Board Rules No Half Year Taxes for Automobiles

No consideration will be given to persons asking for one-half year village licenses, except those who have purchased automobiles since July 1, the board of trustees ruled at the meeting Monday night.

Many persons have requested half year licenses at $2. Village Clerk A. C. Burandt complained. Most of these have owned cars since before the first of the year. The ruling of the board is that village vehicle taxes must be paid the "skip in state license taxes with no 'skip periods'."

Township Must Borrow to Have Funds for Poor

No Money on Hand; County Released from Pauper Care

Correction: Barrington and Palatine townships were listed in the July 2 issue of the Barrington Review as among townships which will benefit from the transfer of the poor fund from Cook county to the state. This is a mistake. Cook county was not included in the counties affected by the new law.

A STORY OF PRIVATE INITIATIVE AND LOCAL CAPITAL

Chapter VIII

BETTER LAMPS... BETTER LIGHT

HIDDEN AWAY on the inside pages of Chicago newspapers in the fall of 1879 were brief announcements of a new invention by Thomas Edison. By closing an electric switch he had caused a loop of carbonized thread to glow for 40 hours in a vacuum. He had created the incandescent lamp! Friends predicted that his invention would make it practical to light homes electrically. Critics ridiculed the idea—forecast failure.

The critics were wrong. Early the next year a lighting system using 115 of the new incandescent lamps was successfully installed on a large steamship. Soon wealthy homes began to supplement gas mantles with electric lights.

Improvements were made. The cotton-thread filament became a bamboo carbon filament. Then the carbon filament became a tungsten wire. The vacuum bulb became a gas-filled bulb. And the glass was "frosted" inside. Each change brought longer life, better light. The perfected lamps gave four times as much light as the original carbon lamp. "Mazda" became their trade-mark.

Rival lamps, of course, appeared on the market. Most of them were of the carbon type with low efficiency. Many of them came from foreign countries where cheap labor cut manufacturing costs. And while a few pennies were saved at the time lamps were purchased, less light was received for current consumed.

When the Public Service Company was organized in 1911, it recognized the superiority of Mazda lamps—recommended that customers use them exclusively. Many homes, however, continued to buy the cheaper foreign-made lamps even though they were often fragile and burned out quickly.

Something had to be done. A solution was found in 1923. The Company made it easier to obtain high-quality lamps than low-grade lamps. It introduced a policy of "loaning" 60- and 100-watt Mazda lamps to customers without charge—of replacing them with new lamps when they burned out. It began to exchange other sizes of lamps at concessional prices—less than must be paid for inferior lamps. Lamp exchange counters were set up in all Public Service Stores. Lamp agencies were established in dozens of communities.

To assure uniform quality, a sampling of all lamps the Company purchases from manufacturers is submitted to the Electrical Testing Laboratories in New York City. This independent organization puts the lamps through careful performance tests. If they fall below prescribed standards, they are rejected.

When customers make lamp selections, the Company's representative asks about the fixtures for which they are intended—suggests the proper lamp to burn. And new lamp styles are demonstrated so customers may always light their homes in the most up-to-date way.

Thus the Public Service Company considers its obligation to residents of northern Illinois as extending beyond the running of reliable service to the customer's premises. It co-operates with him, showing him how to make the best use of the service he receives. It was this idea that inspired the Company's liberal lamp policy. It is constantly behind the Company's efforts to put superior lamps and appliances into every customer's home.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

This is the eighth of a series of stories chronicling the development of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the service it is bringing to the area into which Chicago is growing. Estate Gardens

Viewed by 200

Gardens of the following eight estates were open to visitors Saturday afternoon under the direction of members of the Barrington Garden club: John B. McCauley, James E. MacMurray, Frank Johnston, J. R. Cardwell, H. Stillson Hart, John Edmond, Marvin Miner, and Alexander Reichmann.

The Cardwell estate was the starting point and small maps presented to each guest served as guides. About 200 persons attended the affair.

Mrs. Reichmann was a gracious hostess, escorting the visitors to her beautiful rose garden and unusual display of 80 varieties of cacti plants, scented geraniums, and night blooming wirtus.

The puny garden of the Cardwell estate and the lovely terraced gardens of the Hart estate were greatly admired. Tall blue vases added charm to the formal garden of the Frank Johnston.

Mrs. L. F. Mercer, who was in charge of the affair, was assisted by all of the club members.

Hostess at Luncheon for Former School Friends

Mrs. R. G. Plagge was hostess at a one o'clock luncheon at her home, 545 Grove avenue, Saturday in honor of six former school friends. Those who gathered for the delightful reunion were Mrs. Clarence A. Wolfram of Des Plaines, Mrs. Leslie Cole of Park Ridge, Mrs. Victor Arnold of Norwood Park, Mrs. Fred Barrett of Irving Park, and Mrs. George A. Peide of Aurora. After luncheon, the guests made a tour of Barrington gardens and called on Mrs. John W. Reed of Hanover Hills.

Honor Guests at Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Higgins entertained eight guests at a dinner party at their home in Cuba township last Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pickrel of New York City, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Higgins, for the past two weeks. Bridge was the diversion of the evening.

Study Group Reads Current Plays

Mrs. John W. Douglass entertained a group of friends who are reading current plays at her home, 645 E. Hillside avenue Monday afternoon. Mrs. Helen Roising, an Evanston reader, delighted the guests with a reading of "Peter Ibbetson" as it will be given at Ravinia next month.

Entertains at Bridge Luncheon

Kelsey District Wins Appeal in Separation Case

Judge Persons Over-ruled School Decision of Trustees

Known as the Fox River Grove case, the appeal of the Kelsey District School Board from a decision of the Board of Trustees to separate the district from the Fox River Grove School District, was heard by Judge Persons in the Circuit Court of Cook County on Monday afternoon.

The case was brought on by the Kelsey District School Board, which had appealed from a decision of the Board of Trustees to separate the district from the Fox River Grove School District.

The Board of Trustees had decided to separate the district from the Fox River Grove School District, and the Kelsey District School Board had appealed from this decision.

Judge Persons overruled the decision of the Board of Trustees, and the Kelsey District School Board will remain a part of the Fox River Grove School District.

She's DUMB!

It is dumb stupidity for any woman to have bad breath. It offends others—ruins her society. The worst of it is you yourself never know when you have it. But you can be sure that you won't have it by going with Listerine. It instantly ends halitosis—improves mouth hygiene, and checks infection. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

FORT WORTH MAN IS ELECTED LIONS HEAD

Julius C. Hyer of Fort Worth was the outstanding candidate for election Friday to succeed Earl W. Hodges of the Henry L. Doherty Company of New York City as president of the International Association of Lions Clubs.

The election was the climax of the 15th annual convention which attracted 4,000 delegates from all over the North American continent and over-seas. Mr. Hyer began his term of office with 2,600 Lions clubs in the association and approximately 100,000 members.

Mr. Hyer has for some time expressed the thought that a service club should serve its community, state and nation economically as well as socially. While he believes that service clubs have a distinct part to play in welfare and social work, it is his thought that such an international chain of business men's clubs should be, and is powerful enough to have considerable influence in economic problems. Mr. Hyer, having served in the World War as captain of the 11th motor battery, and being at the present time post commander of the Ft. Worth American Legion, one of the largest posts in the country, feels that any international economic working arrangement should be based on sound and ethical business practice.

CRYSTAL LAKE LEGION TAKES $2,500 LOSS

That the Barrington post of the American Legion was fortunate to better than break even and make a small profit on the four day celebration held at North Park July 2-5 inclusive, is shown from the fact that several Fourth of July celebrations were financial failures.

The worst failure in this vicinity was at Crystal Lake where a net deficit of $2,500 was reported, marking the first time in five years that the post has gone in the red.

The Thaw show cost the promoters of the carnival $5,500, and took in approximately $3,000, it was reported.

WHAT'S NEW?

An improved stop watch has been designed for athletic events which will time contests to one twenty-fifth of a second.

A Japanese scientist has developed electrical apparatus to warn of earthquakes by translating their preliminary tremors into sounds.

A new electric lamp, with very slender filaments of aluminum has a highly destructive action on cultures of micro-organisms.

A new apparatus for telephoning and telegraphing by wireless to an airplane in flight has been tested in France.

A Baltimore signal engineer has devised a control for traffic lights that can be operated by an automobile horn's sound waves.

A Swedish engineer has invented a device that records incoming telephone calls, repeating them later for the persons for whom they are intended.

County Officials Plan Survey for Barrington Road

Cook County Will Pave Route
After Highway Detour
Is Lifted

A survey will be made in the near future of the Barrington road south of the Dundee road intersection preparatory to establishing a definite route for county paving next spring, according to information received Thursday from Major George Quinlan of Chicago, county superintendent of highways.

The road should be straightened, and certain rights of way for the highway must be acquired, Major Quinlan stated.

The Barrington road at present is being used as a detour for highway 19. The highway is now being torn up in several places where cracked or crumbling concrete shows that new surface should be put in. The good pieces of surface will remain, but when the road is ready for extra lane paving, new concrete will replace all that does not justify being left as is.

It is doubtful if any paving will be done on the Barrington road while it remains a part of the highway detour. There is a possibility that some paving will be laid this fall, Major Quinlan said.

Along with the paving of the Barrington road by Cook county, a widening of Hough street in Barrington south of the Chicago & Northwestern tracks will be on the village program. The board has not called for bids yet and may not have the strip paved until after the detour route has been lifted from the street. The paving of these strips will be a matter for consideration at the next board meeting.

Pity Poor Hubby

On her birthday she moved her low chair close to her husband's side as he sat reading. She placed her dear little hand lovingly on his arm and moved it along softly toward his coat collar.

He certainly expected a kiss.

"Hubby," she said.

"What, my love?" he asked.

"I was just thinking—"

"Were you, my love?"

"I was just thinking how nicely this suit of clothes you have on would work into a rag carpet."

Proving Earth's Motion

A ball suspended in the National Academy of Sciences is a Foucault pendulum. The action of this pendulum depends upon the fact that, according to the laws of motion, a freely swinging pendulum tends constantly to move in the same plane. The experiment proves that the earth rotates eastward, and the rate of deviation of the pendulum proves that the relative motion of the earth with respect to the stars is due entirely to its rotation and not to the motion of the stars around it.

Modern

A woman applying to go to the poor farm stated that she had five children. "But they don't help me any," they all grew up and married off.

"I suppose that made you pretty lonesome at home," remarked the judge kindly.

"Oh, no," said the woman. "Every once in a while one of them gets a divorce and wanders back."

Bee Hunting Still a Sport

Bee hunting, a pioneer sport, is still followed in northern Michigan. The reward for locating a bee tree is sometimes eight or ten gallons of wild honey, which must be strained before it is eaten. Many prefer wild honey to the product of domestic bees, claiming the flavor is better.

"Your Apology Is NOT Accepted!"

"It is after midnight, Jim, but you needn't apologize for getting me out of bed to answer your call, because I'm still in bed. . . . No, I'm not a magician—I have an extension telephone right here on the night-table."

The solution to making and answering telephone calls late at night is an extension telephone alongside the bed. This "extra" telephone furnishes convenience, comfort and privacy at very low cost. Call our Business Office.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

PICK IVANHOE FOR ONE OF STATE RADIO SITES

Ivanhoe today was selected by Representative Richard J. Lyons in one of the best sites in northern Illinois for one of the six radio stations to be erected by the state under the Lyons bill signed early in the week by the governor.

"The highest spot in the county is located at Ivanhoe according to the U. S. geologic survey, and in fact it is the second highest point in all of Illinois. Near Galena there is a rise that is a trifle higher than the one at Ivanhoe," Lyons said.

The representative is confident that one of the stations should be built in Lake county as it would serve the police departments in the northeastern section of Illinois. As police news would be relayed on low wave lengths it would not interfere with radio reception in Lake county, it is understood.

Bulletins on crimes would be communicated through these stations through the full 24 hours to state highway police officers, sheriff's forces and police departments.

This would eliminate the present system of telephone communication, which takes too much time in view that the sender of a message can reach but one department at a time. Under the radio system squads on the roads could get messages at the same time they are being detailed to all police departments in the area.

Board Decides on Audit of Village Assessment Funds

neys to take care of all special litigation involving the village.

A large number of small items were taken up for consideration by the board and several were turned over to the proper committees with authority for final action.

Erect Parking Signs

Street signs for limited parking, etc., for the downtown section will be purchased by the street committee. The trustees have passed a limited parking ordinance to relieve parking congestion and protect business houses from being sewed up from street access by all day parkers. To make this effective large metal signs must be erected at different places throughout the business district, it was pointed out. The street committee was given the power to purchase 'Q' signs and have them erected. Bids were received for additional fire equipment from the Grebe Hardware Co. Fire Chief Irvin Landwer was asked for opinion on the equipment and volunteered that some of the hose lengths offered in the bids could be used but that some would not fit with the present equipment and hydrant plan. The Grebe Hardware Co. was asked to submit itemized bids so that the fire chief could sanction purchase of individual pieces of the equipment.

Formits First

The question of building permits came up with the complaint that construction of many buildings was started before the permits were obtained. The board instructed the police department to require people who start construction work to get building permits if they do not have them when starting the work.

A request for grading and graveling the south extension of Grove avenue was considered by the board. A request for graveling a North side street was also heard. The streets and alleys committee decided on a tour of inspection to determine if granting the requests would be feasible at this time.

Mule Has Long Life

The average age of a horse is sixteen years. Mules and jackasses live to be a great age, although the average length of life is approximately sixteen years. There have been records of mules having lived 35 to 40 years.

W.D. Smith Made Vice President of Jewel Tea Co.

Former Secretary Has Been
With Organization
22 Years

William D. Smith of Dundee, heretofore secretary of the Jewel Tea Co., Inc., has been promoted to vice president of the organization along with Robert F. Walker, new sales manager. These appointments were received at the Barrington offices from M. H. Karker, president, who attended the annual board of directors meeting in New York July 14. Robert F. Muir was made secretary, succeeding Mr. Smith, and Franklin Landing was elected assistant secretary.

Mr. Smith has been associated with the company for 22 years. Mr. Muir has been associated with the company for seven years.

Curls for British Soldiers

Curls, which some Parisian enthusiasts are adopting in memory of the fashion current at the revolution of 1830, were once insisted upon in the British army, writes a columnist in the Manchester Guardian. When the Twenty-ninth Regiment—the Worcester—were stationed at Weymouth in 1797 an order was issued directing that the hair of the head was to be dressed "with one curl on each side," and the effect seems to have been regarded as so pleasing that other regimental commanders followed suit. Even the Guards did not escape, for in 1789 the commander of the Grenadiers issued an order for officers and men alike to dress their hair "in curls, which may come down so as to cover the ears, and must be frizzled so as not to blow about."

Puppy Spoiled Scheme

An actress on tour became tired of paying railway fares for her small dog, so she bought a basket with ventilation holes.

On the first occasion when she attempted to use it, the ticket collector at the station barrier asked what was in the basket.

"Hats," replied the actress, and went on the platform.

Before she had proceeded many yards, she was recalled by the grinning ticket collector, who, pointing to a stump of fuzzy tail which wagged joyously from one of the ventilation holes, remarked: "You'll have to pay for that one with the feathers."

William Ferguson of Charlevoix, Mich., was buried the other day in a coffin he purchased 25 years ago.

Frenchman's Claim to Be "Father" of Film

Nobody quite knows who was the originator of the cinematograph, and there are several claimants for the distinction. Though Americans hold that Edison was the first of the filmers, there is no doubt that a Frenchman named Louis Alime Augustin le Prince actually produced films several years before Edison.

Le Prince was a huge man. He stood six feet four inches and was broad in proportion. He came to this country as a young man, and at Leeds, in 1888, he photographed pictures with a one-lens camera and also made a projector. His invention attracted considerable attention, though he was never able to exploit it commercially, for he came to an untimely and mysterious end. On September 16, 1890, he entered a Paris train at Dijon and was never seen again. His widow always believed he was the victim of foul play and that he was "bumped off" by an unscrupulous gang that wanted to obtain control of his invention.

Leeds citizens firmly uphold the claims of Le Prince to be the inventor of the "movies," and he is honored in the Yorkshire city this year by a memorial.—London Times.

Pompeii Wears Color of Its Day of Tragedy

Perhaps it is natural that nearly every tourist who visits the Roman remains which have been dug out of Pompeii, dreams of seeing "Pompeii Red" in all the glory of original design and color, which modern Pompeii hotel balconies have made popular all over the civilized world.

Except for a chance bit of ancient mosaic or frescoes on a few walls, the sight of the wonderful carmine is so rare as to be startling. The prevailing color impression of Pompeii is the lava gray which old Vesuvius painted there at the time of its destruction.

This is the color which shades walls and streets from the moment you enter the Marine gate, as you wander past the Temples of Apollo and Jove or even enter the House of the Vettili.

It is fittingly so, for whatever our expectations may have been, the tragedy of that awful day needs a gray draping more than artistic glory of brighter hues. It is a city of ashes, of marble and stone, and the passerby will, if watchful, not fail to note that nature with buttermilk and convolvulus has tried in many a gray corner to beautify the ancient chariot-worn streets.

"Smart Money" at Catlow Theatre on Sunday, Monday

Wallace Berry's latest film "The Secret Six" is proving a sensation at the Catlow Theatre. The picture is a real "thriller" and it will be a treat for the eyes and ears of the audience. It will be shown on Saturday night by "Just a Q" in which William H. Cagney starred.

The story deals with the adventures of a nobleman who poses as a beggar to "test" the girl he has rich uncle. He is arranged for him to marry. He is in love in the process and complications in love and fortune ensue. A News-Review cartoon, comes an action scene called "The Secret Six" will be added to the bill.

Edward G. Robinson, who was tremendously successful in "The Great Caesar" comes to the Catlow Theatre on Sunday and Monday nights as the star of "Smart Money," the melodrama which he plays the part of a small town Greek barber, who climbs to the heights of notoriety as a gambler and who, fearing nothing but shadows, is finally put on the spot. The character is the most remarkable portrayed by Mr. Robinson.

Bobby Jones in "Chickadee" as Laurel E. Hardy in "Laughing Gravy" will be offered on the main program.

"Young Sinners" with a cast including that includes Thomas Meighan, Halie Loftus, and David Rollins. Next week's Tuesday and Wednesday attraction at the Catlow Theatre.

"Tarnished Lady," which will run on Friday nights of next week mark the motion picture debut of a real great actress, Tallulah Bankhead, new screen personality which will attract American film audiences where just as it swept England, theatre-going public of its feet.

Cosmopolitan actor, Miss Bankhead comes to the screen already a star. Recently, she accepted Paramount offer, and returned to this country to make her motion picture bow "Tarnished Lady."

Comfort and Peace in Glow of Hearth Fire

When the frost nips the pumpkins and the autumn leaves are yellow, and the chill of the night sinks into our homes, then the glow of the hearth becomes a cheerier companion of the advancing season. Its snapping flames invite us to contemplate thought and bring conversation. Some of man's wisest thoughts have been uttered in the friendly and friendly circles as people gathered about the hearthstone and mused and meditated on their observation of life.

The fire on the hearth gives very cheerful touch to a cool evening. Fire is a symbol of hope. It stands for the light that helps us out and well being. The hearth that has good arrangements for making is well warmed and a through the cold winter.

As we look at the glowing flame home seems good. The intense, strong of our age for ambition and weeding is repressed to some extent. Blessings on every man who adds good hearthstone to the dwellings he erects. He adds to human happiness and wisdom.—Kassau County (Pa.) Leader.

WILL MEN WEAR WASHABLE TUNICS?

Irvin Cobb recently sounded a battle cry which should find an echo in every masculine heart. "Gentlemen, let's dress up fancy!" he said, and proceeded to describe dress reforms for the male sex.

Even the most aggressively male man has to concede the superior advantages of feminine summer-time apparel which can be worn once or twice with cool comfort and then washed and freshened. But the hero who will make equally sensible clothing acceptable to the timid masculine world has not yet appeared. Although most men suffer in the conventional garb of heavy, drab suiting, few of them have the courage to do anything about it.

Cobb advocates the Russian tunic made of cool, washable cotton, linen, or silk. "With its low collar, a side-closing down the right front, and a belt, it would adequately and sensibly cover a man's body and, best of all, would obviate the wearing of coat and waistcoat, shirt and collar, tie and sleeve links, thus at one stroke sweeping away a whole battery of his present sartorial antiquities and bothersomes," he argues.

The idea is inviting, but seems to need a Prince of Wales to put it over. Irvin Cobb has contributed a basically sound style and slogan. It's up to men to general to popularize it. Gentlemen, let's dress up fancy—and sensible!

CRIME IS ORGANIZED

From investigations by the National Crime Commission, it has been disclosed that a highly organized system of "fences," as receivers and disposers of stolen goods are called, handle more than $500,000,000 worth of loot each year.

Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, declares that the lone burglar is now a rarity, and that well organized gangs are plying their thieving trade along efficient business lines.

In order to do this, they must have definite outlets for the property stolen. If these could be eliminated, Mr. Baker believes that the total thefts would be largely reduced. While police and other officers of the law are aware of this condition, and generally do what they can to break up these "fences," there is need for greater cooperation on the part of the public in keeping a lookout for places of this character and promptly reporting them to the authorities.

Losses suffered by the public from thefts, burglary and robbery almost equal the destruction by fire. If these losses are to be lessened there must be increased vigilance on the part of all citizens and a greater determination to aid in putting criminal gangs out of business.

CUPID'S POOR SHOTS

Judging from the increasing prevalence of divorce and its attending evils, Cupid is doing some rather poor shooting these days. His darts have either failed to hit the mark, or having hit it failed to stick.

Convincing proof of this is seen in a statement from Detroit, where it is declared that not only are divorces reaching a high total, but matrimony is assuming large proportions in the matrimonial picture. In that city it is said that no less than 11,000 divorced husbands are under orders to pay alimony and 4,000 of them are prosecuted every year for failure to do so.

The number of recalcitrant husbands confined in the Detroit house of correction for failing to pay alimony has run as high as 125 and at the time of the last report it was 118. Furthermore, it was stated that alimony payers in the city were increasing at the rate of about 70 a week.

It seems that Cupid is making a mess of match-making nowadays.

THE DESTRUCTIVE RAT

Of all the pests which infest the world, the rat is undeniably one of the worst. So great has the menace of rats become that an international association for their extermination has been organized.

Not only do rats destroy millions of dollars worth of farm products every year, but they are a menace to health through the fleas which infest them and spread diseases of various kinds, such as bubonic plague, trichinosis and hydrophobia.

It is said that one couple of gray rats will produce 800 to 900 offsprings in a year, as the young become adults in four months. If all were able to find food and shelter it can readily be seen that they would ultimately overrun a community.

The program recommended for combating rats includes the building of rat-proof structures, the cutting off of their food supply and the poisoning of those which survive other preventive measures.

CONTAMINATES MILK

"Watch your pastures," is the warning sounded by a Chicago milk association, to the dairy farmers of the association's milk shed.

At this season of the year, it is pointed out, garlic and wild onion flavors contaminate the milk so badly. This causes considerable loss to the dairymen.

It has been found that if the cows are allowed to eat a few garlic tops and wild onion tops the milk tastes and smells strongly of the weeds, that same day. Dairy farmers should be careful not to allow their cattle to pasture on areas infested with wild onions or garlic, the organization advises.

LIBRARY NEWS

The following new books have recently been added to the library:

LANDS AND PEOPLE edited by Holland Thompson.—There are seven volumes of these educational books, covering every part of the world. The pictures are magnificently colored that even an adult would enjoy looking at them. There is a complete index in each volume with a general index in the seventh.

RED BREAD by Maurice Hindus.—There have been many books of introduction to Russia—scientific, carefully written, clever and informative. But Hindus adds something else—the human touch. A book worth-while reading.

SIXTH JOURNEY by Alice G. Rosman.—This author needs no introduction to you. The "Sixth Journey" tells of the events which finally make it possible for John Falconer, famous architect, who is a widower with a small daughter, to re-establish a home with the assistance of the charming Hilary Revel.

The Way of Life

By BRUCE BARTON

DON'T SEND IT

Some years ago I met a man who spoke as follows: "The boss issued a memorandum today with a lot of new instructions. Some of them were all wet, and I didn't hesitate to tell him so. I shot a memo right back at him, and, believe me, it was a hot one."

Said another man: "I received my first business training under a wise old bank official. One day a letter came in from a customer who made unreasonable complaints and asked for an unwarranted favor."

"I sat up almost all night drafting an answer to that letter. It was a beauty, and I took it in to the old man next morning with pride. His head nodded approvingly as he read it."

"You've put the case just right," he said. "The position you have taken is based on sound banking principles; it states our attitude with dignity and force. All in all, it's a very fine letter, and I congratulate you on it. Only, for Heaven's sake, don't send it!"

Afterwards, I learned that the man I first quoted was paid $4,000 a year; the other is paid $40,000.

Like every other man in business, I receive a certain number of communications which are both unkind and unfair. Having red hair and a naturally quick temper, I used to let such letters heat my temperature considerably. Sometimes I carried them around in my mind for several days, forming red hot phrases in reply.

Now I play a much meaner trick on the writers. I do not answer them at all. I can imagine one of my critics going down to the front gate every morning to meet the postman, looking eagerly for my answer, thinking up what he will say in his next outburst.

Day after day goes by, and no answer comes. The fire that was to burn me up, turns him up instead.

Life seems somehow too short for controversy, and much of my income in these days is received not so much for what I do as for what I have learned not to do.

Patience, I have learned, is almost as important as work; while judgment uniformly commands a much higher rate than well intentioned activity.

What is judgment? You ask. Well, it's the little voice that whispers: "That would be brilliant, but don't do it." Or "That's a smart one; very smart indeed. But, for Heaven's sake, don't send it."

THIS WEEK IN Washington

Special Correspondent

TENSION, COMPARABLE to a family feud, exists at the President's two homes, the White House and the Rapidan camp, over his status and immunity as a public servant and a private citizen. The agitation has spread until it threatens to sap whatever strength Mr. Hoover gained in favorable publicity in the recent adjustment of international debts. The feeling prevails among the President's friends and well-wishers that he has again borrowed trouble in taking exception to simple news stories about his comings and doings.

The situation is extremely delicate as it has reached the personality stage in the "official party" involving secret service men and news writers who accompany the president on all trips. Advisers outside the White House circle are concerned over Mr. Hoover's tendency to cut his own patterns for the "half-shirts" as he dubbed his critics some time ago. It seems that the strife cropped out following the publication of a simple statement that the president had dashed back to Washington last Sunday to telephone Paris.

A series of petty investigations involving the secret service and news writers climaxed the whole affair. Instead of dramatizing the incident to the American public, the press had the opposite effect. Secret service agencies assigned to the White House have nothing to gain in giving out information as their sole function is to protect the life and safety of the chief executive. The press is up in arms at the taboo now in force which is nothing short of censorship. A prolonged quarrel with the newspapers would harm Mr. Hoover more than any other interested party. The prediction is made that Hoover will back down on his drastic order of stringent silence except his two aides into silence. Like all things forbidden a taboo would bring the pitiless spotlight on all his affairs and much that is generously suppressed would find its way into print.

HAVE YOU NOTICED the absence of spell-binders at picnics and other public outings in your neighborhood? The apathy of the general public to political matters is a source of real alarm to the party chieftains. The radio which brings orators into homes too frequently is partly to blame for the failure to invite party speakers to the platform during the summer gatherings. "The supply of spell-binders is far in excess of demand which shows that economic laws sometimes affect political affairs."

THERE IS A GROWING apprehension that the criticism of the Red Cross administration which came to the surface last winter over the Arkansas and other drought relief measures may develop into a full-fledged congressional inquiry. The latest incident of refusing aid to miners recently near starvation in Pennsylvania projects this smouldering controversy into politics again. The effectiveness of the Red Cross in times of disaster is not the main issue. Caustic comment in Washington deals with the policies of the executive personnel in erecting mammoth stone and marble office buildings with luxurious offices instead of diverting these funds to the relief of citizens in need.

Under the surface of things there is a class note, an echo of the Tatt-Mabel Boardman row which hinged on the alleged control of appointments by high society. Every effort is being made to prevent an open clash especially with an annual roll call due in the autumn.

WHEN A MAN OF WEALTH and some political experience is once convinced that destiny calls him to the presidency, there is no end to his scheming to reach the goal. Joseph I. France, once a senator from Maryland, has launched his campaign for the republican nomination. France is a liberal republican whose term of service did not qualify him for serious consideration at party conventions in other years. His latest move is regarded as a futile gesture.

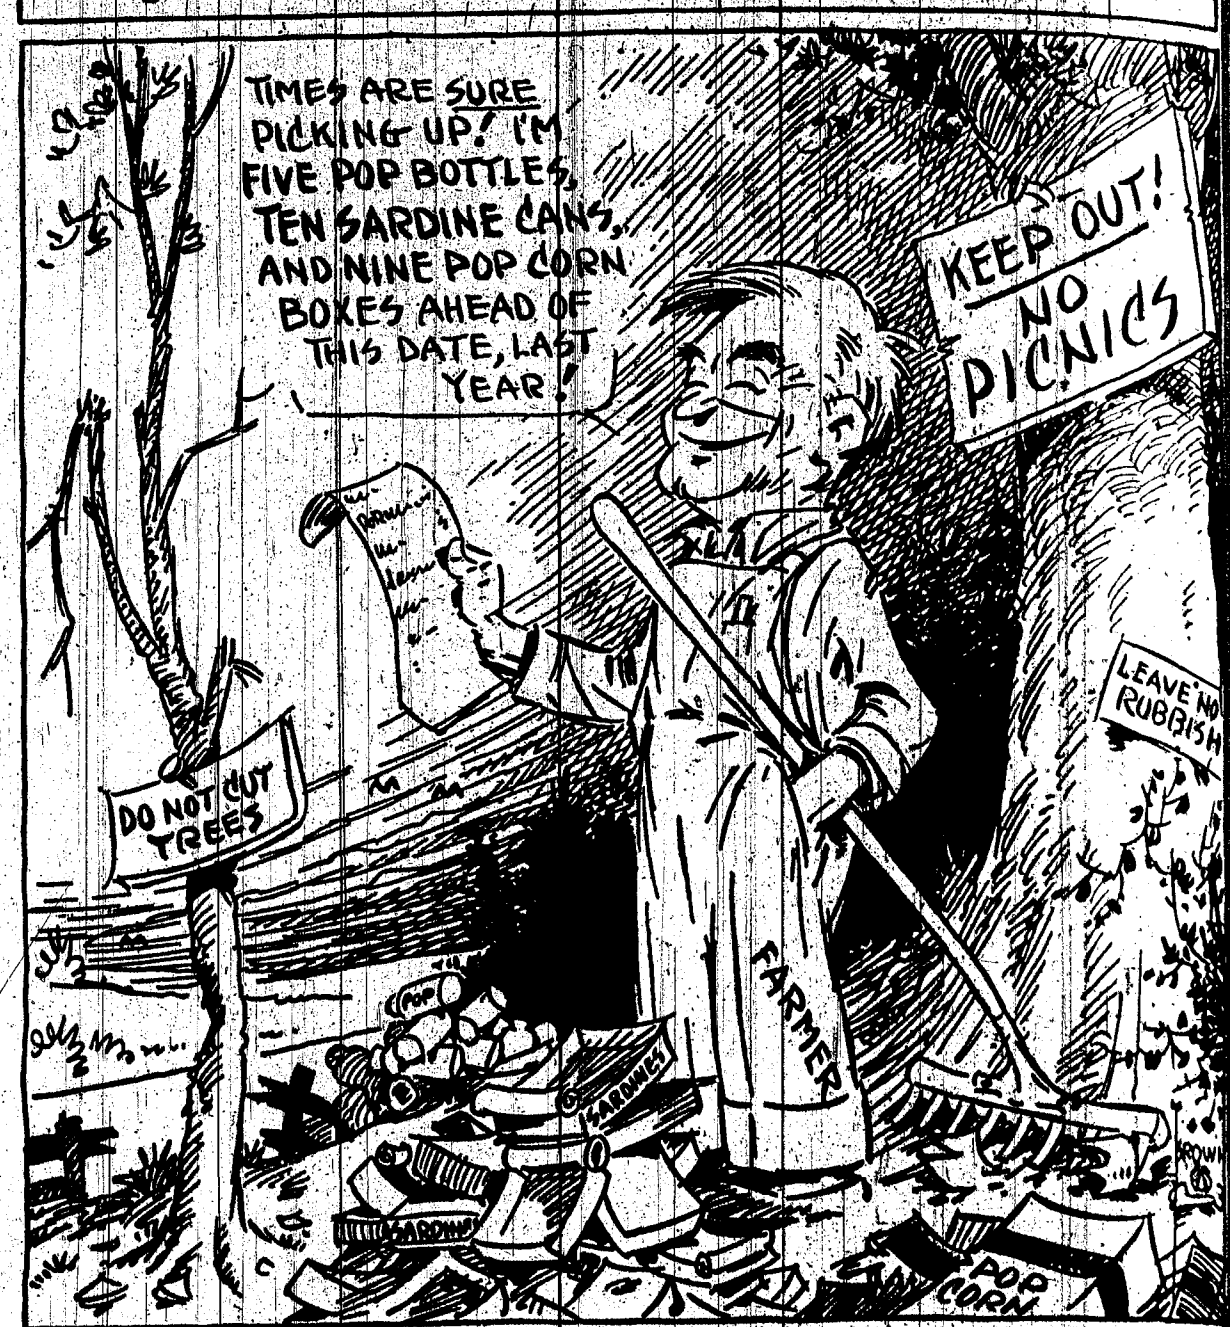

SOL BLOOM WAS a music publisher in New York before coming to Chicago. He believes in effective sales methods for himself and projects in which he is interested. As chairman of the George Washington Bicentennial commission he has made considerable progress selling the idea of a nation-wide observance in 1932. A little stunt of establishing special working conditions giving the handful of employees Saturday off has upset the plans of other Federal agencies for increased efficiency for those on the government payroll. Organized workers lauded Mr. Bloom and his captive ears failed to catch plaudits from cabinet officers and others who have more responsibility to the public than the generous little Tammany legislator. Bloom has stirred a hornet nest which will break over the next congress.

Choosing His Own Name
At one time it was the custom in the Shetland Islands for a man to select his own surname and the last man to do this was Oldeon Manson. The custom followed was for a son to twist his father's Christian name and make that his surname. Fact which explains why Oldeon Manson's grandfather was called Magnus Robertson and his father James Manson (Magnus son).

According to custom Oldeon should have called himself Oldeon Jameson (i. e., the son of James), but he chose to be known by his father's surname. This ancient custom led to considerable confusion and was finally prohibited by parliamentary enactment.

Not very reassuring has been the performance of the Nautilus, the submarine in which Sir Hubert Wilkins plans trying to reach the North Pole under the ice. While cruising in the Atlantic her batteries went bad and one engine broke down. After fighting a gale the Nautilus was taken in tow by the battleship Wyoming. It seems that a more trustworthy craft should be obtained for the hazardous Wilkins enterprise.

Dial telephones have been removed from the White House after about a year's trial. Senators also found the mechanical instruments an unsatisfactory substitute for hello girls, and jokesmiths hinted that the solons were too dumb to work the new contraptions.

M. Francis of Paris has recovered his stomach, although it will never be of any practical use to him. The organ was removed during an operation, after which it disappeared. He employed detectives to find it, which they did in the laboratory of a local physician, who had taken it for professional study.

Among recent signs and advertisements the following are noted: "Prepare for a long, dreary evening with the radio." "Our tongue sandwiches speak for themselves." "Try our pig's feet; we pickle our own."

A resident of Cairo, Egypt, is charged with a serious shortage. He is called upon to account for 60 wives who have disappeared during the past 30 years. Some were divorced, but others are said to have died under suspicious circumstances.

Fair warning given by a Missouri farmer in a notice posted on his fence: "If any man's or woman's oxen or cows gets in these here oats, his or her tail will be cut off, as the case may be."

Real mothers-in-law are reputed to enjoy a certain amount of leeway in messing up family affairs, but a Glasgow judge has ruled that a mere prospective mother-in-law must deny herself such liberties. Hence Mrs. G. H. Stewart, who interfered with her son's marriage to Miss Grace Leighton, must pay the prospective bride $750 damages.

A certain group in England advocates the use of "dolls," in referring to women of mature age, whether they are married or not. Attempted explanations of the idea are not very clear. Drawing the line at a mature young woman becomes "mature" would perhaps be difficult if not dangerous.

The superstition that a two-dollar bill is unlucky, but that the jinx may be exorcised by tearing off a corner of the bill, is expensive to the government. Most of these bills are thus mutilated and soon are returned for redemption. As a result the discontinuance of the two-dollar bill is being considered.

"The people of Illinois and particularly Cook county confront a revenue situation unparalleled in this or any other state," said Governor Louis L. Eldridge in the meeting at Chicago of the 43 citizens whom he had selected to confer in regard to the revenue situation. He told the conference that in Cook county two years ago the total necessary to collect taxes was $545,045.00 an amount greater than the annual reparations payment of Germany, and agreed to convene the general assembly in special session to consider whatever plan may be formulated as a result of the conference.

Timber Squabble Was Averted

By CHARLES SLOAN REID

"SON, I want you to go over to Lige Mason's place, and tell John Hawkes that he must stop cutting timber on my land. He has a wood-cutting privilege from Mason; but the timber is better across the line on my place, and he persists in getting over." The elder Lanier phoned his son.

"All right, dad; I'll go today," agreed Tom Lanier, as his father paused.

"I have sent Hawk two or three messages," continued Lanier, "and I am pretty sure that he gets them. But Milan was here today from Sutterfield's mill; and he said Hawk was getting pines across the line."

"I'm glad, dad, I'll give that Hawk person a jolt that will jar the ground in that God-forsaken neck of the woods."

Tom went out, leaped into his conductor's seat, and drove away. Lanier's timber tract lay far back from the highway, so Tom decided to leave his car at Sutterfield's mill, and cut across country on foot, a distance of two miles. In this way he would pass directly through the section of woodland where Hawk had been cutting. The country was rough, and Tom had more than one ungraceful tumble before he reached the back of the timber tract. Here he encountered signs and the denunciations of Hawk. He looked about him. He saw dozens of stumps from which large pines had been cut.

"The dirty scamp!" vituperated Tom mentally. "I'll stop this business, or know the reason why."

He swung into a trail which led through a narrow belt of timber to the edge of an open field. In the center of which Hawk stood as a tenant on Mason's place. Reaching the clearing, Tom halted. Half way between himself and the house was a woman at work with a hoe.

"Hawk's wife," Tom decided. "Well, she may as well have the first installment."

"Good morning, ma'am," he said. "The woman visibly started, then turned about. Tom Lanier caught his breath. It was the face of a girl of eighteen that looked out from under the arch of her sun-bonnet—and such a face! There was a rich glow in the cheeks, and the eyes were glorious, large and brown.

"I—beg pardon," stammered Tom; "I—I am Tom Lanier."

"I am Sarah Hawkes," the girl volunteered, in a voice that aroused still greater interest, for it fairly radiated soft music.

"You are Mr. Hawkes'—Mr. John Hawkes' daughter?"

"Yes; were you looking for dad?"

"Er—not exactly. I have been walking, and should like a drink of water. Is there a well—a spring near?"

"Oh, yes," answered the girl genially. "There is a splendid spring just down the hill there."

She pointed toward a densely timbered bluff. "But," she added, dropping her hoe, "I will go and show you—I should like a cool drink myself."

"Thank you; you are very kind."

Tom followed the girl down a little winding trail which led to a rock-rimmed spring at the foot of the hill. Sarah Hawkes threw down her bonnet and sat down upon a tree root. Her hair, which had been bobbed at one time, had grown out until it now fell about her neck and ears in brown waves.

"How long have you lived here?" asked Tom.

"Three years."

"You have just—you work in the field regularly?" he asked.

"During dad's busy season, yes. We are very poor."

"You talk well. You have attended school?"

"Yes; finished high school at Greenville last year."

STATE NEWS

There are 103,100 males to 100 females in Illinois, according to 1930 census figures given out from Washington. Of the total population of 7,330,054, this is composed of 3,734,475 males and 3,595,579 females. The state has 7,800,361 white residents, 328,072 negroes and 35,211 persons of other races. Mexican census highest in this group, totaling 28,906 of these. White population increased 15.4 per cent during the decade and negro 80.5.

A former night guard at the Stateville penitentiary, J. O. "Gramp" Logan, has filed a claim with the state court of claims, declaring that working 13 of 14 hours a night in the sentry box on the wall with his glaring in his face from all directions, with other bad conditions, had ruined his health.

Breaking loose from a state highway department truck, a trailer on a steep hill near Elmhurst crashed into a truck in which three young men were riding, killing two of them and breaking both legs and a jaw bone of a third.

The state division of architecture and engineering has awarded 114 contracts for minor repairs at an estimated cost of $500,000, most of the work to be at state institutions. The two best cattle barns and the swine pavilion will be completed immediately in order that the projects may be ready for the opening of the 4th State museum repairs, lighting cuts for the parkway on the executive mansion grounds, water meter installation, telephone service for the state house, are among the contemplated improvements.

Two students, Margaret Seay, Charleston, and Louis Cunningham, Vandalia, Mo., and two teachers, Mrs. E. S. Stoyce, Charleston, and Wendell Williams, Mt. Vernon, attended a visual education test program to be put on in Washington, D. C., by the Fox Film corporation. Five days will be spent in testing the value of talking motion pictures as a medium for the public schools.

"Why—I was in Greenville a great deal last year; I—I didn't meet you."

"No; I didn't stay in town. I went in on the school truck every day. It was pretty hard at times. I had to walk, though, by Sutterfield's mill, truck and coming, to catch the truck at Mark's crossroads. But I am very grateful. Do make many sacrifices."

There was a little tremor in her voice, she turned away, her head for a moment. Tom took a step toward her. He wanted to lay his hand upon her shoulder.

"I have seen you a number of times," continued Sarah, looking up into his face again. "In the ordinary contests at Greenville."

"My goodness! And I failed to find a girl like you in those contests? I must have been scared silly!"

Tom closed his hand upon her gently. "I am going now," he said; "but I am coming back—Sunday."

"But you wanted to see dad to day, didn't you?"

"No. There may be a time when I want to see him on important business."

All the way back through the woods Tom Lanier's whole form was glowing from a decidedly new thrill. When he reached home, the senior Lanier promptly queried:

"Well, did you see Hawk?"

"No; dad; he was away from home. I left word with a member of the family that I would come back Sunday."

"Good! I want you to keep the memory."

"Leave it to me," declared Tom with decided warmth.
