Larsons Catch 38 Fish in One Hour With 12 Minnows

Averaging one fish every minute and 35 seconds may be just fisherman's luck or a good "fish story," but as far as Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Larson are concerned they are satisfied that it can be done.

The record catch was made by Mr. and Mrs. Larson last Sunday morning at Honey Lake near the Biltmore Country club, three miles north of Barrington. They began fishing at 6:30 o'clock using ordinary hooks and lines and minnow bait and by 7:30 o'clock the two had pulled in 38 crappies averaging one pound each. Only 12 minnows were used for bait, for the entire catch, Mr. Larson said.

St. Pauls Take Two Games from Baptists By 10-3, 8-0 Scores

The St. Paul soft ball team in the Sunday school league still maintains their record of no defeats. Monday night the St. Paul slugs took both games in a double-header with the Baptist team by scores of 10-3 and 8-0.

The success of the St. Paul team over the other three teams in the league has been marked by their consistent hitting of singles and doubles with an occasional triple.

Tuesday night a Barrington pick-up team was defeated by the Elgin Majestics by a score of 6-2. The Majestics' success is due primarily to the work of their excellent pitcher. They have been defeated only three times in three years.

The Sunday School league has slated games for Friday, July 31 and Monday, August 3. Friday evening the Methodists meet the Baptists in a single game, and Monday the Salem team encounters the St. Pauls in a double-header.

The present standing in the church league is:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Paul	10	0	1.000
Salem	5	2	.714
Methodist	2	3	.400
Baptist	1	3	.250

Wednesday, August 5, the St. Paul team will play a return game with the C. & N. W. The local team met defeat in the first game.

A game scheduled between the St. Pauls and a Lake Zurich team for last Sunday was cancelled because Lake Zurich failed to furnish a team.

Farmers and 4-H Clubs to Picnic at Model Farm Near Mundelein

Lake County's annual farmers' picnic will be held at the Model Farm near Mundelein on August 30. The picnic is sponsored by the Farm Bureau association and the Lake County Farm Bureau.

This will also be the 4-H Club Achievement day in which the various clubs will exhibit over 80 prize calves, 70 pigs, 30 sheep and several hundred chickens. The girls sewing clubs will exhibit their projects.

The livestock judging will start at 9 a. m. Other attractions will be games, horse shoe pitching contest, baseball games, races, catching the greased pig, and dancing. The Televox electrical man will be shown at the picnic and prize will be given to the one who discovers him as he passes through the crowd.

Many Contribute Flowers to Cheer Less Fortunate

Barrington is making a generous response to the recent appeals from the Fair and Flower Guild for donations of flowers and plants for the eleemosynary institutions in Chicago.

A dozen or more large bouquets of cut flowers were received Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at the Standard Motor Co. display rooms. Zinnias and gladioli predominated the mass collection of flowers, and, according to Mrs. Louis B. Martin, chairman of the Barrington community unit, they will continue throughout the summer to be the most popular flowers among the donations.

Mrs. Martin stated that although Barrington has participated in this sort of charity work for several years, there has been more interest displayed this year. Consistent cooperation, however, is needed throughout the remaining weeks of this year's drive.

Local people who have flowers to contribute have been asked to respond liberally as long as cut flowers are available or until the latter part of September when this year's appeal will be brought to a close.

The Garden club of Barrington is the organization which is sponsoring the work in Barrington, and Mrs. Paul W. Tyler is in charge to receive this week's donations. Mrs. Walter W. Searns of Barrington assists each Wednesday in loading the donations on the truck which takes them to the North Western station booth where the flowers are gathered each week from suburban towns for distribution.

Some of the charitable organizations which receive the donations from Barrington are: Hull House, Northwestern Settlement, Chicago children's home, Women's and children's hospital, Michael Reese hospital, and Madonna settlement.

returned to New York to study for the ministry and was ordained a minister of the regular Baptist church in 1915. He immediately returned west and came to southwestern Lake County. The family of her mother, Mary Augusta Winch, came to Wauconda at about the same time and her parents were married there in 1945.

She purchased a farm near Flint creek in Cuba township, southwestern Lake county, which they soon exchanged for another farm in northern Cuba township, six miles north of Barrington.

Mrs. Paddock was born in Waukegan April 20, 1883. When she was two years old her parents moved to the Cuba township farm which remained the family home until a few years ago. She was educated in the country schools and at the old Waukegan academy, and for a number of years taught in the schools of Cuba township. She was married to William Paddock of Cuba on February 11, 1929. After a year spent at Chicago, she returned to Cuba township to carry on her father's farm and subsequently acquired the place. When the farm was sold to form the nucleus of Tower Lakes Estates, Mr. and Mrs. Paddock retained a small tract of land and built a new home where Mrs. Paddock passed her declining years.

She is survived by her husband, at present a patient in a Waukegan hospital; a son, Leslie B. Paddock of 725 E. Hubbard avenue, Barrington; and one sister, Mrs. Grace E. Williams of Elgin.

A STORY OF PRIVATE INITIATIVE AND LOCAL CAPITAL

Chapter IX

NEW TECHNIQUE FOR AN OLD ART

THE world's famous chefs may all be men, but women cook most of the 350,000,000 meals served each year in the northern Illinois communities served by the Public Service Company. And they're meals to be proud of, too!

The art of roasting ham in a brown-sugar crust has been borrowed from the South. A recipe for feather-light angel food cake has been passed from one generation to the next. The secret of rolling out puff paste for apple pie was discovered in an old cook-book. These are tricks-of-the-trade most women know.

But during recent years, things have been happening in the kitchen. New ovens with automatic heat controls and automatic timers have made cooking less of a sleight-of-hand performance, more a science. There are electric beaters to mix batters better—in half the time, with one-tenth the effort. Mechanical refrigeration is coming into common use and with it a chance to cook with cold.

These are developments homemakers had no notion of a dozen years ago. They played no part in the kitchens where they learned their cooking lessons.

Since the new cookery is so intimately tied up with the electric and gas appliances the Public Service Company sponsors, the Company is offering a sort of post-graduate course in cooking to interested customers. Every day its Home Service Department is dramatizing the new kitchen in vivid, practical terms.

Last year, 100,000 women in northern Illinois attended the free schools the Company's Home Service Director and her staff of assistants staged. Some of the schools were held in huge auditoriums, were attended by 3,000 women—and men. Some were held in little church-parlors where not more than 50 people could be crowded in. Booklets brimming with recipes were distributed.

The Home Service Department does not confine its activities to meal preparation. It goes into the dining room and suggests attractive, proper table settings for any function. It goes into the home laundry and demonstrates improved methods for washing, drying and ironing clothes.

Every day letters come to the Department asking for advice—what to serve to a dinner party of eight—how to can spinach—how to iron men's shirts on a rotary iron—how to remove an ink stain from a linen-table runner.

To keep up with new developments, the Company maintains an experimental kitchen. Here every recipe the Home Service Department recommends is thrice-tested. Here new ways of doing old things are evolved. Here the appliances offered for sale in Public Service Stores are used daily to determine their effectiveness.

The Public Service Company is not alone in pioneering the new kitchen. Newspapers and magazines are giving splendid assistance. But, because of its association with the appliances that are making the new era possible and its familiarity with the needs of customers, the Company is in a particularly good position to do a thorough, practical job of teaching the new home-lore. And it is proud of its opportunity to help women solve their home problems, to show them how they can make the best possible use of the gas and electricity they are buying.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

This is the ninth of a series of stories chronicling the development of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the service it is bringing to the area into which Chicago is growing. Copies of previous chapters will be mailed you if you will write to the Company, 72 West Adams Street, Chicago.

Second Mixer Will Speed Paving Work on Route 19

A second concrete mixer will be added to the road equipment on highway 19 as soon as the first 20 foot strip of paving is complete between the new viaduct at Dundee road and E. Main street.

Approximately two miles of the first strip have been finished. The remaining distance to E. Main street probably will be finished within 10 days, weather permitting. When the first strip is finished, the two mixers will be used to do a speedy job on the second strip.

More than a mile of paving will be laid east of the viaduct. This with the work at the viaduct will hold up the road until late in August with opening early in September, according to the best estimates that can be made now.

First Airplane Is Near Completion at Local Factory

Thousands of Pieces Go Into Construction of Wings New Type Alleron Used

The first airplane to be built at the new Herren Aeronautical Corporation factory is nearing completion. The wings and fuselage have been completed, except for the covering, all that remains is the tail fin and running gear. The first ship will be completely assembled for a critical examination before the cloth covering is applied.

As an example of the intricate work which goes into the making of a plane, there are between two and three thousand pieces of wood stacked and glued together in the construction alone. There are ribs to each wing. Although only three and one-half inches high, each rib is capable of supporting a weight of 250 pounds.

Spruce Used in Wings

Practically all the wood that goes into the construction of an airplane is spruce. All lumber must be government inspected before it is used. Spruce is found to be the most desirable because it is light, and capable of withstanding where greater strength is needed. Such as the wings, the wing ribs, the joints, a three-ply wing.

A special feature of the new plane is the new type alleron. Most planes have an alleron on each wing but this plane has one running full length of the bottom wings. It is covered with plywood, making it a completely new type. Each alleron weighs about 22 pounds. The steel framework of the fuselage weighs about 35 pounds.

Several gears have been received for the four-cylinder motor, which will power the craft and castings are expected to arrive any day. The plane will have modern general aviation system.

In this connection they visited in Grand Junction, Minn., Alden, Minn., Schlegel, Minn., Alden, Minn., and in Iowa and New York in Minn.
