style and spirit!
free wheeling thrill and thrift!

All the power you expect a Champion to have... more power per cubic inch than any other car under $2400!

All the speed and stamina any emergency can ever demand.

All the style by which the new Studebakers are so instantly recognizable.

ALL this, plus the most important advance in motoring since the electric starter—Free Wheeling with positive gear control!

Free Wheeling, pioneered by Studebaker, has swept the nation. Other motor car builders have adopted it—most notably Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln. Others will follow.

But right now, in a Free Wheeling Commander, you can enjoy the thrill of unfettered travel, carried instead of barred by the force of momentum!

You will enjoy it doubly, because it will save you 15 to 20% on gasoline and oil. Out of each 10,000 miles you travel, the Commander's velvet 101-horsepower engine works but 8,000 miles.

You will shift silently, easily, without touching the clutch. Public highway and traffic officials from coast to coast have pronounced Studebaker's Free Wheeling with positive gear control a distinct contribution to highway safety.

Think ahead before you buy. Ask yourself: "How new is any new car without Free Wheeling?" How much will it re-sell for a year or two from now?

May we place a Commander Eight at your disposal?

Mr. Trigger doesn't study weather forecasts any more

He doesn't have to. He doesn't worry over sudden cold spells—or whether there'll be enough coal to last until the first of the month.

The Trigger's gas-fired furnace automatically orders its fuel as it is needed. The house is always comfortably warm no matter how changeable the weather is outside.

Two weeks ago the Triggers drove to Milwaukee for the week-end and one of the last-minute things they didn't have to do was leave a key with the neighbors and ask them to keep an eye on the furnace. The weather turned cold while they were away, but Sunday evening when they arrived home, the house was as cozy as the day they'd left.

All in all, the Triggers are devoted to their gas heat. Mr. Trigger boasts about it the way he used to when his car did 67—and when he got Los Angeles over his radio. Their only regret is that they didn't install gas heat a long time ago.

Why don't you take a tip from the Triggers? We'd like to send a house heating engineer to your home to tell you all about the superior conveniences of gas heat. Just call your Public Service Store. You won't be obligating yourself in any way. We will be glad to estimate the cost of gas heat during an average heating season—and explain the details of our special spring installation offer.

The TOP of every FRIGIDAIRE is a porcelain-topped table

Food on its way into a Frigidaire and food on its way out need not be jiggled, or tipped, or inconveniently parked on the distant kitchen table... the flat expanse of showy porcelain atop the Frigidaire makes such a perfect serving shelf!

It is an ideal place to put piping-hot things that should be cooled off before they are exposed to low temperatures... a splendid present place to keep the few foods that need not be refrigerated.

And nothing—hot or cold, smooth or crumbly—can in any way scar or mar the shining lustrous finish of the diamond-hard Porcelain-steel finish.

A conveniently flat, unobstructed serving table top is one of the very real advantages of Frigidaire Advanced Refrigeration. There are many others. We invite you to come in and learn all about them.

ANOTHER "AMERICAN TRAGEDY"

The society of American literary super-excellents received quite a blow in New York the other evening when Sinclair Lewis, pride of the mobilia, was roundly slapped by Theodore Dreiser, the apostle of American defeatism. So serious and unexpected was the blow that the cheeks of the intelligentsia all over the country must have tingled when it was delivered.

The two warriors of the new thought were dining with a select group of men of letters in the Metropolitan Club when the blow fell. Mr. Lewis stated that he felt disinclined to speak in the presence of a man who had stolen 3,000 words from his (Lewis) wife's book on Russia. There was a moment of strained silence, and then Mr. Dreiser with open palm, struck out mightily and slapped Mr. Lewis on the cheek.

Not in a long time has so Babbitt-like an episode happened within the confines of the Metropolitan Club. To the unbiased it would seem that Lewis showed great provincialism in accusing his literary compatriot in stealing anything Russian. It is possible that he doesn't know that in things Russian there are no property rights, and that in the fatherland one takes what one wants providing one is big enough to get away with it, which few are, unless they belong to the inner circle.

Mr. Dreiser explains by stating that he did not crib from Mrs. Sinclair's monumental work on Russia but that he got his material from the same source, which was no doubt a release of the soviet publicity bureau, the only difference being perhaps that Mrs. Sinclair saw it first.

Anyhow it might have been another American tragedy. Suppose that Mr. Dreiser had struck Mr. Sinclair hard enough to extinguish his literary light and then had his own extinguished by due process of the law. America might then have been plunged into literary barbarism. We hope the boys will be more careful in the future, and no doubt they will.

WOMEN SCORE AGAIN

If someone had suggested a few years ago that a 27-story clubhouse of hotel for women exclusively could be operated in New York or anywhere else at a profit, he would probably have been met with the counter expression that his head ought to be examined.

But, through the efforts of the 5,000 members of the American Woman's Association, that very thing is being done by the A. W. A. Clubhouse in Manhattan, which in the depression year of 1930 showed a net profit of $84,286.42, after paying all operating charges, interest and taxes.

Built for the purpose of providing a home in New York for business and professional women, as well as transient women guests, the A. W. A. has become popular to the extent of showing a 20 per cent higher occupancy than the average hotel in that city, according to leading hotel accountants. The big clubhouse was opened in March, 1929, and was a success from the first.

The excellent management shown is another evidence of women's increasing significance and prominence in the industrial world. The 1930 census showed ten million women engaged in gainful occupations. It is estimated that women control 41 per cent of the nation's wealth and direct the expenditure of more than 85 per cent of its money. More women than men hold stock in the country's largest corporations and their savings deposits increased seventy million dollars in seven years.

Women now seek the interest and profit of business and professional life as eagerly as men do, and what may be disconcerting to the old-fashioned male of the species is that they usually make good.

KING ALFONSO FALLS

After clinging to a shaky throne during many years of turbulence, King Alfonso XIII of Spain finally bowed to the will of the people, as expressed in a recent election, and abdicated on April 14. Thus another of the world's ancient monarchies becomes a republic.

It may be recalled that a provisional republic was set up in Spain in 1873, upon the resignation of King Amadeus in the face of popular opposition. But this lasted only a few months, when Alfonso XII, father of the recent king, was called to the throne, reigning until his death in 1885.

Alfonso XIII was born on May 17, 1886, several months after his father's death, and was proclaimed king at his birth, his mother acting as regent until he reached his majority in 1902. During the reign of the Spanish-American war cost Spain her Cuban and Philippine possessions.

In 1906 Alfonso married Princess Ena, niece of Edward VII and cousin of George V of England, who has borne him six children. He and his bride narrowly escaped death when a bomb was hurled at their wedding procession. Several other unsuccessful plots and attempts on his life have marked his reign.

Now approaching his 45th birthday, Alfonso XIII, last of the Bourbon rulers, lays down his scepter, probably to spend the remainder of his life in exile. If the loss of his throne brings him regret, he may be comforted by the fact that he will have measurably less to worry about in future, and a far better prospect of living the allotted span of three score and ten.

FEAR OUR WORST ENEMY

Why is recovery from the economic depression so slow? Because capital is afraid according to State Treasurer Levtan of Wisconsin. He declares that many millions of dollars now lie inactive in banks because the owners of this money are possessed with fear.

Persons who invested readily in stocks, bonds, real estate and varied business enterprises during prosperous times now hold back and await developments. And so long as they hold back through fear, so long will a resumption of normal industrial and business activity be retarded.

It is inevitable that general prosperity will come back in time, but the timidity of capital may delay a return to normal conditions. And it seems that little can be done to overcome that timidity.

MORNING LIGHT

In this cross-section of a family's life, seen through the eyes of the youngest son, the author has captured the curious intensity of adolescent perception. A kind of morning light shines upon the visible world of a Scotch fishing village, heightening every detail. Every incident in the boy's daily life strikes its exact note of importance. All the experiences of the family are told with the accents of truth, which may be in one moment barely audible and in the next overwhelming.

The phrase about "government of the people, by the people, for the people," was probably only another of Lincoln's little jokes.

Einstein has a brand new theory of the universe, said to be only a trifle more difficult to understand than the Wickersham report.

India holds many secrets which might be valuable to the Western world. A good many women of the Occident would like to know how Gandhi reduced to 86 pounds.

Experiences in Early Barrington

One day father and I went to get a calf from a man by the name of Peter, and we walked across where the U. S. N. W. tracks now are, and then there were some little sticks stuck in the ground with some white cloth on. I asked father what that was for, and father told me they were going to put a railroad through here, and I asked "Father, what is a railroad?" as I never saw a railroad in my life. Father said that they laid wood on the ground with iron on it, and ran a wagon on it. I asked what made the wagon run, and he said a machine pulled it. Father paid 14 cents for the calf and carried it home on his back.

I always wanted to be with father when we went anywhere. One day father hitched up the oxen and drove towards Deer Grove, and I wanted to go along, and mother would not let me go, so father drove off and I ran through the woods and caught father where the railroad crosses the road now, and he took me along.

His father had bought me a big dog and I wanted it because for my dog, a man by the name of Hannever, who was a shoemaker by trade, living east of us, gave me some leather and I made a harness for my dog and father made me a sled and I hitched up the dog. One day mother wanted a cradle and I hitched up the dog and went to Herman Landwehr and got her a small cradle, and as I was about 8 years old and was the oldest boy, and father had not much help, I always was with father and helped him whatever I could do.

I think I loaded about 30 loads of hay one summer. I think it was in 1854, my father bought 80 acres of prairie land of Woodbridge Hawley, about 3 1/2 miles south, for $700.00. I think he had about $300.00 to pay down on it, and that summer father and I broke up about 30 acres of prairie. We had one yoke of oxen and Uncle Elfrink loaned one yoke of oxen, and I drove the oxen for father, and at night we stayed at Lambert Bowman's house. He had a small frame house, and as mother brought us some catfish in a basket, one day a big thunder shower came up. As we were right on the prairie and had no place to go, we crawled under the wagon and it was an old wagon, so we got pretty wet, and after the shower was over, we went to breaking again.

We always turned the oxen loose at night to live on the prairie grass. I think this was in 1854 or '55. Uncle H. H. Landwehr also broke some prairie land on his 80 acres, which H. A. Landwehr formerly owned at the head of Grove avenue. He had a very large breaking plow and we put on 4 yoke oxen. Henry Meiners drove the front oxen and I had to drive the hind oxen, and when we got into a hazy brush, Uncle would call on me to get on the plow beam and hold it down.

One day as we were breaking, a large rattlesnake lay where we walked, and we jumped over it and Uncle killed it. As we lived in a little log house, Grandmother wanted to put her stockings on, and a green snake was in it.

By MARCY B. DARNALL

Boy W. Howard, dynamic head of the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, who recently added the late great Joseph Pulitzer's New York World to his organization's holdings, may reflect with a smile on an incident in his early career. Once when working for Pulitzer on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch young Howard asked for a $3 a week raise in salary, which was refused. He quit the job and got a better one; has had many better ones since.

If you only think you know your geography, you may be surprised by these facts, which are literal, with no jokers concealed in them: Reno, Nev., famed divorce center, is about 100 miles farther west than Los Angeles; Cleveland is seven miles farther east than Jacksonville, Fla.; to reach Canada by the shortest route from Detroit one must travel almost due south; the Pacific terminus of the Panama Canal is farther east than the Atlantic end; Asio, Chile, on the Pacific is farther east than New York. If you don't believe all this, look on the map.

It has long been suspected that busy individuals who perform heroic bathing stunts often do so with a view to developing a superiority complex. Miss Ellen Wilkinson, a member of the English parliament, recently referred to this (fable of her countrymen in the following tart remark: "The typical Englishman is a strong being who takes a cold bath in the morning and talks about it for the rest of the day."

March 16 was the biggest business day the United States treasury has seen since the war, but there was no net profit for Uncle Sam. On that day transactions reached a total of more than three billion dollars, of which more than a billion and a half represented bonds and notes issued, more than a billion in debts were paid off, and half a billion was received in income tax payments. A minor incident of the day's business was the payment of thirty million dollars as interest on the public debt.

Midnight Show at Catlow Saturday

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran will be seen at the Catlow theatre tonight and Friday in "Reducing," their second co-starring comedy. The two stars mean tricks on each other; wallop each other; each other; and in general make life miserable for each other. Only on the screen! For in private life Marie Dressler and Polly Moran are the best of friends.

With Marie and Polly as headliner experts are a supporting cast which includes Anita Page, Louis Littlefield, William Collier, Jr., Sam Eilers, and William Bakewell. "Reducing" contains all the latest of a three-act comedy.

Victor McLaglen is very colorful in his latest role of "Bull" Stanger, wanted for breaking a few laws. He should not have broken. He makes adequate use of his fists and strength and he gets in a lot of real character acting.

Aiding him in his role of bad man are his two cronies in evil, Lew Col and Edna Gribbon who, more than 100,000 participating in the wild rush to land when the starting gun was fired.

"Not Exactly Gentlemen" is an example of the kind of "Western" in which thrills and action are built around historical fact.

The Hot Heiress
A novel for local movie fans will be the Midnight Show at the Catlow theatre Saturday night. "The Hot Heiress" with Oona Munson and Edna Lyon has been chosen for the occasion as being the brightest, snappiest and most modern of comedies ever condensed on a mile of film.

In this "talkie" a Park Avenue heiress is "regaled" with life until a red-hot rivet hurries from the sky scraper going up next door into her expensive boudoir, setting fire to the expensive rug. The husky young rascal himself follows into the room to put the fire out—and then it is that a hotter fire surges up in the heart of the heroine—and a determination to capture him.

The time it takes the husky riveter to be captured is filled with the madcap situations that make "The Hot Heiress" sure-fire entertainment.

Adolphe Menjou specializes in understanding other men's misadventures when he isn't winning golf championships. In "Men Call Love" which will play the Catlow theatre Sunday and Monday nights and does it so well that it has made in love with cat. The play changes the face, one of the brightest and most entertaining yet to reach the screen in this intimate type of feature.

Good Cast
Menjou is teamed with an excellent cast in the picture, including LeRoy Pines, Norman Foster, Mary Duke, Hedda Hopper and Robert Emmett Keane.

Cinder Team at Palatine Friday for 3-Way Meet

Friday night of this week, April 24, Barrington high school track team will enter in a triangular meet with Palatine and Libertyville on the Palatine field. Libertyville is a heavy favorite to cop this affair but Barrington is expecting to annex a few points at least.

A three cornered meet between Arlington Heights, Palatine and the local is being held this week. This contest should bring three evenly matched teams together and any one of them has a good chance to be returned a winner. The Barrington squad, for the first time in its history, seems to have a fairly well balanced group.

Lots of the boys will be beaten, but they should be able to bring in the seconds and thirds which often win track meets.

L. Z. MUNDELEIN ROAD WILL START IN 2 WEEKS

Kreann and Dato, Chicago contractors, were successful in their bid for the Lake Zurich-Mundelein road paving job with a low figure of $116,078.80.

They were awarded a contract for the work and signified their intentions of starting operations May 5. The entire route will be graded and paved before work is suspended for the winter season, thus opening up this year a concrete route, seven miles long, connecting highway 22 with highway 173, extending northeast from Lake Zurich to Mundelein.

Oba, Chairman
This will be the first paving to be held under Lake Zurich's 1931 program. The Hough street extension probably will not be paved this summer. However, the board of supervisors is prepared to pave Hough street north from highway 22 if it does not conflict with state route 50. State highway 50 is planned for a route three and one-half miles west of this village.

The awarding of the contract for the Lake Zurich road by the supervisors preceded election of William Oba of High Park to the all important position of chairman of the board. Committees will be announced next Wednesday, Mr. Oba said.

FORMER WAUCONDA DOCTOR FOUND DEAD

Dr. O. B. Howe of Woodstock was found dead in his office on Wednesday evening, April 18. Dr. Howe was a former resident of Wauconda, his wife being Miss Cattie Smith. Coroner Cook of McHenry county held an inquest Thursday morning and a verdict of death from natural causes was returned. He had apparently passed away while asleep. Funeral services were held from the Congregational church of Woodstock.

NEW CLEANING PLANT TO BE OPENED MAY 1

A modern dry cleaning plant will be opened May 1 at Cook and James streets, east of the present Steffenhoefer building, under the ownership and management of Charles R. Schwartz. The new plant is housed in a new fireproof concrete building and includes all the best of equipment. Mr. Schwartz said. There will be five underground tanks and an above ground with a total capacity for cleaning fluid of 1,500 gallons. The equipment will also include new washers, tumblers, and steam presses.

Mr. Schwartz will maintain an office downtown on Park avenue. The plant will be equipped for both retail and wholesale cleaning work. Full details of Barrington's new cleaning industry are published in an advertisement on another page of The Review.

LIBRARY CIRCULATION 1,755 BOOKS IN MONTH

The regular monthly meeting of the library board was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Pedersen, 210 Grove avenue.

The report of the librarian gave the circulation for the month as 1,755 books. The library has 1,138 borrowers, and a total of 4,005 volumes on the shelves.

Fifty first grade children visited the library April 15. Many of these little people are borrowers.

SCOUT NEWS, TROOP 10

Troop 10 held its regular weekly meeting Thursday, April 16, in the school gymnasium. We first went through the regular ceremonies and then played several games. The first was a knot tying game in which each patrol chose a representative and these representatives tied knots which Scoutmaster Watson announced as fast as they were done. The first one done correctly won a point for his patrol. In this game Harold Calkins, Patrol No. 11 won. Next we played a signaling game in which one scout signalled the name of an object and the rest, when they received the signal, touched the object. Patrol 11 also won this game. These games were in preparation of a demonstration which we will give at Camp Reinberg in the latter part of May.

Another meeting was held on Tuesday, April 21. At this meeting we also practiced knots and signaling in preparation for Camp Reinberg. At this meeting the investiture ceremonies for entrance into the troop were held for George Deissler who was admitted. He went into Patrol 11. Then a game of indoor baseball was played, with Patrols 11 and 13 winning 6 to 3 against 11 and 13. There were two very successful meetings as we accomplished a great deal.

TO THE FOURTEEN HUNDRED
VOTERS OF BARRINGTON:

I wish to thank five hundred of you who supported my candidacy at the village election.

The results of the election show that seven hundred and fifty-seven voters have registered their protest against the present administration, but because two hundred and sixty were misled in believing that their candidate—who had no real estate interest in Barrington—could win, the forces opposed to the present administration were split, and the former president of the board of trustees was re-elected for that reason. In my last letter, which was sent into every home, I tried to point this fact out to those who allowed themselves to be misled. Now it is proved that I was right, because eleven hundred votes were cast against the minority candidate. He it was who defeated our cause, and not the successful candidate.

Now, I wish to thank everyone who took part in this election, either for or against me, and congratulate all candidates who were successful.

Yours truly,

my last letter, which was sent into every home, I tried to point this fact out to those who allowed themselves to be misled. Now it is proved that I was right, because eleven hundred votes were cast against the minority candidate. He it was who defeated our cause, and not the successful candidate.

Now, I wish to thank everyone who took part in this election, either for or against me, and congratulate all candidates who were successful.

Yours truly,
ALBERT L. ROBERTSON
