Correspondent Censures Representative "Doesn't Like the Legislator's" Like the Legislator's

To the Editor of the Barrington Review: I received the letter of our representative, Mr. Louis J. Pierson, recently published in your paper in which he makes an explanation as to how he happens to be the victor in the election...

We are disappointed with his explanation. It does not seem to show, if it shows anything, that he has done what would develop his constituents (2), because he is friendly with those who are having away from him the people for a consideration. We think that having away from him the people who should have decided opinions and should not hesitate to publicly express them will public opinion.
