

"Born to Dance" Is Dance Feature at Catlow Theatre

Laurel-Hardy Comedy Saturday and Mae West Picture January 21-22

"Born to Dance" gives Laurel and Hardy their greatest opportunity to bring their splendid screen genius which has so nobly entertained the world for the past years to the Catlow Theatre Saturday and Mae West picture January 21 and 22.

Planned as respectable residents of a quiet seaport town, living a life with their wives, then as his twin sister brothers reportedly being fished on the screen.
Laurel and Hardy in "Born to Dance" keeps its audience in constant expectation of the string-ing and funny adventures that best them.

"Born to Dance," which comes to the Catlow theatre January 17 and 18, is hailed as the season's most varied and most interesting and dancing. The review presents the dramatic feature which is the star and just about runs the entire quest of the picture.

"Born to Dance," whose versatility and appealing personality won her stardom in a single picture.
"Broadway Melody of 1936" introduces fourteen varieties of dance steps in one number which shows a medley of all different types of dance as many as twenty steps. She even leads a 25-piece band, sings, acts and makes her twinkling toes compete with the drummer's most expert rolls and beats.

A brilliant new elaborate personality comes across the screen. She is Doris Nolan. Her first motion picture in Universal's "The Man I Married," which will play at the Catlow theatre January 19 hipped from emotional headlines of recent months, telling one of the strangest stories ever to come from American life. It is Columbia's dramatic "Legion of Daring," scheduled on a double bill with "The Man I Married."
"The Man I Married," which Marguerite Churchill and Crawford Weaver, a new screen team, star in, is the most exciting picture of the cast.

Mae West adds a surprising twist to her newest starring vehicle, "Do West Young Man," which comes to the Catlow theatre January 21 and 22, when she pounds out some red hot rhythms on an ancient grand piano in a scene with Warren William.

Miss West, portraying the role of a motion picture star on a personal appearance tour, temporarily stopping over at a farm to attend to her husband playing a bit of "Old Louis."
And just to add to the hilarity, she interpreted the old tear jerker, "Hearts and Flowers" to punctuate her fervent and serious moments by Warren William, who acts as her press agent.
