Dr. Muffat is slowly improving and is expected to recover rapidly as soon as he gains a little more strength. We hope to soon see him out.

The gun club held their first shoot last Friday afternoon and Robert Mosser came out best. Another practice shoot was held Saturday.

All persons had better take warning and securely fasten their barns and sheds each night. The fire bug does his penitentiary work on such buildings.

The Palatine maennerchor has arranged for a big masquerade ball for next month. Every member of the maennerchor will mask and other societies will be present.

Matt and C. Richmond expect to go to Milwaukee Monday to attend the annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association. They are members of the Chicago team and expect to give the crack Milwaukee team a hard game for the trophy.

One of our observing citizens called our attention to the fact that our school house is a dangerous fire trap. If fire should break out in the hallway the upper rooms would be cut off from escape. We mention it that the attention of the proper authorities will be attracted to the same.

A patriotic school entertainment will be held on Tuesday, February 20. For the regular admission fee a book has been substituted. Through the kindness of Mr. Mosser books will be placed in his drug store, from which a selection may be made. Lists of books needed in the various rooms will also be found there. On the list will be placed the price and the number of copies of each book desired. Should some of the books cost more than families are accustomed to pay for admission, two or more families can club together and purchase them. Our usual admission is 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. Mr. Mosser is not handling these books, the school has placed them there and all it means to him is a lot of trouble and no pay.

W. L. SMYER.

The suit by Charles Seip to recover commission for sale of a harvester for the McCormick Harvester company came up before Justice Whipple Saturday morning. It seems by his testimony that Seip gave his note for $200 for two corn harvesters and sold one for $115, turning the amount over to the company on his note. Seip says he tried to get the other machine but the company was so rushed with orders that they could not furnish it. They then sent back his note with cancellation on same. He tried to recover the $15 commission on the machine but the company refused repeatedly to turn over same to him. The company's attorney tried to show that Seip received another machine and that the note was returned by mistake. This was about three years ago. Attorney Willard M. Smith represented Mr. Seip. Justice Whipple continued the case until today, notifying the company that they would have to prove the delivery of two harvesters or pay the amount to Seip.

Charges Answered.

Editor Review: I was again attacked by the editor of the Register in his paper last Friday in regard to lighting of the street lamps. I get my orders from the village trustees about lighting the lamps and not from parties who don't even help pay taxes for lighting them. I would not care so much about the article, or the other ones, if it was not for his paper going out of Palatine, as everybody knows him here. If Mr. Paddock will call on me I will give him a pair of spectacles so he can see to go home evenings, or if he is afraid to go home alone I will go with him. I think I know how to light the lamps as well as he knows how to run a paper.

HENRY LAW.

Fire Bugs in Palatine.

Palatine's fire bugs were out again Saturday night during the firemen's dance. Wm. Voss, while returning to his home, discovered a blaze in Richard Downing's blacksmith shop, formerly run by Harry Hutchinson. He easily extinguished it as the fire had just been started.

Everything showed plainly that the fire was started by some person, as a pile of flammable material was piled up and gasoline spread over it. If the party keeps up his dastardly work a day of reckoning will surely come to him, as it will be only a matter of time when he will be caught and put in the hands of a furious and determined lot of citizens. Certain parties are being closely watched.

He Stood the Test.

One of the hardest tests given applicants who go before the civil service commission boards of examiners is in the form of printed matter, which is to be copied without a single change. It is said to be surprising to find how many intelligent people find it impossible to properly stand this test. They can frequently correct errors in language which they cannot copy, verbatim.

There was lately an applicant who showed his aptitude for this work. He was given a printed page and told to copy it.

"Want it just like this?" he asked. "Without a change," the examiner replied.

The man labored. The printed matter was on a white sheet and was spotless, with the exception of a fly speck on one of its corners. The sheet the student had was minus a blemish in that particular spot, but when it was turned in there was a well imitated fly speck. There was not a flaw in the work, and he received a rating of 100 on that portion of his examination and today is one of the best and most trusted employees in the service of the commission, where he was detailed shortly after taking his examination.—Washington Star.

A Difficult Lay.

A New England woman is the owner of a hen which appears to choose her surroundings with a discriminating eye.

Soon after her present owner acquired the hen she discovered the creature's fondness for stepping into the house whenever she could effect an entrance and laying an egg on the down coverlet which ornamented the bed in the "best chamber."

One day the hen managed to get in unobserved during a season of sweeping, and her presence was only discovered as she made her way hastily out of the side door, cackling with triumph, some time later.

As the best room coverlet had been out of the way during the sweeping, the mistress of the house looked about for the egg which she felt sure had been laid somewhere. She found it, after half an hour's search, on the plush mantel covering in the parlor, where the hen must have sat in state between a china shepherdess and a glass vase.

Nothing on the mantelshelf had been disturbed, although just how the hen had managed the delicate business will never be known.—Youth's Companion.

Merely a Question of Spelling.

He was the engineer of an ocean liner and prided himself on his knowledge of electricity. On one of his brief stays at home he accompanied his wife to a party. The subject of electricity coming up, he indignantly combated the idea that it was possible for two people to produce an electrical current through the body of a third by simple physical contact. His wife and a friend said they would prove it and, leading him to a window, told him to pull up his sleeves and place both hands flat on the glass. They then, on either side, took a firm grip on his wrists. At the end of a few moments his wife said:

"Don't you feel a pain, Willy?"

"No!" he replied and returned a like negative to a second and a third inquiry.

At his third response most of the company began to laugh, and it suddenly flashed into his mind that the pronunciation of pain and pane was the same.—New York Tribune.

The Bowery Critic.

The critic was the most prominent leader of Bowery society. He is slow of speech and hesitates, sometimes painfully, but when he does speak every word hits. He does not go about, as is the manner of less cultivated speakers, but strikes home with few words, mainly figurative. Although he is full of the instinctive aversions and tastes of a man of culture, he is a retired prizefighter and spends most of his time in an uncommonly dirty saloon.

At a ball which this leader of Bowery society gave a "hard walk" took place, in which there were contestants for a prize, to be given to him who was the most natural. Any one who should burlesque the walk of the Bowery tough was to be excluded. If the tough walk was to be given, it was to be given right.

"You must do it on de level," said the leader of society, giving preliminary instructions. "You must give us de real t'ing. Tain't no cake walk, dis hard walk. Walk jest as if you was walking on de lane [Bowery] wid yer bundle [gir] on yer arm. Anybody kin look tough, but I want you to look as hard as de real t'ing, de bloke on de Bowery, and do harder."—Atlantic.

PROGRESS OF IRRIGATION.

The preliminary work of the census office in collecting data relative to the arid and sub-humid regions shows that during the past ten years vast areas have been reclaimed by irrigation, both by ditching from running streams and drilling for subterranean waters. Where only a few years ago the sage brush, struggled for existence in the midst of a waste of alkali and sand, today are fields of waving grain and blossoming orange groves. Hundreds of miles of canals and ditches have been constructed; hundreds of wells have been sunk, and thousands of acres of land have been cultivated in zones where once the desolation of Sahara reigned. Moistened by fresh waters and fertilized by the rich silt of the swift mountain streams, once trackless wastes and desolate valleys in the arid southwest have become as fertile as the famous valley of the Nile, and send forth crops of endless variety and exceeding abundance.

Irrigation is intensive farming. Where the water supply is ample, it is sure farming. There are no failures, and crops are enormous. The experienced irrigator is like the trained engineer with his hand on the lever. The movements of his hand regulate the amount of water supplied to his fields as those of the engineer control his engine. In most of the irrigable sections of the west, fertilizers have never been used, although the land has been constantly cultivated for over two centuries. In many sections fields may be seen which have yielded successive crops of wheat for forty years and show no diminution of productive strength. Wonderful progress is shown in the methods of constructing canals, dams, and pumping machinery, and in the manner of distributing water. Modern inventions in machinery have greatly lessened the time, labor and cost of construction and management and made possible many gigantic enterprises of land reclamation and water utilization. Mountains have been tunneled and whole rivers have been lifted from their beds and spread over the valleys precisely as wanted. High up in the ranges and the elevated plateaus immense storage reservoirs have been constructed to impound the flood-waters of the streams so that the thirsty land below shall not suffer during the long rainless summer. As the successful solution of the problem of conservation of flood waters means the reclamation of millions of acres of public land, the people naturally ask the government to promote measures having this end in view. To this demand the government responds. Lands containing excellent reservoir sites have been set aside and a thorough study of the sources and permanence of the water supply of arid regions has been made to enable congress to legislate with intelligence upon this important subject. In aid of this work the twelfth census will endeavor comprehensively to show the present condition and values of agriculture in the arid and sub-humid regions; the length, irrigable extent and cost of the various canals, wells and ditches; the character, volume and constancy of water supply; systems employed in distribution; amount paid for water, and the crops, acreage and yield of irrigated farms. This effort will be successful if those interested in irrigation shall heartily co-operate with the census office and its agents. Within a brief period the main schedules for taking the census of irrigation will be distributed, and Director Merriam requests that all recipients prepare properly to fill them out and to return them promptly.

MAY RECOGNIZE BOERS.

It is stated in an authoritative quarter that if Montague White is equipped with proper credentials from the Transvaal government he will be received as its representative by the administration. Gen. O'Beirne's rejection was ostensibly due to his American citizenship, but there is no doubt that the authorities would have preferred that the matter of the Transvaal representation be left undetermined. However, when Mr. White calls at the state department Secretary Hay will see him, and his status will then be determined.

FORTIFYING THE CANAL.

It is reported that Great Britain will protest against fortification of the Nicaragua canal if that waterway is constructed by the American government. It is also reported that if the United States agrees to the non-fortification proposition or to the neutralization of the canal, Great Britain will consent to the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

REFUSES TO ENJOIN CANAL.

Chief Justice Fuller of the United States Supreme court has served notice on the legal representatives of Missouri and the city of St. Louis that the Supreme court would not be a party to any scheme for harassing Chicago or interfering with her sanitary canal project. Lawyers who attended the proceeding expressed the conviction after it was over, notwithstanding that the court permitted the bill of complaint of the state of Missouri to be filed, that the attempt to close the canal was stamped as a failure for all time. Chief Justice Fuller, speaking for the court, fixed April 2 as the date when the state of Illinois and the sanitary trustees shall answer the bill of the state of Missouri, but that is merely a routine proceeding. It does not mean that it will bring the matter to the point of decision, for the arguments will have to be heard at a later date and then the court will take its own time to hand down an opinion. If a decision is reached in a year and a half, the state of Missouri will have no chance to complain. Certainly no arguments can be heard before next October, and a strong likelihood exists that the time will be next January.

PASTOR LIKES WORLDLY WAYS.

The Rev. James C. McInnes, pastor of the Oak Leaf Congregational chapel, in Oakland, Cal., in announcing his retirement from the ministry, said: "I believe in dancing and a long list of other things that are tabooed by church-goers when indulged in by ministers. If a man needs a drink he has a right to take it. When I meet a man on the street I like to slap him on the back and say 'Hello, there, Bill,' in a good hearty voice. I believe in God and Christianity, but the church is full of false ideas and full of sinful hypocrites, and some of my friends here who might be called 'ushers' are infinitely better than those frauds of piety. The ministry is no place for a young man who wants his personal liberty. He must use too much hypocrisy and overlook too much hypocrisy in others."

Famous Writer Passes Away.

Richard Doddridge Blackmore, the novelist, died at Teddington Sunday. He was born at Longworth, Berks, in 1825. From boyhood Blackmore was deeply interested in horticulture, and gave much of his time to his garden. His earliest writings were on this subject. Nine years before he gave the world his greatest and best known novel, "Lorna Doone," he had published "The Farm and Fruit of Old," a translation in verse of the first and second Georgics of Virgil. Nearly all day he would work among his fruits and flowers, and at evening would slowly and with infinite pains add a few paragraphs to the literary work then in hand.

Workers Entombed in Tunnel.

The west end of the Third street tunnel, Los Angeles, Cal., which is under construction between Hill and Hope streets, caved in Sunday morning and entombed eleven laborers and bricklayers, and fatally injured W. T. Lambie, an inspector in the employment of the street department. The entombed men are: Jerry Mohn and Frank Eckhart, bricklayers; Frank Pelasseur, John Mitchell, William Pauly, Kimberley, Max Costello, W. Baden, John Bejoe, J. W. Washburn and Bert Garrett, laborers.

Mistook Friend for Burglar.

Toll Gray, a prominent young man, shot and mortally wounded his friend, Chas. Edward, near Owingsville, Ky., Monday night while watching with him for a burglar. Edward left the room for some purpose while Gray was dozing and as he returned, Gray, mistaking him for the expected burglar, fired, the bullet piercing Edward's right lung.

Death Revealed in a Dream.

John Morrison of St. Joseph, Mich., dreamed that C. A. Reeves, a neighbor, had died suddenly. At breakfast he told the dream to his parents. Soon afterward a messenger called at the Morrison residence and informed the family that Mr. Reeves was dead. He had been a sufferer from cancer for the last six months.

School House Blown Up.

While Thomas Derricksen was blowing out stumps at Shelbyville, Ind., Tuesday morning with dynamite near the schoolhouse, one-half of a large stump passed clear through the building, tearing a large hole in both sides. None of the children were injured.

Troy Traction Men Strike.

The conductors and motormen on the Troy division of the United Traction company road struck Sunday morning and the line has been tied up. The railroad has made no attempt to reopen the line. Extra police have been provided in anticipation of trouble.

He has no mission.—Hospital ship Maine, equipped by Americans in London, arrived at Cape Town.—London military experts believe Boers near Ladysmith outnumber Buller's forces.—Roberts ordered British to respect rights of non-combatant colonists.—Boers continue to shell Mafeking.

Monday, Jan. 22.

Fighting continued near Ladysmith. Warren made slight gains. Sunday's attack was not decisive. Buller lacks enough men and must make frontal attack or await re-enforcements. Report from Lourenco Marques that Boers are about to sue for peace; disappointed at non-interference of powers. Captain of transport claimed to have been offered $150,000 to wreck his ship. Resolution of sympathy with Boers laid on table in Iowa house. Latest estimate of Boer forces places number at 85,000 to 90,000. Kaiser said to have praised Boer policy of relying upon rifles.

Tuesday, Jan. 23.

Buller announced Warren holds his position. Artillery duel in which British claim advantage. Buller will make frontal attack. Battle may be in progress at Spion Kop, key to Boer position.—Pretoria reports Boers held their own in fighting near Ladysmith and checked British advance with slight loss.—American Consul Henry at Quebec said to have made speech declaring McKinley favors British against Boers.—Rosebery, in speech at Chatham, said war found country united above politics.—Boer positions at Colesberg attacked.—French steamer Gironde seized by British cruiser Monday was packed with foreigners on their way to the Transvaal to enter the Boer army. A wholesale expulsion of British subjects from the Transvaal and Free State is expected within a few days.

PEACH TREES IN BUDS.

Failure of Crop Seems Certain as a Result of Weather.

The continued warm weather for the past week has resulted disastrously to the fruit crop in central Indiana and the growers of fruit announce that the crop will be an entire failure. Peach trees are budding out and the buds on other trees are so far advanced that their ruin by the severe weather that must follow seems almost certain. Farmers say that the long and continued damp and warm weather has had the effect of greatly improving the wheat. Their fear is that if the weather continues it will make the plant prematurely tender and easily killed at the first freeze.

TAKE BOER SIDE IN WAR.

Congressmen at Washington Meeting Urge Interference.

At the meeting held at the Grand opera house, Washington, Sunday night, for the purpose of expressing sympathy with the Boers in their fight against the English, President McKinley, Secretary Hay, Ambassador Choate and "official America" were denounced in the most plain-spoken manner. Hatred for Great Britain was breathed by nearly all the speakers, among whom were Senators Mason, Allen and a large number of congressmen. Senator Mason made a fervent appeal for the liberty of the Boers and the Filipinos, and when he had finished the applause which greeted his remarks lasted two minutes.

Nickel-Steel for Boilers.
The results of recent experiments by Mr. A. F. Yarrow go to show that nickel-steel, which has proved so valuable for the armor of warships, is also an excellent material for boilers. The resistance of nickel-steel to the action of fire, of hydrochloric acid and of superheated steam, is far greater than is that of the mild steel of which boilers are ordinarily constructed. Mr. Yarrow estimates that a boiler furnished with nickel-steel tubes would last two or three times as long as an ordinary boiler. There would also be a saving in weight, but the cost would be increased.

Seaport of the South.

It has long been evident that the rapidly increasing movement of grain and merchandise towards the southern seaboard would demand an increase of shipping facilities on the Mexican Gulf. The most promising seaport city is La Porte, at the head of Galveston Bay. Peculiar natural advantages surround La Porte, notably its being the farthest inland seaport on the Gulf, having high dry land with perfect drainage and the purest artesian water, a climate unsurpassed in the south and an attractive city site. The American Land Co., 188 Madison street, Chicago, is interested at La Porte and announces the first general sale of property will be held Feb. 14-17, 1900.

I Had a Bad Cough

"I had a bad cough for six weeks and could not find any relief whatever. I read what a wonderful remedy Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was for coughs and I bought a bottle. Before I had taken a quarter of it my cough had entirely left me."—L. Hawn, Newington, Ont., May 3, 1899.

Quickly Cures Colds

Neglected colds always lead to something serious. They run into chronic bronchitis which pulls down your general health and deprives you of sleep; or they end in genuine consumption with all its uncertain results. Don't wait, but take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral just as soon as you begin to cough. A few doses will cure you. But it cures old colds, too, only it takes a little more time. We refer to such diseases as bronchitis, asthma, whooping-cough, consumption, and hard winter coughs.

If you've just taken cold a 25 cent bottle is all you'll need. For harder cases a 50 cent bottle is better. For chronic troubles, and to keep on hand, the $1.00 bottle is most economical.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Condensed Report of the Weeks Proceedings.

IN NATIONAL LEGISLATURE.

Hearing of the Adverse Report Against Congressman Roberts of Utah—The Philippine Enquiry and Other Matters of Interest.

Friday, Jan. 19.
The senate listened to an impassioned speech by Mr. Hale, in which he said he believed nine-tenths of the American people were in sympathy with the Boers in their war with Great Britain. Passed Mr. Allen's resolution inquiring of the president whether any representative of the Transvaal government had applied for recognition, and whether it had been granted or denied. Listened to a speech by Mr. Morgan in opposition to the financial bill. Adjourned until Monday, Jan. 22.

The house passed pension appropriation bill, carrying $145,245,250, after debate in which northern democrats attacked the policy of the commissioner of pensions.

January 20.
Saturday's session of the house was taken up with the receipt of the report of Roberts committee and the discussion of urgent deficiency.

Report of negotiations for purchase of Danish West Indies has been received.

Monday, Jan. 22.
Soon after the senate convened today a joint resolution was offered by Mr. Platt (N. Y.) authorizing the President to invite the government of Great Britain to join in the promotion of an international commission to examine and report on the diversion of the waters that are the boundaries of the two countries. It was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

This was District of Columbia day in the house. Before the day was claimed for business relating to the district, some minor business was transacted.

Several minor bills were passed. It was agreed that the estimates for the Rock Island and Springfield armories should be referred to the speaker for reference as an original proposition.

House committee favorably reported bill for election of senators by direct vote.—Senator Platt proposed commission to examine water boundaries with Canada.—Senate committee will allow Argentine reciprocity treaty to fall by default.—Witness testified he was offered $10,000 to vote for Senator Clark.

Tuesday, Jan. 23.
The debate on the Roberts exclusion resolution developed a new orator in the person of Representative Littlefield of Maine. Roberts made a sensational speech in his own defense. In the senate the committee on elections rendered two reports on the Quay case, one favoring his exclusion, the minority favoring his being seated. Senate ordered the commission of labor to investigate the international copyright law. Montana legislator testified he was offered $15,000 to vote for Senator Clark.

CHILD DEAD, WOMAN DYING.

Two Are Asphyxiated in a Room in a Milwaukee Hotel.

Milwaukee, Wis., telegram: Mrs. Mary Vadoski, a wealthy Polish resident of Manistee, is dying at the emergency hospital, and Mary Kanocock, her 5-year-old niece, is already dead as a result of asphyxiation.

Mrs. Vadoski had been visiting a married daughter at La Salle, Ill., and brought her niece with her on her return. Arriving in this city too late for a boat to Manistee, they went to Hart's hotel, at 161 Michigan street, for the night. This morning the odor of escaping gas attracted attention to their room, where both were found unconscious and the room full of gas from an open burner.

MASKED MEN USE EXPLOSIVES.

The Commercial bank of the town of Silver Lake, Ind., was wrecked Jan. 20 by masked men, who blew up the vault and safe with nitroglycerine. The croaksmen carried away about $4,000 in paper money. They were compelled to leave several sacks of silver, owing to a battle begun by citizens. These sacks contained $15,000.

Pro-Boer Resolution in Iowa.

There was a stir in the house at Des Moines Monday when Carter, republican of Sioux, introduced a resolution of sympathy for the Boers. Following a reading by the clerk, Carter moved the adoption of the resolution. Kerr of Grundy seconded the motion. The house was taken by surprise, and Wilson of Keokuk demanded that the resolution go over. The chair announced that the resolution was before the house, and Hawk of Jasper moved that it be laid on the table. The motion to table prevailed by a vote of 57 to 22.

LATEST ILLINOIS NEWS.

Posed as Monroe's Daughter.

Carlinville telegram: Mrs. Mary Colthar Monroe, who has been evading the officers and her sister, has just arrived in this city from Greene county, where she has been for two weeks. In November she met James Monroe, a stranger from New York. They were married soon after in Indianapolis. They went to Rochester, N.Y. She gave Monroe $4,107. He soon deserted her and she sent home for money. She returned home and placed detectives on Monroe's trail. He was captured in Chicago, and she identified him. He was taken to New York, and his wife followed. A letter was received by her from his wife in Evansville, Ind., from whom he had not been divorced. Since then she has disregarded the telegrams and letters from her attorneys to come to New York to appear before the grand jury. Finally she disappeared from her home with a strange lady, who represented herself as Monroe's daughter. This stranger pleaded with her not to prosecute her father, telling how sad he was in jail; his loss of flesh and sincere motives for the future. The grand jury was to adjourn Saturday, and on that day the strange lady received a telegram to come to Chicago. She was a lady detective and had enticed Mrs. Monroe from her home into seclusion until it was too late for her to appear and prosecute Monroe. Mrs. Monroe is the widow of Dr. J. W. Colthar, formerly one of the best known and wealthiest physicians of this county. She has several hundred acres of land which she mortgaged for the money she gave Monroe. Her relatives have instituted insanity proceedings against her in order that some of her estate may be saved for her two grown children.

Chicago Sub-Treasury Clerk Held.

Chicago telegram: Clyde Wallace has been held to the federal grand jury in $7,500 bonds on the charge of stealing a sack of gold from the United States sub-treasury in Chicago, in which he was a clerk. Government officers, who told of an alleged confession made by Wallace, declared he had asserted he received over $5,000 in gold when he made requisition on the vault clerk for $100,000 to be counted, and that while this was evidently an error on the part of the vault clerk, it had placed him in the way of temptation and he had secreted the extra sack. When he had taken out a few gold pieces, from time to time, and could not replace them, it is said he put the partly filled sack in his pockets and spent the money in gambling and on the races.

Bride 14 Years Old.

Alton telegram: Charles L. Miller of Alton, and Ollie W. Ward of Upper Alton, were married Monday by Rev. H. M. Chittenden of St. Paul's church. The bride was the youngest ever licensed in Alton, being 14 years of age and very girlish in appearance. Mrs. Sara D. Ward, mother of the bride, accompanied the bridegroom when the license was taken out and gave her consent before the clerk would issue the license. There arose a question as to whether or not the girl was not too young to legally marry, and the statutes were consulted. Illinois law permits marriage at 14 years, so the license was granted. The mother of the bride stated the father also was willing, but was at the point of death at the home in Upper Alton.

Gen. Wade May Stay in Chicago.

Chicago telegram: Gen. J. N. Wade may be made permanent commander of the department of the lakes, according to the opinion of army officers at local headquarters, being relieved in that event from command of the department of Dakota, with headquarters in St. Paul. The lakes department ranks second to that of the east and there is usually great rivalry among officers to be assigned to either of those stations. If Gen. Wade is not given the place it is predicted that it will go to Gen. John R. Brooks, until recently military governor of Cuba and at present in Washington awaiting orders.

Prof. J. H. Freeman Injured.

Springfield telegram: Prof. J. H. Freeman, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, was badly injured Sunday afternoon. After he was leaving the state house a loose horse became entangled in a wire which had been stretched along the driveway to keep people off the lawn. The wire in some way was wrapped about Mr. Freeman's legs, throwing him to the brick pavement. His head struck with great force, cutting a deep gash and rendering him unconscious. He was conveyed to his home, where a physician attended him. Although painful, his injury is not considered serious.

PRECIOUS METALS IN THE ARTS

Enormous Quantities Consumed in the Various Industries.

It is easy to ascertain how much gold and silver are absorbed in the coinage of the various nations, but the most careful estimates as to the quantities of these metals used in the arts and industries are only approximate. Statisticians in the treasury department of the French government recently undertook the considerable task of compiling the best information on this subject, and the figures they have reached are probably as accurate as any that have yet been published. Most of the gold used in the arts is for ornamentation, though it is also employed to a large extent for the most practical purposes, as in dentistry. It is doubtful if even jewelry consumes a larger quantity of gold than some other ways in which it is used. The consumption for gilding alone is very large. The films of gold leaf are very thin, but enormous numbers of them are applied to a considerable variety of manufactures, such as signs, jewelry, books, frames, furniture, pottery and other articles, and the aggregate value of the gold thus used is very large. The consumption of gold for gilding has considerably increased since electro-gilding came into vogue, both because more gilding is done and also because the new process wastes a considerable quantity of the metal. According to the French figures the United States consumes in the arts about thirty-one thousand pounds of gold in a year, which amounts in value to $10,000,000 in round numbers. France, however, with her prominent manufactures of jewelry and other articles of luxury, heads the list with an annual consumption of about thirty-five thousand two hundred pounds a year. Great Britain also surpasses the United States with 34,100 pounds, Germany consumes 29,040 pounds, Switzerland 18,900, Italy 11,000, Russia 9,000, Austria-Hungary 6,175, and Belgium and Holland 6,820. Perhaps one reason why the United States consumes in the arts a good deal more silver than any other country is because photography here, with its amateur branch, is far more extensively in use than in any other land. The chief industrial uses of silver are for solid silver plate and silver plating, mountings for harnesses and other ornamentation, and photography. The silver industries in the United States consume over five hundred and fifty-five thousand pounds a year. Germany and France about three hundred and thirty thousand pounds each, Russia 209,000 and Great Britain 208,000.

THE USE OF ROUGE.

There were many modes and degrees of practicing and questionable art and a curious little book exists, written about a hundred years ago, when popular opinion on the subject was already undergoing modification, by a "lady of distinction," who preferred to remain anonymous, but is vouched for by the editor as especially entitled by position and experience to receive a respectful hearing, which, dealing with the art of costume, includes advice on the proper use of cosmetics, says the Nineteenth Century. By this authority white paint, together with enamel, is unceremoniously condemned from the standpoint of morals and taste alike; while, on the other hand, "a little vegetable rouge" is permitted for the purpose of "tingeing the cheek of a delicate woman," so long as it is not employed for the purpose of deception. "What need is there, indeed," asks the writer, "for any concealment in the matter?" "It seems to me," she continues, "so slight and innocent apparel for the face (a kind of decent veil thrown over the cheek) . . . that I cannot see any shame in the most ingenious female acknowledging that she occasionally rouges. The one article of rouge is, however, the single species of positive art that, according to this somewhat arbitrary judge, a woman of integrity can permit herself, white enamel, painted lips and penciling of the eyebrows only exciting "contempt for the bad taste and blindness which deems them passable."

Both Had Excuses.

The teacher was partial to one of the pupils, but this morning they both came late and he had to call them to task for it. "How does it happen you are late, sir?" he asked his best pupil. "If you please, sir," was the answer, "I was dreaming I was going to Chicago and I thought the breakfast bell was the engine ringing." "Very well," said the teacher, glad to excuse his favorite, who was usually prompt, "that will do for this time. Now, what have you to say for yourself?" he asked, turning to the other. "Well, sir," said the tardy pupil, "I-I-went down to see Tom off."

A Gentle Hint.

The Barrington Review

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY

M. T. LAMEY, Ed. and Pub.

Saturday, January 27, 1900.

Mr. E. L. Godkin, who in retiring from the editorship of the New York Evening Post recently published his recollections of 40 years in journalism, takes a rather pessimistic view of the press and the pulpit. They have both declined. He says:

"The press has ceased to exert much influence on public opinion, and the pulpit has become singularly and sadly demagogic. According to my observation, men of ability have largely ceased to enter either profession—something which may be either a cause or a consequence.

"On the other hand, I think the progress made by the colleges throughout the country, big or little, both in the quality of the instruction and in the amount of money devoted to books, laboratories and educational facilities of all kinds, is something unparalleled in the history of the civilized world. And the progress of the nation generally in all the arts, except that of government, in science, in literature, in commerce, in invention, is something unprecedented and becomes daily more astonishing. How it is that this splendid progress does not drag politics on with it I do not profess to know. One reason, I fear, is that we have got into the way of taking material prosperity for good government, a delusion of which the bosses take advantage and which to most men is the sweetest delusion possible. There is no such fosterer of indifference to politics as a good bank account."

Mr. Godkin also says a few words as to the impression the existing condition of the country leaves on his mind:

"Clearly the election of the chief officer of the state by universal suffrage every four years by a nation approaching 100,000,000 is not simply a novelty in the history of man's efforts to govern himself, but an experiment of which no one can foresee the result. The mass is yearly becoming more and more difficult to move. The old arts of persuasion are already ceasing to be employed on it. Presidential elections are less and less carried by speeches and articles. The American people is a less instructed body than it used to be. The necessity for drilling, organizing and guiding it in order to extract the vote from it is becoming plain, and out of this necessity has arisen the 'boss' system, which is now found in existence everywhere, is growing more powerful and has thus far resisted all attempts to overthrow it. * * * The old statesman is defunct, and the adroit manager of elections has taken his place."

It is possible that Emperor Menelek of Abyssinia may yet make trouble and that after the South African war is over the scene of armed conflict may be transferred to the north. Indeed it is barely possible that there may be war in both the south and north sections of the dark continent at the same time, as there is no telling what the wily Menelek will do or when he may strike. It is too early yet to accept as fact the understanding just reported between England and Italy as to division of territory which Emperor Menelek claims as his own, but there is much in the facts of the situation to make it highly probable. England wants to get to the Red sea coast, and the hurt prestige of Italy wants to be set on its feet again and would thrice welcome English aid in the attempt. Besides, successful joint English and Italian action in Abyssinia would firmly cement an alliance between the two governments and add the Italian fleet to British strength in the Mediterranean. Great interests are certainly at stake in this matter, which must sooner or later be settled either through the arbitration of peace or the arbitrament of the sword.

The wine industry is on the increase in France. On the steep mountain sides along the Rhone, where only the most stunted vegetation seems possible, rich vines are growing. The soft stone is first blasted, and after receiving the rains of two seasons the vine is planted and produces a highly prized quality of white wine and the famous Hermitage brands. A dozen different varieties of wines are produced on the hillsides within an area of two miles, the qualities depending upon the nature of the ground and the exposure of Experiment in Profit Sharing.

The Milwaukee Gas Light company has put into operation a plan of profit sharing which other employing corporations might wisely take under consideration. The company announces that it will pay to each person who has been in its service a year, in addition to his regular wages, a sum equal to 6 per cent of the wages received during the last six months. Hereafter the company intends regularly to give to each member of its force a semiannual dividend amounting to the same percentage of his wages as the dividend annually declared by the company as a percentage of its stock. If the company pays 6 per cent dividends on its stock, each person in its employ will receive as a bonus 6 per cent on the wages received. A workman earning $10 a week, or $520 a year, would secure, on the 6 per cent basis, $31.20 a year in excess of his regular wages.

It is probable that the employing corporations, in most cases at least, would not be losers by the adoption of such a plan. One of the problems of the large corporation, as compared with the old style individual employer, is to interest its working force in the success of the business. The form of profit sharing adopted by the Milwaukee Gas Light company is well calculated to accomplish the purpose in view. As the percentage of profits given to the workers will depend on the rate of dividends paid on stock, every one of them naturally will have a personal interest in helping to make the business as profitable as possible.

Naturally and properly there come from the pulpit and the religious press, particularly at this season of the year, many admonitions to brotherly love among the nations and expressions of deep regret over the existence of war. War is, of course, always to be regretted; but, after all, it may fairly be remarked that the situation, when the whole world is taken into consideration, is by no means as discouraging as it might be. True, deadly conflicts are going on in South Africa and the Philippines, but they are both out of the way corners of the world, and the forces in arms as compared with the rest of humanity are close to microscopic. The conflicts of both the recent and the remote past were on a vastly larger scale. Nowadays, however, the minutest details of every little skirmish are brought to everybody's attention, and innumerable noncombatants acquire an intimate knowledge of the horrors of battle once confined to members of the military caste. All this makes for ultimate universal peace, of course, and therefore is a most excellent thing, but it also leads to not a little unnecessary despair and to much lamentation containing a considerable element of involuntary exaggeration.

In connection with the schemes of various nations to subsidize ships that may be used in case of war it is interesting to note that only France and Italy grant direct bounties for shipbuilding. France pays $1,000,000 bounties on construction, $1,865,000 on navigation and $120,000 to fishing vessels. Italy only pays some $400,000 for navigation and $100,000 for construction bounties. Britain pays mail subsidies, but these are not really bounties, but simply freight for mail cargo carried. Moreover, the payment of these mail subventions involves the shipping companies in heavy responsibilities, and the government payments for the most part do not directly compensate them, though, of course, they have the prestige of carrying the "royal mail" flag. Mail subventions are payments for services rendered. Bounties are payments for the sole benefit of the builder and owner of the ships.

This country is estimated to have 21,458,294 children of school age, of whom 70 per cent are in the common schools. In 1870 the school attendance was but 61½ per cent. The average school year has been lengthened 11 days in the last quarter of a century. Thirty-two states have adopted compulsory school attendance laws, and the good results have been apparent. These facts and figures are highly gratifying.

Professor F. M. Warren has been called to the chair of romance in the Chicago university. His salary is said to be considerably less than that drawn by the managing editor of an ordinary yellow journal, but perhaps he doesn't have to deal with quite as yellow romance.

A bounty of $600 is offered to the policemen of St. Joseph, Mo., for every highway robber they kill. There are some other sections where this plan might be adopted with good effect.

The Palace barber shop was given a thorough cleaning the first of the week. The matting was taken up, furniture moved outside and Barber Monaghan and Assistant Harris did some hustling for a little while.

Last Tuesday evening Henry Golding was tendered a pleasant surprise at his home, it being the anniversary of his 49th birthday and nine couples had made up their minds that he must celebrate it. The evening was most pleasantly spent at various social games, after which an elegant relay of refreshments were served. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames E. J. Cook, J. W. Cook, Jno. Golding, E. A. Golding, M. W. Hughes, W. S. McClain, E. W. Brooks, Arthur Graham, and W. D. Wentworth.

Three of our young men drove through town Sunday afternoon with their horses on the dead run, with no thought, perhaps, of the village ordinance relating to fast driving and believing that they had a right to do as others have done. Marshal Reilly thought different and didn't propose to have the ordinances violated as long as he had anything to say about it. He called upon them to stop but was given the laugh. Monday morning warrants were served on the trio and they were taken before Justice Fitch, who discharged them, but not until after being cautioned not to let it occur again, or they would suffer for their acts.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years constant use without a failure. For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

When he writes as he does in the Leader Courier, Osceola Mills, Pa., without fee or hope of reward, that "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts magically, and we have found none better in our household. If you have a cough, try it," it may be accepted as an honest expression, worthy of credence. For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

A MINNESOTA FARMER

Does Well in Western Canada.

Viriden, Man., Nov. 18, 1899.
Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada.—Sir: Thinking that my experience in Manitoba might be both useful and interesting to my fellow-countrymen in the United States who may be looking to Manitoba and the northwest with the intention of settling there, I have much pleasure in stating that through information received from Mr. W. F. McCreary, immigration commissioner at Winnipeg, I was induced to visit Manitoba in February, 1898. When I called upon Mr. McCreary he spared no pains to give me all the information, etc., in his possession, the result of which was that I came here with a letter of introduction from him to the secretary of the Viriden Board of Trade. That gentleman provided me with a competent land guide, and, although there was considerable snow on the ground, I had no difficulty in selecting three homesteads for myself and sons. Having made the necessary homestead entries at the land office in Brandon, I returned to my home in Lyon county, Minnesota, and came back here in May following, accompanied by one of my boys, bringing with us two teams of horses, implements, etc. Our first work was to erect a temporary shanty and stable, after which we broke and leveled seventy-five acres and put up thirty tons of hay. I went back to Minnesota about July 20, leaving my son here. I returned in October, bringing my family with me. I found that the land we had acquired was of good quality, being a strong clay loam with clay subsoil. Last spring I sowed 100 acres in wheat and fifty acres in oats and barley. (Seventy-five acres of this grain was sowed on "go-back" plowed last spring.) My crop was thrashed in October, the result being over 2,700 bushels of grain in all. Wheat averaged fifteen bushels per acre and graded No. 1 hard, but that which was sown on land other than sod ("go-back") went twenty four and one-half bushels per acre.

To say that I am well pleased with the result of my first year's farming operations in Manitoba does not adequately express my feelings, and I have no hesitation in advising those who are living in districts where land is high in price to come out here, if they are willing to do a fair amount of work. I am ten miles from Viriden, which is a good market town, and nine miles from Hargrave, where there are two elevators. This summer I erected a dwelling house of native stone and bought a half-section of land adjoining our homesteads, for which I paid a very moderate price. There are still some homesteads in this district, and land of fine quality can be purchased from the Canadian Pacific Railway company at $3.50 per acre on liberal terms. Good water is generally found at a depth of from fifteen to twenty feet. I have 175 acres ready for crop next year.

The cost of living here is about the same as in southern Minnesota. Some commodities are higher and others lower in price, but the average is about the same. I remain, your obedient servant. (Signed.) JACOB REICHERT.

A Modest Request.

From Puck.—Railway claims agent—So you claim $40 for that old bag of bones that was killed, eh? Farmer Slyone—That's what, b'gosh. Railway claims agent—That's the third horse of yours that has been killed on our road, isn't it? Farmer Slyone—Yes—an' two good cows besides. Railway claims agent—Well, the next time you want any stock slaughtered, you'll oblige us very much by letting us know a few days previously, so we can send around an experienced butcher, and thus run no risks of derailing our trains!

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A Pending Question.

Old man—Why don't you marry? Young one—Do you think a man could procure all the necessities of life on $1,800 a year? Old man—Of course, but not luxuries. Young one—Well, I haven't decided yet whether a wife is a necessity or a luxury.—Detroit Free Press.

THE TRANVAAL.

"The National Magazine" has made a new departure characteristic of American enterprise and push. Staff representatives are sent to different parts of the world to obtain material that will be of interest to American readers, and observations made from an American standpoint based upon the fundamental purpose of human interest. When the hostilities in South Africa began Mr. Arthur W. Tarbell, staff writer, was sent from Boston to South Africa, and articles from his pen will appear each month, giving details from personal observation and photographs taken expressly and exclusively for "The National Magazine." That the American people are quick to appreciate enterprise of this sort is evinced by a constantly increasing list of subscribers.

Tamed Tarantula That Does Stunts.

Mr. Goodin of Texas owns a pet tarantula which he calls Joe. The tarantula responds to his name and gives many tokens of intelligence and affection. He lies perfectly quiet on his back, lets his fangs be exhibited, and makes no attempt to use them to any one's harm. At his master's command he shakes hands with one of his long legs, and he loves to be fondled and petted. He has been in captivity more than two years, and apparently has no longing for freedom. He is large, cleanly in his habits and will not allow any refuse in his cage. He eats only once in three or four weeks and throws away his old clothes and puts on new ones once a year. His food consists mainly of large crickets and grasshoppers. Goodin is fond of animals of all sorts, and has a great control over them. Wild birds often follow him for long distances and other untamed creatures show a similar inclination.

If we may judge by the frequent conversations on the subject among women, there is today a marked revival of interest in embroidering—both in colors and in white; always a fascinating and beautiful employment. In recognition of this development, The Delineator—now in its 55th volume—introduces in the February number some dainty specimens of colored embroideries in an artistic plate, supplemented by designs and working instructions for the details. Lady readers will, no doubt, hail with great pleasure this initial installment of the new department, which would seem to cap the efforts of the publishers of The Delineator to make this charming magazine a delight to its patrons.

WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

MRS. BELVA A. LOCKWOOD, LATE CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Mrs. Belva Lockwood, the eminent barrister, of Washington, D. C., is the only woman who has ever been a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. She is the best known woman in America. As the pioneer of her sex in the legal profession she has gathered fame and fortune. In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, she says:

"I have used your Peruna both for myself and my mother, Mrs. Hannah J. Bennett, now in her 88th year, and I find it an invaluable remedy for cold, catarrh, hay fever and kindred diseases; also a good tonic for feeble and old people, or those run down and with nerves unstrung." Yours truly, Belva A. Lockwood.

Catarrh may attack any organ of the body. Women are especially liable to catarrh of the pelvic organs. There are one hundred cases of catarrh of the pelvic organs to one of catarrh of the head. Most people think, because they have no catarrh of the head, they have no catarrh at all. This is a great mistake, and is the cause of many cases of sickness and death. "Health and Beauty" sent free to women only, by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Strufe is grateful to the general public and the Keeley institute for their patronage and hopes her successors will do as well as she has done. The new proprietor comes highly recommended. Probably not more than one Modern Woodman in fifty knows what his society's motto, "Pur Autre Vie," means. It is an old English common law maxim, corrupted from the ancient French, and is freely interpreted, "For another's life." For proof of this, local Woodmen are invited to refer to Bouvier's law dictionary, vol. 2, page 488, to be found in any lawyer's library, wherein the maxim is fully explained. Head Clerk Hawes, of the Woodmen society, states that on an average he receives a dozen letters a week asking explanations of this motto. Some of the correspondents write to correct what they think is an error in the spelling, contending variously that it should be spelled "Pure Autrie Vie," "Pour Autrie Vie," "Pour Une Autrie Vie" and "Pour la Vie d'un Autrie." As it is now and has always been spelled, the Woodmen motto is correct—"Pur Autre Vie."

Stags Spend a Pleasant Evening.

The Modern Woodmen's stag party given in their hall Tuesday evening proved to be a grand success socially, as it always the case when this prominent society undertakes to entertain their friends as well as themselves.

The hall was taxed to its full capacity when the last of the 150 who assembled there arrived. The Forester team, composed of 12 men, entertained the members and invited guests with a beautiful drill, which was conducted under the guidance of Chief Forester Wm. Shales, in the early part of the evening. The foresters and their leader received considerable applause for the able and masterly way through which it was conducted. An immense number of card tables were brought in and the aggregation sat down and passed the balance of the evening at cards, dominoes, etc., sparing only sufficient time during the games to listen to a very interesting talk by Attorney L. H. Bennett.
