

Cook County Clerk Announces Country Town Registration

Place 169,281 Names on Books in Two Days; Total Is Near 1934 Mark

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn announced that a total of 169,281 voters had registered in the country towns, under his jurisdiction, in the year 1937; under the new permanent registration law which was passed by the last session of the legislature.

The first day of registration under the new law found 66,859 persons registering; the other 102,522 registered on the second day, October 8, 1937, which was the last general registration.

In 1934, 174,827 people registered in the country towns. The greatest registration was in the presidential year of 1936 when 136,519 persons registered.

Those who failed to register in the two days set aside for this purpose will have to apply to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn or the clerk of the township or village of their residence.

The county clerk's ruling which stated that women are not required to give their exact age, but merely giving their age as over 21—was very favorably received and facilitated matters greatly.

Three Motorists Killed by Train at Cary Saturday

Disregard Watchman's Warning Signal and Drive Onto Crossing

Racing to pass before a speeding Chicago and North Western passenger train Saturday night cost three Chicago men their lives when the car in which they were riding was struck and demolished on the main street crossing in Cary.

The names of the crash were: Alfred H. Courtols, 55, of 5233 N. Troy avenue, Chicago; S. O. Berentson, 52, of 2543 N. Fremont avenue, Chicago, and Andrew Anderson, 55, of 2517 Bend avenue, Chicago.

The men had been fishing on the Fox River at Cary where Courtols had a summer cottage. Enroute home they were traveling west on Main street. The speeding passenger train was approaching at an estimated speed of 70 miles an hour.

August Wenzel was the crossing watchman on duty at that time and was using his whistle to halt cars. Courtols, who was driving, drove past the halter cars and onto the tracks despite Wenzel's warning cries and waving of the lanterns.

A door was knocked from the machine in the crash that followed an instant later, striking and breaking the lantern held in Wenzel's hand. Debris was carried down the track more than a quarter of a mile and the occupants tossed along the right of way.

A hasty examination of members of the train crew and eyewitnesses who ran to the rescue revealed the men had been instantly killed by the crash. Severely mutilated bodies were taken to the county hospital for identification.

Identity of the men was not learned until an hour after the crash when the license plate number was written on the Illinois state highway police department. At an inquest conducted Sunday morning a verdict of accidental death was returned.

$30,000 Issue of Bonds Is Proposed for District Four

Board Decides Action Is Necessary; Plans Reduction in Tax Levy

Legal notice of intention to issue bonds for the aggregate amount of $30,000 to pay outstanding claims is published this week by the board of education for school district No. 4.

The decision was reached by members at a meeting held in the school Monday evening. Revenue from the sale of bonds is to be used to retire outstanding claims on the new school addition.

An adverse ruling, trying up a fund allocated by the board for the purpose of paying such claims was responsible for the action, it was learned. Nearly $70,000 was in a general fund during the early construction work but an order by the auditors from the Cook county superintendent's office forced the placing of that money into the educational fund and drained the building fund.

A review of the situation brought out information that the county superintendent of schools in 1933 interrupted school trustees to establish a general fund with revenues received other than by direct taxation and to transfer money as needed to either building or educational funds to meet payrolls during the depression period.

School District No. 4 operated on a cash basis during that period and did not need to create a general fund. However, when the interest work on the new addition was started, a general fund was established in order to transfer sums to the building fund to meet

Gets $250 Per Head on Market for a Car Load of Beef Cattle

A carload of 21 head of beef cattle, sold on the New York market Wednesday by Ward Flock of Barrington brought about $250 per head, Mr. Flock reported. As the average weight of these steers was somewhat more than 1500 pounds per animal, the price received was about $18 per hundred weight.

The animals were bought in May at $95 per head and have been fed on corn costing from 90 cents to $1 a bushel. Mr. Flock reported that he has found it more profitable to sell cattle fed on 80 cent corn when beef prices are up than to sell cattle fed on 40 cent corn when beef prices are correspondingly low.

He has marketed eight carloads and has two more to sell.

Is Highly Successful; Guests Come From Wide Surrounding Area

Barrington has been advertised to a wide area of residential communities more effectively than ever before as a result of the highly successful five day fall festival which was concluded Saturday evening.

Nearly 9500 men, women and children many of whom came from nearby and distant communities, visited the hundred ring attraction while the show was in progress. The receipts were from admissions, sale of cash tickets, booth rentals and special concession and game proceeds.

With exhibitors working frantically to complete their booth displays, the show opened on a sunny Tuesday evening. The crowd started pouring into the tent shortly after 7 o'clock, before the sound of hammers and saws had begun but by 8 o'clock, nearly every exhibit was complete. The eager visitors were soon examining hundreds of features of display booths and writing their names on the exhibitors' lists hoping to win five gallons of oil, a ton of coal, a basket of groceries, a box of stationery, a cash prize, a ham, a ham, a cake, some inland linoleum or any one of scores of other valuable merchandise gifts.

At 10 p. m. the crowd fled onto the lighted and enclosed sidewalk to see Frank Hogan's wonderfully trained retrievers give their famous hunting dog act.

On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the procedure and circumstances were repeated except that the weather had turned chilly, the size of the crowd increased nightly and the entertainment acts were changed.
