LORIMER GUILTLESS

INVESTIGATORS PRESENT PREDICTED VERDICT TO FULL COMMITTEE OF SENATE.

BRIBE EVIDENCE IS NOTED

But Senator Hold Innocent of Use of Money—Enough Votes Left Even If Some Were Bought—Six Majority Not Impaired.

Washington.—Senator Lorimer received a clean bill of health Saturday from the subcommittee of the senate committee on privileges and elections, which investigated charges of bribery in connection with his election. The report of the investigation was made to the full committee today.

The report is unanimous, being signed by the seven members of the committee which conducted the investigation.

All the members of the full committee were present with the exception of Senator Dillingham of Vermont, Senator Frazier of Tennessee and Johnston of Alabama. The report, therefore, was not made of the report, but there will be another meeting of the committee tomorrow, when it is expected the report will be accepted by the full committee and be presented to the senate before adjournment for the holiday recess on Wednesday.

Chairman Burrows, who prepared the report of the investigating committee, read it to the full committee. It was in open session. Close attention prevailed during its reading, and at its conclusion the committee ordered it printed.

Copies of the testimony taken in the case of Senator Lorimer's election were ready for distribution among the members of the full committee, and it is expected that some of them will read portions of the evidence before the meeting on Wednesday. So far as can be discovered, however, there is no minority report. The fact that none of the members of the committee may desire to express in full his or her views on the character of the evidence offered.

With regard to bribery practised in the Illinois legislature the subcommittee reports that it has been unable to connect Mr. Lorimer with the use of money in the senatorial election. The committee does not declare that there could be no doubt entertained that there was bribery, but under a long line of precedents the field of investigation of the senate is limited by the committee was to ascertain whether Mr. Lorimer could be connected with the bribery.

Having determined that question, there was only one more for the committee to consider. That was whether Mr. Lorimer's constitutional majority had been impaired by bribery. On the roll call on the election of January 27, 1909, Mr. Lorimer received 108 votes out of a total of 216, which were required to give him a majority.

Had the committee found evidence which proved that at least seven members of the Illinois legislature had been bribed to vote for Sir Lorimer it would not report that he had not been entitled to a seat in the senate. According to report of the investigating committee, the evidence failed to impair Mr. Lorimer's constitutional majority. Accepting the testimony offered and giving it full credence, the committee finds that Mr. Lorimer would still have a majority of three more than the number of votes required to elect him.

PRESIDENT SEES NO DANGER

Taft, in Speech Allays War Scare, Declares Nation Need Have No Fear.

Washington.—President Taft, in an address before the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, Saturday gave assurances that the country need not fear the so-called war scare.

He said: "I cannot think the slightest reason for such a sensation because we are at peace with all the nations of the world, and are quite likely to remain so."

Moreover, the president declared he does not find our army ineffective and inefficient, and that still more trained officers are needed and that we ought to have 100,000 militia regulars enough for ready use in cases of emergency.

"A little more forethought, a little more attention to the matter on the part of congress," he said, "and we shall have all of the army and all of the munitions and equipment for war that we ought to have in a republic situated as we are, with a navy like the one hand, and 5,000 miles on the other, from the source of hostile invasion."

The president declared the United States had taken the lead elsewhere for every important barrier that an enemy would attack.

TURKS CRUCIFIED BY ARABS

BEDOUINS BEGIN ATTACK ON CHRISTIANS IN SYRIA.

Hundreds of Women Are Carried Away as Slaves—Some Have Bodies Badly Mutilated.

Jerusalem. — Following their massacre of Turkish soldiers the Bedouins of the desert have begun an attack on the Christians whom they spared at the beginning of the uprising, according to reports which reach Jerusalem.

Later news of the attack on the garrison at Kerak, which was taken by the Arabs, subjected their captives to the most barbarous cruelties. Nine of the Turkish officers of rank were among many prisoners crucified while living. Others, chanting their triumph, danced about them and other prisoners looked on. Hundreds of women captured when the garrison was stormed were carried off as slaves. Some of the dead Turks were badly mutilated.

The Bedouins are the most savage of the desert tribes. Lacking wholly the human emotions, they find no pleasure from torturing their victims. One method of making them prisoners is to bind them hand and foot and drive camels over the prostrate bodies.

The tribesmen fight with great bravery, though their methods of warfare used half a century ago. They are superb horsemen and sheering marksmen.

WORKING FOR WORLD PEACE

American Society for Judicial Settlement of International Dispute Begins Conference.

Washington.—Informal peace, the disarmament of the great drain upon a nation's resources, the standing army and the establishment of an international court of justice were flights of fancy, but that these reforms can be settled without recourse to war, was the belief of many philosophers, political economists and the clergy for centuries. The meeting is attended by the president of the United States, many of the foremost citizens of the republic, and ambassador from all the countries of Europe. The presence of these representatives of the foreign governments lends an international tone to the conference and adds to the importance as a factor in furthering this work.

The informal trust deed presented by Mr. Carnegie to the trustees reads as follows:

SEEK TO ATTACK COAL MERGE

IMPORTANT ARGUMENT MADE OVER FORM OF DECREE.

Attorney for Government Asks to Have Certain Trust Charges Dismissed "Without Prejudice."

Philadelphia. — The form of decree to be entered by the United States Circuit court in the govern ment's suit against the alleged anthracite coal combination was the subject of a long argument in that court which brought out several questions of great importance in connection with the case.

The government, through J. C. Bayard Henry, contended that the decree should specifically state that the government's allegation that the Reading and Jersey Central and the Erie and New York, Susquehanna and Western were illegal combinations should be dismissed "without prejudice."

The attorney said the merger of the Reading and the Jersey Central through stock ownership gave them control of 61 per cent of the unmined anthracite coal in the country and the government may at some time feel that this is an unlawful merger.

With regard to the Temple iron company the government asked that the corporation be dissolved "by reason of said a combination" in restraint of trade and that the defendants thereafter be enjoined from continuing the combination or from transferring their interests to individuals or companies controlled by them in the future. Argument down the decree next Tuesday.

THE CENSUS OF CANADA

ITS GROWTH IN TEN YEARS PAST.

A census of the Dominion of Canada will be made shortly after June 1. It will show that during the past decade a remarkable development has taken place, and, though comparatively few in population, a greater percentage of increase in industry and in all kinds than has ever been shown by any country. Commerce, mining, agriculture and railways have made a steady march forward, but the growth in these is considerably over 8,000,000. Thousands of miles of railway are under construction since the last census was taken ten years ago. This construction is not confined to the opening up of the new agricultural districts in the Western provinces, but there have been pouring year after year into the eastern provinces, which, until the present year will witness settlement of river lands, or, a little less than one-third of the immigration to the United States during the same period with its 82,000,000 of population. Even with these hundreds of thousands of settlers there is a great majority of whom go upon the land, there is room for available room for hundreds of thousands additional. The census will show that there has been a great—a vast—increase in the number of farms under occupation, as well as in the value of farm lands. When the figures of the splendid immigration which has been pouring into Canada the total will surprise even the most optimistic. The figures will show great that the western portion of Canada will show more than a proportionate the commercial and industrial growth of the eastern portion of Canada. All lands in Manitoba are included, and in this transformation there is taking part the people from other provinces, but only from those countries that provide the strong and industrious. Some evidence of the growth of the western portion of Canada is in agricultural industry. It is instructive to point out that over 100,000 homesteads have been taken and have been transferred to actual settlers in the past two years. This means 15,000 square miles of territory, and then, there is room for more. Besides a prosperous block, there is an additional 100,000 square miles—a territory as large as the state of Indiana, and settlement is going on rapidly upon the producing capacity imperative on the cultivation, even with the present rate of cultivation on each 160-acre homestead, for centuries to come. There will be within a year and a half from now 25,000 miles of railway in operation, even from this one source added to the existing producing area of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

In 1901, at the time of the last census of Canada, successful agriculture in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta was an experiment. There were many who were skeptics who could not believe that it was possible to grow thirty, forty and fifty bushels of wheat to the acre, or that as high as one hundred bushels of oats could be grown to the acre could be grown. The skeptics are not by class to-day. They have seen many of the hundreds of thousands of farmers in the new territory have in their hands the lands of western Canada proven their worth in the matter of wheat, all the smaller field grains, but for mixed farming, and for cattle raising and dairying as well as mixed farming. The climate is perfectly adapted to all these industries as well as it is admirable for health. The Dominion government literature will show all that all that are interested should read. Send for a copy to the Minister of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada.
