VOL. 10. No. 45.

BARRINGTON, ILL., SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1896.

$1.25 A YEAR.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Ed. REVIEW: Have just arrived from Alameda, which is a most beautiful place of 15000 inhabitants, and is growing at a rapid rate. The inhabitants are prosperous—all owning their own houses. Alameda is called the "bed" of San Francisco, for about 10,000 persons sleep here and work in San Francisco. The architecture of the buildings is of a high character.

While at Alameda we were the guests of Mrs. Ella Bishop, nee Bute, who is well known to Barrington people.

Alameda has an elegant city hall, nice school buildings, good sewer system and waterworks. Artesian wells furnish the water supply.

The transportation facilities of the city are good—two steam railways and one electric road. The steam roads connect every half hour with ferry-boat to San Francisco. One feature of this railway system is that there is no charge made for passage anywhere within the city limits—one mile wide by three long. You can get on or off and no questions will be asked; when the city limits are passed then fares are collected. The companies had to agree to free transportation within the city before receiving franchises.

I made several trips over the electric road into Oakland, which is twice the size of Alameda, and has fine business houses. The fare from Alameda to Oakland and San Francisco is 10 cents, and most of the people do their trading there.

Alameda is quite a sea-bathing resort, and we took several salt-water baths while here. The streets are macadamized and kept very clean.

On January 30th I, accompanied by Dr. Vancrum, took a trip to San Francisco, where we visited the Union Iron works, for which we had obtained passes. After viewing the machinery used in building war vessels we went to the ship-yard where the iron warship Oregon is in course of construction. It is surprising to see how much machinery enters into the make-up of one of these up-to-date instruments of wholesale destruction. We saw a ship raised out of the water on the dry dock, enabling us to walk under its hull.

January 31 I went to Livermore and paid a visit to Mr. F. A. Schroeder, a brother of L. F. Schroeder, our hardware dealer. The ride through the deep canon and beautiful scenery was a rare treat. After dinner Mr. Schroeder took me out for a drive and showed me some fine vineyards, one vineyard containing as much as 600 acres. We visited the Julius Smith winery, after which the return trip was made.

Wine is the principal product of this valley, and is very cheap. A good 3-year-old wine can be purchased for 25 cents per gallon. The inhabitants drink it in place of tea and coffee. Livermore is about the size of Barrington and is 47 miles from Alameda.

On February 1st, accompanied by Mrs. Meyer and little Maude, visited the Cliff House, and Seal Rock, which is covered with seals. It is quite a sight to watch their movements. After leaving here we visited Sutro Heights Park, Golden Gate Park. The parks do not come up to the standard of Chicago's parks but they looked nice for this time of the year, everything being in bloom.

Sunday, February 2, attended church twice, and a meeting of the Salvation Army. We enjoyed the meetings very much. We started for San Jose on February 4th.

Henry Maul is the name of an Illinois wife beater.

It is probably called Lent because so much piety is borrowed.

Mrs. Lease declares that love is the keystone of the arch. Perhaps she's right.

If Spain could fight as well as she can apologize she would be a pretty hard little nation to tackle.

The poor lion must not be blamed for traveling with Fitzsimmons. His associates are not of his choosing.

The czar has given the sultan a pair of jasper vases. Thus the cares and difficulties of Lord Salisbury multiply.

If Mrs. Maybrick is liberated she should be required to give a bond neither to lecture nor get in jail again.

Wisconsin has declared war against tramps and is armed with the most effective weapon for their exclusion. It is work.

The possibility of war with Spain because of recognizing Cuba does not produce any perceptible exodus of people to Canada.

This is the season of the year when an appropriate shroud for some people would be the winter underwear they discarded too soon.

How seldom do we pick up a newspaper without reading of some one who has so far forgot himself as to be caught robbing graves in Omaha.

The new woman is crowding her way into almost every business and profession, but up to date the policeman has felt no alarm at the possibility that he might lose his job.

Without entering into the niceties of the case the sympathies of the country generally have been on the side of Mrs. Stanford in her unequal fight against the government.

For the first time in the history of the "War Cry," edited by the numerous Booths, its name will be accepted as appropriate by all the world. It is in the thick of the Salvation Army fight.

Despite protests from whatever interested quarter, a large majority of the American people believe that our coasts should be properly defended and will insist upon the legislation necessary to that end.

Cubans are not fighting specially because of any recent and unusual oppression; it is the galling chains that hung about their fathers and grandfathers and were welded to their own limbs by Spain that they desire to break and unloose. They have resolved to do it or die. Is it any wonder that Americans, conversant with their history, deeply sympathize with Cuba? They would not be the sons and daughters of 1776 if they did otherwise.

Prof. Salvioni of London, it is said, has about perfected the invention of an instrument which enables the human eye to see through opaque objects. The instrument consists of a cylinder of cardboard, the inner surface of which is coated with a material that becomes fluorescent under the influences of the Roentgen rays. The lens is at one end of the cylinder. The object to be examined is placed between a Crooke's tube and the cylinder. On looking into the tube through the lens the observer sees the outline or shadow of the concealed object, which is thrown on the fluorescent interior. The device is still crude, but the inventor expects soon to perfect it. He calls it the cryptoscope.

One of the amusing items of news from Europe is that the Barrison sisters, five Swedish dancers, have been banished from Germany because they led so many members of the nobility astray. It is reported that a number of men of prominence have become the victims of the charms of the danseuses, to the detriment of their wives, children and fortunes. Count von Wedel, a dashing young officer, was arrested for having pawned jewelry which he had purchased on installments from a jeweler. At the arraignment it was learned that the young man had not only spent a large fortune on the Barrison sisters, but even the little money he obtained on the jewelry was spent on them. The police say that many members of the nobility have been ruined of late by their enchantments. A nobleman who can be ruined by a dancing girl is hardly worth making so much trouble about. It would be nearer doing poetic justice to banish the nobles and confer medals on the women for showing up the characters of the blue-blooded rouses.

MUD-MADE MEN.

THOUSANDS REJUVENATED IN 1895.

Remarkable Vitalizing Power of the Famous Magno-Mud Cure and Lithia Water Baths at Indiana Mineral Springs, Ind.

Indiana Mineral Springs, Ind., Jan. (Special)—During the year 1895 a large number of physicians from all over the country have personally investigated the remarkable natural combination of cures found here for rheumatism, kidney and nervous diseases. This treatment, consisting of the Magno-Mud Cure and Magno-Lithia Baths, taken in connection with the drinking of Magno-Lithia water, has been found by the profession to be the most remarkable and successful remedial power as yet discovered. The end of the year brought reports from many eminent medical men, a number of whom have discussed and recommended the cure in the leading medical journals.

Since the accidental discovery of the virtues of Magno-Mud and Lithia water four years ago, this little valley has become world-famous. A big hotel has been built with all modern improvements, electric light, steam heat, and directly connected with a large bath-house especially constructed for the requirements of Magno-Mud and Lithia Water Baths. People in search of rest, health and pleasure from all over the United States have come in numbers to tax the capacity of the establishment, and have gone to help spread the fame of the cure. The health-seekers have had their palms drawn out by its magno-mud poultices, the debilitated and prematurely old have found new vigor, bringing back the feelings of youth, and those who have looked for rest, recreation and pleasure have found it.

For this season of the year, this resort which is open all year round, has a larger attendance than ever before, those whose sufferings are aggravated by the inclemencies of the winter season finding sure and immediate relief there. The wonderful success of the place makes it apparent that ere long it is destined to rival Wiesbaden, Karlsbad and other noted European spas. The proprietors, the Indiana Springs Co., have opened offices at 105 Hudson St., New York City, and 45 Randolph St., Chicago, where all detailed information can be obtained on application, whether personal or by letter.

The Dutch Language.

It is rumored that a chair of Dutch language and literature will be founded at Columbia college. The only foreign country in which the study of Dutch has ever been seriously prosecuted is Japan, which, however, in the last half of this century, has seen the wisdom of substituting English. The young Japanese, who were formerly sent to Holland to be educated, now go to this country, England, Germany, and, to a less degree, France.

Hot Water Cures.

Putting the feet in hot water will invariably cure a headache, from whatever cause it arises. The head aches when from any cause the little blood vessels in the brain are too full. Putting the feet in hot water draws the blood from the head.

Clarence S. Darrow has been appointed by the governor a member of the board of trustees of the Industrial Home for the Blind to succeed Charles E. Simmons, resigned.

Rev. F. F. Farmiloe, pastor of the Winnebago Street Methodist Episcopal church, of Rockford, and head chaplain of the Modern Woodmen of America, created something of a sensation among the members of his church by preaching a strong sermon denunciatory of the high school, W. R. C., Masons, G. A. R., Odd Fellows and other secret societies for allowing dancing to be a part of the social programmes. He said dancing was sufficient to bring a member of the Methodist church under the head of imprudent conduct. The special revival services continue, but this sermon has been the subject of general comment, favorable and unfavorable, from members.

A call has gone out for a big meeting of farmers and milk shippers at Russell to organize the milk shippers of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin into an association for mutual protection against irresponsible milk dealers in Chicago. Farmers who ship milk into Chicago complain of heavy losses through the custom of doing business with Chicago dealers on a faith and monthly payment plan. It has been an easy matter for irresponsible men in Chicago to contract for a farmer's milk on a promise of monthly payments, receive the milk and sell it as long as the farmer would ship without receiving recompense, then drop the old victim, hunt a new victim at another station and repeat the game. It is proposed now to form an association of milk shippers, each one of whom will promise to ship no milk until a guaranty deposit sufficient to cover shipments for an agreed period has been made in some nearby bank. If at the end of the agreed period payment is not made by the Chicago dealer the farmer will receive the guaranty deposit.

A family jubilee of a unique character was held this week at Mt. Vernon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Warren, one mile east of the city. Twenty-five years ago last July Nathan E. Stamper, a well-to-do citizen of Jefferson county, left home with the declared intention of going to Ashley to buy goods. He did not return at the appointed time, and as time rolled by and yet no tidings of him were received, his wife married D. H. Warren, a wealthy farmer, after going through the necessary legal steps. Stamper took with him his son, Robert, his youngest child, who was at that time 4 years old. A few days ago Robert was located in a small town in Tennessee by his brother, Harry Stamper, of Jerseyville, who went to Tennessee and brought Robert back. The later did not know he had relatives alive. Besides his mother and brother, he has a sister, now Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, who was not born when he left home. The jubilee was attended by a large number of friends of the family, besides all the near relatives.

The carelessness in keeping records in the Adams County Treasurer's office may vitiate the claim to some property and cause protracted litigation. By virtue of an agreement with the land owners and bondholders in the Indian grave levee district, the failure of paying the bond interest forms a lien on the land of delinquents, which can be foreclosed for unpaid taxes. The interest on the bonds of 1892 and 1893 was not met by a number of the land owners, and last year Judge Edmunds and Joab Green, of Carthage, commenced foreclosure proceedings for the bondholders. A few months ago, in looking in the the Treasurer's office, it was discovered that there was no decimal points or dollar signs with the figures representing money values. The land owners raised the point that the foreclosures were invalid, as the supreme court has ruled that a collection of figures does not necessarily represent dollars and cents unless so designated. Quite recently there was an occasion to look at the judgment record again, when it was noticed that the dollar signs and decimal points had been supplied. Ex-County Treasurer James B. Corrigan comes forward and assumes the responsibility for these corrections. He says that it was his error in making the record, and claims an honest purpose in endeavoring to rectify the mistake. Judge Epler, of the Adams County Court, ruled that judgment records could not be changed and ordered the county clerk to erase the signs of dollars and cents. This will cause the original errors to remain in the records.

Assistant Attorney-General Newell holds that a "city composed of different wards cannot, by an ordinance, fix one voting place in said city for the holding of elections, and compel the voters to go outside of their respective precincts to vote for aldermen and other city officers.

Isaac David Mayberry has been convicted of perjury at Carlinville for swearing falsely in making an application for marriage license. In March, 1895, Mayberry, who lives in Green county, went to that city with Miss Maude Edwards and applied to the clerk for a marriage license, giving his name as Isaac David, and the age of his intended bride as 18, to which he made oath, though she was but 16 years of age at the time. The license was issued and they were married by Judge Cowen. The next day the girl's father telegraphed the authorities here the facts, and Mayberry was arrested, and waived a preliminary examination, and was released on $500 bail. The jury, after five hours' deliberation, fixed his sentence at one year in the penitentiary.

The creditors of the Stone City bank at Joliet are organizing to fight the bill for attorneys fees put in by George S. House and P. C. Haley, of Joliet, and E. A. Otis, of Chicago. The claims of these three lawyers amount to $9,000. The attorney bill is for three suits and the depositors allege that an attorney could have been secured for $1,000 for the entire work. It is also charged that the attorneys are working for the creditors of the Joliet Enterprise Company. The case has been in litigation for over three years, and neither the depositors of the Stone City bank nor the creditors of the Joliet Enterprise Company, which failed for $500,000, have received anything. The depositors allege that some of the property has been sold for less than its value, and that they want an early settlement.

The trial of the Mobile & Ohio train robbers at Belleville has been concluded in the Circuit court, and the jury after a brief deliberation found both men guilty, and they were sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., for a term of years to be fixed under the law indeterminate sentences. Cottrell gave his age as 43 years and Fierce gave his as 42. Both men took the witness stand in their own defense and entered a general denial to the testimony given by George Wilhelm and Alois E. Bullard, who were also implicated with them in the robbery. The charges against Wilhelm and Bullard were nolle prossed. Cottrell was also tried for buriazing a Cairo Short Line freight car, and he was convicted. Patrick Cavanaugh who was indicted with him for complicity in this job has not been arrested.

The Bellwood murder mystery at Carlyle, which has baffled the unceasing efforts of officers and detectives for nearly three years, is apparently about to be cleared up. The murder occurred on the night of September 25, 1893. Henry Bellwood, an inoffensive and well-to-do farmer, residing near the eastern limits of Carlyle, was beaten to death at the threshold of his residence. His head was crushed almost beyond recognition. He was a church member and highly esteemed. He was known to have possessed about $500 at the time he was waylaid. On January 8 Sheriff John A. Lemming received a letter from Nolting, Ill., stating that the writer, Mike Foster, was informed that there was a large reward offered for the arrest of the Bellwood murderer, and that he could divulge information of great importance. He implicated a citizen of Carlyle. Foster agreed to make a full statement, first being assured that his life would be protected. He was placed on the witness stand the other day, and testified in substance as follows:

"Frank Bateman, of Carlyle, whom I have known nine years or more intimately, told me on August 20, 1895, that he (Bateman) was the man who killed Bellwood; said he killed him with a railroad car pin, striking on the top and fore part of the head; stating that he robbed Bellwood of $500, and that he was going to waylay two farmers residing between here and Centralia; that they had each $1,000. Bateman asked me to help him do the jobs; said if necessary to secure the money would kill them. The farmers' names were Benjamin Watts and George Pfeifer. I said we would get caught sure if we killed them. He assured me there was no danger of that kind. Said nobody could ever find out who killed Bellwood. He said Bellwood was at the show at Carlyle, and he saw him treat two girls. He pulled out a big roll of money and took out a bill. He followed him just over the river at a little house at the foot of the hill. This is where he killed him. He buried the money, carrying only $15 at a time on his person. He said he never 'bleated on a pard,' and 'of course, if you bleat on me I will kill you if I have to wait until I get out of prison to do it.'" While Foster was testifying Bateman was intensely excited, exclaiming, "Gentlemen, that man is lying, and I hope my brains may burst out of my head if I am guilty of this charge." A number of witnesses endeavored to prove an alibi for Bateman, but their efforts were apparently a failure.

IS A GIANT GENIUS.

PROF. WILLIAM CROOKES AND HIS FAMOUS TUBE.

He Made Possible the Discovery of the Wonderful Light Developed by Prof. Roentgen of Vienna—A Patient and Painstaking Worker.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM CROOKES, whose scientific genius made possible the discovery of the wonderful light of Roentgen, has been widely known for years. Indeed, there are few men who have achieved more brilliant and valuable results in the laboratory than the discover of the "tube" which is now so much talked of. Professor Crookes was born in London 64 years ago, and in his boyhood became interested in photography. He took a course in the Royal College of Chemistry under Dr. Hoffman, and soon became assistant to his tutor. At 22 he was appointed superintendent of the Radcliffe Observatory at Oxford. In 1859 he founded the Chemical News, and in 1864 became the editor of the Quarterly Journal of Science. Professor Crookes was born with a love for original search. He discovered the new metal thallium while examining the residues from a sulphuric acid works. He was then made a fellow of the Royal Society. In 1872 he developed many interesting matters in his investigations on "repulsion resulting from tion of the physical phenomena of spiritualism. His book on the results of those experiments, with the media of "John King" and "Katy King," was widely read on its publication. But while the scientific world placed the highest value on his experiments in other lines, it paid no attention to the results he obtained in his work on the occult side of nature. Professor Crookes' name can never be dissociated from Roentgen's discovery, because his "tube" was its basis. He is, perhaps, the most patient and painstaking experimenter of modern times.

ON THE WRONG SIDE.

One Woman's Search for Her Ancestors Resulted in Disappointment.

She had been invited to be present at the reception of the Daughters of the American Revolution, says an exchange, and her heart glowed with patriotism as she beheld the American flags, shields, coats-of-arms and streamers with which the room was decorated. The speeches added to her exaltation and she felt the blood of fighting sires running like fire through her veins. The woman in the stunning chinchilla cape and blue velvet gown, who really didn't "look as though she had ever had any ancestors," had discovered a friend in the dowdy woman in gray, and the outsider heard her say: "Oh, yes; I belong. My children can trace their ancestry back through five lines to the Norman conquest." A little gasp from the recipient of this information broke the awestruck pause, and then, regaining her breath, the dowdy woman, with her nose tip tilted, said: "They are fortunate, indeed. We are proud of our two lineal tracings to the days of King Arthur, but only claim our

SOME CURRENT LITERATURE.

The Work of a Literary Genius.
"The Heart of Old Hickory," by Will Allen Dromgoole. (Cloth, $1.25. Boston: The Arena Pub. Co.) When bleak December chills the spirit, when all the air is laden with discontentment and when in the firmament of discouragement, the search for the fixed star of friendship is in vain; then as the bird seeks the southern clime, does my inner self seek the warmth and companionship of such a volume. As naturally as on the window glass those beautiful pictures form themselves under the contact of heat with cold—here a forest beneath whose shade we bask—there a star full as this life with hope—yet, an icy finger pointing the way to heaven. Just so spontaneously are presented these stories, penciled with a woman's delicacy, fashioned by the genial warmth of a noble nature in contrast with the coldness of this world. The incidents that could be sketched on the window pane of each life are so vividly traced that they crystallize the thought, we are all "God's children." Each story strikes a chord within the register of all and so perfectly formed that the sympathetic vibration is wonderful. I cry and laugh and laugh again another day, to hear in the corridor of memory the distant echo, the mellow reverberation of that darky voice, "Who broke up de meet'n'?" Material well adapted for the elocutionist because so fresh and new comes the thought, just left like a jewel ready for the setting.

Rose of Dutcher's Coolly.
Rose of Dutcher's Coolly. By Hamlin Garland. (Cloth, 403 pages, $1.50. Chicago: Stone & Kimball.) "Dutcher" is her patronymic and "Coolly" a corruption of coule. Mr. Garland's Rose is a child of nature who grows up as free as a colt and as free from the conventional scruples of a girl as if she were really one of the boys whom she envies and emulates. A curious freak of fancy impels her to fall in love—as she thinks—with a circus athlete who never even sees her. This abnormal development of admiration—for it is nothing more—inspires her with a thirst for knowledge that she may be worthy of him. The current of her life is turned, education at the University of Wisconsin follows, and then an abandonment of home in a vain attempt to achieve literary fame in Chicago.

It is difficult to express one's exact meaning in writing of a certain feature of the earlier chapters. Mr. Garland, in his desire to be perfectly natural, endeavors to depict the growth of the sex instinct in a girl, and he treads upon delicate ground. Although not transgressing the bounds of good taste, his depiction of this phase of girlhood makes his story one for the mature in thought, or as Mr. Hardy would say, for men and women of full age.

The effete Eastern man who looks upon Chicago only as an example of garish, crude newness, should read the book and see with what a picturesque glamour Mr. Garland invests the great city. For the lake he has a love in all her varying aspects, and the description of a storm is wonderfully graphic. On the whole Mr. Garland has scored a success in this his first long story. The publishers have put it forth in unexceptionable form.

"Life of Lincoln."
Mr. Wm. H. Lambert, of Philadelphia, is one of the most intelligent and indefatigable collectors of Lincolniana in the country. His collection includes many rare and precious pieces, such as the praecipe in Lincoln's first lawsuit; Lincoln's old "Webster's Dictionary"; the chair, desk and inkstand used by Lincoln for years in his Springfield law office; one of the finest original Lincoln letters, besides quantities of engravings, wood-cuts and curios. Mr. Lambert's collection of literature on Lincoln is practically complete, containing hundreds of books, pamphlets and newspapers. With this vast amount of matter Mr. Lambert is himself perfectly familiar, and his intimate knowledge of all that has been written in regard to Lincoln makes his opinion of any new work on the subject of peculiar value. Of the "Life of Lincoln now running in McClure's Magazine," Mr. Lambert writes:

"I congratulate you upon the value of the Lincoln history, and upon the success which has followed its publication. Presenting as it does Lincoln's personal history and characteristics more fully than any other biography, I believe it is destined to be the popular life of the great American."

In a paper that year before the Royal Society he said he had succeeded in obtaining a vacuum so nearly approaching perfection that the pressure in it was only 0.4 millionth of an atmosphere. The spirit of envy devoured the woman who was not a "Daughter." The very next day she put into effect her resolution to find out the names of her revolutionary ancestors, for she was assured she must have had them. For three days she searched records and the fourth day she searched again and "ran them to earth." "James Brown, who married Maria, daughter of Jonas and Ellen Smith," dated back to 1769 for the time of his marriage and she sighed a great sigh of relief. But—alas for ambition—he fought on the tory side!

Singular Aversions.

The smell of pickles always sent Cardinal Wolsey into hysterical fits. He called upon Henry VIII. once while the monarch was lurching off some cold meat, and Wolsey fell down under the table as soon as he smelt there was pickled cabbage in the room. Henry, thinking the Cardinal was intoxicated, had him locked up in the Tower immediately. Old Parr would turn pale if he touched a piece of soap; this is the reason he never shaved. Cicero had such an antipathy to Wednesday that he used to remain in bed all that day; and Anne Boleyn could not hear the word "potato" pronounced without turning violently red, and feeling low-spirited for weeks afterward.

The chance of a lifetime is sometimes merely an opportunity to quit.

Race Not Deteriorating.

Those who think that vital statistics show the sacred institution of the family to be declining and degenerating ought to read Mr. Michael G. Mulhall's paper in The North American Review and reassure themselves.

Mr. Mulhall points out some curious facts in connection with birth and death rates and marriage. It is undoubtedly true that the birth rate of all civilized nations is declining. Since 1841 it has fallen in Europe from an average of 33.8 to the 1,000 to 32, almost 2 per cent. At the same time marriage rates have fallen 7½ per cent. The only countries in which they have not declined heavily are Belgium and Italy, at once perhaps the most and the least prosperous nations of Europe.

Now, with both the birth and the marriage rates falling off heavily, it seems reasonable to suppose that the population of Europe was declining. On the contrary, the figures show that, in Mr. Mulhall's words, "the natural increase of population has proceeded with greater rapidity since 1880 than ever before." How can this be explained? The reason is the lowered death rate of the nations. This has fallen so much that although the actual number of births has decreased the death rate has decreased so much more that the actual average of births over deaths is larger than it ever was before. There are two reasons for this, which Mr. Mulhall does not stop to point out. One is the better sanitation among the civilized peoples of today. The other reason is obviously the decrease of war in Europe. For 25 years there has been no war to speak of in all Europe.

The writer tells us there are certain unvarying laws in the kingdom of vital statistics. One is that the more marriages there are the smaller will be the average number of children to the marriage—that is to say, when marriages are comparatively few, there will be born to the couples that do wed a higher average number of children than when the marriage rate is high. As illustration, we find that while the marriage rate of Belgium is the highest in Europe the average number of children born to each marriage has sensibly increased since 1880 in every country of Europe except only Belgium. It seems somehow that there are just so many children to be born, whether the marriage rate be high or low. In seasons of great agricultural depression the marriage rate in rural districts falls lowest.

People who remember the Cuban rebellion in 1869 will not be surprised at the reports that General Weyler will adopt the same tactics then made use of for putting down the revolutionists. The tender mercies of Spaniards are cruel and have been for centuries. Valmaseda, the ferocious, governed Cuba in 1869. One of his acts was to order every prisoner captured to be shot. Another was still worse. He issued a proclamation declaring every male inhabitant of the island over 15 years old who was away from his home and could not give a reason for being absent which should be satisfactory to the Spanish guard that captured him should be shot forthwith. Another order read, "Every habitation unoccupied shall be burned by the troops." If, further, the Spanish soldiers espied at any time a house without a white flag floating over it in token that the inhabitants desired peace, that house, too, was to be laid in ashes. This war continued with more or less activity for ten years, until scarcely anything was left of the fair island but the soil. The question now is whether civilized nations, particularly the United States, will let Spain kill every Cuban she captures and lay the homes of all the people in ashes.

The south made great progress agriculturally in 1895. At the close of that year statistics showed the farmers were less in debt than they were at the close of 1894, and that they had diversified their products as well, raising grain, vegetables and meat for their own consumption. The southern corn crop of 1895 amounted to 607,665,017 bushels. This was 124,000,000 bushels more than the southern states produced in 1894.

Cause of Cold Waves.

Among the discoveries of this wonderful last decade of the nineteenth century is apparently to be counted the ascertainment of the cause of the areas of high winds and low temperature that persistently sweep down upon the United States from Manitoba. There is now sufficient reason to believe these cold waves are caused by great magnetic waves that are thrown off from the sun at regular intervals.

The course of the magnetic waves from the sun is to be traced in the lights of the aurora borealis. It has been found by a series of observations that regularly within an average period of 26.68 days there comes a warm center of more or less intensity followed by a storm and a succeeding cold wave. These mighty weather waves begin definitely at a point which has been ascertained to be in Canada to the east of the Rocky mountains and in longitude 115 degrees west, latitude 55 north. From this magnetic pole the storm curve starts, moving eastward, southward and again northward. It passes over a portion of the United States, over Labrador, thence through Sweden, Norway, Siberia and Alaska, back to the starting point. Exactly coincident with these regular storm curves and cold waves are the appearances of the auroras in the northern regions and certain recurring changes in the sun spots. In other words, weather waves on the earth rise and fall regularly in coincidence with periodic changes in sun spot areas.

This much is ascertained for certain.

The Mayor Had Them.

Who has not heard of jolly Mayor Patrick Gleason of Long Island City? Mayor Patrick seldom opens his mouth without saying something. One of his latest exploits is fairly cornering and catching several hundred school children who had come to him in procession with banners flying and sife and drum. They had a grievance. It was that a certain school principal had been dismissed, and they desired him reinstated. There were an equal number of boys and girls, but the head boy did the talking in a set speech.

His honor told them he would test the question whether the dismissed principal was competent. He said: "I will ask you some questions in geography. I will select five boys and five girls. To every one who passes my examination I will give $5, and if the record is good, we'll keep the principal. You there, do you know where the courthouse is?"

Not an answer. One little girl said presently that she knew where the capital of the United States was.

"Yes," said his honor, "but that is a good ways off. This is right here at home. Now then, can any of you bound Long Island City?" And although they were all trained public school pupils from 13 to 15 years old, there was not one of the several hundred who knew enough geography to bound the city in which he lived. How many other able and thoroughly instructed school children of the United States are in the same boat with them it would be interesting to know.

Spain has fairly raked her graveyards and orphan asylums and old men's homes to get soldiers to fill her depleted ranks. The average age of her soldiers is now considerably less than it was when this Cuban war began. Her army is an army of boys, brave boys, no doubt, but not inured to hardship and disease. The yellow fever has already commenced its ravages among the Spanish soldiers in Cuba. With each week these ravages will increase till hot weather, when it will be impossible for the Spaniards to make any military movements. The native Cubans, on the other hand, will be at home and not uncomfortable, so far as climate goes. We were promised that Spain would make a quick end of the Cuban rebellion when cold weather came. Cold weather came and has almost gone, yet Spain's promise seems farther off from fulfillment than ever.

The president of Ecuador, in his letter to the queen of Spain urging the recognition of Cuba's independence, expresses the opinion that Spain can now grant such independence "without any loss of decorum." Certainly if Spain does not recognize Cuba's independence without loss of decorum she will have to yield it before long with the loss of a very large amount of decorum.

What kind of a look, on the face of it, does it have when an organization of manufacturers promise a union of their employees that they will bind themselves to certain conditions in future and afterward they repudiate the whole agreement on the ground that they are determined to decide for themselves what hours of labor they will impose and what wages they will pay?

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March 2, '96.

ED. REVIEW: As my former home was near Barrington, and my parents and most of my relatives are yet residing in that vicinity, and as many of them are readers of your paper, I thought a word through the columns of your worthy paper might be of interest to them.

I arrived here five weeks ago after making a trip through the Southern States. Started from Waverly, Ia., January 8th and on my way stopped at St. Louis, New Orleans, Galveston, and El Paso. My trip through the South was an enjoyable one of which much might be said and written, but will cut my letter short and confine myself to the beautiful state of California.

I met people here from all parts of the United States and most of them tourists, who came for health or to avoid the cold winters of the Northern states, and instead enjoy the balmy climate of Southern California. It is estimated there are at present about 1,600 tourists in Los Angeles and the neighboring towns.

California is a Wonderland with its fine sceneries and rippling mountain streams, its canyons and its gorges. The valleys are very productive. There one may see growing side by side the orange, lemon, peach, pear, apple, apricot, olive, grape, raisin, fig, English walnut and other fruits and vegetables, the fruit being of that fine, juicy and keeping quality which has given it a world-wide reputation. The orchards and gardens, surrounded by tall, waving palms, and roses in full bloom present a picturesque view.

One of the great railway schemes of Southern California is that of Mt. Lowe, where the visitor is carried by a cable car to the height of 3,500 feet at an average grade of 59 per cent., and then an electric car winds round the mountains, cutting a horseshoe curve and on up to a height of 5,006 feet above sea level. In going up one crosses the head of several canyons, and is enabled to see immense forest trees growing among the rocks and cliffs, and also a river of rocks as they call them.

Los Angeles has about 80,000 inhabitants, and is a very prosperous town, with fine churches, schools and business blocks, and also a good electric and cable car system. The city was first settled by Spaniards and Mexicans. The old Mission at San Gabriel is one of the old landmarks.

Southern California and Los Angeles did not develop until the great boom of 1882 to 1887, and not until the Southern Pacific railroad was built in 1875 did the people become interested in fruit growing. In that year the first fruit-drying establishment was erected.

The Epworth League, Christian Endeavor and Baptist Union are holding a joint convention here, with Ira D. Sankey in charge of the music, and many prominent speakers from the East, who make it interesting for the tourists.

I will say in closing that I start for San Francisco tomorrow and then by way of Salt Lake City and Denver for home.

Yours truly,
LAURA S. DAMMERMAN.

HAVE YOU A COLD?

If so then, instead of taking so much quinine and other strong medicines, take a pleasant and mild stomach and bowel remedy, which will cleanse the system, and you will be surprised how quickly the cold will leave you. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do this better than any other. Trial size 10c (10 doses 10c), larger sizes 50c and $1. at A. L. Waller, druggist.

Now that that uncouth man Bradley has called out the militia the proud colonels will be demmed if they'll fight.

A canvass among the druggists of this place reveals the fact Chamberlain's are the most popular proprietary medicines sold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, especially, is regarded as in the lead of all throat trouble remedies, and as such, is freely prescribed by physicians. As a croup medicine, it is unexcelled, and most families with young children keep a bottle always handy for instant use. The editor of the Graphic has repeatedly known Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to do the work after all other medicines had failed.—The Kimball, S. D., Graphic. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by A. L. Waller, Druggist.

The signs of the times this year are mostly bicycle signs,

MRS. M. P. O'BRIEN, Ivesdale, Ill., writes: "I have used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a family medicine with the best results. For derangements of the stomach and a general laxative I like it better than anything I have used. It is so pleasant to taste my children are always anxious to take it." Sold by A. L. From Cincinnati Gazette: Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble will end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are to-day countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and was therefore neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. ## UNDER MARTIAL LAW

TROOPS IN CONTROL OF KENTUCKY'S STATE HOUSE.

Gov. Bradley Takes Action in the Senatorial Fight—Bloodshed Threatened at Kentucky's Capital—Militia Sent from Louisville and Lexington.

The riot bell rang from the fire-engine house at Frankfort, Ky., at 11 o'clock Sunday night, and at the same moment Gov. Bradley ordered out the militia. Ten minutes later the McCree guard, fifty-two strong, Capt. Noel Gaines, were in possession of the state house, and martial law was proclaimed.

Until Sunday Gov. Bradley had persistently refused to call out the militia, though urged to do so by citizens, irrespective of party. The Blackburn leaders, he was informed, had been preparing all day to take forcible possession of the state house Monday. Threats were made that the senate would arrest the governor for usurpation of

FOR A CHINESE RAILROAD.

American Engineer Secures Contract for a Big Undertaking
Col. Jeffers, an American railway engineer, who has an agreement with the concessionaires by which he is to have the contract for building the Pekin & Han Kow railroad, provided he secures subscriptions in this country or in Europe to the amount of 10,000,000 taels, is in this city.

There are in China at present but two short railroads, one of 150 miles and the other of sixty-two miles. In January Hsu Yu Tsiang, mayor of Kuang Tung, was given by Prince Kung, superintendent of military affairs, permission under the authority of the emperor to construct a railroad from Pekin north to Han Kow, a distance of 750 miles. The right is also granted to build from Pekin south to Canton, a distance of 600 miles, upon completion of the Han Kow road. One of the conditions is that not less than two-thirds of the capital necessary, which will amount to about 30,000,000 taels, must be subscribed by Chinese.

Col. Jeffers, who was in China at the time, secured the agreement from

ALBERT WALLACE HANGED.

Murdered His Sister at Pekin, Ill., and Wounded Three Other Persons.

Albert Wallace was hanged at Pekin, Ill., Saturday. The drop fell at 11:10. Wallace murdered his sister, Mrs. Belle Bowby, and shot and wounded John Bowby, his brother-in-law; the latter's hired man, John Lynum, and Kate Kirle, a domestic. Wallace, who was of a moody, passionate disposition, was dissatisfied with the disposal of his father's estate. Immediately after the tragedy Wallace gave himself up to the sheriff of Tazewell county. He was tried and convicted, and the finding was sustained by the supreme court.

Friday an appeal for clemency was made to Governor Altgeld, but he declined to interfere with the sentence. In refusing clemency Governor Altgeld held that no jury would probably allow the claim of insanity because the grandmother had been insane; that the mother's disposition to insanity had been probably caused by cruel treatment upon the part of the husband, the father of Albert. It was shown that he had repeatedly beaten his wife, who after-

Not many people are aware, perhaps, that the superstitious dread of the "evil eye" is still lingering in some remote parts of England. According to F. T. Elworthy, who is a recognized authority upon such abstruse subjects, although the absurd belief has almost disappeared, the wearing of "charms" to ward off the danger is still extensively practiced.

authority in giving the instructions he gave to the sheriff of Franklin county to clear the corridors and cloak rooms.

All trains Sunday brought in reinforcements for the men bent on mischief. It was only at the last moment, when the presence of these crowds pre-empted serious danger, that the governor yielded to repeated requests of orderly citizens of both parties and called out the militia.

Sergeant-at-Arms Somers had sworn in Jack Chinn, Jim Williams, Eph Lillard and other alleged desperate men as his deputies. It was also reported to the governor by numerous affidavits that armed men had been collecting in the capital for two or three days with a view to taking charge of the joint assembly Monday. A company from Lexington and the Louisville Legion, 300 strong, arrived early this morning. Gen. Collier is in command.

Guards surrounded the state house and permitted no one but staff officers, senators, representatives and others having a constitutional right to pass. Senator Bronston came into the governor's office and asked why he was debarred from the state house, who was the peace officer of the state, and why the militia had been ordered out. He then told the governor he could see affidavits that would be filed in the senate, which has been threatened.

Bradley, in an interview, said in explanation of his action that the presiding officers of both houses had called on him for protection and that he had called on the mayor to give it. He learned afterward from the sheriff that the mayor's police had been insufficient, and had done nothing to remove the disturbing element.

"The authorities are powerless, over-awed or unwilling to act, and unless I interfere to protect the general assembly legislative action will be prevented, riot and bloodshed will follow, and the security of the lives of citizens and officers of the commonwealth require action on my part. Under these circumstances," he said, "I feel that I cannot allow such a state of things to continue, and therefore called out the state guard."

Wants an Investigation.

The Chicago Tribune Monday morning printed a sensational story alleging ill-treatment of patients at the insane asylum at Jacksonville, Ill. It says: "Charges of negligence on the part of attendants which has resulted in the death of five inmates were brought to the attention of the Tribune last week. A careful inquiry has been made, and the results thereof tend to show that a thorough investigation by the state authorities would be of value."

Jeffers came to California to induce the Chinese merchants in San Francisco to subscribe and to use their influence to dispel the prejudices of their countrymen against railroads and show them their value.

HOLMES' LAWYER SUSPENDED.

William A Shoemaker Punished for Subornation of Perjury.

Wm. A. Shoemaker, who was senior counsel for H. H. Holmes, and who was charged with subornation of perjury in connection with that famous case, was by a decision of the court of oyer and terminer suspended from the privileges of the court for one year. Shoemaker got a woman to sign a false affidavit to the effect that Pitzel, the man murdered by Holmes, had in her presence expressed an intention to commit suicide. A great sensation was produced when Shoemaker offered this evidence in the course of his argument for a new trial for Holmes, and District Attorney Graham exposed the conspiracy, by means of which the evidence was obtained.

Preferred Death to Disgrace.

To escape arrest for embezzlement of government funds, Frank Mapes, postmaster of Kansas City, Kansas, committed suicide Sunday morning. On Thursday last two postoffice inspectors arrived here and began an investigation of the office. They finished their work Saturday night and their investigation proved the postmaster to be an embezzler from the general funds of the office to the amount of probably $9,200. Mapes was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland three years ago. He had long been prominent in local and Kansas politics. He was under $20,000 bonds to the government, with local business men as sureties.

Outrages by Spanish Troops.

Dispatches sent from Havana describe a series of horrible massacres perpetrated by Spanish soldiers. On March 10, in Havana province, six small Cuban boys were met on the public road by a detachment of Spanish infantry, who shot and killed them. At Palmos de Pedros, the Spaniards shot fifteen non-combatants, among them being a man named Perdome, a Cuban by birth, but a naturalized citizen of the United States. Ten days ago a detachment of Spanish troops entered the town of Artemisia. Many young girls were carried off to the Spanish camp. Two of the girls committed suicide the next day. Two old men who protested against the outrages were shot.

ward showed great mind trouble, which was more than likely caused by this cruel treatment. No extenuating circumstances had been shown by which executive interference could be justified.

HARD ON ENGINEERS.

Figures Show That They Break Down Rapidly on New Cruisers.

Washington special: The frequent breakdown of engineer officers of the navy attributable to hard work resulting from insufficient force promises, if not remedied, to bring about the anomalous condition of affairs that the retired list of the corps will soon become larger than the active list. The increase in the retired list has become particularly remarkable during the last ten years, or since the building of modern naval vessels, with their complex machinery, and the figures prepared at the navy department on the subject fully illustrate this rapid breaking down of the engineers.

Jan. 6, 1886, there were 221 officers on the active list of the engineers' corps and seventy-one on the retired list, or 32.1 per cent as many on the retired as on the active list. On Jan. 1, 1896, there were 173 on the active and 104 on the retired list, or 60 per cent as many on the retired list as on the active list. In other words, the percentage of retired to active officers has almost doubled during the last ten years, covering the period of the upbuilding of the navy. Compared with the number retired in the other branches of the naval service, the figures are startling, and the engineer officers argue that they show that their work must be very much more than that of any other officers.

Wisconsin Village Damaged by Flames.

Fire, which broke out in the Woodward block at Clinton, Wis., Sunday night, threatened to destroy all the residence portion and the principal business section of the city. The Woodward block was completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $10,000 on the building alone, aside from a valuable stock of goods consumed. The city paid $16,000 for a waterworks system, which was absolutely useless, owing to quicksand in the well. This left no protection against the flames, and the only resource was to tear down some buildings in order to check the fire.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE LIVTH CONGRESS.

A Brief Report of the Doings in Upper and Lower Houses of the National Legislature—The Work of a Week Condensed.

Seventy-third Session.

Senators Sherman and Hill were the conspicuous figures in the Cuban debate in the senate, the New York senator forcibly urging the mercenary character of the pending resolutions, while Mr. Sherman upheld them with another graphic arraignment of Spain and Gen. Weyler.

Mr. Sherman then detailed the progress of the various resolutions. If senators objected to the third clause, then a further conference would bring about a change. He said a joint resolution would have compelled action by the president within ten days.

The canal system for which the bill provides includes canals from the head of tidalwater navigation on the Hudson to Lake Champlain; from the head of Lake St. Francis to St. Lawrence river above the long Sault rapids; from Lewiston on the Niagara river to a point on the river above the falls, and authority to deepen and widen the Champlain and Hudson canal is asked.

In the house on motion of Mr. Johnson (rep., Ind.) a resolution was adopted by which the claim of Coleman (rep.) of the 2d Louisiana district to the seat of Mr. Buck (dem.) was decided in favor of the latter.

Seventy-fourth Session.

The excitement of the Cuban debate gave way in the senate to Mr. Cockrell's speech, occupying four hours, on the financial question. Mr. Cockrell's speech was an elaborate presentation of the financial question from the silver standpoint.

Mr. Cockrell spoke of the timidity of gold as a money, and referred to the agitation caused by President Cleveland's "Venezuelan message with a string tied to it."

After two days' debate the house, by a vote of 173 to 59, unseated Gasten A. Robbins from the Fourth Alabama district and decided that his populist opponent, W. F. Aldrich, was elected and entitled to the seat.

Seventy-fifth Session.

The senate had an hour of spirited Cuban debate after the early part of the day had been given to set speeches by Mr. Lodge on immigration and Mr. Pugh on silver.

public use of the statement. It claimed to detail the insurgent methods of guerrilla warfare, the burning of cane fields and the disorganized character of the insurgent bands.

During the day Mr. Elkins offered a resolution directing the committee on foreign affairs to report as to the status of the war in Cuba before a vote was taken in the senate.

At 1 o'clock Mr. Lodge (rep., Mass.) was recognized for a speech on immigration and in support of the resolution for additional immigration laws.

Mr. Lodge spoke for an hour and was followed by Mr. Pugh (dem., Ala.) in support of the silver amendment to the tariff bill. Mr. Pugh argued that the economic troubles of the United States were caused by an insufficient and congested currency.

At 3:30 Mr. Pugh yielded the floor to continue his financial speech to-day.

Mr. Sherman at once called up the Cuban resolution and Mr. Morgan (Ala.) addressed the senate on them. After completing the Spanish minister's statement, Mr. Morgan pointed out that Mr. Hale's recent speech in defense of Spain was based on a statement of Premier Candvas of Spain, which statement, Mr. Morgan alleged, had been repudiated by the Spanish premier.

At this point Mr. Morgan yielded, not having completed his remarks, and at 4:30 the senate adjourned.

In the house a resolution was adopted directing the secretary of war to make a survey and estimate the cost of a breakwater at Marquette bay, Michigan.

Bills were passed authorizing the construction of a fog signal at the north pier of Menominee harbor, Wisconsin, and to increase the rank and pay of the judge advocate of the navy when appointed from the navy.

The rules were suspended on motion of Mr. Flynn of Oklahoma, and a resolution was adopted for the immediate consideration of the Oklahoma homestead bill. The bill provided that all actual and bona-fide settlers on the public lands in Oklahoma should acquire patent after five years' residence upon the payment of the customary fees without the payment of the price per acre required by existing law.

Mr. C. W. Stone (rep., Pa.), chairman of the committee on coinage, weights and measures, moved to suspend the rules and pass a bill prescribing punishment for mutilating coins and for altering or passing mutilated or lightened coins. The bill was passed.

THE CHICAGO RECORD is pre-eminently a FAMILY NEWSPAPER, and its daily installment of a high-grade serial story is a feature intended to specially commend it to the home circle. To emphasize—and advertise—the fact that THE CHICAGO RECORD is a newspaper particularly suitable for woman's reading the further condition is made that the $10,000 in prizes shall be paid only for explanations or guesses sent in by women and girls. All may read, but only WOMEN AND GIRLS MAY GUESS.

SEND 10 CENTS AND GET THE RECORD 10 DAYS.

A SPECIAL OFFER THE RECORD will be sent to any address, post-paid, for 10 days, beginning with the first chapter of the story, FOR 10 CENTS, in coin or postage stamps. The story begins March 23, and it is desirable that subscriptions should be received as far in advance of that date as possible, but all subscriptions on this special offer received up to April 1 will be filled, but none after April 1. THE CHICAGO RECORD ... is Chicago's leading morning daily. In fact, with a single exception, it has the largest morning circulation in America—100,000 a day. It is a member of The Associated Press and "prints all the news from all the world." It is independent in politics and gives all political news with judicial impartiality, free from the taint of partisanship. It is Chicago's family newspaper. Prof. J. T. Hatfield, of the Northwestern University, writing to the Evanston (Ill.) Index, says: "I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test, and after a wide comparison with the journals of many states and countries, that THE CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores." The journalists' class paper, published in New York, called "Newspaperdom," says: "There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as THE CHICAGO RECORD." Forward your subscription as early as possible, so that your name may be entered on the subscription list at once and the paper be sent you without any delay and in time for the opening chapters of THE RECORD'S GREAT $10,000 PRIZE STORY. Address VICTOR F. LAWSON, Publisher THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE—but three or four are better still. Let ALL the family join in the search for the explanation of the mystery in "SONS AND FATHERS," but remember "only women and girls may guess"—and win the $89 PRIZES.

Prof. Smith conducted a spelling match in the Barrington High school Wednesday. The list of words was the same as printed in THE REVIEW's Wauconda items last week, and out of nineteen competitors five spelled every word correctly. The average per cent of the entire class was 98.8-19. The five pupils who proved themselves experts were: Etta Kerns, Charles Mansfield, Delia Gleason, Florence Smith and Walter Plagge. This is a most creditable showing, and proves that the Barrington schools are way above the average. Our school has as efficient a complement of teachers as can be found anywhere.

One of the prettiest teas of the season was given by Mrs. W. H. Snyder last Tuesday, to the members of the Thursday club. It was a pink and green tea. The early part of the afternoon the ladies amused themselves by playing cinque. At the end of ten games Mrs. Redmond and Miss Sawyer were presented with first prizes, while Mrs. Wheeler and Miss C. Higley secured second prizes. The dining-room was tastily decorated with palms and flowers. The table was embellished in pink and green, and was lighted by six shaded candles. Name cards, designating the place where the guest was to be seated, were placed at each plate. The cards were painted in pink and green. Little baskets, filled with bonbons, together with the name cards, were carried home by the members as souvenirs. After the ladies had left Mr. Snyder, accompanied by a number of gentlemen, arrived and partook of refreshments. The gentlemen didn't feel at all embarrassed, but between jokes and laughter ate up all the candies. The ladies were well pleased, as were also the gentlemen.

The Thursday Club.
Last week the members of our now widely advertised Thursday club were denying with virtuous indignation the truth of various allegations made in certain Chicago newspapers, wherein it was made to appear that all was not as serene and calm as might be, and the ship of state was in danger of meeting its doom on breakers not far ahead. It appears that an attempt had been made on the part of all the members to conceal the true status of affairs and that peace and harmony did not prevail as unanimously as was given out, but on the contrary that strife was rife, and that compliments not altogether complimentary were not infrequently exchanged. Dame Rumor says that the presiding officer failed to appear on the scene at the regular meeting which occurred last Thursday afternoon, but sent instead a call for a business meeting to take place that evening, an account of which is withheld for the present owing to conflicting reports.

Prof. Powers's Lecture.
Principal O. M. Powers of the Metropolitan Business College of Chicago, ably assisted by Asst. Prof. J. A. Lyons, gave his illustrated lecture on "Virginia" at the M. E. church last

The lecture described about 100 superb views (many of them photographed by Mr. Powers) of persons and places prominent in the historical annals of both Virginia and the Union. This lecture is one of three especially prepared for the students of the Metropolitan Business College, and was delivered gratuitously here by Mr. Powers. The net proceeds go to the library fund of the Barrington High school. The gross amount approximates $30. It might be incidentally mentioned that the faculty of the Metropolitan Business College is promoting a scheme whereby the Paris Exposition in 1900 may be visited at a greatly reduced cost. Particulars may be had by applying to or addressing Frank B. Sott, care THE REVIEW, Barrington, Ills.
