VOL. 13. No. 10.

BARRINGTON, ILL., SATURDAY, MAY 14, 1898.

$1.25 A YEAR.

PALATINE LOCALS.

A. G. SMITH, LOCAL EDITOR

The Epworth League is arranging a social for the near future.

Alfred Hans expects to occupy his new house within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Julian and Charlie are visiting friends in Elgin.

Oscar Beutler and family visited relatives in this place over Sunday.

Joe Williams has gone to Park Ridge to work for Mr. Murphy, owner of Star Pointer.

The Ladies Aid society will meet in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon.

The committees on Memorial Day will meet in the Methodist church parlors Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

FOR SALE—A good single harness, a single seated top buggy and one road cart. G. H. ARPS, Palatine, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hipwell of Chicago and Frank Fenton of Winnetka attended A. D. Bissell's funeral Sunday.

Elmer Robertson sold his pigeon business with building to Leonard V. Clark of Chicago, who will conduct the business. The purchase price was $5,000.

John Fink recently severed his connection with Charles Seip and the latter is now in full control of the business.

Mrs. S. Johnson and daughter have moved to this place, and are located in Mrs. Johnson's house on Plum Grove avenue.

LOST—A brown pocketbook containing money and a new railroad ticket. Reward will be given if left at THE PALATINE REVIEW office.

C. H. Patten has commenced digging a cellar at the corner just south of Mrs. H. E. Williams' place, where he intends moving his old house.

Fred A. Smith and wife entertained a few friends at their home on Wednesday evening of last week. A good time was spent by all present. A light luncheon was served.

Mrs. G. H. Arps has been attending a district meeting of the Women's Relief corps at Streator, Ill., this week, she being the delegate from Dundee corps No. 22.

The Barrington Social and Athletic club will give the last dance of the season at the new City Hall, Barrington, Friday evening, May 20. Tickets 75 cents. All are invited.

Those who are called upon to pay the special assessment for laying water mains and supply pipes have received their notices this week. The money is to be paid at the Palatine Bank, and Mr. Filbert will explain the nature of the assessment to all those who are assessed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rev. J. C. Butcher were the recipients of a donation last week. The "turn out" was not as good as it should have been although the parsonage pantry was replenished with many good things.

M. J. Conklin will sever his connections with Hawley & Co. as butter maker at the Plum Grove factory and go to Sterling, Ill., where he has procured a similar situation. Charles Meyer will have charge of the Plum Grove factory.

ALUMNI NOTICE.—There will be a meeting of the High School Alumni at the school house on Wednesday evening, May 18th, 1898, at 8 o'clock. All members are urgently requested to be present at this meeting.

By order of the President,
H. H. PAHLMAN, Secretary.

The Chicago Telephone company is rapidly approaching the village with their stub telephone line connecting Palatine with the main line. Palatine will be connected in about a week. The public pay station will be located in Mosser's drug store.

The laying of the water mains and pipes for the water works is completed and will be tested at once. The firemen are contemplating a celebration in the near future when the boys will get out for practice and exhibit the power of the water works system. They will also give a dance in the evening.

Funeral of A. D. Bissell.

The funeral services of A. D. Bissell whose body arrived from Seattle, Wash., Thursday of last week, were held in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. M. H. Plumb of the Douglas Park M. E. church, Chicago, preaching the funeral sermon, and Rev. J. C. Butcher, the pastor, making the prayer. The local Odd Fellows lodge had charge of the funeral. The Knights of the Maccabees led the procession from the hall to the house, followed by 21 members of Cary Lodge of Odd Fellows and Palatine Lodge I. O. O. F., in their full regalia. The pall bearers were selected from the Maccabees and Odd Fellows. The procession marched to the church where seats had been reserved for them. The choir rendered an appropriate selection and after prayer by Rev. Butcher, Rev. M. H. Plumb rendered a very appropriate and touching discourse. He spoke of the ambition of the deceased in imperiling his life in the far northwest that he might bring back a store of wealth to his widowed mother who had watched and cared for him for many years and how death suddenly came to him just as he expected to overcome the obstacles in his way, and in the following manner spoke of the great good done by the Odd Fellows in bringing the remains back. The grand work of the brotherhood of which the deceased was a member is manifest in the ability of our laying away the remains of A. D. among those who watch and care for his resting place. The fellowship which binds itself with unbroken links has stretched its hands into the frozen country of the far northwest, and folding its arms about the form of its dead brother, has tenderly brought and laid it at the widowed mother's feet and said, "We have done what we could." After the sermon the choir sang again in an impressive manner and the members of the lodges filed out and marched to the cemetery where the Odd Fellows gave their brief but touching ceremony. Both lodges then threw sprigs of evergreen into the grave. Mr. Mentch of Cary acted as chaplain for the occasion. The flowers were numerous and all beautiful. The Odd Fellows, Knights of Maccabees, I. O. M. A. and members of the Athletic club each sent a beautiful floral piece, and a number of other floral tributes were sent with the remains from Seattle.

MEMOIR.

Aldrich D. Bissell was born in the state of Kansas on August 31, 1872, and came to Palatine with his parents a few months later, where he resided until a few months ago. He attended the public school in this place and was a bright and studious scholar. A few months ago he began to learn telegraphy in the depot at this place. In a short time he became so proficient that he was offered, and accepted a position in the Seattle office of the Great Northern Railroad Co. In company with three friends he started for Alaska on February 17th and was caught in a landslide at Chilkoot Pass on April 2d, and was killed.

The announcement of his death caused deep sorrow among his hosts of friends, for all had learned to love him, and they extended their hearty sympathies to the heart-broken mother and widow, who lost one who was a great help to her.

The deceased was insured in the Knights of the Maccabees for $3,000, being a member of Palatine Tent No. 88.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

MAY 11th, 1898.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the all-wise Ruler of the Universe to remove from earth our beloved brother, A. D. Bissell, therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the Divine will of Him who doeth all things well, we sincerely regret and mourn the loss of a true brother and friend, and

WHEREAS, By the death of Brother Bissell our lodge has lost a faithful member, and the family a true son and brother.

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and fraternal regards in this hour of grief and sorrow.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning; that a copy of these resolutions be spread on our records and a copy sent to the local paper for publication and also a copy furnished the family of our deceased brother.

Palatine Board Proceedings.

Board met in regular session with President Batterman in the chair and the following trustees present: Meyer, Kemmit, Ost, Taylor, Stroker and Putnam.

Minutes of April 4, 13, and 25th were approved as read.

Treasurers report for April showing $2860.47 was received and ordered placed on file.

The following bills were received and warrants drawn on treasurer for same:

Herman Tegtmeyer, $2.55.
John Bergman, $2.40.
W. B. Comfort & Co., $1.54.
Clerk of County, copy assessment roll No. 2 $22.00.

Herman W. Meyer, $9.11.
Henry Law, $40.00
Herman Schrader, $5.00.

Ordinance No. 155 was read and upon motion same was passed, approved and ordered published.

The following motion prevailed: That John Bergman be appointed superintendent of water works to act as engineer and perform such other duties as the board may prescribe. The clerk was appointed collector and to perform such labor as is prescribed in ordinance No. 155 and he to receive a compensation of 2 per cent.

Upon motion board adjourned.
J. H. OTTO ENGELKING,
Village Clerk.

To the Tax Payers of Special Assessment No. 2.

Since sending out the notices for the payment of the first installment of the above assessment it has appeared to many that there was interest added to the first installment because it is a trifle more than it would be by dividing the total assessment by ten. Explanation—First, there is no interest at this time on the first installment; Second, each of the remaining nine installments are of equal amounts, and so much less than the first installment as the first installment is more than an equal division would be by dividing the whole assessment by ten, the increase of the first installment over the remaining nine installments, the commissioner informs me, was necessary to be done in order to comply with the law in the case of the issuing of the bonds.

City Too Much for Her.
 "Aunt" Fanny is an old colored woman who came to Atlanta from the country. She gave the following experience of city life recently:

"I'm done wid de city; I don't want no me' er it. It's too much fer me! W'y, I got on one er dem cyars dat runs wid de broomstick, en fo' I rid two mile heah come another cyar, on de same track, en we had a collegeen! Den I tried ter light my pipe wid one er dem electic lights, en it knocked me six ways fer Sunday! Den I hadn't been heah long fo' one er my fambly got in trouble wid de police en yuz took down in de control wagon! En de judge say he'd give him $10, en 30 days, but he never give him no $10 'tall—des de 30 days; dat's all! I tell you dese electic lights is mighty bright, en de control wagon may be on de right line, but ez fer me, I gwine back where dey burns kerosene en rides ter meetin' in ox carts—dat's whar I gwine!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Practical Invention.

A man who evidently does his thinking to some purpose has invented a small device which will, to an extent, do away with the setting of tires. It consists of two pieces of metal which are inserted between the sections of the fellos of the wheel. A series of plates made of thin metal are provided, and these are driven in between the metal blocks as described. They may be removed if the wheel swells or it is apparent that the felloe is too tight. It is a simple device, and very easily adjusted.

Four Hundred Thousand Cats.

There are said to be 400,000 cats in London, of which half are "unattached," and live largely on refuse. In one district near a very large and famous brewery in London, the sporting cats go regularly as soon as the brewery gates are open to hunt rats in the brewery "stores."

War with Spain.

As war with Spain has broken out the officials seem to think that all that will be needed is warships, torpedo boats and other instruments of destruction. But really what will be needed more than anything else is a good supply of "5 DROPS" (manufactured by the Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 167 Dearborn street, Chicago Ill.), to knock out the Rheumatism which is sure to grip our soldiers and sailors in the miasmatic climate of Cuba and the surrounding islands, where the war will be waged. The truth is that something to heal and cure is precisely what is needed right now in the desolated "Queen of the Antilles." Those 200,000 reconcentrados reported sick and dying by hundreds need provisions, it is true, but they need good medicines fully as much. If Miss Barton, the good lady who has charge of the Red Cross relief work, was supplied with "5 DROPS" she could, by their agency, save many a sick Cuban. These miraculous "5 DROPS" conquer many of the worst diseases that afflict ailing humanity, such as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, the excruciating Sciatica and the other diseases for which it is recommended. The War Department should see that there is an abundant supply of "5 DROPS" in the medicine chests.

THE USURER'S DAUGHTER.

"We went to Blantyre, my son John and I. He told us that he would not renew the lease. At first we thought that he was mad; it seemed to us that the very stones by the wayside must rise up and cry out against it. He said that we must leave Bromhill. My son John looked at him and answered, 'The Moores have always lived at Bromhill, and always will. We shall see about that,' said Blantyre. 'I have a more eligible tenant in view, and you will be compelled to leave whether you like it or not.' This to a Moore of Bromhill, my lady! I think we were too stunned to speak. We went out of his office, and it seemed to me that the earth and sky were meeting. Then we heard afterward that Peter Harrogate had bribed the agent with a fifty-pound note to persuade Lord Caraven to refuse us the lease. My lady, it is a crying injustice. We are sons of the soil, we have made the farm what it is. If the earl sends us from it, he will send me to my grave. I should die on the threshold, I could not live one day away from my house. He must not do it, Lady Caraven. The bonds of long generations must not be so easily broken. He cannot send his old retainers away in that fashion—men whose fathers died in the service of his ancestors, men whose bodies have been interposed to meet the blows intended for the lords of Caraven. What is fifty pounds compared to that?"

"No," replied Lady Caraven, gravely; "it must not be."

"They told me," the old man continued, "that the young earl is careless, and that he leaves everything to Blantyre. You will plead for me, my lady; you will remember that an old, white-haired man has left his life in your hands—for I should die if I left my home for one day. Ask for justice for me, and, if the agent must be bribed, I will give him twice fifty pounds; ask for justice for me as you hope for mercy."

All pale and trembling, she rose from her seat, frightened at the responsibility that he had placed upon her, remembering how her last petition for merciful consideration had been received.

"You may leave your cause in my hands," she said. "I think I may promise that you shall have justice."

He raised his trembling hands and blessed her, and Lady Caraven went in-doors with a weight at her heart. Not least did she feel her great anger against Blantyre, this man who influenced her husband for evil, who advised him and counseled him in wrong-doing, this man who committed all unkind and unjust acts in the name of the earl. Then, with her vivid imagination, she was not slow to picture the painful scenes in the farm at Bromhill. It seemed to her almost cruel that one man should have so much power over another. She remembered her last defeat, and shuddered when she thought what another would cost her.

She must set about her present undertaking differently; she must be more gracious, more winning; she how diplomatic she was growing. On the last occasion that she had a favor to beg from him she had not thought of a fitting time. She was growing wiser.

"After luncheon to-day," she decided.

—And that resolve to control her own impatience and study her husband's humors was one of the wisest resolves she had ever made in her life.

After luncheon there was generally an interval of quiet in the castle. Most of the ladies went to their own rooms; some of the gentlemen went to the billiard room, some sought the library. As good fortune would have it, Lord Caraven went to the library alone. Hildred followed him.

"Are you going to write a letter?" she asked.

"Yes, unless you will be kind enough to write it for me," he replied. "It seems to me a sin to exert one's self on such a day as this;" and the handsome earl proceeded leisurely to seat himself in an easy chair and watch his wife while she wrote for him.

CHAPTER XXXII.

ER promptitude pleased him; her desire to meet his wishes gratified him. The letter she had written was just what he wanted. The young wife smiled to herself at the thought of how well she was progressing. She looked up at him with a smile, saying to herself that she must bring the whole artillery of her smiles and grace to bear upon him.

"Should you like a companion for a short time?" she said. "I like this old library in the afternoon; the sunshine slants on the wall. I often come here, and, looking around me, I meditate on the glories of the dead and gone Caravens. They were a noble race; no wonder that you are proud of them."

"I am proud of them," confessed the earl. "I am graceless enough, but I love the honor of my house."

"And no wonder. I was looking the other day at some of those portraits in the eastern gallery. They were noble men, those ancestors of yours; some of them have kingly faces. Ah, they may talk of worth and money, but I would rather have the proud distinction of noble birth like yours than all the money in the world!"

"Would you?" he asked, dreamily. "That seems strange."

"I do not think so. We all value most highly that which we have not," she replied, simply. "It must be an incentive to a noble and glorious life to have such ancestors as yours."

An expression of deeper earnestness than she had yet seen came over his face.

"I am an unworthy successor to the honor of the Caravens," he said. "I thought it would all be different when I began life."

"And why was it not different?" asked the young wife.

"I cannot tell," he replied. "I think indolence has been my ruin. I have never yet taken a real interest in anything."

"That is strange," said Hildred; "but it does not follow that you never will."

The window at which they were sitting was open, and long tendrils of white jasmine blew in. Sometimes they touched the earl's face, and it was under the pretext of removing them, lest they should tease him, that his young wife drew nearer to him. It might have touched any man's heart to see how she watched his face, how she kept her eyes fixed upon it, lest by word or deed she should irritate him. She drew back the long sprays of jasmine.

The view from the window was a beautiful one, extending over the pleasure grounds and the green undulating woods. The wind that came in so gently was laden with the breath of flowers. Hildred looked at her husband, and then, half kneeling, she took up her station by the side of his chair. What it cost her to make that advance no one but herself knew. Her face flushed, her heart beat. It seemed to her a bold step. If Lord Caraven felt any surprise, he was very careful not to show it.

"Your ancestors were such noble men," she said. "I had no ancestors, yet I would never do a mean action. Where do my instincts of nobility come from? And you, Lord Caraven—you call yourself an unworthy descendant of these great men. Why?"

"This is a troublesome question," he replied, with a smile; "and the answer would have but little interest for you."

"Everything that concerns you interests me," she rejoined, quickly. "Why should it not?"

"I have not been so kind to you, Hildred," he said, "that you should feel interested in me."

"Perhaps we have both made mistakes," she returned. "I think I can guess what you would say. You mean that you have done nothing great and glorious."

"It may be so," said the earl. She looked up at him, with all her heart in her eyes.

"There is one thing to be said," she remarked. "You may not have done any great or brilliant deeds, but you have never done a mean one."

"I hope not," he replied.

"Nor," she continued, quickly, "would you allow a mean or unjust deed to be done in your name—would you?"

"No," he answered, so decidedly that she was filled with great content.

She ventured on a further liberty, one that touched him. She laid her hand on his.

"I knew it," she said, "I was sure of it. I knew that you might seem indolent, that you might be unfairly influenced, that you might perhaps at times be misled, but I feel quite sure that it was against your code of honor, against your wish and will, against your ideas of right."

"What is against them, Hildred?" he asked.

She was silent for a few minutes, and then she laid her hand more tenderly upon his.

"Thank you," she said, "for letting me speak to you. I was half afraid at first, but now you give me courage."

Her sweet humility disarmed him. If she had been proud, haughty or peevish, there would have been little chance to plead her case. Her gentleness touched him. For the first time in his life he took her hands and clasped them in his own.

"Do not be afraid of speaking to me, Hildred," he said.

She had so much at stake that she trembled. He saw her beautiful face grow pale, and her lips tremble.

"Hildred," he said, gently, "you pain me. What is it you would say? Speak to me without fear."

Then she took courage. She raised her eyes to his.

"I know of a great act of injustice that is being done in your name, Lord Caraven;" and in her own forcible language she told him the whole story. He listened in silence.

"Do you assure me, Hildred," he said at last, "that this is true?"

"It is perfectly true," she replied.

"That Blantyre has taken that bribe, and has refused in my name to renew Moore's lease?"

"Yes, he has done that."

"Then," said the earl, with unusual decision, "his reign will be a short one. He told me that Moore was letting the land go to ruin—that the farm was not bringing in half what it could be made to bring—that—. Well, I have not patience to repeat all he said. If this be true, he has deceived me—and, by my earldom, I vow he shall not deceive me twice!"

She had hardly dared to hope for such ready answer—such hopeful response.

"Will you listen to me," she said, "while I tell you more?"

"Yes, I will listen," replied the earl, with gloomy face.

She did not spare him. She told him how his estate was worse cared for and more mismanaged than any other in England—how the poor cried out for help and did not receive it, the sick and the sorrowful for relief and did not get it—how the wretched homes caused fever and rheumatism and a host of miseries—how the laborers on his estate were worse paid, worse lodged and worse fed than on any other—how the tenants were more heavily burdened—how his name was spoken with curses, not blessings.

is the name to remember when buying Sarsaparilla. Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been curing people right along for nearly 50 years. That is why it is acknowledged to be the sovereign Sarsaparilla. It is the original and the standard. The record of the remedy is without a rival,—a record that is written in the blood of thousands, purified by its power.

"I nursed a lady who was suffering from blood poisoning and must have contracted the disease from her; for I had four large sores, or ulcers, break out on my person. I doctored for a long time, both by external application and with various blood medicines; but in spite of all that I could do, the sores would not heal. At last I purchased six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, thinking I would give it a thorough trial. Before the six bottles had been taken, the ulcers were healed, the skin sound and natural, and my health better than it had been for years. I have been well ever since. I had rather have one bottle of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind."—Mrs. A. F. TAYLOR, Englevalle, N. Dak.

PLEAD FOR ME.

must condescend to plead. She had the life of a white-haired old man, the happiness of a whole family, in her hands—there would be no room for self—she must be more patient. She remembered Longfellow's beautiful words:

"Bear a lily in thy hand—Gates of brass cannot withstand One touch of that magic wand."

She would lose no time in puzzling reflections, but do that which had been asked of her. She would go, "lily in hand," and refuse to leave her husband until her prayer was granted. She smiled to herself as she thought

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Condensed Report of the Doings in Senate and House.

HONOR FOR ADMIRAL DEWEY.

Without a Dissenting Vote Congress Adopts the Recommendation of the President That the Hero of Manila Be Promoted to the Rank of Admiral.

Monday, May 9.

Business in both house and senate was practically confined to the receipt of the president's message recommending the promotion of Commodore Dewey, and the favorable action thereon.

Tuesday, May 10.

Speaker Reed, upon the opening of the house announced that he had signed the joint resolution voting the thanks of congress to Admiral Dewey and the officers and men under his command.

In the senate the resolution submitting to the legislatures of the various states an amendment to the constitution of the United States changing the date of the beginning of the terms of the president, vice president and members of congress from March 4 to May 4 was adopted. Four unimportant war measures were passed.

RIOTING IN MILAN.

Three Hundred of the Mob Killed and a Thousand Wounded.

A telegram has been received in London saying that 300 persons were killed during the riots in Milan, Italy, and that 1,000 were wounded. Eight thousand troops are quartered in the city. The law courts, schools and public offices are closed and guarded by artillery.

Twenty-five of the sixty-nine provinces of Italy are now under martial law.

Reward for the Heroes.

New York, May 11.—A dispatch to the Times from Washington says: Rear Admiral Dewey and his men will not have been fully rewarded for their victory at Manila when they receive the thanks of congress and the medals ordered to be struck for them. Under the law they have become entitled to a rich bounty. Unless the numerical importance of the Spanish fleet has been overestimated and its losses overstated the officers and men of the Asiatic squadron will be entitled to share among them something like $187,000 bounty money.

To Repair the Cable.

Washington, May 11.—When the cutter McCulloch gets back to Manila one of the first things Admiral Dewey will do will be to establish a military telegraph with one end in the channel at the neck of the bay. Workmen from the cable company returned on the McCulloch, and, with one of Dewey's store ships for a base, they will pick up the Hongkong end of the cable and open communication. By this means the department expects to hear from the fleet in a day or so.

Revolution Was Planned.

Rome, May 11.—The Italian cabinet has decided to recommend to King Humbert that parliament be prorogued. The police are reported to have seized correspondence showing that the recent serious riots in different parts of Italy were the result of a plan of revolution, but it appears that the movement broke out prematurely.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the province of Naples.

Families Will Not Suffer.

Anderson, Ind., May 11.—Wealthy men of Anderson have effected an organization for the purpose of providing for several families in this city whose support has been removed by the heads of the families going to the front in the Cuban trouble. Anderson has 100 men in the ranks.

Lives Lost in Floods.

The destruction of the floods in the Grand, Verdigris and Arkansas bottoms, Texas, is reported to be enormous. One report states that seventeen families have perished.

Illinois G. A. R. Meeting.

The thirty-second annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Illinois, met at Streator, Ill., May 10, 11 and 12.

Mexican Sympathy for Spain.

Mexican sympathy with Spain is so pronounced that Americans do not consider it safe to remain there, and are leaving in large numbers.

How the Volunteers Responded.

Six hundred and seventy-five thousand American citizens responded to the president's first call for 125,000 volunteers.

Torpedo Boat Defeats Spaniards.

The torpedo boat Winslow engaged three Spanish gunboats off Cardenas bay. She disabled one and came out uninjured herself.

More Soldiers for Cuba.

It is reported that Captain General Blanco has received orders to prepare to receive re-enforcements of 40,000 to 50,000 men.

A CHEERFUL WOMAN.

From The Democrat, Brazil, Indiana. Every woman cannot be beautiful but a cheerful face often supplies the deficiency. But no one can be cheerful and bring joy to others unless they have perfect health. Fortunately, science has placed this priceless boon within the reach of every woman as the following incident proves:

Mrs. Amanda Robinson, wife of William Robinson, farmer and stockman, near Howesville, Clay County, Ind., is thirty-two years old and had for several years been in declining health and dependent. For three months she was not only unable to attend to her domestic duties but too feeble to be up and about. To-day she is in good health and able to attend to her household affairs. She relates her experience as follows:

"I was afflicted with female troubles and was in a delicate state of health. I lost my appetite, grew thin and was greatly depressed. After taking various remedies without being benefited I was induced by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"Early in the summer of 1897 I procured five boxes of them and before finishing the second box I began to improve and by the time I had taken the five boxes I was able to go about my usual work and stopped taking the pills.

"Our daughter Anna, twelve years old, was also afflicted with decline and debility. She lost flesh, seemed to be bloodless and had no ambition. She took two boxes of the pills and they restored her appetite, aided digestion and brought color to her cheeks. She is now in the best of health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People the best medicine we ever had in our family and recommend them to all needing a remedy for toning up and rebuilding a shattered system."

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They restore strength and health to exhausted women when every effort of the physician proves unavailing. These vegetable pills are everywhere recognized as a specific for diseases of the blood and nerves.

GRAY IS FASHIONABLE.

Worn Over Bright Blue a Pretty and Novel Effect is Obtained.

Gray for spring and early summer wear is one of the fashionable modes this season, especially in the thin, semi-transparent materials, of which we shall see so many. The thin stuffs are mounted over colored linings, and, as the color must be rather pronounced to give any effect, probably taffeta will be in use again. However, taffeta is not advisable as a lining to the extremely clinging sheath style of skirt, and for this model satin is preferred. Gray is pretty and novel over bright blue, but it must be warm and not the cold shade of gray. A lovely frock of thin gray wool stuff is mounted over a transparency of old turquoise and trimmed with yellow lace and touches of coral. A pretty ornament which may be worn with this gown is the long watch chain, or lorgnette made of small coral beads, the irregular beads that children used to wear. These have not been seen in any of the jewelers' shops, but long chains of all kinds are modish, and for the sake of possessing a pretty variety it might be well to hunt up these forgotten trinkets of childhood.

Pacific Lobsters.

On the southern coast of California is found a species of large lobster, not furnished with the huge "shearing-claw" of the Atlantic lobster, and which is now being shipped to points this side of the Rocky mountains. It is known as the Bermuda lobster because it was formerly common at the Bermuda islands, although now it is said to have become nearly extinct there.

Volunteers Fight the Longest.

The old question as to the fighting ability of regulars and volunteers is again demanding public attention. The regulars have very little confidence in the fighting ability of the volunteers, and the volunteers are not warm adherents of the staying qualities of the regulars. It is reported that Gen. Miles recently made a slighting remark about the volunteers, but the rumor is probably unfounded. But the rumor recalls an old story. A retired army officer who served through the late unpleasantness was asked which were the best fighters, regulars or volunteers. "Well, both are brave enough, but the volunteers would fight longer than the regulars." "How do you account for that?" "That's easy. The fool volunteers knew so little about warfare that they didn't know when they were whipped."—Omaha World-Herald.

THE DAWN OF WOMANHOOD.

Earnest Words From Mrs. Pinkham to Mothers Who Have Daughters and a Letter From Mrs. Dunmore, of Somerville, Mass.

The advent of womanhood is fraught with dangers which even careful mothers too often neglect.

One of the dangers to a young woman is belated menstruation. "The lily droops on its stem and dies before its beauty is unfolded;" or she may have entered into the perfection of womanhood with little apparent inconvenience or disorder of health. But suddenly the menses entirely cease. Mother, pubertic malady is taking hold of your daughter, and quick consumption may follow! Take instant steps to produce regular menstruation.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certain to assist nature to perform her regular duties, procure it at once; there are volumes of testimony from grateful mothers who have had their daughters' health restored by its use. If personal advice is desired, write quickly to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. It will be given you without charge, and it will be the advice of abundant experience and success.

Read the following from Mrs. CHARLES DUNMORE, 103 Fremont St., Winter Hill, Somerville, Mass.:

"I was in pain day and night; my doctor did not seem to help me. I could not seem to find any relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had inflammation of the womb, a bearing-down pain, and the whites very badly. The pain was so intense that I could not sleep at night. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a few months, and am now all right. Before that I took morphine pills for my pains; that was a great mistake, for the relief was only momentary and the effect vile. I am so thankful to be relieved of my sufferings, for the pains I had were something terrible."

Who Should Be Our Allies?

The most important, perhaps also the most glorious, sign of the times is the drifting together of the nations toward harmony among themselves. Even the alliances of the powers of Europe, maintained as they are by force of arms, are favorable to peace and prosperity. Before the inauguration of these alliances Europe was split into a host of little countries perpetually warring on one another and snapping at one another.

The day of small things, even of small nations, is over. Little countries have united and formed great ones, either peaceably or by conquest. Thus Germany has done; thus also have Russia and Austria. The next step will be a still wider co-operation and welding together of nations. Where the small countries agreed to work together the next thing will be that the great powers will do the same. This understanding may come through war and tribulation, but it will come. Then will begin the real republic of man.

In this co-operation of the nations where will be the place of the United States? We cannot longer stand aloof from the responsibilities of a mighty power; we must bear our share for good or for ill henceforth to the end. Already the nations of Europe are putting forth feelers on the subject of alliances with us and making bids for our favor. Which of the nations of Europe is our natural ally, if there is such a nation? Many would reply at once that it is the English, our kindred in blood, our own kind in language, institutions, push and grit.

Perhaps. Yet there is Russia the great, Russia who stood by us as our fast friend during the dark hour of our civil war, when even England turned her back on us. Let us never forget the friendship of Russia. There, too, is Germany. There is among our people almost as much of the manly, vigorous German blood as of English, and the children of the fatherland have been among the most important builders of our free civilization. Why shall we not be good and fast friends with Germany? France, too, the one leading power that is a republic, the nation that befriended us in the Revolution against England and made it possible for us to be a republic—shall we forget the service rendered us by our sister of France?

The powers of Europe are all our allies. We need them and they need us. We are the friend of them all.

What a Senatorial Vacancy Is.

The United States constitution says that when a vacancy occurs in the representation of a state in the United States senate that vacancy shall be filled by the governor of the state if the legislature is not in session. There is no express provision in the constitution for the contingency of a deadlock in a state legislature which results in the adjournment of that body without electing a senator. Without such provision there is nothing to do but for the United States senate to establish a precedent and follow it. Such precedent was made in the Lee Mantle case in Montana and also in the cases of Wyoming and Washington state. The type is the Mantle case. In 1892 the Montana legislature adjourned without electing a senator, although Mantle was one of the regular caucus nominees. The governor of Montana after the adjournment of the legislature appointed him senator. The United States senate decided, however, that a seat which became empty in consequence of failure of a legislature to elect an incumbent was not a vacancy in the meaning of the constitution. They therefore refused to allow Mantle to take his place, and it was not until the legislature met in the following winter and elected him regularly that he came to the senate. Until that occurred Montana had only one representative in the upper house.

Following this example Mr. Corbett of Oregon is not permitted to be a senator. One good result it is to be hoped will follow the decision. This is that it may cause legislatures hereafter to attend to their business and elect senators on time, doing away with the disgraceful deadlocks that have so often marred their proceedings.

It is possible to regard any sort of merchandise on the sea as goods contraband of war except perhaps jewelry and French bonnets.

War Revenues.

Congress proposes to get money to carry on the war from two sources, taxing and borrowing. The taxes, with one exception, are an affair of internal revenue, the duties on foreign goods being considered to be at present as high as it is expedient to make them. The entire sum to be raised by internal revenue taxation will be something over $90,000,000. It is to come from fermented liquors, tobacco and stamp taxes. Beer will be taxed $2 a barrel instead of $1. The tax on beer will bring in, it is expected, $40,000,000. The added taxes on tobacco are expected to produce $20,000,000.

Third, there is the stamp tax. This will mean that deeds, drafts, wills, checks, mortgages and legal documents generally, insurance policies, telegrams, express receipts, patent medicines, perfumery, cosmetics, etc., must have a stamp affixed for which a sum of from 1 cent to $20 has been paid. The stamp tax is expected to bring to the government $30,000,000.

The one exception to the raising of the war tax from domestic sources is the proposed tonnage duty. This would mean that all foreign vessels bringing goods and passengers to the United States should pay a tax of 20 cents per ton of their capacity. Many are of opinion, however, that it would be far wiser to drop this feature of the revenue bill. Foreign vessels arriving in American ports already pay a light tonnage duty. The first effect of the mere proposal to levy such a tax caused an irritation against us in Europe, particularly in Germany, where we are accused of trying by this tax to make European nations pay the expenses of our war with Spain. We want the sympathies of the European powers at present, and it will not be well to alienate them by a petty tonnage tax, especially as it will raise only $2,000,000, a sum not worth irritating even Emperor William for. A tax on tea and coffee may come later.

The bond issue for the emergency of a prolonged war is the large thing. The sum to be raised by government bonds is $600,000,000. The plan proposed is to allow the government in its discretion to pay $100,000,000 of this money in a year or less, the rest to run 10 and 20 years at interest.

Various educational associations have come to the conclusion that a determined effort should be made to teach children morality in the schools. This conclusion is the correct one. The object of all education as well as of the experiences of later life is character building, the formation of a noble human being. In teaching morality in the schools, however, the danger lies in the liability of the teacher to mix his or her particular theological creed with the ethical instruction. The teacher must continually bear in mind that theology is not morality at all. The proof of it is that we find persons of diametrically opposite religious creeds to be equally good citizens, moral, upright and useful. In the purely ethical teachings of either the Old or New Testament there is not a trace of theology, unless belief in a reverence for a Supreme Being may be considered such. Teachers whose task it is to inculcate morality in schools cannot do better than to follow the lead there indicated.

Under the municipal law governing London, when a new street, a sewer or other public improvement is to be put upon a piece of ground within the city limits the expense of the improvement is not borne by the owner of the ground, but by the tenant of the property. Thus the renter must pay the tax or "rates" for the improvement, while the wealthy landlord escapes. The richest ground owners in London are consequently bitterly opposed to the Progressive party. In spite of their opposition, however, the voters of London stand by the Progressist county council.

When the United States government accepted the naval cadets at Annapolis, it bought their work and the use of their brains so long as they remained in its service. Naval officers who are patriots will therefore joyfully give to their country any inventions that will help it without demanding extra compensation. Think of Washington or Lincoln haggling for big money for something he had invented which would have been useful to his country!

The dons have the long descent and the long names. We have the long purse and long guns.

The great fight off Manila adds one more to the world's historic Sunday battles.

It is better to be the humblest worm that crawls than a self-satisfied fool.

Spanish compliments to Americans are numerous. They fill the weary air. The favorite name for us among the lower classes is "swine," and when the Spaniard is drunk, and consequently braver than usual, he swaggers around with a knife, boasting that he wants to "stick American pigs." De Lome long ago showed the typical high bred courtesy of the Spanish don when he wrote in a private letter that President McKinley was a low politician. Blanco further expressed the common Spanish estimate of our country when in a proclamation he styled us a "nation of nobodies." The same idea was put into yet more artistic language by the eloquent governor of the Philippines when he hurled at us the words a "nation of social excrescences." This was just before Commodore Dewey paid his little visit to the islands. Spain certainly whips us all to pieces in the abuse of language. We cannot cope with her in aiming and firing torpedoes of the tongue or the heavy projectiles of thundering talk. The English vocabulary is not equal to it.

The experiment in municipal government now under trial in London is watched with peculiar interest in our large new world cities. The last city election gave the London county council an unqualified indorsement in the re-election of many of the old members and of new ones favorable to its policy. The London county council corresponds to the various boards of aldermen and councilmen in American cities. A majority of its members belong to what is called in London municipal politics the Progressive party. This party is in favor of control by the people through their duly elected representatives of gas and water works, street railway and other public franchises. Since it came into power four years ago the Progressive party has done much for the sanitation of London and the convenience of the people. It has constructed, among other things, a free tunnel under the Thames river.

The literary canon of the Norwegian author Bjornstjerne Bjornson is respectfully commended to those young men and women of the pen who consider pessimism and horrors a mark of genius in a writer. It is this: "What we want in the future is a literature which will make men better."

Don't talk of your ailments, your wrongs, your poverty and your bad luck. Don't carry a funeral around with you. All your friends have troubles of their own, every one.

The new officers of the Lake Zurich fire company are as follows: Chief, John Forbes; Captain of engine, H.

Shaefer; Captain of hose cart, H. L. Prehm; Secretary, John Kohl; and Treasurer, H. Hillman.

The game of baseball played at the Lake Zurich ball grounds last Sunday was a good one, for our boys rolled in the scores as though they had played ball all winter. Broncheon pitched a good game, and he was strongly supported by the balance of the team.

We are quite sure that our boys will win tomorrow's game from the Algonquins, but the latter say they have "doughnuts" to bet they will defeat the Unions. From the confidence displayed by both teams you may rest assured tomorrow's game will be a "hot member."

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. For sale by A. L. WALLER, Barrington, and A. S. OLMS, Palatine.

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS.

TOPICS OF TODAY

HARDTACK THEN AND NOW.

The "hardtack" which is being supplied to our volunteers—some of it, at least—is a different article from the great round wheaten slabs which fed our armies during the war of the rebellion. That supplied to the regiments now in camp is made in little oblong bits about the size of an oyster cracker, but square cornered. Thus the soldier is not obliged to imperil his teeth as of yore in biting from the "slab," or, if his teeth are poor, to dip it in his coffee before getting a mouthful. Baked in this modern way it is more friable and easier to chew. But it will no longer serve as a platter on which it was the pride of the old campaigner to be able to cut his meat with his jackknife without demolishing the dish. It is sweet and wholesome and is put up in pound packages of shape convenient for the haversack.

BLANCO TO THE CUBAN CONGRESS.

Captain General Blanco continues to perform the role of humorist-in-chief and prevaricator extraordinary of the Spanish administration in Cuba. In his address at the opening of the colonial congress he declared that "her majesty's government has fulfilled the noble promises of reform made to the people of this island (Cuba) as requested by the government of the United States." One of the first reforms so nobly promised and fulfilled to which he referred was autonomy. According to Captain General Blanco "the autonomous regime established was so complete as to bear in its fundamental parts the most close comparison with the system of government established in the British colonies," all of which may be true, but this kind of autonomy does not meet American approval.

THE SPANISH QUEEN REGENT.

It would be a sad piece of business if the outcome of the present disorders and violence in Spain should be a successful revolution involving the expulsion of the queen regent and her son; much sadder, indeed, than was the enforced exile of Isabella, who was a notorious hussy, while Christina is a most exemplary lady. The queen regent deserves credit on the part of the world and gratitude on the part of Spain for managing its shaky affairs as well as she has done since her husband's death. If she is not a woman of rare capacity then she has had phenomenally good fortune. If she has the capacity she has put it to good use in steering the course of her kingdom through most devious and dangerous channels. It is no child's play to manage a country like Spain and keep up the fiction of monarchy.

LATIN-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

When the war is over some political party may see the necessity for taking up the question of a Latin-American alliance against European aggressions on this continent. The tendency of progressive thought in Canada is for severance of the unfortunate ties that bind her to England. Nearly one-half of Canada's population are French descent. Nearly one-half of the remainder are Irish and not a few are Scotch. The chances for a revolution in Canada are not at all remote and our next game of intervention may have that country for its object, and England for its victim. The aggressions of Great Britain in the Klondike country are even now casus belli and are being worked for all they are worth while we are engaged with Spain.

BASEBALL AND BULL FIGHT.

Sport is a serious matter after all. A good deal depends upon it. The play hour and the manner of its spending, recreation and the character of its indulgence—these are considerations which become national in importance. The national game of America is said to be baseball, although football, lawn tennis, croquet and other degraded pastimes have gained some popularity. The national relaxation of the Spaniard is attendance at the bull fight. And no bull-fighting nation on earth ever did or ever could come creditably out of a war with bull players.

PATRIOTIC HELEN GOULD.

Miss Helen Gould's devotion to the cause of free Cuba is worthy of all praise. Disappointed in her first offer to contribute directly to the war expenses of the government, she now proposes to accomplish the same object by authorizing the organization of a troop of Cuban cavalry, whom she proposes to equip and pay from her private purse. Miss Gould's patriotic liberality will serve as inspiration to many a brave soldier and should move some of the multi-millionaires throughout the country to emulate her example.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Washington—Dr. Nicholas Senn of Chicago has been appointed one of the brigade surgeons of the army, with rank of lieutenant colonel.

Kansas City, Mo.—The W. A. Michael Grain Commission company, the leading bucket shop in the city, assigned to Dr. I. M. Lidge, a local capitalist.

Marshalltown, Iowa.—L. Mathews, president of the Montour Exchange bank, and a prominent figure in financial circles of Iowa, is dead at his home in Montour, at the age of 70.

New York—General Stewart L. Woodford refused to take a major general's commission offered to him by President McKinley.

Albany, N. Y.—Gov. Black has instructed Adjt.-Gen. Tilinast to issue the order to disband the 13th regiment. Disobedience of orders from the commander in chief prompted the action.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The firm of Jamieson, Cadzow & Creig, which conducted a big department store in this city, made a voluntary assignment. It is estimated that the liabilities are more than $200,000.

Chicago—Robert Lindblom & Co., doing business as commission merchants in the board of trade, made an assignment. The schedule filed in the county court fixes the assets at $100,000, and gives $125,000 as the amount of the liabilities.

South Bend, Ind.—The annual convention of the Indiana State Republican College league has been postponed until fall.

Frankfort, Ky.—Major Henry T. Stanton, the widely known Kentucky poet, author of "The Moneyless Man," "Jacob Brown," "Out of the Old Year into the New," and other poems, is dead.

St. Johns, N. F.—Owing to the serious international complications growing out of the war between the United States and Spain, the British government is arranging to fortify St. Johns.

Cleveland, O.—Addison Hills, assistant to the president of the Lake Shore & Michigan railroad, died at his home of pneumonia, aged 51 years.

Galesburg, Ill.—The Y. M. C. A. building is completed and thrown open to the public.

Van Buren, Ark.—Flood is devastating the Arkansas valley. Many towns are submerged.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Indiana May music festival was not a success financially. The guarantors will be called upon for about $3,000.

Washington.—Chairman Boutelle of the house naval affairs committee urges the appointment of Rear Admiral John G. Walker, retired, as assistant secretary of the navy, to succeed Theodore Roosevelt.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Miss Edith Jarnagin, a Georgia girl 20 years of age, has been appointed to the position of chief train dispatcher of the Chattanooga Southern railway.

San Francisco, Cal.—James J. Jeffries got the decision over Thomas J. Sharkey after a rushing fight lasting the limit of twenty rounds.

Lansing, Mich.—Michigan's wheat crop is in splendid shape, the average condition for the state, 94 per cent, being 12 per cent higher than last year at this time.

Marquette, Mich.—Land Commissioner Binger Hermann has rendered a decision affirming the decision of the register and receiver of the local land office in the contest case of Mrs. Ann Patterson against the Lake Superior Ship Canal Railway and Iron company. The decision supports Mrs. Patterson's claim.

Decatur, Ill.—Among the victims of the rage of the negroes in the revolution over the hut tax at Sierra Leone, West Africa, was Miss Hatfield of Decatur, sister of the Rev. Z. T. Hatfield, secretary of the central Illinois conference of the united brethren church.

Bellot, Wis.—The judges in the interstate college oratorical contest awarded first place to William Gorsuch of Knox college; second to J. A. Barnett of Wooster university; third to T. W. Nadal of De Pauw university.

New York—Walter Wellman has started on another expedition in an endeavor to reach the north pole. He hopes also to determine the fate of Andree, who has not been heard from since two days after he stepped into his balloon.

FIRST NEWS FROM DEWEY.

Account of the Brilliant Victory at Manila.

ONLY SIX AMERICANS HURT.

Not a Single Ship Injured in the Squadron of Admiral Dewey—Eleven Spanish Vessels Sunk and Hundreds of Sailors Killed.

The result of the battle between Commodore Dewey's fleet and the Spanish forts and vessels here was the destruction of the entire Spanish fleet, eleven vessels being lost.

The Spanish losses besides were 300 killed and 400 injured. On the American side there was none killed and only six slightly injured. Not one of the American fleet was damaged at all.

MAY SUE FOR PEACE.

Rumor That Spain Will Profit by the Bitter Lesson at Manila.

It is said that at last Spain has learned a lesson taught by Dewey at Manila and that the Madrid government is preparing to let itself down gracefully, having been awed by the fact that its Philippine fleet was destroyed and hundreds of lives sacrificed without the loss of a single man to the United States.

It is asserted that the French minister, who represents Spanish interests in Washington, has been authorized to make a tentative proposition for peace to President McKinley.

HONOR FOR DEWEY.

The Thanks of the Nation Tendered by Congress.

By act of congress, without debate or a dissenting vote, the number of admirals in the United States navy was increased from six to seven, to make room for former Commodore Dewey. In the senate a bill was approved appropriating $10,000 to present Admiral Dewey with a sword and medal of honor and to provide a bronze medal for each man who had a share in this memorable naval fight under the guns of Cavite when the entire Spanish fleet was annihilated.

Cannot Rely Upon the Army.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Morning Post says: "The government is aware that it cannot rely upon the army. It is an open secret that a society has been formed within its ranks to put an end to the humiliation Spain has suffered at the hands of her incompetent ministers."

Philippines Belong to Us.

Ex-Secretary of the Navy Benjamin F. Tracy thinks we should hold the Philippines. The Monroe doctrine does not apply to them. They were not taken for the sake of conquest, and their possession comes to us legitimately and rightly.

Will Not Delay the Campaign.

Congress having passed the bill for the enlistment of 10,000 immunes and 3,000 engineers, the president may call for such volunteers, but the campaign in Cuba will in no way be delayed for them.

High Honor for Illinois.

Colonel James S. Culver and the fifth regiment of Illinois are the first regiment in the country to present itself to Uncle Sam for volunteer service in the war for the freedom of Cuba.

Ireland Summoned to Rome.

Archbishop Ireland has been summoned to the vatican at Rome to lay before the pope the conception of Catholics in America in regard to the Spanish-American war.

Brook to Command the Volunteers.

Gen. Brooke, now at Chickamauga, has been definitely selected to command the entire volunteer force of 50,000 men, which is designed to support the regulars in the campaign in Cuba.

Pope Advises Peace.

The pope has sent a telegram to the queen regent of Spain earnestly advising an immediate appeal to the European powers for mediation in the war with America.

Cubans Ready to Co-operate.

There are 18,000 Cubans in the neighborhood of Sancti Spiritu short of arms and ammunition, but full of enthusiasm and desire to co-operate with our army.

Emperor William Not Unfriendly.

Emperor William denies that either he or his government entertain unfriendly feelings toward the United States in consequence of the war with Spain.

Illinois Soldiers Leave.

The third regiment, Illinois national guard, Col. Bennett commanding, and the fifth regiment, Col. Culver commanding, started for New Orleans May 12.

Diaz Shows Friendliness.

A company of thirty-two Spaniards was formed in Mexico for the purpose of going to Cuba and joining the Spanish army. President Diaz would not let them start.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS.

MINOR HAPPENINGS THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

County Conventions of Both Political Parties Endorse the War with Spain—A Peculiar Railroad Accident—A Six-Year-Old Heroine.

Driving Wheel Flies Off.

Near Green River, Ill., a remarkable and almost unheard of mishap befell the Rocky Mountain limited, the Rock Island train which left Chicago at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The train was to break the record between Chicago and Omaha and made fast time. After leaving Chicago the left rear driver showed evidence of a hot box. Speed was interfered with at once, but an effort to break the record was continued. Shortly after leaving Green River the wheel wrenched completely off and rolled across the adjoining track into a wheat field, where it plowed up the ground for several yards before falling on its side. The broken driving rod flying against the engine cab at once told the engineer what had happened. The train was stopped and a new engine sent for and the train continued on its way at 7 o'clock.

Draper Trial on Again.

Jerseyville, Ill.: The Draper trial is dragging its length slowly along, the man who is charged with the murder of Charles L. Hastings March 31, 1897, having been brought here on a change of venue. The defense has dropped the insanity plea and seems to be relying on the self-defense theory, and is interposing few objections as the trial proceeds. Ex-Gov. Johnson is managing the trial, while Col. D. P. Dyer of St. Louis, Gen. John M. Palmer, Judge Richard Yates and Judge Cyrus F. Miller of Jerseyville are sitting by. The physicians who made the autopsy were examined, together with the janitor of the building and the policemen who first entered the office where the tragedy occurred. This evening the bloody clothing of the victim was shown to the jury.

Resolve Against Substitutes.

Through Assembly No. 9 of the Knights of Labor, at a monthly meeting held in Chicago last week, 11,000 members of that order residing in Cook county denounced the hiring of substitutes during times of war and asked that laws be enacted to try the man for treason who should leave the country to avoid military service. There was a large attendance at the meeting and the resolutions went through without a negative vote. Officials of the assembly, in commenting on the resolutions, said that it was the purpose to get the question referred to in them thoroughly aired by members of the order, and therefore the resolutions were introduced. Said one member: "We do not believe that because a man is rich he should be excused from military duty by the payment of a few hundred dollars."

Six-Year-Old Heroine.

Six-year-old Mary Gleason saved her two younger sisters from being burned to death at their home, 163 Aberdeen street, Chicago, finding them surrounded by flames she dragged them from the burning house. The sisters, who are but 2 and 4 years old, respectively, managed to secure a handful of matches, which they scattered around the room. A fire resulted and the screams of the two children called the older Mary, from the kitchen, two rooms back. Rushing into the burning room she managed to lead the babies through the flames and down the stairs to the street, where she gave the alarm of fire. A crowd gathered there and greeted her as a heroine. There was a loss of $75 on the building and $25 on its contents.

War Policy Endorsed.

The republicans and democrats of Illinois, so far as heard from through county conventions favor the war policy of the administration. Never before have both parties been of one opinion on any question. The republican conventions endorse the administrations of Tanner, the democrats that of Altgeld. There is no democratic sentiment throughout the state favorable to the gubernatorial aspirations of Carter Harrison. This is not due so much to the youthful mayor's unpopularity as it is to the ex-governor's popularity. The democrats want Altgeld for senator and they know that senatorship and governorship cannot go to the same county.

Charged with Postoffice Robbery.

Frank Harrington, a former constable at Harvey, was placed on trial last week before Judge Grosscup, in the United States district court, charged with robbing the postoffice at Harvey three months ago. The evidence in the case was not all heard and the matter will be taken up again this morning. Harrington is a mechanic, and the fact that he changed the combination on the safe in the Harvey office a few days before it was robbed is considered strong circumstantial proof that he was implicated in the robbery. Harrington says he was in Chicago the night the robbery occurred.

Bad Eruptions

Sores Broke Out and Discharged But Hood's Cured.

"My son had eruptions and sores on his face which continued to grow worse in spite of medicines. The sores discharged a great deal. A friend whose child had been cured of a similar trouble by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it. I began giving the boy this medicine and he was soon getting better. He kept on taking it until he was entirely cured and he has never been bothered with eruptions since." MRS. EVA DOLBEARE, Horton, Ill.

Protecting Bridge Draw.

To prevent trolley cars and trains from running through open drawbridges a rod is placed close to one rail and ends in a lever at the outer end, which is displaced by the bridge as it swings open, drawing the rod toward the opening and throwing one of the rails in connection with a switch to turn the car off the track.

Cautions.

Matchmaker (persuasively)—"You have now an excellent chance to get married."

Young Man (hastily)—"Yes. But I'm not taking any chances."

The Baldwin Locomotive works, of Philadelphia, Pa., have recently delivered to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company the last of the large order of locomotives placed last fall. This delivery included twenty heavy engines, which are now being broken in for service between Cumberland and Baltimore. These locomotives are of the same style that the motive power department adopted as the standard for the first and second divisions. They are of the Consolidation type, with 21x26-inch cylinders, and the average load that they pull approximates 1,800 tons.

The crown of England is kept in the Tower of London, and not in the queen's dressing room. It is never brought out, excepting on grand state occasions, but whenever a ceremony, such as a drawing room or levee takes place, the queen wears a circlet of diamonds in the form of a crown on her head.

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

Important Events Reviewed and Condensed Into Reliable Form for Our Readers.

Tuesday, May 3.
A cabinet crisis threatened at Madrid. The present government likely to be greatly changed. There is some talk of a republic, but Don Carlos seems more in favor. Advice from a staff correspondent at Key West indicate that the invasion of Cuba is imminent. Ex-President Harrison made an inspiring war speech to the volunteers at Indianapolis. Newfoundland telegraph operators report that they have heard sounds as of heavy firing off the coast. President McKinley's cabinet instructs Secretary of War Alger to prepare for sending troops to Manila. Members of the cabinet are convinced Admiral Dewey is in possession of Manila. The cable between Manila and Hongkong has not been repaired and further advices are lacking. The Spanish government issued its formal proclamation of martial law. The regular army go on at several of the state camps. The Oregon and the Marietta sailed and the Nichtheroy will follow from Rio, Brazil. Its purchase has greatly pleased the Brazilian government. The diplomatic corps is surprised at the prestige secured to American interests by the tact of our diplomatic and consular representatives. The Temerario is still at Buenos Ayres. The cruiser New Orleans sailed from Newport to join the flying squadron at Hampton Roads. The Cape Verde fleet was reported to have headed for Cadiz, whence it would sail for the United States. It was announced at Washington the invasion of Cuba had been postponed pending the movements of Spain's armada. Belief prevailed that this announcement masked the real intentions of the department with a view of deceiving Spain and that troops would be sent to Cuba at once. A London cable-

Russian papers ridicule British pretensions of friendship for Uncle Sam.

Captain Lyons, of the gunboat Dolphin, which has been cruising for eleven days along the western coast of Cuba, reported to navy department that there is great activity on shore throughout that section, and especially in Bahai Honda. Groups of Spaniards can be seen working on improvised fortifications of all kinds. Earthworks have been thrown up all along the coast, and apparent preparations against invasion are being made. During her cruise the Dolphin held up eighteen vessels, all of which were released except the Spanish fishing schooner Leolo, which was sent in to Key West. The Dolphin had previously taken the Leolo, but had released her on the captain's promise to go in shore and remain there. Not long afterward the Dolphin again found the Leolo cruising and apparently signaling information to someone on shore. The Spaniard was then captured, despite the captain's protestation that he was not signaling.

Brigadier General Ruperto, representing General Blanco, visited the British cruiser Talbot, lying in the harbor of Havana. Subsequently Admiral Manterola visited the cruiser and in the course of the day both visits were returned. Colonel Devos, at Farm Clement Cruse, fought the insurgent bands under Leaders Diego Nunez and Perfecto Estabano, taking the camp. The insurgents lost ten killed, among them Leader Diego Nunez, and twenty-three taken prisoners, together with a quantity of arms, ammunition and medicine. The Spanish column, which completely destroyed the camp, had four wounded. At Pelayo a body of Spanish cavalry had an engagement with the insurgents under General Maximo Gomez, the latter leaving four dead on the field and the Spanish one. The government troops had an officer and seven soldiers wounded. At Loma Cruz the local guerrillas surprised a body of insurgents, killing ten. Two persons were killed and two wounded by an explosion in a sugar refinery at Cardenas.

Friday, May 5.

The gunboat Annapolis captured the French steamer Lafayette, which tried to run the blockade after being warned to keep away. The government at once ordered the release of the steamer and sent it to Havana under escort. The release was out of regard for the flag of a sister republic and a secret ally of the United States. The cruiser Charleston was placed in commission for service in the Philippines. The port of San Juan, Puerto Rico, was cleared of non-combatants in preparation for naval battle with Sampson's fleet, thought to be near at hand. Spanish warships were reported to have been sighted off Port de France, Martinique Island, and St. Thomas. News was received that Major Smith, second in command of General Gomez's bodyguards, was captured and killed by the Spaniards upon his return to the island from the United States. Great Britain for the second time refused to act with the European powers in an overture looking to intervention to stop the war. A bill was passed by the senate authorizing the appointment of fifteen army surgeons and the employment of others on contract. The pope was said to have sent a telegram to the Queen Regent advising her to ask the mediation of European powers. At the queen's request Emperor Francis Joseph is trying to bring about intervention. At midnight a cablegram came from Hong Kong, announcing the arrival of the dispatch boat McCulloch with Commodore Dewey's report of the battle of Manila. He reported that no American ship was lost or even hit by guns from forts. Eleven Spanish ships destroyed or disabled. Four hundred Spaniards killed. No Americans killed. Report caused wild enthusiasm. The president had retired, but was awakened and given the glad news.

Washington, May 6.—This official statement telling why the French steamer Lafayette, captured while attempting to run the blockade at Havana, was released was issued by the department of state this evening. The Lafayette was released in pursuance of orders which were issued by the navy department previous Thursday, May 5.

Special cable dispatches from Singapore report that news received confirming the victory of Dewey and the statement that he is in possession of Manila. The Spanish ship Buenos Ayres reported as completely fitted out at Cadiz and ready to sail for Cuba. The government landed its first consignment of arms and ammunition for the insurgents west of Havana. Reported from Vienna that the Queen Regent of Spain was on the point of resigning in order to save the crown for the young King. The senate passed the bill authorizing the president to supply the Cubans with food, medicines, arms, ammunition, etc. Spanish cavalry attack the tug Leyden on the Cuban coast and are routed, by the gunboat Wilmington, several being wounded by shells. Twenty-fifth infantry is ordered to move from Chickamauga to Tampa, and the 2d and 10th cavalry are expected to follow soon. New autonomist congress is opened at Havana with imposing ceremonies and is addressed by Gen. Blanco, who bitterly assails the United States. Seven vessels of Admiral Sampson's fleet started to Puerto Rico in quest of Spanish warships, and a battle will follow the meeting. No word has been received from Manila, and the fate of Admiral Dewey and his brave men is up to date unknown.

A leading Russian diplomat said at Washington that the cable report from London stating that Emperor Nicholas of Russia was much disturbed as to the ultimate destiny of the Philippines, and that some sort of immediate intervention was probable, was entirely unwarranted and placed Russia in a misleading position before the people of this country. It was probably instigated by the money lenders of the British capital. He says the sentiment throughout Russia, official and unofficial, is one of extreme cordiality toward the United States, and it shows there will be no change in the traditional friendship existing between the United States and Russia. The friendly feeling, he pointed out, was shown by the Russian newspapers arrived in the mail to the Russian embassy. They were published just after the declaration of war, and their comment was, without exception, of the most friendly character toward the United States. The war department formulated plans for sending an army of occupation to Manila. The news from Madrid indicated that Commodore Dewey had taken Manila. The gunboat Wilmington destroyed a Spanish fort under construction four miles east of Cojima, Cuba. The Wilmington also fired at a troop of cavalry while passing Jaruco beach and two men were seen to drop on the beach. The torpedo boat Ericsson on Sunday noticed a large number of infantry passing eastward, towards Matanzas, on the beach. The Ericsson followed them for miles, but used no guns. Later they noticed another large number of infantry going eastward and apparently driving prisoners before them.

The Ericsson discovered a force of men at work on a new fort four miles east of Cojima. It was being built on the second of four or five small hills at some distance from shore. All afternoon and night the Ericsson's men watched the men at work. They made out sixteen cavalrymen quartered in the plantation house near the fort. Finally the Ericsson ran across the Wilmington, and Captain Todd was informed. "They'll never finish it," he said. "Just watch." The Ericsson drew away and the Wilmington leisurely proceeded toward the coast. In less than two minutes the fort was a shapeless wreck. The Ericsson has had rough weather. On Saturday it anchored within 200 yards of the Cuban coast.

Wednesday, May 4.

Failure to receive word from Admiral Dewey causing extreme anxiety. There is fear that his fleet may have met with disaster. Affairs in Spain are growing more serious. The government fears the army, and the throne is tottering. Admiral Sampson's fleet is still at sea under sealed orders. The flying squadron is expected to leave Hampton Roads May 5. Col. J. B. Washburne of the 4th infantry, Illinois National guard, resigned his command and other resignations are threatened. President Dole sent a proposition to President McKinley for the transfer of the Hawaiian islands to the United States. A joint resolution was introduced in congress for the annexation of the Hawaiian islands. The City of Pekin ordered to proceed to Manila with medical aid for the men of Admiral Dewey's fleet. President appoints Fitzhugh Lee, Joseph Wheeler, W. J. Sewell and James H. Wilson to be major-generals. Examinations for and mustering into the Saturday, May 7.

The army and navy departments agreed upon an aggressive campaign and the plans were approved by President McKinley. The plans embrace the occupation of Manila with ten thousand troops, the immediate capture of Puerto Rico, and the invasion of Cuba at once. The governor general of the Philippines reported to Madrid that Spanish troops had captured the Town of Panay, an insurgent stronghold, in a stormy session of the Spanish cortes a Carlist member was expelled for deriding the Queen Regent with a scriptural quotation. The existence of four cases of yellow fever among the crews of a Spanish and American ship was made known at Key West. The Montgomery captured as prizes the Spanish brigantine Frasco and the bark Lorenzo, each carrying a cargo of dried beef. Dewey's official report of the victory at Manila filed at navy department. It is as follows:

Manila, May 1.—The squadron arrived at Manila at daybreak this morning. We immediately engaged the enemy and destroyed the following Spanish war vessels: Reina Christina, Castilla, Don Antonio de Ulloa, Isla de Luzon, General Lezo, Isla de Cuba, Marquis del Duero, Elcano, Velasco, Don Juan de Austria, Isla de Mindanao, transport. The squadron is uninjured and only a few men were slightly wounded. I cut the cable to prevent Spanish communication. The only means of telegraphing is to the American consul at Hongkong. I shall communicate with him.—Dewey.

A second dispatch from Admiral Dewey reads: Cavite, May 4.—I have taken possession of naval station at Cavite, on the Philippine Islands. Have destroyed the fortifications at bay entrance, patrolling the garrison. I control the bay completely and can take the city at any time. The squadron in excellent health and spirits. Spanish loss not fully known, but heavy. One hundred and fifty killed, including captain of Reina Christina. I am assisting in protecting Spanish sick and wounded. Two hundred and fifty sick and wounded in hospital within our lines. Much excitement at Manila. Will protect foreign residents.—Dewey.—A close examination of the two cablegrams shows that in the news as originally given out the names of two Spanish vessels had been omitted from the list of those destroyed. That makes eleven Spanish ships destroyed by Dewey in the short space of two hours. Taking the list in the order reported by Admiral Dewey, the ships destroyed are as follows: The Reina Christina, cruiser, single screw, barque rigged ship with one funnel, displacement 3,090 tons, length 250 feet, beam 43, mean draft 15 feet. Armament, 19 Hontoria 6-inch and 4-inch guns, two machine guns, and five torpedo tubes. Complement, 370 men. Castilla, built at Cadiz in 1887, single screw, barque rigged, one funnel, cruiser, displacement 3,342 tons, length 246 feet. Armament, 10 Krupp guns and four revolving cannon, two torpedo tubes. Complement, 300 men.—Don Antonio de Ulloa, built at Caraca in 1887, iron cruiser, single screw, barque rigged, one funnel, displacement 1,152 tons, length 210 feet. Armament, 8 Hontoria guns, one machine gun, two torpedo tubes. Complement, 172 men.—Isla de Cuba, built at Elswick in 1896, steel cruiser, double screw, two-masted, with military tops, length 185 feet, displacement 1,040 tons. Armament, gun, two torpedo tubes. Complement, 173 men.—General Lezo, built in Cartagena in 1887, double screw, schooner rigged, length 158 feet, displacement 525 tons. Armament, 2 guns, 2 machine guns, and one torpedo tube. Complement, 98 men.—Marquis del Duero, built at La Seine in 1875, iron gunboat, double screw, schooner rigged, displacement 500 tons. Armament, 3 guns, 1 machine gun. Complement, 98 men.—The El Corbe is an iron gunboat of 525 tons, double screws, schooner rigged, with 3 guns, 3 machine guns and 1 torpedo tube. Complement, 98 men.—Velasco, iron cruiser, barque rigged, 210 feet papers of the city declare a crisis is imminent.—Persistent rumors of a naval battle in West Indian waters, near the coast of Hayti, reached the United States, but no confirmation could be obtained. Admiral Sampson's squadron passed Cape Haytien Saturday evening en route to Puerto Rico.—The war department decided to send the Third Artillery, the Fourth Cavalry and the Fourteenth Infantry to occupy the Philippine Islands.—Secretary of War Alger ordered Governor Tanner to prepare two regiments of Illinois volunteers to be moved as soon as possible to Chickamauga National Park, and said the artillery and cavalry of the state would soon be called to follow.—Gen. Gomez's letter of thanks to the American people received. It is as follows: "I am much delighted at the action of the people and government of the United States in doing justice to the cause of this heroic and exhausted people. For me, and in the name of my loyal soldiers, I authorize you to extend most heartfelt thanks for the protection which is offered us. It shall constitute a bond of solidarity and eternal friendship between both peoples. I am ready, and thus I know my government will be, to accept the alliance which is offered us, and therefore I wait the official commission by General Miles, Lieut. Whitney of the Bureau of Military Intelligence, to discuss the basis of the plan of campaign to be adopted against the common enemy. But General Miles should know now that he need not venture his ships too far in perilous enterprises, for in this, our own ground, we need no more than munitions with which to finish with the Spaniards, as the island of Cuba is in such a condition that they cannot resist six months of rigorous siege."

Monday, May 9.

Congress voted the thanks of the United States to Commodore Dewey and passed a bill making him a rear admiral. A joint resolution presenting him with a sword and to his men medals of honor was passed by the senate.—President McKinley was authorized by Congress to purchase food, arms, ammunition and equipment for the suffering Cubans and the insurgent army.—The bill providing for the enlistment of 10,000 yellow fever immunized passed Congress.—President McKinley appointed Charles H. Allen of Massachusetts to be Assistant Secretary of the Navy, succeeding Theodore Roosevelt.—Secretary of War Alger requested Governor Tanner to equip two Illinois infantry regiments as soon as possible for transfer to Chickamauga Park.—Lieutenant Rowan, commissioner of the war department, landed at Nassau on his return trip from Cuba, where he established communication with the insurgents and received messages from Generals Garcia and Gomez.—The entire Fourth infantry, now stationed at Tampa, was ordered to proceed to Cuba. It will be accompanied by Cuban forces under Generals Nunez and Cosletto.—Governor Holcomb of Nebraska received notice from the Secretary of War that one regiment of Nebraska troops would be sent to the Philippine islands.—The torpedo boat Winslow successfully engaged three Spanish gunboats off Cardenas Bay. The Winslow retired unscratched and one of the opposing gunboats was disabled.—While trying to run the blockade into Havana the Norwegian steamer Bratsport was captured by the gunboat Newport and sent to Key West as a prize.

The following is the joint resolution offering the thanks of Congress to Admiral Dewey introduced in the house immediately after the receipt of the President's message in Congress:

"Joint resolution tendering the thanks of Congress to Commodore George Dewey, U. S. N., and to the officers and men of the squadron under his command. Resolved, By the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that in pursuance of the recommendations of the President, made in accordance with the provisions of Section 1,508 of the Revised Statutes, the thanks of Congress and of the American people are hereby tendered to Commodore George Dewey, U. S. N., Commander-in-Chief of the Asiatic station, for highly distinguished conduct in conflict with the enemy as displayed by him in the destruction of the Spanish fleet and batteries in the harbor of Manila, Philippine Islands, May 1, 1898. Section 2. That the thanks of Congress and of the American people are hereby extended through Commodore Dewey to the officers and men under his command for the gallantry and skill displayed by them on that occasion. Section 3. Be it further resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to cause this resolution to be communicated to Commodore Dewey, and through him to the officers and men under his command.

Immediately after Anthony Curson had been saved from drowning in Centre Lake, near Angola, Ind., by Charles Freygang, Curson deeded his house and lot to the man who had saved him.

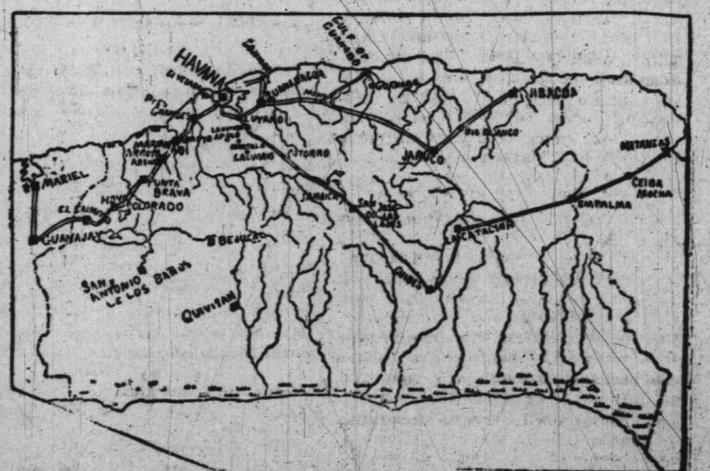

to her seizure, but which had not been received by the commanding officers of the vessels that made the capture. The facts are that on April 29 the French embassy made an informal inquiry as to whether the Lafayette, which left St. Nazaire, France, for Vera Cruz by way of Havana, before war was declared or information of the blockade received, would be allowed to land at Havana certain passengers, her mail bags and the dispatch bag of the consulate general of France and to take some French passengers on board. An assurance was given that, if this privilege should be granted, the steamer would be forbidden by the French consul to land goods. The matter was duly considered and it was decided that, without regard to the strict law of blockade, and as an act of courtesy, the request of the French government should be acceded to. Orders were accordingly sent on May 2. When information was received of the capture of the steamer and of her having been brought to Key West those orders were communicated to the captors, with instructions to release the steamer and to see that the orders were duly delivered, so that they might be carried into effect. No demand was made either by or on behalf of the French government, directly or indirectly, for the steamer's release. The Wilmington will escort the Lafayette to Havana to-night.

Lake Zurich is only a short drive from Barrington and an enjoyable and interesting game is assured. Turn out and give the boys a "send off."

A. K. Stearns, editor of the Waukegan Daily Sun, was in town Thursday getting his "wires" in shape. Mr. Stearns is a candidate for the State Legislature. The way he grasped the hands of the farmers in this vicinity gives one the impression that he is no novice in the field of politics.

Miss Anna Krueger was tendered a surprise party Saturday evening at which a host of her friends were present. The party was a farewell surprise, Miss Krueger returning to Chicago the first of the week. It was one of the most pleasant social gatherings of the season.

A large number of Charles Meyer's friends tendered him a surprise party Friday evening of last week, at the home of his parents, four miles south of Barrington. Social games and refreshments of a dainty and substantial manner, made the evening hours pass only too swiftly for the young folks.

By virtue of its grace, beauty and strength the White wheel commands instant attention from those who are seeking the best. It appeals to every lover of art, as applied to mechanical science. We have a number of '97 models which we are selling at a sacrifice. Prices '98 models, $65 and $75. White Sewing Machine Co., 295 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

Two men by the name of John Kendall and Thomas Snyder, hailing from Chicago, struck town Friday evening of last week and attempted to steal some goods in Peek's store, but were discovered and in consequence made a hasty departure. It did not take long for our police officers to "bag" them, Nightwatch Henderson capturing his man in a local saloon, while Marshal Sandman made a tour of the railroad yards and pulled the other man out of a box car.

The first section of the library will be ready for delivery at the Barrington postoffice next Tuesday. This set will only remain until July 1st, as that date is the beginning of a new quarter, and all following sections will remain in Barrington for three months. A list of the books will be given each subscriber. If the book you select is in use leave your name at the postoffice so that you will receive it as soon as it is returned. We sincerely trust that these books will be in constant use, and that it may become the nucleus for a public library.

THE PARMELEE LIBRARY CO.
Lost by one vote.

The special election held in the Town of Cuba Saturday for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the road commissioners should borrow money to gravel roads was a close one. In all 73 votes were cast, 36 for and 37 against.

Village Board Proceedings.
A special meeting of the Barrington Village Board was called to order Saturday evening by President Boehmer for the purpose of considering the advisability of purchasing fire hose. All members were present except Trustee Richardson.

Some of the members came at 8 o'clock and some at 9 o'clock, the meeting being called to order a few minutes after the latter hour.

Mr. Fellows asked the Board to approve a plat of lots 32, 33, 34, 52, 53 and 54 in the County Clerk's Re-division of the Assessor's Division. The matter was laid over for investigation.

Village attorney A. J. Redmond sent a communication to the Board which was read. In the communication he said that he did not want to oppose the candidacy of Frank Robertson for the office of village attorney. No action was taken in the matter. A representative of a hose company was present and endeavored to convince the members of the Board in a two hour's flow of vocabulary that his firm manufactured the best and only hose and which they would sell the village very cheap providing they would make a contract that (Saturday) evening without investigating what other hose manufacturers had to sell and at what price. It was decided by the Board to appoint a committee to look up the hose matter and report at a meeting to be held this evening. The clerk was also instructed to communicate with manufacturers of hose and request them to put in a bid at this evening's session.

The Board then adjourned.

OBITUARIES.
MRS. WILLIAM WILMER.

Mrs. Wilkes Wilmer nee Miss Mary Rathke was born at Dundee, Ill., Nov. 14th, 1870, and died at her home in this village May 6th, 1898, being 27 years 5 months and 22 days of age at the time death came. On the 31st of October 1887, she was united in marriage to Wm. Wilmer of Barrington, who has been connected with the Chicago & North-Western railroad at this place for several years. Three children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer, one son and two daughters. These, together with her bereaved husband, she has left behind, and they deeply mourn the departure of a devoted wife and affectionate mother. Besides the members of her own home she precedes a grief-stricken father, one brother, four sisters, and a host of friends, who feel deeply the loss of a dutiful daughter, loving sister and a true friend.

Mrs. Wilmer was very much beloved and respected by all who made her acquaintance. She was very much attached to her home and the saddest part of her death was to leave behind her husband and three little children.

The persistent disease which at last took her from her loved ones, lingered through many weary months but willing hands and loving hearts did everything possible for her comfort through all her days of suffering.

Mrs. Wilmer when a girl of thirteen received christian baptism and died trusting in her Savior—hopeful to the last.

The funeral services which were very largely attended were held at the M. E. church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. T. E. Ream officiating, and the remains were interred at Evergreen cemetery.

JOHN HEWITT GREGORY.
John Hewitt Gregory was born at Saft Lake, N. Y., November 9, 1807, and died at the home of Mrs. I. W. Fox at Lake Zurich, Ill., Sunday morning, May 8, 1898.

Mr. Gregory was married, May 1, 1839, to Miss Emily Fox, sister of J. Willard Fox, whose widow resides at Lake Zurich, and with whom he had made his home the past 24 years.

His grandfather was in the War of the Revolution, and his father fought in the war of 1812. The deceased had been in business at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., before coming to Lake Zurich. "Uncle John," as he was called was a great reader, had a retentive memory, and was well informed.

The funeral took place from Lake Zurich Tuesday, May 11. A number of friends and relatives gathered to pay their tributes to the old resident, among whom were his brother, Frank A. Gregory of Chicago. Rev. Hageman conducted the services. Interment took place at Evergreen cemetery, Barrington.

LITTLE BLANCHE BARNETT.
Little Blanche Barnett, the ten-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnett, died at their home, 9038 Exchange avenue, South Chicago, on Monday at 7:30 o'clock. Whooping cough, with other complications, caused her death. After a prayer at the home, she was taken to Barrington where a short service was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Brockway, Rev. Hageman officiating.

Tender sympathy is extended to the young parents, in this, their first bereavement, but as was so touchingly sung at the funeral:

In the land of love and beauty,
We shall meet our loved again.

There's a Tenderness

About our meats that is appreciated by the cook.

It is not necessary to pound the steaks with a mallet to make them yield up their juiciness. Nor to use great care in broiling or roasting.

Our beef, lamb, veal, mutton and pork is so good in itself that the chances of spoiling them in bad cooking are small.

Every piece of meat we sell is cut from prime, well fed and carefully handled animals.
