Mr. Filbert keeps improving each day and sits up much of the time. Dr. Muffat removed a small piece of bone from off the brain last week and a large one last Monday, which resulted in a decided improvement in the patient.

Senator "Billy" Mason contemplates resigning as senator from this state. He says he is not in favor of the views held by President McKinley on the Philippine question. It's too bad the president won't change his views to suit "Billy," but then McKinley is known as being a little more sound in his views than our story teller.

Harley Alverson, the 12-year-old son of Dr. G. W. Alverson donned his Sunday clothes Saturday and, boarding a train went to Janesville, Wis., to visit relatives. As his parents knew nothing of his departure they became alarmed and telegraphed to various places and finally located him in Janesville. His father went after him Monday night to bring him home.

The bankruptcy law should be repealed as soon as possible. This foolish piece of legislation is one of the poorest examples of justice ever placed on the statutes. A man can have his debts wiped out simply by scheduling his assets and liabilities and swearing to same; the court declares him bankrupt. Over 100 persons who had contracted debts which they were not able to pay at once, were declared bankrupt in the U. S. Dist. court in Chicago last Monday. Where the justice is given the creditor under such a law we fail to see. No man can do a credit business and be safe under such a law.

It is related that Professor Agassiz, in response to a request to lecture for a very handsome fee, declined, replying, "I am too busy to make money." Such people have not yet died out. The French explorer Marchand is of the same kind. Asked to lecture by an American, he declines a munificent offer. "My wants are few," he says, and he adds that if he could lecture he would give all the money he earned to beneficence. Then there is General Leonard Wood, who, though offered many times more than the amount of his salary as governor general of Santiago to accept a position with a big New York corporation, turned a deaf ear to the call of business and capital, preferring rather, at a great financial sacrifice, to answer the call of duty. There are other such earnest and self sacrificing men in the world, but there is room for many more.

Rudyard Kipling remarks that he once thought he was born to be an actor. That is the feeling which creeps into the hearts of a good many people in their callow youth, but the trouble is that lots of them get on the stage before they find out that they were mistaken, and then it is too late. Indeed many supposedly born actors, like many born poets, never realize their mistake, though the public is painfully conscious of it.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF DIARRHOEA.
A WELL KNOWN VIRGINIA EDITOR Had Almost Given Up, but Was Brought Back to Perfect Health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
From the Times, Hillsville, Va.
I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and also some testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man to-day and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. R. Moore. This remedy is for sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

Letter from Tracey Baseley.]

NEGASAKI, JAPAN, Sept. 10.
DEAR PARENTS:—I will write you another letter to let you know that we arrived here in good condition. We are quartered in a large warehouse, are very comfortable and have all we can eat. When we were on the Inshore Island about half of us had to sleep on the ground and the rest were in tents made from the sails of the ill-fated Morgan City.
The Japanese steamer Tatzami Mau came and took us from Noshina and brought us to Nagasaki where we are to wait for the transport Ohio to come from Manila. They expect the Ohio in port tomorrow or next day. It will take three or four days to put provisions and coal on board, so we will not leave here until the last part of the week. We were out on dress parade last night and marched around the principal streets of the city. Every street was jammed full of Japanese, Chinese and foreign citizens. This forenoon we marched out of town to see the country, and there is some beautiful scenery around here. The farther back from the ocean you go the more beautiful the scenery. It is all hilly around here, but the Japanese smooth spots and sow their grain and vegetables. I was taking in the sights of the town this afternoon and came across a place called "Seamen's Home," where sailors and soldiers can go in and write letters and it does not cost them anything. That letter I sent you from Noshina I sent without a stamp because the stamps I had got damp and stuck together and I had to throw them away, but I will not send any more that way unless I have to. It only costs two cents to send a letter from here to the United States, but it costs ten cents in Japanese money. One dollar of our money is worth two of Japan's, so you see a little of our money goes a great ways here. I had two blankets and I did not need but one at Manila, so I sold one for $2.50 in our money, and I think I will have enough to last me until I reach Manila.
I bought a Japanese pipe and pouch at Inoshina to keep as a relic of the place. I also got a little writing outfit for 48 cents in Japan money. It consists of a little leather case with two bottles inside and a jointed bone penholder and a bottle of ink. It is small enough to carry in my pocket and it is very nice, for I can use it at Manila and then bring it home and keep it as a relic.
As soon as the ship anchored yesterday about 25 Japs came on board with fruit, cakes, cookies and trinkets to sell, but I did not buy anything. Some of the soldiers traded part of their clothes for something to eat.
It has been warm today, but I did not mind it much. The climate is very healthful and the nights are nice and cool. I feel very good and am in best health and spirits. Am gaining in flesh and I weigh 150 pounds. So you see that army life is not what some of them say it is. Well, it is getting late and nearly mess time, so I'll close, with love to all.

Sgt. and Mrs. J. C. Price and son arrived in our village Sunday, having spent a week in St. Paul, during which time Sgt. Price, no doubt, suffered untold tortures to his stomach by attending all the banquets and receptions held in honor of his regiment. He brought with him several souvenirs from the Philippines, many of which are displayed in the window at Price Bros. store and are certainly a great collection. Among them are a package of genuine Manila cigarettes, a scarlet shoulder strap, taken from the uniform of a dead Filipino, two Japanese pipes, Mauser bayonet and scabbard, a pair of Filipino, such as are worn by the natives in wet weather, a Japanese fine comb, cigar case, Filipino comb, cartridges of the Krag-Jorgerson, Springfield Remington and Mauser rifles, three genuine tortoise shell combs, Filipino, Spanish, Japanese and Mexican coins, Filipino razor strop made out of soft wool, two Japanese scenes, one of a park and one of a temple, and a ring made by a prisoner of war. He also has a heavy cane made of mahogany, which he carried when he was stabbed. Sgt. Price was with his regiment about 17 months and has made an exceptionally good record as a soldier and officer while in service. He, of course, knew not what hardships awaited him, but he faced them all bravely and fearlessly and we are happy to see him at home in our village again.

The crossing of a telegraph wire with the electric light wires Wednesday evening caused an illumination for a short time near THE REVIEW office. Both companies' wires were burnt in twain by the heavily charged wires the ends of which fell to the ground placing the town in total darkness. The electric light company immediately had a force of men out and the light was again turned on in a remarkably short time but through a break in one of the wires, which later occurred at another point, the plant was again shut down for the evening. All necessary repairs were made the following day and now everything is in excellent condition. A couple of gentlemen from the country learned more that evening in one second as to the nature of electricity than they will care to again in the same way for some time to come. In making their way through the darkness they came in contact with a "live" wire which laid across the track. It necessitated a rather quick move on their part, but they were none the worse off by their experience, beyond a rather bad scare.

Heimerdinger-Furer.

A quiet home wedding was celebrated at the residence of the bride's parents on Jackson street at 11 o'clock Thursday, October 26, the contracting parties being Miss Isabelle M. Furer and Edward J. Heimerdinger, the knot being tied by Rev. S. C. Hay. Only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties witnessed the sacred ceremony, after which all partook of a delicious wedding collation and hearty good wishes for the future happiness of bride and groom.

The bride to this happy affair is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Furer. She was born and reared in this city, and has always made Woodstock her home. She is a bright and intelligent young woman, full of life and animation, and as an active worker in the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church she has always been faithful in good works, giving freely of her time and her talents in the interests of this society and for the betterment of the condition of the young. The efficiency of her labors has often been demonstrated in the entertainments of the church, in which she has drilled the children with rare patience and commendable self-denial and thereby earned merited commendation.

The groom is well known in this city, where he for a long time served the public as telegraph operator at the depot. At present he is a member of the firm of Heimerdinger Bros., dealer in lumber, coal and feed, at Cary Station, where he has built up a splendid business. He is an energetic, good-natured young man, of fine character and commendable ambition, well worthy of the bride whose hand he has obtained.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Chicago, after which they will take up their abode at Cary.—Woodstock Sentinel.

On Monday evening Emil Werzburger was brought to this city from Nunda, where he had been bound over to the grand jury on the charge of stealing a lady's watch, chain and charm and a small sum of money from the house of Fred Powers, where he had been employed, and he was placed in the custody of Sheriff Keyes, hoping to obtain bail by the aid of friends in Chicago. Werzburger claims that Powers had his watch, and that he took the goods complained of on the principle that "an even exchange is no robbery." Perhaps he will find that he was mistaken.—Woodstock Sentinel.

Town Lots in New Towns.

Merchants, doctors, lawyers and all classes of profession, business or trade, who are looking to a change of location, will find it to their material advantage to secure their new locations at one of the new towns on the lines now being constructed by the Chicago & North-Western Railway. They are in sections of the country that have hitherto been without adequate railroad and proper market facilities.

The surrounding country is enormously rich, and the towns are all bound to be thrifty and prosperous. Any of them will prove a sure money maker for speculation or business location.

These towns are all owned and managed by the railroad company, and the original low prices still prevail as an inducement to settlement.

For prices and particulars apply to J. F. CLEVELAND, Land Commissioner, Chicago & North-Western Railway company, Chicago.

Cows for Sale.

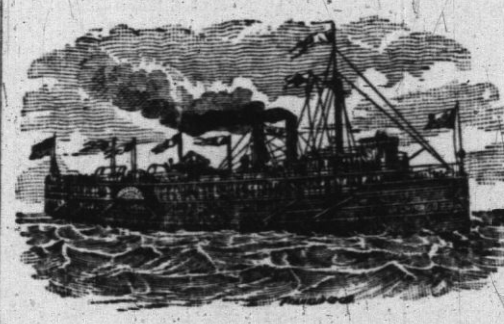

New milch and springers always on hand. For sale by head or in car-load lots. Staples & Nichols, Palatine. tf

The enforcement of the old Sunday law still extant on the statute books of New Jersey, though usually regarded as a dead letter, brings up a rather unique question in jurisprudence. The keeper of a restaurant at Trenton was recently arrested, upon the instance of the Lord's Day Alliance, for selling ice cream on Sunday. It was urged on behalf of the defense that ice cream is a food and, as the statute permits the sale of food on the Lord's day, that no misdemeanor had been committed. The local magistrate, who was evidently in doubt as to the legal status of ice cream, refused to dismiss the complaint, but imposed the nominal fine of $1, ruling that it would be important to have the question passed upon by the higher courts. Is ice cream a food? Is the momentous question which the learned jurists of New Jersey must now settle.

The success of the scheme for the utilization of power from Niagara falls appears to be assured. This is certified by the announcement that bids will be received for the construction of a new wheel pit. The pit now open accommodates ten turbine wheels, with an aggregate of 50,000 horsepower. The new one will accommodate ten more wheels of the same power, so that the aggregate will be 100,000 horsepower. Thus the power available from the great cataract seems to be almost limitless.

Not infrequently there are prairie fires within the corporate limits of Chicago, and some of the children in Greater New York have to walk four miles to the nearest schoolhouse. Those great cities might get valuable points by sending commissions to see how things are done in small villages.
