

PIPE ORGAN FOR THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Local Baptist House of Worship Has Distinction of Being First In Barrington to Install Modern Organ.

A beautiful, new pipe-organ is made possible for the Baptist church of Barrington by a most generous gift on the part of Andrew Carnegie of New York city. Mr. Carnegie's nation-wide gifts of public libraries have made his philanthropy known to all.

Mr. Lockhart, the pastor of this church, has been in communication with Mr. Carnegie through his private secretary, the past three months. The correspondence closed successfully with a letter from Mr. Bertram, the private secretary, saying the request that was being urged in previous letters would be granted. The letter in part is as follows:

"New York, Feb. 19, 1912.
"Rev. Geo. E. Lockhart,
"Barrington, Illinois."

"Dear Sir:—In response to your request—Mr. Carnegie will be pleased to pay the last half of the cost of a pipe-organ for your church when the first half is raised and the payment on the organ becomes due.

"Very sincerely
"Chas. Bertram,
"P. Secretary."

Unlike Mr. Carnegie's library gifts this request is absolutely free to any stipulations governing the use of the organ. It is a gift outright, and for this reason is highly appreciated by the Baptist church membership and following.

The order for the organ was placed on the instrument. The rich, mellow, flute-toned "Lieblich Gedacht" and the delicate and sweet-toned "Gamba" registers are given "crescendo", "diminuendo", "forte", and "piano" effects with ease by means of a specially patented "balanced-swell-pedal." And in order to secure also the greatest degree of power and solidity of tone from the organ, the powerful, prevailing, sonorous "open diapason" is brought into play by the opening of a single organ stop.

A liberal written guarantee, both as to quality of material, workmanship and the number of years (ten in all) the organ will be kept in tune and any possible repairs furnished free of cost will be secured with the instrument. The organ is so absolutely free from any device or appliance that is liable to get out of order that with fair usage it will do good service a life time.

The organ will be set up, regulated and tuned by one of the contracting firm's own employees. It is to be subjected to every test of the standard of excellence represented, before any cash payment is accepted. Thirty-eight of this firm's organs are now in use in Chicago. These have all proven themselves to be superior instruments.

So clever are the patented mechanical appliances on the organ that it is being secured that its being played is simplicity itself. Any one who plays a read organ can with comparative ease transfer to this one.

CLUBS AND LODGES.

Interesting News Concerning Barrington's Many Social Organizations.

Barrington lodge number 556, I. O. O. F., held its election of officials last Thursday evening and made but slight changes in the administrative staff, which is now as follows: Noble Grand.....E. D. Prouty Vice Grand.....John C. Brasel Secretary.....C. H. Morrison Treasurer.....Otto Rieke Trustees: A. W. Sutherland, George W. Page, Charles Lipofsky, John C. Brasel and Charles Ebel. Omnes Vita Boys Do Well. The basketball social and entertainment given at the village hall last evening by the Omnes Vita club netted the boys about $125.90, all of which will be used by the club baseball team. Fifty-seven baskets were sold, the highest figure paid for a single basket being $4.75. This basket belonged to Miss Almeida Plagge and was purchased by Fred Grimm, junior.

The hall was prettily decorated with orange and black streamers, the club colors and a badge of these colors was worn by each member of the club.

The program was pleasing, the Barrington Concert company adding much to its interest.

Besides the members of the club numbering about 65, about 75 outsiders

B. Y. P. U. Social.

Last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Catlow, the Baptist young people were hospitably entertained at the regular monthly business and social session of their society. A most delightful evening was spent. Over 50 were present and the evening was soon spent after the business session, by the playing of games and singing. An ample lunch of baked beans, salad, coffee, cake and dessert was served cafeteria style, the couples who could match numbers marching to the dining room and helping themselves. A part of the evening's diversion was had by the pastor's reading of the entire correspondence with Mr. Carnegie relative to the new pipe organ for the church mentioned in this issue of the REVIEW.

All in all it was one of the most enjoyable social evenings the society has had in the last few years and the young people extend thanks to the generous hosts.

Edward Lamey Dead.

Edward Lamey, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lamey, departed this life at his home in Oregon, Wisconsin, Saturday afternoon, March 9, of paralysis after an illness of several months. He was born in Barrington, August 27, 1884, and received his education in the public schools here. At an early age he went to Chicago where he was engaged in business until 12 years ago when he went to Oregon where he has since been engaged in farming.

He married Mrs. Mary Geary of Oregon November 29, 1900, and leaves surviving beside his widow one son, Edward, one daughter, Anna, and stepson George Geary; also two brothers, Daniel F. and Miles T. Lamey and four sisters, Mrs. Anna Collins, Mrs. W. H. Snyder, Miss Julia and Miss Margaret Lamey, all of this village. The funeral services were held at St. Henry's church in Oregon Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Father McDermott conducting the services. All of the relatives were present at the services. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, Oregon.

THE STYLE OF PIPE ORGAN WHICH WILL BE PUT IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH

about two weeks ago with the well known Himers Organ Company, of Pekin. The work of building the organ was begun at once and delivery will be made so that the organ can be dedicated at the church rededication the first Sunday in May.

The instrument is to be one of the best that can be built and remain commensurate with the size of the auditorium into which it is to be built. It will be placed in the southeast corner of the assembly room and the present choir-loft will be remodeled and enlarged so as to extend two feet farther north on the east side where the piano now stands. The present organ is much needed in the basement parlor and will be placed there.

The face-pipes of the new organ, forty-three in number, will be decorated so as to add the final touch to the unusually beautiful color effects of the new auditorium. In the evening an attachment to the electric blower will flood the pipes with a colored glow of light during the playing of each piece of music.

The organ case will be built of the best quarter-sawn oak, with a fine hand rubbed cabinet finish, and toned to harmonize with the present new pews.

The tones coming from the organ are guaranteed to be precisely the same as the corresponding registers in the largest and costliest of pipe-organs. The most soft and delicate effects of expression can be produced

Mr. Carnegie's gift was prompted mostly by the splendid spirit the local Baptist congregation has recently shown in finishing its necessary and extended improvements in the church property. The number of substantial Baptist, or Baptistically inclined, families in Barrington also had its weight; together with the fact that Barrington has not had to date a pipe organ, the only instrument that is entirely satisfactory for modern church use.

The gift of Mr. Carnegie is being equaled by two or three warm friends of the church. They are residents of the community and ask that no public mention of their names be made.

The initial steps in the church's pipe-organ project were taken four months ago by its young people through their society the Baptist Young People's Union. From this beginning it has finally culminated in Mr. Carnegie's and the above mentioned friend's timely and appreciated gifts.

The church will now be perfectly equipped for a large community use, and the congregation is to be congratulated upon the splendid progress it has made, due almost entirely to the energetic efforts of its popular pastor, the Rev. Mr. Lockhart.

Miss Jukes has this season a larger and more complete line than ever before of everything that goes to make up the most stylish and fashionable of spring headwear for ladies. A call will convince you.

SYNOPSIS.
Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border platoonman, is looking for roaming war parties of savages. He sees a wagon team at full gallop pursued by men on ponies. When Keith reaches the wagon the raiders have massacred two men and destroyed the rest. Keith is arrested at Carson City, charged with the murder. His accuser brings a woman named Hope. A negro companion in his cell named Ned tells him that the man named Hope is the Virginian who says one of the murdered men was John Black, the other Gen. William Wallie, formerly a Confederate officer. The platoonman and Ned escape, and later the fugitives come upon a cabin and its occupant turns out to be a young girl, whom Keith identifies as the woman who had been killed. Mr. Hawley induced her to come to the cabin while he sought her brother. Hawley appears, and Keith in hiding recognizes him in the darkened room in which he is. Hope, a negro, is a sympathetic, and the girl who says that her name is Hope, joined in the rescue. Keith explains his situation and the fugitives make for Fort Laredo, where the girl is met with the hotel landlady. Miss Hope tells Keith that the man who got her into the city, Keith and Ned drift into Sheridan, where Keith meets an old friend, Tom Fairbairn, under the assumed name of Fred Wallie. Keith and Ned are taken to the Carson City jail, where Keith meets the man who was thought murdered, is at Sheridan, and becomes convinced that Black Hart has some plot involving the two. Hope hears that Black Hart is thought murdered, is at Sheridan, and becomes convinced that Black Hart has some plot involving the two. Hope hears that Black Hart is thought murdered, is at Sheridan, and becomes convinced that Black Hart has some plot involving the two.

"Certainly not. At first it struck me as altogether a poor one, but the more I think of it the stronger it appeals to me. It may reveal to us the whole conspiracy, and I cannot believe Hawley is a man of such an unscrupulous familiarity likely to cost him the good opinion of his ally. There is too much at stake. Wait here, Hope, and I will be back the very moment I learn all that is necessary."
A glance at the office clock convinced Keith that, in all probability, Miss MacLaire had not, as yet, departed for the scene of her errand. He triumphed. Still, it could not be long before she would, and he lit a cigar, sitting down in a corner partially concealed by the clerk's desk to wait for her appearance. This required more than anticipated, and fearing lest he might have missed the departure entirely, he was about to question the clerk Thomas, when he beheld Hawley enter hurriedly from the street and run up the stairs. He, then, had been the laggard. All the better, as he would now have no opportunity to unfold his tale to the lady, as it would be necessary for him to hurry to the revelation. Whatever the nature of the revelation it would have to wait until the walk home. The excitement of the adventure was already creeping into Keith's blood, his pulse quickening.

The two returned almost immediately, conclusively proving that Miss MacLaire, fully dressed for the street, had been awaiting the arrival of her gallant with some impatience. Hawley was hastily explaining his delay as they came down the stairs, and paid little attention to the seemingly deserted office. Indeed, Miss Christie monopolized all his thoughts. With quick scrutiny the watcher noted the more conspicuous articles of apparel constituting her costume—the white mantilla thrown over her head, the costly tulle of the blue dress, the light cape covering the shoulders—surely it would not be difficult to duplicate these, so as to pass muster under the dim light of the streets. Far enough in their rear to feel safe from observation he followed, noting with increased pleasure the rapidity with which they covered the required distance. Clearly Miss Christie was already nervous lest she have not sufficient time remaining in which to properly dress for her act, and there would be no exchange of confidences on the outward journey. Hawley led her, as Keith anticipated, at the stage entrance, the lady hastening within. Her escort strolled leisurely back to the front of the house, and finally, purchasing a ticket, entered, the performance already having begun.
Keith knew perfectly the arrangement of the theater—the seats in front, because all the probability of a gallery filled with benches; a noisy orchestra beneath the stage; a crowded audience of men, with only here and there a scattering of representative of the gentler sex; busy waiters dodging in and out among the tables, and down the aisles, filling orders for fluids from the nearby saloon. The air would be permeated with the odor of drink, thick with the fumes of tobacco, and noisy with voices, except as some special favorite on the stage won temporary attention. The theater was well possessed but one redeeming feature—no doorway connected stage and auditorium, and the management brooked no interference with his artists. It had required some nerve to originally enforce this rule, together with a smart fight or two, but at this period it was acknowledged and respected. No sooner had Hawley realized than Keith found occasion to enter into casual conversation with the door-keeper, asking a number of questions, and leaving impressed upon the mind of that astute individual the idea that he was dealing with a "gent" enamored of one of the stage beauties. A coin slipped quietly into the man's hand served to deepen this impression, and unlocked discreet lips otherwise sworn to secrecy. Out of much general information a little of real value was thus extracted—Miss MacLaire's act began at 9:45 and was over promptly at 10:10. It required about twenty minutes more for her to change again into street clothes, and she usually left the theater immediately after, which would be about 10:30. Yes, there was a vestibule outside the stage door, and on bad nights, those waiting for the ladies could slip in there. But on such a night as this they generally hung around outside. No, there was no watchman, but the manager was frequently prowling around. He'd be busy, however, at 10:30, getting the stage ready for the "flying intermanns." Abundantly satisfied and rejecting the door-keeper's professional suggestion that he'd better buy a ticket and take a look at the show, Keith slipped away, and hastened back to the hotel. The more he investigated the more feasible appeared the girl's plan, and he was now fully committed to it.

"Yes, You Can Get Up. I Reckon You're Beginning to See Clearer, Ain't You?"

CHAPTER XXVIII.
The Stage Door of the Trocadero. Hope discovered very little difficulty in duplicating the outer garments. Keith reported Miss MacLaire as wearing the colors, indeed, were not in a flutter of nervous excitement as she hastened about the room, donning her few requirements of masquerade, yet Keith noted with appreciation that she became perceptibly cooler as the moment of departure approached. With cheeks aflame and eyes sparkling, yet speaking with a voice revealing no falter, she pressed his arm and declared herself prepared for the ordeal. The face under the shadow of the mantilla was so arch and piquant, Keith could not disguise his admiration.
"Am I Christie MacLaire?" she asked laughingly.
"Sufficiently so to fool our friend," he returned, "but I am ready to swear the lady never looked so charming."
"A compliment, and spoken as though you really meant it."
"Have I not been honest enough with you in the past to be credited

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I live on a farm and have been very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

with honesty now!" he protested, a little hurt by the bantering tone.
"Of course you have; I merely talk lightly to keep my courage up. You can have no idea how afraid I am."
"Then you are truly an actress, for you appear the picture of enjoyment. But we must go, or Hawley will be there before us, and thus spoil all our plans."
They passed out through the office together, seeing no one familiar to either. Hope, keeping her face partly concealed. The east side of the street was less frequented than the other, having fewer saloons along its way, and they chose its darkness. As they advanced, the long habit of frontier life caused Keith to glance behind before they had progressed a block, and he was thus made aware that they were being followed. Conversing lightly, and without a word to alarm the girl, he managed to observe every movement of the dimly outlined figure which advanced with them, timing every motion to theirs. Long before they crossed the street on the Trocadero he was convinced there was no mistake—the fellow, whoever he might be, was trailing him. Keith smiled grimly to himself, resolving that as soon as he had left him being him even in this darkness. Good-by."

The longing to clasp her in his arms, to speak the language of his heart, was almost overwhelming, yet the memory of that figure sitting along behind them, and the brief time before Hawley's probable appearance, for he would leave the theater at the conclusion of Miss MacLaire's act, restrained all demonstration. This was a moment for action, not for words of love; no delay should hazard the success of their undertaking. He heard the slight creak of the door as the girl slipped within the concealment of the vestibule, and then he glided away through the darkness with the stealthy silence of an Indian. There was no one in the alleyway, which was narrow and easily explored, but the glow from the front window plainly revealed the shadow of a man near the entrance, and Keith slipped up toward him, suggesting the side of the building for concealment, prepared to resort to harsh measures. As he reached out, gripping the astonished man by the collar, they started at one another in surprise, and the gripping hand as instantly released its hold.
"You, Fairbairn! What the devil does this mean? What are you spying on us for?"

Clearly taken aback, yet not greatly disturbed, his eyes glancing suspicious and his jaw set, the Doctor rubbed his throat where Keith's knuckles had left a red welt.
"Damn you, I think I'm the one to ask for an explanation," he growled.
"She said she was not going with you, and now you are around here together at this hour. I had a right to know whether I was being played like that."
"But, man, that was not Miss MacLaire I was with; it was Hope Wattle. Come back here under the tent flap while I explain."
Fearful of the coming of Hawley he fairly dragged the portly figure of the bewildered Doctor with him, striving, by quickly spoken words, to make him understand the situation. Knowing previously something of the issues involved, it was not difficult to make Fairbairn grasp the meaning of his momentary movement, yet his sympathies were at once enlisted upon the side of Miss Christie. He'd be damned if he would have any part in such a scheme—if she had a right to the money he'd help her get it—it was a cowardly trick, and he'd fight if necessary, to keep her from becoming a victim. His voice rose, his arms reaching out to grasp her, his sentences snapping like rifle shots. Keith angered, and fearful of a discovery which would leave Hope exposed, realized the futility of discussion and turned to retreat. Grasping the gentlemanly man with both hands, he flung him backward and dragged him into the empty tent, kneeling on him as he throttled him to the earth.
"Now, Doctor, you listen to me," he said sternly. "I'm through arguing. I hate to treat you like this, for you are my friend, but I'll stand for interference here. Do you get that, you old fool? Lie still until I get through! I respect your feelings toward Miss MacLaire. She is a good girl, and I hope to leave you get her if you want her. But you never will if you permit this affair to go on. Yes, I know what I am talking about. In all that Black and I do we are serving you and Christie—our only fight is with 'Hock Bart' Hawley. Stop being a bullet-headed old fool, Fairbairn, and understand this thing. Lie still, I tell you, and let me out. Hawley is a liar, a thief, and a swindler. There is a swindle in this thing somewhere, and he hopes to pull out a big sum of money from it. He is merely using Christie to pull his own chestnuts out of the fire. She is innocent; we realize that, but this fellow is going to ruin the girl unless we succeed in exposing him. He's not only involving her in his criminal conspiracy, but he's making love to her; he's teaching her to love him. That's part of his scheme, no doubt, for then she will be sure to help him. I'll tell you, Fairbairn, your only chance to ever win the interest of Christie MacLaire is to help us down this fellow Hawley. Yes, you are right, I reckon you're beginning to see clearer, ain't you?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)
Old, Parliamentary Usage. Members of the British parliament no longer howl down each other with imitations from the farmyard and the menagerie. One of these early nineteenth century scenes is thus described: "One honorable member near the bar repeatedly called out 'road' to the members endeavoring to address the house. At first it repeated intervals a sort of drone-like humming, having the sound of a distant hand organ or bagpipes—issued from the back benches with its laughing, snorting and insolent, extended yavering blended with other sounds. A single voice from the ministerial benches imitated very accurately the yelp of a kelpie dog."

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I live on a farm and have been very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her.
"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine."
—Mrs. J. G. Johnson, Scottville, Mich., R. F. D. 8.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for woman's ills known.

THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1912

YOUR FUTURE DEPENDS UPON THE FRIENDS YOU SELECT.

The ambition to have the right kind of friends means health, money, brains and morality.

No other outside influence affects a man's life as his friends do, for the company that a man keeps leaves its impress upon his body, his bank account, his mental development and his decency, by setting the standards toward which he struggles.

It is only occasionally that men strive for an unseen ideal. They ordinarily imitate and emulate those whom they see daily. The study of books will rarely weed out "I have saw" when the student has heard it at home for 20 years, while a young man reared in a home of culture may live in a mining camp for years and never lose the correctness of his speech.

In matters of morality, we are all a part of what we touch.

When a man is decent among vile surroundings it is usually because he has had contact with decent people before. Isolated morality is nearly impossible, and the hermit does not shake off influences. He simply limits himself to those he has already had.

It is amazing that we leave the selection of friends to chance. The most careful study and investigation should regulate the choosing of companions. In choosing a place to live, the character of the neighbors should be the consideration of prime importance; and intimate friends should be selected with the utmost care. Nearly every family is on a footing of good comradeship with two or three other families, and few mistakes in life are more serious than to follow the line of least resistance in this important matter.

If you want high ideals and courage you may be sure that others with the same ideals are looking for you. No social question is of greater importance than that you should find each other; and to leave this important matter to chance through either carelessness or social fear is a crime against the best there is in you.

COMING AUCTIONS.

WM. PETERS, Auctioneer.

I will sell at public auction on my farm five miles southwest of Barrington and two miles east of Sutton Station on Friday, March 29, commencing at one o'clock p. m. the following property: 5 cows, calves in November and December; 2 heifers, calving in August; 2 cows with calves by side; heavy springers; 2 2-year-old heifers; 2 yearling heifers; Holstein bull coming 2 years old; well marked yearling Holstein bull; 11 well marked Holstein heifers 4 months old; full blooded Holstein bull calf 2 months old; 2 yearling Holstein bulls; 3 sows due to farrow in June; full-blooded Ohio Improved Chester White Boar. All sums of $10 and under, cash; over that amount one year's time will be given on bankable notes at six per cent.

JOHN RUTIMAYER.

I will also sell on the same day and at the same place, 15 cows, milchers and springers, and one Chester White boar.

ALVIN LOOMIS.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in this vicinity have been recorded recently:

E. W. Hiley, trustee, to David Wilmer, 119.88 acres in east one-half section 16, Cuba township, P. C. 412,000.

Mary A. Wilkinson to Emily D. Jay, 81.18 acres in Barrington township, $23,000.

Glorious News

comes from Dr. J. T. Curtis, Dwight, Kansas. He writes: "not only have cured bad cases of eczema in my patients with Electric Bitters but also cured myself by them of the same disease. I feel sure they will benefit any case of eczema." This shows that thousands have proved that Electric Bitters is a most effective blood purifier. Its an excellent remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Price 60c. Satisfaction guaranteed by the Barrington Pharmacy.

LAKE ZURICH.

Town primaries will be held next Saturday, don't fail to vote.

Phillip Young made a trip to Rocke-feller Monday.

William Wewitzer has bought from Mike Hayes his farm of 60 acres one mile northwest of this village for a consideration of $115 per acre. Luther Dixon has rented the farm for a year.

August Pohlman has bought the old Henry Fedder farm near Lake's corners for $90 per acre.

Fred Blau had the misfortune to hurt his arm when he fell out of a buggy in making a short turn. Otto Frank is taking care of the barbershop.

Charles Andrews and wife have returned from Hot Springs, Oklahoma, where they spent the past three weeks.

The well drilled by Charles Albrecht for the village has failed to test out to the satisfaction of the village board and a new well will have to be drilled.

A big crowd attended the progressive euchre party and basket social given by the athletic club at their hall Sunday evening. The baskets netted $41.25.

William Tenne and family of Barrington spent Sunday with friends here.

The following were nominated at village primaries: clerk, J. D. Fink; trustees, William Buesching, H. L. Frehm and August Froelich.

Wirt Lawrence has been selected by the Els Township Good Roads club as a candidate for highway commissioner to fill the vacancy occurring in his district in that township this spring. The Els Township Good Roads club is composed of 25 or 30 progressive farmers in that section of the township who are earnestly working for better highways and in Mr. Lawrence they have chosen a man who, if elected, will work conscientiously for the betterment of road conditions in that township, we believe.

The members of the club invite you to join them and vote for Mr. Lawrence.

For Supervisor.

I am a candidate for re-election to the office of supervisor of the town of Els and will appreciate the support of the voters of the town at the primary to be held March 16.

School Exhibit.

The school house will be open to the public tomorrow in the afternoon and evening for the exhibit of the work done throughout the grades during the year. A chicken pie supper will be ready at 4:30 o'clock. This will be served cafeteria style. In the line of amusements there will be a "hall of horrors", fortune tellers and a museum. There will be two candy and fancy work booths where nothing but the best can be found.

This is the fourth annual exhibit and will surpass all others. The proceeds are to help the sewing class and it is hoped they will be large enough so the sewing and manual training classes can be extended into the grades next year. All should go to show their interest in the school and encourage the workers there.

News in General.

For our busy readers we run in each issue of the REVIEW a concise summary of the important news of the state, nation and world. The state happenings of importance are in each issue and the national and general news is condensed in order to briefly give you a thorough covering of what is taking place and in a style that will be acceptable to you. We know that if you will read our news pages each week that you will keep right up to date with the important events that transpire. Read every part of the REVIEW to get the big value of your subscription.

Japanese to Preach.

At the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening a Japanese student of the University of Chicago, U. Kawaguchi San, a friend of the pastor, will speak. In the morning he will preach the sermon and in the evening he will lecture on "The Japanese." Mr. Kawaguchi is a brilliant student, a fluent and clear speaker and entertaining to the last degree. Everybody is invited to hear and also to meet this cultured, Christian Mongolian; and learn firsthand of the new life and spirit of the awakening Orient.

Grand Jury Recalled.

The Lake county grand jury, called for the March term of court a week ago Monday, has been ordered to re-convene on next Monday to hear evidence against A. G. Stevens who is accused of withholding public funds of the city of Waukegan, and Lemon Danforth, the negro accused of murdering his common-law wife.

Increasing Use of Aluminum.

Aluminum has become indispensable in the construction of automobiles, dirigible balloons and aeroplanes. One of its uses in the textile industry is the making, in combination with silk, of a brilliant fabric, which can be given any desired color and which cannot be excelled for making ceremonial costumes and theatrical ward robes.

Virtue of Skunk Oil.

Wonderful virtues are ascribed to skunk oil by those in the mountains. Trappers use it to conceal all odor of man from fox or lynx or other animal wary of traps. In case of croup, or any bronchial or lung trouble, it rubs in quickly. With physatians at times many miles away, a bottle of skunk oil is always present in a mountaineer's family.

"SUPES" ROSE TO OCCASION

Manager Threw Real Money on Stage and the Mob Scene Became at Once Realistic.

"Stage money," that commodity which has been the butt of jokes for generations, may soon lose its significance if the example just set by one manager is followed generally. This wise individual is going to put on a new play very soon and rehearsals are now in progress. There is a mob scene in the play and the hero at a critical moment throws a handful of money to the crowd.

When rehearsals first began the stage manager found much difficulty in getting the necessary "ginger" into the scene, as the supernumeraries did not seem any great enthusiasm in scrambling for the coin. They knew its real value.

Then a bright idea struck the manager. He knew that as thespians get no salary while rehearsing they are sometimes hard up, so he decided to mix some real money with the stage article that is thrown to the crowd.

The effect was magical. The scramble is so realistic that the manager is looking forward anxiously to the first night to see the effect on the audience. But those who read this will know the real secret of the wonderful "acting."

Paper Box Industry Large.
Paper box making, one of the new but very important industries of this country, has made its greatest progress during the last half century, and particularly within the last twenty years, after modern machinery had been introduced. The business has assumed wonderful proportions in New York city, where the capital investment exceeds $5,000,000.

WHITNEY FOR MACGUFFIN.
In an Interview With a County Paper Whitney Gives His Views on Senatorship Question.

The following is taken from last week's issue of the Grayslake Times and settles a much discussed question relating to MacGuffin's candidacy:
"Relative to the MacGuffin candidacy for state senator, the Times today interviewed Judge Charles Whitney.
"Asked what he had to say about Paul MacGuffin as a candidate for state senator, the Judge replied:
"In what respect? What do you mean?
"We told him we had been requested to ask him if he really was for MacGuffin in view of the fact that so much had been said about MacGuffin not being for him at the recent judicial election.
"To the above the judge replied: 'Well you put that question so that I decline to answer' I am immediately classed as being opposed to his candidacy, which is not the fact, and so in self defense I must answer your question.
"As I view the situation, whether he was opposed to me or not has nothing to do with his campaign for state senator. I have no regret to assume he was opposed to me, and he never told me he was. Others did tell me so, but even if such were the case, I suppose he had reasons for doing so that seemed good to him.
"Now I concede, as every fair minded man must, the right to each and every voter to support whomever he pleases at the polls, and if he happens to oppose me, I have no moral, personal or political right to oppose him for office, simply because he may have opposed me. Such a course would be too petty to indulge in. I hope I am broader than a 'get even' motive.
"Lake county presents a clean honorable and able candidate for the state senate and naturally wants him nominated, therefore it goes without saying that he is my choice, so far as my vote goes."

Why the People Need Watson

"Judges of the law are selected from lawyers."
"Judges of property should be selected from real estate men."
The Board of Review determines the value of real estate as a basis for taxation. Since its organization, it has been filled by men in other lines of business who have little if any knowledge of real estate values from a practical standpoint. Oliver L. Watson, who is the Progressive Republican candidate for the Board of Review, was born on a farm in central Illinois close to Chicago in 1871 and started in the real estate business in 1892. In 1900 with Frederick H. Bertlett formed the firm of Watson & Bertlett, which firm was continued until 1905. Since then Mr. Watson has been in business alone, with offices at 167 Washington Street. He is a member of the Chicago Real Estate Board, Association of Commerce and several fraternal organizations.
During the last twenty years he has bought and sold property estimated from $10,000 to $1,000,000. He has sold one or more farms. There are few subdivisions in Chicago in which Mr. Watson is not thoroughly acquainted with property values based on a personal knowledge gained by actual transactions.
He lives at 2832 North 42nd Avenue, Chicago; is married and has a son and daughter.

Primaries Tuesday, April 9th, 1912
You can test Mr. Watson's fitness for this office by calling him on the phone (Main 5133) for valuation of property on any street in Chicago or farm lands in Cook County.

Alverson & Groff

I had intended not to be a candidate this time, but the same power and influence working along the lines of destroying local self-government in the counties and townships and centralizing all power at Springfield, is again seeking to towl Republican affairs at Springfield, and in fact two months ago commenced a campaign against me and my record at Springfield, especially upon the dairy subject and upon other questions, so that I yielded to the solicitation of many friends that I have over the district, asking me to again be a candidate for the lower house.
In this campaign I shall try to set before every Republican voter and the dairymen of the Eighth Senatorial District the exact situation as to dairy legislation at Springfield; and also along the other lines that have been and now are indolously working to destroy the power of local township, city and county governments in the state of Illinois and establish a great job-holders' trust at Springfield.
I submit in this sheet the question of Assessments and Taxation and whether the local townships are capable of self-government in the management of their own property assessments, or whether that power should be exercised at Springfield.
Do you believe in local self-government and duties of local self-government? Do you believe the people of a county are capable of doing valuations upon their own property, or should it be referred to the Governor?
Do you favor the law as it is in the hands of the Governor to send a special assessor from Springfield to assess your property?
Should the citizen be dragged to Springfield in trials involving the value of his property for tax assessment purposes?
Is it not unreasonable to confer power to haul the citizen, with his books and accounts, to Springfield for tax assessment matters?
What could three job-holders at Springfield do, as appointed by the Governor, at $7,500 per annum, accomplish further than the County Board of Review?
Do you favor making tax assessments an adjunct of a great political machine like the Cook County Board of Review?
Senate Bill 267.
A bill for an act to create a state tax commission and to define the powers and duties thereof.
Introduced by Mr. Dunlap, March 1, 1911.
Section 1 provides: That there shall be established a State Tax Commission consisting of three commissioners. They shall be appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and shall regularly hold office for terms of six years.
Section 2. Appeals shall lie from the action of county boards of review to the State Tax Commission, subject to such rules, regulations and restrictions as may be made in relation thereto by the said State Tax Commission. Upon the hearing of such appeals, the State Tax Commission shall have power to consider the action appealed from de novo (from the beginning), and exercise all the powers that could be exercised by the County Board of Review in relation to the subject matter of the action appealed from.
Section 4. State Tax Commission shall have power to exercise general supervision of the assessment and tax laws of the state; to prescribe forms for assessment books, with power to require reports from local tax officials and to examine their books and accounts; to confer with, instruct and advise local assessors as to their duties, visiting each county as often as necessary and practicable.
Section 5. To appoint special assessors and direct the reassessment of property in any taxing district where it appears, on complaint and after investigation, that the original assessment was not substantially just and equitable.
Section 7. To summon witnesses to appear and give testimony under oath and to produce records, books and documents.
Section 8. To confer with the Governor on the subject of taxation and the administration of the tax laws and to furnish him with such information relating thereto as he may require.
Section 9. State Tax Commission shall maintain an office in the city of Springfield, which shall be open to the public during each business day of the year from 9 o'clock a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m.
The trials in all matters are determined at Springfield.
Section 6. Salary of tax commissioners fixed at $7,500 per annum.
The above, senate bill 267, was twice voted upon in the Illinois Senate. First, on April 27, 1911 (see Senate Journal 1911, page 1033). Senator Olson voted for the bill. Again, on May 10, 1911 (see Senate Journal 1911, page 1217), the bill was on roll call in the Illinois State Senate. Senator A. J. Olson voted for the bill.
The bill was defeated in the Senate.
The above was an administration measure and urged and resisted by Governor Deneen, and received the support of Governor Deneen's friends in the Senate.
During the last four years, at every regular session and at two special sessions called for that purpose, the state administration has endeavored to pass a measure bonding the State of Illinois in the sum of twenty million dollars, to construct a deep waterway, so-called, and develop water power and buy water power sites on the Illinois river, for which there would not be one dollar's worth of compensation, consideration or benefit to the people of the Eighth Senatorial District. The proposition of this bond issue, with the interest upon the bonds during the time of construction, would mean a bond issue upon Lake County of . . . $215,594 94
McHenry County of . . . 178,821 09
Boone County of . . . 87,894 73
Senator Olson has voted for these bills. They have been state administration measures and at each time have been defeated in the Lower House.
Next week I shall have something to say upon the question of schools.
Very respectfully,
EDWARD D. SHURTLEFF.

ENDORSE MACGUFFIN.

County Law Makers Pass a Resolution Favoring Lake County's Candidate.

The candidacy of Paul MacGuffin for the Republican nomination for state senatorial district was unanimously endorsed by the Lake county board of supervisors during the regular session last Friday.
This is a splendid recommendation for any candidate to receive and will no doubt have a strong influence with hundreds of voters who have the utmost confidence in their township leader.
It is something very unusual for the board of supervisors to endorse any person seeking office and Mr. MacGuffin is naturally pleased with their action.
Following is the resolution as presented and adopted:
"Whereas in the last general assembly McHenry county had the state senator and both Republican representatives, and
"Whereas the population, manufacturing and shipping interests of Lake county more than equals that of the other two counties in this district combined, be it Resolved, that we, the board of supervisors of Lake county, favor the nomination of a Lake county man for the senatorship in this, the eighth senatorial district, and endorse Paul MacGuffin, of Libertyville."
Dr. Barber, optician, will be in Barrington at Dr. Shearer's office Tuesday, March 19.

THE DAIRY QUESTION

FACTS ABOUT HOUSE BILL 540

Marengo, Ill., March 8, 1912.
Mr. Frank T. Moran,
Belvidere, Ill.

Dear Sir:
I have your letter under date of March 4, stating that Mr. J. P. Conroy of LeRoy township, Boone county, a leading Republican in his locality, states that he has always been one of my supporters, but because of the reason, he claims, I supported House Bill 540, which passed the house and was killed in the senate.

Your letter further states that Mr. Conroy is of the impression that House Bill 540, which passed the house, was a measure secretly aimed at the dairy and stock-raising interests, inasmuch as it gave to the Illinois Livestock Commission powers to enforce a tuberculin test not only in the case of interstate shipments, but also in local herds, it was law fit to make such arbitrary rules.

You further state in your letter: "Mr. Conroy and I discussed the history of the tuberculin fight and how you led the house for against the Chicago crowd to victory in behalf of the farmers, and we both agreed that it was hard to believe you had been disgraced and traitor to the cause in which you had been so conspicuous and valuable a champion. Mr. Conroy is president of the Boone County Milk Producers' association and is actively engaged in working for the dairy interest." It was represented to him, he states, that House Bill 540, after passing the house, was taken to the senate, where strong efforts were made to force it through the committee, but the friends of the farmers killed it off by permitting a Woodstock attorney named Lumley to quietly swipe the bill a day or two before final adjournment.

"In view of these charges among the dairymen, you are invited to make a statement for publication in the Republican. If the accusations are true that you have changed your position on these questions, the legal voters should know it. If the charges are simply campaign falsehoods, your friends are entitled to know it. Therefore, in the interests of a square deal and fair play, you are invited to state the facts about these bills.

"Kindly also advise me whether they had the support of Messrs. Vickers and Anderson from this district.

"Very truly,
FRANK T. MORAN,
Belvidere, Ill.

"The Daily Republican."

In answer to the above, I desire to state that House Bill No. 540 was on roll call in the House April 20, 1911. (See page 724, Senate Journal, 1911.) Mr. J. H. Vickers, from McHenry county, and Mr. J. E. Anderson, from Lake county, members of the house at that time, both voted for the bill.

House Bill 540 above referred to, gave the Live Stock Commissioners of Illinois no jurisdiction whatever over the cattle or other animals or herd in this state, nor over any animal or herd shipped to this Illinois, and in fact gave them no jurisdiction over any cattle, except dairy and breeding cattle, to be shipped from the Union Stock Yards at Chicago, Peoria and East St. Louis back into the interior of Illinois for dairy and breeding purposes.

House Bill 540 provided: That no railroad, company, corporation or person should ship, convey or drive into the state of Illinois—any dairy or other state or country—any dairy or breeding animal, or any animal or herd of any kind, unless accompanied by a certificate issued and granted under and by the authority of the state or foreign country from which said animal is shipped; and that any animal, which said dairy or breeding animal is free from all contagious and infectious diseases, including tuberculosis; Providing, however, that the Union Stock Yards at Chicago, Peoria and East St. Louis (the three public cattle markets in Illinois) for the purpose of slaughtering and beef, without such certificate.

House Bill 540 further provided that all dairy and breeding animals shipped from the Union Stock Yards at Chicago, Peoria and East St. Louis back into the interior of Illinois for dairy and breeding purposes should be accompanied by a certificate of the Board of Live Stock Commissioners of Illinois, that said animals had been bred and bred animals were free from all contagious and infectious diseases, including the disease of tuberculosis, and providing that all such cattle should be shipped from said stock yards back into the interior of Illinois for feeding purposes, without such certificate, but of the bill of lading should so state.

"That the importation or bringing into the state of Illinois of any cattle for dairy or breeding purposes is hereby prohibited, and that any such cattle are accompanied by a certificate from an inspector of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, or from any other competent and reliable authority duly certified by the authorities charged with the control of the diseases of domestic animals, and of certifying that they have been examined and subjected to the tuberculin test and are free from tuberculosis." This was an absolute prohibition, without the tuberculin test. This bill, Senate Bill 438, passed the Illinois state senate May 25, 1909. See Senate Journal, 1909, page 1296.

You will notice that House Bill 540 nowhere mentions or provides for the tuberculin test.

Senate Bill 438, and the other omnibus bill, providing for tuberculin testing in the state, passed the Illinois state senate in 1909, Senator Olson being present and not even lifting a voice, a vote or an objection against it.

It came to the Illinois house of representatives and was blocked. Edward Shurtleff, in the house, introduced a famous House Resolution, Resolution No. Twenty (20) providing for a full investigation of the subject of tuberculin testing and the Pasteurization of milk, and this resolution passed the lower house, with an appropriation of ten thousand dollars of money, with which to make the investigation.

His Joint Resolution No. 20 went to the Illinois state senate, and was referred to the committee on live stock and dairying, of which Senator Olson was then and is now chairman.

This resolution, which Senator Olson's committee and was not taken up for action. It was three weeks before it could be taken up for action. It was referred to his committee April 14, 1909 (Senate Journal, Page 530). It was not reported until May 4, 1909 (see Senate Journal, Page 920). It was then upon the urgent solicitation of Lieutenant Governor Oglesby, who had to promise Senator Olson a place upon the investigating committee before he would report the resolution out.

The matter of the investigation committee, its organization, its election of Edward D. Shurtleff chairman, and its work in Chicago and over the state for eighteen months, is well known to the Illinois dairymen. The report of the committee was very generally circulated in the district.

This committee made a report to the legislature in January, 1911. The committee reported the following evidence submitted, as follows: Report of committee, page 39 of the report:

And your committee would further recommend that all dairy and breeding cattle shipped into the state of Illinois from foreign states and countries outside of the state of Illinois be required to be accompanied, upon entrance into the state of Illinois, by certificates that they are free from all contagious and infectious diseases, including the disease tuberculosis.

And your committee would further recommend that all dairy and breeding cattle, shipped from the Union Stock Yards at Chicago, stock yards at Peoria and the stock yards at East St. Louis to any part of the state of Illinois, be inspected under the authority of the Board of Live Stock Commissioners of the state of Illinois, and be certified as free from all contagious and infectious diseases, including the disease of tuberculosis.

Respectfully submitted,

Signed, by every member of the committee.

It will be noticed that Senator A. J. Olson signed this recommendation. This recommendation—now before the house in any place, mentions the tuberculin test.

House Bill 540 follows identically this recommendation.

House Bill 540 nowhere—in no place—mentions the tuberculin test.

Senator Olson and every member of the investigating committee thus said to the people of the state of Illinois that House Bill 540 would make a good law.

The following is some of the evidence upon which this recommendation was based: In fact the dairy cattle in the Union have a law by which no dairy or breeding cattle can be shipped into their states, without they come with a bill of health from the state from which they are shipped. A good deal of evidence and a good deal of pressure before this committee tending to urge the passage of that kind of a law in the state of Illinois, for the shipment of dairy and breeding cattle into the state unless they come with a clean bill of health. What would you say, you the farmer?

"(He was a member of the milk producers' committee from Lake county.) Mr. Ray Elliott Padock, another witness from Lake county. My name is Ray Elliott Padock. I reside at Round Lake, Lake, Ill., 35 miles from Chicago. I am a dairy farmer. I have a dairy of 70 head of cattle. My market is Chicago. Question: What would you say as to passing a law requiring all dairy and breeding cattle from the state of Illinois to come with a certificate that they are free from disease, including tuberculosis?"

Ans:—I think that would be all right, for the reason that other states ask that same thing from us. There were three (3) members of the live stock committee, selected by the Board of Supervisors of Lake county, Mr. Chittenden, Mr. Padock and Mr. Clem Small. Mr. Chittenden and Mr. Padock favored the passage of the law. Mr. Clem Small opposed the passage of the law. Two-thirds of the delegation from Lake county were for the law. One-third were for the law. Senator Olson stated the report favoring the law, on the evidence of Mr. Chittenden and Mr. Padock, and recommended to the legislature House Bill 540 as a good law. And then under cover, at the request of Clem Small and others, killed the law.

From McHenry county: Mr. Henry M. Turner, of Hebron, was a witness, as follows: My name is Henry M. Turner. I reside at Hebron, McHenry county, Illinois. I am a dairy farmer. My dairy consists of 25 cows. Q.—What is your opinion, Mr. Turner, of the state of Illinois passing a law requiring all dairy and breeding cattle to be shipped into the state with a clean bill of health, a certificate from the state from which they come that they are free from all disease, including tuberculosis? Ans:—Well, if they would put it all in I am in favor of it, but if there is no way of getting around it except from having them tested, I do not believe that that is any good.

Q.—Well, to require each state to give the certificate, that it requires, to ship into that state, 33 states requiring such certificates, of some kind, let each state furnish its own and make its own requirements. A.—I would think it would be the proper thing. Mr. Jesse B. Richardson of Spring Grove, McHenry county, Illinois, was also a witness, and testified as follows: My name is Jesse B. Richardson. I reside at Spring Grove, McHenry county, Illinois. I am a dairy farmer. This has been my occupation all my life.

Q.—Well, now, there is a good deal of evidence before this committee that the Illinois dairymen are in favor of a law forbidding the shipment of dairy and breeding cattle into those states, unless they are tested or have a certificate from the state of Illinois, certifying made the dumping ground for the shipment of diseased cattle from those other states. What would you say, Mr. Richardson, as a dairyman, as to the state of Illinois passing a law requiring all dairy and breeding cattle shipped into this state to come with a certificate of health from the state of Illinois? A.—I think that that would be a good plan. I would recommend a law of that kind.

Q.—You have a brother that ships dairy cows to Illinois, do you? A.—Yes, sir. Q.—Would you speak for him on that subject? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—How much, in your judgment, would it add to the cost a value of dairy cows to make that requirement? A.—One dollar per head. I don't think over $1. Q.—Would you favor that kind of a law? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Yes, sir. A. Botes of the town of Coral, McHenry county, also testified to substantially the same substance matter. Mr. Henry M. Turner, Mr. Jesse B. Richardson and Mr. William A. Botes were the three (3) members of the milk producers' committee selected by the Board of Supervisors of McHenry county to act with the state investigating committee, and all three of them testified strongly in favor of such a law, which was identically House Bill 540, nothing added to and nothing subtracted from, and it did not mention the tuberculin test—but it was left to each state to determine what its method of inspection should be—the state of Illinois would have been and is now.

Mr. Fred Louis of Palatine, Cook county, Illinois, testified: "Well, the way I look at it, if you raise your own cows I think you get a better head. In my neighborhood about 50 per cent. of the cows are raised on the farms. They get better cows, and I like to look at it in that way. If you are money ahead, you think the dairymen can afford to do that." Q.—What do you know about the shipment of dairy cows that are shipped in from other states? A.—Mostly in our town from Wisconsin, and more or less, I hear they are cows that the people are trying to get away from the state. Q.—They may not be good cows? A.—Of course, you hear lots of them say they are good cows when you see them. Q.—It would be natural for people selling cows in Wisconsin—the same as it would be in Illinois—for the farmer to sell his poorest cows and keep the best? A.—I think everybody does that.

Q.—What would you say as to the state of Illinois passing a law requiring all dairy and breeding animals shipped into this state to bring with them a certificate of health from the place from which they are shipped, that they are free from disease, including tuberculosis?

Ans:—I think that the state of Illinois ought to be just as well guarded as any other state, in order to keep them from dumping this diseased cattle on the state of Illinois. Q.—You think a law of that kind ought to be passed in Illinois, Mr. Blum? A.—I think that the farmers who are producing the milk ought to be protected. I think we ought to have a law to protect the shipments in. I think it would encourage the raising of cows in Illinois.

Mr. Stewart, eighty-five years of age, from Elburn, Kane county, was brought in by Mr. Elmer Fellows as a witness. Mr. Elmer Fellows was a member of the live stock committee, and a cow shipper of St. Charles. Mr. Stewart owns fifty farms. His business is cattle and dairy business all his life. Mr. Stewart testified: Q.—What do you say as to the dairymen being able to raise their prices for their milk, taking into consideration the value of the farm lands, and the value of the dairy cows? A.—I would be in favor of knocking out all these milk dealers, if we could raise our own cattle.

Q.—Do you believe that the dairy farm can do it at a profit on the dairy farm as they run it? A.—I think it would pay all of them to do it. Q.—How does the stock of dairy cows shipped into Illinois from Wisconsin take care of itself, in connection with the stock of several years ago? A.—Not as good; they have run down. Not as good. No.

Mr. Elmer Fellows is a cow shipper from Chicago, who had been a delegation to Springfield last winter, to defeat House Bill 540, and he is also the president of the Milk Producers' association, and in the association equally with other corporate authority, other than the state of Illinois, is hereby declared to be void and of no effect. This is House Bill 55, recommended by the investigating committee and it is now a law.

This bill was drafted by Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo. It was passed into law made a law, just as it was drafted. It was introduced into and first passed through the lower house. Senator Olson never heard of it until it came to the senate. Senator Olson now claiming credit for the full passage of this bill. It is a peculiar kind of plagiarism that is dominant in men of the name of Senator Olson. House Bill No. 55 only was put through the house upon the pledge of the men back of it, Mr. Shurtleff and Mr. Sheppard and others, that it was a companion measure to House Bill 540 and that each bill should receive an equal chance in the house. The men in the house kept their word, and both bills were passed into law, just as the committee had recommended.

The bills went to the senate. In the senate Senator Olson gave his word that each bill should receive an equal chance in the investigating committee. House Bill 55 after a desperate struggle in the senate, which drew into the struggle all the power and influence Mr. Shurtleff had among his constituents, the senate among which was, at his request Lieutenant Governor Oglesby let the roll call hang for ten minutes to get the one and necessary majority to make the majority vote for the bill, and after Senator Olson had further agreed, with the Chicago members and the down-state members, that House Bill 540 should come out of his committee and have an equal chance in the senate, finally passed, by the bare majority.

After this Senator Olson commenced his campaign for 1912 by sending for Elmer Fellows to come and bring a party to Springfield—to watch him kill House Bill 540 and put the bill in his pocket, and to see the distinction of killing this bill; there is no doubt about that, and thus keeping open, at Springfield, for politics, the whole tuberculin question, when the bill was passed by the committee and tested before the committee and tested, were opposed to the enactment of such a law, not strongly opposed, but did not think it was necessary, and was not the case.

Read the letters of Senator McKenzie and Senator Hearn: HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, Washington, June 7, 1911. Hon. Edward D. Shurtleff, Dear Friend: In reply to your inquiry, it was my understanding that House Bills 55 and 540 were both passed, and the outcome of the investigation made by the committee of which you were chairman, and were all endorsed, or approved, by the members of the committee before the same was filed, and it was my understanding that the bills should come from the house as companion measures, and both be passed, and in my judgment both would have passed the senate if a vote had been upon them. It was my understanding that you and all of the investigating committee favored both bills, and furthermore, when I urged or asked Senator Olson to let that bill be reported out, or that it would be reported out, and it was not, so I called his at-bercillin test in the hands of a skillful veterinarian, having practical knowledge of cattle and having a practical acquaintance with, and under a standing of, a particular herd and animal diseased, and a really good diagnostic agent to determine the existence of tubercle bacilli and infection in cattle; and that the tuberculin test is a fairly good diagnostic agent to determine the existence of tuberculosis, in cattle during its earlier stages, but that it is not a good diagnostic agent to determine the existence of the disease tuberculosis in its later stages or generalized tuberculosis.

Your committee further find that the tuberculin test as a diagnostic agent is easily negated and its results frustrated by the use of antipretics and by the use of febrifuges, and that many practical means and measures the perfect and proper result of the injection of tuberculin as a diagnostic agent may be overcome.

Your committee further find that the use of tuberculin, as a diagnostic agent to discover tuberculosis in animals, is rendered practically useless after an animal has been injected with the tuberculin at two or three different times.

And the committee further found on page 54, as follows: "Your committee find that there is no necessity of adopting the tuberculin test in the state of Illinois. This led to the passage in the legislature of House Bill No. 55, which now a law of the state, and is as follows: "That it shall be unlawful for any city, village, incorporated town, county or other corporate authority in the state of Illinois, by ordinance, rule or regulation other than may be established by the law of this state, to demand of any animal, or require the tuberculin test to be applied to dairy animals as a means or measure of regulating and purifying milk, cream and dairy products of said animals in any manner, or to require any ordinance, rule, by-law or regulation heretofore or hereafter passed, declared, fixed, established or required by any city, village, incorporated town, county or other corporate authority, other than the state of Illinois, is hereby declared to be void and of no effect."

PECK FOR CONGRESS.

Ralph Peck, Son of Sanford Peck of This Village Has Started Campaign for Member of Congress from Seventh District.

We note that Ralph L. Peck of Palatine is a candidate for congress in the seventh congressional district and that his campaign is started. His campaign committee has on its names: Charles S. Castle, president of the Standard Trust Bank of Chicago; Dr. Humiston of Austin; former Judge John W. Houston and Assistant Attorney General Robert N. Holt of Irving Park; Commissioner William Busse of Mount Prospect; Mayor Malone and Fred L. Gillick of Park Ridge; George Whitcomb and Harry Bennett of Des Plaines; W. A. Miller of Edison Park; Henry Gerken, secretary of the Cook County Truck Gardeners' association; and R. L. Roberts of Jefferson Park; James A. Low of Norwood Park; A. Volz and Richard Bray of Arlington Heights; Herman Freise of Schaumburg; Ben Schultz of Bartlett; William Harz and Mayor J. H. Schierling of Palatine; John C. Plagge of Barrington; and other excellent men prominent in different portions of the district.

Mr. Peck was brought up here in Barrington and we have known him as a fellow townsman and neighbor for the best part of his life. He has the best backing not only from the regular organization of the party, but from some of the other so-called factions. We have always known him to be a thorough, hard working and conscientious young man, and the Republican party could honor no candidate more deserving than Mr. Peck. He is not our local candidate, but he is the only candidate living in the territory along the North-Western railroad, which contains a large portion of the Republican vote in this district. He needs all the help that the Barrington people and the people in his locality can give him, and if he receives his election we believe the people of Barrington will be proud of his record.

Valid Objection.
One of the funniest things that has been said in Richmond lately was overheard the other day in West Franklin street. Two colored women were talking. One of them said: "I wouldn't go to North Carolina." "Why wouldn't you go to North Carolina?" asked the other, and this surprising answer came to the question: "I wouldn't go to North Carolina because North Carolina is so close to South Carolina."—Richmond Times Dispatch.

Every Advance Step in the World's History was at first met with more or less opposition, prejudice and hostility. But true merit wins and for this reason THE IMPERISHABLE SILO at once wins the favor of all "good builders," who wish a structure permanent, economical and satisfactory. Its patented hollow blocks of vitrified clay have double dead air spaces to prevent severe freezing. They absorb no moisture and will never crumble or decay. AN IMPERISHABLE SILO never blows down, which is in marked contrast with stave silos. Superior to concrete for it is acid-proof and non-porous. It keeps the silage perfectly clear up to the wall. Cannot crack or bulge from pressure of silage as the channel blocks carry steel bars buried in mortar, protected from air and cannot rust. These afford abundant strength and are warranted to resist silage pressure.

ECONOMY
A careful expenditure of money will satisfy your desires and leave you something to lay by. Careless spenders never save.

The C. F. Hall Company do sell at low prices and the reasons for it are simple:
We own our 60x120 foot, 3-story building, no rents.
Our running expense, cost of labor, taxes, insurance and general expense are far less than those of a city store; it costs us less to do business.

As to buying, we handle quantities, thereby securing the same low prices as the city stores. The advantage is all ours and you benefit by it.
