BARRINGTON REVIEW

THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1911.

FOR BETTER RURAL LIFE. Steps for the improvement of rural life are meeting with marked success in all parts of the country. One of the latest movements along this line was undertaken in Wisconsin in the organization of a County Life association which will co-operate with all force in the state that may have an interes in the movement. The business of the association will be conducted by an clude members representing such interests as agricultural, manufacturing merchandising, banking, religion, edu eation and the press One of the principal objects of the association is to bring about a mor satisfactory co-operation of all cor mercial and social forces now existing
