EXPLOSION WRECKS JEWEL TEA CO. BASEMENT

Three Men Hurt As Ignited Gas Shatters Walls

One hour lost last April 24 when daylight saving time went into effect will be back in circulation next Sunday, Sept. 25 when Barrington goes back on standard time.

The new time schedule was deemed advisable as an economy measure at the time of the World war. It was quickly accepted in the larger cities, but rural communities were slower in receiving the idea. Barrington was one of the first suburban towns to adopt daylight saving time.

Soon after daylight saving time became established it spread rapidly because of the additional time for recreation that it provided. It has been considered a great boon to factory and office workers. At the same time most towns in this region thought it advisable to accept the new time schedule so that there would be no conflict in business relations with Chicago and the north shore municipalities, all of which have adopted the new time.

A majority of Illinois towns again went on daylight time this year although a few discontinued the practice, one of the largest being Elgin. Wisconsin towns, under a ban by state laws, could not have daylight saving time.

You May Sleep Extra Hour Sunday; Daylight Saving Time Is Ended

New Gridiron Will Be Initiated Next Saturday at 3 p.m.

With the goal posts erected and the field ready to be marked on Saturday morning, the new football gridiron at the North Side park, west of the swimming pool, will be ready for its initial game on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Warren high school meets the Barrington eleven in the latter's opening conference game. The new field, which probably gets its test of seething as the Warren gridder, who last week defeated Palatine by a score of 28 to 0, will be strong competition for the local boys. However, the local huskies have had a couple of hours of severe scrimmage every day since school opened two weeks ago, and by next Saturday they ought to be in tip-top early-season shape.

Park employees have been working all summer on the two football fields. The ground was leveled off early in the spring. Additional work was done during the summer, and a fairly good turf has been developed. Unless heavy rains occur just before the games this season, the players should be able to secure good footing. The regular playing field is laid out at the north side of the seven-acre park, west of the entrance. A practice field is situated on the south side of the park near Flynn creek. The playing field extends north and south and the scrimmage field runs east and west. Two goal posts were erected last week and were given their first coat of paint on Monday.

Supervisors Plan $200,000 Cut in County Expenses

The 1932-33 budget for Lake county expenditures was cut $200,000—28.5 per cent below the 1931-32 budget—by the county board in session at Waukegan, Wednesday, H. D. Kelsey, Cuba supervisor, reported.

"After reducing the valuations on all real estate in the county 15 per cent, we considered ways and means of reducing the expenditures enough so that a rate reduction would be possible," Mr. Kelsey explained. "Gradual reduction of expenditures has been going on for the last year. Several additional reductions in expenditures are planned."

The budget for the last fiscal year was approximately $700,000. The budget for the next fiscal year will be slightly more than $500,000.

24 Local Persons Are Teaching in Various Schools

Twenty-four men and women from the Barrington community have left within the past two weeks to begin their duties as instructors in various schools. A large variety of institutions are represented. Several persons are teaching within the immediate environs of Barrington and are able to return each evening, while a few are hundreds of miles away. A large number are graduates of the Barrington high school.

Foster Rieke, an instructor at Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass., is the greatest distance from his home town, and Lyman Bratler, who is a member of the faculty at the University of Kansas, is probably the next greatest distance from home. The following roster is as complete as possible considering the wide range over which the local teachers have spread:

Minnie Lipofsky, Cleveland public school, Chicago; Philip Beucher, Elmhurst high school, Lake Zurich; Dorothy Sedt, Arlington Heights grammar school; Mrs. Arthur Lagacch, Chicago public schools; Emma Walbaum, Palatine grammar school; Mrs. Alta Bennett, Chicago public schools; Mrs. Ira Elfrink, Des Plaines grammar school; Miss Ethel Kitzon, Chicago public schools; James Gundorp, Chicago public schools; H. L. Xager, Francis Parker school, Chicago; Mrs. George Elfrink, Chicago public schools.

Grace Castle, Kincaid high school; Maybelle Kohl, Deland high school; Ethel Berghoff, Lombard grammar school; Justine Spunner, Northwestern university; Irma Benson, Arlington Heights grammar school; Albert Welch, Arlington Heights grammar school; Maude Donlea, Spring Lake school; Mrs. Vernon Schroeder, White school; Mrs. Anthony Benson, Waterman school; Norma Donlea, Spring Lake school; William Sheehan, Waukegan grammar school.

Local Grid Star Is Injured in Season's Opener With McHenry

David Capulli, a junior in the Barrington high school and a linebacker on the school's football team, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon while playing in the season's opening game at McHenry. His left elbow was badly dislocated and bones were broken. He was taken to the St. Therese hospital, Waukegan where he underwent an operation. Latest reports are that he is making a satisfactory recovery and will probably return home by the end of the week.

The accident occurred in the second quarter of the game when a McHenry man was attempting to pass around the local player. Dave, who was playing the position of right end, was prevented from making a clean tackle when the McHenry man made a sudden inward turn. As flying tackles have been completely eliminated from all college and high school football, Dave was forced to stop the opponent with only his arm, and the entire shock was centered there.

Although the use of his arm will not be permanently impaired, Dave is definitely out of the football lineup for the season. He was considered a valuable component of this year's machine, and his absence will be felt by the team.

Merchants Offer Wares at Lowest Possible Prices

Hundreds of Shoppers Plan to Take Advantage of Buying Opportunities

Buying values which probably have never been surpassed in Barrington or any nearby community are offered shoppers this week. The 1932 DOLLAR DAYS come at a time when prices are low and when the long heralded upward trend in prices has scarcely gotten underway. The DOLLAR DAY bargains offered by some 40 merchants this week represent sharp reductions from the ridiculously low purchasing figures of the summer of 1932.

The big annual fall bargain event will be under way Friday morning. Many hundreds of men and women will read through the advertisements in this issue of The Review and make shopping lists from the great array of bargain offerings. When they complete their list of wants and add up the prices asked, they will be surprised at the small total outlay of money necessary to purchase so many items of household and personal necessity.

No costly programs of entertainment and no elaborate decorations have been planned by the merchants for this occasion. Every effort has been made to keep down the expense of the DOUBLE DOLLAR DAY event. Even the advertising has been limited to just what was necessary to call the money saving affair. Money that might have been spent to make DOUBLE DOLLAR DAYS a festive event has been saved with the result that prices to shoppers have been trimmed a little more. The savings from curtailed expense have been passed on and are offered to the buying public in the form of better bargains.

A brief scanning of the advertising pages of The Review reveals wonderful bargains in a great many different items of merchandise. Included in the low priced items are paint, shingles, oil, gasoline, shoes, oxforbs, shirts, neckties, lingerie, dresses, sheets, rugs, socks, pillowcases, candy, shaving cream, pil- lows, cases, hardware, handkerchiefs, blankets, sugar, coffee, butter, flour, tires, bacon, ham, potatoes, cookies, ice cream, fountain pens, playing cards, china, and dozens of other items.

THE DOLLAR DAYS will start at 7:30 a. m. Friday, last all day and continue throughout Saturday morning, afternoon and evening. Then the big bargain event will be through with for this year. Many shoppers will make their purchases on Friday to avoid a crowd on Saturday.

Citizens Meeting on Sewer Problem Will Be Called

Group Representing All Civic Organizations Will Meet in October

The citizens in Barrington will be called upon to express to the village trustees, through appointed representatives, their sentiment on the proposed removal of the sewer outlet and construction of a new disposal plant.

A meeting of representatives of the citizens generally, and of six or seven civic organizations will be held early in October for the purpose of discussing the problem with which residents of Barrington are confronted. Several of the organizations have already made appointments and others are expected to announce their representatives in the near future.

The representatives already appointed for the citizens meeting include: Chamber of Commerce—J. S. Gieske, Hugh Calkins and Ed Langendorf; Legion—Paul Pohlman, Dale McGill and Sanford Rieke; Lions club—Irvine Hager, Earl Schwamm and Henry Schroeder.

The Barrington Civic League, the Barrington Woman's club, the Legion Auxiliary and the board of education of school district 4 have been invited to appoint representatives for the meeting, and the village board has intimated that three or five citizens in addition to the organizations' representatives will be asked to attend the meeting.

The village board has a plan for improvement to present at the meeting. The plan is one worked out in conjunction with residents west of Barrington who were plaintiffs in the sewer case. The village also has the alternative of appealing to the supreme court for reversal of the decision of Judge Shurtliff which ordered removal of the sewage treatment plant.

The trustees want an expression from the citizens before deciding their course of action.

Representatives of Health Department Will Speak Here

The promised friendly meeting of the health ordinance committee of the board of trustees with residents of the village opposed to the pasteurization feature has been postponed until some undetermined night next week in order to permit another regular meeting of the board before the discussion session.

An official from the state health department will be brought to Barrington next Monday to address the residents on the subject of milk regulations and health. Trustee John Carroll said. He explained that he wanted the opportunity to have the milk situation presented by someone who has had considerable experience in health work.

The date for a "round table discussion" between members of the board committee and citizens opposed to pasteurization will be announced at the board meeting Monday night.

Business Group Will Be Separate But Co-operate With Other Organizations

A code of ethics for retail business houses will be drawn up and adopted by the new business and professional men's organization which held its second meeting at 203 S. Cook street Tuesday night. The purposes of the organization were outlined at the meeting and a by-laws committee was appointed to draft a proposed set of by-laws to be presented at the next meeting which will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 28.

The consensus of opinion of the 40 business men present was that the organization should be for the protection and benefit of customers of local retail firms as well as for the benefit of the members themselves. In this respect the committee for recommendations offered a proposal for fair and truthful advertising as a protection to consumers and to the reputation of the business men of Barrington as a whole.

Monthly Meetings

The committee recommended that regular monthly meetings be held with power invested in the officers to call special meetings when the occasion demanded. The committee also recommended that a by-laws committee be appointed with instructions to report before the next meeting and that the by-laws be voted on and a set of permanent officers be appointed at the next meeting. Standing committees should be appointed by the officers at the next meeting. The principal discussion centered

Highway Robber Is Kicked From Laundry Truck

Man Attempts Holdup of Barrington Truck; Is Forced Off Running Board

A highway holdup robber working along the county line road just west of Barrington was treated roughly Thursday morning of last week when he was thrown to the pavement from a Barrington laundry truck driven by Eugene Grebe. He had attempted to hold up the driver but was unsuccessful.

Mr. Grebe reported that he was driving out to the Barrington Hills Country club when a pedestrian who appeared to be an old man limping along the road beckoned for a lift with the usual thumb jerking method. The driver did not stop, but he was driving slowly and the man swung himself onto the running board as the truck was about to pass him.

"Pull up to the side of the road and give me your money," the robber demanded. Grebe seized a piece of heavy hose lying on the seat and struck the intruder's hands with it. This did not make the robber release his hold on the door, so the driver rolled up the window squeezing the man's hand. The robber growled at him and started to open the truck door. Then the driver suddenly kicked the door wide open causing the robber to fall to the pavement.

After the truck had reached the country club the driver and two employees of the club returned to where the holdup had been attempted, but they were not able to find the robber.

Brother of Local Pastor To Be Honored in Farewell Services Here on Sunday

Rev. John C. Koenig and family who have been in the United States on a furlough from India for the last two years, will be honored Sunday in three farewell programs at the St. Paul Evangelical church. Rev. Koenig is a brother of Rev. Hermann Koenig, the pastor of the local church, and he and his family are spending the week in Barrington.

All the pastors of the Arlington Heights district have been invited to the afternoon fellowship service, an informal farewell for the missionaries. The evening service will follow a dinner, served by the Woman's union of the church. Rev. Louis Goebel, pastor of the First English Evangelical church of Chicago and vice president of the Evangelical Synod of North America, is to be the guest speaker of the evening.

Rev. John C. Koenig will preach his farewell sermon at the St. Paul church on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. G. Horst of Beecher, will conduct a service in German at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Koenig and his family will leave for New York next week and will sail for Bismarapur, India on October 7.

Relief Committee Requested to Be 'Tight' With Help

The Barrington Relief committee in a meeting to be held Friday evening, may decide to be very strict and sparing with relief funds for the needy in this community next winter. A recommendation to this effect for the committee was proposed at the Barrington Lions club Monday evening, but after being discussed for half an hour was tabled. The Barrington Lions club is one of the several civic organizations in the village which has a representative on the committee; but three members of the committee, one representing the Legion and one the Ministerial association in addition to the direct Lions representatives, are members of the Lions organization.

The recommendation included a suggestion that no family possessing an automobile for pleasure driving be given relief support unless the license and automobile key be turned over to the relief committee. Another suggestion was that any able bodied man given relief be required to work for the food, fuel or clothing provided. Several other suggestions for strict operation of the relief work were offered.

A. W. Davy, a member of the committee during the last year, told the Lions that the committee already checks its expenditures very carefully and does not give much help to undeserving persons. He said that a few persons had fooled the committee once or twice; but that after being found out these same people had been given very little additional help. They were really fooling themselves and not the committee. Mr. Davy told of the careful checking up process by the members and of the close cooperation between the committee and H. D. Kelsey, Cuba town supervisor, to eliminate any duplication of charity work. He asked that the committee be given the right to continue its work according to its own ability and the judgment of its members.

Second Payment of Cook County Taxes Due Oct. 1

Persons in Cook county who have taken advantage of the recently devised installment plan of paying their 1930 general taxes and who made their first quarterly payment last July must pay their second installment before October 1.

With a number of taxing bodies in great need of money and with delinquents unable to raise the total annual tax, a large number of Cook county property owners including many from Barrington took advantage of the installment plan. One half the penalty for delinquency was written off of the bills of the property owners whose applications to use the method of payment were approved, showing that they were unable to pay all at the present time.

Local persons who go to the Cook county court house in Chicago to pay their second installment must present the receipt of the first installment before they will be given a bill for the second payment.

Mrs. L. T. York and Her Advanced Students Will Give Two Recitals Monday

Mrs. Lawrence T. York and her junior and practice pupils will present their piano pupils in the first of this season's recitals at the First Baptist church on Monday afternoon and evening, Sept. 28.

The pupils of Miss Marian Jurs, Miss Kathryn Coe and Arthur Weichelt will perform in the afternoon recital at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. York's pupils will play at 8 p. m. In addition to the nine advanced pianists in the evening program there will be a demonstration by children of preschool age.

A similar recital has been planned for the fourth Monday of every month except December.

1932 Swimming Attendance at North Side Park Pool Exceeds Attendance for Two Months '31 Season by 4500

Attendance at the North Side park swimming pool for the season of 1932 exceeded the attendance for the previous season by nearly 4500 due principally to the longer open season this year.

The total attendance for the past year was 19,883 as compared with 14,000 for the 1931 season. The swimming pool was opened the first of June this year and 102 open days. The pool was not completed until late in June 1931 with the result that the swimming season last year did not start until July 4. That left only 97 open days.

During both seasons the children's attendance exceeded the adult attendance. Last year the total paid attendance exceeded the free by about 20 per cent. This year with money a little scarcer, especially early in the summer, the total free attendance was about 10 per cent greater than the total paid attendance. In terms of number of swimmers, this means that

Vain Attempt Is Made to Save Boy Who Falls Into Uncovered Cistern

Kenneth, the two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Winkelman of 709 N. Vale street, Arlington Heights, was drowned early Saturday evening when he fell into an open cistern while playing at his home. Many efforts were made to revive him, including the use of the Danielson and Willmeyer resuscitator, but all attempts were in vain.

The body of the child was discovered in the cistern at 6:50 p. m. The boy had been missed for about 15 minutes. It is thought quite probable that he may have died from a paralysis resulting from the cold water rather than from drowning. The Barrington machine was used for two and a half hours.

The child had been playing out of doors prior to the accident and had evidently crawled through an open basement window and then fell into the cistern.

Caddie Injured by Golf Club Is Brought Here for Medical Attention

Jack Lavine of Chicago, a caddie at the Kildeer golf club, eight miles northeast of Barrington, was brought to the Barrington General hospital Sunday morning, suffering from a cut in his forehead, the result of being accidentally hit by a golf club. It was found necessary to take several stitches in dressing the wound.

The young man was able to leave the hospital after receiving medical attention.

LAKE ZURICH REVIEW

Lake Zurich Club
Opens Fifth Year
With Travel TalkWoman's Club Elects Three Members as Delegate Representatives

The election of Mrs. Harold Hans and Mrs. C. H. Weaver as delegates to the Lake County Federation of Women's club meeting at Fox Lake, Oct. 6, and of Miss Margaret Pink as a delegate to the regional conference at the Sheraton hotel, Chicago, Oct. 13 took place at the first meeting of the 1932-1933 club year of the Lake Zurich Community Women's club at the Lake Zurich high school Thursday afternoon. This is the organization's fifth year.

"Around the World With a Paint Box—Family of Six—Plus a Spare" was the subject of a lecture given by Mrs. Anita Willets Burnham, Mrs. Burnham was introduced by the club's president, Mrs. E. Jackson Deane, who opened the meeting with a few introductory remarks concerning the year's program. A complete calendar of the monthly meetings, membership, committees, and by-laws had been printed recently and was distributed to the members at the meeting last Thursday.

The hostess committee for the meeting consisted of Mrs. August Froelich, Mrs. Oscar Richter, Mrs. George Umhoefer and Mrs. Charles Rudinski. Refreshments were served in the home economics room of the school.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Improvements Are Made in Channels and Lakes of FoxBenjamin Miller, Supervisor of Illinois Waterways, Is Chief Instigator

Many needed improvements in the Fox river water system have been undertaken and completed during the past year. Much of the work has been accomplished through the efforts of Benjamin H. Miller, supervisor of Illinois Waterways. A contract for dredging a channel in Fox river from Burton's bridge north to the McHenry dam was let in June of this year by the Division of Waterways to Julius Keg of McHenry. The cost was approximately $22,000. This included the removing of sand bars in the river and the taking out of stone and debris left in the river by the construction of Burton's bridge. This contract was let under an appropriation of $25,000 made by the legislature in the 1931 session, which was sponsored by Rep. William M. Carroll of Woodstock. The Fox river between these two points was so shallow that it could not be navigated by anything but a row boat and completion of this work will provide a channel for motor boats and larger craft.

In addition to this Miller secured an allotment of $2000 from the appropriation for maintenance of navigation, $1000 to be used for the cutting of weeds and clearing of channels in the Fox Lake region, and $1000 to be used for making an aerial survey and map of the Fox Lake region. The appropriation for cutting of weeds has been used this summer in cleaning channels in Pistakee lake, Nippersink lake, Fox lake, Lake Marie, and Channel lake. These channels had become clogged with weeds so that it made navigation difficult.

Aerial Survey Made

Mr. Miller engaged the Chicago Aerial Survey company to make an aerial survey and photographic map of the Fox Lake region. Photographs have been taken and the map is nearly completed. This map will give an accurate picture of the lake region from Pistakee lake north to the Wisconsin state line, extending as far east as Long lake. There has heretofore been no accurate map of this region. Several maps are in existence but none show an accurate picture of the various lakes and channels and of the purpose of the navigation in the future for the purpose of improving navigation with the plan for the future development and advertising of the Fox Lake region as the "Playground of Chicago." When this map is completed it is planned to make small reproductions of the same for distribution.

Until the time when Miller took charge of the Division of Waterways in January, 1931, no money had ever been expended by the State of Illinois for the improvement of the Fox Lake region in Lake county.

Infectious Hysteria

Hysterical and nervous disorders were apt to be infectious in the Middle Ages, affecting whole groups of people who were mentally unstable through experience of appalling conditions of misery, sickness, brutality and crime, and dominated by fear, superstition and remorse.

Candidates Are Going to Learn
Who Are Friends

Candidates for office are frequently promised the support of 90 per cent of the voters and may ride to election for a "disillusioning fall." Most voters are diplomatic enough to tell a candidate they have "for him." But the candidates for Lake county state's attorney are going to find out the truth in advance of election, according to the News-Sun, which states:

It takes only a paper and pencil to play the new game, but both sides, Charles E. Mason, the republican, and William A. Deane, find it interesting and a great way to pass away lagging hours until supper time. Deane has tire covers prepared for automobiles with a little boost for himself printed on it. When Mason sees a Deane tire cover on a car he checks up on the owner.

"You know it's a great way to find out who is against you," Mason said. Deane plays the game with about the same set of rules, except that the Mason signs are painted on the rear glass of the automobile and carry a message telling voters to go to the polls and vote for Charlie.

Justice Henry Wallenwein, a republican managing Deane's campaign, claims that the first straw vote on cars bannered for either one candidate or the other gives Deane a big edge.

"Mason has 53 cars with signs painted on them and I got more than 200 tire covers for Big Bill," he chuckled as he jotted down the license number of a car ticketed for Mason.

Wallenwein, by the way, predicted last night that Deane would beat Mason by 7000 votes.

Mason heard of Wallenwein's claim and immediately stamped it as an error in arithmetic for Wallenwein and went about his plans for sort of reforming the state's attorney's office when he gets there.

Report Rift in Alliance of Overseer Voliva and Farley, Benton Assessor

The interesting "battle for control" of the Zion City religious cult took an unexpected turn, according to published reports, when the rumor was spread that O. W. Farley, assessor of the town of Benton and for years a close follower and personal friend of William Glenn Voliva, had turned against the overseer.

Farley published an advertisement that he still was in the insurance business.

Recently Voliva established his own insurance department. It is understood, although Farley held the Zion Institutions and Industries business over a period of years.

Farley said that the overseer, he was given to understand, intimated to clients of his that he had retired from business. He said that he was publishing the advertisement to convince his friends he still was in business.

Farley has been assessor of Zion for years.

Heat From Sewage Gas
Helps Warm Disposal
Plants at Waukegan

Mechanics at sewage disposal plants of the North Shore Sanitary district have evolved a money-saving scheme for furnishing artificial heat in their buildings.

Treatment of the sewage wastes results in the production of quantities of gas that are piped to special heating rooms and burned the same as artificially produced gas used in kitchen ranges.

The extra heat in sewage disposal plants is desirable because it speeds up the treatment processes, mechanics advise.

At a session of the sanitary district board of trustees today reports were made showing all plants in the district are operating successfully.

President John Oliver expressed particular satisfaction with the new plants just completed this year at North Chicago, Lake Forest and at Cary avenue in Highland Park.

Old American Publication

As founded by Franklin in 1723 the periodical now known as the Saturday Evening Post was entitled the Pennsylvania Gazette. The name was changed in 1821 to avoid confusion, because at that time there were six other papers in Philadelphia using the word gazette in their title.

LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT
IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking the box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce all tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's safe ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and it after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

Prompt Payment of Bills
Saves $325,823 for State

By prompt payment of their bills, the state departments directly under Governor Louis L. Emmerson saved $325,823.07 for the state during the year beginning July 1, 1931 and ending July 1, 1932, the department of finance has reported to Governor Emmerson. To earn the discounts, it was necessary for the departments, especially the department of finance, to work considerably overtime. Bills carrying the discounts were given special preference in accordance with the policy established when this administration came into office. During the year only $116.84 was lost by the various departments through failure to avail themselves of the discounts. Six of the departments had perfect records, taking every cash discount offered during the course of the year. These departments are department of finance, department of conservation, department of agriculture, department of public health, department of public works and construction.

As usual, the department of public works and buildings led the other departments in the total amount of discounts taken. Its total for the year was $299,136.56. This was due to the fact that the department of public works and buildings which constructs the highways of Illinois, buys more material than all the other departments. The department of public welfare was next to the department of public works and buildings with a total of $42,770.46.

Mother Love in Fishes
 Female lobsters and crayfish look out for their young much as does a mother hen for her chickens. If a female of either species senses approaching danger she calls her young to her by a warning shake of her claws and the little ones scuttle under her body to hide, much as baby chickens seek safety under their mother's breast when they hear her warning cluck.

Old Farming Implement
 The polearm known as the "fan-chard" took its title from the French verb facher, meaning to mow. The fanchard had all the "earmarks" of a small sickle with a long handle, and so was appropriately christened.

$2,000,000 Involved in Road Building Contracts

Bids for 66 sections of state highway construction, to provide upward of $5,000,000 worth of work, were opened during the first week in September by the state department of public works and buildings.

In the road letting of September 6, the work contemplated will provide 63.66 miles of paving and five bridge sections. It will cost about $2,000,000, not including the cost of the cement.

The series of bids opened on September 7, will involve the expenditure of approximately $2,800,000 or about half of the state's five million dollar allotment of federal funds for emergency relief road construction. The series calls for 110.26 miles of paving, 12 bridge projects and 3.66 miles of grading. The work is so widely scattered that when contracts are awarded, it will provide employment in all sections of the state.

Arthur Eidman Resigns From Relief Commission

Governor Louis L. Emmerson has accepted the resignation of Arthur Eidman, of Belleville, banker, from membership on the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Mr. Eidman informed the governor that his business duties, as vice president and cashier of the St. Clair National Bank, made it impossible to give the commission the service that conditions demand.

Bank Situation Seems to Be Nearly Cleared Up

State bank failures in Illinois reached the lowest mark in several months during August when only four institutions closed their doors, according to the regular monthly report issued by State Auditor Oscar Nelson.
 The report disclosed there are 785 state banks operating in Illinois with 630 of them located outside of Cook county.

Palatine Flower Show Brings Many Beautiful Entries

Large Crowd Views Flower Exhibit Sponsored by Garden Club

The flower exhibit of the Harvest festival sponsored by the Palatine Garden club held in the Starck building on Saturday was proclaimed to be one of the best seen in any flower show in this region this year. The flowers were fine for this time of the year, especially since it has been so dry.

The baskets and bouquets were most beautifully arranged. The lawn furniture exhibited by the Palatine Garden club was also very attractive. The first prize was a center of attraction with the pretty water lilies from the garden of Miss Gussie Olson. The other prize trees at the entrance were loaned by George Klehm of Arlington Heights which too gave the effect of a real garden entrance.

The professional exhibit by Charles Klehm and Mrs. Charles of peonies, gladioli, asters and zinnias with the little man watering the flowers shows what can be developed under professional care.

Some of the baskets used were of heilborn and added greatly to the beauty of the show.

Many potted plants for which there was no class were used as decorations and many rare specimens were shown. A large crowd was constantly passing through the exhibit which was arranged by the Palatine Garden club.

Flowers came from the following gardens: Mrs. Bang of Elgin, Herman Spanhake of Palatine township, and Mrs. John Stimpfle, Mrs. Louis Schoppe, Mrs. Arthur Zuer, Mrs. Fred Wildhagen, Mrs. Clarence Comfort, Mrs. Elmer Benzow, Mrs. W. C. Williams, Mrs. Louis Haemker, Mrs. Elmer Foster, Mrs. Alma Arps, Mrs. Louis Butt, Mrs. K. Zee, Mrs. Henry Bookelman, Sr., Mrs. Martin Plate, Mrs. Charles Froelich, Mrs. Lena Deverman, Mrs. A. S. The ribbons were awarded before the noon hour so that the first visitors were afforded an opportunity of seeing the winning displays.

The judges were John Schinkowsky, N. Meech and Mr. Gaare. The list of winners follows in the order named:

Three Ways to Do It

By ROSE MEREDITH

"SO," SAID James Farnham, looking with kindly, screwed eyes at the ardent young man who wanted to marry his daughter, "so Anthony, you are asking for my Ann?"

"Yes, sir," said Anthony, "I love Ann, and I want to marry her."

"Well, then, there are three things you must do before I will say 'yes' to your question," said James Farnham gravely.

"Will you spend a night in the haunted house? Then, will you find out who is smuggling liquor into the town, and lastly, will you pay up every debt that you owe before you are married?"

"Right," said young Anthony firmly. "I will do all those things in proper order and report to you, May I speak to Ann before I go?"

"Of course," said Farnham, extending his hand. "Please stay and have supper with us and spend the evening, too, Anthony."

"Three things to do," thought Anthony later on that night, as he slipped out of his window, slid down the rainwater pipe to the ground, and shook himself. "I've certainly had my suspicions of the old house, and as for the identity of the rum runners, why I believe that the two matters are connected—and if I guess those two riddles, and win the reward, I can finish paying up my few debts, and Ann and I can start with money in the bank and not a debt to our names!"

The old haunted house, as it was called, occupied a quiet back street not far from the little creek that entered the sound where the tide was going out.

Anthony Ware thought of all of those things as he went up the broken front porch of the old house. The tide was coming in and Anthony really expected something might happen that night when the tide was high. So he tiptoed through the old house on rubber-soled shoes, not hearing a sound until after he had been sitting in darkness for an hour.

Brave as he was, Anthony felt the hair lift on his head, when those flapping footfalls began away off somewhere in the kitchen, and came nearer and nearer. He had slipped into a tiny cupboard in what was known as the sitting room, and it was all that he could do to stuff himself in there and close the door before the footfalls came very close—they seemed to circle the room and then went off again, and after awhile he heard them upstairs prowling into every room, and then, at last, they came down again and went out the back door.

"He has gone to the creek to meet someone," said Anthony, and he went to the kitchen loft and hid himself in a dark corner, by the window where he could see the creek in the queer light of a waning moon. He remembered stories that he had heard of how the village constable and some of his men had hidden near the creek, and all they discovered was old Oscar Johnson bringing home a load of lobster pots filled with crawling black shapes. And now, old Oscar was coming up the creek, his flat-bottomed boat piled high, with lobster pots. The old man stopped at the old place and unloaded his pots into a two-wheeled cart that was behind the house, and trundled it out of the yard and down the street to his own house and fish shop. After that it was quiet again for a long time, and then came the sound of oars and paddles and another boat, loaded with square, deep boxes, wrapped in newspapers, came down the creek.

From his window in the kitchen loft, Anthony Ware watched the unloading of the boxes until all of it had been transferred to the cellar and all the men disappeared down there. Then Anthony, slipping from place to place like a ghost, locked the trapdoor in the kitchen and locked the outside door, and fled noiselessly down the street to the constable's house and roused him. Then they went and arrested the guilty men who were sorting out the bottles in the cellar.

In the morning, when James Farnham opened his kitchen door to come outside he found Anthony sitting there waiting for him.

"Well?" said Mr. Farnham.

"I came to receive my answer to last night's question," said Anthony.

"Did you spend the night in the haunted house?"

"Just came from there."

"What about the smuggling?"

Anthony told him that the guilty men were in jail.

"And I suppose the reward you will get will pay your debts," said Mr. Farnham with a twinkle.

"But you see, Mr. Farnham, I haven't any debts at all—instead of 'at, I've got a thousand dollars in the bank. How about Ann?"

"She seems to be in the window over your head," chuckled his future father-in-law, and, looking up he saw lovely Ann, smiling at him.

"Of course you will stay for breakfast," she called to him, smiling at him.

"He says 'Yes, Ann, and now we can tell him about building a house on the farming property next door."

REVIEWPOINTS

Editor, Review: My attention has just been called to an article in your issue of August 18 under the caption "State Anti-Rabies Treatment Costs Are Increased," in which it is said: "Dr. Andy Hall, state health director, pointed out in a recent statement that the demand for anti-rabies treatments at state expense so far this year has exceeded all past experience and that funds appropriated by the legislature for this purpose have been exhausted with heavy inroads already made upon emergency funds."

Every summer we have from numerous boards of health these rabies scares, which are of no benefit to anyone and are of very real danger to timid, nervous people who, if bitten by a dog, can easily work themselves into a case of pseudo-hydrophobia and die in great agony.

The late Dr. W. O. Stillman, distinguished president of the American Humane association, wrote and published in the National Humane Review an editorial entitled, "Rabies Scars, as a Fine Art," in which he said:

"The editor of this magazine, who has been the active head of an aggressive anti-rabies society for more than twenty-five years, and for a long period a practicing physician, has come to the definite conclusion that the rabies scares are mostly humbugs. He has never seen a case of the disease, although closely familiar for over twenty years with municipal dog kennel work handling thousands of dogs."

Dr. Charles W. Dulles said in an address that . . . in France, which is full of Pasteur Institutes, there are supposed to be annually thousands of cases with the infection of hydrophobia, while in Great Britain, where there is no Pasteur Institute, the disease does not occur. Another curious thing is that in Constantinople, where dogs have for centuries run wild in the streets, there was no little hydrophobia that it was long denied that it existed there at all; but since a Pasteur Institute has been established cases have been quite frequent, according to the Pasteur people. This has been the experience of every country in which Pasteur Institutes have been established . . . The Pasteur method I likewise think is injurious and responsible for many deaths."

In a report to the local government board, which was presented by parliament, in 1887, and which dealt with the Pasteurian treatment of hydrophobia, the following statement was made: "After the intensive methods deaths have occurred under conditions which have suggested that they were due to the inoculations rather than to the infection from the rabid animal."

In the "Annales de l'Institut Pasteur for 1900," Dr. Masson gave an account of the "accidents" accompanying the treatment such as paralysis, heart failure, sudden brain congestion resulting in convulsions, attacks of fever, rashes, etc.

In the Final Report of the Royal Commission on Viri-section, Dr. George Wilson, L.D. (Edinburgh), F.R.S.D.P.H. (Cambridge), a member of the commission, not an anti-rabies person, said:

"I venture to submit that the whole Pasteurian theory, and the treatment based upon it, are fraught with error from beginning to end."

Not an Army Term

The term "sharpshooter" is not used in the army. Experts in army, navy or marine small arms use are designated as marksmen. The term originated during the Civil war when the Sharpe breech-loading rifle with improved sights came into use, and was the arm favored by men detailed to sniping.—Indianapolis News.

Bring 'Em Back Alive, High School Benefit, featured Here Next Week

The Marx Brothers in their comedy of college errors "Horse Feathers" finish their run at The Catlow theatre Friday night to make way for Tom Mix in "My Pal, the King." This picture carries Western atmosphere right into the heart of the Balkans where Mix and his entire posse of companions go through their paces for the edification of a delighted child king while his cabinet members are planning to kidnap him and do away with the political obstacle that his tiny person constitutes.

Young Master Mickey Rooney, known to fans the world over as Mickey McGuire, is entitled to his share of the spoils too.

The supporting cast—Paul Hurst, an unscrupulous villain; Stuart Holmes, a beautiful blond Francis of the "palaces"; Jim Thorpe, the Indian athlete; Finis Barton and James Kirkwood—greatly augment the truly excellent film.

In addition, Rin-Tin-Tin will be shown in a new chapter of "The Fighting Warrior." Other short subjects will add to the enjoyment of Saturday's program.

Philips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Ruggles and John Mack Brown head the cast of "7000 Watt," a murder-mystery set out on the football gridiron, which comes on Sunday and Monday night.

The story has to do with the attempt of a gambling ring to buy the football game by eliminating the star player of the favorite team.

Next Tuesday brings a picture to which there have been many requests from local movie fans—"Shanghai Express." This all-star film headed by Marlene Dietrich, "Life Boat," Walter Oland and Anna May Wong, begins with the "Shanghai Express" leaving Peking with a heterogeneous collection of characters aboard, ready for a desperate attempt to run through rebel gun fire. It ends with their arrival in Shanghai after a perilous and humorous, romantic and pathetic.

The spirit of extraordinary planning set in the exotic splendors of the Malaysian jungle forms the fascinating background for the Barrington high school benefit movie, "Bring 'Em Back Alive" which will be presented next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Profits derived by the pupils of the local schools will be used in purchasing portable bleachers for the new athletic field and addition to the North Side park.

And again the main feature there will be a short, snappy football picture.

Adventure, strife and comedy run through this astonishing wild animal picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," in which everything is real, unstaged and rehearsed. Fact once more proves more astonishing than fiction—and there can be no doubt that the picture is fact. Anyone who witnesses the death struggles between the cheetah and black leopard, the python and the man-eating Royal Bengal tiger, or anyone who sees the shots of the elephant herd and the pathetic plight of the lost baby elephant; anyone, indeed, who sees any part of "Bring 'Em Back Alive" knows that the picture is the real thing.

The Rescue

Sun and Moon Legends of Primitive Peoples

The natives of the Malay peninsula have an interesting myth which seeks to account for the differences between the day and night sky and also the motions of the sun and moon.

According to this legend, both the sun and the moon are regarded as women, while the stars are the children of the moon. The legend tells that the sun once had as many children as the moon. The children of the sun were bright like the sun itself.

Fearing that the earth could not stand so much light and heat, the sun and moon made an agreement to eat their children. The sun carried out her part of the agreement, but the moon only hid her children.

When the moon's children, the stars, came out at night, the sun was very angry and began to pursue the moon. This accounts for the motions of the sun and moon through the heavens, which the Malay natives regarded as a pursuit of the moon by the sun.

The stars go out as the sun rises. This, the natives say, is because the sun is still devouring her children during the daytime and brings them out at night.

Among the American Indians we find the sun and moon generally regarded as brother and sister.

One legend of the Ottawa Indians tells of two Indians who "sprang through a chasm in the sky and found themselves in a pleasant moonlit land." There they met the moon, who was "an aged woman with white face and pleasing air." She introduced them to her brother, who was the sun.—David Dietz, in the New York World-Telegram.

Four Ring Circus Gives Two Shows Here on Tuesday

Sells-Sterling four ring wild animal circus now on their twelfth annual tour will exhibit at Barrington on Tuesday, Sept. 27. Two performances will be given rain or shine on the ball grounds.

Long before most boys and girls have had their breakfast the huge caravans on motor trucks transporting the elephants, camels, lions, hy-cards, tigers, monkeys, horses, dogs and ponies will have arrived in the city and the mammoth task of erecting the tented city will be under way.

The circus is a city in itself inasmuch as there are superintendents for each department. While one crew of men are busily engaged in raising the huge spread of canvas housing the four ring circus others are putting up cook-house, menagerie and sideshow. Each man is allotted a task and with clock-like precision the dozens of tents spring up like mushrooms and when Equestrian Director Al Lindeman blows his whistle for the afternoon performance all will be in readiness for the circus loving fans to witness the only circus coming to Barrington this year.

One of the outstanding features of this season is Miss Rose Heller, acrobatic gymnast nonpareil of Europe. Miss Heller is a beautiful, lithesome miss who comes to this country direct from triumphs at the La Scala in Berlin where she amazed and astounded the populace by turning 105 revolutions while suspended in mid-air.

Another feature is Captain Sells group of ferocious and jungle-bred lions. These differ greatly from the "born-in-captivity" lions inasmuch as they are utterly untamable.

The herd of performing elephants accomplish tricks seemingly impossible for those huge pachyderms. Among this group is "Billy Sunday," world famous elephant and one of the few pachyderms of the miscellane-

"But," comments this paper, analyzing the persistence of the search, "it isn't the gold merely that these smitten hearts desire; it's the sea wind, the lonely beach, the forest tangle, the very hardship and danger that lift life above humdrum in their foretaste if not in reality. Men will ever be hunters and sailors; and the wilder the chase, the more perilous the voyage, the better they will fancy it."

There are also wire walkers, knife-throwers, jugglers, unriddable mules, thrilling aerialists; Liberty and high-school horses featuring "Duke" the football horse and troupe of trained dogs that will delight the young and old. Clown Alley has a dozen numbers, each one funnier than the preceding one.

In all, 27 acts comprise the circus program, music for which is provided by a ten-piece band and air callopie. The Sells-Sterling circus like many others have abolished the usual street parade, but will give a free exhibition, at the show grounds preceding the opening of the doors for the usual two performances at 2 and 8 p. m.

The Barrington Bears baseball team had their annual banquet, and business meeting at the Meekins dining room, 133 N. Cook street, on Sunday evening. The dinner was given in honor of two of the team's veteran players, Jack Kasech and Ray Wehman, both of whom are leaving town to attend college. Jack, who has been a member of the freshman baseball team at the University of Illinois at Urbana, is a strong candidate for the college varsity this year, and Ray, who has played with the University of Wisconsin team at Madison for the last two years, will enter his third season this year. Plans for next season were discussed by the team Sunday night. An account of the past season's record revealed that although the organization had had a successful season of ball games, it had barely been able to break even financially. This latter condition did not daunt the spirit of the team for they determined to lay definite plans for next season. An offer has been received from a group of business men in Barrington to help the team in financing their new uniforms. The Bears have had Ward Flock as their manager for the past ten years. The record of the games they have played reveals a constant improvement. A comparison of the sizes of the uniforms from which a majority of the opposing teams come with the size of Barrington marks the Bears as an outstanding group of ball players. The Bears will play their final game of the season next Sunday with the Elgin Merchants at Elgin.

Holstein Bull Stolen From Barrington Farm Recovered Last Week

The large Holstein bull, owned by Ervin H. Mundhenk living five and one-half miles south of Barrington, has been returned after being gone from the farm for nearly three weeks. The animal had been stolen, officials believe but was given up by someone afraid of detection. The bull was found last Thursday morning in the pasture of a farm a mile from the Mundhenk farm. The fence wires had been cut at a corner of the pasture and then had been reconnected over the post. It was believed that the thieves had backed their truck up to the fence, cut the two top wires, driven the bull into the pasture, and then repaired the fence temporarily so that the animal could not get out. Whether the thieves were trying to throw suspicion on the owner of the farm where the bull was left is a matter of conjecture. It is believed the animal was stolen, kept in a barn, but gotten rid of when the thieves suffered too strongly either from guilty conscience or fear of detection.

Two New Stores Open for Business in Barrington

Two new retail business firms have been opened in Barrington within the last week. Announcement was made in The Review last week of the opening of the Barrington Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Market at 240 E. Main street. The market was opened by Henry W. Heller of Barrington, who is a direct importer. Ray A. Brown of Dundee has opened a new jewelry store in the east half of the building at 109 E. Main street. Both new firms will be welcomed into the roster of businesses of Barrington.

Relief Bill Needs Majority of Votes to Be Passed

To be approved, the $20,000,000 emergency relief bond issue must receive a majority of all votes cast for members of the general assembly in the November election. Every person who votes in the election and fails to vote on the bond issue, in effect votes against it.

Girl Martyr's "Jewelry"

The jewelry Joan of Arc wore when she "embraced the saints" were small cheap rings. Her parents and one of her brothers had given them to her. Three crosses and the words "Jesus Maria" were on one of the rings, both of which Joan regarded as very precious.

Lake County and Cook May Split on State Bond Issue

Passage of Issue Would Eliminate State Tax; Fuel Tax Substituted

The opposing opinions which have advanced on the advisability of passing the 20 million dollar state bond issue are nowhere in the state more sharply contrasting than along the border line of Cook and Lake county which would be adversely affected by such passage.

The bond issue, if passed, would relieve all property owners in Illinois of a heavy addition to the state tax rate but would add to the motorists' burden in Cook and other counties which received the state aid last spring.

Lake county motorists would not be bothered by a diversion of the motor fuel tax receipts because the Lake county board did not ask for nor receive any of the state aid last spring which will now have to be financed either by a general tax or a bond issue which in return would be retired from fuel tax receipts paid by only the counties which received the state aid. This is the first bond issue, Lake officials admit, that means a saving to the taxpayers of Lake county if passed.

Cook county received the Lions share of the 20 million dollar relief fund, and Cook county will have to pay back in proportion to its receipts if the bond issue and motor fuel tax methods are adopted.

The story, and it is backed up by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom and Chief Highway Engineer Frank T. Sheets, briefly is as follows:

Pass Huge Appropriation
The state last year appropriated and spent $20,000,000 on paupers. The appropriation was made with the proposition that the money be paid back by a bond issue or direct taxation.

Counties getting the money agreed to pay for it out of the Motor Fuel tax (gas tax) received annually from the state. Cook county took the bulk of the $20,000,000.

If the bond issue passes, it means that the counties which borrowed from the $20,000,000 will be forced to pay it back from the Motor Fuel tax. If the bond issue does not carry then the people of the state of Illinois, covering every piece of Illinois property, will have to foot the bill for the counties that borrowed, whether they lived in a county that drew from this emergency fund or not.

Would Boost Taxes in Lake
County Clerk Lew A. Hendee stated that tax experts have informed him that if the bond issue does not pass it will mean a 20 cent increase on the $100 assessed valuation in Lake county. This 20-cent rate would be on the state rate.

Lake county did not borrow from the fund. The board of supervisors of their March meeting took a firm stand against using the motor fuel tax to support paupers. In spite of that, the state sent $20,000 as a gift. Lake county does not have to pay that $20,000 under the set up of the law, Hendee claims.

Attorney General Carlstrom wrote to State's Attorney A. V. Smith confirming the above explanation, as follows:

Hon. A. V. Smith,
State's Attorney, Lake County,
Waukegan, Ill.

Dear Sir:
I have your letter of September 19th, which reads as follows:

"I would appreciate an opinion on the following subject:

The matter of the Emergency Relief bill as set forth on page 193 of the Third Special Session of the State of Illinois of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly. If this bond issue carries, will the taxes in Lake county be increased or decreased?

The act to which you refer is one of a group of five acts providing for emergency relief to residents of this state who, by reason of unemployment or otherwise, were destitute and in necessitous circumstances.

The bonds and interest thereon are payable from the motor fuel taxes allotted to the several counties, with a provision that the amount set aside from the allotment to any county shall be in the same proportion that the relief furnished to persons in that county under the provisions of the Emergency Relief commission bears to the total relief furnished to persons in the state. In view of this provision, the approval of the bond issue will not result in increased general property taxes, as the same will be retired out of motor fuel taxes.

If the bond issue is not approved, a general property tax will be extended throughout the entire state.

H. Matthews, Wauconda Farmer, Is Afflicted With Peculiar Disease

Harry Matthews, who lives a few miles west of Wauconda, has been critically ill with a case of hoof and mouth disease (angina vineces), an affliction that is common to live stock but very rare among human beings. Matthews, who has been under the care of a doctor and a trained nurse, is reported as having gotten some relief from his suffering when the growth in his throat broke. Though much improved he is still confined to his bed.

Pelican's Big Appetite

It is interesting to see a flock of pelicans on the wing. They usually fly in single file, and when the leader starts or stops flapping his wings the others follow with mechanical precision.

From three to five white chalk incrustated eggs are laid by the pelican on its crude, bulky nest. Usually not more than two birds are raised. When the chick hatches the shell it is black skinned and the long bill already is noticeable. Within a few weeks the bird is downy white and his faint squawking is brought about by a desire for more fish daily. When he is only three weeks old he must have several pounds of fish daily. And when the young pelican reaches his fifth week he displays a ravenous appetite.—Anthony V. Ragusa, in the New York Herald Tribune.

Trade Term

Drawn-bowl is the term used in connection with a glass vessel when the bowl and stem have been made in one process with the bowl drawn up and shaped from the more solid metal of the stem.

Character Revealed in Great Men's Portraits

Those interested in character reading from faces know that the qualities indicated by one feature may totally contradict those shown by another. The following story illustrates this.

The famous artist, John Sargent, painted Joseph Pulitzer. All went well till the fourth sitting. Pulitzer had been calm and amiable till then but unfortunately his temper was greatly ruffled by the sudden appearance in the studio of a man whom he detested.

"A look of fury and impatience entirely changed the face of the subject, and Sargent contemplated the scene with keen interest, while making a dab or two upon the canvas." The result of that unlucky contretemps was registered in the completed portrait. The dual nature of the sitter was clearly indicated. "Hide with a sheet of paper one-half of the face and you have a benevolent, middle-aged gentleman. Observe now the other half, and you have the malevolent, sinister, and cruel expression of a Mephisto." If we apply that test to some present-day portraits we might be disagreeably startled by the result!

"Herd Habit" Strong in Minds of All Russians

The Russian's proneness to regimentation is a mental habit, arising from centuries of living less in a society than in a cultural herd; it is undoubtedly one cause for his emotional acceptance of the Soviet regime.

I saw a pretty symbol of this trait, one evening at the opera in Moscow, says Waldo Frank, writing in the New Republic. During the entr'acte, the audience (workers, students, petty officials) went into the foyer. Quite unconsciously, they fell into line and began to circle round and round the large hall in order!

Because of these inherent Russian traits, the intellectuals and the intellectual arts of the U. S. S. R. are in a peculiarly dangerous position under a proletarian dictatorship which encourages (and makes effective) the habits of the masses.

Important Function

Correlation is perhaps the most important function of science, making our multifarious knowledge mentally manageable, enlarging the field of actual and potential experience, and revealing a unity in experiences which are superficially quite distinct.

Even Ordinary Mortal Is Rich in Ancestors

"A pedigree like this is, of course, such as few can claim," says the Canadian Mining Journal, commenting on an article on the subject of heredity. But, with reference to the pedigrees of very ordinary mortals like ourselves, it is interesting to recall that a distinguished legal commentator has estimated that at the fortieth genealogical remove—that is to say, in the course of sixteen or seventeen centuries—the total number of a man's progenitors is more than 1,000,000,000,000.

"All of us have now subsisting," wrote the great Blackstone, "nearly 270,000,000 of cousins in the fifteenth degree; and if this calculation should appear incompatible with the number of inhabitants on the earth, it is because, by intermarriages among the descendants, a hundred or a thousand different relations may be consolidated in one person, or he may be related to us in a hundred or a thousand different ways!"

"What a field of speculation this train of thought opens up! Small wonder that each of us is supposed to have a 'double.'"

Future Domestic Fowls

How long will it be, one wonders, before our domestic fowls will come to depend upon man's incubating systems, and conclude their parental duties with the laying of their eggs as do the ostriches? Darwin taught us how imitative birds and beasts are, and how quick to learn and progress along paths of improvement. Ostriches do not hatch their eggs, nor tend their chicks after they leave their shells, because it is unnecessary for them so to do. Will men teach their fowls to follow their example?

HUMAN BUSINESS FRAILTY

The shop owner or merchant who finds fault with the way the other fellow is doing business, quite frequently is the man who himself is constantly doing things opposite to rules that are best for the community. Most every line of business today is confronted with some problem or another pertaining to competition. It is really good that the business world revolves on principles of this sort. Without them we would all become stale; there would be no pep or enthusiasm and we would be a lazy and indolent lot.

A community where merchants refuse to trade with one another is a weak spot. Yet there are places like this. The money left at home would be utilized by home folks over and over again. Once it is transferred from the locality to a larger center, it is lost to the pool; perhaps never to return. A sad thought and it reads almost like an obituary. A sad death to a community. Merchants in large centers will have little need for spending money in the small town and they don't propose to do so. They are however, baiting small town citizenry constantly and thereby sapping the strength from smaller communities. Why be weak and fall for it?

What can be done about it? United action on the part of merchants will help. Patronize the other business man when he sells something out of your line. If you sell groceries don't look for a cheap wholesaler to sell you a suit of clothes at cost, etc. Pay your neighbor his reasonable profit. He could perhaps buy groceries at wholesale if he tried.

MAD BECAUSE IT WORKS

It is no news that boards of trade, live stock exchanges, gamblers, and we are sorry to say, certain chambers of commerce and other groups of business men are doing all they can to undermine the agricultural marketing act. It is not generally known, however, that some of these same men sponsored the agricultural marketing act in its consideration by congress and actually helped to draft the bill. Now they are spending thousands of dollars to cripple it and, if possible, to effect its repeal.

Why are these forces now trying to tear down what they helped build three years ago? In the first place, they saw that the farmers of the nation were determined to help themselves. Consequently they sponsored a plan they thought either wouldn't work at all, or, if it worked, would be less drastic than other plans proposed. Well, it is working. By one attack after another they are attempting to knock the foundation out from under the nation's co-operative marketing structure. In a senate debate recently the farm board was upheld by the following statement: "Ever since President Hoover's appointees began to assist in the development of the co-operative movement the gambling traders have turned loose upon congress and the public a flood of malicious, subtle, false and destructive propaganda. Every charge made to discredit the farm board and the agricultural marketing act has been found to be untrue."—Chicago Producers.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

By National Editorial Association
(Special to The Review)

RECENT EVENTS have convinced the administration that keen strategy must be exercised if the party in power is to counteract the blows administered in the Maine elections and at the American Legion convention. For many years the September chant of the republican party has been "As goes Maine, so goes the nation," but for the first time since 1912 the democrats have adopted it as their theme song.

THE QUESTION being asked in all quarters is whether President Hoover will go personally before the voters in a series of campaign speeches. Although democrats like Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi are issuing statements declaring Hoover has been driven to the stump by the reverses in Maine, the white house insists no decision has been made other than for the scheduled speeches as previously indicated. Some of the president's political advisers are urging him to roll up his sleeves and take the warpath, while from others he has received some real energetic arguments against exposing himself to the tumult of political campaigning in a time of general dissatisfaction over economic conditions.

POLITICIANS in both parties are anxious to learn the impression Governor Roosevelt created upon the western farming country. Astute observers, democratic and republican alike, believe that the governor's swing across the Mississippi region is going to make or break him as far as the west is concerned and probably decide his fate in November. It is too early to assess the effects of his Topeka speech and its six agricultural points. The democrats are hopeful that Roosevelt's slams at the federal farm board, which has been unpopular almost since its inception, will gain him many votes. Republican leaders are confident that the president's speech in Iowa next month in answer to Governor Roosevelt's farm policies will turn the tide.

"THE AMERICAN LEGION which broke camp in Portland last week is faced with the stiffest battle in its 13 years of history. The fight, to come in for the first time on the offensive and defensive. In its vote to force upon congress the $2,400,000 bonus payment and to halt all attempts to write a "needs clause" into veterans' legislation the legion will no doubt draw fire from the National Economy League, U. S. Chamber of Commerce and other potent adversaries. It must also contend with formidable opposition from inside its own ranks. The legion voted to create a committee to work with the congressional committee in investigating inequalities in veterans' laws and it is hoped that this committee will be the means of bringing coordination within its organization.

GOVERNMENT departments will be again reorganized according to the president's recent statement. Both democrats and republicans state they are in favor of coordinating and consolidating governmental activities for the sake of those famous twins, "economy and efficiency," but the point is that no democrats or republicans can be made to agree on just how this feat should be accomplished. The budget bureau which has been given the job of working out a plan for re-organization of the whole structure is probably in better position than any other agency to know what departments duplicate the work of other departments. With all the talk of consolidation the only changes thus far have been to place the bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection service in the commerce department and move the rado division of the department of commerce over to the federal radio commission.

WHEN HUEY LONG of Louisiana arrived in Washington to take his seat in the senate his housing was taken lightly. However, his act in bowling over within two years both of Louisiana's veteran democratic senators, Ransdell and Broussard, has made him the center of attention. Democratic leaders now acknowledge that the self-styled "Kingfish" has to be reckoned with from now on. His prominence in the Roosevelt campaign is resented by many prominent democrats, and yet should the presidential pendulum swing democratic in November they believe he will be one of the powers behind the Roosevelt throne in Washington.

Wandering From This to That

Careless at Crossings
Only about three-fourths of all motorists are reasonably careful at railroad crossings.

This statement is based on a study made at the instance of the American Railway association by sixty-five railroads over an eight-hour period at 282 crossings in forty-seven states.

Of the automobile operators observed in the study, 74 per cent were reasonably careful, reducing speed, heeding signals and looking in both directions for trains; twelve per cent were on the borderline between care and lack of care and fourteen per cent would be classed as definitely careless.

Milk Maid Champion
Because of proficiency at the grand old art of milking, Miss Catharine Baltz of Joliet, Ill., has been declared the 1932 Pure Milk Association Milk Maid Champion, with a record of 18.4 pounds of milk in three minutes, made at the Milk county picnic on August 20.

The record, however, made by the 1931 champion, Miss Lorraine Jennings, still stands, at being 20.4 pounds. Miss Baltz will be presented with a fitted, over-night case as the milk maid prize winner in the Chicago milk shed. Miss Baltz competed with milk maids in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, where records were established at the various district picnics held by the Pure Milk association throughout the summer.

Puncture Vine Near Chicago
A plant with hard sharp burrs which puncture automobile tires, and which in other localities where it has appeared has spread rapidly enough to become a serious pest, has invaded the Chicago region. It was announced today at Field Museum of Natural History.

The plant is known by the appropriate name "puncture vine," and in California where it is especially abundant has become a problem requiring the expenditure of about $150,000 a year of state funds in a vain attempt at extermination.

That this plant may add to the many difficulties already confronting automobile drivers of the Chicago area is evidenced by specimens found growing recently at near-by Clark, Indiana. These were discovered and picked by Miss Nellie V. Haynie of Oak Park who submitted them to Paul C. Standley, associate curator of the herbarium, at Field Museum.

The new menace to automobile tires is a small creeping plant of innocent enough appearance, says Mr. Standley, but beneath its leaves are hard, but have already been the cause of much annoyance and expense to motorists in various other regions. These burrs, although small, have several projecting spines almost as long and hard as tacks. One of these spines always projects upward no matter what position a burr lies in on the ground, and it is stiff enough to penetrate tire casings, where it remains

National Economy

A group of nationally prominent citizens headed by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd have organized the National Economy League which will seek "to receive and restore the American principle of representative government for the common good, and to secure the elimination of wasteful or unjustifiable governmental expenditures, federal, state and local."

Ex-President Coolidge has advised Admiral Byrd of his hearty cooperation in the purposes of the new organization and he has become chairman of its national advisory council whose membership includes former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Newton D. Baker, Elihu Root, General John J. Pershing and Admiral William S. Sims.

The League seeks the elimination of the growing annual expenditures by the federal government, already in excess of $450,000,000 for benefits to veterans of the Spanish and World Wars who suffered no disabilities through war service. This expenditure is in addition to and entirely apart from "bonus" payments. The elimination of it will in no way interfere with a national policy of just and liberal treatment of veterans actually disabled in war service, or of the dependents of those who died in the service of their country, which policy the League vigorously supports.

Status of the Gibbon

A gibbon is any of several apes constituting the genus Hylobates. They are the lowest of the anthropoid apes and the smallest and most perfectly arboreal in habits of that group. Their arms are very long and they have distinct ischial callosities, but no tail or cheek pouches. They are found in southeastern Asia and the East Indies. A number of species or varieties are known as the siamang, wau-wau and hoolock.

Famous Writer's Home

The home of Sir Walter Scott, the novelist, stands on the south bank of the Tweed, two miles west of Melrose, so named because the abbots of Melrose forded the Tweed at this spot. It has become a veritable museum of historical curios and personal relics of the great Scottish writer and is visited by many "Scott lovers" every summer.

The Bears will play the Elgin Merchants in a return game at Elgin. The Merchants are still mounting under the 6 to 3 loss charged them by the Bears several weeks ago, and this will be a "grudge game" in which the winner takes all.

Bill Ehler, a former minor league star who played with the Bears Sunday, will also be with them against the Merchants. Ehler, who lives near Barrington, formerly played with the Merchants and is anxious to play against his former teammates.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

ON the night of November 1753, Washington was glad to see his friend, Lord Fairfax, ride unexpectedly into camp at Wills Creek, now Cumberland, Maryland, on U. S. Route 50. The titled Old Britisher had come to spend the night with the boy who was about to plunge into the wilderness on a doubtful mission. As they sat in silence before a crackling fire, rain and snow fell outside their shelter. At last, the old lord, knocking the ashes from his pipe, remarked: "Dinwiddie was a fool to send a boy on a mission like this." Washington said nothing.

By James W. Brooks

ELEVEN days later, November 24, Washington and his aides reached Logstown, near the present town of Beaver, Pennsylvania. Here he met an Indian known as Half King, who drew on birch bark a plan of French forts "five sleeps" distant, illustrating by drawing up his blanket five times as if in preparation for slumber.

AGAINST biting winds and snow, accompanied by Half King, White Thunder and two other chiefs, Washington and his staff rode into Venango on December 4, 1753. Here he was entertained at supper and afterward set down in his diary that he had never had better cause to be thankful for his sobriety. Wine and brandy loosened French tongues as to their intention to seize and hold the country.

WASHINGTON had arrived at Le Boeuf on the 12th. On the 14th he was handed a sealed reply to Governor Dinwiddie, and two days later, he embarked upon a perilous return, accompanied by his aides and the reluctant Half King who was loath to part with French liquors.

Warren High School to Play
Here in Season's First Conference Game

By pushing the ball over the line in the first and last quarters the Barrington high school Bronchos 12 to 0 in a non-conference football game at Melleny Saturday. It was the first game of the season for both teams, and the playing throughout the game was fast. Although several Barrington lineemen were playing their first game, they exhibited flashes of power which indicate prospects of a continuously strengthening line as the season progresses. The back field was fortified by a number of let-termen, and it displayed more speed, experience and organization than the line.

Melleny scored in the first quarter as the result of a big gain made by a punt in the fourth quarter by an off tackle play, in both cases failing to make the extra point.

The Barrington Seconds shut out the Melleny team 6 to 0 when they scored on a pass from Taylor to Eilers.

The local squad has been getting daily scrimmage workouts this week in preparation for its first conference game with Warren high school on the local field Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock. The game will be the first to be played on the new gridiron at the North Side park.

Locals Go to Elgin Sunday to Play "Grudge Game"
With Merchants

Playing perfect ball behind the line pitching of Ellis who allowed only four scattered hits, Gilberts defeated the Bears 3 to 0 Sunday at the local park. Taking advantage of every break, including several errors and two fly balls that were lost in the wind and dropped for hits, the visitors scored in the first, second and sixth innings. The Bears were thoroughly stumped by the pitching of Ellis and at no time threatened to score.

The hitting of Beck, Sohr and Stumpt were features of the game. Sheehan, back in the lineup after a month's absence, displayed his old time-lasting eye, driving out two hits in three times up.

Next Sunday the Bears will play the Elgin Merchants. In a return game at Elgin. The Merchants are still mounting under the 6 to 3 loss charged them by the Bears several weeks ago, and this will be a "grudge game" in which the winner takes all.

Gieske Hurling
for Salem Loses
Only One Game

Eddie Gieske, pitching for the Salem Evangelical church's softball team, won considerable credit for the team's success by bringing the team 14 victories out of 15 games played.
The one defeat was at the opening of the season when the team of the Jewel Tea Co. Inc. scored a 9 to 6 victory over the Salem team, but a few weeks later they retaliated with a 7 to 5 victory. Twice during the season Gieske pitched shutout games, a feat that is rarely accomplished in softball playing. When the Salem team defeated the Methodist team 3 to 0 Gieske had 15 strike outs and allowed only two hits.

A complete list of the Salem team's scores follows:

Peacock Throne Marvel
of Oriental Magnificence

The marble and gold palace of Delhi, in India, peeped at many tourist parties, but its wonderful
"Peacock Throne" many years ago, but the legend of its grandeur survives and is accepted as indicative of the splendor of the rajahs, much of which survives to dazzle the visitor from foreign lands.

The peacock throne was so called from its having the figures of two peacocks of gold and silver standing behind it, their tails expanded, and the whole so inlaid with sapphires, rubies, emeralds, pearls and other precious stones of appropriate colors as to represent life.

The throne itself was six feet long and four feet wide; it stood on six massive feet which, with the body were of solid gold inlaid with sapphires, emeralds and diamonds. It was surmounted by a canopy of gold supported by 12 pillars all richly embellished with costly gems and a fringe of pearls ornamented the border. Between the two peacocks stood the figure of a parrot, said to have been carved out of a single emerald.

The throne was taken away by Nadir Shah to Persia as loot, and was last heard of in Teheran, where presumably most of it was melted down. Its estimated value was $6,500,000, that is, $24,050,000.

Salem Team Nips
St. Paul 4 to 2
in Softball Final

Salem Church Team Wins 14
Out of 15 Games for Season's Record

The Barrington Softball league brought another season to a close Friday night when the Salem team defeated the St. Paul team by a score of 4 to 2. By losing the game the St.
Paul boys are moved back a few points in the league's standing and are no longer the sole occupants of third place, but they now share that position with the Methodist team.

The Salem slugs took an undiputed first place, having won 14 out of 15. Salem's only defeat came early in the season when the Jewel outfit gave them a 10 to 7 setback.
St. Anne's took second place, St. Paul and Methodist tied for third, and the Jewel and Baptist teams trail at the bottom.

The present season has been one of the best for the Softball league. The games on the diamonds in the Russell Street Park playground have been well attended even up to the end of the season. The league has been functioning for several years and has been sponsored by the Young People's Christian commission, of which Rev.
Milton S. Freeman has been counselor during the past year. Cooperating with Rev. Freeman was the league's manager, Durand Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman's keen interest and enthusiastic support have been considered an important factor in the local club's success.

The final standing in the league's 1932 season follows:

| Team       | W. | L. | Per. |
|------------|----|----|------|
| Salem      | 14 | 1  | .933 |
| St. Anne's | 10 | 5  | .667 |
| St. Paul   | 7  | 8  | .467 |
| Methodist  | 7  | 8  | .467 |
| Jewel      | 5  | 10 | .333 |
| Baptist    | 2  | 13 | .133 |

Cave-Picture Galleries

Unique in Art History
In the heart of the Indian jungle lies a narrow gorge containing the caves of Ajanta, cave-picture galleries unique in the history of art.
They are adorned with paintings, which are in no wise inferior to the frescoes in the tombs of the kings of Egypt.

European art work seems the creation of yesterday when compared with the productions of Asia. Besides the frescoes at Ajanta, for example, the age of the so-called "old masters" of Europe fades into insignificance, as the latest Ajanta paintings were completed hundreds of years before the Fourteenth century Flemish and Italian artists commenced to paint.

The frescoes may be divided into narrative scenes, portraiture and decoration, and the illustrations of incidents in the life of Buddha perforce take pride of place. The birth of Gautama, his "Great Renunciation" when he abandoned family and wealth, his enlightenment after resisting the powers of darkness—all these episodes may be traced in the paintings and sculpture at Ajanta. The portraits include representations of Buddhas and Bodhisattvas—Buddhas of the future—in addition to figures of the Brahmanic deities.

The court life of the period also is depicted.

Where Land Is Costly

The extraordinary price at which land is sold in the best parts of London is illustrated by the recent sale of a tiny piece of land in Mayfair. The section measured only 10,200 square feet, less than half an acre, and fetched £38,000, a little more than $1 (815) a square foot.
In some parts of England land is being sold at five shillings a foot frontage.—Exchange.

Ancient Pattern Found

Pieces of cloth and a "twin pattern" for a patchwork quilt, 200 years old, were found in a drawer built in the wall of an old Colonial house at South Dennis, Mass.

Relief Committee Plans House to House Campaign

Funds for Needy Will Be Raised in Drive During October

A house to house canvass for funds, similar to the drives conducted in Barrington in 1930 and 1931, will be undertaken by the Barrington Relief Committee in October, the members decided at a meeting held Friday night.

The Barrington Woman's club and the Legion Auxiliary will be asked to take charge of the campaign work. According to the preliminary plans, the village of Barrington will be laid out according to districts, and workers will be assigned to each street. Every house and every business in the village will be so-called house to house. The committee will undertake the difficult task of raising $2000 this year for local relief work in spite of the fact that the local contributions last year totaled somewhat less than $1500. The committee expects a more difficult job this year because of the higher cost and because many residents will be unable to donate as much as they did last year. On the other hand, the committee reasons, the demand for relief will be greater than it was a year ago.

In addition to soliciting the local residents for funds, the committee will solicit rural residents for donations of fruit, vegetables, etc. Both rural and village residents will be asked to contribute old clothes and blankets.

A very systematic plan has been worked out for distributing the funds. The plan, among the newly Order of the Eastern Star, will be to designate the kinds of food and other merchandise, the quality and quantity. The recipients will take these orders to local stores and have them filled out without any choice as to quantity and quality. The merchants filling the orders will also be restricted according to the orders.

During the coming year every-able bodied man will have to work for the food, fuel, etc., handed out to himself and his family. For each $3 or more he receives he will have to put in one full day of work for the village, either in the school district, or a man receiving a $9 order for coal will have to do three full days' work, and a man receiving a $8 order for food will have to do two full days' work.

The committee is contemplating use of a vacant "rent free" office in the downtown district for headquarters—a place to do the clerical work and in which to store the donated clothing, etc.

Dentist's Finger
Nearly Cut Off in Strange Accident

Dr. F. W. Lindberg, Barrington dentist, was, painfully and severely injured in an unusual accident on Main street Sunday morning, when a ring on his right hand caught on a passing automobile, nearly cutting off the finger and causing him to be thrown to the pavement.

Dr. Lindberg had started to cross the street but waited for a car driven by Warren Meyer to pass. He was waving to Mr. Meyer, but as he stepped onto the ring on the third finger of his right hand caught on the bumper of the car and dropped to the pavement when the ring slipped from the finger. Mr. Meyer immediately stopped the automobile.

The finger was cut through the bone. The pavement and he received other bruises.

Although he was given treatment soon afterwards, it is not known yet whether he will lose the finger.
