Pen Pictures of Old Residents and the Business Men of Barrington. It is the intention of this newspaper to publish short sketches of the men who have for many years called this village home, who have watched It grow from a hamlet to its present importance, who are prominent in business circles and identified with those interests which conduce to the welfare of every resident. It shall be our aim to forget no one, and we shall consider it a favor if readers will call our attention to errors which are sure to creep into articles of this character. These sketches will continue from week to week until every business and ited quite a quantity of cotton, which professional man in the village has received mention.

M. B. McINTOSH.

M. B. MeIntosh ranks as one of the pioneer settlers and one of the oldest gentlemen in Barrington. He was born in Albany county N. Y., in 1817, and when 37 years of age moved to Freeport, this state, two years later locating in this village. During the first years of his residence here he was engaged in the building material trade and was successful. He has held a number of offices of public trust; was the first notary appointed in the village, holding the office 24 years; was justice of the peace 4 years; police magistrate 7 years; member board of village trustees 4 years; member of the school board 20 years and postmaster during President Cleveland's administration. He was also for some time engaged in the banking business. In religious faith he is a Baptist having been connected with the church here since its organization. Mr. McIntosh is now in his 84th year, and every resident has for him only the highest esteem which his years of unblemished life command.

H. T. ABBOTT.

H. T. Abbott can be counted among having located here in 1860, and in 1863 entered the drug store of S. P. Parker where he learned the business and jewelry trade. Mr. Abbott has served the village as trustee and clerk, holding the last named office for three terms, and he was also clerk of the burg, has entered the third room and township of Cuba for four years. He established his present business in '74 and has succeeded in building up an excellent trade all these years. He is active in the work of the Masonic fraternity, one of our most highly spoken of and prospereus business men. Although 65 years of age Mr. Abbott pays as close attention to business as when he first started out, and seems good to reach the century mark. He "I lately took an old razor to have is interested in everything that will prove beneficial to Barrington and has

JOHN C. PLAGGE.

One of Barrington's most substantial and busy merchants is John C. Plagge. He is a native of Cook county. being born at Northfield in 1855. His childhood and early manhood days were spent on the farm where he was educated in the lessons of perseverance and close attention to duty, that have aided him so greatly in Snaping his successful business career. In 1878 Mr. Plagge formed a partnership with G. H. Landwer and established a general merchandise store which at once gained popularity. This partnership continued until 1885 when Mr. Landwer retired and since then Mr. Plagge has conducted the business and built up a splendid patronage. In 1893 he erected the handsome business block, an ornament to the village. He is also the head of the firm of Plagge & Co. dealers in grain and building material; vice-president of the Barrington bank; member of the village board and active in fraternal work of the Woodmen, Court of Honor and Maccabees. He is prominent in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the village and a most valued and useful citizen.

ALBERT L. ROBERTSON.

Among the young business men of our village none is more highly esteemed, and not one occupies a more responsible position, than Albert L. Robertson, cashier of the Barrington bank. He is a product of Lake county and was born at Lake Zurich thirtytwo years ago next Monday. His education was secured in the public schools of Lake Zurich, Barrington and Palatine, and then a thorough business course added at the Metropolitan Business college, Chicago. He taught school in his native village of Lake Zurich for two years, and served as payroll clerk for the Illinois Steel Co. at South Chicago, for two years. He was employed as clerk in the bank of McIntosh & Sandman in this yillage for some months, and in 1892 accepted a position as bookkeeper in the Commercial Loan & Trust Co. bank of Chicago. He entered his present responsible position January 1, 1894. H/ holds the office of village treasurer, is | identified with and active in the work of the Lounsbury Lodge A.F. & A.M., Palatine Chapter R. A. M., Bethel Commandery K. T., Elgin; Medinah Temple Ancient Arabaic Order of Nobles, Mystic Shrine, Chicago; M. W. A. and K. of G. orders of Barrington. His rapid advancement in the business world shows what push and close attention to duty will do for the "boy from the country."

GOOD ROADS.

Bills Pending in The Legislature Relative to Better Highways.

At least two bills are pending in the legislature at Springfield which are deserving of favorable action. Both of them relate to the same subjectwago roads. "We have been told with sor Ateration that one of the blessings we were going to bestow upon now Cuba township, in the 50s, and in | those whom we regard as barbarians 1863 moved to Barrington where he because their skin pigment differs worked as a carpenter for several years from our own was good roads," says

Dispatches from Springassociated with him for 40 years. At when this subject has been brought said that some impression has been made upon dwellers in certain districts who seemed to be rock-rooted in the Chinese belief that what was good enough for their fathers is good enough for them. Mr. Gross of Chicago, a special agent of the National Department of Agriculture, has been traveling about the state in the interest of "hard roads" and makes a yery encouraging report. He has proposed to the people that they bear half the expense in their several towns and that the state should bear the other half. He says that 25 out of 28 Farmers' institutes attended by him bave passed strong resolutions favoring legislation along this line. It is hoped speedy action will follow.

TO TEST THEIR IMMUNITY. Christian Scientists Will Be Asked to

Drink Fever Germs. A special to the New York Times from Albany says: "The hearing on the Bell bill to prevent Christian Scientists from practicing their art will be resumed next Wednesday, and promises to be of great interest.

"At a hearing last Wednesday several of the Christian Scientists asserted that there was no danger in germs under the Christian Science treatment. It was stated that the belief of the 'Scientists' in their immunity from germs would be put to the test.

"One of the members of the State Medical Society, it is reported, will bring to the hearing next Wednesday a phial of typhoid fever germs. He will ask some of the 'Scientists' to demonstrate their immunity by drinking these germs."

Sweep of the Blizzard. Dispatches Monday morning from various points in Illinois and all the adjacent states showed that the storm was remarkably widespread. From Inliana, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and other western states came the same stories of neavy snowfalls, high winds and consequent blockading of all kinds of traffic. General fear is felt that the damage to live stock will be great. In the rural districts in Illinois and the near-by states there is much unsheltered stock, and in the cattle raising states to the west great herds are exposed. In the territory covered by the storm, according to the latest reports, the temperature was steadily falling, and the danger that the live stock would be frozen was scoming more imminent. The Illinois river is flooded to the top of its banks and the water of the Sangamon are rapidly rising. Along these rivers is a great acreage of low lands, and a further rise in the waters will cause a flood that will carry with it great damage to property.

Municipal Ownership Finding General Pavor Across the Borden

Woodstock, Ont., is a city of 10,000 inhabitants. While not a large place it is very progressive. Some time ago the Woodstock Electric Light Company was called to sell its plant to the city, and after demurring the deal was effected and the business was passed over to the municipality. Hereafter the plant will be run as a city undertaking. Kingston, Ont., with a population of 20,000, has notified the Kingston Light, Heat and Power Company of its intention to proceed in a lawful manner to arbitrate to acquire the whole plant. The company's contracts expire in 1901. The property, valued at $300,000, will probably soon be in the possession of the municipal authorities. If Kingston can own its electric light plant there is no reason why Bridgeport should not also go into the same kind of business. The city of Winnipeg, Manitoba, has been carrying on its electric light plant very successfully during the past year. Consumers are receiving a cheaper and better service that when a private corporation was in control.

PRESIDENT OF PRESIDENTS.

A Distinguished Lady Indeed, Is Mrs. Mary E. Peele, of Whiting, Ind.

Whiting, Ind., Feb. 4, 1901.-(Special.)—The Presidents of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic have an association composed exclusively of the Presidents of the different State Associations. This Presidents' Association chooses a President, and to this very high and distinguished position Mrs. Mary E. Peole of this place has been elected. Mrs. Poole is thoroughly deserving of this great honor. Her devotion to the interests of the Association is very marked, and her experience with the old soldiers of the G. A. R. is wide. Mrs. Poole is never slow to take advantage of anything that may benefit the veterans, and her zeal has resulted in much that is good to these grand old men. She writes of her experiences: "Honor to whom honor is due, and having seen the numerous cures effected through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I gladly endorse them as being particularly effective to cure that dreaded disease of so many of our old soldiers, Bright's Disease and Kidney Disorders of different kinds. Tired of Catching Them. A good story about De Wet is told in a letter received in Glasgow from an officer and published in M. A. P. Three yeomanry scouts were taken prisoners near Lindley. De Wet told them he had an important dispatch for General Rundle and if they would undertake to deliver it they would be liberated. All three gave their words of honor to deliver the letter, which was as follows: "Dear Sir: Please chain up these three devils, as I catch them every day. Yours, De Wet."

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

The railroads have been greatly abused as soulless corporations that were grinding the life blood out of the cople. The great Galveston disaster has, however, revealed the fact that the managers of these corporations have hearts which are susceptible of being touched by the cries of distress. Their trains were placed at the disposal of all those engaged in relief work on the coast. Provisions and supplies were carried forward free of charge, committees from every section of the state were furnished transportation, and when the refugees from Galveston began to pour into Houston and it became a serious question what was to be done with them the railroads solved the problem by furnishing transportation without charge to all who wished to leave and to any point they wished to go. Grand Master Anderson informs us that but for this fact Houston would have been overrun with people who had to be cared for, and that suffering and distress would have been largely increased as well as the cost of meeting conditions which would have prevailed. Bro. Anderson desires us, through these columns, to hank the different roads for the great service rendered his committee at Houston. If it were possible we would e glad to see parallel columns, in one of which should appear the acts of hese railroad corporations in a time of great calamity and distress, and in the other the amount contributed by the little two-by-four demagogues who are always trying to array the prejudices of the masses against any and every kind of enterprise.-From the Texas Odd Fellow.

SOME ASTONISHING FACTS ABOUT THE PAN-AMERICAN.

Niagara Falls Will Supply Power, and Over 300,000 Electric Lights Will Be Used in the Illumination of the Tower and Courts.

Forty million people live within a! night's ride of Buffalo. It is expected that a large proportion of these will visit the Pan-American Exposition at some time during its progress. Many will visit it five, ten, or twenty or more times. Niagara Falls will prove a great magnet in drawing visitors to the Exposition. Altogether it is fair to expect that the attendance at this first Exposition of all the Americas will be the largest in the history of Exposi-tions in either the New World or the Old.

Ten million dollars represents approximately the cost of the Exposition, exclusive of exhibits. The authorized capital stock of the Exposition is $2,-500,000. The authorized bond issue is $2,500,000. The government appropriation is $500,000. The cost of the Midway is $3,000,000. An anecdote in some reminiscences of Mrs. Anne Jean Lyman, a prominent New England woman and a contemporary of Mrs. Lydia Maria Child, records what may be considered a standing epitaph for fancy work. When Mrs. Lyman was Miss Robbins, and a very charming young lady, she went to visit some friends of his in Hingham. House Committee on Military Affairs Completes Army Appropriation Bill-It Carries Approximately $118,000,-000 as Against $130,000,000 Estimated

Thursday, January 31.

The Senate by a vote of 33 to 25 agreed to the conference report on the army reorganization bill. The shipping bill was discussed.

The House passed the fortifications appropriation bill and made fair progress with the postoffice appropriation bill. During the general debate upon the former bill Mr. Lanahan of Texas delivered a notable speech upon the future of the democratic party.

Friday, February 1. Statements made by General Miles and Captain Louis to house commitder and projectiles and that condition of coast defenses is deplorable. Three firms bidding on new warships came inside appropriations and will likely secure the work. R. W. Wilcox, conperior, Wis.

Saturday, February 2. The president signed the bill for the reorganization of the army, and it is now a law. The war department practically has completed its arrangements for recruiting the army under the provisions of the reorganization act. The enlistments for the month of January amounted to 2,732, an increase of 800 recruits over those secured during the previous month of December. The officials are very much encouraged at this result and have no doubt of their ability to secure all the men they need, Many new recruiting stations have been established in various parts of the country.

Monday, February 4. The ship-subsidy bill was laid aside informally by the senate to permit consideration of the appropriation bills. The army appropriation bill, making provision for the army under the plan of reorganization recently enacted, was completed by the house committee on military affairs and reported by Chairman Hull, It carries approximately $118,000,000, as against estimates of about $130,000,000 made another judge for the northern district of Illinois, and Representative Rodenberg has a bill pending in the house for a new district in southern Illinois.

Tuesday, February 5 Senate: Passed District of Columbia appropriation bill and partly considered bill making appropriations for support of West Point Military academy. During the day ship subsidy bill by vote of senate was formally laid aside and superseded as unfinished business. House: Continued discussion of controverted questions in connection with postoffice appropriation bill. Mr. Griggs (Ga.) spoke against organizations of postal employes formed with view to forcing legislation in their interest. Mr. Moody (Mass.) discussed question of railway mail pay from standpoint of member of joint postal commission. Mr. Bromwell (Ohio) and Mr. Gaines (Tenn.) assailed appropriations for special mail facilities from New York to New Orleans, and Mr. Catchings (Miss.) and Mr. Meyer (La.) defended these appropriations as necessary for expedition of southern mail.

Honor to Legal Glant.

The centennial anniversary of the installation of John Marshall of Virginia as chief justice of the United States was commemorated with impressive ceremonies Monday morning in the hall of representatives at the capitol. The program arranged by the joint committee of congress and William Wirt Howe of New Orleans, president of the American Bar association, was simple and dignified as became the life of the great jurist. The president and his cabinet, the members of the Supreme court, the members of the senate and house, the diplomatic corps and members of the district bar association attended as invited guests.

Yaquis Kill 100 Mexicans.

Mexican troops were ambushed by Yaqui Indians in the mountain passes east of Ures, Mexico, and fully a hundred were killed and wounded before they could extricate themselves. The battle occurred in the most rugged portion of the mountain range, not far from the main camp of the Indians. Saturday while the troops were resting in a canyon, the Indians attacked them from both sides and did such effective work that more than 100 were mowed down before the command succeeded in effecting its escape. Many of the dead Mexicans were mutilated.

Great Fire in New York City. Fire Thursday night laid in ashes the two city blocks bounded by the East river, First avenue, Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets, New York city. Nearly one-quarter of the block on the south side of Thirty-first street, extending from First avenue to the river, was also destroyed, together with the vast expanse of lumber yards and coal and wood sheds running southward to Thirtieth street and along the river front. Chief Croker of the fire department and Capt. Patterson of the fire patrel roughly estimated the loss at about $1,500,000. It is impossible to make any estimate of the individual lesses. For the first time in many years the alarm known as the "two nines" was sounded. Fire late Thursday night destrayed the Coates opera-house, the principal theater of Kansas City, situated at Tenth street and Broadway, and occupying a detached building. Walker Whiteside and his company were playing "Heart and Sword" in the house, and had just concluded the evening performance when some of the actors discovered that the building was afire, the flames enveloping the whole rear part of the theater in a few moments. The company lost its wardrobes and scenery, being obliged to flee from the dressing rooms. The audience had left the theater only five minutes when the fire was discovered. The building was valued at between $125,000 and $150,-000 and was insured for much less.

Oil company have been in the vicinity of Poplar Bluff, Mo., acquiring options on a large acreage of land for the purpose of sinking wells to ascertain if oil exists beneath the surface. In Cape Girardeau county two weeks ago options on several thousand acres were secured, and two wells are now being bored. The representatives procured 1,000 acres west of Poplar Bluff and further experiments will be made. There are strong indications that both oil and gas exist in southeast Missouri and a thorough investigation will be made in every county in this section.

Big Building Collapses.

The large four-story iron front double building, Nos. 527 and 529 Wood street, Pittsburg, Pa., occupied by the Stevenson & Foster Printing company, collapsed Monday. The ruins caught fire from the igniting of natural gas, and in less than an hour the destruction was complete. During the night a portion of the partition wall weakened and fell. The building had been closed for repairs. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

Railroads from Issuing Passes to Members of the Legislature - An Anti-Cigarette Bill Introduced Thursday, January 31.

Gus Nohe continues to be the star agt-tator in the house. He introduced a bill prohibiting railroads from issuing passes to members of the legislature and making it a felony for legislators to accept free transportation, and the bill was read the transportation, and the bill was read the first time, advanced to second reading and made the special order for next Wednesday morning. Gus Nohe says he is on the square with his bith. He said that next Wednesday he will substitute the Wisconsin anti-pass law for his bill. In Wisconsin the law prohibits all state officials, judges, members of the legislature, etc., from accepting railroad passes.

Senator Stubblefield introduced a bill which prohibits the sale of cigarettes or cigarette paper in Illinois. It is identical with a bill introduced in the house last week. Speaker Sherman announced the appointment of the following committee on the rights of the minority: F. J. Suilivan, Farrell, Mitchell, Crafts, D. E. Suilivan, Wilson, Hunt, Jandus, Tippit, Donoghue, Hefferman, Johnston, Purdunn, Warder, Gray and Craig. The sub-committees of the house committees on conmittees of the house committees on congressional and senatorial apportionment held meetings for the purpose of mapping out the work before them.

Friday, February 1

Representative Curtis introduced two hard-roads bills. One of the bills creates the office of state engineer of roads who is directed to co-operate with and advise all road officers in the state relative to the construction and maintenance of hard roads. The bill directs the method and procedure of providing hard roads and for the payment of the ex-pense thereof. The other bill provides that fifteen legal voters in any township may petition for the construction of hard roads, and it makes it the duty of the township officers to arrange for holding an election to vote on the proposi-tion. It also provides that in each township where there are more than three miles of hard roads the supervisor shall appoint a custodian of hard roads, whose duty it shall be to keep them in repair. It also provides for sale of township bonds to pay for the construction of hard roads.

Gov. Yates has appointed Edward S. Brown of Evanston a member of the military staff with the rank of colonel. The appointment dates from . Jan. 28. Cel. Brown was formerly treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Monday, February 4.

Speaker Sherman was called to Robinson, Ill., because of the death of an aunt, son, Ill., because of the death of an aunt, and he will not return to Springfield until Wednesday. In the meantime George C. Rankin will be acting speaker. Both houses held short sessions, and in neither was a quorum present. No bills were introduced. Chairman Bundy of the house committee on senetarial apparticement. committee on senatorial apportionment said that the "country pa portionment would be ready by Wednesday morning. He added that he feared Cook county apportionment would not be ready for two weeks, and therefore the bill would be held back just that long. Representative Abbott, who is a member of the sub-committee to prepare a bill, showed a map he had made. As he is one of the official map makers, the representatives who saw his scheme of dividing the substantial di dividing the senatorial districts studied it attentively. It is said that this scheme, with a few changes, will be the one to be adopted by the sub-committee. Mr. Abbott's plan is based on the figures of the last election, and it gives the Republicans twenty-four of the thirty-two districts outside of Cook county.

Tuesday. February 5.

Among the bills introduced were the following: By Mr. McDonough of Chicago-Authorizing cities and villages to license slot machines and fixing the minimum license fee at $50. By Mr. Rinaker-To appoint a game warden in each congressional district at a salary of $1,000 a year and expenses. NOTES OF THE SESSIONS.

Senator Davidson introduced a bill providing for the election of members of the state boards by the cumulative system in order to provide minority representation on such boards.

Senator Albertsen has introduced a bill appropriating $248,000 to complete the Bartonville hospital for the insane and $650,500 for new buildings and for maintenance of the institution; also a bill ap-propriating $20,000 for a topographical survey of the state.

The special committee appointed by Mayor Harrison of Chicago to prepare a bill for the legislature providing for the municipal ownership of gas plants has completed its work. The committee was appointed in a resolution offered by Alderman Dixon, and consisted of Sigmund Zeisler, Charles J. Holmes, and Addison Blakeley. The bill gives the city council of cities or viliages the power to provide for the acquisition and oper-ation of gas and electric light plants, and authority to sell light, heat, and power to the inhabitants of such cities or villages. For the purpose of estab-lishing municipal plants the city is authorized to purchase property or con-demn it under the eminent-domain act. The charge made by the city for light, heat, or power furnished any citizen is made a lien on the real estate on which it is used, as water taxes are now made liens on the property on which the water is consumed.

Mr. Aderton introduced a bill in the assembly appropriating $350,000 for the establishment of a colony for epileptics. at Nothcliff, Jersey county.

Mr. Doyle is sponsor for a bitt amending the law in relation to negotiable instruments by making general election day a legal holiday and Saturday afternoon of each week a legal half holiday.

Addison Cammack. For twenty years this quartet dominated Wall street.

Mr. Cammack was always a bear, and after a long career, in which he made and lost millions, he retired with a fortune estimated at $4,000,000.

Rebels in Panay Surrender.

Three hundred insurgents have surrenders in Panay, with 150 rifles. The battleship Kentucky arrived here this admitted to said home must have been morning.

Mr. Drew the other day introduced a bill amending the law in relation to the soldiers' and widows' home by providing that the wives or widows of soldiers or sailors of the war of 1861 in order to be admitted to said home must have been morning.

Promptness of Jersey Justice.

Aside from the quality of "Jersey fustice" its promptness must be commended. The businesslike expedition with which the Bosschleter murder case was disposed of is in marked contrast to the "law's delay" which characterizes the dealing with capital crimes in many other commonwealths. It took but 55 minutes to secure the jury, whereas in some states in similar cases it would have taken almost as many days, and it appears that the jury in the Paterson case was as intelligent and conscientious as though a long time has been consumed in selecting it. At all events there was no hint that it was other than a fair, honest and competent panel. The trial of the case, which embodied unusually sensational details and which had been widely exploited through the newspapers, occupied less than five days, including the pleas of counsel and the charge of the judge. There was no unreasonable haste at the trial, nor was there any unnecessary delay. The verdict of murder in the second degree is commonly regarded as a just finding from the evidence presented, though, in view of the strong public sentiment against the accused, a verdict of first degree was expected. Whatever may be public opinion, either local or general, as to the charness with which it was reached is a matter of interest and comment. In this respect it was a model trial and has set a good example for courts of justice everywhere. In many states the delays in bringing on criminal trials and the slow steps pursued in conducting them have become a public scandal and, in many instances, a practical denial of justice. If the fault is with judges for failure to hold lawyers within proper limits in the examination of jurors and the presentation of evidence, then the judges should realize the public demand for reform. If the trouble is with the law, and the codes of several states give larger scope for dilatory tactics than the statutes of New Jersey, then legislatures should be impressed with the necessity of enacting laws under the operation of which criminal courts may proceed with reasonable expedition and obviate the ever increasing delays and the multiplication of technicalities for the defeat of justice and incidentally effect a large saving in public expenditure. In the case at hand the operation of "Jersey justice" is to be commended.

The French chamber of deputies is trying to legislate the code duello out of existence. One member, who is wiser than he may seem at first glance, proposes to stop it by making it unlawful to publish accounts of duels. The love of notoriety is at the bottom of most affairs of this kind in France, and if all publicity could be suppressed there is no question that the duel would quickly go out of fashion, since if the brave heroes could not indulge in heroics before the world they would soon discover that their honor called for no encounter. The surest way. however, to suppress the French duel is to make it compulsory on all who engage in it to fight to the death. Such a law, coupled with the proposed antipublicity regulation, would pretty effectually end these farcical perform-

There was a widespread presentiment in England about 20 years ago that the Prince of Wales would never come to the throne of Great Britain. The prediction, however, did not come true, as he is now King Edward VII. Charles Bradlaugh, the father of the presentiment, who often declared that Queen Victoria would be the last British sovereign, has been dead so long that he is almost forgotten.

The Popularization of Libraries.

In The International Monthly Herert Putnam, librarian of congress, otes the multiplication and popularisation of great libraries in this country during the last quarter of a century. He says that during the 21 years from 1875 to 1896 the number of new libraries established was 3,546 as against 2,240 established between 1850 and 1875 and adds:

In 1876 the number reporting 300 volumes or more each was 2,039; in 1896 they had become 4,026, and their contents had in the meantime nearly trebled. The total number of volumes reported in 1876 by 3,647 libraries was 12,276,964; the total number reported in 1896 by 7,191 libraries was 34,596,258; 567 of them reported in 1896 realty owned to the value of $33,000,000 and 605 of them endowments exceeding $17,000,000; aggregates both of which must have enlarged considerably since that time.

Quite as interesting as the increase in the number of books and buildings are the revolutions in the administration of libraries and the growth in the popular utilization of them. Mr. Putnam gives a list of modifying influences by which the library has been affected and lays particular stress upon two factors-activity and popularization. Old libraries were sacred to the student and book recluse, who sought them out as their own peculiar territory. They were entered by the general public with awe and shrinking, and it was beneath their dignity to invite patronage or to be identified with any propaganda. Now, however, they are energetic, businesslike, always reaching out for a larger constituency. If the venerable sage finds them less to his liking than the more exclusive institutions of old, the young and humble seeker after knowledge or entertainment may enter them with assurance and receive cordial encouragement. Thus the public library is acter of the verdict recorded, the swift- becoming year by year a larger factor in the educational development of the country. It is a wholesome and encouraging tendency.

> The pledge of the West Point cadets to henceforth and forever abstain from the cruel and foolish habit of hazing may go far toward mitigating the rigor of the disciplinary measures that congress would otherwise have instituted for its immediate suppression. It is commendable of the young men at the National Military academy that this pledge was voluntarily made, and there s a very general belief that it will be kept. One of the traditions of the academy is the sacredness of a pledge, and there is little doubt that so far as the four classes now in the institution are concerned the practice has been abandoned. This is all very well as far and especially by avoiding the badly as it goes. It does not, however, re- ventilated and overheated rooms which lieve congress from the duty of enacting such legislation as shall prevent and public and semipublic buildings. any recurrence in the future of the disgraceful practices of the past. If the cadets desire on their own motion to demean themselves as gentlemen and not as bullies, all well and good, but it is entirely proper that they should be made to understand they are not the controlling body of the United States Military academy. Before leaving this hazing job congress ought to make it perfectly understood that the laws and tion is a prime desideratum. "While regulations for West Point are made at influenza," adds The Medical Record, the national capital and not in the cadet barracks and that these laws and regulations must be respected.

The general public has doubtless not yet reached a full appreciation of the scope and extent of Professor Pupin's patent, which has been acquired by the Bell telephone people. While it nominally applies to ocean telephony, it will if all that is claimed for it be realized revolutionize the operation of transmitting sound by electricity. Its practical effect will be to improve the operation of the telephone at an immense saving of cost. Will the public get any benefit out of it in the way of cheaper telephone rates?

The sharp contrasts in life, particularly as they relate to Chicago, are shown in this incident: Just about the time the submarine cable was bringing over from Paris the intelligence that Mrs. Potter Palmer had been decorated with the ribbon of the Legion of Honor by the French government her esteemed husband was being tried in the police court and fined $20 and costs for selling liquor on Sunday.

As just reported, the net receipts of the Yale-Princeton football game last fall after paying all expenses were $25,575. Aside from all the fun and hurrah they got out of it, this was a pretty profitable business venture for the football associations of the two uni-

England's New Queen Consort. Thirty-eight years ago, when the eldest daughter of King Christian of Denmark was wedded to the eldest son of Queen Victoria of Great Britain, the glish poet laureate sang:

Sea king's daughter from over the sea,
Alexandra!
Saxon and Norman and Dane are we,
But all of us Danes in our welcome of thee,
Alexandra!

It was not long after the arrival of the princess that England made good her welcome, and she has been making it more real and hearty ever since. Shortly after the marriage her motherin-law, the queen, went into retirement on account of the death of the prince consort, and since then it has been upon Princess Alexandra that has devolved a great part of the social duties that are so largely the functions of the queen regnant in a constitutional monarchy. The chief duties which the new queen will have to perform are those which she has long been discharging and in such a way as to endear herself to the English people. The "wisdom of the heart," which is among the best qualities of human nature and an indispensable quality in a queen and which was so conspicuous in the life and career of Victoria, is not wanting in Alexandra. Since the influence of a constitutional king must be mainly indirect and social, he could not have a more useful helpmeet than the new king of England has in his queen.

Contemplating the social and domestic virtues of Victoria, for which she will be longest and best remembered, the world may sadly say, "The queen is dead." But in view of the gracious and womanly qualities of Alexandra it may well be said, "Long live the

According to The Medical Record the grip, or influenza, as it was formerly called, is, all things considered, "the most insidious and dangerous disease which attacks civilized races." No specific for the malady is known, according to this authority, and its onslaughts are not to be effectually guarded against. The disease takes so many forms that it cannot be treated on any general principles, but each case has to be made a special study. Herein lies the extreme peril of attempts at self Waukegan medication, and there is reason for beliethton. lieving that many patients suffer more from the effects of drugs unwisely chosen by themselves or other amateurs in the healing art than they do from the influenza. As in the case of all contagious maladies, thorough ventila-"is a self limited disease and mild and uncomplicated cases may safely be left to the resources of nature, it is unfortunately true that the disease has to a greater extent than any other the faculty of attacking some weak spot in a person's armor; hence complications are numerous and in virtue of the complications and sequelæ often prove disastrous. The most common complications and sequelæ, it is superfluous to remark, are respiratory affections, of which pneumonia is the most fatal."

In agreeing to abolish hazing at West Point the presidents of the four classes formally state their realization "that the deliberate judgment of the people should, in a country like this, be above all other considerations." It would seem to be pretty nearly time that these embryo soldiers came to a realizing sense of the propriety of paying some attention to public sentiment. It remains to be seen whether they will keep their pledge to refrain from their brutal and cowardly practices.

The Paris press is advising Venezuela and other South American states that are inclined to get disorderly to sober down, as if they do not the United States will probably be compelled to put them in a straitjacket. While Uncle Sam is not at all desirous of any such job, he can undertake it if it should be really necessary.

Morgan S. Johnson came from Yates county, N. Y., in May, 1844, with his wife and two sons, Willis S. and Jay vus W. Southworth, who owned and cultivated the place for a few years. The place was called Wickliffe and the present Plum Grove church is now situated on the property. Mr. Sonthworth kept a tavern called the "Wickliffe House" and when Mr. Johnson moved in he took down the sign and said he would not keep transients, but so many travelers stopped and asked for lodging that Mr. Johnson was finally compelled to keep them over night and at last kept tavern as his predecessor had done. Mr. Southworth was the first postmaster and kept the office holes in it. This tavern was a pros perous one as it was on the old Rockford-Dundee-Chicago road and every day during the summer covered-wagons, loaded with new settlers were coming from the East. Often there would be ten or fifteen of these wagons in a string. People from Rockford and Dundes passed here on their way to Chicago and always stopped at the tavern to rest themselves and oxen or horses. In 1853 Willis F. Johnson was appointed postmaster at Wickliffe un-Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Hughes and der President Pierce's administration masters at Wickliffe before Willis F. owned by Mason Gay and the other by Kents, had engaged in a legal contest with George W. Green about the right to the possession of a house in Meacham's Grove, now Bloomingdale in Du Page county. D. M. Green, the sheriff of Du Page county in 1840, removed the Kents from the house and put Green in quiet possession of the same. The Kents threatened to remove Green from the house by force, and the following night old man Kent, his two sons, Wakeman and others went to the house to carry out their purpose; one of them knocked at the M. S. Clark, labor 2.87 door gently to gain admission. Green, anticipating their purpose, did not respond to the knock and the door was broken open. Green was armed with a rifle, pistol and butcher knife; he fired off the rifle and it barely missed the neck of old man Kent. The men were now all in the house; the old man Kent grappled with Green; Green Kent walked out of the house, leaned Martin Murray returned to our vil- Excursion Rates to the Mardi Gras over upon a pig pen, and said, "I am a dead man;" and died shortly after-

Some hours afterwards his brother Orange went to the little shanty to see that no evil betided the corpse, when, to his astonishment, the corpse raised up in bed and said: "Orange, where is my wallet? It was in my pa. taloons pocket and had $63 in it." The pants were found, but the wallet was missing. Morgan Johnson was sent for and advised that the other two farmers should be sent for, but they should not be told what had hapned until they arrived. When they arrived Mr. Johnson told them what had taken place, and proposed that they all three should be searched, whereupon one of them said, with an oath, he would not be searched. Mr. Johnson then said: "You are the man who stole the money, and we will get a warrant for you." Then the accused in the tavern, a box with a few pigeon said: "I supposed he was dead, or I never would have taken his money; here is $53 of it, the other $10 I have spent." The money being found, the corpse lay back in bed and did not again come to life. Mr. Snell, afterwards the landlord of this little hotel, removed to Chicago and became several times a milllonaire, and in the dead of night was murdered in his own home, and although all these years have intervened, the question still is, "Who killed Snell?" And echo answers, "Who?" Let the search be renewed and the guilty party brought to justice. The blood of Amos J. Snell"cries aloud from the ground for vengeance."

No one ever knew what passed in that interview. Harvey briefly told his wife he had begged for forgiveness and gained it, but the old relations between Gladys and himself would never be renewed-she was through with the life of which he had been a part. When Helen threw herself in his arms in a passion of grief for havfor his beneat, he kissed her sadly. It of the regiment. was all a mistake, he said; he had been the more culpable of the two. Together they would take up life under the new conditions, never alluding to the errors of the past.

He was very kind, very gentle; but there was that in his manner and look dead, to make way for the grave, almost stern man who henceforth walked by her side through life, affectionate and true, yet with the ineffable quality that tinges the humblest marriage with romance forever stricken from his love.

Within a year after her departure Gladys was married to a man slightly her junior, whose wealth doubled hers, Her beauty and vivacity made her the center of a wide social circle, and having been shut away from city pleasures so long she enjoyed them now with childlike enthusiasm. Engrossed in a bewildering happy present the past became to her a dream, and after the arrival of her first child, a half forgotten one.

The house in Rockville was sold, and long years passed before she again saw Harvey. In the careworn man difficult to recognize her once handsome boy. It is hard for the covetous soul to come near to fortune yet never grasp it; and even when better days had dawned, and want was forever set at bay, the bitter knowledge that she had doomed her husband to a struggle with poverty that robbed him of youth and hope and ambition was with Helen Atherton all the days of her life.

White Feather

There is no need to mention the name of his regiment here. That is a secret that belongs to the army alone. Suffice it to say that his comrades are proud of his name.

He should never have entered the cavalry regiment which had a reputation to sustain by a yearly tribute of broken necks and collar bones.

His proper vocation was that of a till one evil day he had fellen in here toward her. with a girl, a silly, shallow garl, at whom no practical man or boy would have taken a second look.

He adored her, and she adored soldiers. In their wains abroad she would direct his steps toward the Horse guards or Wellington barracks, that she might gaze in admiration at the fine, strapping soldiers who were to himself in the coming fight. be seen there, and every time she pinched his arm and exclaimed: "Oh, Jack, look at that lovely soldier!" his that he was only a draper's assistant, with nothing in common with the military but the handling of red cloth! Instead of listening to the "Forward!" of the shopwalker he could only hear the short-flung word of command and the blare of the bugles that sounded from fear and great exertion, through his dreams; wherefore it was not long before he came into conflict with his practical chief. A few sharp words passed. He threw up in three seconds a position it had taken six hands and knees amid a spatter of years of hard, unremitting labor to attain. Then he enlisted.

He gained his title on his first display in the riding school, where, efter a short ride on the neck of the riding master's pet buck jumper, he turned lie down on his side despairingly. The horse at once gratified his desire by throwing him on to the tan, where he lay trembling in every limb, much to the diversion of a couple of rough

Any morsel of down or fluff that might float into the barracks was promptly captured and presented to him with due ceremonies ing done him hurt while striving only by Trumpeter Pipes, the low comedian

The older men forbore to join in with these somewhat tiring repetitions of a stale joke. They remembered that I saw it all and that I'm going their own experiences in the riding school and recognized that White Feather was a quiet and inoffensive fellow, devoid of the impudence and which told her Harvey, the boy, was bad manners peculiar to recruits and respectful and helpful to his seniors.

The sergeant instructor, too, after a time took a fancy to his timid recruit, and took extra trouble to teach him how to keep his heels out, his hands down and his head up.

"I've made smart cavalrymen out o' bigger duffers than you." he used to remark encouragingly as he flicked White Feather's horse into a canter, 'and I'll make a rider o' you, or I'll break your neck!" White Feather's neck remained unbroken so it is to be presumed that the sergeant instructor fulfilled his word.

Presently he began to lose the hangdag look of suppressed terror with which he had been accustomed to enter the riding school and to acquire the easy swagger of a cavalryman. His chest, contracted by long hours at the counter, developed under healthy trainwith stooping shoulders she found it ing. Fresh air and much exercise helped White Feather's development, which had been sadly retarded by the heavy, gas-laden atmosphere in which he had lived. His nerves acquired tone, and he learned to take a tumble now and then as a matter of course and to fire his carbine without shutting his eyes and blanching at the explosion of the cartridge.

"Blow me, if he isn't going to shape so much. Even now, though she had into a man at last!" quoth the ser-if poor White Feather was a physical coward, he was a moral hero. There is no chance of a display of feeling in a barrack room so, like the Spartan boy of old, he hugged his trouble to him, slipping the cheap little engagement ring with which he had sealed his treth into his pocket without a sign beyond the twitching of his white lips. Then he lit his pipe with the letter, not out of contempt, but because there is little privacy accorded in the correspondence that comes to the barrack room, and a private soldier is not provided with a desk wherein to keep his faded flowers and other sentimental tokens of the past.

The blow was a very heavy one, for White Feather was without the worldly knowledge that should have told him long since that he had fixed his affections upon a vulgar, selfish and army at all, much less a hard riding brainless flirt, and he still believed in the world wants and for whom it will

For her sake he had learned to overcome his physical cowardice. He had dreamed of a possible commission in Anen draper's assistant, and he had the dim future and had rejoiced in the alled that occupation very ratisfactory accently acquired promotion as a step

For her sake, too, he received the news cheerfully when the word passed full cargo of sugar, had a strange exthrough the barracks that the regiment was ordered to South Africa to meet the Boers. He knew that he was by nature a coward, but for the memory of her he swore an oath to himself to do his duty without sparing

Royal artillery backed him with a shricking flight of shrapnel, which whistled for a moment overhead, then burst over the Boer lines a quarter of a mile away in a shower of bullets that for a moment quelled the storm around him.

He reached the wounded man, lifted him on his back and returned step by step to where Trumpeter Pipes lay

The trumpeter gave him a faint 'Bravo!" as he staggered and fell with his burden into the kindly shelter of the rock.

That was White Feather's reward. On a distant hill the British commander shut his field glasses with a

"Tell the general to keep down the fire on the right there and get those men in from behind those bowlders," he said to his aid, "and bring me that man's name. If he is alive, tell him to recommend him for the cross. Never saw a finer show of fire discipline in my life!" added the commander to himself as his aid galloped off.

White Feather's eyes glistened as he received the message and heard the cheer that swept along the lines as he was carried in.

"Perhaps I shall get that commission after all," he said to himself; "then she will think more of me!"

Perhaps it was just as well that he died five minutes later—this faithful worshiper of a goddess of clay.

THRIFTY FEMALES.

There are Many Remunerative Occupations for Women.

One thrifty woman who had watched the vegetables and fruit rotting day by day at her grocer's, and which were a dead loss to him, proposed that they enter into an arrangement in the future whereby she should preserve and pickle his entire surplus, either for regular pay or upon commission, in the latter case he furnishing the sugar and spices. Another woman, with sharp business instincts, a butcher's wife, made up soup stock, and found a ready sale for it to many overworked housekeepers. Still another, who knew but one thing thoroughly, and that was cookery, called every morning at certain physicians offices and formed a list of families in which sickness prevailed. To these families she offered to come every day for an hour or so and prepare in their own homes mutton broth, beef extract, chicken jelly, panada, gruels, fruit and herb drinks, wine whey, custard, etc., furnishing her time and labor cheaper than the articles could be bought at restaurants or women's exchanges. Some women are specialists in one branch, such as handkerchief embroidering, lampshade making fan painting, feather curling, glove cleaning, and the like, or can make beautiful neck scarfs, or launder fine laces. Such can easily make their specialty pay, some by the aid of friends, some by the patronage of dealers in such goods, some by a house to house canvass made by themselves. A young girl in one of the large eastern cities was recently puzzled by finding herself left almost helpless and homeless, with no talent in any one direction. There was but one thing of which she never tired, and that was of children, all of whom seemed to adore her; so this young girl went out at so much an hour to amuse sick and irritable children. Many a worn-out mother found her presence a most grateful repose. She was indefatigable in inventing new games and perfecting old ones, and her naturally retentive memory came also to her aid as a story-teller. It is the woman who takes advantage of opportunities, the woman who can plan as well as execute, whom

Spectral Vessel Turns Out To Be a Marvelous Phenomenon.

The American clipper ship Luzon, from the Hawaiian islands with a perience after rounding the horn. When off the barren Staten land, in good weather, and with scarcely any sea on, the lookout reported a sail. It was about an hour before sunset. Although the Luzon was almost becalmed, the vessel sighted was under closereefed topsails. This made the Luzon's mate think a storm was bearing down on him, and he speedily shortened sail. Rapidly the stranger came nearer, and it could be seen that she was partially dismasted forward. In the meantime, however, the expected squall did not make its advent. The strange ship passed so close that it seemed as though a biscult might be thrown on board. Still her crew paid not the slightest attention to the Luzon. On the latter consternation prevailed. The appearance of the storm-tossed vessel was so uncanny that the Luzon's men were beside themselves with terror. Not until it dawned upon Capt. Park that the other ship was a part of the phenomenon known as the "fata morgana," where a vessel is reflected a great distance, could he restore anything like order among the men. The most remarkable feature of the incident developed three weeks later. When the Luzon was nearing the equator she passed the Russian ship Komisafoff, bound south, and her men moment: then he saw him stop and had no difficulty in identifying her She had the same distinctive lines, and, sure enough, her foremast had been broken off close to the foretop, a jurymast taking the place of the missing spar. CAUGHT BY THE GRIP.

Released by Pe-ru-na---Congressman Howard's Recovery---Congressman Geo. H. White's Case

La Grippe is epidemic catarrh.-It | spares no class or nationality. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat | all over. and the pauper. The masses and the asses are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Have you the grip? Or, rather, has the grip got you? Grip is well named. The original French term, la grippe, has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip." Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful GRIP had clutched us in its fatal clasp. Men, women, children, whole towns and cities are caught in the baneful grip of a terrible monster.

Buried in a Pauper's Grave.

Eleven years ago A. B. Wheldon, then just of age and of a wealthy family, went to Kansas City from Providence, R. I. He dropped dead from the heat June 13, 1890, and after efforts to learn of his relatives had failed he was buried in an unmarked grave in the potter's field. Ferdinand Whelden, who has hunted for more than ten years for his brother, finally tracing him to Kansas City, arrived at that city Monday and found the record of his death, but could not locate the grave. There is an estate of $125,000, which would belong to the unfortunate Whelden were he living.

Whether or not an accumulated sum of money paid by the United States government to a pensioner may or may not be taxed for city, county and state purposes is a new question which came up at Ottumwa, Iowa, in a suit begun by Calvin Manning as guardian for an insane soldier (John Schwabkey), who is drawing $72 per month, against County Treasurer John H. Spry and Wapello county. The plaintiff asks immunity from assessment and taxation upon $8,500 which he holds for his ward and for the abatement of $2,101.83, assessed and levied for the years 1895 to 1900.

Another Version.

Last week an article appeared in these columns under the head of "Unjust Accusation," which it is claimed by one of the parties referred to, as in some ways incorrect. In the main the article was correct, but Mrs. Wooding, the lady referred to in the article, is self in speaking of the matter, which s altogether likely. Mrs. Wooding says: "I did not profess to be a Christian but said I believed in the principles of Christianity. Mr. Haudenschild asked me to go forward and join in prayer. I informed him that in my opinion one could pray in the back of the church as well as up in front; that I was inclined to the Quaker religion as my mother belonged to that denomination, and that I did not believe in excitement in religious meetings, etc. He then said "Being a Quaker will not take you to heaven. You sang in my choir in Barrington but you can't sing in my choir in heaven. You are doing more harm than good here and better stay at home."

Mrs. Wooding did not like the idea of being placed in a false light, and she was so placed by Mr. Haudenschild's report of the affair by his failure to tell the whole story. Again, she did not take any stock in the idea day. that Mr. H. would be the only choirmaster up yonder, and her opinion is shared by all.

MODERN WAY OF PREACHING. Extracts from Discourse of a "New Method Minister."

Much has been said of late in regard to the new methods of preaching, and many outside the large cities are at a loss to understand how the scriptures can be interpreted in any way but as written-or literally. The popular preacher of the present time is not him who draws a highly colored picture of a personal devil and his firey dominions; of the judgment day, or preaches endless punishment and infant damnation, but he, who from a scriptural injunction can draw an il- days with her brother in Chicago. ustration carrying with it something that will impress his audience of the duties devolving upon them in everyday life. Therefore the minister who preaches the scripture with that end in view-who is liberal in his interpre tation of them-is the one who stands highest in the estimation of the reading, reasoning people of the present. Ministers of this class are confined to among Catholic, Protestant and Jews. One may go into any church in the cities and rarely hear the gospel discoursed as it was 40 years ago. SEVERE STORM.

Experienced in Years.

The storm of last Sunday was the most severe that has visited this section since 1884. In December 1894 two heavy snow storms visited northern Illinois, and also on February 28, 1900, was this vicinity imprisoned by a heavy fall of the beautiful, but neither of the previous storms developed into Piano so a regular blizzard as did that of Sunday. Some snow fell Saturday night and light flurries were encountered early Sunday morn, but it was not un- Piano solo. til toward noon that the wind blew a gale and the temperature began to fall. By three o'clock sidewalks were Piano so buried and traffic about town blocked. The wind gained a velocity of 55 miles an hour and drove the snow in blinding sheets into every corner and crevice, and by 7 o'clock 11.5 inches of the beautiful covered the earth. Those who love "old fashioned" winter sat by cheerful fires and rejoiced; those who make it a rule to find fault, no matter what the weather may be, put extra touches to their disposition in that respect. Monday morning found roads leading to the country in many places badly drifted, and the citizen who had wished for a "winter like we had in '57" wrestling with a snow shovel and using language unfit for damage of any great amount was reported to stock, and farmers generally velcomed the sleighing. Interference with business was light in the country but our city cousins suffered considerable. A northern winter without cold, bracing weather loses half of its pleasures. The chronic fault-finder who now hovers near the heating stove and wishes for summer days, will six months from now be wishing for an arctic breeze. Some people are never satisfied.

The judiciary committee, to whom was referred the petition of A. D. Church presented at the last meeting asking the board to declare the high board fence built on H. M. Hawley's lot adjoining his property in this village a nuisance, presented the following opinion prepared by the village at-

"To the president and board of trus ees of the village of Barrington: GENTLEMEN-Regarding the question referred to me, as to whether or not the board of trustees of the village of Barrington has power to declare the high board fence referred to in the petition of Mr. Church, to be a public nuisance and to abate same, I will say

Under the Illinois statutes the vil age trustees have the power to declare what shall be a nuisance and to abate the same. But under the construction given by our Supreme court to this section the board cannot declare or make anything a nuisance by simply declaring it to be such. The question is always whether or not a court would decide whether it was, in fact, one, and abating the same the boar would run the risk of making the village liable to an action for damages In my opinion, the board of trustees would be exceeding its powers should it take any action in this matter. Respectfully submitted, Chautauqua Circle.

The Chautauqua Reading circle met at the home of Mrs. Fred Hawley, last Monday evening, and enjoyed reading the sixteenth chapter of "The Rivalry of Nations," by Edwin A Start, now being published in The Chautauquan. The chapter treated on the growth of British imperial conception, touching on the administration in India and Ceylon; future of the British empire; imperial federation; theory of natural union and relation of the tropical colonies to the empire at large.

Next Monday eyening the circle will meet at the home of Mrs. F. E. Lines and read chapter seventeen-one of the most interesting and instructive of the work. It tells of German colonial policy; Bismarck's attitude and his great speech delivered in 1884: of German's colonies and dependencies. "The Rivalry of Nations" is of double interest at present owing to the situation in China and South Africa.

The following is going the rounds of the press and contains solid and uncontrovertable truth: "A local newspaper reflects the business interests of the town in its advertising columns. A business man looking for a location examines newspapers to see how his particular line is represented. If he s a farniture dealer or hardware merchant, and finds no ads in the paper announcing those lines, he concludes there are no dealers in such goods in the town, or if there are, they are dead. If he is seeking location for a drug store, livery stable or grocery he forms an opinion of the town by the way the merchants advertise. If the Mrs. F. J. Alverson was a visitor in merchants advertise he recognizes the town is alive. Among the farmer subscribers the home paper has a similar mission. The prospective buyers like an invitation to come and trade with merchants. Advertising is not a luxury, but is rather an economic proposition, recognized by the best and most successful business men the world over."

Word From the Philippines.

An Irishman, who is serving as a member of the United States army in the island of Luzon, writes to a friend la Chicago as follows:

Dear Mike:—I hav had some bad luck laitly. I got shwamp fever and whin I shuck it off it shtruck in So I am flat on me Back and as I sit Here writen you this letther I am to weak to hould a pin or even turn over in me bed Without the Help of a nurse. Its a terible disees. I am sorry I iver come out her to Fight for we niver can conker these Dagoes as long as wan of thim is alive and even thin it'l take a Big foorce of min all the time on Gard or they'll break out agin at the first chance. I cant think of annything more to say. I will sind you the Tin dollars I borried before I left as soon as I git well but I dont iver expict to lave me bed agin. So no more this time.

This is indeed discouraging information and should be referred to the the war department that they may know the real situation.
