

BRONCHOS PLACE EIGHT ON ALL-CONFERENCE TEAMS

It was learned that the all-conference football squads have been selected by the coaches of the Northwest Conference. Six Barrington gridiron stars were selected as members of the second eleven.

Three of four positions of the starting backfield are filled by Broncho athletes. Chuck Kranz was placed at fullback for the second year. Halfback position went to John Hansen, one of the best all-round players on the Barrington team, and Jim Frey was selected as quarterback. Shepplar of Grant earned the other spot in the backfield.

The entire right side of the Broncho line is on the all-conference teams. On the first team is Harold Foreman at center, Guy Armanetti at tackle, and Lonny Hicks at end. Jim McNichols completes this as second-string guard. Chuck Stoller represents the left side of the Barrington line at tackle on the second all-conference squad.

Armanetti, Frey, and McNichols have another year of football at B.H.S.

The entire all-conference team has not yet been revealed. Next week's Broncho will carry this information.

There will be pictures of these players and an article in the column "Mac Says" in next Friday's Palatine newspaper.

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES EXCEL

The freshman and sophomore classes deserve praise this ten weeks' period for the highest number of students making the honor roll. Each of these classes has sixteen honor roll students. The seniors follow close behind with fifteen, but the juniors have only nine.

To make the honor roll, a student must have an A or B standing in all his subjects and must carry a normal high school load.

All students maintaining this standing are listed below according to classes:

FRESHMEN

Duncan Aspinwall
 Edith Haffner
 David Heckmiller
 Barbara Holland
 Janet Kronenberger
 Phyllis Leonard
 June Moeller
 Robert Naylor
 Gordon Newman
 David Parmalee
 Jack Schwemm
 Kay Shepherd
 Marilyn Sorce
 Peter Sturtevant
 Saralu Thomas
~~Mary Edith Titterton~~

John Sproul
 Audrey Witte
 Janice Wood

JUNIORS

Donna Duerwachter
 James Frey
 Lois Heidke
 Vivian Jutzi
 Christopher Lasch
 Jane Meller
 James McNichols
 Janet Parmalee
 Joy Paulson

SENIORS

Patrick Carr
 Rita Hertzberg
 Theodore Huszagh
 Donald Jepps
 Wilton Kuffel
 Nancy Leonard

This list of fifty-six honor students compares extremely favorably with the first honor roll of last year, on which there were only thirty-four students.

BOTTOMLEY HOOGH SPEAKS

Elation has made her entrance in our school, and not unduly so. Our football team has made a lofty record. Optimism is now approaching our halls, carrying a basketball in his hand.

I like to think that teamwork, unselfish and whole hearted, is the factor that has elevated our athletic activities from mediocrity to supereminence.

This teamwork, however, must not prevail only in athletics. Who wants to see a one-sided B. H. S., a B. H. S. known only for her sports. To belong to a well-rounded high school, above par in everything, should be our goal. Our football team has set the example. Let us extend this praiseworthy teamwork into every activity in our school.

AN ALUMNUS DISCUSSES "BRONCHO" ARTICLES

In a recent letter Bob Seaver, an alumnus of B. H. S. and a junior at Harvard, commented on some articles that have appeared in the early issues of the Broncho this year. These comments are printed below.

Bob is known to many through his work with the play-reading group and the Barrington leisure-time program last summer.

"A number of items in the four Bronchos which come readily to hand impressed me very much. First among these are the Bottomley Hoogh series. In the main they are well written, and all of them have something to say. I think it especially good to have some series dealing with before college problems. Heaven knows they are treated lots, but I believe they never can be treated too much.

"Taking them in reverse order, the October 14 column on cheating I think was the best. But I think the main point was not emphasized enough--personal integrity and self-respect. Each time a person cheats, he loses another chance to prove himself to himself. It is another time when he will never know whether he might have been able to cope with the problem on his own, and he will always wish he did know, will always be haunted with the thought--maybe I couldn't; maybe I'm not bright. And if he keeps on that path, he never will know, either. He will never have a proof to look at and say--I can.

"The scholarship question is one which has interested me ever since I attended a Chicago Harvard Club meeting a year ago and learned from the discussion that the problem is not one of enough scholarships, but of overcoming the fear--yes, fear which so many seem to have of colleges and especially good ones. They feel that one must be a genius or a millionaire to go, and never try for the scholarships offered. Many do not even depend on scholastic standing. I know a man who is now in second-year law who came to Harvard on a scholarship established for people named Murphy. He was from Illinois.

"The third, of September 20, was a column

BRONCHOS ROMP OVER GRANT, 34-0 IN FINAL CONTEST

The Bronchos, Northwest Conference Champions, brought their most successful football season to a close on November 6 by trouncing the Grant Bulldogs at North Park.

The unscored on Barrington team had its closest shave when, in the final minutes of the game, Grant had the ball with a first down on the six yard line. However, the superior strength of the Broncho line once again was shown when Grant couldn't score in four plays. The Bulldogs had advanced into Broncho territory by virtue of a completed pass which covered 30 yards and placed the ball on Barrington's 16. A first down then took it to the six.

It didn't take long for the Barrington offensive machine to start rolling. On the second play of the game Kranz scampered 75 yards for a touchdown. He kicked the extra point, and the score was 7-0. This broke Grant's spirit for the moment, but the Bulldogs came back to give the Bronchos their toughest conference game, and even then it wasn't much of a challenge. Barrington picked up another touchdown in the first period, set up by a blocked punt. George Hansen and Baumann put the ball in position, and then Frey passed to Hick for 20 yards, and the score was 13-0. The conversion failed.

In the second quarter the Broncho attack was slowed down. No scoring took place, even though the ball was carried inside Grant's 15 three times. The Bronchos came back strong and tallied fourteen more points in the third quarter. With the Bronchos taking over on Grant's 40 yard stripe, Kranz and John Hansen ran 18 and 22 yards, respectively, Hansen scoring. Kranz's conversion was good and the score stood 20-0.

Beutel set up the fourth touchdown by recovering a fumble deep in enemy territory. Kranz carried the ball three times and J. Hansen once, the latter plunging for the score. The extra point was successful. Score: 27-0

BRONCHOS OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON WITH HEBRON

November 19 marks the opening of the 1948-49 basketball season for the Barrington Bronchos. Their opponents will be Hebron.

Everyone remembers Howard Judson, who made the All-State team several times for basketball while in high school and who now is in professional baseball. Two of Judson's brothers will be in Hebron uniforms, and speculation will be high as to whether the boys will be as good as their brother.

Another point of interest in this game is that Hebron is under the leadership of a new coach this year. Russ Ahern was the assistant coach at Elgin High School for eight years before going to Hebron.

It will be very interesting to note just how these factors will affect Hebron's attempt to avenge a beating at the hands of the Bronchos last year.

The contest will be held at Barrington. The Pony game begins at 7:15.

BRONCHOS BREAK INTO CHICAGO PAPERS

An item of a great deal of interest to Barrington football fans is the appearance of articles concerning the Northwest Conference Champions in the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Tribune.

In both papers the players, the team's record, and Coach Paul Fry were lauded. The Tribune emphasized the fact that the Bronchos rose from the cellar to the championship in one year. The News carried a picture of six senior players—Kranz, Hansen, Foreman, Hick, Baumann, and Tukey—and Coach Fry.

Good publicity is hard to get, but once received it is an asset to any organization. The publicity the football team has received has unquestionably helped the high school. The question now is whether or not we can maintain our good standing and prove that we deserve it.

FINAL BRONCHO STATISTICS COMPILED

With the completion of the current football season, the statistics have been compiled. Along with a very successful season such as the Bronchos have enjoyed go broken records. If records were broken, however, it won't be known for an indefinite period. It is known that the Bronchos set a conference scoring record by tallying 186 points in five games, an average of 37 points per contest. Another mark was set when they held their opponents scoreless.

The following statistics are for all nine football games.

PONIES WALLOP GRANT, 13-0

PLACE SECOND IN CONFERENCE

The Ponies wound up a very successful season by beating Grant, 13-0, on a muddy field, and winning second place in the conference with three victories and two ties. Their entire season record was one of five wins, one loss, and two ties.

Grant received the opening kick off, and after four plays without sufficient gain, they were forced to punt. Cochran shot through the line and pushed a Grant player into the way of the kick. Barrington took over and soon was on Grant's twenty yard stripe. Aevermann then took the ball on a wide end sweep and went over. The conversion was missed.

In the second and third quarters the Ponies pushed

SENIORS DECIDE TO TAKE CLASS TRIP

The seniors have definitely decided that they want to take a class trip to Washington, D. C., New York, and other interesting educational places immediately following graduation. Mr. Thomas talked to the class recently emphasizing that the trip was for educational purposes, but that a lot of fun could be had by all if they took the right attitude. This trip will be a fine chance to show that the teachers won't have to be policemen and that the seniors have enough character to conduct themselves properly.

Then the seniors talked about various ways to make money to help finance the trip, among them a bake sale and a rummage sale.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club devoted much of its time to Julius Caesar Friday. At the beginning of the meeting Tom Stone, dressed as Caesar, gave a talk on his life from birth till eighteen years of age. He did not reveal Caesar's name, but permitted the club to identify him.

A contest for the members then followed. Reports were to be given on Caesar's life, and the best one was to be chosen from these. However, only three members--Janet Parmalee, Carol McCoy, and Art Webb--participated. Janet Parmalee and Art Webb tied for first place.

Later, a game called "Tmesis" was played in which Latin words were matched.

The club discussed the possibility of a trip to Chicago in the near future. They plan to see either Judith Anderson in "Medea" near the end of November or the opera, "Julius Caesar," in May.

BUILDING TRADES HOUSE PROGRESSES

Under the direction of Mr. Bartz, the building trades class is building a house this year. The site is located on Summit Street, south of Hillside. The residence is small, but its construction involves all the fundamentals of the building trade.

The Barrington High School is financing the job and will place the home on the market next spring. It would be difficult to name a value now, since there will probably be some change in prices before that time.

Work on the house is progressing at a good rate. Members of the class work five days a week under the supervision of their director. At this point, forms for the basement foundations are completed and the concrete has been poured.

Mr. Bartz would undoubtedly like to erect a shell before cold weather descends. This would facilitate working straight through the winter. If the class continues at the present rate, this hope should be realized.

P.F.C. KOEPPEN WOULD APPRECIATE LETTERS

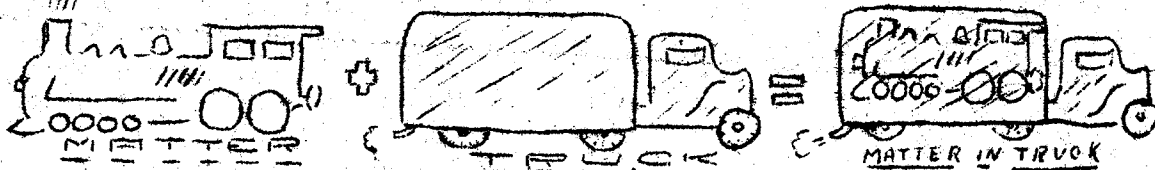

Mr. Johnson has received a letter from P.F.C. J. D. Koeppen, better known to B.H.S. as "Dusty." He is now in the air force and is stationed at Keesler Field. "Dusty" says that he'd like to hear from his friends.

His address is as follows:

JUNIORS PRESENT CLASS PLAY

--BY KIT LASCH

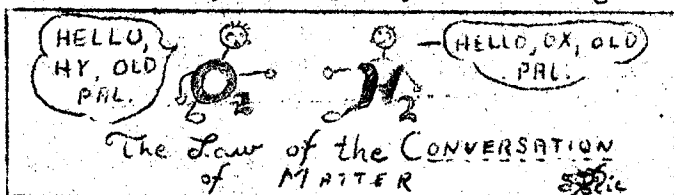

Twelve actors and countless backstage workers contributed generously toward making the junior class play a success. The whole cast turned in a commendable performance, marred only by a few last act jitters which would have been eliminated with a few more rehearsals.

In the staging of the play, the technical people had a job on their hands, and they came through nobly. Belle Gorman's set and Dick Ellerbrake's lighting were superb, far above those of the run-of-the-mill class play.

It would be both difficult and unfair to single out any one member of the cast as most outstanding. Bri Anderson and Forrest Berghorn were constantly in character. Belle Gorman as an aged and rather eccentric grandmother was near perfection. The two granddaughters were portrayed by Joan Gruenewald and Pat Wayne. It must be said of the latter, however, that her gestures tended to become distracting. All of them being below the waist, they were not effective in expressing any emotion, but nevertheless were too conspicuous to pass unnoticed. Donna Duerwachter, who was Nora Vane, shares this fault. All the same, these two were convincing in their roles, and showed an understanding of the parts.

Dick Aspinwall as the erring butler, John Calkins as the hen-pecked sheriff, Julie Neil as the maid (who has a good deal more to say than the conventional household maid), and Eileen Kadansky as a village lobster woman were convincing and real.

But in Bill Trankle, Mr. Johnson, who directed "Ghost Wanted," had found the perfect interpreter in his cast. He was able to read into the part of an ardent student of voodoo all the subtleties that it called for and needed, Janet Parmalee, his assistant, was equally outstanding.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM

November 10 a very effective Armistice Day program was presented in the auditorium.

On the whole the ceremony was more impressive than most assemblies commemorating Armistice Day. Especially the tribute to the Unknown Soldier and to all those who gave the supreme sacrifice in the last two world wars was inspiring.

CARTHAGE COLLEGE ENTERTAINS IN ASSEMBLY

Thursday, November 4, Dr. Frank Miller brought his Carthage College Quartet to Barrington for a special assembly. The quartet has been a favorite here since its successful performance last year. If anything, the group has improved since then.

The quartet led off with "Road to Mandalay" and followed with "Old Man River." After the quartet's capable pianist played "The Sabre Dance," the quartet returned with "Trees," "Russian Picnic," "Mighty Like a Rose," and "The Sleigh."

The quartet was very well received and was kept singing for several minutes by an enthusiastic audience. Dr. Miller should be congratulated for assembling such a fine musical group.

the ball back to their opponents' goal line. Weldon continually set them back for ten to fifteen yard losses.

In the fourth quarter Cochran again went through the line and slapped the ball out of the quarterback's hand, and Whitmer fell on it in the end zone. The kick was good.

After the kickoff Barrington recovered a fumble and was in scoring position again, but the game ended.

Cochran, Weldon, Whitmer, and honorary captain Hartwig played a magnificent line game with Paulson, Pederson, Heckmiller, Aevermann, and Popp sparkling in the backfield.

The starting lineup and substitutions are on page 9.

MAGAZINE SALES CAMPAIGN A SUCCESS

Again this year the sale of magazine subscriptions by Barrington Senior High and Junior High School students was a huge success. Under the able supervision of Mr. Chiles and the competent salesmanship of the students, the quota was surpassed with a margin of $77.85. The net income for the school from the $4,077.85 gross will be about $1,000.

This money will be used by various school activities to buy equipment not authorized to be paid for by school taxes. The magazine money will be used in amounts decided upon by Mr. Thomas and the sponsors of the activities according to necessity and urgency.

The prizes for the high salesmen in the various groups of competition were made in assembly today.

The statistics of the campaign are as follows:

CAMERA CLUB JUDGES SNAPSHOTS

Wednesday, November 3, the members of the Camera Club devoted their time to the judging of snapshots.

The pictures were of no particular subject. Some were taken by the boys on the field trip to Suchy's gravel pit. Others were taken on summer vacation trips.

Each member was given a ballot, and the snapshots were judged on the basis of points. Bri Anderson won both first and third prizes. Howard Steward placed second. Honorable mention was given to Wayne Jensen, Dwight Sandman, and Bob Naylor.

Baumann intercepted a pass and ran 33 yards untouched in the last quarter for the final score of the year. Kranz again split the crossbars with his kick.

After Baumann's run, Grant took control and marched down the field to the three yard line, where Barrington made its gallant defensive stand. This shows how great the spirit was of the entire team throughout the season. This outstanding cooperation made the Bronchos champions, and they should be saluted.

Grant had 6 first downs to Barrington's 13. The Bronchos piled up 360 yards by rushing, while Grant could muster only 97 against a solid defense. The opposition gained 30 yards by passing, while the home team got 47. This gave the Bronchos a total yardage of 407 to 129 for Grant. Grant attempted 13 passes, completing only one. Barrington tried 7 and completed 3. Penalties were about even. Grant was assessed 25 yards and Barrington 35.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR NEXT YEAR

The Bronchos will have back ten let-termen, including four starters, who will form a good nucleus for next year's team, and with some promising underclassmen it looks as if they should be headed toward another successful season.

COACHES DESERVE PRAISE

The coaches should not be forgotten because they worked and sweated just as hard as the players. Congratulations are in order for coaches Fry, Gaffney, Harman, and Samuels.

which, while to my mind the least important, made a point of great value. Even if one doesn't plan to go to college, and indeed even more so in that case, one should try to get all out of school that he can, for that learning is the culture or the beginnings of culture which is to enrich his life. If it is nothing, he will have a sterile life; if something, it can open pathways to new vistas of enjoyment. In fact, many of our greatest men didn't go to college, but they did make the most of what schooling they did have, and continued their education on their own.

"Kit Lasch's essay on human rights was the fourth which caught my eye. I suppose none of us can avoid cliches, and there was so much original expression--or what sounded like original expression-- in it that I would say terrific."

R. T. D. C. AND D. S.

FRIDAY GROUP

The meeting of last Friday was spent entirely on the discussion of the U.N. and its attempt to solve the problems which have arisen in relation to occupation of Germany.

Forrest Berghorn, the moderator, put before the group such questions as "Do you think the Security Council can reach a satisfactory agreement concerning Berlin?" "Do you think Stalin and Truman should hold a special conference to discuss the controversy?" The general feeling against a special conference was that it would be futile because Russia has not agreed to anything and would not yield now. The argument in favor of the conference was that it would do no harm to try again and that it might give good results. Possibly matters could be arranged to relieve the crisis.

Many ideas were brought out in the discussion. Some thought the trouble started when the new currency was issued in three zones of Berlin. Others thought that wrong interpretation of the Potsdam Agreement, and Russian refusal to cooperate started the difficulties.

The discussion helped to clarify the issues in the minds of the members, but the big problem, world peace, remains.

MONDAY GROUP

In view of the surprising trend in the election, the Monday Discussion Club spent its last week's meeting in discussing the policies of President Truman. The majority of the club believed that the President's plan for housing and price control would be put into effect by the Democratic Congress. In general the group was divided as to whether the policies of the President were for the general good of the country.

This week's meeting was devoted to the organization of a debate with the Friday group. The topic will be "Resolved, That the U.N. should be made a world government."

Topics were selected for coming meetings, and a committee was chosen to select films for these meetings.

FRESHMAN SPEECH CLUB

Last week the Freshman Speech Club did not have a meeting because of the Armistice Day program, which it sponsored.

This week's meeting was a varied program. Each member was given a number. The lucky members whose numbers were called got to act something out in front of the group.

Ann Bell, Helen Haines, and June Moeller read tongue twisters. Well, at least they tried! Edith Haffner acted out different verbs, and Marilyn Sorce read some amusing jokes. Duncan Aspinwall and Mary Titterton acted out different personalities which proved quite amusing. The period was filled with fun and laughter.

A suggestion was made to have a new name for the club. Every member is urged to think of a good name. Bring your ideas to the club meeting next week.

MASQUE AND WIG

In Masque and Wig yesterday Giles Mellon gave a report on the planning committee. He said that the group had looked over a few plays of high quality in Chicago and had decided that "Medea," starring Judith Anderson, would be the most appropriate play to attend. The club agreed to this plan, but as yet they have not decided on the time.

The meeting was then turned over to Belle Gorman, who gave a make-up demonstration with help from Eileen Kadansky.

KAROUSING KID

"Hail to the varsity; long may they reign supreme"—and they certainly have. Every boy on the team deserves a hand shake for helping to capture the conference championship. Nice going, team!

A dinner in honor of our football team was given by the Roakes and Freys at the former's home a week ago Saturday night to wind up a very successful season. The food was delicious. Just ask any player, and he'll verify that statement, especially Eddie Baumann. How that boy loves his food!!

John Calkins is no more. He is now known as Phil Harris. Why? Because he goes with Alyce Faye!

Barb Welch and Barb Morse have finally solved the rainy day problem of getting their shoes wet. They simply took them off and went on their merry way—splash, splash.

A taffy pull was given by Nancy Prickett Wednesday night for some of the freshmen. Now the kids know what real taffy pulls are like. Come Thursday morning, Nancy was down on all fours, knife in hand, scraping the remains of the taffy from the floor. It was more of a taffy "throw" than a taffy "pull."

The cast of the junior class play did a nice job both Friday and Saturday nights. The screams the audience let out were proof enough that the people were kept in suspense right up until the final swish of the curtain. Congratulations to all.

June Moeller comes to the freshman class from the North Barrington School. June said she likes our school and the people in it.

If anyone sees a grey Ford go whizzing by, the odds are ten to one that Chuck Thompson is in the driver's seat. Chuck is a new sophomore, who originally lived in Highland Park.

Don't forget that there is dancing in the gym every Wednesday noon. The dance band makes with the music, some slow and some fast. Come on down and brush up on a few of your rusty steps.

Does anyone know why the little moron put a blotter up to his ear. 'Spouse it could be because he wanted to hear the Ink Spots?

See you at our first basketball game tomorrow night. K. K.

PERSONALITIES OF THE WEEK

John E. Hansen is well known for his participation in sports during his high school career. In fact, he was on the freshman and varsity football, basketball and baseball teams, and also the freshman track team when he was in ninth grade. When this brown-eyed six-footer gets the ball, you can be sure that something is going to happen the other team won't like. Needless to say, John's hobbies consist of sports, sports, and more sports. He likes all games, he says, but his favorites are basketball and football. He also likes baseball, but not as much as the former. Besides all those teams he's on, John is also a member of "B" Club. His ideal woman has light brown hair, hazel eyes, and is five foot, two inches tall. "Incidentally," he added, "I think she's beautiful!"

Corliss Dunlop Anderson is his full name. He is usually known as Dinnie, but he answers to "Slop," "Corly," and "Lobber-dobber," too. He was born June 6, 1931. He describes himself as "tall and a little on the thin side. This character will laugh easily at any kind of joke. Tall is right; he measures 6 feet.

His ambition is to see the Bronchos take the basketball championship of the Northwest Conference, as well as the football championship, and then follow the team to the state tournament. He would also like to learn to serve and play tennis with the same hand.

His hobbies are baseball, ice hockey, football, basketball, golf, and tennis. His activities are a cappella, Discussion Club, Chefs' Club, Boys' Glee Club, baseball, and Broncho staff. He was a member of the Pirates' Chorus in the Pirates of Penzance.

His advice is to start studying before you're a senior, because then it's too late.

GLENN WOLTHAUSEN--HONOR STUDENT

Glenn Wolthausen's name was omitted from the original honor roll because one of his grades had not been recorded when the list was made out. However, Glenn does have honor roll standing.
