

Lake-Cook Will Hold 11th Annual Meeting

The board of directors has announced that the 11th annual meeting of the Lake-Cook Improvement and Lake-Cook Park Supply company will be held at the Municipal building at 220 Madison st., on Jan. 18, at 8 p. m. This meeting will be unusual because of the fact that the largest dividend in the history of the company will be declared, approximately $50,000, and of the fact that the progress of the company will be made known to the shareholders. Reports will be discussed by the main body of the meeting. J. W. McInerney, secretary of the Illinois Association of Municipalities, will preside. Free lunch will be served at noon and as added attraction to the dinner the Kentucky Mountaineers and Mary Ellen of solo and stage dance are new to this territory. They tomorrow afternoon will entertain at the Kentucky Mountaineers and Mary Ellen of solo and stage dance are new to this territory. WANTS TO GET RIGHT TO HEART OF MATTER

Helos Hays being brought up to date on the great news that is being spread to distress and consternation, says:

"Production is an indispensable attribute of everything we deal with, because it has been so long since I read it. And the less intelligent it is there, in the better I can know me on your subscription list, read."

The Reader's Digest is almost indispensable nowadays. It is brief, concise and interesting. Each month our editors select from hundreds of publications. These vitally important selections are then stripped of all unnecessary matter and condensed into an easily readable and presented to you in the Reader's Digest. If you do not already know The Reader's Digest, you may have a complete arrangement made with this magazine free, through a special card. Address your request to Dept. X, The Reader's Digest, Pleasantville, N. J. The Editor.
