

Statistics of Strikes.

Carroll D. Wright gives in the North American Review for June some timely facts of high statistical and economic interest in a table prepared from the material furnished by the sixteenth annual report of the United States commissioner of labor.

Prior to 1880, says Mr. Wright, there were so few strikes that nobody thought it worth while to write their statistical history.

The total wage loss of the striking employees during this period was $257,863,478 against a loss to employers of $122,731,121, making a total of $380,594,599, or $19,000,000 a year of economic loss.

The loss to the public through strikes is not set forth in Mr. Wright's tables. It cannot be measured, but it is often the greatest loss of all.

The settlement of the long standing territorial dispute between Chile and Argentina is a distinct triumph for arbitration.

The visit to Mexico of several gentlemen prominently connected with various great packing establishments is doubtless for the purpose of cattle buying for the good of the public.

Minnesota and the two Dakotas, it is estimated, have this year 3,500,000 acres of flax under cultivation.

The news of another uprising of Boxers in China is likely to cause Count von Walderssee to furnish up his asbestos camping outfit and other paraphernalia preparatory to another triumphal tour of the orient.

It is interesting to note that 85 per cent of the sugar and tobacco business of Cuba has been incorporated in New Jersey.

It is interesting to note that $5 per cent of the sugar and tobacco business of Cuba has been incorporated in New Jersey.

While De Wet, Delarey and Botha will receive no peerages or pensions, their niches in the Hall of Fame are cut in enduring stone.

Heroism of Science.

The practical results of such exhibitions of courage and daring as those shown by Professor Hellprin and George Kennan in facing the volcanic wrath of Mont Pelee and Professor Jagger and Dr. Hovey in ascending the sulphurous summit of La Soufriere may not be apparent.

Had anything happened to these bold explorers the risk they took in ascending the burning mountains and peering into the still active craters would have been set down as rash if not foolhardy.

These explorers took the risks not through hope of large financial rewards nor with the expectation of the world's plaudits for deeds of daring.

It can scarcely be doubted that in getting a close view of volcanic action before it had subsided these intrepid explorers were enabled to secure data of no small importance in reaching conclusions upon the causes, character and consequences of such internal convulsions.

At all events, the scientific expeditions to the burning craters of Mont Pelee and La Soufriere show that the quality of heroism which faces perils, suffering and the risk of death may be displayed in the cause of science and human knowledge as well as for the pride of patriotism, the love of gain or the applause of the world.

The action of several of the shareholders of "Lipton, Limited," in criticizing "Lipton, yachtsman," for the prominent part he has played in the yachting world during recent years seems ill advised, to say the least.

The recent frightful accident on Staten Island, New York, again demonstrated the extreme danger of permitting high power motor machines on public highways.

Mr. Edison declares that his new storage battery for motor vehicles will "put the horse out of business."

It is interesting to note that most of the college commencement programmes, so far as yet promulgated, set apart a day for a game of ball.

The most lavish expenditure for coronation gowns and robes seems like a petty cash transaction compared with the price England is to pay for peace in South Africa.

The attorneys of the beef trust claim that their clients have been losing money for the last three months.

The pan-Germanic party press is engaged in giving Emperor William's American tendencies something of a pan roast.

It may be noted that the scarcity of cattle has thus far made no perceptible dent in the supply of restaurant butter.

It seems to be the ambition of the chauffeur of the racing automobile to break something besides the record.

The Valetudinarian and His Pa.

Somewhere today, uncomfortably conscious of an unusually high collar and wearing his first long tailed coat, a slim, high browed young man is standing on the platform of the town hall making whole arm gestures and using most of the polysyllables in the back of the spelling book.

Over there on the right, third seat from the end and two rows behind that group of pretty girls in white, who will soon sing the part song "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," sits a middle aged man evidently unaccustomed to wearing his best Sunday suit on Wednesday.

In less than a year, however, this vexed question will be settled. The young man will have become intensely interested in one of those young ladies in white.

The announcement is now authoritatively made that John Morley's "Life of Gladstone" will be published in the autumn and that Mr. Morley is now reading the final proof sheets of the book.

It is announced that the Forum with the appearance of the July number will cease its accustomed monthly visits and become a quarterly.

Canal bills and Cuban reciprocity measures may trouble congress and clog legislation for a time, but the other day our national solons got right down to business.

A salary of $25,000 a year for the president of Cuba will do for a start. That was the annual stipend of the president of the United States until our own republic was a good deal older and richer than Cuba.

An enterprising New York paper gets a "scoop" on all its contemporaries by publishing exclusive eyewitness reports by two distinct "only survivors" of the Mont Pelee disaster.

With the arrival of the hundred dollar panama hat it would seem to be about time for the retirement of the overworked joke about the feminine millinery bill.

No doubt President Palma has by this time been rudely awakened to the fact that genuine patriotism and of-foeholding do not necessarily go hand in hand.

It is inferred that the LL. D. after Mark Twain's name means doctor of liberal laughter.

After all, it's worth a good deal to the British to locate General De Wet.

The Eagle Will Scream.

Many of our people will, no doubt, decide to celebrate the great national holiday away from home. It is some times difficult to choose a place to go July 4, because so few places offer anything out of the ordinary in the way of entertainment. This year the public is afforded the opportunity to vent its patriotism at Woodstock where a celebration of the old-fashioned kind will be held. A large amount of fun has been ordered for the entertainment of the thousands who will go there. There will be games, sports, races, dancing all day and night; $500 worth of fire works will form an evening attraction. The renowned Oliver band will furnish music, and eloquent orators will rent the air.

Go to Woodstock July 4.

From the firing of the first gun at sunrise until the flash of the last rocket at night Woodstock will celebrate the anniversary of our republic's birth. Go to Woodstock if you go anywhere.

C. F. Hall Co's. Clothing Sale.

Our announcement last week brought us more customers than we could wait on. This week we increase our force of clerks and add to our list of bargains.

No feature of our clothing sale has so far attracted so much attention as our men's suits at $3.95, $5.00 and $6.00, all of them new goods and not a "shoddy" garment in the lot. We now advertise for the first time since the sale began, youth's suits, ages 15 to 19, at $4.45, 4.95 and 6.45, the best on the market for young men who wish to dress fashionable and economical. Boys' suits at $1.98, 2.69 and 3.49, a bargain for every purchaser.

You will also bear in mind, that besides clothing, we sell everything else commonly sold by an up-to-date department store and that our inducements to customers from out of town are such as are offered by no other store in northern Illinois.
