May Put in Stone Crossings.

The Palatine Village Board met in regular session Monday. All members were present, with President Batterman in the chair. The minutes of December 5 were read and approved. The Treasurer's report showing a balance of $1,170.78 on hand was read and ordered placed on file. The following bills were ordered paid: H. W. Meyer, supplies, $11.26; Reynolds & Zimmer, supplies, $12.70; Battermann, Abelman & Ost, coal, $87.70; W. R. Comfort & Co., coal, $7.65; Pittsburg Oil Co., supplies, $24.36; C. Bergman, A. Wittle and A. Menzow, labor, $11; H. Hitzemann, merchandise, $8.08; J. Kitson, gravel, $3.15; C. H. Patten, water pipe, $37.60. By motion of C. D. Taylor the committee on streets and drainage were requested to investigate in regard to stone crossings for our business streets and report at the next meeting. The matter received some attention by the members and the continual wearing away of the plank crossings was considered an unnecessary expense by the board and as soon as the ground will permit probably flag stone crossings will be laid on such streets that are graded properly. The case of oil peddlers came up for discussion. E. W. Wing was reported as having been peddling without a license and the clerk reported that his trial would come up for hearing next Saturday. Board then adjourned.

That a poor harness is dear at any price. My business is strictly confined to the manufacturing of Harnesses and the sale of Horse Goods. My constant attention given in the handling of Leather Goods for a number of years has some significance in the selection of materials. You couldn't expect a man who has spent most of his life in a grocery store to be as good a judge of steel as a blacksmith, who has made a life study of that particular material.

I select personally all Leather used and the manufacturing of it into Harnesses is done by me or under my direction. I make Harnesses at as low a price as anyone.

Father of All Steam Engines.

There was released from active service in England the other day the oldest working engine of the world. It had literally been 120 years in the business. It was made by James Watt and Boulton in Birmingham in 1777 for the Birmingham Canal Navigation Company. It had a thirty-two-inch cylinder and an eight-foot stroke and was by no means small, but a low pressure of steam was used. The engine has been pumping water ever since, but is now "released" and will go into a museum.

PHANTOM SHIP

The Flying Dutchman.

—BY CAPTAIN MARRYAT.

CHAPTER I.

About the middle of the seventeenth century, in the outskirts of the small but fortified town of Terneuse, situated on the right bank of the Scheidt, and nearly opposite to the island of Walcheren, there was to be seen in advance of a few other even more humble tenements, a small but neat cottage, built according to the prevailing taste of the time. The outside front had, some years back, been painted of a deep orange, the windows and shutters of a vivid green. To about three feet above the surface of the earth, it was faced alternately with blue and white tiles. A small garden, of about two rods of our measure of land, surrounded the edifice; and this little plot was flanked by a low hedge of privet, and encircled by a moat full of water, too wide to be leaped with ease. Over that part of the moat which was in front of the cottage door was a small and narrow bridge, with ornamented iron hand-rails, for the security of the passenger. But the colors, originally so bright, with which the cottage had been decorated, had now faded; symptoms of rapid decay were evident in the window-sills, the door-jamb and other wooden parts of the tenement, and many of the white and blue tiles had fallen down, and had not been replaced. That much care had once been bestowed upon this little tenement was as evident as that latterly it had been equally neglected.

The inside of the cottage, both on the basement and the floor above, was divided into two larger rooms in front, and two smaller behind; the rooms in front could only be called large in comparison with the other two, as they were little more than twelve feet square, with but one window to each. The upper floor was as usual, appropriated to the bedrooms; on the lower, the two smaller rooms were now used only as a wash-house and a lumber-room; while one of the larger was fitted up as a kitchen, and furnished with dressers, on which the metal utensils for cookery shone clean and polished as silver. The room itself was scrupulously neat; but the furniture, as well as the utensils, were scanty. The boards of the floor were of a pure white, and so clean that you might have laid anything down without fear of soiling it. A strong deal table, two wooden-seated chairs, and a small easy couch, which had been removed from one of the bedrooms upstairs, were all the movables which this room contained. The other front room had been fitted up as a parlor; but what might be the style of its furniture was now unknown, for no eye had beheld the contents of that room for nearly seventeen years, during which it had been hermetically sealed, even to the inmates of the cottage.

The kitchen, which we have described, was occupied by two persons. One was a woman, apparently about forty years of age, but worn down by pain and suffering. She had evidently once possessed much beauty; there were still the regular outlines, the noble forehead, and the large, dark eyes; but there was a tenuity in her features, a wasted appearance, such as to render the flesh transparent; her brow, when she mused, would sink into deep wrinkles, premature though they were; and the occasional flaring of her eyes strongly impressed you with the idea of insanity. There appeared to be some deep-seated, irremovable, hopeless cause of anguish, never for one moment permitted to be absent from her memory; a chronic oppression, fixed and graven there, only to be removed by death. She was dressed in the widow's cowl of the time; but although clean and neat, her garments were faded from long wear. She was seated upon the small couch which we have mentioned, evidently brought down as a relief to her, in her declining state.

On the deal table in the center of the room sat the other person, a stout fair-haired, florid youth of nineteen or twenty years old. His features were handsome and bold, and his frame powerful to excess; his eye denoted courage and determination, and as he carelessly swung his legs, and whistled an air in an emphatic manner, it was impossible not to form the idea that he was a daring, adventurous and reckless character.

"Do not go to sea, Phillip; oh, promise me that, my dear child," said the female, clasping her hands.

"And why not go to sea, mother?" replied Phillip, "what's the use of my staying here to starve; for, by Heaven! it's little better. I must do something for myself and for you. And what else can I do? My uncle Vanbrensen has offered to take me with him, and will give me good wages. Then I shall live happily on board, and my earnings will be sufficient for your support at home."

"Phillip—Phillip, hear me. I shall die if you leave me. Whom have I in the world but you? Oh, my child, as you love me, and I know you do love me, Phillip, don't leave me; but if you will, at all events do not go to sea."

Phillip gave no immediate reply; he whistled for a few seconds, while his mother wept.

"Is it," said he at last, "because my father was drowned at sea that you beg so hard, mother?"

"Oh, no—no!" exclaimed the sobbing woman. "Would to God—"

"Would to God what, mother?"

"Nothing—nothing. Be merciful—be merciful, oh, God!" replied the mother, sliding from her seat on the couch, and kneeling by the side of it, in which attitude she remained for some time in fervent prayer. At last she resumed her seat, and her face wore an aspect of more composure.

Phillip, who, during this, had remained silent and thoughtful, again addressed his mother.

"Look ye, mother. You ask me to stay on shore with you and starve—rather hard conditions; now hear what I have to say. That room opposite has been shut up ever since I can remember—why, you will never tell me; but once I heard you say, when we were without bread, and with no prospect of my uncle's return—you were then half frantic, mother, as you know you sometimes are—"

"Well, Phillip, what did you hear me say?" inquired his mother, with tremulous anxiety.

"You said, mother, that there was money in that room which would save us; and then you screamed and raved, and said that you preferred death. Now, mother, what is there in that chamber, and why has it been so long shut up? Either I know that, or I go to sea!"

At the commencement of this address of Phillip, his mother appeared to be transfixed and motionless as a statue; gradually her lips separated and her eyes glared; she seemed to have lost the power of reply; she put her hand to her right side, as if to compress it, then both her hands, as if to relieve herself from excruciating torture; at last she sank with her head forward, and the blood poured out of her mouth.

Phillip sprang from the table to her assistance, and prevented her from falling on the floor. He laid her on the couch, watching with alarm the continued effusion.

"Oh, mother, mother! what is this?" cried he, at last, in great distress.

For some time his mother could make no reply; she turned further on her side, that she might not be suffocated by the discharge from the ruptured vessel, and the snow-white planks of the floor were soon crimsoned with her blood.

"Speak, dearest mother, if you can," repeated Phillip, in agony. "What shall I do?—what shall I give you?—God Almighty! what is this?"

"Death, my child, death!" at length replied the poor woman, sinking into a state of unconsciousness.

Phillip, now much alarmed, flew out of the cottage and called the neighbors to his mother's assistance. Two or three hastened to the call; and as soon as Phillip saw them occupied in restoring his mother, he ran as fast as he could to the house of a medical man who lived about a mile off—one Mynheer Poots, a little, miserable, avaricious wretch, but known to be very skillful in his profession. Phillip found Poots at home and insisted upon his immediate attendance.

"I will come—yes, most certainly," replied Poots, who spoke the language but imperfectly; "but, Mynheer Vanderdecken, who will pay me?"

"Pay you? my uncle will, directly that he comes home."

"Your uncle, de Skipper Vanbrensen? no, he owe me four guilders, and he has owed me for a long time. Besides, his ship may sink."

"He shall pay you the four guilders, and for this attendance also," replied Phillip in a rage; "come directly—while you are disputing my mother may be dead."

"But Mr. Phillip, I cannot come, now I recollect; I have to see the child of the burgomaster at Terneuse," replied Mynheer Poots.

"Look you, Mynheer Poots," exclaimed Phillip, red with passion, "you have but to choose—will you go quietly, or must I take you there? You'll not trifle with me."

Here Mynheer Poots was under considerable alarm, for the character of Phillip Vanderdecken was well known.

"I will come by and by, Mynheer Phillip, if I can."

"You'll come now, you wretched old miser!" exclaimed Phillip, seizing hold of the little man by the collar, and pulling him out of his door.

"Murder! murder!" cried Poots, as he lost his legs, and was dragged along by the impetuous young man.

Phillip stopped, for he perceived that Poots was black in the face.

"Must I then choke you to make you go quietly? for, hear me, go you shall, alive or dead."

"Well, then," replied Poots, recovering himself, "I will go, but I'll have you in prison tonight; and, as for your mother, I'll not—no, that I will not—Mynheer Phillip, depend upon it."

"Mark me, Mynheer Poots," replied Phillip, "as sure as there is a God in heaven, if you do not come with me I'll choke you now; and when you arrive, if you do not do your best for my poor mother, I'll murder you there. You know that I always do what I say, so now take my advice, come along quietly, and you shall certainly be paid, and well paid, if I sell my coat."

This last observation of Phillip, perhaps, had more effect than even his threats. Poots was a miserable little atom, and like a child in the powerful grasp of the young man. The doctor's tenement was isolated, and he could obtain no assistance until within a hundred yards of Vanderdecken's cottage; so Mynheer Poots decided that he would go—first, because Phillip had promised to pay him, and secondly because he could not help it.

This point being settled, Phillip and Mynheer Poots made all haste to the cottage; and on their arrival they found his mother still in the arms of two of her female neighbors, who were bathing her temples with vinegar. She was in a state of consciousness, but she could not speak. Poots ordered her to be carried upstairs and put to bed, and pouring some acids down her throat, hastened away with Phillip to procure the necessary remedies.

"You will give your mother that directly, Mynheer Phillip," said Poots, putting a vial into his hand; "I will now go to the child of the burgomaster, and will afterward come back to your cottage."

"Don't deceive me," said Phillip, with a threatening look.

"No, no, Mynheer Phillip, I would not trust to your uncle Vanbrensen for payment, but you have promised, and I know that you always keep your word. In one hour I will be with your mother; but you yourself must now be quick."

Phillip hastened home. After the potion had been administered the bleeding was wholly stopped; and in half an hour his mother could express her wishes in a whisper. When the little doctor arrived he carefully examined his patient, and then went downstairs with her son into the kitchen.

"Mynheer Phillip," said Poots, "by Allah! I have done my best, but I must tell you that I have little hopes of your mother rising from her bed again. She may live one day or two days, but not more. It is not my fault, Mynheer Phillip," continued Poots, in a deprecating tone.

"No, no; it is the will of Heaven," replied Phillip, mournfully.

"And you will pay me, Mynheer Vanderdecken?" continued the doctor, after a short pause.

"Yes!" replied Phillip, in a voice of thunder, and starting from a reverie. After a moment's silence the doctor recommended:

"Shall I come tomorrow, Mynheer Phillip? You know that will be a charge of another guilder; it is of no use to throw away money or time either."

"Come tomorrow, come every hour, charge what you please; you shall certainly be paid," replied Phillip, curling his lip with contempt.

"Well, it is as you please. As soon as she is dead the cottage and the furniture will be yours, and you will sell them, of course. Yes, I will come. You will have plenty of money. Mynheer Phillip, I would like the first offer of the cottage, if it is to let."

Phillip raised his arm in the air as if to crush Mynheer Poots, who retreated to the corner.

"I did not mean until your mother was buried," said Poots, in a coaxing tone.

"Go, wretch, go!" said Phillip, covering his face with his hands, as he sank down upon the blood-stained couch.

After a short interval Phillip Vanderdecken returned to the bedside of his mother, whom he found much better; and the neighbors, having their own affairs to attend to, left them alone. Exhausted with the loss of blood, the poor woman slumbered for many hours, during which she never let go the hand of Phillip, who watched her breathing in mournful meditation.

It was about one o'clock in the morning when the widow awoke. She had in a great degree recovered her voice, and thus she addressed her son:

"My dear, my impetuous boy, and have I detained you here a prisoner so long?"

"My own inclination detained me, mother, I leave you not to others until you are up and well again!" (To be continued.)

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

Condensed Report of Week's Proceedings in Both Houses.

HONOR SEXTON'S MEMORY.

Legislature Adopts Resolutions of Respect—Bill Introduced to Give Women Right to Vote at All School Elections—Other Measures.

Friday, Feb. 3.

In the house the following bills were introduced: By Mr. Meyer, providing that railroads may operate two through trains daily without stopping at county seats; by Mr. Hamilton, to enable farmers to erect telephone poles; by Mr. Page, providing for six months instead of five months of school every year.

Saturday, Feb. 4.

Only five members of the senate were present when that body met and no business was transacted. Most of the legislators went home over Sunday.

Monday, Feb. 6.

No business was transacted in the legislature beyond the adoption of resolution of respect to the memory of James A. Sexton, the dead commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Tuesday, Feb. 7.

The senate unanimously passed the Hamilton bill providing for separate ballots for a vote on constitutional amendments and other propositions to be voted on, and the Humphrey annexation bill. Senator Campbell's bill authorizing the organization of municipal pawns' societies passed by a vote of 35 to 1. Senator Mounts voting in the negative. Senator Dunlap's bill for the extermination of the San Jose scale was unanimously passed, with an emergency clause. Senator Busse put in a bundle of bills amending the election law. Senator Milchrist put in a bill providing that where the indebtedness of a stock company should become greater than its stock, creditors might have an action against the officers of the company.

In the house Mr. Alling introduced a bill designed to give women the right to vote at all school elections. Among other bills introduced in the house was one by Mr. Rorig levying a 2 1/2 per cent tax on gross amount of premiums received by life insurance companies; by Mr. Donnelly, making telephone rates $100 for public telephones, $80 for business and $70 for residence telephones. Mr. Hackett wants a tax of $50 a year on slot telephones.

A Truthful Kindergartner.

Two little boys from a kindergarten in Boston went into a barber's shop to have their hair cut. Two men were there awaiting their turn. An exchange tells a good story of what happened. The barber said to one of the boys: "Run over to the store across the street and see if my assistant is there. Tell him to hurry up and come back, there are four men waiting. The boy went, found the man, and gave the message, except that he said there were two men and two boys waiting. Then he added: "The barber told me to say four men, but I wasn't going to tell a lie for two men." "Why not?" asked the man. "Why," responded the boy, "don't you suppose we have a picture of George Washington over in our kindergarten?" The teacher declares that she shall tell the story of the "cherry tree" with renewed interest and frequency.

Hindoo Vaccinated.

A distinction must be made between inoculation for the prevention or mitigation of smallpox, and vaccination, which is the grafting of cowpox, as a protection against the severer malady. Inoculation was practiced by Turks, Greeks, Syrians and Circassians long before Lady Mary Wortley Montague brought it to England. It was after this that Jenner made his so-called discovery of vaccination or inoculation with virus from the cow instead of from the human subject. There is, however, not the slightest doubt that true vaccination in this sense was long ago known to and practiced by the Hindoos as a preventive of smallpox, because distinct references are found to it in Hindoo medical treatises which are certainly centuries old.

Heights to Which Birds Fly.

Very few people realize at what tremendous heights birds sometimes traverse the air. Herons and wild ducks, geese and swans, when traveling long distances, fly at great heights, often as much as 2,000 feet. But it is the hawk, and more particularly the vulture tribe, that constantly wing the air at far greater limits than these. The common buzzard spies for carrion suspended a mile above the earth, and the great condor of the Andes has been watched through a powerful telescope floating at the amazing height of 27,000 feet, over five miles above sea level.

A CANADA FARM.

What a Former Resident of Idaho Says Regarding Western Canada.

Mr. T. A. Tolman, of Lacombe, Alberta, N. W. T., a former resident of Cascia County, Idaho, who moved to Western Canada in July, 1894, writes as follows: "I brought here thirty-four head of cattle, fifteen horses, two wagons, two sets of harness and one hundred and fifty dollars in cash. I homesteaded the southeast quarter of Section 28, Township 40, Range 26, west of the 4th Meridian, also purchased a quarter-section of Canadian Pacific Railway land. I have been farming more or less all my life, and I am convinced that you can raise crops 40 per cent cheaper here than where I came from. My capital at present, counting everything, is about five thousand dollars. The yield of my grain all round in 1897 was 60 bushels per acre. This year (1898) yield of wheat per acre, 37 1/2 bushels, oats, 50 bushels, barley, 35, and potatoes, 400 per acre. I consider that this is a much better country for a man than where I came from, provided he is industrious. You get a free homestead here, and Canadian Pacific Railway lands are cheap and the terms easy. I have now made my seventh payment on the land purchased by me, and am much pleased with my purchase, as the land has already much more than paid for itself. School law here is decidedly ahead of where I came from, and there are schools wherever there are settlers."

Pygmy Tribes in Africa.

A traveler who has lately passed through the country of the pygmies, in the great forests of equatorial Africa, says that he measured many of the little people and found none over four feet in height. They are strong, however, and fairly intelligent, he thinks.

PERIODS OF PAIN.

Menstruation, the balance wheel of woman's life, is also the bane of existence to many because it means a time of great suffering.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical pain, it does not seem to have been nature's plan that women otherwise healthy should suffer so severely.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science.

It relieves the condition that produces so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors. Here is proof:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—How can I thank you enough for what you have done for me? When I wrote to you I was suffering untold pain at time of menstruation; was nervous, had headache all the time, no appetite, that tired feeling, and did not care for anything. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of Blood Purifier, two boxes of Liver Pills, and to-day I am a well person. I would like to have those who suffer know that I am one of the many who have been cured of female complaints by your wonderful medicine and advice.

—MISS JENNIE R. MILES, Leon, Wis.

If you are suffering in this way, write as Miss Miles did to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for the advice which she offers free of charge.

The French Turmoil.

The latest agitation in French affairs has been furnished by M. de Beaurepaire, president of the civil chamber of the court de cassation, who has suddenly declared that his colleagues of the court are determined to show gross partiality for Dreyfus. This unsuspected and ridiculous episode, which has made all the rest of the world laugh, has only created a fresh breeze of excitement in Paris. It is asserted boldly that M. de Beaurepaire has been bought up body and soul by the Orleansists. But this incident is one of many that show the perilous condition of French affairs. The English papers with one accord are predicting a coup d'etat. The sober Spectator of London declares that all the chief influences in France are setting in the direction of an overthrow of the republic and the substitution of a dictatorship. The Daily Telegraph believes that France is on the eve of a revival of the Napoleonic regime. The Paris correspondents of the New York Herald and Times inform us that the life of Napoleon is being sold on the streets, and there is a sudden revival of Napoleonic plays at the theaters. Meanwhile the unsettled and portentous state of affairs is simply killing business in Paris. The complaints are reaching the representative French houses in this country, and hosts of Americans who usually spend the winter in the gay capital are now wintering in London. The American colony in the British metropolis is said to be this winter double its usual size.

Interest in the strange class of Russians known as the Dhoukhortsi has been increased by the news that Count Tolstoi has roused the indignation of the Russian holy synod by aiding these people to emigrate to Canada. This sect, known in Russia as spirit wrestlers, refuse to serve under arms from a religious conviction and are strict nonconformists in religious matters. Tolstoi, who is well known to be opposed to war, has interested himself in various ways in these harmless people and was instrumental in awakening a good deal of sympathy for them in this country by his pen. Mr. Howells among others raising a fund to help them come to the United States. Canada, however, made them a better offer, and now about 6,000 have left Russia for the western continent. As the emigration threatens to become very large, the government, and especially the Greek church, has become alarmed and has turned upon Tolstoi. The Dhoukhortsi are a combination of Quaker and Mennonite. All attempts to conscript them have failed, and exile has no terrors for them, many of them preferring to go to Siberia rather than bear arms.

Our naval officers are proving that peace hath its victories no less than war. In all the recrimination now going on in our military establishment they have preserved the reticence and sobriety of men who retain a proper sense of pride in their reputation as gentlemen as well as officers. They have shown a magnificent capacity for keeping their mouths shut, and when forced to open them at banquets in their honor they have resolutely refused to even criticize each other. Schley, when asked by an impertinent interviewer to whom the glory belonged, said with inimitable tact that there was enough to go round. It is not pleasant to be forced to say that the morals of one branch of our service are better than another. The two branches ought to be equal in all the higher qualities of discretion, respect for superiors and that kind of magnanimity which expresses itself in silence. West Point is not behind Annapolis as a school of manners, and when it comes to war the products of both schools should be equal in courtesy as well as in bravery.

New York is slowly making the discovery that it is a treeless city. Comparisons recently made show that it has fewer trees in its streets than any other American city, not excepting those that were built up on the treeless prairies. All attempts to plant trees in New York have been hampered by a sentimental pity for the trees themselves. No tender hearted man would ask a tree to try and grow in gas soaked soil amid the electrical conduits and the sewers.

A new remedy, which is also asserted to be equally valuable as a preventive in diphtheria, is now on trial in New York under the auspices of the board of health. It is alleged that it has been very successfully used in Davenport, Ia., where a resident physician, Dr. Braconin, was the discoverer of the treatment. Anything looking to the diminution of such a dreadful scourge as diphtheria at once takes possession of general public interest. The bad sequel so often following the use of the antitoxin, which has been bruited so far and wide, it is alleged does not follow in the application of this remedy. The agent is chlorine gas by inhalation. The gas is deprived of its caustic and suffocating properties by an emollient corrective composed of menthol, camphor, eucalyptol and methyl. It can be taken in this form without the slightest discomfort. The results have been so far very encouraging to the claims of the discoverer that in it is not only found a sure cure in an immense majority of even malignant cases, but a reliable prophylactic. The remedy is freely given to the profession and to the public and has awakened deep interest among medical men. It is asserted that even in schools, where some cases have had a chance to spread their infection, a free use of the gas has prevented all further ill effects.

There can be no doubt of the opinion of the country at large of General Eagan's ungentlemanly and intemperate attack upon General Miles. With very few exceptions, the press, irrespective of party, has condemned it as unprecedented and unpardonable, and the officers of the army are unanimous in their disapproval of it. The issue thus raised is quite aside from the purpose of the investigation and deals only with the extraordinary language of the witness. Whatever may be General Miles' convictions or facts, they were elicited in answer to questions and were given in courteous directness. Whether they can be verified or not did not call for any such insufferable outbreak as General Eagan gave way to. The assertion is made by The Army and Navy Gazette and is repeated in countless authoritative quarters that such a breach of discipline and courtesy as General Eagan was guilty of could not have been made in any civilized country except the United States without costing the offender his official position.

The launching of an American man-of-war at Newcastle, England, marks a new era in the relations of Great Britain and the United States, and the occasion was seized upon by distinguished Englishmen to emphasize the growing importance of the United States navy and the generous admiration that every Briton gives to its exhibition of Saxon pluck and discipline. During the festivities of the launching Newcastle was gay with the stars and stripes, and the American war vessel herself glided into the water with the royal banner and the American flag waving side by side. This event was not suffered to pass without one or two spiteful allusions from the Paris press.

The governor of Oregon, it is stated, has but one military company to attend his inauguration ceremony, and that company is composed of young ladies, who are to do the martial honors. Several newspapers are now protesting against what they call an opera bouffe proceeding and advise the governor to use the Sunday school children instead.

Not the least of the humiliating comments from abroad brought out by the Miles-Eagan affair is that of The St. James Gazette, which associates our military system with that recently made conspicuous in Paris and says that such a state of things could not possibly happen in England.

A Vienna paper is authority for the news that an American lady presented to the pope a gold snuffbox incrustated with diamonds as a New Year's gift. Inside the box was a check for $50,000. This story insists that the lady is unknown and that it gave rise to a great deal of speculation as to her name and identity. But all this is hardly credible, for no American able to make such a gift could long remain in Rome incognito.

For the first time in the history of the nation congress has voted medals to two patriotic women who staid at home and distinguished themselves in the war. They are Miss Gould and Miss Wheeler.

It is very doubtful if any of the food furnished to the United States troops during the war was as high flavored as some of the language that has been used to defend it.

Preparations are making for the visit of a United States fleet to Portsmouth, England, the understanding being that the friendly expedition has the approval of both President McKinley and Lord Salisbury. This is a perfectly safe and showy amenity and quite in accordance with the civilities of friendly nations. In their present frame of mind our English cousins will no doubt treat our Jack Tars with unusual honors. The date of the trip is to be so arranged as to take place after the queen's return from her annual birthday visit to Balmoral. Mr. Choate, our prospective ambassador, will probably have to do the honors in England on this occasion.

Governor Roosevelt's first move among the lawmakers will be to squelch some of their laws. He appears to think that the public can have too much of a good thing in statutes.

No less than six quick firing guns have been invented since the war with Spain ended. Nothing will stop the deadly ingenuity of our inventors but another war.

Don't forget the dance at McHenry next Monday evening, February 13.

We understand the masque ball at Volo last Monday evening was quite well attended.

Mrs. McGinty came out from the city to attend the funeral of Uncle Joe Glyneh Sunday.

Miss Zoa Nimsgearn of Fairfield spent the first of the week with friends in our village.

Will Dillion of Chicago was a pleasant caller in our village Saturday evening. Will has a good position in the city.

William Tidmarsh, accompanied by Mrs. Cole, went to Waukegan Tuesday to spend a few days with friends and relatives.

Mr. Gleason of Waukegan, representing the Waukegan Weekly Sun, was a pleasant caller in our village Wednesday.

Messrs. P. J. Maiman and J. H. Dryer of Waukegan spent the first of the week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Maiman.

A. R. Johnson and J. E. Pratt acted as E. A. Golding's agents, furnishing costumes at the masquerade dances at Woodstock Friday evening, and Lake Zurich Saturday evening.

We understand that Mr. Mathews of McHenry has rented the Kimball market for a year, opening the place for business Wednesday morning. Mr. Hammond has been engaged as cutter.

The W. C. T. U. ladies of Wauconda, will give a social at the M. E. church parlors next Friday evening, February 17. An interesting program will be rendered, and ice cream, cake and coffee will be served. All are cordially invited to attend.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The following bills were then presented for payment:

C. L. Pratt, for services as village constable for January, 1899. $35.00

It was then moved and carried to allow bills as read and orders be drawn on Village treasurer to pay same. It was then moved and carried to adjourn to the first Monday in March, 1899.

K. V. WERDEN,
Village Clerk.

AN OLD SETTLER GONE.

One of our oldest residents, Uncle Joe Glyneh, passed away Thursday morning, February 2, 1899, at the residence of his niece, Miss Mary Glyneh. Although he was in his 89th year, his health was good, and his sudden death was quite a shock to the entire community.

The deceased was born in Wexford County, Ireland, March 11, 1810, and in 1831 left the Emerald Isle upon a sailing vessel, which bore him to New York. After a year spent in the Eastern metropolis, he came by way of the Erie canal and the lakes to Chicago in 1832. The city which is second in size in the union, then consisted only of old Fort Dearborn, surrounded by a few log cabins. He had no capital, but possessed the farsightedness which led him to believe in the future greatness of the West, while his industry and enterprise won for him a competence. The first work which he did in Chicago was government labor, the placing of piers in Lake Michigan. After spending five years there he and his brother, Thomas, came to Wauconda in 1837 to the sight of their present home, known as the Glyneh farm, where they entered eighty acres of land, purchasing the same from the government at $1.24 per acre. The usual experiences and hardships of pioneer life were borne by him, but he overcame such obstacles and worked his way upward to success. He cast his first presidential vote for Martin Van Buren, and has ever strenuously upheld the principles of democracy. He was a member of the Episcopal Church and has led an honorable and upright life, winning to himself many friends, whose confidence and regard he well merits. He has always been of charitable mind, and no better citizen would be found in Lake county than Uncle Joe Glyneh. During his long residence in the community he has witnessed the entire growth and up-building of this country and has borne no inconsiderable part in his progress. A just and useful life has he led, worthy of emulation in many respects. The last years of his life were spent with his niece, Miss Mary Glyneh, who left no want unprovided and did all for his comfort.

The funeral services were held at the M. E. Church Sunday at 2 p. m., R. v. Dutton officiating, after which the remains were interred in the family lot in the Wauconda cemetery.

The bereaved relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

LAKE ZURICH.

Colder.

Ice making is over.

George Spinner of Chicago visited here Friday.

Adolph Geiser went to Highland Park Tuesday.

Harris & Foley are going to build a new tool house.

Sanford Bennett is now an agent for machine oil.

John Donlea of Barrington was a caller here Friday.

Chas. H. Seip of Palatine was here Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Glasscoe's people, who have been sick, are improving.

Chris Summerfield of Flint Creek was observed in town Monday.

John Forbes and Attorney Burnham were Wauconda visitors Thursday.

Moses Beach of Wauconda was a business caller Friday of last week.

Pete — of Palatine celebrated his birthday when here on his last trip.

E. S. Bruce, Charles Link, John Schulz and others have returned to Joliet.

Fern Manthy, Henry Miller and William Steffen are now attending school.

Mr. Heise burned one of his arms recently. John Dickson is assisting in the creamery this week.

Mr. Froelick, who has been seriously sick, is reported better at this writing. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Seventy-five couples attended the masquerade dance in Ficke's hall Saturday evening and everything passed off quietly.

David Loffner slipped and sustained injuries at the coal chutes. George Frank has been working in Mr. Loffner's place.

Henry Seip has bought his partner's share in the feed elevator, and will probably conduct same in his own name hereafter.

A physician from Chicago and Dr. Muffat of Palatine met at Mr. Froelick's Monday in consultation. Dropsy of the heart is the alleged disease.

A slight mistake appeared in our letter of last week, viz: $1.17 per hundred pounds of milk was paid by our butter-maker, which should have been 10 cents less.

Frank Roney shipped a carload of hogs to the city Wednesday, paying $3.00@3.35 per cwt. Courtney Bros. of Fox River, shipped a carload of cattle on the same date.

We are enjoying (?) uncommonly cold weather this week—23 degrees below zero Thursday morning—and business is consequently duller. The ice house built by Saunders Bros. of Ottawa for Bruce Ice company is nearly completed.

Gottlieb Nickoley, whose death was mentioned in last week's letter, died after a lingering illness, aged 76 years. The funeral was held last Saturday, Rev. C. A. Stark officiating. The remains were interred in the Long Grove cemetery. Mr. Nickoley was a pioneer settler and leaves a host of friends, who followed the casket to its final resting place. The heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended to the family in their sad bereavement.

LAKE ZURICH GOLF CLUB.

Messrs. R. H. Ritchie, T. H. Ritchie, C. B. Wood, F. L. Allen, George Olmstead, Robert Cook Lewis, Wm. Giles, members of the Lake Zurich Golf club, of Chicago, were at their Scotch game last Sunday.

For years golf has been the national game of Scotland. In England and the United States, during the last two years, it has become very popular. Several holes, four inches in diameter, are cut in the ground, arranged ordinarily in a circle, and from eighty to 500 yards apart. Each player (or each "side," where there are partners), has a gutta-percha ball about two inches in diameter, which he drives with a "club" from one hole to another.

The object of the game is to drive the ball into each of the holes in order, with the fewest possible strokes. The player is provided with several kinds of clubs to use when the ball gets into an awkward position. The player or side that "holes" the ball with the fewest strokes wins the hole, and the players or side that wins the greatest number of holes wins the game. Golf is a game that certainly deserves to be popular. It furnishes plenty of exercise for the muscles, combined with walking, and is a moderate form of amusement that cannot injure anyone, even those who are not much accustomed to exercise.

CARY WHISPERINGS.

F. Thomas was in Nunda Wednesday.

H. L. Grantham was in Wauconda Tuesday.

Miss Lucy Garben spent Saturday in the city.

Mrs. James Richter was in Algonquin Monday.

Frank Tomisky of Chicago spent Sunday at his home.

Miss Lousia Munshaw returned to her home in Elgin Tuesday.

Mrs. Flora Bennett of Dundee spent Tuesday and Wednesday at James Catlow's.

Miss Myrtle Robertson of Ridgeland spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Elsie Kiltz.

Lawrence Cripe and sister, Esther, of Chicago spent Sunday with Miss Estella Catlow.

Mr. Allen started Tuesday for St. Louis, Mo., where he was called to see his son-in-law, who is very sick.

The R. N. A. pleasantly surprised Mrs. Boomer Wednesday afternoon. They enjoyed a pleasant afternoon, although the weather was very cold.

Mr. Miller, while driving home Monday, his horses became frightened and ran away, and at a short distance they overtook Miss Anna Newbolt, driving one of the livery teams. The tongue of the wagon was pushed under the seat of the buggy, raising it and throwing Miss Newbolt out. She received some painful injuries, but is improving slowly.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking her first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at H. T. Abbott's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Public notice is hereby given that the subscriber, executrix of the last will and testament of Frederick Reese deceased, will attend the County Court of Lake county, at a term thereof to be holden at the court house in Waukegan, in said county, on the first Monday of April next, 1899, when and where all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to present the same to said court for adjudication.

JOHANNA REESE.

Executrix of the last will and testament of said deceased.
Waukegan, January 21, 1899.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, T. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poison, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by H. T. Abbott, Barrington, Ill. Guaranteed.

I will be at my office on Tuesday and Saturday of each week in my harness shop in Barrington, to receive taxes for the Town of Cuba on and after February 11. Taxes must be paid by March 5. E. F. SCHAEDE, collector.

True Greatness In Medicine

Is proved by the health of the people who have taken it. More people have been made well, more cases of disease and sickness have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla than by any other medicine in the world. The peculiar combination, proportion and process in its preparation make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself and unequalled by any other.

BATTLE FOUGHT AT MANILA

Twenty American Soldiers Killed and 125 Wounded—Filipinos Lose Heavily.

The insurgents attacked Manila Saturday night, the firing beginning shortly after 8 o'clock and lasting until broad daylight, when it slackened for a time, but was resumed and lasted all day. The fighting was tremendously hard at times. American warships participating from the bay. The insurgents were repulsed with heavy loss from their first positions, but rallied in new ones.

It was 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening when three venturesome Filipinos ran past the pickets of the First Nebraska volunteers at Santa Mesa. They were challenged and retired without replying. Once more they tried the experiment, were challenged and thrust back beyond the picket line. A third

At 2:45 o'clock in the morning there was another fusillade along the entire line. By this time the United States monitor Mohandock was in position south of Manila and opened fire on the insurgent line near Malate.

When daylight came the Americans advanced. The First California and the First Washington infantry made a splendid charge and drove the insurgents from the villages of Paco and Santa Mesa. The Nebraska regiment also distinguished itself, capturing several prisoners and one howitzer and a very strong position at the reservoir, which is connected with the Manila water works. The Twentieth Kansas and the Dakota regiments compelled the enemy's flank to retire to Caloocan.

Firing continued throughout the day at various points. The American losses are estimated at twenty killed and 125 wounded. The losses of the Filipinos are heavy, but no estimate of them can be made at present.

Though there has been no concerted uprising in Manila, several attempts were made in this city Saturday night to assassinate American officers.

NO ALARM FELT.

Reassuring Dispatches Received at the National Capital.

The natural anxiety of the authorities at Washington has been relieved by the receipt of the following dispatches:

"Manila, Feb. 5.—To the Adjutant-General: Insurgents in large force opened attack on our outer lines at 8:45 last evening; renewed attack several times during night; at 4 o'clock this morning entire line engaged; all attacks repulsed; at daybreak advanced against insurgents and have driven them beyond the lines they formerly occupied, capturing several villages and their defense works; insurgent loss in dead and wounded large; our own casualties thus far estimated at 175, very few fatal. Troops enthusiastic and acting fearlessly. Navy did splendid execution on flanks of enemy; city held in check and absolute quiet prevails; insurgents have secured a good many Mauser rifles, a ment yesterday night, which has continued to-day. American army and navy generally successful. Insurgents have been driven back and our line advanced. No casualties to navy.

TO FORWARD REINFORCEMENTS.

President Considers Adviability of Strengthening Forces at Manila.

Washington dispatch: Serious consideration has been given by the president to the advisability of strongly re-enforcing the land and naval forces at Manila. The battleship Oregon, accompanied by its collier Scindia and distilling ship Iris, is about due at Honolulu, and after coaling she will continue on her voyage to Manila. The battleship Iowa and the collier Justin are at Magdalena bay on their way to Mare Island navy yard, where the machinery of the battleship will be repaired as rapidly as possible, and she will then be sent to Honolulu as promptly as possible. At that point she will be available for service on the Asiatic station, and will, it is now expected, be directed to join Rear Admiral Dewey's command. Re-enforced by these two vessels Rear Admiral Dewey will have a squadron vastly superior to that of Germany, and only a little below in strength that of Great Britain in eastern waters.

Any regiments sent will be those of the regular army and the Sixth Infantry, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, has been spoken of as one of the regiments likely to go should more troops be needed by Gen. Otis. There are eight other regular infantry regiments in the United States available for service in the Philippines—Seventh, which is divided among Forts Wayne and Snelling, Camp Thomas and Jefferson

A WEEK IN ILLINOIS.

MINOR HAPPENINGS OF PAST SEVEN DAYS.

Joseph R. Dunlop Is Free Once More—Judge William P. Sloan Appointed to State Charity Board—Aurora Man Is Sued on Sensational Charges.

Release of Joseph R. Dunlop.

Joliet, Ill.—Joseph R. Dunlop, former editor of the Chicago Dispatch, was released from the penitentiary Friday afternoon. Mr. Dunlop left the prison in much better health than he came, but is still far from being a well man. Most of his term has been spent in the prison hospital, where, when able to do so, he has been of assistance in caring for sick prisoners, and made himself useful in various ways. No one about the prison seems to know what Mr. Dunlop's plans are for the future. He is very reserved and never talks about himself or what he intends to do on returning to Chicago. He was taken to the Joliet penitentiary May 4, 1897, to serve a two years' sentence imposed by Judge Grosscup of the federal court for sending obscene matter through the mails. Since his imprisonment his sentence has been shortened three months for good behavior. On the day of his incarceration he was assigned to the hospital ward, and from reports from the prison he has never been able to leave that ward during the twenty-one months that he has been in the penitentiary. Dunlop's punishment was imposed for violation of the postal laws in connection with matter printed in his newspaper.

On the State Charity Board.

Springfield, Ill.—As was expected, Goy. Tanner sent to the senate the nomination of Judge William P. Sloan of McLeanboro to succeed Dr. J. C. Corbus as a member of the state board of public charities. It was promptly confirmed in executive session.

Judge Sloan was much surprised when he was told he had been appointed, as he was not an applicant for the place. He was born and reared in Pope county, where he was graduated from the public school and afterward from McKendree college. In 1870 he was admitted to the bar and in 1878 was elected judge of Pope county. In 1874 he engaged in the banking business and was president of the Pope County State bank until May, 1897, when he resigned and moved to McLeanboro. At present he is president of the Hamilton County bank. He is an able lawyer, a successful banker and a leading citizen.

Capt. Alexander McIntosh Dead.

Joliet, Ill.—Capt. Alexander McIntosh, a veteran newspaper man and early settler in Will county, died at his home in this city, aged 77 years. He was born in Fulton county, New York, in 1822. He came to Joliet in 1845 and in 1847 started the True Democrat, now the Republican. He sold out in 1848 and in 1849 went to California, where he remained three years. Returning to Joliet in 1852, he repurchased the True Democrat, which he conducted until 1857. In 1856 he was elected on the republican ticket clerk and recorder of Will county for a term of four years. In 1863 he was appointed by President Lincoln captain and quartermaster in the army. He was with Sherman's army in 1864 and took part in the famous march to the sea.

Mr. Leet, who is the son of a deceased millionaire, married Miss Maude A. Gray of Sandwich, Ill., during the holidays, and is now passing the honeymoon with his bride in a handsome home in this city. Miss Nolley asserts that Mr. Leet paid her marked attentions during a period lasting more than a year and that they were engaged to be married.

Debate to Be at Monmouth.

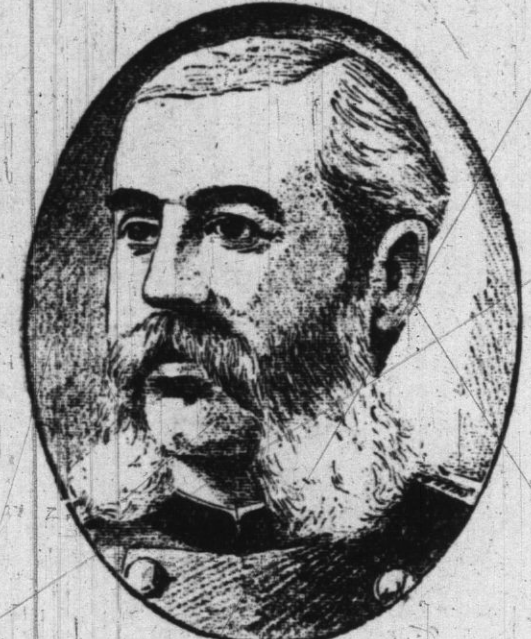

Monmouth, Ill.—The second debating contest between Drake university of Des Moines and Monmouth college will take place here Feb. 10, the subject being: "Resolved, That the cabinet system of the United States is better adapted to a popular form of government than the system of Great Britain." In the affirmative Drake will be represented by V. H. White, H. E. Van Horn and W. H. Goodwin. The negative will be supported by S. E. Irvine, W. G. Turnbull and Delmar Montgomery of Monmouth.

More Negro Mines at Pana.

Pana, Ill.—The city was again thrown into a turmoil by the arrival from Toluca of a car load of negro miners, fifty-five in number. Their coming, say officials, will be an incentive to more rioting.

time they approached the Cossack picket maintained by the Americans at that point. Corporal Greely challenged them and then opened fire, killing one and wounding another.

These shots aroused the insurgent line, stretching from Caloocan, near the bay, north of Manila, to Santa Mesa, in the rear of the city, and a fusillade was started at many points. The pickets of the First Nebraska, the First North Dakota and the First Montana regiments replied vigorously, and hot work began. The American outposts, however, held their ground until reinforcements arrived. At 9 o'clock the Filipinos attempted to rush the lines, and almost broke through the wavering pickets and breathless detachments which had hurried to their support. The Americans, however, grew stronger every minute. The artillery joined in the melee and soon from the bay Admiral Dewey's warships began to shell the insurgent positions. The Filipinos then concentrated their forces at three points—Caloocan, Gazalaingin and Santa Mesa.

At 1 o'clock in the morning the insurgents opened a hot fire from the three points simultaneously. This was supplemented by the fire of two siege guns at Balik-Balik, and by advancing their skirmishers at Paco and Pardaean. The Americans replied by a heavy fire, but in the darkness they could have little knowledge of its effect.

The Utah light artillery at last succeeded in silencing the siege guns of the Filipinos. The Third artillery was pounding away at the flashes of fire showing the insurgent positions on the extreme left. The engagement lasted over an hour. During much of the time the United States cruiser Charleston and the gunboat Concord, stationed off Malibon, hammered with the rapid-fire guns of their secondary batteries upon the insurgents' position at Caloocan.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Citizens Turn Out in Large Numbers at the Board Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Village Board held Monday evening, brought forth a large attendance to discuss the advisability of accepting the proposition of the Barrington Electric Lighting Company to pump the water for the village.

The meeting was called to order by President Boehmer, and all the members answered to the clerk's call, with the exception of Trustee Willmarth.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Barrington Electric Co., light	$63 00
Wm. Hager, engineer	40 00
A. S. Henderson, night watch	35 00
H. A. Sandman, marshal	35 00
A. L. Robertson, freight	2 19
Haege & Stiefenhofer, repairs	10 30
Emil Arnold, balance acct. special ass't.	41 50
Barrington Review, publishing	1 00
M. T. Lamey, insurance	40 00
Joo. Hansen, labor	50 50
J. D. Lamey & Co., material	65
Crewheick & Co., oil	6 00

A. L. Robertson, of the Barrington Electric Lighting Company, presented a petition signed by 43 of the tax payers of the village, asking the Board to confer with the Electric Lighting company in regard to awarding the contract of pumping the water for use of the village to said company, if arrangements satisfactory to the Board could be made. The petitioners were of the opinion that the cost would be much less, and that the removal of the smoke nuisance from the present location of the plant would be a great benefit to the village.

Mr. Robertson stated that the company would ask permission to exchange the machinery now in use for electrical pumps, the new pumps to remain the property of the village. He further stated that they would be willing to pump the water up to 18,000,000 gallons annually, in consideration of $75 per month. For any quantity over that amount they would charge 5 cents per 1,000 gallons. Mr. Robertson also advanced as an advantage to the residents of the village to let the contract to his company, the fact that they would do their pumping at night, and in this way give their subscribers the benefit of having electric light at any time during the night.

In the past seven months it has been found that the cost of pumping nearly 4,000,000 gallons of water has been about $500 or 12 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons, without figuring anything for wear and tear on machinery and oil used. The average cost per month has been $71.43.

After a general discussion by the Board and citizens present, President Boehmer appointed a committee consisting of the following citizens: M. C. McIntosh, F. E. Hawley, B. H. Sodt, A. W. Meyer, Geo. Froelich, E. M. Blocks and Wm. Gruau to make a thorough investigation and report at the next meeting of the Board Monday evening, February 20.

Since the Village Board meeting the question of letting the contract to the Electric Lighting company has received considerable discussion by citizens. Although many appear to favor having the electric company pump the water, providing it be done at no greater expense than it would cost the village, the biggest objection appears to be in the removal of the steam pumps now in use in exchange for other machinery.

The electric light company has concluded that the removal of the village's pumps at the pumping station, as they first thought would be necessary, would not have to be done, as there will be ample room left for electrical pumps.

HER LIFE WORK DONE.

Mrs. John Sass Passes Away Monday, After a Long Illness.

Mrs. Dorathea Sass died at the home of her son, L. F. Schroeder, Monday morning, February 5, after an illness that lasted for over six years. Dropsy was the cause of her death. Aged 81 years, 9 months and 20 days.

Mrs. Sass was born in Germany and was married to a Mr. Schroeder in that country at an early age. Six children blessed this union, of whom three survive her—Carl, who still resides in Germany; Fred, who is in business in California, and Louis, who conducts a hardware store at this place.

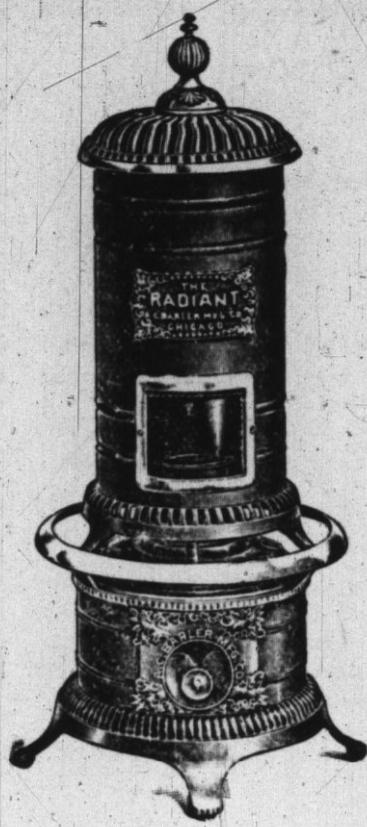

After the death of the deceased's husband in Germany, she came to America. She was married to John Sass at Elgin in 1868, and soon after moved to Barrington, where they made their home for several years. After the death of her second husband, she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. Kiest, at Elgin, until the latter's death, which occurred a few months ago. She was soon afterward removed to the home of her son, L. F. Schroeder, of this place where she passed into the beautiful beyond, where there shall be no more pain or sorrow.

Mrs. Sass leaves besides the three children already mentioned as surviving her, 19 grand children and 18 great grand children.

The funeral took place at the residence at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Strickfaden of the Salem church, officiating. Her remains were laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery.
