They call this the Allenu Week-end treatment for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis because you can go to bed on Friday Night—stay there as much as possible till Monday morning and while there drive the aric acid from your ailing joints and muscles.

But during that time you must take Allenu as directed—for Allenu acts with double speed when the body is relaxed and rested.

You can purchase Allenu from Fredlund Drug Co. or any progressive drugist in America—a large 8 oz. bottle 85 cents and money back if it doesn't do as advertised.

Strict Enforcement of Ordinances is Ordered by Board

The police will make arrests of persons whose automobiles are decorated with the 1930 village plates, according to Mr. Baude. Only about 80 per cent of the automobile owners have paid their license and procured their plates.

Several dog owners will pay fines into the village treasury unless they take out licenses for the animals, according to the police. At this time of the year when the odor of freshly spaded soil in gardens acts as an incentive to hole-digging animals, the owners of dogs would please their neighbors by keeping the animals confined, whether licensed or otherwise. Dogs picked up without licenses will be put to death unless claimed by owners, in which case the owners may release the dogs by paying the necessary fine.

No matter where you may live in the community, if any of your horses, cows or hogs die, just call this firm, reverse charges, and one of their trucks will call promptly to remove the dead animal.

This concern is at all times in close touch with the board of health and every step possible is taken to handle your stock in an efficient manner until it is turned over to the rendering plant at 159th street and Torrence avenue, near Hammond, Ind., one of the largest and best equipped in the country.

The owners and managers of this concern are thoroughly conversant with all the details of this important business and we feel sure that if you are ever in need of their service, if you will call them, you will be taken care of in a satisfactory way, and we therefore want to refer them to our readers. ## Ann Harding in "East Lynne" at Catlow Theatre

Ann Harding, who plays the role of Isabel in "East Lynne" won high tribute from Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the famous British stage star. After viewing this production she said, "Ann Harding is the most adorable Isabel I have known," and added "I played the role many times myself and have seen others portray it, but Miss Harding is superb."

"East Lynne" is now at The Catlow theatre and will be shown the last time there Friday night.

Heading a double feature bill at The Catlow theatre Saturday night is the mystery thriller, "Charlie Chan Carries On."

The film is one of those rarities which is a delight to view. It is swift, intriguing, vivid and always entertaining, with a charming romance running through the story.

Opening in London with the inexplicable murder of an elderly millionaire, the backgrounds shift on always eastward to France, Italy, Egypt, China and Hawaii, with two additional killings and an attempted fourth one, before Charlie Chan steps in to give his aid in the situation.

While Oland holds most of the acting honors, the entire cast is a notable one. Outstanding are Marguerite Chuchill, John Garrick, Warren Hymer, and Marjorie White.

Offering an ideal contrast to the Chan story is the modern comedy drama "Honor Among Lovers" featuring Claudette Colbert, Fredric March and Charles Ruggles. Short subjects including the "Boy Friends" in comedy will add interest to the program.

The showing of the two features for Saturday night will be arranged so that those arriving as late as ten o'clock will be able to see both features.

Sunday matinee and evening and Monday night The Catlow will present Bell's troupe of Hawaiians in a thirty-five minute revue of native music, songs and dances.

The screen feature will be "The Prodigal" featuring Lawrence Tibbett.

This new picture is a dramatic romance of the South of today. Esther Ralston and Cliff Edwards head the supporting cast. Stepin Fetchit, negro comedian and a large chorus of negro singers will provide atmosphere.

Two features of outstanding interest are scheduled for showing at The Catlow next week. John Gilbert in "Gentleman's Fate" is the fare for Friday night (Tuesday) and the following night; and Gary Cooper in "Fighting Caravans" for Thursday and Friday, May 21 and 22.

Filmed against the majestic backgrounds of the California High Sierras, "Fighting Caravans" is one of the most thrilling talking pictures ever presented. It carries on the tradition instituted by "The Covered Wagon," and, in itself, is tremendously bigger, with all the added advantages of the talking screen to make it live.

OLDEST FORD DRIVER

J. M. Crow, 89, of Ethel, Miss., the oldest Ford driver in Mississippi, traversed the historic old Natchez Trace in a covered wagon eighty-seven years ago.

As rugged today at 89 as the age in American history he so picturesquely typifies, J. M. Crow of Ethel, Miss., is the oldest Ford driver in Mississippi and one of the oldest in the United States.

When as a babe of two years he rode with his parents in one of a train of 30 covered wagons out of Cobb county, Georgia, into Mississippi, the old Natchez Trace followed by the brave little band was still infested by the swashbuckling Indians whose bloody outrages gave that era its place in this country's history as "the outlaw years."

One of his vivid memories is hearing, as a boy of six, the news of General Scott's victorious assault on the heights of Chapultepec which ended the Mexican War in 1847; and his proudest memory is of honorable service as a Confederate soldier during the Civil War. When the southern cause collapsed, Crow was compelled to trudge 400 miles on foot to the old homestead at Ethel where he settled down to rear a family.

In the intervening years he has seen the lumbering stagecoach give way to the fleet automobile and the comfortable motorbus, the soggy gumbo and rough corduroy roads of his childhood to the wide, paved roads of today, and although he was long past middle age before the modern automobile became commonplace he is as enthusiastic a driver as youngsters who can boast less than one-quarter of his years.

Five generations of Crow's family are frequently seen together in his Model A Ford, the second of its type Crow has owned and driven.

The first speed law passed in America was drawn by the board of selectmen of Boston in 1777. The ordinance follows: "Owing to great danger arising from coaches, sleighs, chairs and other carriages on the Lord's days, as people are going to or coming from the several churches in this town, being driven with great rapidity, and the public worship being often-times much disturbed by such carriages, it is therefore voted and ordered that no coach, sleigh, chair, chaise or other carriage at such times be driven at a greater rate than a foot pace, on penalty to the master of the same or servant so driving of the sum of ten shillings."

Historic Communion
The first communion service held on American soil was that held on the little island in the James river, where the settlement of Jamestown was built. On June 11, 1607, Rev. Robert Hunt administered the Anglican communion to the little band, who knelt on the ground under a ship's sail to receive it.

Widely Used Quotations
Too Frequently Carried
Usually when we think we are quoting some thoughtful expression of the past, we are only misquoting. And the chances are we don't know whom we are misquoting!

The Golden Book Magazine supports the truth of this statement with a list of frequently misused quotations, all part of our everyday speech, some of which have been changed only by a word, but others of which have lost their original meaning entirely.

Today, for instance, we say: "All the world loves a lover." But Emerson said: "All mankind loves a lover." We say: "Accidents happen in the best regulated families." What Dickens said was: "Accidents will occur in the best regulated families."

Cervantes in the sixteenth century gave birth to the modern phrase, "Familiarity breeds contempt." But what he said was: "I find my familiarity with thee has bred contempt."

Antibes, like all the other places along the fascinating French Riviera, has had a romantic history, says a writer in the Detroit News. It was founded more than 2,000 years ago by descendants of the Greek colonists who had built a thriving city on the site of Marseille. Phenicians and Carthaginians, Romans and Gauls, Germans and Italians and French—they have all met on this coast in the centuries that have passed since, but Antibes has managed more than any other town in France to retain its Greek appearance.

Many Plants That Lure Insects to Their Death

There are a great many varieties of insectivorous plants which grow almost all over the world. The first group of these plants is known as the pitcher plants, which have the blossoms in the form of a pitcher which acts as a death trap for flies and other insects. The insects are attracted by a fragrance or some other lure, enter the mouth of the pitcher, and crawl down toward the bottom, being forced onward by small spikes downward pointing from the sides of the pitcher's throat. The poor fly is thus given no chance to escape and when he reaches the bottom he is caught in the sticky mass of fluid there and his body juices absorbed by the plant. Two other types of insectivorous plants are the Venus flytrap and the Dionaea which grow only in the low coast regions of North Carolina. This little plant is probably the most famous stem variety of the insect-eating plants. A third type is a Sundew Drosera, which is common to Australia. This is also a large genus containing a great variety of species.

TWO DECADES IN THE SERVICE OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

Chapter II

"THE LAKE COUNTY EXPERIMENT"

TWENTY-ONE YEARS ago a group of public utility pioneers headed by Mr. Samuel Insull began an experiment in northern Illinois. Their laboratory was Lake County. Their materials were twenty-two towns scattered along the Lake shore north of Chicago.

Many of these communities numbered no more than 300 families. Twelve of them had no electric service of any kind. The other ten had electric service of a sort. Service began at five o'clock in the evening—six hours later it stopped. Generating plants were locally owned and financed. They were located in makeshift buildings and coal was stoked by hand. When the weather was bad, customers got out their oil lamps. They knew better than to expect electricity.

It was the aim of the public utility pioneers to supply a higher type of service by centralizing the production of electricity required by these towns. They wanted not only to improve the service rendered the ten communities already receiving electricity. They wanted also to extend service to the twelve communities that had no service of any kind.

Extreme measures were adopted. The ten neighborhood electric plants that had been supplying ten of the towns were purchased. They were abandoned within a short time. To replace them, what was then a gigantic new electric plant had been erected near Lake Michigan. Tons of copper wire were strung on wooden poles to carry the current from the central electric plant to the twenty-two communities. Little substations were built along the way. It was a costly undertaking. Most people shook their heads and predicted failure.

But here is what happened: Within two years, the ten villages that had formerly been getting six-hour service—as well as all but two of the other twelve towns that had had no service of any kind—were receiving electricity twenty-four hours a day. Up to the attic went the old oil lamps.

During these same two years, the users of electricity doubled. And because of quantity production, fuel costs at the generating station were lowered 70%. Other operating costs were reduced 84%. Customers received electricity at lower rates than ever before. More important still, there was money to pay interest on new capital for bettering service and expanding facilities.

The success of this Lake County Experiment demonstrated new electric light and power possibilities in suburban and rural areas. To repeat the original experiment on a grander scale, four relatively small electric and gas companies in northern Illinois combined in August, 1911, to form the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. During the next few years, 18 additional locally-managed utility companies merged with it. The haphazard part-time service they had been supplying became reliable twenty-four hour service. Rates were lowered several times.

How the Lake County Experiment led to the development of a "superpower network" in northern Illinois and the extension of electric service to an ever-widening area will be told in next week's story.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

This is the second of a series of stories chronicling the development of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the service it is bringing to the area into which Chicago is growing.

GOVERNMENTAL WASTE

It is a sad commentary on the efficiency of governmental methods that practically every state and municipality in the country is faced with a financial crisis, as a result of mismanagement or worse, while the Federal government exhibits a mounting deficit.

Still, our countless department bureaus and other agencies for the spending—and often squandering—of tax money clamor for more and more funds. Bureaucrats lie awake nights, it would seem, thinking up new ways of spending the public revenues, while legislators also lose sleep trying to discover how to impose new tax burdens.
Through the operation of this vicious circle the cost of government in the United States has increased to more than four times what it was in 1913.

An increase in governmental expenses from year to year is to be expected, owing to the growth of population and wealth, but the rapidity of increase in recent years is entirely out of proportion to that growth, even making liberal allowance for the improved public facilities which have been provided.

Too much of the public money is devoted to purposes foreign to the legitimate functions of government. For example, hundreds of millions of dollars are appropriated for the purpose of bringing more farm and under cultivation through irrigation, while other hundreds of millions are appropriated in an effort to aid in disposing of the surplus farm crops that are raised on the land under cultivation already. The mania for investigations is costing the taxpayers many millions with practically no resulting benefit to anyone. Still other millions are expended in the attempted enforcement of a multitude of laws and regulations of doubtful advantage to the public.

All this governmental waste will continue until the taxpayers themselves are aroused to the point of calling a halt, through relegating to private life the legislators and other officials who are responsible for it.

A LENIENT WIFE

How much personal freedom a husband and wife should permit each other is a question that has been the subject of much discussion both in public and private.
It is suspected that a good many husbands grant their wives as little liberty as possible, while taking all they can get for themselves. And in a good many cases the wife adopts a similar attitude.

The grand prize for leniency to a husband, if such is entitled to a prize, would seem to be due Mrs. Rhoda Hood of Louisville, who gave her husband, James E.
Hood, a card signed by her reading as follows:

"This is to certify that I hereby permit my husband to go where he pleases, drink what he pleases, and furthermore to enjoy the company of any lady or ladies he sees fit, as I know he is a good judge. I want him to enjoy life while he can, as I know he is going to be dead a long, long time."

Whether Mrs. Hood's attitude was a wise one is open to question, but it probably saved a lot of argument.
Her card of noninterference came to light when it was found in Hood's pocket after he had been killed by an automobile, while walking alone and sober on a Baltimore street.

NEW FRENCH CITIZENS

The world-wide unemployment situation tends to focus attention upon immigration and emigration, particularly as respects labor, and the naturalization laws of various countries. Among European countries France continues to attract immigrants in increasing numbers, according to recent official report.

During the first 11 months of 1930 France made it as against 37,800 for the entire year of 1929. In the same period only 1,476 persons of French nationality sought to change their allegiance.

The neighboring countries of Italy, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Belgium and Spain supplied France with 74 per cent of her newly naturalized citizens last year.
This circumstance is considered desirable by the French authorities, since newcomers from countries so close at hand are more easily assimilated into the French nation.

Naturalization in France is surrounded by many precautions to assure the hatching of undesirable, however.
Searching examinations to determine the applicant's state of health, moral character, and so on are made by the authorities, and when deemed necessary the reputation and past history of the petitioner in his country of origin are investigated.

In addition to gains in population through naturalization, it was announced last week that the birth rate in France now exceeds the death rate for the first time in several years, an announcement which was hailed with great satisfaction by the people of that country.

PULITZER AWARDS

Two women were among the Pulitzer prize winners for the year, just announced. Margaret Ayer Barnes's "Years of Grace" was adjudged the best novel published in 1930, while Susan Glaspell's "Alison's House" was the prize-winning play.

B. E. Smith won the prize in history, Henry James that in biography, and Robert Frost for the second time received the poetry award, which he first won in 1924.

The Atlanta Constitution was chosen as the newspaper performing the most meritorious public service, for its exposure of municipal graft and obtaining convictions of officials.

A. B. MacDonald of the Kansas City Star won the prize for the best example of a reporter's work. After the death of Mrs. A. D. Wayne, killed by dynamite placed in her car at Amarillo, Tex., police failed to solve the mystery. MacDonald investigated the case and fixed the crime on her husband, who confessed and committed suicide while awaiting trial.

Several other awards were made by the Pulitzer judges, carrying cash prizes ranging from $500 to $2,000.
The annual decisions of these judges, like those of the Nobel prize committee are often subjected to much criticism, which is natural enough. With such a mass of productions to select from it is not humanly possible to make decisions with which all would agree.

MORE ABOUT "COLDS"

"Colds" and "heart disease" seem to be in the vast majority of American ailments. If one keeps his eyes open to complaints at home and watches reports of sudden deaths outside. And colds are considered not at all serious, though extremely inconvenient to have on hand.

Let me again hammer this truth home: The proper time to "break up a cold" is at its very beginning. When you begin to feel a little "shivery" and begin to sneeze frequently, with vague and shifting little pains about the different muscles, with a general indolent and incapable feeling, lack of appetite—maybe feverish and apathetic, you are taking a cold; and the time to begin treatment is right then and there.

Be it mind that, there is no demand for a purgative unless the bowel is positively not functioning; and even then, a non-irritant like cascara or compound licorice powder is best. I am advising those of course, who have not a physician within easy reach.

I am aware that the patient resents this admonition, but the thing to do, if you would be correct is—go to bed and cover up warm, no matter what the time of day.
If you do this, you can break your cold completely within 24 hours—if you take a simple glass of hot water every hour. Add lemon-juice if you wish; the kidneys need flushing quite as much—often need it more than the bowel.

The principle is, restore the surface circulation; keep anything that keeps the skin warm and full of blood will cure a cold in short order. If taken early. If you wait two or three days before beginning to treat, you may as well figure to wear the cold out by your sheer powers of resistance—and you may get a cough that lasts the better part of the winter, simply by your neglect.

Experiences in Early Barrington

My Grandfather was a carpenter, and father brought some of his tools over from Germany with him. Father was quite handy with carpenter tools and I always had a liking to learn the carpenter trade and asked father to let me go and learn the carpenter trade. One day we were hoing corn and I was at him again to let me go and he said then that I could go. He hired my cousin, Garrett, in my place, and that fall I started on my own hook and built when I was 17 years old, a cupboard for my uncle, and that winter I did odd jobs for other people. The next spring I helped Henry Miller build a house in Barrington, which now stands close to the E. J. & E. Railroad.
Father had a granary built by Fred Kunz and I helped him and got acquainted with him; and he was a hard framer and a good mechanic. The next spring I hired out to him and worked for him off and on for 2 years, and we also built father's barn and Norman Hendrickson's house that spring. The following year I worked for him, my boss did not have much work I helped build a house on the north side of the RR. tracks for Fred Schlemmer. After that I put up a small house for Joe Wilmer that fall, and for Mr. Purcell, who had been a quartermaster in the army, about 3 miles northwest of Barrington.

The next year I hired out to Burlingham and Lawrence and helped build a house for Johnson, and then the next job was the Lutheran church at Barrington. Then I hired out to Fred Kunz again and we built a granary for Pomroy, and then built the Evangelical church. Fred Kunz got the contract to build it. He sent me with his brother-in-law in the country to check up his job and he had been taken, and I got angry at him and left him, and hired out to a man named Thompson at Palestine. He was a millwright and architect. We built the Jim Wilson house and a parsonage. We used to work in the shop in the winter by lamp light. The next spring I went to work in Chicago and helped build a large church and houses. That year I came back and Fred Lageschulte and I built a kitchen on father's house and then we entered into a partnership and built a barn for Garret Lageschulte and a church in Miller's Grove. The following spring we built a house for Mike Deutler, and then we built an addition to Garret Miller's and an addition to Christ Riecke's house.

SIDELIGHTS

By MARCY E. DARNALL

Just as we be accused of membership in the "Tall Story Club," we hasten to explain that this item is vouchered for by the Associated Press. Toots Champion, 80-year-old negro ship speculator of Bartlesville, Okla., threw a fur at his point. "I never made a foul, and if I did I expect I'd drop dead," he said, as he rolled the bones. Two deuces turned up, making his four. As he reached for the stake Toots actually dropped dead.

Two famous men are mourning the loss of their pet dogs. Ship, favorite pet of King George V, died from choking on a feather. Igloo, who accompanied Admiral Byrd to both north and south poles, died from indigestion. The Admiral abandoned a lecture tour to go to his sick dog in Boston, but poor Igloo died before his master reached him.

Pathfinder asserts that these answers were given in an examination of students seeking entrance to Yale Divinity School: 1. Abraham wrote Genesis. 2. Palestine was watered by the Nile. 3. Hezekiah was king of Deuteronomy. 4. The Flood was an example of an apocalypse. To round out this amazing information, they might have credited Senators Nye and Cawaway with the authorship of Revelations.

As food administrator Herbert Hoover in 1917 had coupons distributed on which housewives pledged themselves to aid in food conservation.
A patriotic woman in La Junta, Colo., signed the pledge and sent it in a few days ago. She will probably be surprised to learn that the World War is over, and that people are now being advised to eat until it hurts, so as to reduce the wheat surplus.

Had Christ returned to Palestine at any time during the 19 centuries following his earthly ministry, to remarkable change in the general conditions of the country would have been noticeable. But the last few years have been marked by striking developments. Among these are the introduction of railways, telegraphs and electricity. By next year the Biblical towns of Jaffa, Nazareth, Beersheba, Bethlehem and Jerusalem will be supplied by hydro-electric power from the Jordan and the streams of Lebanon.

George F. Baker made his first dollar picking berries other pickers had overlooked under bushes near his home in Rio, N. Y. That was more than 50 years ago. He has picked more "berry" since, and on his recently celebrated 83rd birthday, the renowned New York banker was rated as one of the five richest men in the world.

Mrs. Sam Iselin, who died in New York last week at the age of 90, was these qualifications for those whom she considered eligible for her social circle: Aristocratic ancestry and wealth to maintain it; a house in New York, another in Newport, villas in France and Italy, and a lodge in Scotland. It would be interesting to know how her ideas are working out on the other side of the Styx.

STATE NEWS

The governor's unemployment commission has received in contributions, $4,000,840, expended $3,506,881 to provide relief, and has $1,102,965 on hand to carry on the work. In addition, there are $300,133.78 in unpaid pledges held by the commission. General relief has been administered to 50,000 families and approximately 30-000 single individuals. This has been reported to Governor Emmerson, together with the list of agencies that have aided in dispensing food, milk, coal, clothing and other essentials.

A summary of the road work that is now underway reveals that 4,200 men were directly employed at, road work during the week that ended April 23. They moved 98,050 cubic yards of dirt in grading operations and poured 1,654 cubic yards of concrete into forms for culverts and bridges. Grading completed this season totals 42.5 miles. The state has furnished 39 bridges. Actual paving, following the preparatory grading, as reported for the week included 9.05 miles of state aid routes and 4.22 miles of state aid roads.

Automobile accidents in Illinois last year caused 2,404 deaths—an increase of about 26 per cent over the preceding year's fatalities from that cause. Auto-train crashes and collisions with street cars caused fewer deaths than in 1929. The state department of public health, announcing the final compilation of the 1930 records, points out that the increase in motor accident fatalities, 26 per cent, is far out of proportion with the growth in motor transportation. Automobile license registrations increased only about one and one-half per cent.

Additional road construction contracts that total $1,445,321.77, not including the cost of cement, awarded late in April, call for 57.39 miles of paving, 11.5 miles of grading, 11.72 miles of widening and four bridges.
Contractors are urged to rush the work, employing local labor and at the prevailing scale by instructions of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson. The jobs are well scattered over Illinois.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has received from President Hoover, the flag of the President of the United States, to be displayed in the reconstructed town of Lincoln. It is a replica of the official ensign displayed by vessels while the president is aboard in accordance with a naval order first issued by Gideon Wells, secretary of navy in Lincoln's cabinet.

Investigations of the operations of an alleged arson ring in Cook county, have resulted in 17 confessions and 19 additional indictments, according to state Fire Marshal S. L. Legreid.
It is expected that many more will be involved by information that the deputy fire marshals are assembling. Fires in well insured, vacant property, under mysterious circumstances, the fire marshal states, have been suspiciously numerous. The causes back of but a few have been cleared up by convictions and confessions. Others are under investigation.

For every 1,000 people in the state, the department of public welfare cares for 4,335 as inmates in the state's hospitals and correctional institutions.
Fiscal records as of July 1, last year, there were 22,730 patients in the hospitals for the mentally defective and 10,280 criminals and delinquents in the institutions.

Cooperation in the program of efficiency and economy has enabled the state department of public welfare to reduce its budget for the ensuing two year period to an amount $3,000,000 lower than expenditures for the biennium about to close. Director Edney H. Brandon states. This, looks in face of the opening of three naturally new institutions, three additional colliques that were not in operation two years ago. The saving of three million dollars is effected by economies that have proven practical, and the figures are based upon an actuation of an increase of 2,650 wards per year. Perpetual inventories and other business practices that have been put into effect have brought down the cost of caring for the patients and prisoners without affecting the accommodations.

Business Notices Bring Results

Merchants Beware of Fake Advertising Solicitors

Several local merchants have complained that transient salesmen of advertising service have claimed to be representatives of the Barrington Review with authority to set advertising rates and plan advertising copy for The Review. These schemers are equipped with an advertising service, usually an inferior one, which they attempt to sell to the merchants at exorbitant rates.

The Review takes this opportunity to advise local business men that it has no representatives other than its own staff members and that it is equipped with high grade advertising cut and copy service that is free to all advertisers with no charge additional to the regular space rates.

The management of The Review would be grateful to any local person reporting a transient salesman claiming to be authorized to sell advertising in The Review.

Johnson is Denied New Trial; Will Be Sentenced Monday

The maximum sentence which Perley W. Johnson of Barrington can receive for practicing medicine without a license, a charge on which he was found guilty last week in county court, is one year in jail and $500 fine.

Mr. Johnson will be sentenced Monday by Judge Perry Persons unless he first appeals his case to higher court. Motion for a new trial made by Roy Lane, Johnson's attorney, was denied Wednesday by Judge Persons.

The chief defense offered by Johnson's attorney, was that the state had failed to prove the man did not have a license to practice. Representatives of the Illinois department of education and registration furnished the evidence used by the state in the prosecution.

Several Barrington men were called on by the defense to testify as character witnesses for the defendant. One or two appeared for the state to give evidence that Johnson had advertised himself publicly as a practitioner.

Beautiful Elms

The elm is one of the field and highway delights in many regions, but particularly in New England. Beautiful specimens may constantly be seen, and occasionally will be large or town street will be arched over by lines of them. The sixty varieties are of various shapes and contours. The vineless elm is, perhaps, the most beautiful.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST NOW AT LIPOFSKY'S

SCHOOL CLINIC FOR BARRINGTON MAY 19

Dr. Deane F. Brooks of Barrington is the clinician in charge and the nurse is provided by the rural nursing service of Cook county.

All mothers in Barrington township are eligible to bring their children to this clinic.

Magnification

The magnifying power of a telescope is proportional to its length as well as the shortness of focus of its eyepiece. Thus the use of different eyepieces yields different magnifying powers, but those exceeding 1,000 are seldom used because of the trembling of the earth's atmosphere. Compound microscopes may magnify as much as 4,000 times.

The sun makes the wind. Wind is air in motion, and the latter is caused by heated air rising and cold air rushing in to take its place.

How One Woman Lost 102 lbs. of Fat

Almost Unbelievable—Nevertheless True

Dear Friends:
You advertise Kruschen Salts for reducing, so I finally tried them, and when I started I weighed 219 pounds and when I took them for a year and 3 weeks, I lost exactly 102 pounds. I am 23 years old and I look at least 5 years younger now than I did when I was fat. I have a picture of myself before and after so if you want to see them let me know. I am always telling my friends about the wonderful salts. I am always advertising them. I took 2 bottles every month for a year and 3 weeks. It amounted to $25 for reducing 102 pounds but it was worth it. If I can be of any help to you let me know. Yours truly, Miss Nellie Simpson, 1600 Wayne Street, Swanton, Pa., Oct. 31, 1930.

The Modern Safe Way—Right Way to Lose Fat

Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast. You can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, pastry and fatty meats. Unlike other Salts, Kruschen does not reduce by rushing food through your system. Rather it's an ideal blend of 6 separate mineral salts which help every gland, nerve and body organ to function properly. Women everywhere are overjoyed with this marvelous reducing treatment. Frequently pound by pound of surplus fat leaves and soon you possess that trim, slender figure you have always craved. An 80c bottle of Kruschen (lasts 4 weeks) is sold by leading druggists the world over—so start this SAFE method to lose ugly fat TODAY! Freedland Drug Co. sell lots of it.
