagen and H. S. Hart carried off prizes with the Holsteins they had entered. Mr. Van Hagen entered five cows one of which, Pleasant Rose Sarkes, captured fourth prize, having a percentage of 60.130.

H. S. Hart had one cow in the test, Never Again, Third, which received fifth honors, with a percentage of 59.860.

The value of the dairy lies not in the prizes which are offered for competition, but in the great good that is brought back to those who have sought the advantages of the test.

The current issue of the Prairie Farmer contains a full report of its contest.

HAVE JOLLY TIME.

Young Ladies Club Must Meet at Campground—Miss Maud Meyer Guest of Honor.

The members of the Young Ladies' Sewing club held their weekly meet, last Friday in Barrington Park campground. The ladies, as a rule, occupy their sewing a banquet in the evening with their husbands for a social festivity in honor of the only "bachelor girl," Miss Maud Meyer, and her fiancee, Frank Shuman.

Twelve people never dined more happily nor possibly at so pretty a place, considering the fare was gathered from near by and bequeats of golden rod, ferns and wild flowers from the lawns. Pranks and pastimes were indulged in as the expense of the young people, among them, Frances Dolan, gives the request of Omer Kharpum and both the fate of Latimer and Hillyer.

The jolly group strolled home in the starlighting "Farewell" and "On Promise Me."

HEAVY RAINFALL AIDS.

Corn Crop Will Be Good—Yield of Grain Larger Than Was Expected.

The rains of the early part of the week came just in time to save the late corn crop, and also to prove beneficial to the potato crop. Monday night's rain followed by the warm sunshine of Tuesday was worth a million of money to the farmers in this vicinity.

The yield of grain is proving to be much better throughout the country than was anticipated. Oats are averaging about 60 bushels to the acre and some farms to the south and west of here 70 bushels have been threshed.

Both winter and spring wheat is pouring out in excellent shape. The average yield is from 32 to 45 bushels to the acre, which indicates that northern Illinois is gradually working its way back to the position it once had as a wheat producing territory.

Corn crop promises to be a bumper one. Early corn is fully twenty per cent better than a year ago, while the later one is in fair condition.

Threshing is being done earlier this year than for many years past. Many farmers are now plowing for fall wheat. They are now planning various improvements of their farm buildings while waiting for their corn crop to be ready for cutting.
