

NOTES From MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

They are easily handled. Handle cows carefully in summer. Cows are annoyed by unnecessary delay and noise.

Labor saving equipment on the farm. With the aid of a saw of roughness will feed a greater number of animals.

It is well to remember that chickens cannot thrive if infected with any of their diseases.

Don't leave your valuable farm machinery standing unattended in the field.

Feed soil which produces poor crops. Don't lose an amount of labor and money.

It is false economy to shut your poultry up to keep them from damaging your crops.

Watch most carefully during the hatched time that the chicks have well ventilated air.

Plant early and late so that the supply of crisp vegetables can be maintained for months.

The bedding of a cow in farrowing time should be kept very clean and dry.

The work is evenly distributed throughout the year on the best organized dairy farms.

Almost any cow can succeed with sheep in winter, time, or in early season.

It is much better to use a medium season, heavy straw variety of oats when they are grown with pigs.

If the man who has no soil would watch his tractor feed and watch the results he would soon have one.

Success does not depend so much on the number of cows as on the quality of the milk.

Strawberries should be cultivated. The weeds are not done with the care necessary for late summer crops.

The egg is manufactured by the hen from the food that is consumed, because her feeding should be carefully watched.

Painting an old pig or wagon or farm implement is not a very different thing from a little great deal to the appearance.

It is a mistake to pasture young clover for the cattle as early as till they are ready to graze on it.

Keep up the warfare on weeds in the cornfield. Do not allow weeds to grow unless you intend to conserve to use them.

Pigs at first will take through and place the hands of a broom, and placing a wash at one end, the tickling will be done very distinctly at the other end.

Place a garden seal upon a place of glass, which will be drawn by hand, a very sweet music, similar to the music of a glass.

Winged feet on swimmers. Fishes Attached to Back of Fish Enable Man to Obtain Much Good or Speed Than Ordinarily.

Ministry tells us of a gentleman who had a man enough to form an area. Texas was to invent ways for the feet of swimmers. The Texas invention consisted of a pair of wings.

Let us now be had for table use. It is late in winter by starting the plants now and preserving them with water in cold frames when cold weather comes.

Hay troughs should be so fixed that parties who use them should not become entangled in the fence. Foreign matter of any sort is the more reprehensible.

The plant is a good commercial vegetable. The demand for it on the city market is large and it is a profitable one and can be shipped well, standing all winter.

Bookkeeping is well adapted to gauging and fruit growing. The bee will appreciate your skill as gardeners in honey.

It has been found by observation that in the case of the cow that milk is produced in the udder, the higher the production. You can select your breeders with safety at time of milking.

NEAT TRICK SAFE AND SUPE

Glass May Be Cut Without Danger of Breaking if Invened in Touch of Water While Working.

With an ordinary pair of scissors you can cut a sheet of glass a window pane, for instance—easily as you can cut a sheet of paper. The secret of this important accomplishment is plunging your hands, with the glass held between them, into cold water, and then performing the operation. In this way the glass cuts in straight or in curved lines without break, and thus performing the operation. It is well for the glass to be in straight or in curved lines without break, and thus performing the operation.
