

HOME COMING IS FIRST MAJOR EVENT OF YEAR

SOPHOMORES, DISCUSSION CLUB WIN IN PARADE

All the secret planning and behind-closed-door, constructions came out into the open Saturday, when the annual homecoming parade got under way.

The procession, led by a police escort, paraded through the main streets from the high school, and on to North Park for the football game.

The Homecoming Queen, Pat Wayne, and her two attendants, Joan Gruenewald and Joy Paulson, led the parade. Pat wore a pink gown and carried a large bouquet of white mums and pink roses. Joan and Joy each wore yellow with complementing nose-gays of white and blue.

Behind the queen's car came the senior class float. A stop light with a Broncho and a Pirate car waiting for the signal was the idea of this float. The Bronchos had the green light, while the Pirates had the red. "Light of the Northwest Conference" was the slogan.

The juniors had two parts to their float. "We'll send them down into defeat" was represented by two pirates shoveling coal into a stove. The other half consisted of angels singing "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" and tooting on trumpets with the theme, "We'll toot their horn."

After viewing the floats

"YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU" IS JUNIOR PLAY

This year the junior class is attempting a play that is much better known than the plays presented by previous junior classes of Barrington. "You Can't Take It with You," a comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, is their choice.

The tentative cast follows:

- Penny Sycamore, the mother-----Gwenn Bardwell
- Essie, her daughter-----Alyce Tilley
- Rheba, the maid-----Muriel Lindberg
- Paul Sycamore, the father-----Bill Smith
- Mr. De Pinna, a friend-----Charles Wilkes
- Ed, Essie's husband-----Charles Smith
- Donald, Rheba's boy friend-----Ronald Andrae
- Martin Vanderhof, the grandpa-----To be decided
- Alice, the daughter-----Dorothy Griffin
- Henderson, the income tax collector-----To be decided
- Tony Kirby, Alice's fiance-----Linden Chiles
- Boris Kolenkhov, a friend-----Bill Trankle
- Gay Wellington, an actress-----Audrey Witte
- Mr. Kirby, Tony's father-----Bill Thomas
- Mrs. Kirby, his wife-----Freddie Herriman
- Three men-----Bob Folleth, Jerry Laine, Wayne Listhartke
- The Grand Duchess-----Peggy Reeve

Because of the large number of boys in the cast, a senior and two sophomores had to be engaged for the play. A vote was taken concerning this, and the members of the class decided that they wanted to give the play enough to make it immaterial as to whether the cast was entirely made up of juniors.

Rehearsals are under way.

the judges awarded the prize to the sophomore class. A wagon, gayly decorated with varicolored flowers, was the basis of the float. Two girls costumed in colorful crepe paper dresses sat in swings and swung back and forth. "We'll swing to victory" was their motto. This float was, by far, the best and most beautiful in the parade. It certainly dis-

NO "BRONCHO" NEXT WEEK

Because of the amount of time that will be required for planning the new high school dedication issue of the BARRINGTON COURIER-REVIEW, no BRONCHO will be printed next week. This special issue, which will appear the first of October, will require much work on the part of both students and teachers.

STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT TO BE NOMINATED TOMORROW

The Student Council, to date an organization without a president, has taken steps toward the election of its officers. It has been the custom in past years to devote an assembly early in the year to the nomination and election of the council president by the student body. This year the procedure will not depart radically from this means.

Monday morning at 9:30 all students will meet in the cafeteria. At this assembly nominations for president of the council will be taken from the floor. It is suggested that, in accordance with previous tradition, the following people not be considered for the office: the editor of the Broncho and the presidents and treasurers of the junior and the senior classes.

This special assembly will be only for the purpose of securing nominations.

Friday, October 15, will be election day. During the second period in the morning ballots will be passed to all rooms. Students will vote on the nominees chosen Monday. The ballots will be collected during the same period and taken to the office, where they will be counted by the Student Council election committee. Immediately after, the results will be broadcast over the school loudspeaker system.

The person receiving the largest number of votes shall be declared president. The person receiving the second largest number of votes shall be declared vice-president. In this manner the entire student body will have a hand in the election of the council president.

Last year's president was Jim McNichols.

"BRONCHO" STAFF STILL TO BE COMPLETED

The selection of staff members for the Broncho will be completed for the next issue of the paper.

All students who have written articles for the paper during the past two weeks are to attend the staff meeting tomorrow at 8 A. M. in Room 227.

SPEECH CLASS DISCUSSES RECREATION PROBLEM

Have you ever stopped to think about recreation as a whole in Barrington? Did you ever realize that very few home parties are given? Do we need a youth center? Would you like more school dances? What can the school do toward helping us out on Saturday evenings?

These are important questions that confront all of us at one time or another. Mr. Johnson's speech class is giving discussions on several different problems of this nature. The first one of these was "How Can We Improve Recreation in Barrington? A variety of solutions were proposed.

Many students felt that we don't have enough dances and that we should have more informal ones, such as sweater dances, penny dances, and sock hops. Some people in the class thought that a masquerade would also be fun. At informal dances one feels at home and is more inclined to be gay and carefree. If we had some informal dances, such as the Halloween one, the affairs might be better attended.

The part the school could play in providing recreation was discussed. The general conclusion was that the school should be open on certain evenings and furnish rooms where students could play ping-pong, badminton, and cards. This would furnish an informal get-together.

Home parties can be fun if they are planned correctly. This doesn't necessarily mean inviting a lot of people but just two, four, or six guests. Many high school students think that the only way to be popular and have fun is to go out and spend money. Have you ever stayed home and played cards with your friends or family? That can be a lot of fun.

Another nice way to spend an evening is to sit around the fireplace, listening to records, eating popcorn, and just talking. This doesn't cost much and will probably be more enjoyable than going out and spending ten dollars.

Did you ever try having the gang in for a taffy pull or fudge-making session and then, when all is done, have everyone pitch in and do the dishes? Just try it some time and see how much fun you have.

These were the solutions reached by the

BRONCHOS BLAST PIRATES 36-0

The Bronchos, now undefeated in nine successive conference football contests, blanked the Palatine eleven, 36-0, on Homecoming day, scoring six touchdowns, four of which came in the second half.

Barrington's passing attack opened up for the first time this year. Shuett and Frey completed 7 out of 10 timely throws to Roake and McNichols for impressive yardage. These completions several times set up touchdown drives and saved the home team from having to punt.

After a scoreless first quarter, in which the victors were hampered by penalties and a fumble, both Shuett and Hansen hit pay dirt. The half-time score was 12-0. This was somewhat in reverse of former Barrington victories, since the Bronchos generally jump to a large early lead.

However, the defending champions' power was not to be denied even by a determined Palatine team that tended to play over its head the first half.

Shuett snagged the kickoff opening the second half and dashed down the west sideline for 80 yards and 6 points, while Palatine defenders were being knocked down.

This appeared to shatter Palatine's spirit and at the same time set Barrington to work. The Bronchos went on to score three more times before the final whistle. Shuett, racking up his third touchdown, Frey, and Roake each contributed 6 points after the runback of the kickoff. Roake made the final score by knocking the ball out of the hand of a potential passer and falling on it in the end zone. All conversion attempts failed.

Statistics again showed that the Broncho offense and defense were invincible. The winners made 375 yards from scrimmage and 18 first downs to the losers 58 yards and 4 first downs, one of which was awarded by a penalty.

A preview of coming games for freshmen and frosh-sophs appears on page 4. Also the calendar on page 4 will give all games scheduled for October.

ELA MAY GIVE BRONCHOS TROUBLE

This Saturday afternoon the Bronchos tangle with the Ela team at Lake Zurich. The Bears have been undefeated in two encounters this year. They whipped Wauconda 36-0 and defeated Lemont 13-6. Playing a single wing, they produce a hard running team and could well afford strong opposition Saturday. Ed Prouty appears to be their outstanding runner.

PONIES GALLOP OVER NORTHBROOK

For the second time this season the Ponies pranced over the bewildered, scoreless conference opponents. Many are convinced that here is an even better eleven than that of last year.

The Frosh-Soph squad defeated Palatine last week 19 to 0, and homecoming day Northbrook suffered a 9 to 0 defeat.

The Ponies kicked off to Northbrook, and the kick was good, but after 3 downs without gaining sufficient yardage Northbrook was forced to punt. Northbrook downed the kick on about the 35 yard line. Then Dave Bergen took the ball and ran for 15 yards. This possible attack, however, did not materialize.

In the second quarter Northbrook again could gain no yardage and was forced to punt. Ruckholdt caught the ball and ran it back to the Northbrook 20. Bob Meyer then passed to Whitmer. The pass was completed, and Whitmer, seeing he would be stopped, lateraled to Heckmiller, and the latter scored. The extra point gave Barrington a 7 point lead.

In the fourth quarter the Ponies had Northbrook on its own 5 yard line. Northbrook attempted a kick, but Weldon and Fredin blocked it, and Barrington recovered in the end zone to make the final score 9 to 0.

WANT A KITTEN?

Would you like a soft, fuzzy, lovable kitten? The kittens are about six weeks old. One is gray and the other orange-yellow. Notify Joanne Sittig if you want one.

FRESHMEN, FROSH-SOPHS TO PLAY TODAY AND SATURDAY

The afternoon the freshman football team will play Abbott Junior High School of Elgin on Abbott's home field. This is the first game for the newly formed freshman team.

Saturday the frosh-soph eleven will attempt to follow up their 19-0 defeat of Palatine earlier in the season, when they again meet their traditional rivals at Palatine under the lights. The game is scheduled to begin at 6:30.

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF YEAR IS HELD

The Melody Four, a variety quartet, gave a program last Monday in the cafeteria. The assembly was held in two sections, seniors and freshmen watching the program at one o'clock and juniors and sophomores a half hour later. This was due to the fact that it is impossible (Cont. in next col.)

played much color and originality.

The freshmen had the Pirates on pins and needles with a pirate seated on a pin cushion.

The prize of three dollars for the best organization float went to the Discussion Club. "Knights of the Round Table Charge," their slogan, was represented by wooden sawhorses as a pirate and two Bronchos.

Pumpkins and cornstalks arranged in a winning display won the prize for the best decorated bicycle for Fred Kronenberger, a member of the eighth grade.

Saturday evening the homecoming dance was held in the high school cafeteria. Music was furnished by Jimmy Cavanaugh's Sextet. Punch and homemade cookies were served as refreshments.

The dance was well attended by high school students. This year there weren't as many alumni as there usually are. Homecoming came early this season, and probably many college students were not able to come home. Last year's class had the most alumni present.

In this reporter's opinion and in the opinion of several other high school students, homecoming this year was not what could be called a big success. The essential spirit and enthusiasm seemed to be lacking. There were only a few floats in the parade and even these seemed to be hastily constructed. There was a conspicuous lack of cheering at the game.

Most of these criticisms may be due to the fact that school started late and homecoming came early.

to seat the entire school body in the cafeteria at one time.

The program was out of the ordinary. The group sang several quartet numbers and performed on the bells, and one member sang a solo, "Donkey Serenade." The young men performed with zeal and a fair degree of proficiency, particularly in the bell numbers. The music was very well received.

CLASS MEETINGS

SENIORS DECIDE ON DUES AND DISCUSS FLOAT

In the third senior class meeting of the year, the upperclassmen, apparently remembering last year's taxation, supported without hesitation a motion for two dollars yearly dues. This was a decrease of three dollars from the previous year.

Mr. Watson then spoke briefly on the Homecoming float and suggested that it should be a class project and not one that is monopolized by a few members. Following this, Judy Disney, chairman of the float committee, presented her report on its progress and outlined the work yet to be done.

Dick Aspinwall, class president, adjourned the meeting after Jo Barnes had told what had been done in organizing concession committees for the game with Palatine.

OSINSKI, CHILES JUNIOR OFFICERS

The election of class officers was completed in last Thursday's meeting. Dan Osinski proved to be the favorite nominee for vice-president, and Linden Chiles was the popular choice for treasurer.

Class rings were discussed, and plans were made to meet with the representative from the jewelry company.

The class voted to handle the selling of candy and potato chips during the lunch hours until the cafeteria opens.

BILL HARRISON ELECTED FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

The freshman class held its first meeting Thursday, September 29, to elect officers. Bill Harrison, a new boy from Bartlett, was elected president. Dianne Hargrave was elected vice-president; Ann Sproul, secretary; and Stanley Hartwig, treasurer.

At the next meeting class dues will be decided upon.

CAMERA CLUB IS INTRODUCED TO NEW DARKROOM

At the regular meeting of the Camera Club last Wednesday, the members grouped themselves in the not yet completed school darkroom and had Mr. Smiley describe all the interior of the darkroom, its advantages, and how it must be kept up when used by the members of the club. A beautiful darkroom will be one of the many prized possessions of the school when completed.

Before adjourning, it was decided that members should bring their cameras to next week's meeting and record the new school on film by photographing outdoors.

LATIN CLUB CONDUCTS BUSINESS MEETING

The Latin Club held its regular meeting Friday with Jack Schwemm, the new president, presiding.

Since only the president of the club had been elected, it was necessary to complete the other elections immediately. The club cast its votes in favor of Peter Sturtevant for vice-president, Art Webb for treasurer, and David Parmalee for secretary.

Members had a heated discussion concerning dues for the year. A majority of the voters favored fifty cents a year. This amount seemed adequate because of the large amount of money left in the treasury from last year.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of programs for the year. Most of the members agreed with Mrs. Baker's suggestion of having one meeting a month for the study of Roman life, and the other for a social meeting.

MARLENE JOHNSON NEW F.H.A. PRESIDENT

During the meeting of the Future Homemakers of America club on September 19 an election of officers was held. Marlene Johnson was elected President. The new vice-president of the organization is Gwenn Bardwell. Natalie Schleh and Jane Brintlinger were chosen secretary and

INQUIRING REPORTER

What is your opinion of the new school?

Jim Frey: It will be a great improvement, of course, over the old one when things get settled down; but I still can't get my directions straight.

Margaret Upton: I think it will be very nice when it is finished. I'm sure it will be much easier to study without the racket the hammering and sawing make.

Ken Shuett: The new school is pretty swell, except for all the workers running you down. I can't say too much until the gym's finished.

Vera Holtzee: Maybe if I live long enough it will get finished.

Bill Smith: At first everything seemed a little mixed up, but now that it's organized a little I think I'm going to like it.

Lois Heidke: I'm improving my education rapidly. Since school has started, I have learned how to lay tile flooring, to put up book cases, and to perform numerous other carpentry jobs.

Jerry Laine: At first I was a little disappointed with the school, but as time goes on, it gets better. I like the looks of the school from the street.

Bonnie Barton: It's going to be beautiful when it is finished and the grass is up, but right now it's a little difficult to work with hammering going on.

Martha Van Steenderen: The new school is definitely a great asset to the community, and when it is entirely completed and landscaped, it will be a place worthy of the praise given it already.

Delores Wendt: I think the new school is very nice, but it will be even nicer when it's done.

MR. STREET IS NEW CUSTODIAN

Barrington High School has acquired a new custodian, Mr. Roland Street. In the past Mr. Street worked on an estate on County Line Road gardening. There for twenty-five years he raised all kinds of flowers. His success as a gardener can be determined by the thirty ribbons he has won. The Garden Club of Barrington awarded him a set of encyclopedias one year. As an avocation he likes to fiddle with electricity and wires.

Mr. Street hopes to work on the school grounds.

MASQUE AND WIG TAKES UP BUSINESS MATTERS

Masque and Wig had its fourth meeting Wednesday. Volunteers for the planning committee were taken. The people that wanted to join Masque and Wig and a group of the members held a separate meeting to find out what the new members are interested in. Donna Black, Joy Paulson, and Pat Wayne volunteered to write an article about Masque and Wig for the Barrington Courier-Review.

LAST YEAR'S SENIORS SHOW ABILITY

Reports are beginning to come in on the achievements of last year's alumni in placement exams in college.

Giles Mellon at the University of Virginia was one of seven out of seven hundred freshmen who were exempt from freshman English.

Bill Anderes at Ripon College was exempt from freshman English, as was also Charles Brintlinger.

Belle Gorman at Northwestern University had the honor of being exempt not only in English, but also in two Latin courses and in beginning stage designing.

All of these students are to be congratulated for their outstanding achievements.

olet Newberg should attend the sectional F. H. A. meeting in Chicago.

"GIRLS STATE WAS WONDERFUL" SAYS MARY JANE MALONE

The week of June 21-29 was the duration of the annual Girls State conference, held at MacMurray College in Jacksonville. Mary Jane Malone was elected by her fellow classmates to be the representative from B.H.S.

The general procedure for each day included assemblies every morning and afternoon. These consisted of everything from group singing to lectures on police protection and parliamentary rules and regulations. The girls were allowed one free hour each day, during which they joined the choir or the Citizens Court, or took part in workshop activities. Janie told of the case of the girl who was tried for wearing curlers to breakfast. The story goes that her tears had no effect on the cruel, revenge-seeking jury.

First call for breakfast came at 6:30 each morning. It seems the girls were a little worried about the business of getting up in time. The first night they were sleeping on pins and needles. They couldn't stay in bed any longer, so they got up at 5:00. Instead of not having enough time to get ready, they ended up just sitting around and talking until 7:00, when breakfast call was sounded. Janie had a very unfortunate mishap one morning. She and her roommate missed the breakfast bell, only to discover soon that they were fifteen minutes late. They were in luck, though, eventually; it seems their city counselor had overslept and all three of them ate in town.

Everyone was to be in bed by 10:30 with the lights out. As soon as the door closed behind the counselor, there was a "city" or a "county spread," the latter consisting of two cities, or 36 girls. This was fun for all, as they talked and ate into the wee hours.

Part of the activity included the Inaugural Dinner and Ball. This was a formal affair, which eight of the officers from Boys State and the 430 girls from Girls State attended.

"MacMackin Philosophy" was the title of a cute little tune concocted by Mary Jane and two of the others in MacMackin County.

WHOSE BLOG?

This girl, known as "Ricia" among her fellow girl classmates, is a very pretty and talented creature who measures up to five feet, nine inches. She has laughing brown eyes and light brown, short, wavy hair. Her birthday, she admitted without hesitation, is March 9, 1933. Since she arrived during March, maybe this accounts for the fact that her shiny hair always looks so fluffy and windblown.

Around the 26th of May, 1949, Ricia was the victim of a police officer who administered her driver's test. This wasn't bad enough. She had to wait about a month and a half before the license actually arrived. When this fateful day finally came, about July 15, she simply died!

I must say I interviewed quite a lively corpse! She was in a cappella for her first three years in high school; Masque and Wig during her second, third, and fourth--she attended the Dramatics Art Conference last spring, was cast in the junior class play "Ghost Wanted," and was in one of the three one-act plays, "The Blue Teapot"--Broncho staff for her third and fourth years; and on the Corral this year. Ricia was the treasurer of her class when a sophomore and was on the Student Council in her junior year. She has been on the Pep Squad during the last two years. For her own enjoyment Ricia plays the piano; she is also a baton twirler for the school band. She worked steady at the Catlow Theater for a year and a half and has been kind enough to work as a substitute for many of the girls at different times.

When I asked for her most embarrassing situation, she exclaimed, "Oh, golly, I've (Cont. on page 8, col. 2)

In the contest between the groups for the best song, theirs ranked a strong second.

Daily a dirty and a golden broom were awarded to the dirtiest and the cleanest cities. It seems the MacMackin County girls were too busy packing the last days to clean up and, much to their shame, were awarded the dirty broom.

It was a week filled to the brim with new friends and fun. Janie said, "I don't think I'll ever forget the kids and the wonderful time we all had."

MEET THE NEW SOPHOMORES

This week we're dealing with the new sophomores. One of the many new students in this class is Gloria Janisch, who came from Antioch High School. She likes Frankie Laine and Billy Eckstein.

A great many of the new sophomores are from Elgin High. All of the following people, in fact, are transfers from that fair city:

Rity Nickel likes all kinds of music and plays the piano and the sax.

Dick Sturm is a basketball fan and a jazz fiend.

Sports--football and baseball--also occupy much of Roger Hartman's and Ernest Miller's time.

The many people who have expressed interest in horses will have more company in the persons of Allan Fisher and Dick Iverson, who also like baseball and football.

Shirley Schramm has four cats and two dogs, while Margene Schmoltdt likes sports and also collects insects.

Another sports-minded sophomore is Dick Pierce. Don Hattendorf, Ralph's cousin, likes music, and Cole Porter is his favorite composer. He plays the squeeze-box, and also likes to ride horses. Allan Franz wants to be a farmer, and he likes wood-working very much.

A popular music fan is Helen Mangum. She also likes baseball. Upon graduation from college she wants to become a nurse.

From Loras Academy in Iowa comes Jim Tuohy, a basketball and track enthusiast. He likes drawing and would like to be a cartoonist.

David Bergen lived in Chappaqua, New York, before he came to B. H. S. He is interested in photography, hunting, and fishing, as well as football and baseball.

Melvi Lehtis, Allan's sister, is another new sophomore. She likes art, and is going to design the set for the junior class play.

Edith Desort, Rudy's sister, is a baseball fan. She would rather watch major league baseball than play it, though. She's a Cub rooter, but her favorite player is Lon Boudreau.

More new sophomores and some of the newcomers in the freshman class will be introduced in the next issue of the paper

"CORRAL" STAFF NOT YET ORGANIZED

The staff for the Corral, the school yearbook, has not definitely been selected. In order to have a better organized group, the large number of members will have to be cut down.

Bri Anderson will again be photographic editor, a job which he capably filled last year.

In the recent meetings, ideas for pictures were submitted, and the year's plans were outlined.

WHOSE BIOG?

had so many!" she finally came to the conclusion that the following incident was the worst she had ever had. During a district basketball game held at Wauconda last year Ricia described to a blonde Lake Zurich cheerleader a woman who was criticizing and yelling about the Barrington team's playing. After she had told the cheerleader what she thought about such spectators, the cheerleader calmly said, "Yes, I know. My girl friend's mother is very prejudiced about any opposing team." Naturally Ricia wished that the gym floor would open up and swallow her.

Her pet peeve is, and I quote, "boisterous, nosey, grinning females who blab anything and everything they know." According to Ricia any person who is guilty of this is not worth knowing!

When I inquired as to what her ambition was, either secret or not, she immediately became starry-eyed and said, "Oh, I want to travel and travel and meet people and more people and then maybe meet the man that was meant for me." Ahh, how romantic. May I come along with you, Ricia?

Her ideal man is approximately six feet tall and somewhat slender. He has sparkling brown eyes and a wonderful smile and personality. (Introduce me; introduce me!)

To what class does she belong? What else but senior? Who is she? You mean you don't know? None other than our Homecoming Queen, Pat Wayne.

DON'T FORGET THE ELA GAME SATURDAY.

IT WILL BE GOOD. GO AND CHEER.
