Ela Commencement Exercises to Be Friday, June 10

Ela Township School Notes Compiled Weekly by the Pupils

The week of June 5-10 will be a busy one for seniors of the Ela township high school. Rev. E. A. Trion will address the seniors at the commencement exercises Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Peter's Evangelical church. Class night will be held the following Wednesday night at the high school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. Commencement exercises will be held on Friday, June 10, at 8:15 p. m. Dr. John Gordon will deliver the address.

After the meeting, Thursday, May 26, the new members of the Girls' Club gave a party for the charter members. The first part of the period was taken up by a contest, conducted by Evelyn Stelling. During the latter part of the period, refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served.

Wednesday afternoon the girls' gym class was much delighted by the prospect of a hike. They made the trip around Brigg's Lake in a hurry and when they returned to the school they were exhausted, but happy.

The agriculture class had an enjoyable and profitable time judging hogs last Thursday.

Last week there were a great many students who wished they could be in the cooking class. The class was making ice cream.

Richard Buck was in charge of the general science class last Thursday.

The Ela baseball team was defeated by Leyden 10 to 0.

The junior class, knowing that they were to give their last book report for the year, had them all in on time for once.

The commercial law class had a mock trial in class. It was a very good shiner case, and many good reasons were given on both sides. Gordon Sturm was the defendant, and Jack Lemm was the plaintiff. After instructions were given by the judge, Norman Washo, the jury went into another room and decided on the case. The result was that Gordon Sturm was found to be not guilty.

Cachelots Are Fighters

Coming well within the category of sea fighters is the cachelot or sperm-whale, which was the subject of scientific study of the prince of Monaco in 1894. Sighting a whale off the coast of the Azores, the prince's yacht stood by during the capture of a 45-foot cachelot, which was later studied by his scientific staff. The scientists also obtained facts about the sperm whale's favorite prey, the cuttlefish. Although the scientific reputation of the cuttlefish today rests largely upon the fact that it serves as the main source of food for the cachelot, the fish possesses significant traits in its own right. For one thing, the cuttlefish is characteristically a swimmer and it is armed with tentacles which fishermen have learned not to despise.

Lake Zurich Ball Team Loses Pair of Holiday Games

Mount Prospect A. C.'s and Long Grove Squeeze Out Victories

The Lake Zurich Pirates were handed two defeats over the double holiday—the first by the Mount Prospect A. C. and the other defeat by the Long Grove club.

The Pirates were defeated, 7 to 6 Sunday by the Mount Prospect A. C. at Mount Prospect.

The game was close throughout and the Pirates were leading 6 to 5 when the ninth inning started, but Mount Prospect filled the bases on two walks and an error and after the next batter struck out, Haas was hit by a pitched ball to force in the tying run. Cada then knocked a safe hit for the one-point victory.

Six errors by the Pirates and 8 walks aided the A. C.'s in filling the bases. Lohman was chief hitter for the Pirates with a single and a double and H. Haas for the A. C.'s with two singles.

Long Grove Wins in Ninth

Long Grove triumphed over the Lake Zurich Pirates on Decoration Day by a 5 to 3 score. The Pirates tied the score at 3 and 3 in the seventh, but in the first of the ninth Long Grove gained the lead and won by scoring two runs on an error and two hits.

Babcock Milk Test
The Babcock test for milk is a method of determining the quality of milk, invented by Stephen Moulton Babcock in 1890. The test is based on the fact that strong sulphuric acid will dissolve the non-fat solids constituents. A definite quantity of the milk to be tested is placed with sulphuric acid in a bottle having a narrow graduated neck. The bottle is then whirled for a few moments in a centrifugal machine, hot water is added to bring the liquid fat into the neck of the bottle, which is then whirled a second time, and the column of fat is read off on the graduated scale.

Second Breeding Place of Blue Goose Found

Discovery of a second breeding ground of the mysterious blue goose on the dreary Southampton Island in Hudson bay is reported in the Ann. organ of the American Ornithological association, by Dr. George M. Sutton of Cornell university.

The blue goose is very abundant in winter about the mouth of the Mississippi but, until two years ago, its summer quarters were unknown. It seemed to disappear entirely over the northern horizon. Then a large nesting ground was found in Baffin land.

On Southampton Island, 600 miles to the westward and with an area of 19,000 square miles, Doctor Sutton found an enormous summer bird population, many thousands of blue geese mingling with their close relatives, the lesser snow geese. The whole island has only about 140 Eskimo inhabitants, so the birds are little molested. Their nests are scattered through the grass ranges between the numerous lakes, generally close to the shore. As soon as the young are able to take care of themselves the geese move inland in family groups, feeding until late August when all reassemble for the migration southward.

The blue goose family, Doctor Sutton found, is a rather stable organization, the male and female remaining devoted to each other and their young through the summer. Whether these families are broken up after the migration is unknown.

Wellington on Day of Downfall of Napoleon

Although Napoleon's mistakes served to heighten the disaster to the French at Waterloo, the allied victory never would have been possible without Wellington's cool, brilliant leadership and indomitable courage, writes Philip Guedalla in his biography, "The Iron Duke." It was a miracle that Wellington came out of the terrific battle alive; he continues, for "as usual, he was everywhere, fighting his line along the ridge as a commander fights his ship in action."

"He rode 'Copenhagen,' and all day long the chestnut carried him along the lanes of weary men. Each shift of the interminable battle elicited a gruff comment or an order scribbled on a scrap of parchment. . . . Late that night Blucher met in the road on horseback and clasped a weary duke. Wellington rode slowly back to Waterloo. There was no feeling of elation, and they were all exhausted. Besides, he had a solemn notion that, where so many had fallen close to him, he had somehow been preserved by Providence."

What She Meant

A young sea captain who lived on a small farm married a village maiden, Susan Margaret. Before sailing the young captain advised his bride, Susan Margaret, "While I am away have Frank, the hired man, feed two quarts of middlings to the cow twice a day."

Later the bride said to the hired man, "Frank, when you go to town get a sack of half-ways."

"What, ma'am?" asked Frank. "Get a sack of half-ways while in town," the lady repeated, more clearly.

"I do not know what you mean," replied the bewildered man. "My husband said, 'Feed the cow four quarts of half-ways every day.' As there are none in the bin, I wish you to get a sack while in town," said the lady with much dignity.

When the man could control his voice sufficiently he queried, "Ma'am, do you mean a sack of middlings?"—Lewistown Journal.

Little Harold and his sister Adrienne, whose ages are six and three respectively, were telling their mother about Sunday school.

"Mother," said Harold, "this morning Mrs. Brown said that sister and me were the prettiest children at Sunday school."

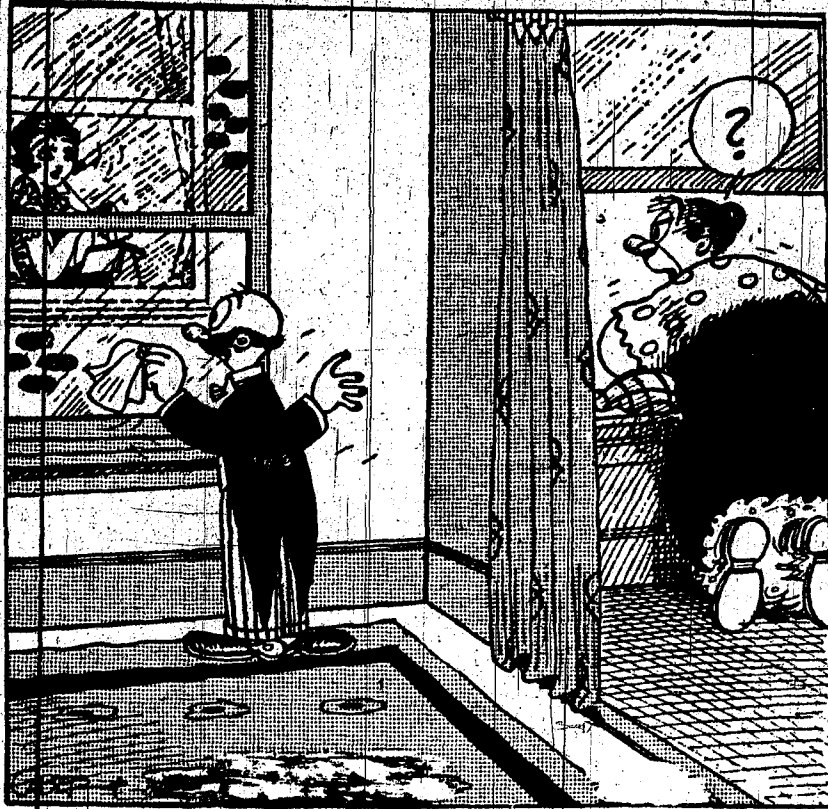

"That's fine, but don't let it turn your head. Remember, 'pretty is as pretty does.'"

"Well," replied Harold, "I am 'is' and Adrienne is 'does.'"

COLDS last 1/4 as long as they used to

A recent careful study of 102 people, during 2 1/2 winter months, showed that those who gargled with Listerine had 1/4 as many colds—1/3 as long-lasting—1/4 as severe—as those who did not gargle. Such results are due to Listerine's germicidal power to kill germs in the mouth—without damage to tissue. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Coins of Eleventh Century
Copper coins about nine hundred years old and a small temple have been found as the result of excavations carried out by the Kashmiri state, archeological department at Naran Bag, in the Shida valley. The place is about 20 miles from Gandharbal. The excavations revealed a miniature temple and a basement of a hall, 110 feet by 80 feet, on a plinth 9 feet high. A large cistern for receiving Pula-water carved out of a single block 15 feet by 7 feet by 6 feet was discovered together with a few idols and pedestals. Three Sharda inscriptions were also found.

Coal Miners' Superstition
The origin of the superstition regarding a woman's entering a coal mine is obscure. It has existed in England, Scotland and Wales from very early times. In many parts of England it is customary for the men to enter and leave the pits during the night and it is regarded as an omen of bad luck if they meet a woman when they first leave the pits or leave their homes before entering them. A similar superstition exists among the fishermen of Yorkshire. If they meet a woman when leaving home they immediately return home.

School Athletic Ground at North Park Is Proposed school board's approval), a wading pool for small children, a parking grounds, and a general well landscaped park.

The land set aside for the athletic field includes the high ground in the west part of the park. The car parking space is planned for that part of the grounds directly north of the bath house and pool. Three tennis courts will be laid out south of the pool, the grounds south of the bath house, and the grounds south of the tennis courts. The croquet grounds will also be south of the bath house. The entire south one-third of the grounds which slopes towards the railroad tracks will be improved with trees and shrubbery, the plan shows.

Cultivation of Garden From Dawn of History

The idea of gardening is not new but has been familiar to most people since civilization began. Trees, shrubs, flowers, water and ornaments have always been included in some form as home grounds were developed. The Bible describes man's first misfortune in the story of Adam and Eve being driven from the Garden of Eden. Some one has said that many of the wise ones have been endeavoring to return to a garden since that time. In other words, there has always been a growing tendency to construct gardens in some form or other by the majority of people living in civilized countries.
Landscape or garden architecture is the most picturesque of the arts, and the only records of its ancient development are found in stone carvings and literature.
From this information we find that the wandering nomads of the earliest times apparently drove their herds from place to place, stopping where pastures were favorable and the soil suitable for rough cultivation. As these stopping places became more permanent, the cultivated areas were fenced to protect them from wild animals and invading tribes. Ancient history also describes them and at a later date those of Egypt and Babylon as the first gardens.

Tobacco Looked Upon as Gift From Heaven

With some of the Indian tribes, the planting of medicine tobacco was an ancient ceremony, and in Virginia it was believed to be a gift from heaven. In the ceremony of adoration to the sun the medicine men stood in the center of a circle about which leaves of tobacco were arranged, thus minimizing the influence of any evil spirits that might be hanging around. Powdered tobacco was not always used as snuff, but was hung to the breezes as a means of ending droughts and tempests; or tossed into the air as an offering to some spirit that had to be placated.
The medicine men used tobacco as a cure, saturating the patient's system with it until he became intoxicated, and did not know whether he was sick or not, and probably was past curing. Records show that glorious dreams accompanied this treatment, such as sitting in the councils of the gods and the like.
The Spaniards noticed that, besides the uses mentioned, the Indians took tobacco in various forms to overcome fatigue. They tried the remedy themselves, and found it so much to their liking that the cultivation and use of tobacco spread like wildfire throughout the world. (Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

America's First Fork was brought to this country. It was in a leather case with a bodkin and a knife. The owner was Gov. John Winthrop.

County Hospital Is Model of Cleanliness

limited size serving a county steadily growing in population. Two elements must be satisfied with the operation of this institution—the taxpayers who support it and the patients who receive the direct benefits from it.

The visiting party was impressed with three salient facts about the hospital, its comfortable quarters and beds, its cleanliness, and the wholesome and delicious food served to its patients.

Well Equipped

The main building patients included men, women and children suffering from many kinds of human ailments. There were appendicitis cases, children with rickets, persons in early stages of cancer whose hope for recovery rests on the work of the surgeon's knife, gall bladder patients, persons suffering from all types of ailments, and in fact nearly every ailment not listed as contagious. The hospital is equipped with everything that medical science offers in the form of surgical room, modern nursery, X-ray, quartz light, diet kitchen, delivery room, etc.

No justified complaint can be made about the comfortable and sanitary beds, the pleasant and well lighted rooms, and the fresh supply of linen. To furnish the latter, a completely equipped laundry with three and at times four attendants, is operated full time.

No other feature is most impressive than the tuberculosis wards and private rooms. These are the brightest and airiest in the institution. A full length southern exposure porch, in a haven for those patients who are able to be up and around.

Old French Ceremony of Blessing the Pack

St. Hubert's day, celebrated on November 3, is the formal commencement of the hunting season in France, wrote William S. Walsh in "Curiosities of Popular Customs." In many of the rural churches of France St. Hubert's mass is celebrated on this occasion. All the hunting dogs in the neighborhood are brought to the church. Low mass is said and then the priest solemnly makes his way through the aisle into the yard. A plucker toots a jolly fanfare. At this familiar sound the pack tears pellmell out of the chapel and in obedience to a word from the keeper rallies round the priest, who thereupon blesses and breaks the sacred cake, which is a sovereign antidote against madness and administers it to the brutes, together with a priestly pat between the ears. Then huntmen, villagers, spectators and dogs are included in a general blessing and away go the hunt

WHY NOT EXTEND A GOOD THING?

Why should Uncle Sam sell a commodity or service such as printing in competition with local, private-owned, tax-paying printing plants?

Why should 15,000 post offices be used as order takers for a service that is not an essential function of the Post Office Department or a necessary service in handling the mails?

The reason for raising these questions is that Uncle Sam offers to print return cards on stamped envelopes. With a "local dealer," or sales agency in the U. S. Post Office located in every center of population in the land Uncle Sam does a volume of printing business that enables him to offer customers a ridiculously low price. The orders for printed stamped envelopes total a billion and a half a year—over 4,000,000 for each of the 365 days in the year!

The purchasers of this service offered by Uncle Sam are not the "common people," some of whom address letters improperly and thereby contribute to the cost of maintaining the Dead Letter Office. Banks, retail merchants, professional men, manufacturers, the public schools, colleges, fraternal organizations—all dependent upon prosperous towns, home trade, local pay rolls, tax payers able to pay their taxes—these constitute the customers who take advantage of Uncle Sam's bargain price of printed envelopes.

If it's O.K. for Uncle Sam to sell printing why not extend a good thing and insist that he add to his line and thus serve a much larger number of post office patrons? Why not add a grocer's apron to the printer's apron Uncle Sam now wears? Why not sell breakfast food, evaporated milk, butter, shoes, drugs, dry goods, clothing, etc. etc., over the Post Office counter?

Unless Uncle Sam quits the printing business, printers should obtain signatures from post office patrons to a petition demanding that the Post Office Department sell not only printing—that accommodates only a limited number of customers—but other products. Think of the saving in price that would be possible through enormous volume and frequent turnovers! And Uncle Sam is lucky; he doesn't have to pay taxes!

AN EASY DECISION

The principal cause of the farmer's troubles is surplusage.

It is obvious that in any line of business, production beyond the point of maximum consumption inevitably leads to profligate prices. There is but one way to make a profit—to sell part of what one has for an amount equaling the total production cost. When the amount is sold, the profit is made. Farmers, in many instances, have been selling part of what they have for far less than it cost to produce it, and have been unable to find any market at all for the balance.

A way out is through organization and mass action. In other words, through the farm cooperative. It is said that the citrus growers of California are in the best position of any farmers—simply because they are 90 per cent organized. Other cooperatives have greatly improved the condition of their members, and still better results will be obtained as the number of organized farmers grows.

Intelligent cooperation means eventual farm prosperity. Refusal to cooperate can mean ruin for millions of farmers.

WHAT SHALL WE USE FOR MONEY?

An increasing volume of expert opinion holds that it is possible to stabilize silver and still avoid inflation.

As the commercial machinery of the world grows more complicated and higher-gear, gold is less and less able to keep it going. Under present conditions, whole nations, with tremendous populations, are unable to buy in this and other countries, simply because their money metal, silver, has lost most of its purchasing power.

What the ratio should be between gold and silver can be decided by investigation. But this much is becoming apparent to the average citizen—when the bulk of gold is held by two countries, France and the United States, and when silver is selling at unprecedentedly low levels, we are headed for international chaos. Bringing silver "back" would be a long step toward the permanent solution of the difficulties now perplexing all the great nations.

The fact that the situation is serious is the outstanding reason for it having the unbiased and unselfish consideration of the best minds in the leading countries of the world.

HOW TO BRING BACK GOOD TIMES

Nothing could do more to bring back good times than assurance of a decrease in taxes during the next few years.

Every effort should be made to increase governmental efficiency, eliminate waste and duplication of effort and do away with the burdens and commissions that milk the taxpayer dry. Doing this would not damage the functions of government—it would greatly improve them.

High taxes have throttled industrial development in England. They have done the same thing in Germany, in Austria, in Australia and elsewhere. They are doing the same thing here. High taxes make and prolong unemployment, cause hoarding of capital and frighten investors. In short, they whole influence is toward the prolongation of depression.

FOOD PRICES

The farm cooperative movement is not an attempt to make the consumer pay excessive prices for agricultural products.

For many years the farmer has been holding the short end of the stick. He has been bearing almost the entire burden of hard times. Most middlemen are making as much or more profit than ever. Only by cooperation can the farmer gain the bargaining power that will enable him to talk to the distributor on equal terms, and thus obtain for himself a fair percentage of the final selling price of what he produces.

If the cooperative movement succeeds, farming areas will prosper—and when they prosper all industries prosper with them. No intelligent citizen can help but wish the movement all possible good fortune.

THE BEER PARADE

Mayor Walker's beer parade must have delighted him. The crowd rose as truth to the occasion. Just why it was held remains a puzzle. Every legislator in this part of the country is thoroughly wet; none needed to be impressed by the uprising. But as old Kaspar is alleged to little Peterkin, it was a famous victory. Watching the perspiring marchers, viewing with sympathy the plight of persons whose business errands were interfered with by the police arrangement, the question rose: How many citizens of this town would rally forth so enthusiastically to parade in protest against graft, racketeering, extravagance and over-taxation?—New York Sun

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

By National Editorial Association
(Special to The Review)

THE TWO MAJOR PARTIES will nominate their candidates this month. The campaign will be restricted because money is not forthcoming for the party war-chest. The individuals and firms that gave lavishly to campaign funds in other presidential years are not in a position to donate heavily. It is apparent that the problem confronting the party managers is to obtain underwriters who are willing to take a long chance on election in event of party victory. Many workers must volunteer their services for the "party's cause" as the exchequer is too low to defray ordinary expenses.

THE IMPORTANCE of the Mayor Walker's disclosures in New York is difficult to evaluate. The republicans hope that the disclosures in New York will cause the voters in New York and in other states which will arouse indignation of the voters in sections other than Gotham. Somehow the cry of Tammany is not as valuable a campaign advantage with other cities having similar troubles in municipal management.

CONGRESS IS CONFRONTED with a dilemma. The solons realize that the country as a whole is inclined to blame them for the economic troubles. Public opinion has swung to a point where families and industry in distress are prone to place the responsibility at the door-step of the national legislature. The average man in want will not take time to examine the real cause of his trouble. It is an easy matter to attribute all woes to official Washington or Wall street. While it is obvious that the political and financial factors are not exactly blameless, sober minds feel that these influences have been unduly stressed and other factors remain unappreciated. Unemotional observers insist that Mr. and Mrs. General Public are now paying for their wild fling of pre-depression days—a situation which the legislative body cannot relieve by waving magic wand of laws and resolutions.

LEGISLATION FOR RELIEF of unemployment will feature the closing days of the present congressional session. A wide variety of relief patterns are offered but the chances favor an emergency patch-work plan, designed to put men and women back to work, and to save the political parties from futile explanations of their long inactivity upon vital subjects. The revenue bill will be probably whipped into final form during this week. It will represent a lot of physical and mental labor by the senate and house members, for the last tax bill at its best is a compromise which must be swallowed as a bitter pill. Although cliques are claiming the meager and somewhat doubtful credit for the job of tax raising, as yet incomplete, this item will be stressed in the platforms of the major political parties later in the month.

THE FARM GROUPS are making a strong bid to be included in relief proposals which meet with congressional approval. The prime movers in relief programs have devoted their attention to the working classes, but have not considered farm labor and agricultural woes as powerful as in other seasons. It is true that the friends of the farmer are vigorous, but not strenuous in fighting for rights of agriculture. The farm group have sufficient votes to demand diversion of public funds to agriculture in event congress opens its purse to the unemployed in cities and towns. In the senate there is a movement to lighten the farmer's debts until economic conditions improve.

THE TREK OF HOUSE members to the senate chamber each day is assuming the proportions of a parade. The house will be ready to adjourn within a few days but cannot leave while the senate refuses to follow suit. The prevailing opinion in the cloak rooms does not deal so much with legislative plans as with probable date of ringing down the curtain. Senate leaders have alarmed their associates in the house by planning sessions during the two national conventions. The leaders here are advised that each day's delay in adjournment will cost several incumbents their political scalps.

AMERICA GETS RELICS

Many of the doors and fireplaces from the 300-year-old New Inn, Park street, Windsor, were sold for shipment to America. The house had been demolished. In the room where the Beefeaters held their feasts a number of coins bearing the date 1800 were found. A concealed trap-door leading to a stable was discovered under the floor, and here a large quantity of old pattern live cartridges were concealed. An oven found in the basement went to the British museum, as it is believed to be the only model of this particular type in existence.—London Morning Post.

Care of Goldfish

A salt bath is beneficial to goldfish as a remedy for parasites and fungus growth which attacks them. A solution of 13 ounces of salt per gallon of water is prepared and the fish dipped up and lowered into the bath, where they should remain for two or three seconds. They may then be transferred to another vessel containing well aerated water of the same temperature as that from which they were taken. This treatment may be profitably repeated daily for two or three days.

The Real Spaniard

He who wishes to become acquainted with the genuine Spaniard, must seek him not in airports and large towns, but in lone and remote villages, like those of the Sagras. There he will find all that gravity of deportment and chivalry of disposition which Cervantes is said to have ascribed to him; and there he will hear in everyday conversation those grandiose expressions which, when met with in the romances of chivalry, are scoffed at as ridiculous exaggerations.—George Borrow in "The Bible in Spain."

Wandering From This to That

Shows Cocaine Source

The coca plant of South America, from the leaves of which is extracted the drug cocaine, is the subject of a new exhibit in the hall of plant life at Field Museum of Natural History.

From specimens collected by the Marshall Field botanical expedition to the Amazon a lifelike reproduction of a flowering and fruiting example of the shrub has been prepared in the museum. At maturity the coca plant may reach a height of from six to eight feet. It has clusters of tiny white flowers, and small bright red fruits resembling those of the barberry bush. The alkaloid cocaine, so useful as an anesthetic but dangerous as a habit-forming drug, comes from the leaves and constitutes only about one per cent of the total substance, according to Dr. B. E. Dahlgren, acting curator of botany. The plant is native to the steep slopes of the valleys of the Andes in Peru and Bolivia, but now, like many other valuable South American plants such as the quinine and rubber trees, it is largely cultivated elsewhere, especially in India, Ceylon and Java. The Indians of Peru habitually chew the raw leaves of the plant, deriving therefrom a mild stimulation, which they have the opportunity, irrespective of values held, if partner has bid a suit, and you hold a "two-suit," bid both suits, unless holding at least one trick better than average support for partner's bid. If, after bidding both suits, partner persists in rebidding his hand, either at no trump, or a third or possibly a fourth suit, let him have his bid. You have informed him of the character of your hand, and it is for him to decide. The only exception to this rule is a "two-suit" so strong that you have a game in one of the suits, irrespective of partner's hand. If partner supports one of your suits, it is not advisable to bid the other suit unless such suit is a major suit and the first suit bid is a minor suit.

Eliminating Bottlenecks

Bottlenecks which in past years have been responsible for much of the holiday and week-end traffic congestion within 35 miles of Chicago are, for the most part, being eliminated this construction season. State, county and municipal highway and street authorities are making concerted efforts in this direction, and it is expected that with the completion this fall of many projects of this character, motor travel in the area will flow faster and more safely than ever before.

The bottlenecks in question are of many characters, but any condition tending to delay or obstruct traffic and which can be remedied may be termed a bottleneck. Among the measures being taken to eliminate these conditions are the widening of narrow stretches of roadway, still existing between widened strips; the construction of grade separations at intersections of two main highways; and also at the crossing of a main line of a railroad and a main highway; the rerouting of highways at certain points in order to eliminate abrupt turns; and the construction of new bridges and the widening of existing spans. Most of these projects are being undertaken by the state and the various counties.

Farm Values Slump

"Drastic and general" declines in the value of farm real estate in the last year, bringing the value on Mar. 1 to 80 per cent of the prewar level, compared to 100 per cent on March 1, 1931, were stated by the department of agriculture May 25.

Only the New England and Pacific states show values as high as the prewar level, the department said. The drop was attributed to "continued severe declines in prices and purchasing power of farm products." The department in real estate values in the last year was the greatest since 1921, it was stated, and anticipates a steady reduction since the peak of 170 per cent of prewar, reached in 1929.

Air Traffic Gains

Passenger traffic over the scheduled air lines in the United States has increased during each of the past three months, totaling 33,972 in April, according to figures issued May 25 by the aeronautics branch, department of commerce. The express business dropped sharply last month, after gains in February and March.

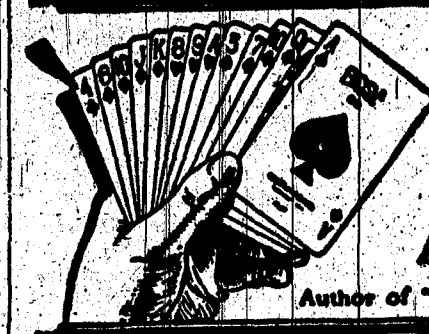

Peace Posters

Students of the Art Institute of Chicago have been asked to enter a poster contest to portray the peace parades which are to take place on the convening in Chicago of the republican national convention, on June 14, and the democratic national convention, on June 27. Automobiles from every state in the union will be presented to both conventions asking for peace pacts. The contest is being sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace, 6 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

How to play Bridge AUCTION CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 29

The "two-suit" is a hand that contains two suits of at least five cards each. It is the strongest hand that can be held if played at the best suit of the combined hands. Such a hand is considered, on the average, one trick better than the usual suit bid and at least two tricks better than a no trump bid. This fact shows the importance of the proper bidding of such hands in order to arrive at the best suit of the combined hands. As dealer, or before partner has bid, if your hand is a "two-suit," try to bid both suits, provided of course they are sufficiently strong to warrant an original or forced bid. As a general rule, bid the higher valued suit first, provided it contains sufficient strength to warrant the bid. If not, bid the lower valued suit, and show the higher valued suit on second or subsequent round. In the same way, always prefer, if possible, the major suit to the minor.

If partner has bid no trump, and you hold a "two-suit," always bid both suits, if you have the opportunity, irrespective of values held. If partner has bid a suit, and you hold a "two-suit," bid both suits, unless holding at least one trick better than average support for partner's bid. If, after bidding both suits, partner persists in rebidding his hand, either at no trump, or a third or possibly a fourth suit, let him have his bid. You have informed him of the character of your hand, and it is for him to decide. The only exception to this rule is a "two-suit" so strong that you have a game in one of the suits, irrespective of partner's hand. If partner supports one of your suits, it is not advisable to bid the other suit unless such suit is a major suit and the first suit bid is a minor suit.

If, as dealer or second hand, you have bid a no trump and your partner shows two suits, always support one of them if possible. Do not rebid no trump, unless you have a double stopper in the other two suits, and less than normal support in the suit bid. Remember that a "two-suit" is the strongest suit hand that can be held at Auction or Contract; if played at the best bid of the combined hands, and it is your duty to figure out this bid, if in any way possible.

Spades are trumps and Z has the lead. How can Y Z win six of the seven tricks against an defense? Solution: This problem is an excellent illustration of the "grand coup" that is the trumping of a winning trick in order to shorten one's trump holding. Z should lead the ace of clubs and trump in Y's hand with the four of spades. Y should now lead the ace of spades and follow with the six of diamonds. If B wins the trick with the ace, he must lead back either a diamond or a heart. In the former case, Z should win with the jack and lead the king. A must either trump or discard.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Hope of depositors in closed banks that they would be repaid a portion of their deposits by loans contracted with the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation have faded with the announcement by State Auditor Nelson that an application for a loan, made by the receiver for one closed bank has been refused. The announcement by the state auditor followed an opinion rendered by Attorney General Carlstrom that receivers for state banks might pledge the bank's assets for loans from the corporation only upon permission granted by a court.

Townships may issue anticipation orders to pay damages incurred by property owners through location of the right of way of a state highway road, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has notified the state auditor of an opinion was made because no levy was made for state warrants in certain Macoupin townships. The attorney general pointed out that anticipation general warrants may be issued only after a levy has been made; but that the law provides for anticipatory orders, payable out of taxes for such claims.

The regular army of the sixth corps area will hold a military tournament at Soldier Field, Chicago, from June 24 to July 4 inclusive. To be known as the George Washington bicentennial military tournament, it will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the first commander of the United States army. Troops from all branches of the army will participate with drills and demonstrations, and it is expected that this will be one of the outstanding events of the 50-centennial year in Chicago and the middle west. All proceeds, above expenses, go to charity.

The state department of agriculture has issued a warning against the rapidly increasing prevalence of four obnoxious weeds, all comparatively

The following hand is a good example of what happens to the player who doesn't follow the rules of the "two-suit." Z, the dealer, held:

Hearts—K, Q, 9, 7
Clubs—10, 9, 8
Diamonds—A, Q
Spades—J, 4

AUCTION BIDDING:
A dealt and properly bid one heart. Second hand passed and the dealer opened and the dealer bid one no trump. Second hand bid two clubs. Dealer's partner bid two clubs. Dealer passed and the dealer incorrectly bid two no trump. With three clubs and such a big outside heart, the dealer should have allowed his partner to play the hand at clubs, as it was, he may only two, no trump, while his partner could have made five clubs. His hand was as follows:

Hearts—8, 4
Clubs—A, K, 7, 6
Diamonds—9
Spades—A, K, 9, 3

CONTRACT BIDDING:
One heart, pass, two clubs (a forcing bid), pass. Second round—two no trump, pass, three clubs, pass. Z is now in a position to realize that he wants to try, game in one of his suits and should now bid over spades. He should bid four clubs to show a decided preference. Y should now bid five clubs and he will score game.

When your partner has bid two suits, you can assist his bid with a much weaker hand than with the usual suit bid. Z held the following hand:

Hearts—Q, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—10, 9, 7, 4
Diamonds—A, K, 9, 3
Spades—A, Q, 4, 3, 2

His partner had bid both hearts and spades and his opponent had overbid with four diamonds. Z held to realize the great strength of his hand and passed. If he had bid four hearts either at Auction or Contract, his partner could easily have scored game and number. But on the least for "two-suit" and try to realize their unusual possibilities.

If the former, Y should trump and should then win the balance of the tricks. If A discards, Y could discard the queen of hearts and then win the last two tricks. At trick four, if B leads a heart, Y should win and lead the diamond so that Y Z get the same play as before. At trick three, if B refuses to win the trick with the diamond, Z should win the trick and lead the heart which should win and return the diamond. No matter what B now does after winning the trick, Y Z win the balance of the tricks. It is a tricky little problem but interesting and instructive.

Softball League Opens Season at Playground

The six teams in the Barrington Church Softball league were scheduled to swing into action tonight at the Barrington playground diamonds. A change was made in the schedule which placed the Salem against Baptist, St. Anne's vs. Methodist, and St. Paul vs. Jewel.

The schedule for the next meeting on June 10 follows: Salem vs. Jewel Tea, St. Paul vs. St. Anne's, Methodist vs. Baptist.

Catch Fish by Whistling
Natives of some sections of India have several unusual methods of catching fish, including luring them by whistling, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. In Assam, fishermen crouch on the banks of shallow lakes and emit a shrill whistle which attracts a species of mountain fish. Lured by the sound, the fish darts into the open palms of the whistler and is caught. In other places the direct rays of the sun force mountain fish to seek shelter beneath or beside rocks along the banks of streams. The cunning hillman crawls to a boulder behind which a fish is hiding, strikes the rock a heavy blow with his "s" shaped club, and catches the fish, stunned by the sound vibrations.

Denominational Ravens
Are ravens religious? Apparently the army thinks that they are. There are four ravens at the tower of London which are regarded as "on the strength" of the Guards battalion on duty there. And as Tommy Atkins' religion is recorded, so is that of the raven. One is recognized as Church of England, one as Roman Catholic, the third as Free church, and the fourth as "general." Whether they fight out for church parade and never make a mistake, and parade with the wrong denomination—is not quite certain.—Montly Herald.

Day of Hearty Eating
During the administration of John Quincy Adams, evening assemblies were popular at the homes of congressmen and cabinet members. The parties began at eight o'clock. Promptly at ten o'clock everybody went out on the back porch for "light refreshments." At one end of the table would be a roast ham; at the other a saddle of venison. In between came the wild ducks, and the pastries. And scattered about were cakes and puddings. A large side table held the punch and the molasses.

Formed to Promote Trade
The international chamber of commerce was established in 1920 at a meeting of chief business interests of Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy and the United States, and subsequently forty other nations joined. Its purpose was to promote the development of international trade, to remove or mitigate the effect of trade restrictions and to foster harmonious commercial relations among the nations.

Over a hundred children were killed by automobiles in the months according to a study of traffic accidents in three cities in thirty states.

Drivers can say in their hearts that they are careful and watchful when driving, and that they have narrow escape from injuring a child? No automobile is safe that neither he nor any member of his family be taken by surprise when a child dashes in front. If the child is injured modern court decisions will oblige to a damage suit.

Becoming general with all courts, is that a driver is able to stop his car within the space that is before him. The effect of this rule substantially is to blame on the driver, no matter what the accident or collision with another car.

High School Boys Turn Attention to Softball Circuit

Orr Williams to Compete in Stag Event in Wind-Up of Track Season

With track season out of the way, with one exception, the boys are turning to baseball as their recreation. A five-team softball league has been organized and has been playing after school on the village playgrounds.
At present there are three teams in a tie for first place: Paul Miller's, Bill Grabenhorst's and Bill Meister's. Each has won two and lost one. Neither Bill Thorpe's hitless wonders and Harry Miller's dizzy base runners have been able to chalk up a victory as yet while taking it on the nose twice apiece.

The one game which is left in the track season occurs next Saturday when Orr Williams goes down to Chicago to enter in the Annual Stag Intercollegiate Track and Field meet. He will meet the best competition in the United States in this affair and it is quite an honor to qualify at such a meet. Still 22 or 23 feet will probably take the meet and Orr has come pretty close to some of those marks during the season. That will be the last intercollegiate competition for Williams; and the conference meet last week also wrote final to high school athletic careers of Bill Thorpe, Bill Meister, Ed. Catlow, Jerry Green, Bob Wolf, Eugene Miller and Norman Reese.

Mount Pelee's Anger
Mount Pelee is an active volcano on the northwestern side of Martinique, an island in the West Indies belonging to France. Notable eruptions of this volcano occurred in 1762, 1851, 1902 and 1906. During the eruption of May 8, 1902, a giant rock 1,000 feet high was forced out through the crater dome. The town of St. Pierre was completely destroyed and some 25,000 or 30,000 people were killed. In the fall of the same year another eruption partly destroyed Morne Rouge and killed about 2,000 persons.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Thirty-five Girls Given Scout Pins Tuesday Evening

tion one with another to become more companionable. The lieutenants then presented the girls in groups of four. They repeated the scout promise in unison and Mrs. Elden Gleske, president of the Barrington Woman's club, presented the pins.

"A great deal of credit is due the captain, Miss Olive Winn, and her lieutenants, Miss Mildred Miller, Miss Mary Miller, Mrs. C. W. Kaylor and Mrs. A. W. Greene, for the splendid progress that has been made since the organization of the two troops, early in January.

"Since girl scouts should be interested in birds nothing could be more appropriate than the talk on 'Birds' by Mrs. Robert Work. She told of the different birds that may be seen at this time of year. She suggested things girl scouts could do to become better and more widely acquainted with these feathered friends.

"After the program refreshments were served to the newly pledged scouts and their guests."

Ornithologists Puzzled

For years ornithologists have hunted in the countries of South America without finding a single specimen of the northern variety of swift. They merely guess that the birds winter in the interior of Brazil, and they would like to have some explorer prove it. The mystery of the swifts' hiding place is probably not momentous. It is teasing, none the less, since those companionable visitors of the northern summer are said to be the only birds whose winter residence is not precisely known—a rare achievement of privacy in a world grown almost too obvious.—New York Herald Tribune.

Concerning Hairs

A German scientist has numbered the hairs on a human head and finds that the average brunette's total is 121,360. Blondes have about 20,000 more and red heads around 30,000 less. So, while a red hair is more conspicuous on a coat collar than one of the brunette persuasion there are 30,000 less chances for a red one to find a resting place and that's a scientific fact worth tucking into consideration.—Indianapolis News.

Could Not Buy Cathedral

The cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris was sold, during the revolution, to a private individual for $1,000, but the purchaser was unable to raise sufficient capital and the purchase fell through.

Local Brevities

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Austria and daughter, Lorraine, of Ormeo, Wis., were guests Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Plagge, 231 Applebee street. Miss Emma Austria, who has taught the past year at the Henry Lake school returned to Ormeo with her parents and will teach in the Ormeo public school next fall.

Miss Caroline Castle, who has attended Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla., will leave by boat Friday for Glen Rock, N. J., where she will visit friends for a week before coming to her parent's home in Barrington for the summer vacation.

Mrs. John Schwemm, 113 W. Main street, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. Schwemm at the St. Joseph hospital in Elgin. The condition of Mr. Schwemm is very much improved.

Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Freeman were at Capron, Ill., on Friday where he officiated at the funeral services of Mrs. Robert Hyndman.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark moved Saturday from 532 Grove avenue to 432 N. Cook street.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meiners and son, 239 W. Lake street, joined 20 friends in a reunion picnic at Oake's lake Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Scheer and son, Dick, 539 Grove avenue, spent Sunday with friends at Turtle Lake, Wis.

Old Campaign Scandal

The "Mulligan letters" were certain letters written by James G. Blaine to his private business partner, Warren Fisher. They were obtained in some way by James Mulligan, a clerk of Fisher's, and the insinuation made that they showed corruption on Blaine's part in the legislation affecting certain western railroads. Mulligan appeared before a congressional committee investigating possession of the letters and read them to congress in June, 1876. The letters were the subject of much campaign controversy.

European Divisions

The boundary line between Germany and Russia, with its southern extension, is usually considered the dividing line between western and eastern Europe. Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium, Spain and Portugal, etc., are all included in western Europe. During the World War, when Germany and her allies were fighting in Belgium and France, to the west of Germany, and in Poland and Russia, to the east of Germany, these two battle lines were distinguished as the western and eastern fronts.

admission 15 cents, suit 15 cents, locker 15 cents, and towel and soap 10 cents or a total of 55 cents.

The total cost for children ticket holders is: pool admission 10 cents, locker 10 cents, suit 10 cents and towel and soap 10 cents or a total of 40 cents.

Probably the majority of bathers living in the park district have their own swimming suits and furnish their own towels with the result that the net cost of a swim, including admission and locker, is 30 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

Historic Reproduction

There is a building called Virginia house at Windsor farm, just outside of the city of Richmond. The building is constructed of material from the ancient priory of the Holy Sepulcher completed in 1585, at Warwick, England. It was purchased, packed and shipped outright to Windsor farm in 1925-1926. The structure represents three historic houses: The Tudor portion of Warwick priory; part of Warmington, the home of the Spencers, and the original portion of the present Sulgrave manor, the ancient home of the Washingtons.

Basilicas

Originally, at Athens, a basilica was a portico on the agora, in which the archon basileus dispensed justice. Later, in Rome, it was a rectangular hall divided into nave and aisles by ranges of columns, and with a raised platform, called the tribune, at one end. It was used as a hall of justice and adopted as the type for the earliest buildings of Christian worship. The word is now applied to a church of this time or to one to which the pope has given the title.

Eighteen Teachers Sign Contracts to Return Next Year

Faculty Number Is Three
Less Than Last Year; Nine
New Teachers Hired

Eighteen teachers will return to their posts at the Barrington public school and with the addition of six new teachers the faculty for the 1932-33 school year has been completed. Superintendent, Emma S. Smith announced today. Nine members of the present faculty will not return, three less than last year. Through recent action by the school board married teachers will be eliminated from the faculty list for next year.
