Mrs. Charlotte M. Johnson, 56, of 749 Main street, Antioch, died at the Sherman hospital in Elgin at 1:30 Sunday morning of injuries received at a street car accident in a collision between cars driven by her and John M. Kaese of Barrington. Neither man was injured.

The car driven by Mrs. Johnson struck the front end of the local motor car, then turned off the highway and into a field adjoining the intersection. Kaese's car was overturned by the impact.

A verdict of accidental death was handed at an inquest conducted at Dundee Sunday afternoon. It was decided that Mrs. Johnson, traveling north on route 25, failed to heed a stop sign at the intersection, or she did comply with the regulation, started up before traffic was clear at that point.

Mrs. Kaese testified that he was traveling toward Dundee and slowed down as he approached the junction. He also stated that the other car approached the intersection at a high rate of speed and did not stop.

It was learned that the front end of Kaese's car was struck by the other machine, which continued on into the field. Kaese's car was tipped over and he and Mr. Halverson were unable to open a door to get out.

Leaves Must Not Be Burned on Concrete Streets, Is Warning

Residents are being warned not to burn dead leaves on the concrete pavements to prevent cracking and quick deterioration of the roads, Paul Purcell, superintendent of streets, told village trustees at the board meeting Monday evening that the practice of burning leaves was general in the village and that damaging results may follow.

The heating from the fire, he stated, tends to crack the concrete, causing it to quickly wear away. In a few years it becomes necessary to replace those sections, he continued. The tar placed in the cracks to protect the cement from frost is also burned away by the fire, leaving that part unprotected.

A. C. Burandt, village clerk, informed the board that an ordinance is now in effect and could be enforced if necessary.

Halloween Damages Moderate This Year

Little property damage was reported by police officials following the celebration of Halloween "activities" Saturday evening. The usual amount of soaped windows was reported. Two haystacks were burned on the old Voss stock farm on Saturday. The cause was blamed on Halloween pranks.

A humorous incident of the evening concerned the ingenious plotting of Northbrook high school traffic traveling south on Hough street around midnight. Some persons or persons changed the traffic signs so that southbound traffic was turning west on Liberty street down to where it deadends at the Floating Lounge building. A number of cars were reported to be in the spot with drivers unfamiliar with the road vainly searching for an outlet.

One unfavorable report was received by The Review in the form of a letter from "C.L." of South Cook street. The writer expressed his opinion that Halloween should be an evening of pleasure for both children and adults, but that children should be taught by their parents not to insult older persons. His complaint was against the use of abusive language by a group of children from seven to thirteen years of age.
