

HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Another North Shore Lineman Burned By High Tension Wires - Lies in Ch. gas Hospital - Will Live.

High tension wires of the North Shore Electric company were Monday responsible for another accident of the kind which is Charles Scholtz, a son of William Scholtz, of Crystal Lake.

The accident occurred at La Grange, Illinois, shortly after noon. Scholtz had climbed a pole to cut the wires to reach the transformer, and in some way came in contact with one of the high tension feed wires carrying 4,000 volts.

His body was so badly scorched and lacerated over backward thus breaking the contact with the hot iron that he is now in a bad condition when he reached the hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate his right arm.

His condition is much improved now and the hospital physicians say that he will recover, suffering only the loss of the arm.

Mr. Grebe has considerably more room at the new location than at the old, although in the casual observer it would be inclined to do it and covered up a year ago.
