Married—June 24, 1903, at Walnut Grove, Cal., Frank J. Fallman of Walnut Grove, Cal., and Miss Alice Sway, formerly a resident of Palatine.

Mrs. Chas. Baumgarten had a bad hemorrhage of the nose last Sunday night and her life was despaired of for a short time. She is recovering rapidly, but is still very weak.

Frank Bicknese returned Saturday from the pinneries of Wisconsin. He spent most of his time on the Indian reservation near Lac du Flambeau. He brought home a number of souvenirs of the trip and may return there for another trip soon.

James Wilson, formerly of this place, now residing at Phoenix, Ariz., arrived here Saturday and will spend several weeks in this vicinity with acquaintances. Mr. Wilson is looking stronger than he did when he left Palatine, and states that he enjoys good health in his new home.

Mr. Wm. Mindhenk and Miss Dora Porep of this place were married in Chicago last Thursday and went to Michigan on their wedding trip. They will reside in Chicago, where the groom is employed in Marshall Field's wholesale house. We wish the couple a happy married life.

A large number of her friends surprised Miss Amanda Harz at the home of her parents last Wednesday evening night. After gathering the young people went to the Plum Grove pavilion and enjoyed dancing until almost daylight. Refreshments were served in plenty at midnight. Everybody went home saying they had enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Notice.

Bids and proposals will be received by the Board of Local Improvements of the village of Palatine, Ill., for the construction of an extension of the water main and supply-pipe system, together with the necessary hydrants and other appliances of Palatine along Bothwell street, from Wood street to Richmond street, in accordance with an ordinance passed by the President and Board of Trustees of said village on June 1, 1903, and approved June 1, 1904, a copy of which ordinance, together with the specifications for such improvement, is to be found in the office of the clerk of said village.

All proposals and bids are to be made for the whole of such improvement and must be accompanied by cash or a certified check, certified by a responsible bank, and payable to the President of the Board of Local Improvements, and for an amount not less than ten (10) per centum of the aggregate of such proposal or bid, and no proposals or bids not so accompanied shall be considered.

Contractors are to be paid in bonds, the said bonds to bear five (5) per centum interest per annum.

All proposals and bids are to be delivered to the Board of Local Improvements, who will in open session at the Village Hall, on Wednesday, Aug. 12, 1903, at 8 o'clock p. m., examine the same and publicly declare the same.

ALBERT S. OLMS, President of the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Palatine.

Ranting Revivalists Condemned.

Rev. L. A. Crandall, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, Chicago, condemns the methods adopted by some religious societies to attract converts. In a sermon, delivered Sunday, he said:

"When an evangelist capers and rants, runs up and down the church and performs like an acrobat in a circus, all in the name of soul-saving, he brings the name into disrepute.

"When the leaders of a religious service dance and howl, jump upon tables and do a cake walk across the platform, alleging that they perform all these antics in the interest of human souls, 'soul-saving' needs definition before we commit ourselves to it as the supreme work of the church of Christ.

"All will agree that Jesus Christ came into the world to save men and that his aim should be the constant and great aim of all Christians. No revival can be too inclusive if it be genuine. These admitted facts, however, do not prove that all the alleged 'soul-saving' methods are laudable or that this term is never used in connection with so much that is mere gush and clap-trap as to make it offensive to thoughtful people."

CHICAGO'S BIG FETE.

Week of Sept. 26 to Oct. 1 to be Devoted to Great Spectacles.

Chicago's Centennial jubilee, to be given this fall, is beginning to attract attention throughout the Western states. From Sept. 26 to Oct. 1 the city will be the scene of a series of municipal fetes such as have been equaled only in the days of the Romans. Two of the most popular features on the program will be a military parade and a vivid reproduction of the burning of Chicago.

In the mimic conflagration 500 tons of Roman fire will be ignited simultaneously on the tops of the taller buildings within the area burned by the great fire of 1871. The skyscrapers will be especial vantage grounds for the display, and from the DeKoven street home of the famous Mrs. O'Leary, where the great fire started, there will be a big flight of bombs.

In one of the parks there will be a reproduction of Fort Dearborn, built in 1803. This was the first white man's building in the city, and it is to commemorate its construction that the jubilee is held. Four hundred Indians, descendants of the tribes that once lived in Chicago, will hold camp about the fort and make a daily attack on it. The structure also will be the scene of a reunion of the scattered pioneers of the city.

An industrial parade at night, brilliantly illuminated and containing many handsome floats, will be another spectacle.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railway, the pioneer line west and northwest, reaches Chicago from all points west. Call upon ticket agents for full information.

Largest Fraternal Orders.

The membership of the ten largest fraternal organizations in the United States and Canada, is as follows:

Odd Fellows, 1,083,473; Free Masons 942,221; Order of Foresters, 928,035; Modern Woodmen, 701,650; Knights of Pythias, 540,000; United Workmen, 430,000; Woodmen of the World, 317,000; Knights of the Maccabees, 294,000; Order of Red Men, 289,400; Royal Arcanum, 249,640.

THE INDOLENT FILIPINO

Horace Shelton Writes About Inhabitants of The Philippines.

Says They Are Most Benighted Race on Face of Earth.

Our costly possessions in the orient have formed the topic for much discussion. The army contractors who more than any one else has reaped a rich profit from the day Dewey entered Manila bay to the present, has expended thousands of dollars in the publication of articles setting forth the advantages of the islands which have cost this government hundreds of lives and millions of treasure. It was for the interest of certain contractors that the war in the islands prolonged; that the American people be made to believe that the Filipino was a very valuable addition to this great civilized nation.

Horace H. Shelton, secretary of schools for the Provinces of Camarines, Alby and Sorsogon, has had an opportunity to study the character and habits of our Malay brother and is not favorably impressed with him. He writes and exhaustive article from which we conclude that this government has a job of large dimensions on its hands in an effort to civilize its wards in the Philippines.

Mr. Shelton says: "The islands probably contain the most benighted race of humans on the face of earth to have been in touch with any kind of civilization as long as they have. In 400 years of Spanish domination they have learned practically nothing. It is probable that in 100 years of American rule they will learn little more. The desire, the energy and the capability are lacking.

"Upon the bones of the past must rise a new people before civilization can be introduced and maintained. The only people who show the least progress are the Mestizos. The methods employed in commerce, agriculture and in every pursuit belong to a state of savagery. The native absolutely cannot be depended upon for work. He is lazy, shiftless and unambitious. A few pesos a month and the bounty of nature supplies all his meager wants, and when these few pesos are earned he will rest in absolute idleness until they are gone. To him the laying up of wealth is folly.

Both Clean and Dirty.

The statement often made that the native is dirty is both true and untrue. In regard to personal cleanliness he is excelled by no other race of people. To the native a daily bath is a part of life, and rich and poor alike wear cleaner clothes by far than do the American regular soldiers. Yet with all their personal cleanliness they have absolutely no idea of what is known among civilized people as sanitation. The house inside is always clean, but beneath and around is something horrible to the uninitiated. The most favorable place for the hoppen, stable and henhouse is beneath the living rooms.

Honesty a New Word.

"That there is in existence a thoroughly honest Filipino is doubtful, the meaning of the word is a new one to them. The Spaniards failed to teach the term. The incidents necessary to war will never teach it. For the native to acquire it will be the work of years, probably of generations. Nothing is safe except under lock and key. However, with all their thievery, they are not bold. Robbery by force is almost unknown. They are all sneaks.

"As to the future of the Philippines no man can speak with certainty. That the native has not a single virtue necessary for self-government every well-informed man will readily grant. For years it must be American rule or native anarchy."

SOMETHING WRONG.

"Hard for a Good Girl in Chicago to Make a Living Honestly."

Those were the words Mary Sigadalla wrote just before she blew out the gas and ended her unhappy life. She committed suicide because she could not earn an honest living.

There is no one who will for a moment believe Mary Sigadalla's assertion. Her father was in good circumstances, but she had left home on account of a stepmother and would not seek aid of them. She had lost her last place, in a confectionery, on account of inexperience, and was out of money. She died hungry, and with out paying for the gas she inhaled to kill herself. Unfortunate creature!

Yet at the time she was engaged in this hopeless struggle half the people in Chicago were almost ready to suicide because they could not get girls to work for them. And yet Mary Sigadalla wrote, "I find it hard for a good girl in a great city to make a living honestly."

Does not her case confirm the theory that all suicides are mentally unbalanced? If we do not accept that theory we must take her implied position that housework is not honest. What else could she mean? And yet we venture the assertion that the average American home is the best place in the world for a girl to earn an honest living. There are doubtless some annoyances in domestic employment, in some places, but so there are in any kind of employment. It is safe to say that a girl with a good disposition can always find honest work in a city unless she is exclusive in her style of work, and a man would often have trouble to find work if he were similarly restricted in taste.

The Burning Bushers.

The Suburban Times of DesPlaines has the following to say relative to the Farson-Harvey religious sect: "Eckert's Park has been the scene of a camp meeting the past week, the like of which will not be forgotten very soon by those who took the time to attend. The aggregation is what is known as the Metropolitan Holiness Burning Bush Farson-Harvey et al. Nightly meetings have been held in the dancing pavilion, which attracted nearly every resident of the village at one time or another, simply from curiosity, however. We do not care to waste space on such profession of religion. If they are the only ones, as they say, who go to heaven, we will make it a point to engage accommodations elsewhere."

Drowned in Fox River.

Charles Krahn, a farmer aged 23 years, residing at Miller's Grove, east of Carpentersville, was drowned while bathing in Fox river north of Carpentersville, Saturday evening. The body was recovered that night. The young man had been for some time employed in the Haeger brick yards at Dundee and was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge at Carpentersville.

The funeral was held at Miller's Grove Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. Fluck of Dundee, assisted by Rev. Fidler of Barrington.

THE REVIEW CHIP BASKET.

Hewen by Hackney.

One young man wants to know how long girls should be courted. Same as short girls, to be sure.

There is such a thing as being a little too enterprising. A Kansas grocer advertises 'genuine horseradish fresh from the horse.'

If there is anything more pitiful than an effeminate man it is a masculine woman.

There may be some things a woman doesn't know, but no man can tell her what they are.

If men were half as good as their obituaries the recording angel would have to look for another job.

Some people seem to think that if all the microbes are removed from the milk there is nothing left to afford nourishment, and this is doubtless true with a great deal of the milk.

One girl who did not find a man in her room screamed and called for the police. Evidently she was not the girl of the comic papers who had been looking under the bed for a man for forty years and was disappointed because she did not find one.

"If anybody thinks," says the Sheridan Road News Letter, "that the versatile politician Arthur K. Sterns is dead and his coffin nailed up with twenty-penny nails, we advise them of their mistake. He is very much alive, and bids fair to be more so in the near future." Some men never know when they have enough of either politics or intoxicants.

Not Much It Don't.

"Does happiness and contentment depend upon dollars and cents?" asks an eastern journal. Nay, nay! Out with such base and nonplatonian thought. Did happiness depend on dollars country editors of all men would be most miserable. Country editors learn to live and still be happy on nothing a week—and about the time they get the hang of the art they die and go to heaven and hunt in vain for the fellows who owed them on earth.

DEATH AND INJURY ON THE RAILROADS

One Passenger Is Killed in Vestibule of Sleeper, While Companion Is Unhurt.

St. Paul, Minn., special: Four men were killed and twenty-five to thirty persons were injured in a head-end collision on the Chicago Great Western road, near Hastings, this state.

The dead: Engineer Charles Merkert, Fireman H. Coger, Engineer H. Helman, Fred Horton, Dodge Center, Minn., passenger.

Fred Horton, the passenger who was killed, was said to have been standing in the vestibule of the front sleeper talking to a friend, and was instantly killed, while his friend escaped injury.

The two trains were the Twin City limited and a fast freight. The limited was running as a first section from Oelwine, Iowa, to Minneapolis. The second section consisted of an excursion train running from Des Moines to Minneapolis and was three hours behind time.

The fast freight, south-bound, received an order at Dodge Center reading that the second section of the passenger train was three hours late, and the crew evidently misread the order and attempted to make Vlasaty siding, between Dodge Center and Hastings, Minn., thinking it was the limited that was late.

Fireman Is Killed.

Moline, Ill., dispatch: While going at a reduced speed the westbound freight train on the Rock Island road dropped a truck from off a flat car on the principal business street in this city, which caused the wreck of several cars in the train and wrecking the flagman's tower. An instant later a Burlington extra freight eastbound crashed into the ruins. The body of Hurley, the flagman, was found pinned beneath the wreckage of the tower and a car of lumber scattered broadcast.

Three Are Killed.

East St. Louis, Ill., special: An accommodation train on the Vandavia road en route to St. Louis ran into a well-filled electric car on the East St. Louis & Suburban street railway near Lansdowne, three miles north of here, killing three persons and injuring a score.

The dead: Engineer John Roy, Vandavia; J. J. Lenharth, David H. Beattie.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., special: Frank Sedler was awakened about midnight and found his babe struggling in the clutches of a creature apparently half human and half beast. The animal dropped the child and disappeared.

Three Boys Are Held.

Jackson, Ky., dispatch: Indictments against Charles Callahan, Mathol and Ewen Bowling, three boys accused of ambushing and wounding John Turner nine months ago, have been returned.

Boys Find Stolen Bullion.

Phillipsburg, Mont., dispatch: The $3,000 worth of silver bullion stolen from the Bimetallic mill has been recovered by boys playing around the hill. The bar was sticking out of a hole in which it had been buried.

Clown Weds Rough Rider.

New York dispatch: Myrtle Day, the woman clown with the Barnum & Bailey circus, who is now with Pawnee Bill's show, is to be married to Harry Fenton, one of the rough riders.

MOB BURNS BODY OF A BLACK MAN

Wild Scenes Are Enacted by Revengeful Crowd at Danville, Ill.

SHERIFF WARNS MEN TO QUIT

Resents Attempt to Batter Down Jail Doors With Shots From Winchester, and Several of the Attacking Party Are Seriously Hurt.

A bloody race riot raged in Danville, Ill., Saturday night. One white man, Henry Gatterman, was killed, and one negro, J. D. Mayfield from Evansville, Ind., was lynched by a mob of enraged white citizens and his body burned in sight of thousands of people who thronged the streets.

A mob surrounding the jail clamoring for the life of another negro, James Wilson, was fired on by the sheriff and his deputies and three persons were badly wounded.

Negroes Are Beaten.

Several negroes were nearly beaten to death by the infuriated populace any man fled precipitately, not stopping even to lock-up their houses.

Thousands of men and women were in the streets, the women no less anxious than the men to wreak vengeance on the negro who cowered in a dark cell of the county jail.

The negro in the jail confessed to a brutal assault on Mrs. Thomas Burgess, wife of a farmer at Alvon, Ill., just north of Danville. A posse soon ran him down and placed him in jail and it was while the mob was on its way to lynch him that Mayfield met his death.

Negro Slays White Man.

As the crowd was hurrying to the jail about 8 o'clock at night to take Wilson out and hang him the negro Mayfield became involved in a quarrel with Henry Gatterman, a young German butcher, and, drawing his revolver, shot Gatterman dead.

The negro was caught and with much difficulty the police took him to the city prison, followed by a crowd, which rapidly grew into a mob that yelled itself hoarse in demanding that the murderer be lynched.

The police were assisted by Sheriff H. H. Whitlock and were gathered in the city building to keep the mob out, but were finally forced to admit a portion of them. The colored murderer had previously been locked in a vault in which the police records are kept and the officers hoped that the mob would not find him.

Mob Secures Prisoner.

The leaders were told that Mayfield had been taken out of the rear door and carried into the country in a buggy, but they refused to believe the assertion. Some went for railroad irons and others for sledge hammers and a few minutes later the lock had been knocked off the vault door and the negro was dragged forth amid the exultant shouts of his captors.

The victim made a fierce struggle, but the blows that were rained upon him soon brought him to the floor and a revolver shot nearly finished him.

Riddle Body With Bullets.

The mob then dragged the dying man from the building and placing a rope about his neck pulled him along the square to Main street and then five squares east to the spot where he killed Gatterman. By this time, it is believed, life was extinct. Here his body was strung up to a telegraph pole and riddled with bullets.

Cries of "Burn him! burn him!" were then heard, and the mob leaders soon had the lifeless body of the negro down and were dragging it south on the Wabash railroad tracks. At South street they decided to take the body to the jail, where the other negro, Wilson, was confined.

Body Is Burned.

As soon as the word was given the mob yelled "To the jail!" "Lynch the other negro!" and made a wild charge for that building, where an

Daughters of Wealthy Indiana Man Defeat Brothers in Court.

Valparaiso, Ind., special: The jury in the George W. Swygart will contest on trial in the Porter county Circuit court returned a verdict favorable to the plaintiffs and breaking the will. Swygart was a wealthy and eccentric character in South Bend, who left a will giving the bulk of a $250,000 estate to his sons. The daughters contested.

immense crowd had already congregated in anticipation of a second lynching.

Arrived at the jail the body of the negro was placed in the center of the converging streets, where dozens of frenzied men and boys kicked and jumped upon it. The body was totally naked and blood was oozing from dozens of bullet holes. Someone threw an armful of hay on the body and touched a match to it, after which the mob backed away a short distance and watched the awful spectacle of a human body being slowly burned to a crisp.

Jeer at Sheriff.

Growing tired of this gruesome spectacle, the mob turned its attention to the county jail and demands were made upon Sheriff Whitlock that he should give them the culprit. As the clamor for the second negro grew louder and more insistent Sheriff Whitlock stepped out upon the veranda on the west side of the jail, and, calling for silence, said: "You are doing wrong. You will regret what you have already done to-morrow and you should go home and allow the law to take its course. This negro has not been identified as the man who assaulted Mrs. Burgess. If he had been I would turn him out to you. You cannot afford to kill an innocent man."

HENRY GATTERMAN

The crowd only hooted in derision and demanded that the negro be produced.

Fires on the Mob.

Then several members of the mob appeared with a railroad iron and a charge was made upon the door leading into the jail portion, behind which were gathered the officers.

Three of four times was this improvised battering-ram hurled against the steel door, when the peep-hole was opened and the barrel of a Winchester gun was thrust through it and another demand from the sheriff, this time from a window in the second story, for the mob to disperse, was made.

No attention being given to it a shot was fired over the heads of the mob. The shot seemed only to anger the mob, and another charge was made with the battering-ram upon the door. The gun was again fired, this time into the dense crowd welding the railroad iron, and several men were seen to drop to the ground.

Several more shots were fired from the jail door and windows by the officers inside, and the mob began to scatter, leaving four or five on the ground bleeding from bullet wounds. Others limped away, showing that many of the buckshot and bullets had taken effect.

Orders were given to the Seventh regiment, in camp at Springfield, to proceed to Danville and assist the sheriff. When the soldiers appeared on the scene they were jeered by the men and women on the streets, but succeeded in restoring order. Threats were made that mobs would be organized in nearby towns and supplied with dynamite. There is a likelihood that the militia will remain for some time.

Trouble Is Over.

Danville has returned to its normal state. Aside from mutterings from time to time and the sight occasionally of a soldier, there is nothing to indicate the terrible scenes of Saturday night. There was some fear that the funeral of Gatterman might be followed by an uprising, but it passed off quietly.

The authorities of both the city and county are confident that the trouble is over and that there will be no further uprisings. The only danger now is that a fresh quarrel between some negro and white man may fan the dying ashes into activity.

The denunciation of the sheriff which came from friends of those shot immediately after the assault on the jail are growing fainter, and he is now being commended on all sides.

New Men for Three Eye.

Bloomington, Ill., dispatch: Mike Bucks of Vincennes, Ind., has signed with the Springfield team of the Three Eye League to play first base. James Walsh, a pitcher in the Eastern League, has also been signed by Springfield. Wright, formerly of Rock Island but lately of Omaha, has signed with Peoria, and Thornton of Milwaukee is to be transferred to Omaha.

MILLION FOR A YOUNG WOMAN

Miss Dolbear of San Francisco Soon to Get Her Inheritance.

San Francisco, Cal., dispatch: Miss Bertha M. Dolbear, only daughter of the late John Dolbear, will soon be in control of her inheritance, estimated at $1,200,000, including interests in vessels, dividend-bearing stocks in various corporations, realty and cash. The executors of the will have filed their final report in the Superior court and asked for an order of distribution.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

The Bastille! She had heard enough in Paris of that stone hell to make her tremble at the word. All night she endured it, but in the morning she was resolved to throw the intolerable burden on some one more able to bear it. But on whom? Sir Thomas would not have the subject named in his presence. It would be cruel to tell Jane,—but there was Cromwell. There was the Protector. It was his business to look after Englishmen, else what was the use of a Protector? Besides which, Cromwell loved Neville.

Matilda could not tell how much or how little Cromwell knew of her meddling in a variety of plots against his life and government, but she expected her father's name would secure her an audience. Her first request, however, was met with a prompt refusal. She was not to be daunted. If her own name was not sufficient, she had others more potent. So she wrote on a card these words: "Lady Matilda de Wick has important information regarding Lord Cluny Neville; and for Mistress Jane Swaffham's sake she asks an interview."

This message was instantly effective. While Matilda was telling herself that "she would not do the least homage to the Usurper," the door opened hastily, and he entered her presence. In the twinkling of an eye all her resolves vanished. She fell at his feet, and taking his hand kissed it, whether in homage or in entreaty, she knew not.

"My lord," she said, and then she began to sob. "My lord, I crave of you so many pardons—so much forbearance—I will never offend again." He raised her with an imperious movement, and leading her to a chair, remained standing at her side. "We will forget—the past is to be forgotten for your dear father's sake. Quickly tell me what you know, I am in a great hurry."

Without one unnecessary word she

for his life—for every hair of his head that falls wrongfully to the ground. And in regard to sending more troops to Boulogne against the Spaniards, look not for them, unless, by the grace of God and your orders, Lord Neville is presently, and without hindrance, in England. Then, I will stand with you, and I do hope that neither the cruelty, nor malice of any man will be able to make void our agreement concerning the Spaniard; for as to the young man's return, it is the first count in it, and I shall—I must—see that he is restored to that freedom of which he has been unjustly deprived. It cannot be believed that your eminency has had anything to do with this deed of sheer wickedness, yet I must make mention of the jewels which disappeared with Lord Neville, and the money, and the papers. I have some reluctance to write further about them, believing that you will look more particularly than I can direct, into this matter. By the hand of my personal friend, General Swaffham, I send this; and in all requisites he will stand for

"Sir,
"Your Eminency's
"Most Humble Servant,
"OLIVER P."

When this letter was sealed, he sent for Israel, and telling him all that he had heard, bade him take twelve of their own troop, go to Paris, and bring back Cluny with them.

Cromwell's summons affected Mazarin like thunder out of a clear sky. He had forgotten Lord Neville.

"I will make inquiries," he said to Israel. "In two or three days—or a week—"

"I must be on my way back to London, sir, in two or three days."

"I cannot be hurried,—I have much other business. You must wait."

"Waiting is not in my commission, sir. I am to work, or to return to London without an hour's delay. Lord Neville is particularly dear to his highness; and if my inquiries meet hasten. I give you ten minutes to produce Lord Neville. After that time, I shall return to his eminency and report your refusal to obey him."

The gaoler had never before been accosted in such language. As word by word was translated to his intelligence, he manifested an unspeakable terror. He left the chamber at once, and within the time named there were sounds heard which made all hearts stand still,—the slow movement of feet hardly able to walk,—the dismal clangor of iron, and anon the mournful sound of a human voice. But nothing could have prepared Cluny's comrades for the sight of their old companion. His tall form was attenuated to the last point; his eyes, unaccustomed to much light, would not at once respond, they looked as if they had lost vision; his hair straggled unkempt over his shoulders, and the awful pallor of the prison on his face and neck and hands was more ghastly than the pallor of death. His clothing had decayed; it hung in shreds about his limbs; but there was a glimmer of his old self in the pitiful effort he made, as soon as conscious of human presence, to lift up his head and carry himself without fear.

"Cluny! Cluny! Cluny!" cried Israel; and then Cluny distinguished the buff and steel uniforms, and knew who it was that called him. A long, sharp cry of agony, wonder, joy, answered the call, and he fell senseless into Israel's arms.

They brought him wine, they lifted him to the open window, they laid bare the skeleton form of his chest, they called him by name in voices so full of love and pity that his soul perforce answered their entreaties. Then the Governor offered him some clothing, but Israel put it passionately away. They were worse than Babylonish garments in his sight; he would not touch them. He asked only for a public litter, and when it was procured, they laid Cluny in it, and his comrades bore him through the streets of Paris to their lodging on the outskirts of the city.

When they left the gates of the prison there was a large gathering of men, and it increased as they proceeded,—a pitiful crowd, whose very silence was the highest eloquence. For they understood, Cluny lay prone and oblivious to their vision. They had seen him come from the Bastille. He was dead, or dying, and these angry, weeping soldiers were his comrades. They began to mutter, to exclaim, to voice their sympathy more and more intelligibly. Women, praying and weeping audibly, joined the procession, and Israel foresaw the possibility of trouble. He felt that in some way order must be restored, and inspired by the wisdom within, he raised his hands and in a loud, ringing voice, began the favorite hymn of his troopers; and to the words they had been used to sing in moments of triumphal help or deliverance they carried Cluny, with the solemn order of a religious service, safely into their camp.

CHAPTER XVI.

Oliver the Conqueror.

"Cheer up, Jane! You and Lord Neville will yet arrive at the height of your wishes. This is my judgment, and if it be not true, you may burn me in the ear for a rogue."

"And you will marry Cymlyn?"
"Faith, I know not how I am to help the catastrophe! But in all sobriety, I think Cymlyn loves me, and you do, too, dear Jane! Oh, I could weep my eyes dry when I think of your dear lover, and all he has so innocently suffered. It is intolerable!"

In her way, Matilda was doing her best to console and encourage Jane as they talked over the sad fate of her rescued lover. Both had been weeping, and there was a more affectionate confidence between them than had existed for many years.

Too Much Talk of Birth.

When the Society of the Cincinnati was formed there was the most vehement opposition to the principles of founding here an hereditary order. There is less danger to-day of an aristocracy of birth winning any real ascendancy in this land than there was when the nation was just breaking away from the English tradition. But there is to-day in some quarters an unmistakable development of snobbery which lays an absurd emphasis on the circumstance of birth. A line of worthy ancestors is an excellent thing—i. e. any ancient virtues have been transmitted to the children. An honored name is an enviable possession—when its living owner bears himself worthily. Membership in an hereditary patriotic order is possibly an advantage—so long as it inspires the member to serve his country to-day in causes no less holy, though maybe less heroic, than those which his order commemorates. Other advantages than these birth does not confer.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Old Tower of Punishment.

Henry Norman, the traveler, says: "High above everything else in Bokhara towers the Miner Kalan, the great tower of punishment. It is built of flat red bricks and its graceful proportions have not suffered at all from the effects of time. At the top it widens into a kind of campanile, set with oblong windows, and at its foot there is a depression which looks as if it had been scraped out of the ground. From one of these windows condemned criminals, trussed like fowls, were pushed out, and this depression is where generations of them fell." This practice has now been prohibited by the Russians who rule the country.

State Happenings Succinctly Told by Our Special Correspondents

CROP BULLETIN IS FAVORABLE

Conditions in the State Are Good for the Farmers.

Following is the crop bulletin for the week ended July 27:

"The temperature was below normal the first part of the week; the latter part it was warm, maximum temperatures of 90 degrees and over prevailing in all sections. The deficiency in rainfall was marked and the pressing need of moisture is noted by nearly all correspondents. Plowing for fall grain has begun, but the work was retarded in many localities by the hard, dry condition of the soil. Harvesting has proceeded under the most favorable conditions.

"Corn has made fair advancement during the week, but the weather conditions have not been entirely favorable. The nights were too cool, and the crop needs rain in the central and southern sections. The plant is in all stages of development, from one foot to six feet in height. Some fields have attained seasonable growth, but the crop is mostly undersized and will require favorable weather and a late fall to make an average crop.

"The harvesting of oats is going on and considerable thrashing has been done. The output is below average, but the quality is generally good.

"Rye and barley are in shock, and where thrashing has been done the result is satisfactory with regard to yield and quality.

"Wheat continues to give return far below an average yield.

"Fine weather for haying has prevailed and a large crop of good quality has been secured. The second crop of clover has made a good start. In the southern district pastures are short and need rain.

"Reports now indicate a more promising condition for apples, but the crop is short and the fruit continues to drop in many localities.

"Sweet potatoes are promising. Irish potatoes have been damaged by drought in some localities, but the average condition is good."

OLDEST MINISTER.

The Rev. Byron Alden of Streator, who will be 97 years old on Nov. 5 next, is the oldest Methodist minister in the world, being eight months older than the Rev. Joseph Ayres of Sidney, Ohio, who has been called "the oldest Methodist minister." The Rev. Mr. Alden is still a forcible pulpit preacher and fills appointments occasionally. He spoke at the Methodist conference held at Streator last fall, when his eloquence and force and his firm footsteps were much commented on. He was born at Hinesburg, Vt., on Nov. 5, 1806. He preached in New York conferences for a number of years before coming to Illinois. In this state his first assignment was at Woodstock, where he remained ten years, going later to Gardner and Verona. The latter was his last regular appointment and expired fifteen years ago. There are curious coincidents in the careers of the Rev. Mr. Alden and the Rev. Mr. Ayres. Both were born in Vermont, each entered on his first assignment in New York in 1830, and each is spending his last years with his daughter.

Incorrigible Boy.

Lee McCormick, aged 14, was sentenced to the state reformatory for the third time. The boy stole a watch chain from Dr. E. E. Gordon of Cairo. In jail he tore up the bedding, turned on the water and smashed the dishes so that he had to be locked up in the cage. He was sent to the state reformatory from Anna and also from Cape Girardeau, Mo. He claims Chester, Ill., as his home, and says his parents are dead.

Early Closing Pleases.

Merchants and clerks of Springfield are alike pleased with the Wednesday afternoon closing scheme. Fully two-thirds of the merchants of the city have endorsed the plan and will close on Wednesdays. A petition is now being circulated among the confectioners.

Settles Miners' Troubles.

Secretary W. D. Ryan of the Illinois United Mine Workers and John T. Parsons of Riverton have settled the difficulties between the miners and shot-drillers at Pawnee and averted a strike of the 200 men who threatened to walk out.

Button Factory.

The machinery has arrived in Pana for another button factory, which is to be established in the Throckmorton building on Main street. It is to be run by A. E. and B. S. Salter.

FATHER KILLS SON WITH CLUB

Quarrel Over Mules That Broke Into Field Has Fatal Ending.

Deputy Sheriff Throgmorton and County Treasurer Sheeves arrested John Stubblefield of Blairsville, charged with the crime of killing his son, W. E. Stubblefield, aged 21 years.

It appears that the father and son were alone at work some distance from the house when trouble broke out over some mules that had broken into the field, and this led to the tragedy. The father claims that the son was the aggressor and that he threw a small club at the young man, inflicting a wound from which he died. He managed to get his victim to the house, where he lay about 24 hours, unknown to his neighbors, and was in that condition when a brother-in-law by chance called in and discovered the unconscious man, where he had been for hours without treatment. A doctor was called, but did not arrive upon the scene until after the young man had passed away.

Militia Orders.

Adj. Gen. Scott has issued an order announcing the appointment, upon the recommendation of Gen. James B. Smith, commander of the Fourth brigade, of Franklin A. Dennison of Chicago as quartermaster of the brigade, with rank of major. Dennison is a colored man, who is a very bright lawyer. He was assistant corporation counsel of Chicago during the administrations of Mayors Washburn, Harrison and Hopkins.

An order was issued confirming the election of Vincent Y. Dallman of Springfield to be first lieutenant of the engineer company.

The election of Walter D. Hammack to be first lieutenant of company E, Fifth infantry (vice Clotfelter) of Hillsboro, is confirmed, as is the election of Albert Linxwiler to be second lieutenant of the same company.

Levee Report.

The commissioners of the Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice drainage and levee district have submitted to Judge Hillskotter of the Madison county court a detailed report of the damage done by the recent flood to the levees of the district. No estimate of the cost of repairing the levees was furnished, but the commissioners asked that an expert engineer be employed to investigate conditions in the district and furnish an estimate of the cost of repairs necessary to place the levee in good condition. This was granted by the court, and the investigation will be made early in order that the commissioners may make up their assessment roll.

Heaps of Trouble.

Jack Graham, aged 27 years, who was a soldier in the American-Spanish war, and his wife, who is a Spanish woman, were arrested at Quincy on several charges. Graham tried to whip the officers during his trial in the police court. He and his wife were fined $50 each on charges of vagrancy, and each was sentenced to 100 days in the house of correction to work out the fine. They are also held under $2,000 bond each to answer charges of grand larceny. Charges of perjury were also preferred against them, and another trial will take place later.

Obscene Matter.

John Federer, son of a wealthy German farmer living near Bible Grove, in Clay county, was arrested and taken to Springfield on a bench warrant, charging him with sending an objectionable letter through the mails to a neighbor named Beall. Federer pleaded guilty before Judge Humphrey, and the court reserved sentence. Federer and his father allege that Beall offered not to prosecute if Federer's father would pay him $250, but the old gentleman replied that if there was any money to be paid he would rather pay it to the United States.

Holiday for Clerks.

The movement to have the stores close at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon is meeting with the approval of the merchants of Springfield, and most of the leading storekeepers have agreed to close, and henceforth during the summer months Wednesday afternoon will be a holiday.

Homes for Children.

The Quincy Women's Christian Temperance union has affiliated with the American Home Finding association, headquarters in Chicago, for the purpose of rendering assistance in finding homes for destitute children.

Splinter Causes Lockjaw.

Bessie Crowder, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Crowder of Mattson, is critically ill with lockjaw, caused by running a splinter into her foot.

Recognizes Union.

William Drake of the Drake boiler works at Springfield, whose employes have been on a strike, has recognized the union, granted the raise in wages demanded by the men and work at the plant has been resumed.

Engines Are Disabled.

Two freight trains on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois collided just north of Salem. The engines were disabled and several cars demolished. The train crews saved themselves by jumping.

LITTLE TOT DRINKS GASOLINE

Deadly Liquid Acts on Blackberries and Child's Life is Saved.

If little Syd Foll, the 3-year-old son of John Foll of Pana, had not had his stomach filled with blackberries he would not now be alive. As it was it was fortunate that the doctor was ready to go immediately when called. At 2:15 o'clock p. m. the little boy's father received a telephone message that his son had just drunk a large quantity of gasoline and was unconscious. Rushing out of his office, he found Dr. F. J. Eberspacher at the foot of the stairs, two doors away. Mr. Foll and the doctor rushed to the home, and at 2:30 o'clock the boy was vomiting and regaining consciousness. He vomited up a large quantity of blackberries, upon which the gasoline had evidently worked instead of upon the walls of the stomach. He seems to be on the road to recovery, which is considered little short of marvelous.

RELIEF FUND IS APPORTIONED

Madison County Emergency Committee Submits Final Report.

The emergency committee of the Madison county board of supervisors, composed of John Eible of Alton, William Reinhart of Saline and Lem Southard of Chouteau township has completed the distribution of the relief fund subscribed by citizens of the county for the recent-flood sufferers. The total amount subscribed in the different townships was $2,560, which was apportioned by the committee as follows: Venice township, 40 per cent; Nameoki and Chouteau townships, each 30 per cent. A portion of the money will be used in purchasing seed wheat and other supplies for renters on bottom farms who have lost everything they had.

CLEVER ASTRONOMER.

Dr. Joel Stebbins, fellow of Lick observatory, who goes to Champaign Sept. 1 as instructor in charge of the observatory and the astronomical department of the University of Illinois, is a son of Charles S. Stebbins of Omaha and a native of that city.

Dr. Stebbins began the study of astronomy at the age of 13, when he obtained a set of astronomical lenses, for which he made a pasteboard tube. He then seized upon the family dictionary holder, fixing the telescope in it and mounting the whole on a tripod constructed for that purpose. A year later in the manual training department of the Omaha high school he made a second and larger telescope, which, besides being an excellent piece of mechanism, was a really serviceable instrument for astronomical study. In the University of Nebraska, the University of Wisconsin and the University of California he distinguished himself, and the last two years he has spent at Lick observatory.

Militia Surgeons.

Adj. Gen. Scott has issued orders announcing the appointment of William H. Malley of Galesburg, as assistant surgeon, to be attached to the artillery battalion of the Illinois national guard, to rank as first lieutenant, and of Levi S. Brown of Galesburg, to be veterinary surgeon, to be attached to the artillery battalion, to rank as first lieutenant.

related all, and then put into his hands Prince Rupert's letter, with her finger directing his attention to the terrifying postscript. And she saw with fear the rising passion in his countenance, and for a moment trembled when he looked into her eyes with such piercing inquiry that she could not resist nor misunderstand their question.

"Sir," she cried, with a childlike abandon, "in this matter I am single-hearted as I can be. I wish only to put a great wrong right."

"You tell me the truth, I believe you," he answered; "and I will take upon me to see that it is done. Say not a word to Jane Swaffham until there be a surety in the matter."

Then she rose, and looking with eyes full of tears into his face, said, "Sir, I remember the day you pulled down the hazelnuts for me in de Wick park. My father walked with you, arm in arm, and I had your hand until you lifted me at the gates and kissed me. Sir, I entreat you, forget all that has come and gone since that hour, and dismiss me now, as then,"—and she lifted her lovely face, wet with the tears of contrition, and Cromwell took it between his broad, strong hands, and kissed it, even as he had kissed it in her childhood.

"Go home, my dear," he said softly, "All that can be done I will do, and without delay."

Matilda curtsied and went out. There was in her heart a strong belief that this time Cromwell's inquiries would be as effective as they were sure to be prompt. Indeed the first thing the Protector did, was to dictate the following letter to Mazarin:

"To His Eminency Cardinal Mazarin, "Sir:—In a manner most providential it has been made known to me that Lord Neville is at this present moment in the Bastille prison. I know not why my friends should be treated as enemies, seeing that I have been faithful to you in all difficulties. Truly my business is now to speak things that I will have understood. The danger is great, if you will be sensible of it, unless Lord Neville be put at once in charge of those by whom I send this message. For if any harm come to him, I will make inquisition not with attention,—on the moment,—I am instructed to waste no time. We must then conclude the envoy of the Commonwealth of England has been robbed and slain, and it will be the duty of England to take redress at once."

"You talk beyond your commission."

"Within it, sir."

"Retire to the anteroom. They will serve you with bread and wine while I make some inquiries."

"It is beyond my commission to eat or drink until I have had speech with Lord Neville. I will wait in this presence, the authority of your eminency," and Israel let his sword drop and leaned upon it, gazing steadfastly the while into the face of the cardinal. The twelve troopers with him, followed as one man, his attitude, and even Mazarin's carefully tutored composure could not long endure this silent battery of determined hearts and fixed eyes. He gave the necessary order for the release of Lord Cluny Neville,—if such a prisoner was really in the Bastille,—and sending a body of his own musketeers with it, directed Israel to accompany them.

The Governor of the Bastille had so forgotten Cluny, that his name called up no recollection. He did not know whether he was in the prison or not. He did not know whether he was alive or dead. The very books of the prison had forgotten Cluny. Their keeper grew cross, and positive of Neville's non-entering, as volume after volume refused to give up his name. But Israel and his men, standing there so determined and so silent, forced him to go back and back, until he came to that fateful day when, before the dawning, the young man had been driven within those terrible gates.

"On whose order?" asked Israel, speaking with sharp authority.

"On the order of his eminency, Cardinal Mazarin," was the answer.

"I thought so;" then turning to the head gaoler he added, "you have the order for release. We are in haste."

"Time is not counted here. We know not haste," was the answer.

"Then," said Israel, flaming into passion, "you must learn how to Improving the Consular Service.

The National Business league, a non-partisan organization with headquarters at Chicago, has vigorously resumed its campaign for the improvement of the United States consular service. It urges fixed salaries for agents, instead of fees, and would have the offices under the merit system. The reclassification of these commercial representatives of the United States and their selection, according to fitness for the work they have to do, instead of to pay political obligations, would greatly add to the value of the reports which are made by them.

There has been a considerable improvement in the consular service in recent years, and by several foreign observers it has been declared to be the best organized and most efficient in the world, though there is still chance for improvement. This could doubtless be measurably accomplished by the reforms urged by the National Business league.

During the last few years a number of American colleges have established courses of study calculated to fit young men for this branch of the foreign service, and if followed up will no doubt accomplish good results.

In this connection it may be noted that the bureau of foreign commerce of the department of state has been formally transferred to the new department of commerce and labor, and henceforth all consular reports which deal with matters of interest to business men and exporters will be issued under the direction of the secretary of the latter department. The reports of the consular agents in various parts of the world have been of much value to American manufacturers who have an export business, and possibly can be made of still greater value under the new arrangement. At least that is the department to which they properly belong.

The Situation in Macedonia.

No doubt the situation in Macedonia is bad enough, but of all the reports in circulation it is impossible to decide which are true and which false.

A correspondent of the London Times has been wandering in the region around Strumitza, the district where Miss Stone, the American missionary, was captured, and which is said to have been the scene of many recent encounters between revolutionary bands and Turkish troops and outrages by the latter. At a place called Smerelish it appears a band of fugitive villagers were mistaken for revolutionists by a Turkish detachment not long ago and annihilated. Turkish irregulars in search of revolutionists are not apt to be particular in the matter of identification. But the correspondent failed to discover here or in the neighborhood of Istib, which he also visited, any extended signs of the reign of terror which is supposed to prevail everywhere. Poverty and squalor prevailed on all sides, and there was a marked disinclination on the part of the natives to have anything to do with a foreigner, but the inhabitants of many of the villages were working tranquilly enough in their fields. In the town of Strumitza only twenty-three suspects had been arrested, and all of them except two were released after a fortnight's imprisonment.

The statement that the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company has expended in the neighborhood of $9,000,000 in the work already done or which is under contract shows that the business of preparation for the world's fair has been pushed with great vigor. There can be no doubt that everything will be completed on April 30, 1904. It will be something of a curiosity to see an international exposition which will be in readiness on the appointed day, but this is promised by St. Louis.

Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis, the district attorney who has put several official bootlers in jail for corruption and has more prosecutions in hand, says the worst enemies of the republic now are the givers and takers of bribes. This persuasive evil, which is becoming altogether too common, demands prompt and severe treatment everywhere.

A St. Louis man who read the new directory diligently as any good citizen should run across a woman's name which pleased him and, hunting up the bearer, married her. Again we see the advantage or disadvantage, as the case may be, of getting one's name in print.

Protests against a certain kind of bathing suits at the president's home town seem to indicate an unwillingness on the part of Oyster Bay to be served on the half shell.

In the opinion of a New York legal authority there is no punishment for betting at race tracks. The opinion of the man who bets on the wrong horse is different.

If the postal investigation is continued the public may yet learn what is used for gum on the postage stamps.

For once at least the innocent bystander has the laugh on the other fellows. In the recent automobile races in Ireland none of the spectators got a scratch.

Railways in the Philippines.

The need of better means of transportation and communication in the Philippine Islands is generally recognized, but whether it is the part of wisdom for the government to permit the building and operation of railways and telegraph lines by a private corporation is doubted in some quarters.

It is understood that the American Development company, a private enterprise, is ready to undertake the work of building an extensive system of railways in the Philippines, extending from Manila southward for several hundred miles and taking in the larger islands of the center group—Cebu, Panay, Negros and Samar—connection with Luzon being made by ferry.

Undoubtedly railroads are what the Philippines most need. Nothing else will contribute so much to their commercial development and permanent pacification. Great Britain has found that as a weapon of defense in a brown or black colony the railroad is unexcelled. India has 25,000 miles of railroad, four-fifths of it being government owned. Kitchener fought his way to Khartoum with "the head of the rails" as his base of supplies. The tide of Burmese rebellion, which resembled the Philippine insurrection closely, was steadily rolled back by the advancing railroad, and all that territory through which the road advanced seemed to become pacified automatically.

The need of railroads in the Philippines both for commercial and political reasons being recognized, the question is whether it would be a better thing for the Philippine government to operate the railroads itself or to grant a franchise for a private corporation. Although in the kingdom of Great Britain private companies manage the railroads, in the British black and brown colonies 90 per cent of the railroads belong to the government. The colonial office found that in such colonies the railroads must serve a dual function—as promoters of commerce and as conservators of the peace. Sometimes military reasons would advise directing the route into places different from those advised by the voice of commerce alone. In a semicivilized country the requirements of strategy are often more imperative than the demands of commerce.

Before the franchises are granted to private corporations it would at least be well to have the army engineers survey proposed routes and report their ideas of the relative advisability of government versus private ownership as well as the cost and probable profits of the roads.

The End of Strikes.

We should all be glad to concur in the opinion of John Mitchell that the agreement of the miners and operators upon the establishment of the conciliation board suggested by the Gray commission marks the end of strikes in the anthracite region. It is sincerely to be hoped that Mr. Mitchell's prediction will prove true, and there is some ground for such a hope in the adoption by the conciliators of the complete machinery for the peaceful adjustment of every dispute likely to arise in the anthracite region.

According to this agreement, grievances are first to be submitted to the mine foreman and may be appealed to the superintendent or manager, then to the conciliation board, and after that, under the terms of the commission's report, to an umpire to be appointed by a judge of the United States circuit court. Pending the ultimate decision there is to be no interruption of work. This agreement places the miners' union under obligations to prevent strikes, at least until every means of conciliation or arbitration authorized has been exhausted. The effort to fulfill this obligation in itself will reduce the possibility of strikes to a minimum. It will be better for the men and for the operators by avoiding the loss sustained by stoppage of work. It will elimi-

Hair Splits

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for thirty years. It is elegant for a hair dressing and for keeping the hair from splitting at the ends."—J. A. Gruenfelder, Grantfork, Ill.

Hair-splitting splits friendships. If the hair-splitting is done on your own head, it loses friends for you, for every hair of your head is a friend.

Ayer's Hair Vigor in advance will prevent the splitting. If the splitting has begun, it will stop it.

nate the chances of friction and tend to the preservation of the public peace.

If these salutary results can be obtained by this policy in the anthracite country, why would it not be a good plan for all employers and employees to adopt the same methods rather than the wasteful and suicidal policy of resorting to strikes and lockouts?

A New York justice has decided that George W. Vanderbilt must remove his carriage gate because it violates the ordinance relating to the stoop line. It seems like adding insult to injury to refer to the brownstone palace porches as stoops.

Of course Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, is indignant over the action of the United States in regard to the Kishineff outrages. The count is a diplomat, and indignation is frequently diplomatic, whether it is real or assumed.

LYNCH LAW.

It May Have Taken Its Name From a Mayor of Galway.

About the year 1500 one James Fitzstephens Lynch was mayor of the town of Galway, in Ireland. He had sent his son on a trading expedition to Spain with a good cargo and a large sum of money. The young man returned with a ship load of valuable commodities, which he reported as having been purchased with the money and with the proceeds of the outgoing cargo. After some time a Spaniard came along, demanding payment from the mayor for the goods he alleged had been bought on credit by his son. The mayor declined payment, as his son averred he had paid in cash for the goods. Unfortunately for the latter, a sailor who had been one of the crew on examination by Mayor Lynch declared that his unworthy son had spent in reckless debauchery not only the money intrusted to him, but the proceeds of the cargo as well; that he had then bought goods from a large firm on credit, and that when one of the partners of the firm came down to the ship before sailing to receive the money young Lynch murdered the man and had him thrown overboard to conceal the facts from his father.

The young man was immediately arrested and brought before his father, who, notwithstanding the tearful entreaties of his wife and daughters, sentenced him to death. He took him upstairs in his warehouse, adjusted a rope around his neck, having first secured it inside, and then pushed the young man out of the window, where his dying struggles were witnessed by the inhabitants of the town of Galway. In the town records this entry is yet to be seen:

"James Lynch, mayor of Galway, hanged his own son out of the window for defrauding and killing strangers, without martial or common law, to show a good example to posterity."

It may be from that incident that lynch law took its name. It is not a peculiar American institution, as is commonly supposed, but has been practiced in other countries. The English had a walled town in Devonshire of the name of Lydford, which became noted for the summary punishments inflicted on notorious offenders. They became proverbial in England as Lydford law, and it is not impossible that lynch may be a corruption of Lydford. In Scotland it was known as "Jedburgh justice."

James Lynch, a justice of the peace in one of the Piedmont counties in Virginia, whose methods were both summary and severe, is also credited with having given his name to this offhand and expeditious mode of dealing with criminals now generally known as lynch law.—Pittsburg Gazette.

General Grant's Supreme Courage.

General Grant's courage was supreme. No man could face danger with greater composure. He did not seem to know the meaning of peril when duty called him to risk his life. At one time I saw the general escape death by a very slight margin. We were breaking camp at Spottsylvania Court House and under the fire of a Confederate battery. All of the headquarters equipment had been removed except a camp stool, and on this the general was sitting, while the shells of the enemy's guns shrieked over our heads. A shell passed just over the general, not missing him apparently by more than a few inches, and struck the ground about thirty feet away. Without showing the slightest nervousness he called to me to get the shell, saying, "Let's see what kind of ammunition that battery is using." I went and picked up the shell, which was a six pound spherical case, and the general examined it as coolly as if there was not an enemy's gun within 100 miles of him.—National Magazine.

The Point of View.

Two window washers were at work on the ledges of the sixteenth story windows of a downtown office building about ten feet from each other. As they hung to their straps and washed and polished the glass they could look into the offices, where a number of clerks were bending over ledgers and books.

For a half hour they worked and watched the clerks, who did not move from their confined position over their books. Finally one big window washer leaned back as far as his strap would permit and called to his fellow: "Ain't it strange what some folks will do for a living?"—Chicago Tribune.

Electrical Oscillations.

Hertz years ago first produced rapid electrical oscillations and showed that they traveled through space with the speed of light and reappeared as electrical oscillations and sparks in suitably arranged conductors at a distance. Starting with waves twenty feet long in air and oscillating 50,000,000 times a second, he worked down to waves one-tenth as long and ten times as rapid.

A Time Slayer.

Miss Nexdor—This is a pretty time of night for that Dasher girl to be playing the piano.

Miss Also—Oh, she's no respecter of time. You can tell that from the way she's playing.—Baltimore American.

What Did He Mean?

"Have you ever been married?" asked the magistrate.

"No," replied the prisoner at the bar of justice; "but I've been blown up by dynamite."—Philadelphia Record.

The Parson's Comment.

"Yes," said the Billville father, "that boy shall be taught to tell the truth."

"He's mighty young to be sent so far from home!" replied the parson.—Atlanta Constitution.

Being a good fellow requires time, money and a strong constitution. Mere will power will not suffice.—Puck.

Parental Assistance.

Barnes—When I was young my mother always used to sing me to sleep.

Shedd—Yes, women are good at that sort of thing, but it takes the father's voice to wake a fellow up in the morning.—Boston Transcript.

Simple Mediocrity.

"Why did she marry him?"

"I give it up. He wasn't bad enough to need reforming nor good enough to make a desirable husband."—Judge.

In finding fault it is very easy to be untruthful and unfair.—Atchison Globe.

Items of Interest From the Villages of Lake Zurich and Wauconda.

Succinctly Told by Our Regular Correspondents,

LAKE ZURICH.

The Review, $1.50 per year.

John Forbes visited friends in Dundee Thursday.

Gene Jenks of Wauconda transacted business here Thursday.

Chas. McMahon was calling on old friends here Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Sholts is visiting her parents in Chicago this week.

Miss Julia Courtney of Chicago is visiting friends here this week.

Attend the club dance Saturday evening in Oak Park pavilion.

John Myer of Huntley is here this week looking after his Lake Zurich interests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bruce made a trip to Kalamazoo, Mich., Saturday of last week.

E. W. Brook and F. L. Carr of Wauconda visited friends here the first of the week.

Carl Ernest and Glen Hawley of Barrington were pleasant callers here Wednesday evening.

Frank Ronny shipped in a car load of fine young stock this week, which he disposed of to the farmers.

Attorney Chas. Barnes and wife of Woodstock visited Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forbes Tuesday and Wednesday. He made the run from Crystal Lake to Zurich via Wauconda with his auto in one hour and fifteen minutes.

"Bud" Boble, the noted driver and trainer, says: "I have used Cole's Veterinary Carbolisolve for cuts, scratches, sores and speed cracks, and it is a valuable remedy." It will do all that is claimed for it and no stable should be without it. 50 and $1.00 cans. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Mr. and Mrs. James Flood will move to Waukegan next week. Mr. Flood has accepted a position as chief clerk in the J. freight office at that point. He has been local agent here for the past year, and has made many warm friends both in a business and social way, and his many Zurich friends wish him success in his new position.

The Conductors' excursion arrived about an hour later of their time to be here Sunday. Only a small crowd got off at Zurich. The committee promised about 500 people would get off, and preparations were made to accommodate them. A band was secured to furnish music and other amusements arranged, but it seems that the committee decided to sell the tickets through to Waukegan and informed the passengers that wanted to get off at Lake Zurich that they would miss the fun if they did not go through.

The ball game Sunday between the Forbes Americans and the Arlington Heights was one of the best exhibitions of base ball that was ever played on the grounds. Both teams were evenly matched, and it took eleven innings to decide the victory. Clubs and score:

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At all druggists.

THE DRAUGHT'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. The Draught's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by The Draught's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than The Draught's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901.
 I have used The Draught's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Laying hens must have meat or milk. Always feed some whole grain at night.

Early hatched chickens usually make the best breeding fowls.

Feeding a little at a time and often is better than overfeeding at any time.

A liberal use of ground bone will correct the tendency to laying soft shelled eggs.

Keeping fowls on hard floors will frequently cause swollen feet and legs. They must have some loose ground to scratch over.

Turkeys must have a good range to be profitable. They are insect eaters by nature and need a good range in order to thrive well and grow economically.

After the ducks and geese are through laying the feathers should be picked regularly. The time to pick them is when the feathers are ripe and before the fowls begin to lose them.

What a True Scholar Is.
 The scholar in the true sense is the man or woman for whom the schools have done their best. The scholar knows some one thing thoroughly and can carry his knowledge into action.

With this he must have such knowledge of related subjects and of human life as will throw this special knowledge into proper perspective. Anything less than this is not scholarship. The man with knowledge and no perspective is a crank, a disturber of the peace, who needs a guardian to make his knowledge useful. The man who has common sense, but no special training, may be a fair citizen, but he can exert little influence that makes for progress. There may be a wisdom not of books, but it can be won by no easy process. To gain wisdom or skill, in school or out, is education. To do anything well requires special knowledge, and this is scholarship, whether attained in the university or in the school of life. It is the man who knows that has the right to speak.—President David Starr Jordan in Atlantic.

FAMOUS RING IS LOST

Symbol of Papal Authority Said to Have Been Stolen From the Finger of the Dead Pontiff—Cardinal Rampolla's Chances of Election.

Every effort is being made in the Vatican to prevent news of a terrible scandal leaking out. The ring of the fisherman which should have been found on the hand of the Pope has disappeared. It is not so much a question of its material as of its intrinsic value, for the ring of the fisherman is used as a seal for the papal bulls and is the outward sign of the authority of the Pope.

When the cardinal camerlengo certifies to the death of the Pope he receives the ring of the fisherman from the chamberlain of his holiness. It is then destroyed in the presence of all the cardinals at the first congregation and he and all his friends will support, first, Cardinal Gotti, with whom he now has come to some such agreement, and attempt to raise Gotti to the supreme office, with Rampolla as an ally. This would mean the maintenance of Pope Leo's policy on exactly the same lines and entrusted to the same men.

But Gotti inspires great distrust, because, as he belongs to the religious orders, he would render the situation of the papacy extremely difficult at the present moment, considering the conditions prevailing in France, Spain and the Philippines.

"Now more than ever we need an energetic pontiff, but at the same time he must be prudent. With extreme measures one cannot rule. With a middle course there is always something to gain. I have experienced this in my fifty-three years' rule in my bishopric. I have never juggled with my conscience or the duties of my office, but I have maintained most friendly personal relations and also cordial official relations with all the laymen and authorities with whom I came in contact. This is the secret of success. This was the glory of Pope Leo. With the help of God it will be that of his successor."

FINSEN'S GIFT TO THE WORLD.

He Has Done Much for the Good of Humanity.

Niels Finsen, the discoverer of the surgery of light, was born in Iceland and lived there until he was 21 years old. His experiments with light and discovery of its therapeutic value, arose out of his own personal needs. He was an invalid and poor.

He discovered that by the use of concentrated rays of violet light lupus, a terrible and hitherto incurably fatal form of scrofula could be successfully treated. The Finsen rays, as they are called, are deadly to bacteria, and along this line wonderful things are expected to develop in the future.

When Finsen had made sure of the great healing power of the rays, he saw two courses open to him. He could apply the secret in his private practice and reap enormous wealth; or he could give it to the world for the good of humanity. After lying awake all one night reflecting on this problem he chose the latter course and all the world owes him a debt of gratitude.

Found a Friend.

Valley City, N. Dak., July 27th.—Mrs. Matilda M. Boucher of this place tells how she found a friend in the following words:

"For years I suffered with a dizziness in my head and could get nothing to cure me till about two years ago, when I was advised to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. These pills cured me before I had used the whole of the first box, and I haven't been troubled since.

"In January of this year I had an attack of Sciatica that made me almost helpless, and remembering how much Dodd's Kidney Pills had done for me before, I sent and got some and began to take them at once.

"In three weeks I was well, and not a trace of the Sciatica left, and I have been well ever since.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have certainly been of great benefit to me. I have found them a friend in time of sickness, and I will always recommend them to every one suffering with the troubles that bothered me."

No Bother Whatever.

"Do you have any trouble with the plants when your wife goes away?" asked the hatchet-faced man, sadly. "None whatever," replied the cheerful chap, "they always die within a week after she leaves, and all I have to do is to put them away until she comes back."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

MOB LYNCHES BLACK WOMAN

Negress Was Accused of Putting Poison in Glass of Lemonade.

BULLETS PIERCE HER CORPSE

Enraged by Victim's Refusal to Confess Her Guilt, Citizens Fire Into Body Dangling in Hayloft—Possess Finds Her in Hayloft.

Shreveport, La., special: News has reached Shreveport that Jennie Steer, a negress who administered poison in a glass of lemonade to Lizzie Dolan, 16-year-old daughter of John Dolan, from the effects of which she died, was lynched by an infuriated mob at sundown Saturday night. The lynching took place on the Beard plantation, near the spot where the woman's crime was committed. Jennie Steer was stubborn to the last, denying the crime.

It is claimed the negress fled from the Dolan household as soon as she discovered that the crime was known. She was pursued by a posse that found her crouching in a hayloft. She refused to come out and had to be dragged from the place. She was taken to the Dolan homestead and identified as the woman who had placed the poison in the lemonade.

Fire Bullets Into Body.

The mob then took her to a nearby tree, placed a rope around her neck and asked her to confess. She refused to make any admissions and was strung up. While the body was dangling in the air several bullets were fired into it by the enraged citizens.

The poisoning of Miss Dolan caused intense excitement in the neighborhood of the crime. The victim was a beautiful young white girl, who was not known to have an enemy in the world. She died in terrible agony, a fact which accentuated the rage of the mob.

There is a growing suspicion that Jennie Steer was connected with the murder of Mrs. Frank Williams, whose horrible death startled the people of this section several months ago. The negress had a forbidding aspect, but was a good servant, and Mrs. Matthews kept her against the protests of her son and daughter.

Lynch Innocent Negro.

Savannah, Mo., dispatch: The Liberty county mob which followed a negro supposed to be Ed Clauss, who assaulted Miss Susie Johnson, a young white woman, near Darien Junction, through seven counties and then lynched him near Eastman, stringing him to a tree and riddling him with bullets, though the negro protested his innocence, got the wrong negro after all. Members of the mob were confident they knew Clauss and on returning to their homes by way of this city made no secret of what they had done.

Information has been received from Darien Junction, where the crime was committed, that Clauss had been captured at a small station and that officers had gone to get him. Clauss was rearred in the village where he is now incarcerated and there can be no doubt as to his being the man wanted for the crime, and consequently that an innocent man was put to death by the mob.

Sheriff Saves Four.

St. Louis, Mo., special: Four men—Thomas, Nick and W. R. Nydem and William McComb—charged with having assaulted and killed Gertie Gibson, aged 9, at Bloomfield, were brought here for safe-keeping in the St. Louis jail, as a mob had attempted to take the four prisoners by force at Bloomfield and lynch them.

ALTON, ILL., HAS FATAL BLAZE

Girl Dies and Other Persons Are Hurt When Several Places Are Burned.

Alton, Ill., special: Fire believed to have been started by an incendiary destroyed the Alton steam laundry, a row of flats, a barber shop and part of a lumber yard and resulted in the death of one person and injuries to six others. The dead: Miss Ruth Meyers; burned to death. The injured: Mrs. Fred Meyers, Adam Wolfe, Jr., William Meissler, William Nicholson, Louis Steiner, George Aloin. All the injured were badly burned but Aloin, who was hurt in jumping. The total loss on property is $35,000. This was the third time fire had started in the neighborhood within a month.

Church Congress.

New York dispatch: Pittsburg has been selected as the place for holding the coming church congress, scheduled for the first week in November. The Right Rev. Dr. Alexander H. Vinton, bishop of Western Massachusetts, will open the session.

Richmond, Ind., special: John Collins, a wealthy farmer living west of Richmond, was accidentally shot by his 8-year-old son and the wound may prove fatal. Collins was preparing to go hunting and the boy was playing with his rifle.

Laws to Hit Trusts.

Birmingham, Eng., cablegram: The Post asserts that President Roosevelt is making a study of the English laws and that some attempt may be made to alter the law in America so far as trusts and big corporations are concerned.

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME, Notre Dame, Indiana.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Notre Dame University, one of the great educational institutions of the West, which appears in another column of this paper. Those of our readers who may have occasion to look up a college for their sons during the coming year would do well to correspond with the President, who will send them a catalogue free of charge, as well as all particulars regarding terms, courses of studies, etc.

Private rooms are given free to students of the Sophomore, Junior or Senior years of any of the Collegiate Courses. There is a thorough preparatory school in connection with the University, in which students of all grades will have every opportunity of preparing themselves for higher studies. The Commercial Course intended for young men preparing for business, may be finished in one or two years according to the ability of the student. St. Edward's Hall, for boys under thirteen, is a unique department of the institution. The higher courses are thorough in every respect, and students will find every opportunity of perfecting themselves in any line of work they may choose to select. Thoroughness in class-work, exactness in the carrying out of assignments, and the best interests of all, are the distinguishing characteristics of the University of Notre Dame.

Sixty years of active work in the cause of education have made this institution famous all over the country.

Was It Original?

The person giving us the following incident does not vouch for its originality, but, be it original or quoted, the child made a pretty good hit: A geography lesson was being indulged in and happened to be on the far east. Among other things, the teacher asked this: "What is the chief product of the Malay peninsula?" Quick as thought, a dancing-eyed girl replied, "Malaria."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 16 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, says:

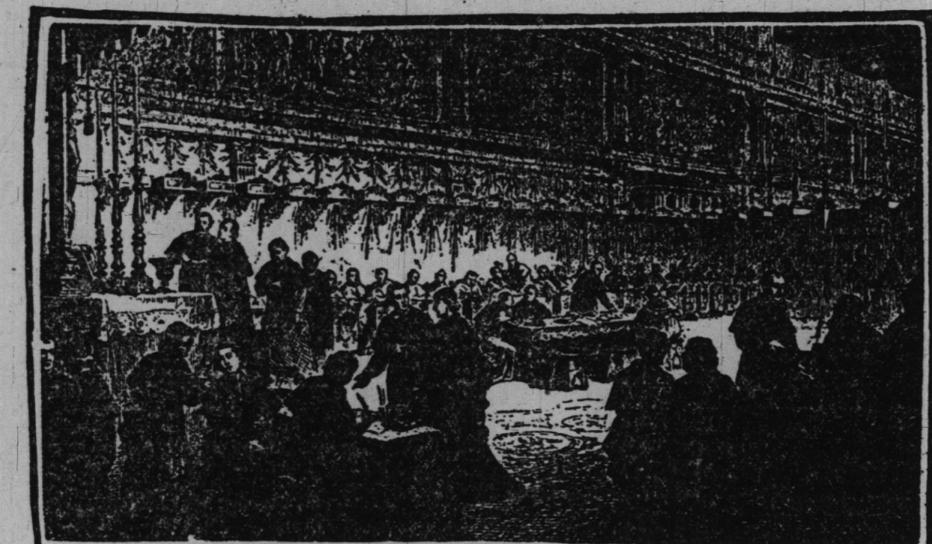

"There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know of. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any other I ever knew and thoroughly reliable.

"I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—MRS. R. A. ANDERSON, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.—$5.00 per bottle if original or above testimonial proof genuineness cannot be produced.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause, and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition.

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in its first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. of the sacred college held after the Pope's death. But when Cardinal Oreglia, the present camerlengo, had certified to the death of Pope Leo XIII., Mgr. Bisleta, a prey to the deepest despair, had to admit that the ring had disappeared.

Cardinal Oreglia, who had, as is the custom, brought the declaration of having received the ring from the papal chamberlain all written out had to put it back into his pocket.

Mgr. Bisleta can give no indication as to the robber. The theft must have taken place between the death of the Pope and the morning following. During this time a large number of persons entered the death chamber.

In order to prevent this scandal from becoming known outside the Vatican Ossevatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, published a statement that Cardinal Oreglia had duly received the ring of the fisherman in the presence of the cardinals and had destroyed it at the first meeting of the sacred college, but as Cardinal Oreglia never received the ring, it is of course out of the question that the cardinals could have witnessed its destruction.

In the meantime in the certificate of death of Leo XIII. all allusion to the receipt of the ring has been suppressed. The friends of Mgr. Bisleta hope that when the seats are removed from the cabinets of the late Pope the ring will be found in one of them, but very little confidence is felt. The ring should never have left the Pope's hand and everyone denies having touched it.

The nearer the conclave approaches the more two distinct tendencies are known in the sacred college, especially among the cardinals of the curia, that is to say, those living in Rome, but in which the cardinals from the provinces as well as the foreign cardinals cannot help participating. These two tendencies spring from the personality of Cardinal Rampolla, as the great struggle continues to be in his favor or against him.

If Rampolla finds that in the first ballot he has a considerable number of votes he will try again. If he has few votes and one of his opponents

The Old Print Shows the Cardinals Gathered to Hear the Result of the Balloting. Above is One of the Ballots Which Are Used in the Election of a Pope.

It seems, therefore, almost sure that if at the first ballot it is not probable that Gotti can be successful this section of the sacred college will decide on Cardinal di Pietro, one of Rampolla's most faithful followers.

Rampolla, being a Sicilian, can count on the two Sicilian cardinals. One of them, however, Cardinal Celestia, archbishop of Palermo, is so old (he is about 90) that his relatives strongly oppose his going to Rome to attend the conclave.

For political reasons all Spanish cardinals are favorable to Rampolla, besides a dozen Italians, thus making a total of twenty-five. But to be elected Pope it is necessary to get altogether over forty votes, as of the present sixty-four cardinals not more than two or three will be absent from the conclave.

The anti-Rampolla tendency has more prominent candidates, such as Cardinals Oreglia, Serafino, Vannutelli, Satöll and Agliardi, which will cause difficulty in arriving at an agreement on any one of them. It is already foreshadowed that, should the success of their opponents be probable, this group will center all their votes on Cardinal Capelatro, archbishop of Capua.

A cardinal who seemed to have considerable chance of success was Cardinal Sarto, the patriarch of Venice, but low he is scarcely thought of, because he does not know French and is not likely to learn it at 70 years of age.

It is understood that the Prussian minister accredited to the Vatican has received instructions to favor the election of Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli or Cardinal Agliardi, Cardinal Kopp, bishop of Breslau, who arrived here yesterday, has been approached to the same effect.

Cardinal Celestia, in an interview on the spirit which should inspire the conclave in the election of a new pope, said:

The opinion is generally expressed that the conclave may begin work July 31.

An ambassador accredited to the Vatican says the question of Pope Leo's successor is a peculiarly open one at the present moment. The personality of the candidates plays a much more important part than in any preceding conclave, since the conditions prevailing in the past are now entirely changed.

THE POPE'S OFFICIAL RING.

Symbol of Authority in Use for Many Centuries.

The fisherman's ring is the papal ring of investiture, and embodies the symbolism of authority analogous to that of the pontifical ring of an archbishop. The ring will be brought into the conclave with the space for the name of the new pope left blank. When the new pontiff is conducted to the throne to receive the homage of the cardinals the cardinal camerlengo will approach and place the ring on the pope's finger, at the same time asking what name his holiness desires to adopt. The sovereign pontiff replies, taking off the ring, and hands it to the master of ceremonies, who has it engraved with the name assumed. Then for the first time may the election of the pope be announced to the people, together with the name by which he will henceforth be known.

The origin of the fisherman's ring is lost in the medieval records of the church. It was first used by the Roman pontiffs as a seal of the private correspondence, the emblem being adopted in commemoration of St. Peter, the poor fisherman of Galilee. Though the size and weight of the ring has varied from reign to reign of the papacy, the device has remained unchanged—a shallow representation of the aureoled figure of Peter seated in an ancient kind of boat, and pulling in a fishnet. Arching the figure is the name of the pope.

The first mention of the ring occurs in a letter of Clement IV. to his nephew, Peter Grossi of St. Gilles, in 1265, by the tenor of which document it would appear that the ring of the fisherman had been in use for some time. At first it was used to seal more or less private and secret documents, but later it came to be the stamp of authority on the bulls and other papal orders.

In recent reigns the pontiffs have worn the ring only on state occasions and it has not even been used to seal documents, the device of the fisherman having been transferred for that purpose to all dies and stamps in the bureau of papal secretaries. Pope Leo XIII's ring weighed an ounce and a half and was set with a comparatively inexpensive stone.

The popular superstition is that the ring belonged to St. Peter himself and though many times lost it has always been miraculously recovered.

CONVICTS KILL PRISON GUARD

Thirteen Men Escape From Folsom, Cal., After Desperate Fight.

KNIVES AND RAZORS ARE USED

Warden's Clothing is Slashed into Shreds, but Official is Not Injured—Prisoners Take Hostages to Prevent Volley From Gatling Guns.

Folsom, Cal., dispatch: Thirteen convicts from the penitentiary here fought a desperate battle with the prison officials, and after killing one man and wounding two others escaped. They started away from here with Overseer McDonough and a number of others as hostages and headed toward Bald mountain.

The latest reports are that a fight between the convicts and a posse has taken place near Pilot Hill in which Fred Howard was killed and A. Scabio wounded. Both are convicts.

The convicts are said to have scattered and are making for the surrounding woods.

Human Shields.

Before the fight took place the convicts, who picked up a number of citizens en route and compelled them to join their party, had plundered the general merchandise store at Pilot Hill kept by S. Diehl.

The convicts in making their escape used several officials they had taken captive as shields to protect them from the fire of the gatling gun towers stationed all about the prison grounds.

The fugitives threatened as they left that they would kill a hostage for every man of their number who was slain in efforts to re-capture them. Troops are still in pursuit.

Dead, Wounded and Captured.

The dead: Guard William Cotter. The wounded: Turnkey J. Cochran, Guard W. C. Palmers.

The hostages: Tony Brown, stage driver; Guy Jetter, foreman of quarry; Guard John Klensendorf, General Overseer McDonough, R. J. Murphy, captain of the guard; Guard L. S. Yertres, Warden Henry Wilkinson, Harry Wilson, grandson of warden; three men, names unknown.

The break for liberty was made at breakfast time and was started so suddenly that the prison officials were unable to offer adequate resistance.

Breakfast had just been finished when the convicts in the plot to escape made a dash for the office of the captain of the guard, R. J. Murphy. There they seized Warden Wilkinson, his grandson, Harry Wilkinson, Capt. Murphy and several other officers and guards. A desperate fight took place.

The convicts were armed with knives and razors, and with these they assaulted Warden Wilkinson and his officers. The warden's clothing was slashed into shreds with a razor, but the blade did not touch the flesh. Turnkey Cochran fought the convicts with a chair, raining blows upon them right and left. Finally he was felled by a knife thrust in the back. Guard Cotter was cut in the abdomen, while Palmers was severely cut in the head. The floor of the office was covered with blood.

Convicts Secure Arms.

The officers were outnumbered and soon were disarmed. Then, using the officers as shields, the convicts started for the armory post on the outskirts of the penitentiary grounds. They passed a gatling gun on one of the walls, but the guards were afraid to fire on the convicts. When the armory was reached officers there attempted to interfere, but were overpowered. Then, after further arming themselves with rifles, knives, pistols and ammunition, a dash for the country was made.

The convicts, armed with rifles, marched one on either side of Warden Wilkinson, who was threatened with death if he made an attempt to escape, and the officers were told that if any of the pursuers took the life of one of their number that they would retaliate, life for life. At Mormon bridge, about a mile from the penitentiary, the warden, his grandson and Capt. Murphy were released and sent back. The others were marched along with the convicts.

The convicts went to a farmer's house, seized his four horse team and wagon, robbed the house of everything of value, took the farmer with them as a driver and headed for Bald mountain.

Folsom penitentiary is the prison without walls. It is situated in a rock amphitheater close to the American river, about twenty miles from Sacramento. The prisoners are locked up at night in the cellhouse, but during the day they labor in the stone quarries under the supervision of armed guards. On the hills surrounding the prison grounds are watch towers in which guards armed with gatling guns and rifles are stationed.

Cigarettes Ignite Powder.

West Newton, Pa., dispatch: Five boys and two men were seriously burned by the explosion of three cans of powder. Three of the boys will probably die. Sparks from cigarettes, it is thought, ignited the powder.

Illinois Jurist Dies.

Joliet, Ill., dispatch: Judge David Willard, aged 85, is dead at his home here. He was first elected county judge in 1865, serving many years. He held many positions of public trust.

THE MAN WITH A GROUCH.

His Latest Kick is the Arrangement of the Months.

"I don't see why they didn't regulate things differently," said the positive man, who complains about the heat. "Those people who fixed up the calendar made a mighty poor job of it, it seems to me."

"You couldn't make any difference in the weather."

"I couldn't? That shows just how thoughtless the world is. There's about one man in 200 who really has ideas, and the other 199 generally put in most of their time making fun of him. They let the short months, like February and November and April, come in cold weather, when we could stand the temperature. Why didn't they put 'em all in a bunch in the summer time, so that we could get through with it? Here we are compelled to drag along with the longest months and the longest days and the hottest weather at the same time. No wonder so many people get disgusted with the way things are run." —Washington Star.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY.

Notre Dame, Ind.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of St. Mary's Academy, which appears in another column of this paper. We do not need to expatiate upon the scholastic advantages of St. Mary's for the catalogue of the school shows the scope of work included in its curriculum, which is of the highest standard, and is carried out faithfully in the class rooms. We simply emphasize the spirit of earnest devotion which makes every teacher at St. Mary's loyally strive to develop each young girl attendant there into the truest, noblest, and most intelligent womanhood. Every advantage of equipment in the class rooms, laboratories and study rooms, every care in the matter of food and clothing, and exceptional excellence of classic conditions—all these features are found at St. Mary's, in the perfection of development only to be obtained by the concentration of devoted lives to educational Christian work, in a spot favored by the Lord.

A Story Bath.

This is a story told on Mr. George A. McNutt, the Chesterfield passenger agent of the M., K. & T. Ry.: In his travels through Nebraska he stopped overnight in a small town and registered at the hotel pointed out to him by the conductor as the best in town. In the morning he wanted to take a bath and consulted the proprietor about it. The proprietor shouted back to the rear: "Here, Tom, this here gent wants a bath. Bring the fixin's." Tom soon appeared, carrying a cake of yellow soap, a towel and a pick. "What's the pick for?" asked George. "Why," said the proprietor, "you'll have to dam up the crick."

The Thousand Islands.

There may be somewhere on the earth a more delightful region than that of the Thousand Islands, but if there is, it has not been discovered. It is the Venice of America, but also has good hotels that can be kept warm if there shall happen to be a cold rainy evening. It is as fine as the Bay of Naples, with 2,000 picturesque islands scattered along the twenty-five miles of one of the most beautiful rivers in the world. You can find out a great deal regarding it in No. 10 of the "Four-Track Series," "The Thousand Islands." Copy will be mailed free on receipt of a 2-cent stamp by George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent, Grand Central Station, New York.

His Right to a Living.

When Robert C. Morris was president of the Republican County Committee he was a "mark" for men who banked on hard-luck tales. Just before he sailed for Venezuela a well-dressed fellow approached him as he was leaving the Fifth Avenue hotel.

"Beg your pardon," said the man, "it's really too ridiculous, but—"

"Hold on," interrupted Mr. Morris. "You told me that story last week. Now I am going to turn you over to the police."

"My dear sir," exclaimed the beggar, bristling up, "I want you to understand that I have as good a right to make a living as you have."—New York Times.

The Time of Awakening.

Our Katy publications are decidedly interesting and tend to show how a shrewd business man may make money. The possibilities are great along the line of the M., K. & T. Ry., and we shall be glad to mail you several attractive pamphlets bearing on business chances in Missouri, Kansas, Indian Territory and Texas. Address, "KATY," 603 Wainwright Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

Getting Back to Business.

"This is the first stroke of work I've done for three months," remarked the genial forger, as, with a flourish, he deftly affixed the signature to the little bogus check and laid aside his fountain pen.

Sternburgs to Make Western Trip.

Ambassador and Baroness von Sternburg will make an extensive western tour in the fall, going as far as San Francisco.

Hundreds of dealers say the extra quantity and superior quality of Defiance Starch is fast taking place of all other brands. Others say they cannot sell any other starch.

A writer in the Tammany Times declares that happiness is a delusion, love is a lie; that only contentment is possible with duty well done. Poor devil! What a lot he has missed!

KIDNEY

Aching backs are eased. Hip, back, and loin pains overcome. Swelling of the limbs and dropsy signs vanish.

They correct urine with brick dust sediment, high colored, pain in passing, dribbling, frequency, bed wetting. Doan's Kidney Pills remove calculi and gravel. Relieve heart palpitation, sleeplessness, headache, nervousness, dizziness.

Mrs. James Beck of 314 West Whiteboro Street, Rome, N. Y., says: "I was troubled with my kidneys for eight or nine years; had much pain in my back; at times went on I could hardly endure it; I could not stand except for a few moments at a time; I grew weak and exhausted; I could not even do light housework; I could not stoop or bend; my head ached severely; I was in pain from my head down to my heels; centering in the kidneys it was a heavy, steady sickening ache; I could not rest nights, and got up mornings weak and tired. I thought I was about done for, when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Within a week after commencing their use I began to improve, and from that time on rapidly grew better. I used five boxes in all and was cured."

A SPLENDID 12% INVESTMENT.

EASY TO ACQUIRE—PROFITABLE TO OWN.

The American Wire and Steel Bed Co. of New York, offer to sell a limited amount of Preferred Treasury Stock—$25,000.00, at Par. $50 per share, and guarantee an annual dividend of 12%, payable 1% on the first of every month. Not only do we guarantee the principal and 12% dividend, but also send with each certificate a written contract guaranteeing to repurchase the stock from you any time you decide to dispose of it.

WHY NOT SHARE IN THIS WELL-PAYING INVESTMENT?

Our business is increasing by bounds and jumps. Our trade has become more than we have anticipated.

Our promise and guarantee to pay 12% dividend on preferred stock is based, not on bare estimates, but on actual facts and figures on what we have already accomplished. And we know it will still leave a handsome profit to our company. We are equally sure to have sufficient returns brought to the common stockholders.

You may subscribe for one share or for as many as you can conveniently carry. Each additional dollar invested will pay for itself in a short time. Profitable to the company while it will certainly bring you best returns. Moreover, you can have your money that you have invested any time you want it.

It's true, you may never want to dispose of your stock. Of course, it will be paying you well, but should you have occasion to need the money for other purposes, you can obtain it within 90 days. You will just have to write us a letter, and during the month following we will send you a check for the full amount of your certificate.

If you want to know of our reputation we can give you the best of references from banks, bankers and mercantile agencies. Send in your subscription at once.

is invited to hear him.

The E. J. & E., which comes as near Elgin as Spaulding, will give up its passenger business entirely as soon as the new electric railway from Joliet is completed. Rails on this road are now being laid and cars will be run into Plainfield before the summer is over.

Hundreds of Odd Fellows and their families attended the annual picnic of the I. O. O. F. lodges of Chicago and Cook county, held at Fox River Grove last Saturday. The day was fine, and the three linkers and friends enjoyed the occasion most heartily. There were many sports, games, etc., and substantial prizes awarded.

Last fall George W. Foreman had a birthday party. When the guests were about to depart Mr. Foreman asked them to step into the sample room and smile with him. They did so.
Next morning some one became very much interested in enforcing certain village ordinances, and had Mr. Foreman hauled up before Police Magistrate McIntosh and fined for "keeping open after hours." Mr. Foreman appealed the case to the circuit court of Cook county. We are informed that the action will be dismissed on the ground that the court has no jurisdiction.

The city council of Waukegan approved an ordinance providing that all screens or curtains be removed from saloon windows on Sunday. This village has an ordinance of the same kind. Several saloon keepers violated the ordinance and were arrested on complaint of Rev. Talmage, pastor of the Congregational church of that city. Alderman McDermott was one of those who were "pulled," and he paid a fine of $20 and costs. Two other offenders were tried but not convicted and a number of others dismissed on motion of the city attorney who held that the city could not convict. The city council has repealed the ordinance on the grounds that it was unconstitutional. If it is unconstitutional in Waukegan it is unconstitutional in Barrington.

Scratching isn't always convenient.

John Barrett of Elgin, board of trade man and well-to-do citizen, was last week placed under arrest, accused of making improper proposals to a 10 year old girl of that city. Tuesday he was fined $100 and costs for disorderly conduct. Mr. Barrett claims he is innocent and will appeal the case.

William Spinner returned Saturday from a two weeks' stay at Milwaukee, where he was attending to interests of the Chicago Excavating Company.

Messrs. W. H. Ackley and J. P.
Aggerbeck of Chicago, representing Southwestern investment companies, were soliciting business here Tuesday.

Mrs. S. Monroe, who has been visiting for the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davlin, near Was-conda, returned to their home in Chicago Monday.

Joe Allbright, who has been in the employ of the American Malleable Iron Co. at Chicago Highlands for the past year, has accepted a position with the Haskell & Baker Car Co., located at Michigan City, Ind.

Mesdames Herman Schwemm, E. M.
Blocks and George Schaefer enjoyed a brief respite from rural life and its cares, at Chicago, Evanston, Will-mette and other places Wednesday.
They traveled many miles, dined at Collins' cafe, Evanston, patronized the bathing beach and returned home
greatly benefitted by their swing
around the circle.

The Girls' Cornet Band and Barrington
Cornet Band, two musical organizations of which the people of this village have just cause to feel proud,
consolidated Wednesday evening and gave a concert and ice cream social on Hutchinson's lawn. The weather was a little cool for outdoor enjoyment,
but it did not mar the pleasure of
the evening.

The attendance was large, music entrancing and handsome girls in their natty uniforms attractive. It is the wish of the public that the pleasing entertainment be repeated.

Mesdames Herman Schwemm, E. M.
Blocks and George Schaefer enjoyed a brief respite from rural life and its cares, at Chicago, Evanston, Will-
mette and other places Wednesday.
They traveled many miles, dined at Collins' cafe, Evanston, patronized the
bathing beach and returned home
greatly benefitted by their swing
around the circle.

The Girls' Cornet Band and Barrington
Cornet Band, two musical organizations of which the people of this village have just cause to feel proud,
consolidated Wednesday evening and
gave a concert and ice cream social on Hutchinson's lawn. The weather was
a little cool for outdoor enjoyment,
but it did not mar the pleasure of
the evening.

The attendance was large, music entrancing and handsome girls in their natty uniforms attractive. It is the wish of the public that the pleasing
entertainment be repeated.

The following is a list of unclaimed letters remaining in the post office at

ARRAIGNS SECRET SOCIETIES.

President Blanchard of Wheaton College Don't Know What He is Talking About.

At Elgin the other evening President Blanchard of Wheaton college attempted to tell something about Odd Fellowship and Free Masonry.
From a review of what Mr. Blanchard is quoted as saying we judge he is very ignorant of the principles of the two great orders which he attacked.

The purport of the address was to show that the lodge and the church conflict, and that the one is being built up at the expense of the other.
We quote a few paragraphs:

"The blessings which we have come because of the church. In heathen lands the wages are a pittance. The lodge has not helped men in this way.
Yet the secret society is a rival and an antagonist of the church. It professes to do what the church aims to do—make men better—yet those who live up to the oaths subscribed to by initiates of the chief lodges cannot do so in harmony with laws of God.
Some of the lodges bar the name of Christ, and assert that salvation is secured through work or by reason of membership in those orders.

"The lodge is building up at the expense of the church. It is founded on selfishness and the church on love and benevolence. It costs a great deal to get into the lodge, and when the dues fall the member is dropped; but the church is for poor and rich. It does not require money in order to join,
and no one is put out for failure to pay into the treasury."

A man who lives up to the obligations required of him as an initiate in Masonry or Odd Fellowship will be entitled to reward in the life to come.
They don't all do so, we admit, but there are fewer backsliders from the discipline taught in those orders than there is from that laid down by the churches. There is nothing in the ritual of Odd Fellowship that antagonizes the church or cause of Christianity, and statement to the contrary is false.

We are not familiar with the inside work of Masonry, but as to its being antagonistic to the church and teachings of the scriptures we do know it is not. As to being founded on selfishness, the charge cannot be substantiated, as thousands who have received aid from the Masonic order can testify.

As to Odd Fellowship, the learned gentleman is very much at fault when he attacks that order and says it is selfish, and does not teach men to live better. We know whereof we speak, because we have traveled the road to Jericho, every step of which is illuminated by scriptural teachings and injunctions.

Odd Fellowship is founded on the scriptures. The Bible is the Odd Fellows' text book. From it the fraternity draws its doctrines and selects its emblems. No lodge is opened until the book of Holy Writ appears upon the altar. No man can become an Odd Fellow unless he believes in God and his laws.

As to benevolence, there stands no religious society on the face of the earth to-day that has scattered its charity as has the Odd Fellows. It follows the teachings of Christ in this much closer than any church society.
It cares for its sick brothers and their families, it buries its dead and looks after the welfare of the widow and orphan; it supports, as does the Masonic order, beautiful homes for its widowed and fatherless. Is not that one of the great principles of Christianity?

It is indeed inconsistent for Mr.
Blanchard or any other man to de-claim against Masonry and Odd Fellowship or other secret orders of which they know nothing internally.
There was just as much consistency in Tom Paine declaiming against the Christian religion—saying there was no such thing as experimental Christian religion—because he had never learned the science of religion.

One great aim of Odd Fellowship is to lay the axe at the root of the tree of selfishness, bigotry and ignorance;
to bind together in a common brotherhood; to practice the principles of friendship, love and truth, to which each member is obligated.

No matter what Blanchard or others may say, Odd Fellowship teaches nothing contrary to the laws of God or good government. There are thousands of ministers of the gospel, thousands of talented educators in Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges. The best men of the country are identified with these orders.

These orders do not only profess to do what the church aims to do in the betterment of humanity, but they do it. They are in no sense of the word rivals of the church in the sense stated by Mr. Blanchard. True, individuals may place their lodge ahead of their church, but the whole tree should not be judged by one of its branches.

For the benefit of the Wheaton educator we will say that in the United States to-day there are 1,083,
473 Odd Fellows and 942,221 Masons.
There must be something good and substantial in their work to attract such membership.

Award a Contract.
The Lake county poor farm committee has awarded to William Pope of Chicago, the contract to furnish and install a complete hot water heating plant in the county buildings at Libertyville. The expenditure will involve about $3,000.

That Balking Engine.
For twenty-six years we have followed in the way mapped out by Gutenberg, have served in every department known to the art preservative.
For twenty-one years we have basked in the sunshine and weathered the storms on the matrimonial sea. We have been afflicted with most all ailments known to humanity, been disappointed in love, politics and fortune. We have driven balky horses, helped to do the spring house cleaning, but we never knew what real trials and tribulations were until we went against the gasoline engine used to propel the press on which this family educator is printed.

For genuine, unlimited cussedness that engine takes the prize. It is a nice piece of machinery, but is addicted to having fits, and a contrary mule is not to be compared to that piece of mechanical invention when it takes a notion to have its own way.

Before that engine was buckled up to the Taylor cylinder we were full of religion and no wrinkles crossed our homely visage. Now our chances of salvation are mighty small and beauty treatment refuses to remove the signs of advancing age.

We know that there are others who have had the same experience as we with gasoline engines, but that is cold comfort for us.

There is nothing a man can do to satisfy his wrath when the engine refuses to start but to use emphatic language, and we would like to become acquainted with the newspaper man whose disposition is so near angelic that he can refrain from using cuss words when the gasoline engine balks.

Many an excerpt from the country paper has found its way to the family Bible where it rests between the leaves, a token of some hallowed memory. Whoever heard of a metropolitan paper being close enough to the heart to enter its reading matter in this sacred receptacle?

BOWLING CONTEST.

Barrington and Lake Zurich Teams Battle for Supremacy.

Although the bowling season is supposed to end when oysters are deemed unfit for use the local team pays but little attention to the custom. The condition of the temperature makes no difference to the enthusiastic bowler.
He will go without food or sleep to satisfy his ambition as a bowler.

Since the alleys were put in at Lake Zurich there has been considerable rivalry between the lovers of the game in Barrington and that summer resort. A match game was played on the Bicknase alley at the lake some days ago in which the Barrington five met defeat. Last Friday Capt. Bick-nase brought his team here and contested with the Barrington five on the Walterscheid alley, when the locals returned the compliment to the visitors with interest. The following is the score of the two games played here Friday evening:

LAKE ZURICH		1st.	2nd.
Bicknase.....	164	162
Meyer.....	194	174
Thompson.....	169	152
Ernst.....	113	115
Elehman.....	110	114
Totals.....	690	623

BARRINGTON		1st.	2nd.
Walterscheid.....	178	191
Meyer.....	187	144
Nedding.....	135	101
McKay.....	187	168
Martin.....	177	163
Totals.....	854	860

The Barrington team claimed that the score being in their favor that the Zurich pin knockers would have found something lighter in the future. Capt.
Walterscheid put a piece of 4x4 on his shoulder and challenged Bicknase's five to knock it off.

Wednesday night the Barrington 5 loaded themselves into a landau—and proceeded to Lake Zurich. The block they carried was reduced to sawdust.
The following score of three games played tells the story:

LAKE ZURICH		1st.	2nd.	3rd.
Bicknase.....	164	149	158
Meyer.....	142	141	159
Seip.....	136	147	202
Gobleman.....	190	119	169
Underwood.....	178	147	143
Totals.....	790	703	835

BARRINGTON		1st.	2nd.	3rd.
Walterscheid.....	128	137	150
Meyer.....	163	117	107
Hollister.....	183	128	131
McKay.....	130	162	125
Martin.....	157	119	165
Totals.....	761	763	658

A Scriptural Illustration.
The Bible says people didn't go to Join the Baptist's revival to see the bill rushes or the cut of the preacher's clothes; there was something else.
And, by the same token, there's a reason why so many people from all parts of the country around come to Dundee to do their trading. It is because we refund car fare, and they save money on their goods.
