Village Trustees Approve Municipal Band Ordinance

Fire Department Ordinance to Be Presented to Board in Near Future

The first actual work toward the organization of a municipal band was completed Monday night when the village board approved an ordinance establishing rules and authorizing the appointment of persons to operate the unit. The ordinance was approved following a report from W. N. Sears, member of the local committee which (participated for the band tax in June, who stated the committee had met the approval of members of his committee. The motion to adopt the measure was made by Trustee John Dasenbrock and seconded by Trustee R. F. Kocher Sr.

The band ordinance provides for the appointment of three board members by the village president who are to serve on a band committee. This group will act upon the selection of a band director and handle and approve the disbursement of the receipts. An advisory committee composed of three persons who are not members of the board was also appointed. The advisory committee is to act in conjunction with the village's group.

Village President Earl Hatje named Trustees R. F. Kocher Jr., John Dasenbkr and Harry H. Wenzer to the council band committee and Dr. B. P. Graber, R. E. Willenborg and Sam Lamer to the advisory committee.

Another ordinance was also discussed by the board Monday night. It was the new ordinance covering the operation of the village fire department. Trustee Otto C. Hinchele, chairman of the fire committee, turned over the rough draft of the proposed measure to the ordinance committee to be put into proper form for adoption at a later date.

Sustain Minor Hurts in Car Crashes Here

Miss Barbara Wilson, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karcher, residing on Donlea road in Barrington township, received a lacerated knee and bruises when the car she was driving collided with a machine driven by William Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Long, 319 Liberty street, at the intersection of Brinkman and West Cook-Lake county line roads Wednesday afternoon. Long was driving the car belonging to his brother-in-law, James McCarthy, of Barrington.

Miss Wilson was going east on the county line road and Long was approaching the intersection from the south on Brinkman road. Neither driver was able to stop in time to avoid the crash. Long and his passenger, Robert Langdale, were both thrown from their car but escaped with bruises. Miss Wilson was treated at a local physician's office and allowed to return to her home.

No one was injured when three cars figured in a multiple rear-end collision on Northwest highway near Brandt Dairy Sunday afternoon. The car driven by Mrs. H. Brown, 1029 Hamilton avenue, Park Ridge, going east on the highway, ran into the rear-end of a car operated by Robert J. Hajicek, 2341 N. Mildred avenue, Chicago. Hajicek's machine then crashed into the car owned by George Hahn, 3225 N. Schmeile avenue, Chicago. Both Hahn and Hajicek were waiting for the traffic control signal to change when the accident occurred.

"Terry" Druggan Indicted by Grand Jury Wednesday

Charged With Violation of Internal Revenue Laws in Federal Court

Terence (Terry) Druggan, who recently broke into the public eye when his 240-acre farm in Elk township was sold at auction, was indicted along with four officers of the Gambinlous Company, Inc., a brewery, on charges of violating the internal revenue laws by the federal grand jury Wednesday afternoon. Indictments allege that Druggan's interest in the brewery was concealed when application for a federal license was made. Federal agents reported Druggan was actual owner of the concern, which reopened in 1934 and went bankrupt in March, 1937.

The others indicted are Attorney A. J. Schwarzkopf, 5454 South Shore drive, vice president, and Harold C. Hayes, 4301 Drexel boulevard, secretary-treasurer of the brewery; James J. Cullen, 5447 Jackson boulevard, and John Martin, 6822 S. Wabash avenue.

Bench warrants were issued by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, before whom the indictments were returned and bond was set at $15,000. Conviction on the charges of conspiracy and filing a false report of ownership carries a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both.

Hybrid Corn Plot on E. Schroeder Farm Will Be Inspected August 21

A field day has been arranged to inspect the 5 acres of hybrid seed corn plot the afternoon of Monday, August 21 on Edward Schroeder's very interesting and well handled hybrid seed corn farm with about 15 different hybrids growing in it. The plot is located on Rand road 2½ miles northwest of Arlington Heights.

This field is coming along in good shape and is beginning to show some interesting results at the present time. Markers have been put up showing the different hybrids that are growing. At the same time another plot nearby put out by W. Herstrum of the Palatine high school on the Ray Reese farm and a half mile west on Rohlwing road, will be visited.

On the Schroeder plot he had a soil that had been phosphated and heavily manured and, according to all soil tests that have been made, it should be able to produce a maximum crop of corn without the use of any fertilizer whatever. However, to distinguish whether commercial fertilizers would be beneficial he has planted a second system of soil practices one row of each hybrid is grown with out a 0-20-20 fertilizer and the other row has had no fertilizer on it. The progress of these tests will be noted during the field day.

A little time will be taken to discuss soils that are brought into this meeting. Farmers who are expecting to time or use phosphate may bring their samples of soil along with them and the latter part of the meeting will be devoted to soil testing service.

Further announcements will be made about this meeting in the next issue of The Herald.

Program Completed for Annual Summer Jamboree Aug. 16

Tug of War Contests and Two Softball Games Will Be Feature Events

Tug of war contests between picked teams will be one of the many features planned for the second annual leisure time program Jamboree, which will be held at Northside park on Wednesday evening, August 16. The feature challenge match will pit the Hoffmann Best Trust softball team, which at present is holding down last place in the business men's league, against the Walbaum-Capelli "Concrete Mixers," champions of last year's tug of war contests. This battle will bring together some of the best men in the business and professional groups. Pohlman's "Giants" will try to out-pull Baade's "Brutes" in the other contest.

Another highlight of the jamboree will be a softball game between Father and Son teams. A D. Church captains the fathers while his son, Clyde, leads the younger unit. Rules of the contest required a father to be in the lineup at the same time as his son, and if one retires from the contest the other must also.

Preceding the tug of war there will be races and contests for the younger children.

The Barrington high school band will present a concert later in the evening under the direction of W. N. Sears and immediately following that there will be a presentation of awards to winners throughout the summer recreation season.

The Jamboree will be brought to a close with the showing of motion pictures taken during last year's and this season's programs. P. E. Clark and W. M. Watson, recreation supervisors, are arranging the schedule.

Children will have their big event of the season the next day when Chow Day program which is to be held at Cuba park, will be staged at the Russell street playground in the morning and then they pass through the business district enroute to Cuba park to be awarded to the three children wearing the most humorous costumes.

Unusual Hard Maple Tree Is Dying

The hard maple tree that has been the object of interest for many years to residents of Barrington, particularly those living on the south side of town, due to its early and unusual change of foliage, is showing other unknown reasons. The death of the tree, which is located on the south side of Hubbard street, near Cook street, has been suggested as being caused by the same thing that caused losses in the elm and oak trees in the fall. Leaves on one side would change to a golden scarlet tint while the other side would remain green for a week or so longer. When the tree's foliage began to turn, many regarded it as the first harbinger of winter.

"Who Is the Tallest Man in Town?"—Four Curious Debaters Are

Just to satisfy the curiosity of four local debaters who engaged in a preliminary session prior to the opening of the "hot stove league" this winter. The Review is passing on their request to its readers and asks "Who is the tallest man in Barrington?"

There it is! A question without rhyme of reason, but serious enough to provoke an earnest discussion from P. R. Drover, his brother-in-law, Fred Eicke, Chief of Police E. W. Baade and his son, Reuben Baade. The debate arose in the Baade Blacksmith garage, where Mr. Drover rules the front office and Mr. Eicke is "dictator" in the service department.

Although these men are curious about who is the tallest man, they don't seem to be at all interest to offer a prize for the answer. Instead, they asked The Herald to do the job. If, by any quirk of fate, anyone is interested they may send the answers to either of the group.

Awaits Sentence for Car Larceny Charge

Sentence on Kenneth Bell, 25 years old, who appeared before Judge John A. Sherburne in the Cook county criminal court Wednesday morning on a charge of larceny of an automobile, will be set next Tuesday, it was learned from Chief Police E. W. Baade, who appeared at the trial.

Bell was arrested near Robert Wallace from whom it is alleged Bell stole and secreted an automobile on the morning of July 19, and Night Patrolman William Behrens who arrested Bell following a wild chase through the village streets.

At the trial Wednesday it was learned Bell had a long prison record, having been sentenced for the first time at the age of 12 years. It was reported he would probably be sentenced to one year in jail under the present larceny charge.

Leslie Freye Awarded All-Expense Tour He Is Unable to Use

Leslie Freye, of Palatine, who is employed in the service department of the Barrington Herald, has had the experience of winning a free trip and being unable to accept it, he gives away to someone else. He was awarded an all-expense trip by a Chicago newspaper this week after his picture had been taken by a rotogravure photographer and printed in the paper as part of a contest conducted for men only.

The unfortunate part of it is that he will be unable to accept the award because he is married. The award is not transferable and none of his local friends can benefit from it either.

Mr. Freye's picture was snapped a week ago while he and his son were attending the Chicago Cubs baseball game. The picture appeared in the Sunday issue of the paper.

Contract Awarded to H. Walbaum for New Aerator Shed

Village Trustees Take Action to Improve Condition of Water Supply

As soon as the contract is signed by the authorities of the work, H. H. Walbaum, local mason contractor, will begin construction on the village aerator system which is hoped will relieve the water supply of its odorous condition. Mr. Walbaum was awarded the contract at the village board meeting Monday when his bid of $1150.70 was read by Village President Earl Hatje. Mr. Walbaum was the only bidder on the project.

Work may be started by next Tuesday, Village Clerk A. G. Dorf said, reported Thursday morning.

The new aerator system will consist of a shed constructed on top of the present water reservoir containing four coke trays over which water will pass before entering the storage tank. By passing the water over coke and breaking it up into a fine spray for contact with air, it is expected the sulphur odor of the water will be dissipated.

The trays and other wooden parts coming in contact with the direct flow of water will be made of cypress, which will insure longevity of the structure and prevent deterioration.

The plan for the odor purifying system was advanced by Village President Earl Hatje, chairman of the water committee, soon after he took office last spring. The village engineers, Consoer, Townsend and Quinlan, drafted the details and specifications, which have been approved by the state board of health.

High Cost of Living Expensive—Village Pays High Price for Toast

The village of Barrington has probably set a new record for the high cost of living. It cost the municipality in the neighborhood of $2.00 dollars last Friday morning for several pieces of toast, one piece of which were wanted by members of the Barrington fire department who were invited to call at the H. P. Cochran home at 717 Hillside avenue to remove the burnt offering from the toaster.

Mrs Cochran had gone into the yard to hang out her wash Friday morning and in her absence the children placed several pieces of bread in the toaster. And, as children frequently sometimes been known to do, they promptly forgot them. When Mrs. Cochran returned to the house a short while later, she found it filled with smoke.

Believing the place to be on fire, she had the neighbors call the fire department. Mrs. Cochran had no idea of the source of trouble before the volunteer firemen arrived.

"Man About Town" With Jack Benny Starts Run Sunday

"Young Mr. Lincoln," Starring Henry Fonda, Will Open Run Wednesday

Low Ayres, appearing opposite Jeanette MacDonald in her starring picture, "Broadway Serenade," coming to the Cathoe theatre Saturday plays a new role in the production. Ayres, cast as a promising young American composer, has written several outstanding compositions and looks upon composing as his favorite hobby.

"Broadway Serenade" has a cast including, in addition to Miss MacDonald and Ayres, such favorites as Frank Morgan, Ian Hunter, Rita Johnson and Virginia Grey, and Franklin Pangborn.

The one and only Jack Benny is in his gagging best, Dorothy Lamour sings and provides romantic interest, Edward Arnold is a business tycoon who measures Jack's romantic plans, charming Binnie Barnes provides romantic by-play as his neglected wife, twenty gorgeous Petite Girls parade across in a fabulously beautiful harem sequence, there are new songs sung by various members of the cast. In fact, it would take an adding machine to tabulate the attractions of the "Man About Town," the new comedy with music which Paramount will present Sunday at the Catlow theatre.

As if that weren't enough, "Rochester," making his screen debut with his radio chief, comes through with two another comedy which are being rated as nothing short of sensational.

Efforts of a small-town girl to join a college sorority, dazzled by the glamour and social prestige of such a step, and her abrupt awakening when she learns just what that sorority stands for, provide a vivid, out-of-the-ordinary plot, in which Anne Shirley and James Ellison have the leading roles, and which will be on the Catlow screen Tuesday.

Double featured on Tuesday with "Sorority House," is the startling expose of the crooked doctor who makes the big-time gangsters pay him for their lives. "Undercover Doctor," from "Persons in Hiding," by J. Edgar Hoover, stars Lee Tracy, Ricardo Cortez, Lloyd Nolan, Janice Logan, J. Carrol Naish, Heather Angel and Robert Wilcox.

Not as the great American but rather as the gawky young lawyer that his hometown knew, is Abe Lincoln characterized by Henry Fonda in the title role of "Young Mr. Lincoln," which opens at the Catlow Wednesday for a three-day engagement.

With Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver, and Arthur Wheeler co-featured, the production brings back the flesh and blood of a Lincoln never shown before. The story of Abraham Lincoln's rise has been told depicts his thrilling, exciting, romantic youth and makes a stirring picture.

Garden Club's Tour Attracts More Than 1200 Women Friday

BARRINGTON HILLS — The Open Home and Garden Day sponsored by the Garden Club of Barrington Friday proved to be a surprise party insofar as the number of women who attended. The most optimistic estimate had been 750 and a record was acquired as one o'clock with cars making a veritable stream on the Lake County Line road. At 3 o'clock all tickets were sold, every effort was being made to control traffic and make guests welcome and comfortable.

At the refreshment table on the terrace of the Edward A. Hatch home the very efficient committee immediately called in Mrs. Gorgen from the Country club and all who came were served. A very least 1200 visited the Barrington gardens and perhaps the actual number was considerably larger.

The day was perfect so far as weather was concerned and all garden club members we hope over the result. This annual show has become (traditional) just as it is at Lake Forest and at Lake Geneva where for 23 years the Lake Geneva Garden club members have opened their beautiful estates to the public.

During the afternoon many important garden club women were noted among the visitors. Mrs. George Plamondon of Houston, who is president of the State Federation of Garden clubs, was present. Mrs. Mark Cresop, Mrs. Hugh Furman and Mrs. John Sheppard Stone were guests of Mrs. J. F. Reichmann. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brewster were visitors also. Mrs. Andrew Dallstream had Mrs. Frederick Kirk and Mrs. Gardner Van Ness for luncheon and the garden trip and Mrs. H. Stillson Hart's guests were Mrs. Charles Fitts and daughter.

The regular meeting day of the Garden club was postponed from the 13th until August 14 on which date Mrs. John Roberts will be hostess at Reverie Knoll. Robert Work will be the speaker, and his subject is "Relating the Garden to the House."

Two Foreign Influences Marked Early America

Much of the country east of Hudson and South America had been settled or sighted by European explorers before the end of the Sixteenth century and many pushed back from the shores to investigate the country beyond the horizon.

In the middle of the Seventeenth century the spheres of European influence on the two continents had been temporarily determined. The Latin races controlled the southern continent, the lower part of the northern continent, and had extended their rule far up the West coast, wrote Colton Storm in "American Collector." English, Dutch and Swedish settlements dominated the Atlantic seaboard from Florida to Maine, and the French had plunged inland from their eight Canadian shore.

Although the fishers of Brittany had discovered the rich banks off Newfoundland as early as 1504 (and possibly earlier), there was no official attempt on the part of the French to explore the New World until 1523. Then, under the patronage of Francis I, Giovanni da Verrazano sailed west for the East Indies. His mission was not the commercial success he and the king had expected. The scattered records preserved of his exploits appears in Giovanni Battista Ramusio's hodge-podge compilation of early adventures, entitled Delle navigationi et viaggi, published at Venice, 1550-1559. In three folio volumes.

Like Columbus' famous letter, Verrazano's account was strictly realistic a letter or report addressed to his royal patron. The original letter in Verrazano's hand has been lost but there are at least two contemporary copies, both in Italian translations.

U. S. Population

The United States has 41 persons per square mile.

Reports Increase

Britton I. Budd, president of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, reports that household consumers throughout northern Illinois are using almost 13 per cent more electricity than they did a year ago. Public Service company supplies electricity and gas to the 6,600 square mile area adjacent to Chicago, including the suburbs and the outlying farms and residential territory.

Mr. Budd stated that residential customers of his company and the 22,000 farms served used more electricity at the rate of 980 kilowatt-hours a year, which is among the highest consumption averages for residential users in the United States. Ten years ago the average use on the same basis was only 574 kilowatt-hours per year. This increase, Mr. Budd stated, has been due to three factors: the lowered rates which are being charged for the service, natural growth in the use of electricity in the ordinary home through the more general use of electrical appliances, and to the fact that electric lines have been brought to all but about 18 per cent of the farmers in this area who could economically use the service.

New home building has also been an important factor in the more recent advances made in gas and electricity sales in the territory served by the Public Service company, according to Mr. Budd.

What's Your Guess?

The census of 1840 is under way. The forms are being prepared. The tabulating machinery is being installed. All is being made ready so that, when the enumerators or enumerators go into the field to ask questions and obtain reports on the number of people, their ages and occupations, the number of bedrooms and the kind and amount of business they do, the number and size of farms and a host of other information, these questions can be classified and preliminary totals announced. What's your guess about the population of the U. S. in 1940? In 1940 it was 132,894,575. In 1930 it was 124,927,266. In 1920 it was 105,710,620. In 1910 it was 122,775,046. From 1910 to 1920 the rate of increase was 14.9 per cent. From 1920 to 1930 it was 18.1 per cent. If the rate of increase from 1930 to 1940 was 15 per cent, the census should disclose a population slightly over 141,000,000. What's your guess?

Edward Pedtke, 25, Critically Injured in Accident Sunday

Edward Pedtke, 25 years old, of rural route 2, Barrington, is a patient at St. Joseph hospital in Elgin where he is receiving treatment for a fractured check bone and possible skull fracture incurred Sunday morning when the car in which he and Conrad Lamczyk, 24 years old, rural route 2, Barrington, were riding crashed into a concrete culvert on Higgins road, six miles southeast of Barrington.

Lamczyk escaped with bruises and minor lacerations about the face and head. Pedtke remained in a semi-unconscious condition Monday and full extent of his injuries has not been determined.

Ask Employers' Help to Correct Accounts

Employers throughout the country are being asked by the Social Security board to assist regional and field officials in ironing out any remaining inaccuracies in its old-age insurance records. Albert H. Lewis, manager of the board's field office at Waukegan announced today.

"More than 210,000,000 separate employer wage items," Mr. Lewis said, "have been reported by about 2,000,000 employers during the 2½ years since the program started. The number of inaccuracies in reporting wages may be stated, 'and on the tax and wage-insurance accounts now being received, they are so few that corrections can be made currently.'"

Mr. Lewis explained that many causes contribute to faulty reporting of an employer's wages. "Principle factors," he said, "are: failure of employer to report his account; inability to find and rectify inaccurate recording of his number in the book of his employer; failure of the employer to see that his name appears in the employer's records exactly as it appears on his social security account number card; illegible recording of the worker's name by the employer."

"The board continues," said Mr. Lewis, "that employers have been responsible for only a relatively few number of such errors as have occurred. But regardless of the cause, prompt and economical handling of the claims of retired workers demand that wages as reported by employers be posted substantially in the account of the proper employee. Until inaccurate employer-wage items are duly posted to the proper individual old-age insurance accounts, adjudication is made more costly and complicated by the necessity of referring to many special data and indexes."

Return From Ban

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hornsch, 119 Coolidge avenue, returned to Barrington Thursday following a 10-day motor trip to New York City, where they visited the World's fair and other points.

Gust Joost, 54 years old, of Prairie View, is a patient at the Condell Memorial hospital in Libertyville as a result of injuries received when he was struck by two automobiles on Milwaukee avenue near route 22 Sunday night. He received fractures of the left leg and internal injuries.

Joost was walking along Milwaukee avenue when he was struck and hurled into the air by a hit and run driver into the path of a machine driven by Orville Breitman, 130 Parkside avenue, Chicago.

Breitman told deputy sheriffs that he noticed Joost's legs in front of his windshield but was unable to stop in time to avoid running over him. The first motorist who struck Joost moved on in the line of traffic.

Thistle Problem Is Discussed by Board

Thistles, the bane of farmers and even home owners, came in for their lashing at the village board meeting Monday night, and a lengthy discussion resulted over what procedure was to be adopted toward forcing owners of vacant property to clear their lots of the noxious weed. The discussion was a little tardy, however, for thistles have now gone to seed.

The village has had a noxious weed ordinance on the books but the cost of enforcing it on vacant property is owned by residents of other communities makes it practically inoperative. Payment of expenses of entries that have been made in order to force obedience to the ordinance would cost the community more than several hundred dollars each year.

It was suggested the village could have the thistles cut and have a judgment against the property but this would be expensive and would require a verging notification period.

The matter was turned over to Trustees John Daeschler, chairman of the ordinance committee, for study by the committee and was instructed to seek a practical manner by which the village could cope with the situation.

Leave This Morning on Lions Club Picnic

Members of the Barrington Lions club, their wives and families left this morning for Lake Lawn, Delavan, Wis., for the annual Lions club picnic and outing. The program was to start this morning with a golf match for women and a tour of some interesting Wisconsin dairies.

J. Pelhams Take Out Permit for New Home

Antioch County Fair to Have Many Entries

The seasonal lull in farm chores between threshing and silo filling occurs just at about the right time this year to give the farm folks of Lake county their annual chance to "get away" for a day or two and visit the 18th annual Antioch county fair and 4-H roundup at the fair grounds in Antioch Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 24, 25 and 26.

Hundreds of young and adulting counties farm boys and girls have been busy preparing for the fair, livestock and other exhibits ready for the annual competitive judging, and judging from the number of entries that have been coming into fair officers, D. H. Minio, president, Mrs. Bert Edwards, and Mrs. R. D. McGuire, one of the biggest and best fairs in counties history can be expected at Antioch this year.

Not only have the youngsters been priming their club calves, pigs, poultry and other livestock for exhibition, but the farm homemaker is in the spotlight with the fine array of her canned goods better than ever before and ready for entry into the pantry store exhibits.

An all-day program has been scheduled for each of the three days, with the daily program to be topped off every night by a horse show featuring 70 or 80 of Lake county's best saddle and harness horses, including the middlewest. Free acts featuring professional entertainers will add to the color and enjoyment of the annual event this year.

Lake county residents who have exhibited fairly well in state competition for the blue ribbons and prize money, must make their entries to the fair officials before five p. m. Thursday, August 24.

Held for $500 Bond for Driving Charge

Ralph Halverson, 43 years old, of Prairie View, was held in $500 bail Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Alvy W. Johnson of Vernon township for a county court hearing on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Halverson was arrested on the complaint of State Highway Patrolman Adam Urban, who charged him with being drunk while driving on route 22 near Half Day.

A charge of drunken driving was lodged against Frank Bauer, 44 years old, 231 Raymond avenue, Barrington, by Marshal John Gehrke of Lake Zurich before Police Magistrate Peter Jensen of Lake Zurich Tuesday. Bauer was held in $500 bond for a hearing August 18.

Assets of Wauconda Bank Will Be Sold

Remaining assets of the closed Wauconda Trust & Savings bank, which was closed by the state auditor on October 24, 1931, will be sold at public auction on September 19, according to an order issued Tuesday by Judge Ralph Daily in Waukegan.

Funds received in the sale and other accounts collected by Charles H. Albers, state bank receiver, will be pooled for a final dividend.

Up to date, the receiver has distributed 25 per cent, $1,141,74.-86, in dividend payments to additions to $4427.96 in preferred claims.

S. T. Oliver, deputy bank receiver, petitioned the court Tuesday for the order permitting the sale of the remaining assets. The same type of action for the Highwood State bank was approved recently by Judge Daily. The Highwood auction will be held on September 19 also.

Federal Payroll Census

Peculiar Tree Shadow Leads to Hen Chase

What was first thought to be a car parked along side the hen house on the Ralph Tekampe farm, Fremont road and route 176, early Wednesday morning, turned out to be nothing more than a shadow cast by tree branches. The Lake county deputy sheriff's office was called after Joe Parker, farmhand, had told deputy sheard a commotion in the henhouse. ## India Leads Entire World In Irrigated Land Area

With an irrigated area totaling some 86,000,000 acres—more than twice the irrigated acreage of her nearest competitor, the United States—India affords the most comprehensive illustration of the extent to which man has been able to alter natural disposition of waters in order to assist agriculture.

Of the many powerful works which have been erected for this purpose, the barrage at Sukkur on the Indus river—officially known as the Sind Barrage and Canals construction scheme—is the most spectacular recent development. Commanding a gross area 7,500,000 acres, of which 4,550,000 are cultivable, the entire scheme when completed represents an expenditure of some 272,000,000 an earthwork of about 279,000,000 cubic yards to supply dependable flow through a network of canals and field channels amounting to some 52,600 miles.

The barrage itself resembles a two-level bridge rather than a dam. Between the piers supporting the platforms are several 50-ton steel gates, electrically operated, to check the flow of the Indus, raising the water level on the upstream side and thus supplying the six enormous trunk canals, three on each bank, which run on down the Sind and the Khairpur state. The barrage and head regulators consist of a low masonry dam of 66 spans of 60 feet each, making a total length of about a mile.

The floodgates of the new system were opened in 1932, prior to that time some of the canals had already been in operation and construction of further works has continued since then. This tantamount to the mighty Indus, in which as many as 60,000 men have been employed at one time, is expected to bring into use a section of western India a garden in the area of England, or a half million acres larger than the entire cultivated area of Egypt.

The new channels flow through a desert area in which dust dunes from 40 to 80 feet in depth is covered by a thin layer of sand which in some places is blown up into hills. Gradual leveling of these hills through wind action will improve the productivity of the intervening land by increasing its lightness.

Cook street, for the last several years, has sold his interest in the business to Miss Molleskamp, it was learned this week. Mr. Mustig had no definite plans for the future, it was reported.

THIS ISSUE

With this issue the Barrington Review appears under new management. Leslie W. McClure under whose direction the newspaper has so capably served Barrington community for the last eight and one-half years has relinquished the management to his successors.

The Review is an old newspaper. Its history dates back to 1889—just 50 years ago this year. A 50th birthday is an enviable one in the life of any newspaper enterprise because in order to have survived for a half century the paper must have rendered a valuable and necessary service to the citizens of the community.

The new management of The Review will invite the critical appraisal of Barrington community in the months to come. It will give its best efforts to continuing our old and good work of the previous editor but also that of the man who preceded him and who was the founder of this newspaper.

The management of The Review pledges itself as follows:

That The Review will be the best newspaper that it is within its ability to make it.

That The Review will disseminate only honest and accurate news.

That The Review will have a newspaper with definite opinions on matters of public interest and welfare but that those opinions will never result in excluding "the other side" from fair and honest treatment in the paper's columns.

During the past week, the first in Barrington, the new management has had the privilege of meeting many Barrington people. To them, "Thank you," for their courteous and considerate reception.

Record Corn Carry-Over Presents Marketing Problem to Farmers

With a record carry over of corn on October 1 now appearing inevitable, farmers are faced with the problem of what they should do to stabilize the market, according to L. J. Norton, of the department of agricultural economics, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

First factor in the situation is the record supply of corn now on farms, which government crop estimates set at 837 million bushels on July 1. The two highest previous totals since figures became available were 816 million bushels in 1933 and 643 million in 1938. With the same disposal in July August and September as last year the carry-over on October 1 will be about 550 million bushels.

It is true, Norton pointed out, that farmers have more livestock particularly hogs, than last year through which to dispose of the corn. On the other hand, the commercial demand for corn will be smaller because of lighter exports. Consequently the total disposal may be about the same.

"Deliveries before October 1 to the Commodity Credit corporation of corn now under seal on farms may reduce the 550 million bushels somewhat, but until the corporation finds an outlet other than storage in country or terminal elevators, the grain is available for use as though it were on the farm," he related.

A second factor in the situation is the current year's crop which was set at 2871 million bushels in the July 1 estimate.

"Adding to this the probable carryover, the end-of-the-year supply will be larger than last year and about equal to that of 1937 when corn prices reached the low point of the depression of the early 20's.

"The situation which faces farmers during the coming year is this: About 2540 million bushels of corn will be fed up and marketed during the current year. Increased numbers of hogs and the shorter crop of oats may increase this to around 2600 million bushels next year. With a supply of about 3120 million bushels to start with, based on July estimates, the carryover will still be large by October 1940."

This carryover might be reduced somewhat by exports, but these have been made on a reduced scale beginning with September, 1938, Norton pointed out. For the seven months ended July 1, exports of corn amounted to 91 million bushels, compared with 104 million bushels in the same period in 1937-1938.

"Supplies of corn in Argentina are much larger and some imports from this country to Europe may develop this fall and winter after large Argentina supplies are used up. However, unless these exports are subsidized by the government, they are not likely to be large enough to affect the situation markedly.

"Reduction of corn carryover to more normal figures depends on a short crop or further expansion in livestock numbers.

"The full effect of lower corn prices resulting from the supply situation has not been felt by many farmers. Farmers obtained $7-cent loans on sealed corn on their 1938 crop. In the next few weeks these farmers will have to decide whether to deliver this corn or to reseal it. The Commodity Credit corporation is offering a 6-cent allowance for carrying over this corn in cribs or in granaries for another year."

Mr. and Mrs. Jolly were going over the monthly budget, book checking up on expenditures. Mr. Jolly noticed one item reading, "HOK $2," and another "HOK $7," besides other scattered throughout the book.

"What are these 'HOK's?" he finally asked.

"Heavens Only Knows," replied his wife.

This WEEK in WASHINGTON

By
RALPH E. CHURCH
Representative, 10th Congressional District

Washington, D. C., August 5—By one vote we have escaped the finger at the 74th congress as being a group of "rubber stamps." In the last few weeks we have witnessed a rebellion in congress. In a very real sense it has repudiated white house leadership. To what extent this attitude reflects the attitude of the people remains to be seen. But I think the people generally should find encouragement in the knowledge that the "economy" speeches are now being delivered to congress that speeches for "bigger and better" appropriations. It is a "believe it or not"—the congress is becoming responsible minded!

It is another "believe it or not"—the congress has gone so far as to return even so small a part of the elder two major recommendations made by the president. It refused to debate the social security legislation. Lending bill and it refused to debate the wages and hours bill. The house didn't defeat these measures. It said, "We will not consider them."

As to whether this "independent-economy" attitude continues over into the next session opening in January, depends upon what the people say to their representatives when they return home to repair their political fences. A congressman is sensitive to public opinion. What he finds to be the prevailing public opinion in his district when he returns home to give an account of himself will determine, in large measure, how he will conduct himself at the next session. If the people want their representatives to be "independent" and to "economize," they will not only have the opportunity to tell them so, but, face to face, in the next few months but they will also have the opportunity to tell them so when the next election rolls around. That's the value of a democracy.

There is nothing unusual for a republican member of congress to express his lack of confidence in the policies of a democratic administration. Nor is it unusual for a democrat to oppose a republican recommendation. But it is indeed unusual to find so many democratic members of congress not only vote with the republicans against administration measures but make vigorous speeches on the floor in opposition to the very policy a democratic administration has been fighting for.

The new attitude in congress is well expressed in the words of Congressman A. Willis Robertson, democrat, of Virginia, when the conference report on the Revenue-Spending Lending bill was before the house.

"Only experience will demonstrate whether we can spend our way back to recovery. We have been spending, and even the advocates of that scheme must admit it has not worked as they hoped it would they predicted. We have already appropriated $13,000,000,000 this year . . . I think we have spent enough money."

The statutory debt limit is 45 billion dollars. At present time our national debt is around $40,000,000,000. At the end of the fiscal year 1940 it is estimated to reach the $45,000,000,000, a shade under the statutory limitation. In order to avoid putting the issue directly before the congress and the people as to whether that statutory limitation shall be raised the white house administration adopted the so-called "self-liquidating" theory. And the congress refused to consider it. "believe it or not."

And so, the 1st session of the 76th congress comes to a close with economy as the guiding principle.

Treasurer J. Toman Opens Office to Aid Back Tax Collection

County Treasurer John Toman's new program of tax delinquency formed two days ago for the purpose of collecting delinquent taxes and saving real estate from tax sale for the delinquents, has met with general approval, according to the county treasurer. His offer to accept back taxes on a monthly payment or installment plan, has brought hundreds of taxpayers to his office, room 212, county building, offering to pay under Toman's new plan.

With the bureau in operation only two days 500 delinquents sought details on the new plan and over 250 came in person with a first payment. Toman plans to give out details on request, but the bank deposit book. Each payment will be entered and at the close of the year, or earlier as the matter may be, the money deposited will be paid against the delinquent taxes.

Toman believes in this way many a delinquent bill will be paid and many a home will be saved which otherwise would go in a tax sale. The bureau is headed by George Hagenauer, and Art Sullivan, Toman's attorney, under the supervision of Andrew J. Kolar, first assistant treasurer.

"This improve collects inquiries by the taxpayers and the bureau will make every effort to solve the problems of the delinquent taxpayer," Toman said.

"I feel," he continued, "for the property owner who is delinquent in his or her taxes and I want to do all in my power to help save their homes from tax sales. Sometimes misfortune forbids the payment of taxes and the only thing is to collect taxes, I personally feel if the delinquent is given a break he or she will cooperate and can be helped work out of the difficulty.

"Our staff of men will advise and cooperate to the fullest extent with the taxpayer and offer such aid and advice as is compatible with the law. I urge all delinquents to get into this new plan now and save their homes or vacant real estate. I am sure this plan will work out to the satisfaction of the county and the taxpayer."

New Testament Is Revised

Appearance of a new translation of the New Testament has caused a sensation in religious circles of England, and there are sharp criticisms of some of the changes that have been made in the version published in London. Rev. R. Mercer Wilson, general secretary of the Religious Tract society, who is the translator, has made many striking changes in the text. He holds that proper translations change the phrase "publicans and sinners" to "tax collectors and outlaws." He also believes that St. Luke should read: "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God."

Eskimos Store Music

Glooms of winter may do not lend a melancholy tinge to the songs of the Eskimos. Many of these people concoct their ditties during the joyous days of spring, summer and fall. Such songs are then memorized and are sung during the dances in winter. Several hundred songs of this character have been collected and one of the Indian tribes of North America are now preserved so recorded in the phonograph collection of the National Museum in Ottawa, Canada.

Barrington Bears Protest Baseball Game With McHenry Sunday

Manager Behringer and Umpire Clash in Third Inning

Locals Will Re-Play Game in Near Future; Lose by 9 to 3 Score

Revolting against what he termed "ineffectual umpiring," William Behringer, manager of the Barrington Bears, protested the baseball game played with McHenry Sunday with the result that the game will be re-played at the near figure by order of the officers of the Federated league of the Illinois Amateur association. The game was played at McHenry and ended with a score of 9 to 3 in favor of the home team.

The revolt against the umpire occurred in the third inning when Manager Behringer was at bat. One of C. Anderson's Bilbreys struck the local batsman on the head but the umpire refused to allow Behringer to take first base. At this point Barrington lodged its protest and the game proceeded. Behringer eventually was out by the strike out route.

Thomas made his first appearance of the season on the mound for Barrington and pitched three and a fraction innings. During the first three frames he was master of the situation, allowing two scattered hits, two walks, striking out two men and there was one error made behind him.

R. Pruend opened the fourth inning for McHenry with a double and was followed by R. Bennett who singled. Double by Anderson and C. Anderson resulted in three runs being scored and sent Thomas to right field in favor of Eskew.

Anker mauled McHenry with out losing any skin in the fourth but was tapped for two doubles and a walk which blossomed into two runs in the fifth. McHenry scored four runs on three hits, two walks and an error in the last of the eighth.

Eskew struck out three batters, gave up five walks, allowed five hits, and six runs were scored. There was one error made by the locals during his stay

C. Anderson, with the route for McHenry and collected 16 strike outs while allowing four hits and two walks. McHenry made three errors, this being the first time this year Barrington had not made more errors than their opponents.

A. Anderson, R. Bennett, R. Pruend led McHenry in batting and runs scored while McHenry's Fisher and Kraft scored Barrington's runs.

Following is Sunday's box score:

Honduras Mahogany

English woodcutters in the Seventeenth century came from Jamaica to the mainland of Central America to get out "logwood," a valuable dye wood. They discovered that this region produced mahogany. Built the trade of 1792 between England and Spain, the English were not supposed to cut mahogany themselves. However, the temptation was great; and much of it was cut and the cutters were often in serious trouble with the Spaniards. The colony was twice wiped out and the survivors sold into slavery. According to Thomas Staunton's book, "The Caballeros Directory," published in 1805, Honduras mahogany was the principal kind then being used in England.

New Telegraphic Device

Automatic telegraph, the latest advance in modern telegraphy, are ready for commercial use in Rockefeller Center office building, New York. Each customer is supplied with an automatic telegraph cabinet and key, which permits him to send his own telegrams. Telegrams for transmission by the automatic telegraph need only be typed or written in black ink or black pencil on a special sending form and dropped into a slot in the cabinet. An exact facsimile of the message is automatically received in the local telegraph office. Telegraph officials foresee the day when similar devices, with coin slots, will appear in many public locations such as drug stores, transit terminals and building lobbies.

Law ON THE FARM

C. Hughes, Cook Co. Farm Adviser

Fishing - Hunting - Trapping—The question frequently arises: at what special privileges exist with farm owners and tenants with respect to the taking of fish and game. Section 1 of the game law declares that the ownership of wild life rests in the state. Certain exceptions make it possible for persons living on the land should have certain rights which others do not possess. Accordingly, the following laws were passed in 1933 (revised in 1937):

"Owners residing on, or tenants of, farm lands, and their children, actually residing on such lands, shall have the right to catch or take with a hook and line, fish in the inland streams to be taken or caught under the provisions of the Fish and Game code from waters lying upon or flowing over such lands, of which they or their parents are the bona fide owners or tenants, without procuring licenses . . . Nothing such fishing shall be done during the lawful season." A similar law exists with respect to hunting and trapping. The following forts along the application of these laws will help clarify them:

1. Only occupants of the land are excused from procuring a license. Even the children of an occupant must live at home to enjoy this privilege. An owner not residing on his land must procure a license to hunt, fish or trap on his own land.

2. The law simply excuses occupants from the necessity of procuring a license to hunt, fish or trap. It does not excuse them from other provisions of the Fish and Game code, nor does it excuse them from the necessity of having a gun on the land of other people.

3. The general interest to all boys and girls, particularly to farm boys and girls, is a law permitting persons under 21 years of age from procuring a license to fish with hook and line. This license exemption does not exist with respect to hunting and trapping, however.

In order that farmers may protect their fields and livestock from wild animals or birds, without infringing a personality under the game code, the following law was enacted:

"The owners and tenants of land may destroy any wild bird or wild animal, other than a game bird or migratory game bird, when such bird or wild animal is destroying property upon his or her land, but no poison or poisonous substance shall be used."

The law relating to may be found in the Illinois revised statutes, chapter 61, sections 64 and chapter 61, sections 78-80.

Population Peak

The population of the U. S. will reach its peak in 1980 with 150,000,000 people, according to a recent estimate.

Automobiles 'Strength-lined' Too

Everything is being "streamlined" nowadays, and the automobile was one of the early leaders in the movement, yet in the case of the eye, "streamlined" would be the more appropriate term. Smoothing the exterior of the automobile has little perceptible effect on air resistance until very high speeds are attained, and several engineers have told us that in today's car designs if reduction of friction were the primary aim a fan would be the most efficient.

Whatta' Life

An 82-year-old monk, one Mihalio Tolotos, who died recently in a monastery on Mount Athos in Greece, was given a special burial ceremony because, according to available records, he was the only man known who had never seen a woman. His mother having died when he was born, Mihalio was taken to Athos the next day and secreted there throughout his life, never once leaving the monastery where all his female creatures have been excluded for centuries.

Hotels of the Sahara

With most of the conveniences of city hotelsthe glitter of hotels stretching across the Sahara desert has been opened. They are at Touggourt, the terminus of the Philipperville-Biskra railway; at the oasis of Ouargla and El Golea, south of Tougourt, at Ghardaia, south of Colomb Bechar* and at Timimoun, 400 miles south of Oran, in the midst of the* "silliest desert. The number of rooms range from 12 to 36, and each has running water. There are no bathrooms, as baths would require too large a water supply. Shower-baths are available, however.

Horses Don't sell your horses where they will be starved or beaten to death. We buy crippled and injured animals picked up day or night. We pay the most because we use them and guarantee humane death.

Gov. Horner Donates Trophy to Pet Show

Governor Henry Horner has offered to award a trophy for the "most ideal companion" class of the pet show to be held at the Harry Muhlbradt home on Miller road August 26, according to Mrs. Muhlbradt, general chairman. An attractive list of other prizes has been collected for the pet show, she said, in anticipation of a large number of entries.

The show is not limited to children only, adults as well may enter their pet dog, cat, duck, pig or any other animal. All entries must be in by August 24.

Additional information concerning the show may be secured from Mrs. Muhlbradt or Miss Irene Lipofsky, who is in charge of Barrington entries.

"Wed" 25 Times a Day

When William Gilchrist and his boyhood sweetheart, Irene Wilkinson, learned at Gretna Green that they would have to remain in Scotland two weeks before they could be married there, the runaway lovers were "married" 25 times a day over the blacksmith's anvil to entertain sightseers. Twice each hour the anvil wedding were opened to admit the tourists, and William and Irene repeated the simple ceremony. Spectators then clamored for the final seal on the proceeding, the "bridal" kiss, and the actors complied.
