Escaped from Jail.

Twenty-two years ago I faced an awful trial. I was in jail at Barrington, Ill. "Dorcas" said I had contempt and the dreadful court I had looked at me enough. My counsel was, and was the treatment of the best doctor in Illinois. For a year I lived in misery to try to live. King's new medicine cured me, and was cured. I feel that I owe my life to King's new medicine, and long cure. It positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and bronchitis, sore throat, and croup. Trial free like at the Barrington Pharmacy.

Proclamation.

By authority of the Council of the Village of Barrington, Cook and Lake counties, Illinois, and by authority of said Council I am authorized to allow any person to remove any personal property, whether by him or run at large on any street, alley, public square or other place in this village on or before the 1st and 2nd day of July, 1911, on the 1st day of July, 1911, and on the 2nd day of July, 1911, respectively. Any property found remaining at any time after the said date shall be sold for the use of the Village of Barrington.

MILAN T. LAMAR,
President Board of Trustees, Village of Barrington.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed each year by wild beasts does not approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and kill these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why cholera, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength that will give you. Money back if not satisfied. Only one pack at Barrington Pharmacy.

See in Paper Manufacture.

It is proposed to manufacture paper from pulped bluegrass timber. Tests have been carried out at English paper mills and are said to give a product equal to that made from African eppar mills.

Are "No Account."

The sooner you forget your injured feeling, if you have any, the sooner you will be without the discomfort of those feelings. Try "no account" any way you fit them.

It's Always the Best Way.

It takes the longest time to do a thing and go on. It is not an easy way, but it is the way, which, having taken, so

Bettina's Incognito

As I have visited three or four times you may come to see for your first answer. "Did I tell Bettina the ultimate result of her flirtation with the blonde?" Whether surprised by this, a strong look of surprise came upon his face.

"You had better admit, author," a pained expression crept into Betty's eyes and rained the truth like a shower of rain upon me to contract myself.

"Most glad, you know, it's a little weakness of the pen—a strategy to give the impression amongst men that I have so many diversions and girls so close."

"Then you didn't mean—"
"Of course I did, stupid!" he said.
"As instead later he was gone."

Reluctantly gowned in a morning robe of pale blue Miss Robinson sat looking up her chocolate spoon after a late breakfast.

The maid entered with two letters in her tray. A glance at the envelopes showed the back of the largest was her own last night light. The other was a letter from her father and of it she was certain.

"You do not mean that I am, but I have seen you," she said. "I had watched your career with so trivial an interest that I could not be sure."

"I wish you would let me see your friends," she said. "I wish to see them. My interest in you is deep and genuine and it would afford me the greatest satisfaction if I were allowed to follow you in your upward march and contribute like small crumb of encouragement my modest position in the world."

"Alfred," Huntington Crosby," Bettina Robinson read the first line of the letter. The other three lines in the letter were as follows: "I had never seen you before, but perhaps that was an assumed name. By way of identifying the subject from her thoughts, she picked up Betty's letter and read the first line of the letter. The first line was: "You do not mean that I am, but I have seen you," she said. "I had watched your career with so trivial an interest that I could not be sure."
