Nimrods War on Pheasants Here as Season Opens

Barrington Farms Protected From Invasion of Out- side Hunters

Thursday—the opening day of the pheasant season—brought a large influx of hunters from Chicago to Barrington and surrounding territories and proved to be a disastrous day for Mr. Cock Pheasant. If he showed himself too much in public, however, it was the consensus of local nimrods who tramped through cornfields and brush throughout the day that the bird was playing a pretty good game of elusion. Several hunters reported getting their quota of 10 for the day.

The public speaking classes at the high school made their first appearance of the year Monday night when they held a debate on the question "Resolved that the Prohibition Amendment Should Be Repealed."

Last of Mundein Bank Burglars Is Arrested in South

Lake County Sheriff Denied Prisoner; Liquor Found in Officer's Car

Confessing to his part in the Mundein State bank robbery, Floyd "Whitey" Fullbright, last week lay on a cot in Onondaga, N. Y., jail, and told Sheriff Milton Coverdale, of Monroe, N. Y., that he participated in nine bank robberies through the middle west.

Fullbright is held in Louisiana for the murder of a deputy sheriff at Baskin, La., where the officer was killed last spring following a bank robbery. His companion in the crime, Wilbur Beardsley, who also took part in the Mundein bank robbery, is serving a life sentence in prison in Louisiana.

At Mundein, Fullbright said the loot totaled $10,000. He confessed to robberies at Delavan, Wis., $6,500; Milton Junction, Wis., $5,500; and Kington, in McHenry county, $3,000.

Taken in Kentucky
Fullbright was arrested in Paducah, Ky., early in the week and Sheriff Lester T. Tiffany and a squad went there to take the prisoner to Waukegan at the request of the Paducah sheriff. When he arrived, Tiffany said, the sheriff refused him the prisoner and indicated that he would go to Louisiana because a greater reward was offered there.

As a climax Tiffany's car was searched by federal prohibition agents and liquor found in it. Thomas Dolin, or Dolan, admitted ownership of the liquor and was held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $500. The officials were released. The identity of Dolin has remained a matter of speculation here since the arrest.

Fullbright and Beardsley had three companions when they twice robbed the Mundein State bank. All three were sent to prison from here to serve a term of one year to life.

Game Wardens Help Hunters Make Ducks' Life Tough

Sportsmen are to get the benefit of all available information regarding prospects for duck hunting during the present season. Ralph H. Bradford, director of the state department of conservation, has announced each Wednesday during the duck season, game wardens along the rivers are to report the outlook for the following week-end period to Springfield. A summary of the information will then be issued to interested newspapers, according to the plans worked out by Director Bradford. The initial weekly bulletin, issued October 28, foretold that as soon as the weather turns cold, hunting will be much better than it was last season.

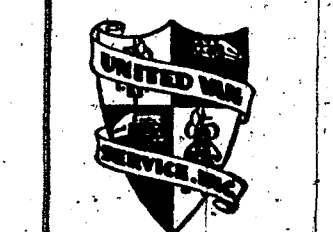

Can Borrow From R. F. C. for Job Creating Work

The measure passed by the legislature authorizing political subdivisions to sell securities to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to finance self-liquidating projects has been signed by Governor Louis L. Emmerson. The bill is intended to provide for job-producing public works on which preference could be given workers with dependents. The governor has also signed the bill which extends the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission to July 1, 1933, and makes the auditor, treasurer and finance director ex-officio members.

This will be the highest yield per acre since the 1925 record yield of forty-two bushels. Due to advance development, most of the state corn crop was safe from frost by September 20, the agencies reported.

Expect Display of Plymouth Six Cars by Nov. 17

The new Plymouth Six, announced by Walter P. Chrysler in Detroit recently, will be formally announced within the next few days after which time a complete line of cars will be on display in the showroom of the Standard Motor Co., according to R. Dwyer, local Chrysler and Plymouth dealer. He expects his display by November 17.

Bearing the lowest price by far ever placed on a Chrysler motor car, the new Plymouth Six is reported to be the most sensational motor car of the past few years.

"Mr. Chrysler, in his statement recently, indicated that for the first time since the original Chrysler car was built in 1924, the corporation started out with practically a new set of manufacturing facilities, embodying the most improved methods and machinery ever utilized in the industry. The Plymouth plant has been completely re-organized to take full advantage of the tremendous advances that have been made in machine design and manufacturing methods during the past few years," according to Mr. Dwyer.

Stating that a most intensive study has been made of the likes of American motorists—particularly those who are interested in a low priced car—and that the new Plymouth Six is designed to meet all the requirements of this great potential market, Mr. Dwyer commended the business faith of Mr. Chrysler in the buying power of this country.

"The huge investment made in this new Plymouth Six," said Mr. Dwyer, "speaks for itself. Already more than $1,000,000 has been expended in design and experimental engineering and in re-tooling the Plymouth plant in Detroit. In addition, commitments for materials, affecting thousands of workmen in allied industries, run into tens of millions."

"The new Plymouth Six, according to Mr. Dwyer, will be a full-sized automobile. It will be outstanding in performance and will be economical in operating cost. The new six is all the comfort and convenience features of cars selling in the much higher priced brackets. It has stylish, extremely smart lines and has nothing of the 'cheap-car' look."

"Details of the car's specifications, the announcement date itself and prices of the various body models will be announced soon," it was stated by Mr. Dwyer.

Redistricting Can Go Ahead Is Supreme Court Ruling

A recent decision of the supreme court at Washington that the federal law of 1911 regulating congressional redistricting is dead, releases the state of Illinois from the only legal obstacle to redistricting as attempted by the last legislature. Congressional reapportionment was enacted by the fifty-seventh Illinois general assembly, but before the apportionment became operative, Judge Edward D. Shurtliff ruled that it contravened the federal act of 1911.

Can Not Set Minimum Wage Scale—Carlstrom

The state department of purchases and construction does not have the right or power to fix a minimum wage scale to be paid by contractors on the Illinois waterway, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has advised Director Henry Kohn. The question arose when the department asked contractors to submit their wage scale with bids received in September for the construction of a bridge over the waterway at Joliet.

Large Crop of Rabbits Reported in Illinois

A healthy crop of rabbits is now fattening upon the plains of Illinois. Frequently devastated by epidemics of rabbit fever, a contagious disease that may be transmitted from rabbits to humans, rabbits this year appear to be relatively free from the disease, according to a statement issued by the state department of public welfare.

The state department of purchases and construction does not have the right or power to fix a minimum wage scale to be paid by contractors on the Illinois waterway, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has advised Director Henry Kohn. The question arose when William McGregor, accompanied by a brother and wife called on friends in Wauconda Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schroeder were callers at Libertyville Saturday.

Building in Chicago Area After September Spurt Declines Before Election

Perhaps political ballyhoo in the month preceding the presidential election may be blamed for the slump in permits for building in the Chicago suburban region. As any one who has must be required that after increasing substantially for two months in succession, the amount of these permits has again declined. The system of see-sawing up one month and down the next, which the record of 1932 shows, was broken by September when which continued the upward climb following the large increase in August. Homes that October would also show a rise give way to the actual figures indicating a loss of 22 per cent as compared with the previous month. The September total for the region was $206,151, that of October only $198,003.

October is, however, by no means the worst month of this year for the permits issued greatly exceed those of January, February, March, May and July and equal those of June. Individual communities in October made worthwhile gains over September and over October of last year. The most striking of these is that of Evanston. In September its permits amounted to $55,750 and in October to $101,000, a gain of 24 per cent. The Evanston figures for October of this year also compare favorably with October of 1931, $142,250, the gain being 35 per cent.

The total permits for October of this year amount to less than half of those for October last year, which reached $1,063,290. It is heartening to note, however, that the October record is better than the average month of 1932. For while October permits amounted to only one-half of those for the corresponding month of last year, building in 1932 is to and including November is less than one-fifth as good as it was last year. The total suburban figures for October, 1932 inclusive, amount to $4,334,826. The same ten months of 1931 produced to $21,800,492.

Comments of the building commissioners indicate that home garages are springing up like mushrooms in the prairie communities. Everybody seems to think this a good time to build a garage for the old bus or perhaps, the new. Chas. M. Nichol, village clerk of Downers Grove, writes, "The new buildings are all private garages. Frank Eiselt, building commissioner of Berwyn lists 10 permits, all for garages. A. J. Nichol, building inspector of Elgin reports 9 permits for garages. F. E. Schacht, superintendent of public works of West Chicago mentions three home garages. Besides the commissioners who specifically indicated that most for all of their permits were for garages, the figures of 12 to 25 other communities show many small items which probably represent garages.

The building commissioners of Villa Park, Robert L. McKee, writes that the vacant houses of that community are being filled by apartment dwellers from Chicago and considers this a good sign. Chas. S. Crow, of Homewood, is also optimistic and expresses an encouraging outlook for November. Detailed figures of the Bureau cur-

ENVY COOK COUNTY?

What motive have the supervisors of DuPage county in asking the state legislature to repeal that law which to a great extent is responsible for keeping the other counties of Illinois out of the tax muddle into which Cook county has sunk?

Believe it or not, the Wheaton boys have actually sent a resolution to Springfield urging that the citizens be deprived of their right to be informed of the annual and quadrennial assessment returns in their own communities. They want repeal of that protecting law which now requires publication of the assessment rolls in all counties of the state except Cook county. Their argument for this request is "economy."

The Cook county situation has proved that failure to publish the assessment rolls benefits one class in particular—that class of crooked politicians, already too large. When public assessors in counties outside of Cook attempt to raise the total property assessment they almost immediately encounter a storm of protests. In Cook county the increases can be made and the damage done before the public finds out about it.

Why any supervisor in DuPage county should want to drag his county into the same leaky boat with Cook is beyond the ready understanding of thinking persons. The legislature should enact a law to force the assessment board and county commissioners of Cook county to take the property owners into their confidence rather than repeal a law which now protects property owners in other counties against the sins of suppression.

Thinking men and women now realize that Cook county's shameful assessment boosts of 1927 and 1928, which have since stagnated tax collection in the county, could never have been made if the assessment lists had been published there as they have been in other counties. High and inequitable assessments are immediately brought to light by proper publication of the assessment rolls with the result that property owners are given an opportunity to put a brake on unwarranted increases and iron out inequalities.

The democrats won the national election after conducting a clean campaign. They simply rode in on the crest of discontent without throwing any unusually muddy pies. The fact to consider is that the democrats won the election and will control the national affairs for two or four years and possibly longer. The country should give the new president and congress its full co-operation while insisting on greater economies and constructive administration of affairs.

According to Einstein the universe is 10,000,000,000 years old. What interesting information this should be to those who seem to think that nothing happened in the world until the stock market went floozy the "fall" of 1929.

TORN PAPER from election night

celebrations are the reminders today that another presidential campaign show has folded the tents and passed into history of bitter controversy. Speculation now turns to the aftermath of the election on party spirit and morale. What eludes will grow out of the long wrangling? What mischievous cabals are in the making on both sides of the political fence? Despite the sensational claims and counterclaims in the turmoil of electioneering, well-informed economists and financiers do not believe that the let-down in public policy questions will react to the detriment of the nation. Already notices have been given of continued and expensive water-beding continuing with huge and usually futile investigations. The defeated incumbents are preparing to wind up their affairs here for a quiet exit from the hectic life of political Washington into comparative oblivion.

READING SIGNS of change, or organized government employees are preparing to resist all efforts to force additional cuts in salaries. The bipartisan movement to effect economies to public expenditure gained momentum during the elections. The subject was a live issue in many congressional districts where the voters were harassed by excessive taxation and an income reduced or wiped out by unemployment. The failure of one employee's group to stand off the reductions in pay last summer when federal employees salaries were slashed about eight per cent brought about a rival combine with the same objectives. The taxpayers' associations are concentrating on the elimination of duplicated services and the free hand spending of the government agencies. At the next session the veteran relief work covering all wars will be given special scrutiny.

DEPRECIATED CURRENCY will probably exercise more influence on tariff changes than political factors. Developments indicate quite clearly that the tariff is essentially an economic problem. There are political considerations which occasionally control tariff-making. In recent years it has been difficult to draw a line of demarcation between the two major parties when tariffs were voted in congress. The world economic conference next month will rivet public attention on foreign trade and its effect on the revival of business. The rate of exchange in Canada at present is a particularly bothersome matter for American exporters. One of the purposes of the forthcoming international meeting is to devise means of restoring or maintaining currencies. It is the age-old story of "how much will your dollar buy?"

THE CHEERFUL NEWS of the week is the statement of the American Federation of Labor that "unemployment in industry has not increased since July." The labor groups insist that the main problem of recovery is distribution. "Industry is paralyzed," they contend, "because we have not succeeded in distributing what we produce." The Federation is interested in putting men back to work and increasing wages as a method of helping the buying power of the people.

THE ABSENCE of President Hoover from the white house again brings to the fore Rudolph Forrester, veteran executive clerk. Forrester has served under many presidents. He is in direct touch with presidential secretaries by special wires—a communication system closely protected to insure secrecy. No matter how far a chief magistrate may wander from the official residence he is never out of touch. Not in recent years has there been as "acting president."

Caruso Sings Again

Almost exactly seventeen years ago, the possessor of the greatest voice the world has ever known walked into a phonograph recording studio to make a record. On this day, Caruso sang the "Vesti la giubba" aria from the "Pagliacci." He sang with all the intensity of his warm and vital personality; he sang, forgetting the groaning horn that faced him, forgetting the fantastic musical instruments that surrounded him; forgetting all but this poor clown, this tragic-comic figure, this bewildered Canio with whom all the world had laughed and wept. And Caruso made the song as deathless as he himself is. But the record, judged by today's standard, was only a feeble miniature of that mighty voice. Since the first electrical recording, it has been a dream of engineers to revive Caruso's voice with its brilliance and power. Stubbornly, they have clung to the hope that, coiled within the grooves of those old Caruso records, lay more of the real Caruso voice than has ever been revealed. For 11 years they tried—and a month ago they succeeded. By new methods bordering on necromancy, the Caruso voice has been restored, on record, to the power, the brilliance, quality and expressiveness that it would have if the great singer were alive today. A modern orchestra of flesh-and-blood musicians furnishes a rich background to a voice that has been stilled for eleven years. Vocally Caruso lives and breathes and sings again—a testimonial to the resourcefulness and genius of present day technicians.

Find Hybrid Oak

Specimens of a new hybrid oak found at Willow Springs, Ill., have been presented to the department of botany at Field Museum of Natural History by the discoverer, O. M. Schantz of Berwyn, Ill. The hybrid is a cross between the bur oak and the white oak, according to Paul C. Standley, associate curator of the museum's herbarium. The foliage, although abnormal, resembles that of the bur oak, and the acorns are intermediate between those of the two species.

Natural hybrids between species of plants, or at least forms generally recognized as such by botanists, are not common in the United States," says Mr. Standley. "Among those whose hybrid origin is almost unanimously admitted are certain abnormal oak trees that are clearly intermediate in character between well-marked and closely related oak species. The new one found by Mr. Schantz has been named in his honor by Dr. William Trelease of the University of Illinois. The oak hybrids usually occur as isolated individuals, only a single tree being known for some. A few have been propagated artificially, and one of them is designated as a shade tree in Washington, D. C."

Big 4-H Show

Boys and girls of rural America are looking forward to the climax of their many sectional and state contests and demonstrations which occurs in Chicago each year the week after Thanksgiving at the National Boys and Girls club congress. Their congress will be held in connection with the world's largest live stock show, the International Live Stock exposition, which will be in progress at the Chicago stock yards November 26 to December 3. A thousand 4-H boys and girls from 43 states will take part this year. Exhibits will be on view from 43 states. The thousand picked boys and girls who will meet at the 1932 club congress will be state and district winners among the 950,000 farm boys and girls of America who are now occupied in some form of 4-H club work. The contestants are between the ages of 10 and 20 years.

Barrington Team
Plays Final Game
of Season FridayCoach Clark's Gridders Hope to Upset Dope and Beat Cardinals

The entire Barrington squad has been working hard all week with one desire uppermost in their thoughts: to defeat the Hawks in the final game of the season played at the Barrington Athletic Association. They know that they have a hard assignment ahead of them for the Cardinals have lost only one game this year and that was to Libertyville a score of 13 to 6. Coach Clark has a good line and a flashy backfield. Red Koelling, provides the power and the kicking while the two backs and Hauff, the other backs, are all dash men on the track team. The Bronchos line will have to stand these sprinters before they get started around end to take. Coach Clark's will be hard to take. Coach Clark's boys felt encouraged over their showing against Libertyville and they feel they can give Hawks a real battle. The two schools have had many close contests. Last year they played a scoreless tie in the mud. Two years ago Barrington won by a point on Grabenhorst's field goal. Three years ago the Cardinals won from Barrington but the game of a year before that resulted in a Maroon victory. Sport Favorites Shown in Picture at Catlow Sunday

"Madison Square Garden" Has Large Cast; Political Comedy Wednesday

"Night After Night," the first film presenting George Raft as the masculine lead will play The Catlow theatre Saturday night.

Raft, who skyrocketed to sudden fame through small parts in "Scarface," enacts the role of the proprietor of a swank Manhattan speakeasy in the film which is based on Louis Bromfield's novel, "Single Night."

Constance Cummings, Wynne Gibson, Mae West and Allison Skipworth have other important roles.

The entire action of the film is set in the speakeasy.

"Madison Square Garden," a rapid-moving drama set against the kaleidoscopic background of political, social and athletic life, has been booked for The Catlow theatre for Sunday and Monday night. Jack Oakie, Thomas Meighan, Marian Nixon, Warren Hymer, William Collier, Sr., William Boyd and John Pits head the cast.

Like "Grand Hotel," "Union Depot," and other films set against a single background, "Madison Square Garden" concerns itself with the lives of the various people who meet under its roof, and the results that follow their meeting.

The vivid panoramic view of the Garden's ever-changing activities is held together by the story of a manager who brings two proteges to New York and "The Garden," their meeting with two girl telegraph operators, and their adaptation of themselves to the new life. Collier plays the role of the manager; Hymer and Oakie are his proteges; Miss Nixon and Miss Pitts are the girls.

In addition to the screen luminaries, the cast of the picture includes such old-time sports favorites as Ray Johnson, Tom Sharkey, Tommy Ryan, Mike Donlin, Billy Papke, and Stanislaus Zyzako; and such noted newspaper sports writers as Grant-land Rice, Jack Lait, Damon Runyon, Ed. W. Smith, Westbrook Pegler and Paul Gallico. Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes are also in the cast.

"A Passport to Hell," the new Fox dramatic picture featuring Elison Landi in the leading role, comes to The Catlow theatre next Tuesday night.

The story depicts the adventures of a beautiful woman whose heart is filled with bitterness and hate. She pretends to love the man she marries until she is for the first time in her life, touched by real love. How destiny works out her problem forms the basis of this romantic drama.

The picture is played against a background of tropical Africa and an atmosphere of war, though no scenes of conflict other than the conflict of emotions, form a part of the action.

Serious aspects of the recent presidential campaign are lightened by "The Phantom President," political comedy featuring George M. Cohan, Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Durante, coming to The Catlow theatre, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of next week.

The picture deals with a presidential campaign of its own, in which a candidate otherwise apparently fitted for office, seems certain of losing the election because of his lack of personality. When a "double" for him with the required amount of personal appeal is discovered, and hired to pose for him, it appears that his election is certain.

Without Amendment State Income Tax Is Invalid

Illinois cannot have an income tax law, under its present constitution, the state supreme court has held in declaring invalid the act of the first special session of the legislature this year. The court affirmed a ruling handed down in the Sangamon circuit court by Judge Jesse Brown of Madison county, before whom the test case was argued. The supreme court says that a tax on income is a tax on property and violates Section 1, Article 9, of the state constitution requiring property tax to be imposed uniformly. It was also held that the act violated the fourteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States.

Agricultural Fair for High Schools Will Be Held at Dundee Saturday

An agricultural fair of grain and poultry participated in by 22 high schools, vocational agricultural departments will be held in the Dundee Community high school building on Saturday, Nov. 12, lasting all day. Marshall G. Clark, agricultural instructor at Dundee, manager of the fair, is expecting close to one thousand entries in grains and poultry exhibits.

This will be the Second Annual vocational agricultural fair of grain and poultry products held in the northeastern section of the state. All products exhibited will be those raised by students of vocational agriculture in high school classes in agriculture. The corn show, one of the most attractive features of the fair, will be divided into two sections, comprising northern division and a southern division; the two sections will judge separately. Poultry will be exhibited by breeds, with classes for single cockerels, single pullets, and a small pen consisting of one cockerel and two pullets. Cash prizes will be offered in addition to ribbons to the award winners in all classes.

Prominent judges will place the entries beginning at 10 o'clock. A tournament of indoor baseball games will be played by the boys exhibiting products during the fair. The exhibits will be open to the public all day, free of charge, and will constitute one of the largest displays of grain and poultry products shown in this section of the state.

$100,000 of Lake County Money is Voted for Relief

Board Diverts Gas Tax Funds, Country Supervisors Oppose $200,000 Proposal

A sum of $100,000 will be diverted from Lake county's share of the relief tax into the county's poor relief fund, most of which will be needed for relief work in Waukegan and other lake shore cities.

After an all day session in which the county supervisors of the west part of the county, were lined up against those of Waukegan, Shields and Deerfield townships, in a concerted effort to stop a plan for diverting $200,000 for relief, the board agreed on the compromise amount.

Aid is now being given to 2230 families in Waukegan, Zion and Benton townships from the Illinois Emergency Relief commission funds. Lake county has $100,000 assigned to Lake county for the completion was completely exhausted Tuesday, according to Theodore Bloch, chairman of the central relief committee.

Approve Appropriation

The supervisors approved the $100,000 appropriation after an all day session at which all members of the county committee appeared to urge the county committee to carry for an ample supply of funds to carry for the poor. Leo Lyons of Rockford, temporarily in Lake county in behalf of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, filed in the appeal for funds, which of the motor fuel tax refund for relief must be approved by resolution. Lyons told the supervisors, "All local funds must be exhausted before the commission will further aid here," he said.

Bloch related the activities of the county committee with funds assigned by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. He stated that assistance to the poor was given through the masters of the townships. He said the records showed that 2000 in Waukegan, 175 in Zion, and 65 in Benton township received aid from the money assigned the county.

Suggest Pro Rating

Various other townships, according to members of the board, aided their unemployed through private agencies. The rural supervisors asserted that they wanted the board appropriation to be pro rated.

These supervisors from the farm districts favored the use of the funds for road improvements because in the farm districts there is little poor relief problem to be met.

At present Lake county has $379,201 in gas tax funds at Springfield. This fund comes from gas taxes paid up to August 1, and approximately $48,000 has been added to this total since that time by the gas taxes paid since August 1.

Under the plans approved by the board of supervisors, $33,333 will be used for relief in the entire county each month until February 15. The present law permits the diversion of gas tax refunds for poor relief until July 15.

Edward Popp Receives Cut Under Eye From Crank As Auto Engine Backfires

Local Man Given Decision in Civil Case in Wisconsin

A jury in the circuit court of Sheboygan county, Wis., recently rendered a unanimous verdict in favor of Edward E. Humbracht, well known cattle dealer of Barrington, in an action commenced against Mr. Humbracht by the Milwaukee Finance company of Milwaukee.

The finance company began an action to recover possession of an Auburn automobile which Mr. Humbracht had purchased from the Auburn company in Sheboygan. Mr. Humbracht bought the car on December 31, 1931, and used it for several months, when the finance company sued it, claiming that it had a conditional sales contract against the car, and that the Auburn company had no right to sell it to Mr. Humbracht.

The jury, in finding in favor of Mr. Humbracht, found that the finance company knew at all times that the automobile would be offered for sale by the Auburn company to the general public; and that Mr. Humbracht bought the car in good faith, without any notice of any lien against it on the part of the finance company, and in the regular course of business, and for value.

The case attracted considerable attention in Sheboygan, because it involved an unusual question of law regarding the right of persons to buy an article from a dealer who has been covered by a conditional sales contract which was properly recorded in the register of deeds office. Under the verdict of the jury Mr. Humbracht is entitled to the return of his car.
