Yak On Sturdy Beast

The yak ox, and more particularly the hybrid ox, the mdzo (the result of a cross between the yak and the Chinese cow), is a sturdy beast that will carry approximately 300 pounds, making an average stage of about 15 miles a day and keeping in fair condition if the grazing is good. He is fairly docile and easy to handle although double-jointed and shifty as a goat if minded to throw his load.

Statues of Generals

Statues of generals are not memento to war but monuments to courage—and brains.

12-Year-Old Girl Pianist Is Delight to Audience

(By Barbara Harnden and Joan Glenka)

About one hundred persons enjoyed listening to the talented pianist, Joan Bishop at the Baptist church Saturday, March 25.

One is surprised that such a small girl has such strength and marvelous control of the keyboard. Her three Bach selections were very clean and forceful. Her trills and turns were played skillfully and exactingly.

In Schumann's "Scenes From Childhood" it was fun to follow the different pictures which she painted in the 14 scenes there were happy, sad, serious and pleading feelings represented. Joan played all of these with much coloring and understanding.

In Copeland's "Scherzo" the audience delighted in the imaginary battle between the cat and the mouse.

Joan concluded her program with the five difficult Chopin and Liszt selections. These she played with faultless ease. Her fingers flew over the keyboard with such rapidity that they could hardly be seen. Her glissando was performed with speed and skill. Joan's evident enjoyment of her music was expressed in her playing. One can tell that she spends many hours perfecting her art.

In addition to his brother and sister in Barrington, he is survived by the widow, Lydia Heuman Johnson, a son Richard H. Johnson and Miss Hannah Johnson of Chicago and Mrs. Steven C. Dick of Winnetka, and a brother, John Johnson of Chicago.

An Architectural Mystery

Medieval street signs in Chester, England, founded by the Romans, are really history pronounced, an expert gallery of stores making an arcade over the path for other stores on the street. Various theories have been advanced to explain the architectural mystery, but none generally accepted.

Poets Referred to as Swans

Poets sometimes are referred to as swans, the reference even is applied in allusion to the mythological story of Apollo's being changed into a swan. The poets referred to Shakespeare as the Swan of Avon; Virgil was known as the Mantuan Swan, and Homer the Swan of Meander.

Barrington Woman's Club

On Wednesday, April 5, members of the Barrington Woman's club and their friends will visit the Chicago Historical society in Lincoln Park, North avenue at Clark street. The party will drive up to town and will leave from the Barrington Methodist church at 1 o'clock. There will be a conducted tour of the museum after which tea will be served. Those wishing to go may call Mrs. Allen Hunt, telephone 290.

All members of the club are urged to attend the Seventh District luncheon meeting to be held at the Barrington Methodist church, Thursday, April 6. There will be both morning and afternoon sessions. Past presidents of the district and of the clubs in the district will be honored.

Those who attended the March meeting of the Woman's club were informed and pleased with the words of Mrs. Charles Holton, president of the seventh district when she addressed our members. She complimented the whole organization, of the club, and spoke particularly of the work of our scholarship loan fund committee and its chairman, Mrs. Harold Grebe. She said that the seventh district has recently organized a scholarship loan fund and has patterned its loan-plan after those drawn up by our club. Mrs. Grebe has been selected as one of the members of the seventh district loan fund committee and has given much of her time and offered all her valuable experience in helping to establish a successful loan fund for the district.

The work of our young women's group was also mentioned by Mrs Holton. This fine group of young business women is well established in Barrington now. Since its inception three years ago it has been under the capable directions and leadership of Mrs. Lester Higgins. Meetings are held every two weeks, and the program and philanthropic efforts of the young women deserve the praise and support of all the members of the senior club.

An invitation has been extended to our women from the North West Art League to attend the annual spring exhibit and tea Sunday, April 9, at 3 o'clock at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Heline Pahl, soloist, and Ruby Hawley, pianist, will provide the program.
