CONCERT AND COMEDY

By Home Talent Attracts Large and Appreciative Audiences.

Girls' Band in Concert--Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch.

Musical genius and comely personality combined to make an attractive entertainment given by the Girls' Concert band in the village hall Thanksgiving night. A large gathering of music lovers attended to enjoy the abundance of harmony and to give evidence of their interest in the present and future welfare of these gifted young ladies.

The concert selections merited high commendation for the unity of time and expression, which demonstrated the excellent accord of the leader and musicians, while the solo work was performed with self-sufficient confidence. Alternating with the numbers presented by the band were vocal numbers, readings and a piano duet.

Prof. C. S. Horn is entitled to sincere praise for his able efforts in organizing and perfecting this band of which the village is pardonably proud.

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch.

The appearance of Mrs. Wiggs with her numerous children and "nuybors" Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows' hall called forth continued applause from the highly amused audience which filled the hall. Such energy had been spent perfecting the play and in arranging the properties that the smoothness of its action was a surprise and pleasure to many and the unique and appropriate costumes demand especial mention. Scenes of pathos, humor, love and tragedy followed in quick order, proving the versatility of the dramatic ability of the company's members, and it is a fact unquestioned that our local histrionic talent is remarkably good. Among those who played leading parts were Miss Robie Brockway, Mrs. J. I. Sears, Mrs. G. W. Spinner, Frank Alverson and Jefferson Dockery, who represented their respective characters in an apt manner. The play was given under the management of the local Order of the Eastern Star and was a success previously unequalled.

Prof. Banta read interspersed extracts from the book, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which explained and connected the acts of the play. Sears' orchestra entertained during the intermissions with varied musical numbers of a vivacious nature.

The play was dramatized and produced under the management of Mrs. Mae Lane Spinner, to whom great credit is due.

Greater Than Ever.

An exhibition of the splendid progress in stock raising. The International Live Stock Exposition which opens at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, on November 23, will eclipse anything previously held in magnitude, as the entries are more than 40 per cent greater than in any former year. The widespread interest in these animal exhibits brings forth commendation from men high in authority in educational and public station.

E. A. Burnett, director, University of Nebraska, states:

"I have been much impressed with the value of the International as a means of bringing together the most intelligent and progressive stockmen and farmers of America. These contests furnish the most superlative example of the influence of brains and business methods on the development of our agricultural interests. To the average man who is a sightseer merely, the International is a revelation of what may be accomplished through the combined influence of good blood and the art of the feeder."

The science of feeding and breeding live stock is perhaps no more thoroughly studied and conducted than in the vast country west and northwest of Chicago, which possesses the essential soil and climatic conditions for success, and it is expected that this fact will be most strongly evidenced at the coming show. This year the exposition will have an added attraction in the classes for light horses and ponies, making it even more complete. For this occasion the North-Western Line announces that special low rate will be in effect November 29 and 30 and December 1 from all points on its system, with ample train service for the accommodation and convenience of all who attend.

After Elijah the Two Times.

Suits aggregating $45,038.75 have been filed since October 3, against John Alexander Dowie in Lake county courts, apparently without disturbing the "healers" equanimity, and the hearings have been set for the December term of court. The claims now pending are for supplies for the general stores at Zion City and building materials.

It is said that several financial institutions holding Elijah's paper are about to protect their interests in a legal way.

ANTIOCH SCORCHED.

Business Portion of Village Suffers a Heavy Loss.

The worst fire that has ever visited the country towns of Lake county took place at Antioch Sunday morning when several buildings were completely destroyed, entailing damage to the extent of perhaps $30,000, much of which was covered by insurance. The following buildings and businesses were destroyed:

Thayer & Vicker's grocery store, owned by Hattie and Anna Ames; building owned by Webb Brothers, occupied by Webb & Boylan's dry goods store, Royal Neighbors and Woodmen hall and Hart Beswick's photograph gallery; Will Hannaman's barber shop, owned by Charles Sibley; Henry Herman's saloon; deserted blacksmith shop and vacant residence, owned by Nels Peterson. The origin of the fire is attributed to an explosion of gasoline in Herman's saloon.

In the afternoon the Palatine High School defeated the Victors by a score of 16 to 0 in an interesting game full of punts and sensational features. Palatine defeated the strong Evans-ton Farmers football team on Nason's field last Saturday by a score of 6 to 1. Had not the visitors laid down on pretended injuries at the close of the last half Palatine would undoubtedly have scored again. The Farmers attempted trick plays, which availed nothing, while Palatine won by straight football. The victory places the Palatine team in a position to claim the 140-pound championship of Cook county.

Ball, secretary of the Northern Illinois Traction company, met with them. He asked for an extension of time in which work should be commenced. The time fixed last year expires November 29, and he asked that the time be changed to May 10, 1904, and the completion to be the same, November 29, 1905. When asked what the chances were for the road Mr. Ball stated that a good amount of stock had been taken and the prospects good for a road. He stated to the board that if the company did not show good signs of a road through here by May 10 next they would not ask for another extension of time. The ordinance was so made that the company will not be allowed to do a slight piece of work in order to hold the franchise.

Attorney Shirra, representing the farmers along the creek south of town, asked the board to make some proposition to clean the water running into the creek, and from the outlook at present a peaceable settlement will be

THE "TREATING" HABIT

One of the Worst Obstacles to the Cause of Temperance.

At the next session of the legislature the friends of the temperance cause will present a petition asking that a law be enacted against the custom of "treating." That such a law would, if put in force, save many dollars to the "drinkers" of the state is not denied, but it would be a gross interference with personal liberty, and therefore arouse great opposition.

The Chicago Daily News, in an editorial on the question, says: "The treating custom as at present indulged in is as senseless and dangerous a practice as could well be conceived by men supposed to be rational. It has gone so far in recent years in this country that the average saloon patron considers it almost a violation of the rules of courtesy to fail to observe it. A group of men--say three or four--enter a saloon, not because all want a drink, but because one of their number does. The first having treated the others, the second insists upon returning the doubtful courtesy and the others, not to be outdone in respecting the rules of saloon etiquette, follow suit. By the time the last man of the group has discharged his obligation under the social code of the place another is reasonably sure to begin the proceeding all over again by treating all over again. Instead of the one drink which the thirsty member of the party originally wanted, each of the party will have had several drinks.

"Admitting that an anti-treating law would be at best only a palliative and that its enforcement would be difficult, to say the least, the subject is of interest as indicating one of the various expedients which under present conditions may curb the evil of excessive drinking and the spread of the drink habit."
