CURRENT TOPICS

3R VELING | ACTE : IA.

A medical journal calis attention to the general neglect of sanitary and hygienic methods in the management of sleeping-cars. There are stringent regulations about the transportation of dead bodies in baggage-cars, but there is no adequate and systematic provision for protecting living travelers from exposure to infection, although many passengers must leave disease-producing germs in the bedding or upholstery.

It is customary to cleanse the blankets and cushions of dry dust and cinders by subjecting them to powerful currents of air, driven by steam, but it is said that they are seldom so thoroughly treated as to remove the danger of infection. Unless railroad authorities take prompt measures, it seems to be the duty of state boards of health to interfere for the safety of the traveling public.

This is only one case among many in which "new occasions teach new duties." Almost every invention or advance in modern life creates situations which require the fresh application of old, eternal principles. It requires the strong pressure of law or of public opinion to secure the adoption of new and needed methods, even when health, comfort and life are at risk. Only the nimble-minded can keep up with the incessant demands for readjustment.

A GREAT MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

An "Ecumenical Conference" on foreign missions is to be held in New York, beginning April 21 and continuing until May 1. "Ecumenical," or world-embracing is a large word, but its use is justified by the fact that the conference will include representatives of the different Protestant denominations in all parts of the world. Nearly forty missionary societies are represented in the general committee, and it is expected that 2,000 delegates will be present. Among them will be missionaries from the more important foreign fields.

The chief purpose of the conference is to collect facts and compare methods. The reports, addresses and papers will be a treasury of missionary information for a long time to come. It is expected that the conference will stimulate interest in foreign missions among the churches and lead to a more generous support of them. In most of the denominations the gifts for the purpose, although large in the aggregate, are small in proportion to the membership. There are many wouldbe missionaries waiting to go out who cannot be sent for want of money to support them.

RUSSIA'S AGGRESSIVE ACTIVITY.

From Kobe, Japan, is cabled the report that Russia and Japan are again at odds regarding the former power's insistent demand for a Korean port, Some time ago Japan prevented the cession of such a port to Russia. Referring to this controversy, the dispatch says that the question has been reopened by the admiral in charge of the Russian squadron at Port Arthur. The Kobe correspondent adds:

"This demand has accentuated the differences between Russia and Japan. The situation is serious, and there are frequent conferences between the Japanese ministry and the war office at Tokyo."

At the same time there comes from Sofia a cablegram announcing that the departed for St. Petersburg. It is believed at the Bulgarian capital that the war minister is engaged in "concluding a treaty with Russia defining the terms on which the Bulgarian seaport, Port Bourgas, is to be ceded to the government of the czar, and that the convention will provide for the union of the Bulgarian army with the Russian forces."

HOW TO LIVE A CENTURY.

"Old age depends upon heredity. common sense and a good stomach,' asserts Dr. D. K. Pearsons, in telling how to live a century. The heredity feature, of course, is something a man cannot acquire, so no rules can be lald down for that. Common sense is a gift to some people, may be acquired by some, and is impossible of attainment by others, but naturally the doctor is not talking for the born fools. The good stomach is closely allied to the common sense, and the rules laid down may be said to apply to both. It tomach, so far as may be possible, four for Illinois. Five of these sevenand a good stomach is conductve to common sense. Thus we find that the stomach lies at the bottom of it all.

CHICAGO SPELLING BAD.

School Trustee Schwab Says He's Made

a Horrowing Discovery. School Trustee Joseph S. Schwab of Chicago has discovered that pupils in the public schools of that city are not taught spelling and he intends to bring the matter before the next meeting of the board of education. Mr. Schwab declares that the children have an original system of melling, which could hardly be called phonetic, a!though it is a "short-cut" system, and all words are spelled as they sound to the individual child, and declares that he is going to find out why the chil-dren are not taught spelling and will make an effort to have the methods in this regard changed by substituting for something else a course in spelling. He says it is too serious to overlook.

Turkey Bars American Pork.

The state department has advices from Mr. Griscom, the charge d'affaires of the United States at Constantinople, reporting that the Turkish government has issued a decree prohibiting the importation of American pork products into the sultan's possessions. This act of Turkey may serve to make the United States adopt more radical measures to secure the payment by the sultan of the $100,000 indemnity demanded of him for the outrages on American missionary interests in Armenia. Under the Dingley tariff law the president has authority to retaliate against Turkey for its exclusion of American products.

Another Negro Is Burned to Death. Sam Johnson, a negro, rushed from his house, near Anderson, S. C., Thursday night in his underclothing, which had been saturated in kerosene oil, a mass of flames. His shrieks could be heard a mile away. He ran down the road leading from his house until exhausted, and then fell in the road and died in a few minutes. So far as known, there was no one with Johnson in the house. His wife had been taken away by her father the day before on account of maltreatment at the hands of her husband.

THE TEEMING WEST.

Western Cunada Prairie Lands Being Filled with Excellent Settlers.

The salient fact that presents itself in taking a birdseye view of the Canadian West, is that of intense activity in every department. Whether the glance be turned upon the district, east of Winnipeg, the Red River Valley south or north, the Dauphin and M. & M. W. district, the Southwestern, or whether it take in the great central division along the main line of the C. P. R., stretching away out to the Rockies and from there bending north and south to Prince Alberta and Ed-monton, McLeod and Lethbridgewhether the examination be made in any of these directions the same activity, growth and hopefulness are observable.

The Canadian West is not only a good place to locate permanently, but it is also a good place to invite one's relatives and friends to come to. This is the spirit that seems to animate the West at the present time. and its effects are to be seen on every hand. To enumerate the towns where handsome and substantial blocks and residences have gone up this year would be simply to give a list of the towns and villages along the railway lines. And this movement has not been confined to these centers of population, but in many cases it has been overshadowed by the improvement in farm buildings.

So far as one can see, this is no passing phase, no repetition of any temporary boom following a period of good crops and fair prices. It is a movement more spontaneous, more general, more marked than anything that has gone before, and seems to indicate that the great West, like Samson, bursting the encompassing bands. has awakened to a period of activity and development that will surpass anything we have known in the past and which will only be paralleled by the opening out of some of the most fertile of the western states of the

Look at some of the figures. Over a thousand schools in Manitoba; and the number going up by leaps and bounds; something like 500 schools in the territories. Winnipeg as representing the gateway of the West, the third city in the Dominion in regard to bank clearings, postal business and probably in regard to customs, the customs return at Winnipeg running about 30 to 40 per cent greater month by month than in the fiscal year of 1897-8, the largest previous year for actual business entries, when over $900,000 was paid through the Winnipeg office for duty; the C. P. R. and Canada Northwest land sales together running over $1,500,000 for the year. and a thousand more signs show how the West has leaped into new life.

This is an inspiring and cheering spectacle, but it brings with it great responsibilities. The business men realize this, the banks realize it and have spread their agencies through every bustling little town clear out to the coast; the churches realize it, and one denomination alone has opened an average of about thirty new stations in each of the past two years, and will increase this in the year now entered upon; the government departments realize it, and there is talk of redistribution and additional members. The educational branches realize it, and new schools are springing up everywhere. Over 12,000 settlers came in from the United States alone last year, and these, with the people who came in from the East, prove the most rigorous westerners. They lose no time in developing their farms, in filling their grazing lands with stock, and in every district is to be found evidences of thrift and prosperity.

CHILDHOOD AND MURDER.

How Charles Dickens Painted Them in "Our Mutual Friend."

It is in the passage of childhoodveritable childhood, in which the famous Little Nell seems to me to have no part-that Dickens writes those words of perception of which literature would do well to be proud. Take the passages of several of the novels in which the heart of a child is uttered by the humorist in whose heart nothing ceases to live. These pages are too full for citation. But here, in the last word of the phrase, is a most characteristic stroke of authorship. "Pip," in "Great Expectations," as everyone knows, has taken food for his convict, and he goes to church on weight of my wicked secret I pondered whether the church would be powerful enough to shield me from the vengeance of the terrible young man, if I divulged to that establishment." Another word of precision is this: "Trabb's boy, when I had entered, was sweeping the shop, and he had sweetened his labors by sweeping over me. Here is another, and it repeats the effect of Mr. Vohles' sleeve, in a child's apprehension: "Miss Murdstone, who was busy at her writing desk, gave me her cold finger nails." "A sobbing gaslight," "Mrs. Wilfer's "darkling state," and "lurid indications of the better marriages she might have made" (wherewith she celebrates her silver wedding)-these serve to remind a reader of the thousands of their admirable kind. I cannot think that the telling of a violent accident (most difficult achievement of narrative writing) could be done more dramatically than it is done in the passage that tells the murder in "Martin Chuzzlewit." So with the half-told murder in "Edwin Drood." As by strong dramatic drawing in a picture, the thing is held. These passages of extreme action are never without dignity. Literary dignity is rarer in the pathetic mon, and that it would have spoiled the phrase of many writers as it fails to spoil that of Dickens.-Collier's Weekly.

Advice to Those Who Contemplate Go

American women who contemplate

going to the Philippines need have no fear in regard to health if they carefully consider the situation, its requirements in the matter of food and clothing, and the house one is to live in. It is foolish to take much furniture, as it would be useless to attempt to furnish a house in the tropics simflar to one here. Furniture absorbs heat, and the less of it there is around, the better. Carpets are not wanted, either, unless one wishes to start a "moth farm." Much ornamentation about the walls is objectionable for the same reason as furniture, and leather articles, lace curtains, photographs and paintings rot from the dampness, and may as well be left at home. Polished wood, matting and marble should furnish the tropical home as much as possible. They have a curious yet effective way of building a house in the tropics. The house is built, then about three yards over and around it is built a shell, or outer wall. This prevents the sun and rain

from getting at the walls of the house proper, and allows a place for the cooling draughts to circulate. A bathroom in the house for frequent baths

is an absolute necessity. In the matter of food, alcohol and meat should be taken as little as possible. Coffee, too, is bad, because it has too great an effect on the nerves. Fresh vegetables are eaten little, being replaced

generally by rice. Preserved butter, condensed milk, canned vegetables,

native fruits, chicken and fish are the chief articles of diet. Curiously and need little looking after and little clothing. In fact, the less clothing for any one, the better. Duck, linen and silk are the best materials, and flan-greatest importance. White is the best color for clothing, and the ever popular shirt waist and separate skirt seem to be as great favorites in the is the great foe of white folk in the Inflicted by Indians During a Seven-day Medicine Dauce.

Tacoma (Wash.) Cor. Chicago Inter Deean: The Yakima Indians have closed a seven-day medicine dance near Toppenish. A peculiar feature of this dance, and one that the neighboring white people supposed existed only in the minds of the dime-novel writers, is self-inflicted torture of the participants. It has a deep religious significance for them. Of course, not all of the Yakima Indians take part in these barbarous practices. Many of them are well educated men and women and live much as their white neighbors do. The Indians who tortured themselves this week included several young bucks who have been away to school. Returning home they relapsed into savagery and discarded white men's dress for blankets and feathers. All of the dancers inflicted numerous wounds upon themselves with knives, stones and sharpened sticks. Cutting holes in their flesh, they inserted thongs of leather through them and pulled at these thongs until the flesh gave way. Some of them stopped only when physically exhausted. A buck about 30 years old held out the longest and was declared the tribe's head medicine man for the next three years.

Mr. Beecher tucked one of his legs under the other, and, nursing one knee, said slowly: "I've noticed all my life that ministers who are always taking care of their influence never have much influence to take care of. Very early in my ministry I made up my mind to take care of my work and let the Lord take care of my influence. ### Density of Population.

Dr. Supan, a German statistician, estimates the total population of Europe at 381,000,000. These are the figures in his portion of the statistical volume, "Die Bevolkerung der Erde," which is about to be issued by the Perthes Geographical establishment at Gotha, Germany. In a similar volume published by the same authorities in 1870 the population of Europe at that time was estimated at 302,000,000, which indicates an increase of 79,000,-000 in 30 years, or an annual average of 2,630,000. This is in addition to the constant outpouring of emigrants to America and other foreign countries. Dr. Supan estimates the mean density of population at 39 inhabitants for every square kilometer, about 250 acres, in Europe. The mean density ' in the United States in 1890 was 7 to the square kilometer. Belgium remains the mostly densely populated country, with 224 to the square kilometer, Netherlands coming next, with 152; Great Britain has 128; Italy, 111; Germany, 97; Switzerland, 76; France, 71, and Austria-Hungary, 70.

, In commenting on Dr. Supan's figures the New York Sun calls attention to the rapid increase of urban population. In all the leading countries of Europe, excepting Russia and Switzerland, from one-fifth to more now live in cities of 50,000 or more.

The factory system, the railroads and than one-third of the total population similar inventions have produced this and just account, verified by oath, of result all over the world. In the United States in 1790 only 3.14 per cent of the people lived in towns of 10,000 or more inhabitants, while in Australia in 1891, with about the same population (3,800,000), 33.20 per cent lived in towns of 10,000 or more residents. The rearrangement of the European populations on this new basis permits of a population which, half a century ago, would have resulted in disastrous overcrowding.

"By the help of God and by the bravy of her majesty's soldiers the troops under my command have taken possession of Bloemfontein." Thus Lord Roberts prefaces the report of his entry into the Orange Free State capital. To persons of a devout turn of mind this must sound almost blasphemous. It is all right enough for Lord Roberts to praise the valor of his soldiersdoubtless they deserve it-and he may well thank her majesty's government for sending him a force which in men and munitions vastly outclassed that of his enemy, but to accuse God of having any hand in the carnage which made possible the event which he exultantly reports to the London war office is to cast a cloud upon divine jus-tice and beneficence. The humble and the account or report herein desigdevout farmer soldiers, fighting to the last ditch against tremendous odds for the dearly bought and highly prized heritage, put their trust in the same God, and more implicitly, too, than the Britons. If, as Tennyson recites, simple faith counts for more than Norman blood, surely the little republics struggling to maintain an existence have as much right to ask and expect the help of God as has the great and powerful nation which seeks their destruction. There are some things in the economy of the Infinite Ruler that we cannot understand, and it is perhaps just as well that we cannot, but the assumption of nations or men, in their quarrels with their fellow nations or fellow men, that God is on their side and that the divine plan is laid out for their especial benefit approaches sacrilege.

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whenever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold, we begin to use the Cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill, for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. MEARKLE, General Merchant and Farmer, Mattie, Bedford county, Pa. For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palstine.

Pilgrim, Chapter 7.

Moses on Nebo had no view than Barrington people have every day from the sloping heights that environ the town. Chicago could scarcely dream in fancy that only 25 miles from their monotonous level that there were natural observatories that take in landscapes, lakes, forests, countless palatial homes and populous villa's, all in one view.

Human eyes are so wonderful in winging souls to instantly traverse vast spaces of embellished beauty. that there is nothing more delicately charming than a good pair of eyes, blue, black or gray. The eye, that can practically in a moment be cast to a star while a swift cannon ball unchecked, would require thousands of years to complete the same journey, is a miraculous optical endowment. Now such eyes have their gaze satiated with an earthly paradise from the hill tops around Barrington. When horrid wintershall have jielded to flowery June and the brussel-carpeted meadows are fresh from the looms of creation and the green umbrella of forest shall arch above valley and kopje, then the visions round about Barrington will be complete. Neither did the village denizens forget, long ago, in esthetical taste to line their streets and lawns with leafy trees as the temples of singing birds and sweet children.

Don't Be Funny.

It does not pay. If you have a good thing, tell it right out. Don't use false means to attract attention. We say "right out" and mean it, too, that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will cure every case of stomach trouble. It will stop any pain caused by indigestion: it knocks sick headache by attacking the cause of the complaint and aids you to digest your food, no matter what you eat.

Osgood, Mo., Oct. 28, 1899. PEPSIN SYRUP Co., Monticello, Ill. GENTLEMEN:—I have used Syrup Pepsin for some time and find it gives Pepsin for some time and and it gives most excellent results and it is one of the greatest selling preparations I have ever carried in stock. ### MAGNETIC POLE IS LOCATED. Southern Cross Arrives with the Borch grevink Party.

The exploring steamer Southern Cross, bearing C. E. Borchgrevink and the survivors of the south polar expedition fitted out in 1898 by Sir George Newnes of London, arrived at Campbell Town, near Bluff Harbor, New Zealand, Sunday. Mr. Borchgfevink reports that the magnetic pole has been located. N. Hansen, one of the zoologists who started with the expedition, died on the voyage.

The Borchgrevink expedition left Hobart, Tasmania, for the antarctic region on Dec. 19, 1898. During the latter part of February, 1899, the members landed from the Southern Cross near Cape Adair, Victorialand, it having been arranged that the steamer should leave them there with full equipment of every kind and should return for them early in 1900.

TO TAX PUERTO RICO COFFEE. Senate Adopts an Amendment to the Puerto Rican Bill.

The senate on Thursday adopted the amendment to the Puerso Rico bill, imposing a tariff of 5 cents a pound on all coffee imported into the island, and defeated an amendment to strike out the clause levying a tax of 15 per cent of the Dingley rates on all 25 cents per ton May 1. imports from Puerto Rico. The vote on the coffee amendment was 13 to 32, and the vote on the motion to strike out the tariff section was 16 to 33. Senator Wellington was the only republican who voted for it. None of the other republican senators who have declared their hostility to the tariff were recorded as voting. They let their general pairs stand, and in that way were counted against the motion, hence it is not regarded as a test vote.

A WEEK IN ILLINOIS.

RECORD OF HAPPENINGS FOR SEVEN DAYS.

May Release Many Convicts - Point Raised in the Case of Former Banker Dreyer-The Threatened Strike at Pana May Be Warded Off.

Chicago.—On the decision of Judge Dunne in regard to the contention of the attorneys of former Banker E. S. Dreyer, now under a penitentiary sentence for embezzlement of $316,000 of the funds of the West park board, may depend the liberty of every convict sent to Joliet from Cook county since 1895. Dreyer's attorneys claim that the mitimus in their client's case-which provided that he should be confined until released by the state board of pardons -was an error in that the parole law of 1895 provided that the state board of pardons had no authority to release, but only to recommend such action to the governor, constituted an error sufficient to warrant his release. Dreyer's attorneys have also raised the technical point that Dreyer was twice placed in jeopardy by the dismissal of the jury in a former trial before a decision had been reached. When Attorney Mayer finished his argument Judge Dunne asked the state's attorneys if the mittimi were printed forms. Upon receiving the reply that all prisoners were sent to Joliet on this form of mittimus, the court replied:

"If Mr. Mayer's contention is true, there will not be many men from Cook county left in Joliet."

Benjamin F. Coffman Captured.

Harrisburg.-Deputy Sheriff Andrew Reynolds arrested Benjamin F. Coffman, a pominent citizen of Lincoln, Ill., at Grayville, Ill., and brought him to this city on a warrant sworn out by W. S. Mitchell charging him with working a confidence game in obtaining a signature to a deed under false pretenses. Reynolds had chased Coffman to Evansville, Ind. Coffman learned the officers were on his trail, and he boarded a Peoria, Decatur & Evansville train for Chicago. A telegram was sent to Grayville to hold the train, and on the arrival of the officer he was found secreted in a toilet room. Upon his refusal to open the door the bolt was broken, the prisoner disarmed and placed in the holdover. When brought here he was placed under a bond of $1,200 until the preliminary trial, which will be held April 7.

Concession to Pana Miners.

Pana.-An agreement between the state officials of the United Mine Workers of America, and the local coal operators has been reached. The miners received every concession asked for, and the scale price will be 40 cents, the scale fixed for the Fourth district. All top men and workers will receive a substantial advance in wages. All mines will shut down April 1, for one month for repairs, and the miners will then receive steady work for the ensuing year. The coal companies will advance all grades of coa!

Andrew Jackson's Neighbor.

Alto Pass.-Mrs. Polly Sanders died here, aged 84 years. She was born in Rockingham county, N. C., and was acquainted with Andrew Jackson during her girlhood. She lived on a farm adjoining his. She boarded Union soldiers at Cape Girardeau, Mo., during the civil war, and frequently eluded the guards. She crossed the Mississippi river and walked to Carbondale, Ill., a distance of thirty miles. She could neither read nor write, but was one of the shrewdest and strongest characters in southern Illinois. She lived here about thirty-five years.

It Is Not Hypoerisy. It is not difficult to conceive. Dr.

Johnson once said, that a man writes much better than he lives. It is much easier to design than to perform. A man proposes his schemes of life in a state of abstraction and disengagement, exempt from the enticements of hope, the solicitations of affection, the importunities of appetite, or the depressions of fear, and is in the same state with him that teaches upon the land the art of navigation, to whom the sea is always smooth and the wind always prosperous. Nothing is more unjust, however common, than to charge with hypocrisy him that expresses zeal for those virtues which he neglects to practice; since he may be sincere, convinced of the advantages of conquering his passions, without having yet obtained the victory, as a man may be confident of the advantages of a voyage or a journey without having courage or industry to undertake it, and yet may honestly recommend to others those attempts which he neglects himself.

Just Like Brave Bill Anthony. During a fire drill at the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., Cadet Stephen P. Rowan fell and the steam engine ran over him and broke his arm. Rowan, after he had fallen, forced his head and body out of the track of the moving engine, otherwise the accident would probably have been a fatal one. As soon as the engine had passed Rowan jumped to his feet, saluted Lieutenant-Commander Stoney, the officer in charge of the drill, and said: "I have broken my arm, sir."

ALCOHOL IN FRANCE.

Drink Is Making Pearful Havoe Among the People.

A French scientist charges that alcoholism threatens the entire civilized world, and in France it has wrought its greatest mischief. The life of France is being sapped by the scourge. It has already resulted in a frightful increase in suicides, the insane and criminals. In 1898 France consumed over 53,000,000 gallons of alcohol. This was an average of nine pints for each inhabitant of France-men, women and children. As three-quarters of this alcohol is consumed by one-tenth of the inhabitants, one out of every ten Frenchmen drinks 200 pints of brandy each year, or 1f ponies every day. In this estimate no account is taken of the alcohol contained in lighter liquors, such as wine, cider, beer, etc. If this be considered the average consumption of alcohol in all forms rises to twentyeight pints of alcohol instead of nine. This tremendous consumption of alcohol has developed only within a few years, for in 1851 the consumption was but three pints per capital Within the last ten years the consumption of absinthe has increased to such an extent cohol is used for the manufacture of the "green serpent" as was used ten years ago, while the population has not increased in the meantime.

Tennyson and His Pipes.

During the past season much has been written about Li Hung Chang's method of smoking. The peculiarity, in this habit of one nearer and dearer to us-Tennyson-is decidedly unique. A writer says of the great poet: "The common clay pipe was his choice. His den was at the top of the house. When he sat down to work in the morning a huge tobacco-jar, big enough for an ancestral urn, was at his feet, together with a box full of white clap pipes. Filling one of these, he smoked until it was empty, broke it in twain and threw the fragments into another box prepared for their reception. Then he pulled out a fresh pige, filled it, smoked it and destroyed it as before. He would not smoke a pipe the second time."

An Optical Illusion

In the "Studies from the Psychological Laboratory of Chicago" there is a short report by Prof. Buck on the overestimation of vertical as compared with horizontal lines. The overestimation was found to be slightly increased by placing the observer on his side, so that the head and eyes were at right angles to their usual position. This is regarded as an argument against the explanation of the illusion by eye movement.

Our third boy, John, was subject to fever and ague (malarial) and liver trouble. Your remedy, Peruna, cured my boys entirely, and now I have three of the healthlest boys in the State of Nebraska, which I attribute to your mediciae.
