Holiday Mail Rush Busiest in Years, Employs Report

The local holiday mailing was the busiest in years, according to reports from experienced members of the local post office following the deluge of mail and parcels that passed through the branch prior to Christmas.

The regular post office force was supplemented by eight holiday employees and the 21 men worked at top speed for four and one-half days to keep the large volume of incoming and outgoing mail moving steadily.

Incoming mail rose from a normal average of 7600 pieces of all classes daily to 30,000 pieces daily between December 20 and 23. The slow decreased Friday and practically everything was out on Christmas Day. Parcel post was multiplied five times.

No estimate of outgoing mail was made but four men were required to handle the job that is usually done by one employee. The entire volume was handled without serious delay and few complaints were registered, it was learned.

Sale of stamps was approximately 10 per cent above the same period of 1936.

Holiday schedule will be observed on New Year's Day with the windows open for one hour, from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. There will be no city or rural delivery, but those calling at the window during the one hour period will be given their mail.

Leaves for England
Martin J. Hogan, of Barrington township, left for New York City where he sailed Sunday noon on the Normandy for a short trip to England.

Registration Days Drawing to Close; End Here Jan. 20

Residents of Barrington township and Cook county have until January 20 to register their names on the poll books of their respective localities under the permanent registration law of Cook county.

Those residing in the portion of Barrington township outside the village of Barrington may register with H. O. Sott, town clerk, and those living in the village may register with A. C. Durand, village clerk.

Failure to register under the new law disenfranchises voters of Cook county and they will be unable to declare their preference at the April primaries and November county elections.

Start Circulating Blanks for County Party Nominations

Candidates for Lake Offices Begin Campaigning for April Primaries

Lake county's political pot started to simmer a little this week with the circulation of petitions by several candidates and the announcement of others that they intended to be candidates for party nominations next April.

First to declare himself was Chief Deputy Thomas E. Kennedy who circulated his petition Monday as a republican candidate for Lake county sheriff. Judge Perry L. Persons has also secured a petition. He will be up for re-election as county judge.

The contest for the county clerk's office, which also becomes vacant this year, has drawn two prominent members of the Lake county republican ranks. William J. Stanton, deputy county treasurer who served many years as deputy county clerk before being elected county treasurer.

The Eighth Senatorial district will be the center of what is predicted as a strong political battle for both party nominations according to announcements made by prospective candidates. Three state representatives from the district are to be elected this year.

Representative Richard L. Lyons of Libertyville is expected to announce his candidacy for the United States senate and headline the republican party ticket for representative nomination. Representative Nick Keller, who is completing his first term in the state assembly, will be seeking a second term.

Additional competition for the legislature has already been anticipated with the announcement made by Roy J. Stewart of McHenry county, a former legislator and a former sheriff and treasurer of McHenry county, who has started circulating his petition.

Kelsey for Legislature
If additional candidates file from Boone or McHenry counties for the republican nominations it is expected that H. D. Kelsey, supervisor of the town of Cuba, will also become a candidate. When interviewed on the subject, Mr. Kelsey declined to affirm or deny the report.

In the democratic ranks the situation is still quiet but Thomas
