

"Cocoanut Grove" Is Week-End Bill at Catlow Theatre

"Doctor Rhythms," Starring Bing Crosby, Begins Run Wednesday

Wayne Morris, star of "Kid Come Back," further proves his acting ability in "The Kid Come Back," coming to the Catlow theatre Friday and Saturday.

On the double feature bill on Friday and Saturday with "The Kid Come Back" is "Rascals," starring Jack Palance, with Robert Hutton and Dorrah Minne, "Virtuous and His Gang."

Before his movie days, Fred MacMurray was a hand leader. And as a hand leader, his highest ambition was to play an engagement in the famous Cocoanut Grove of the Hotel Ambassador. Well, he's in "Cocoanut Grove," at last—but it's a picture, named after the night-club.

In the new film, which comes to the Catlow Sunday and Monday, MacMurray plays a part that is an almost exact prototype of his own life. He is a swing-happy young hand leader, barnstorming across the country, never more than two leaps ahead of the sheriff and trying to avoid detection by the marshals after a holdup at the Grove. Supported romantically by Harriet Hilliard, wife of orchestra leader Ossie Nelson of the screen, the two head a long cast of star names.

George O'Brien, one of the leading action stars in pictures, plays the role of a United States marshal in his latest outdoor thriller, "The Lawman."

Double featured Tuesday with "Gun Law" is a brand new Torchy Blane adventure, "Torchy Blane in Panama," with Lola Lane and Paul Kelly.

O. Henry, who has often been called the greatest of all writers of American fiction, created the story which has been made into "Doctor Rhythms," starring the comedy star Bing Crosby, Beatrice Little and Mary Carlisle, coming to the Catlow Wednesday for a three day engagement.

Bing Crosby is seen in the role of the fashionable New York doctor who does a policeman's uniform for a day to help his best friend, Andy Devine. Bing gets his kicks as a bodyguard for a little's little niece, Mary Carlisle, and applies the strong-arm of the law in a most unlawful manner to win her heart.

Jim McMillen Pitted Against King Kong at Peg's Friday

On Friday night, June 21, at Peg's Arena located at the junction of routes 54 and 20, King Kong, bearded Abyssinian wrestler, will face Jim McMillen, one of the foremost grapplers in the country in an effort to force Brooklyn Nagurko into a title match. Kong has been faced by some of the toughest men in the country, but to date has never had enough strength or skill to place the broad shoulders of the bearded giant even near the mat. There are many who feel that the victory march, such that has seldom been seen in matdom, will continue until the wearer of the crown and there is no man campaigning in the mat ranks with the ability to stop the bearded giant.

On the other hand, Jim McMillen will be facing one of the most important matches of his colorful career, since he will be fighting to stay as one of the most outstanding contenders in the country and an opportunity of once again facing Rudy Silverstein, Illinois champion, whom he lost a decision in title.

The principals in the semi-windup are Hans Schnables, foremost of the famous mat Schnables who will come to grips with the German strongman, Rudy Strongberg, in a thirty minute time limit bout. Johnny Pianister, Texas toughie will have his hand full trying to keep from the crushing coils of Fred Grabmeyer, as the elongated Iowan is in the best shape of his career.
