ANOTHER BLAZE.

Barrington Visited by Another Fire Early Thursday Morning.

A. W. MEYER & CO. SUFFER

Prompt Assistance by Our Citizens Saves a Handsome Business Block and One of the Finest Stores Outside of Chicago—The Loss as Near as Can be Estimated at the Time of Going to Press Will Probably be $1,500, Mostly Caused by Smoke and Water.

Last Thursday morning the cries of fire again awakened our citizens from their peaceful slumbers and upon investigation the well-appointed and complete general merchandise store of A. W. Meyer & Co. was found to be enveloped in smoke.

To Miss Phillips' presence of mind and quick action is due the honor of saving the building and store and probably the lives of the persons living in the second story. Miss Phillips spent Wednesday night with her cousin, Miss Nelle Gray, and was returning to the home of Mr. Alverson's where she is employed, and who live in the second story just above the store. About 5 o'clock as she was entering the hallway she discovered the fire, and rushing through the stifling smoke and aroused the family after which she ran to the house of Mr. A. W. Meyer, arousing the people on the way by her cries of "fire!" which was soon taken up by others, a special through freight stopping long enough to sound the alarm.

Mr. A. W. Meyer lost no time in reaching his store, being the first one to arrive, and did not stop to try to unlock the combination lock on the front door, but took a jump clear through the heavy plate glass door feet first, the smoke being so dense that he was compelled to grope his way to the rear of the store where the fire originated. To do this he was compelled to go into L. F. Schroeder's hardware store to see if there was any fire in the elevator shaft, as the heat had shut off the entrance to the shaft in his store.

When he found the fire had not yet burned through the shaft he took hope and at once secured buckets of water and applied it to good advantage, and after he had used a bucket or two he was certain that he could save his business and building.

Soon the citizens responded to the call and assisted in the work of saving the building, and the bucket brigade deserve this their first victory, but had the fire had another 15 minutes start it would have been impossible to have saved the building and contents. Fortunately no great damage was done.

The fire seems to have started in the rear end of the shelving of the grocery department and made its way back towards the elevator shaft, wrecking everything in its way, especially did it play havoc among the syrup and flour, bursting the barrels and letting the syrup run on the floor, producing an awful heat which almost made it impossible to remain on the inside but the windows were soon thrown open, letting in a draft of wind that soon cleared the room of smoke. Although the fire only burned in the rear of the store the ceiling was blistered also in the front.

As soon as Mr. Alverson was awakened he at once assisted Miss Phillips in arousing the town.

Messrs. H. Hawley, Sam Seibert and Mr. Peters were among the first to respond and by bursting in the side door with a ram affected an entrance directly to the fire, and Mr. Peters lost no time in getting up the elevator and extinguishing what might have been a serious conflagration.

The cause of the fire is a mystery. The damage to the building and fine stock of goods will probably exceed $1,500, which is covered by insurance.

HAD A GOOD TIME.

About forty couples, members of the Barrington Social Club and their friends, gathered in Stott's Hall last Friday night to enjoy an exhilarating and very pleasant hop.

At 8:30 sharp the orchestra enlivened the atmosphere with the strains that charm the savage beast and soon had the floor covered with fleet feet and smiling faces—a scene that resembled a fairy land more than anything else. At 12 o'clock thirty couples partook of a bountiful repast served at the Vermilya Hotel. The following was the menu:

Oysters Stewed
Oysters Raw
Raddishes	Celery	Onions
Beets	Pickles
Cucumber Pickles
Cold Ham and Beef

After lunch they returned to the hall and resumed their dancing going home in the wee small hours, fully satisfied with their evening's enjoyment.

HIGGINS IS HANGED

He is Sent Into Eternity Yesterday at the County Jail.

PRENDERGAST GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE.

Judge Chetlain Grants the Assassins of Carter H. Harrison Two Weeks More.

Thursday night Judge Chetlain granted a postponement of the execution of Prendergast till April 6. This action is based on a special statute which prohibits the execution of a condemned criminal whose sanity is questioned, Prendergast's attorneys having made the plea that Prendergast became insane since sentence was passed.

THE CRIME FOR WHICH HIGGINS PAID THE PENALTY.

For the murder of Peter McCooey on Sept. 3, 1893, Thomas alias "Buff" Higgins was sentenced to death a little more than two months later, Nov. 29. McCooey was a city employe who lived at 153 Johnson street, and on the night of the murder his house was broken into with the object, it was rumored, of robbery of $400, which it was believed

Mrs. McCooey had taken out of a bank a few days before. In the confession which Higgins made, while he was detained at Maxwell street police station, he said that he had not intended to commit murder when he entered the house; that McCooey awoke and disturbed him; that he feared McCooey was about to fire at him when he shot him dead. Higgins, when on trial claimed that the police at the Maxwell street station made him drunk and then secured the confession from him which he asserted was not based on the facts. Higgins spent a term in the penitentiary for burglary. He is now 24 years old.

Two women, cousins of Higgins, and his brother called to see him Thursday afternoon. All three cried when they saw him. "Well, what fools you are," he said without moving a muscle. "If there is any crying to be done I guess I have more reason to cry than any of you. The only difference is that I have more sense than you people."

MARTIAL LAW.

The City of Denver the Scene of Warlike Demonstrations.

Result of Gov. Waite's Quarrel with City Officials—State Militia Opposed by Armed Police, Firemen and Deputy Sheriffs.

FEDERAL TROOPS CALLED TO THE SCENE.

DENVER, Col., March 17.—Gov. Waite with a body of state troops on Thursday attempted to forcibly install his new appointees on the fire and police board. He was met by an armed force of police and deputy sheriffs, and a bloody affray was barely averted by the arrival of federal troops and the intervention of prominent citizens.

This critical situation has been brought about by the determination of Gov. Waite to oust the two members of the fire and police board, Jackson Orr and D. J. Martin, for protecting gambling houses, and to place in office their successors, S. D. Barnes and Dennis Mullins. Messrs. Orr and Martin, having obtained from the district court an injunction restrain-ing Gov. Waite from forcibly removing them, were determined to resist to the utmost. Whereupon the governor decided to ignore the court entirely and called upon the militia to assemble. His orders were to proceed to the city hall and take it by force if necessary.

The city officials accordingly kept the entire police force at the city hall all day under orders to resist the soldiers if attacked. In addition several hundred of the toughest citizens, many of whom have records as man-killers, were sworn in as deputies by Sheriff Burchinal and placed in the city hall as reinforcement of the police department. Each deputy was armed with two six-shooters and instructed to use them in case of necessity. The police were armed with shotguns in addition to their clubs and revolvers.

It was a most exciting day. Early in the morning the militia, constituting the First regiment Colorado national guards, began to assemble at the armory and the Chaffee light artillery, consisting of three Gatling guns and six ten-pounders, were put in readiness to march. At 2 p. m. 300 militiamen marched to the city hall, planted two 12-pounder guns and two Gatlings, and demanded a surrender of the two members of the fire and police board who refuse to be removed. The city hall was occupied by armed men and the windows and roofs of adjacent buildings were crowded. The streets held thousands of men and women.

Brig. Gen. Brooks approached the curb in front of the hall and was met by a committee from the chamber of commerce, who asked for time that a conference might be had with the governor. Committees from the same body waited upon the members of the police board, sitting in their office under the strong protection of the police, and also upon the governor. The governor refused to alter his determination to fire upon the city hall and take it by force. The deposed members of the police board declined to withdraw, and at 6 o'clock, when it was learned that bloodshed would be inevitable, the chamber of commerce men gave up all hopes of a peaceable solution of the difficulty.

At the critical moment, when efforts of leading citizens of the town had failed to get either side to back down, the governor called upon Gen. McCook, commander of the department of Colorado, and the matter of preserving the peace went into the strong hands of the federal government. Gen. McCook had been prepared for just such an emergency and the troops at Fort Logan, near this city, were in readiness to march. He wired them to come, and a special train awaiting such an order soon brought five companies of regulars to the scene.

At 8:45 p. m. the governor withdrew his forces and issued the following proclamation:

"All companies of the national guard of Colorado are hereby notified to be in readiness at the inspection armories to respond to call to come to Denver, which will be issued Friday of this week. DAVIS H. WAITE, Governor. "DENVER, Col., Thursday, 9 p. m."

The withdrawal of the state troops from the scene of action was the result of a conference between Gov. Waite and Adj. Gen. Tarsney, at which it was decided that it would be impossible to take the city hall with the force at hand without great and unnecessary loss of life.

Gen. McCook announces that he will preserve the peace absolutely and will permit no armed or other interference with the regular course of law. This is equivalent to leaving the old board in peaceful possession of the fire and police departments until ousted by the courts.

When three of the wheels are on the floor, the other end is about 1 1/2 inches from the floor, thus enabling it to travel easily. The body is 28 inches wide by 50 inches long. A bottom board is easily put in to make the bottom tight. If stakes are required, narrow boards can be put in slanting over the outer rail and under the inner one; or, if wide boards are used, they will practically make side boards. By making these stakes long enough and putting in end ones in the same way bulky material may be handled. HERE was a night so strangely still, No sound its heavy hours might thrill; E'en whispering nature seemed to be Dumb with untold calamity.

Hushed was the moan of midnight sky; And mute the mourner's answering cry; For whose trembling note to tell Where lay the lost Emmanuel?

And what avail were bitter prayer From hearts all numb with cold despair? And strength was spent—and hope had fled— And all was o'er—for He was dead.

There was a morn whose opal haze Shone glorious with celestial rays; Whose common air was breath Divine— Whose every cloudlet was a shrine.

With music throbb'd the ringing tide— With melody the mountain-side— While every warbler heard his strain Beechod o'er and o'er again.

And tongues of men? Ah! who can tell What joy—what cries—what stammerings fell From lips unloosed, that sobbed the word: "The Lord is risen—He is the Lord!" —Mrs. L. B. Wolford, in N. Y. Independent.

AN EASTER Without Lilies

YES, I was tired and sick of it all. I could deceive myself no longer. My life did not satisfy me; the very grandeur that surrounded me only made it seem more barren. Lent was almost here, but what would it mean? Self-sacrifice, self-denial? To me, yea; to most of the women of the society in which I moved it would mean a few weeks snatched from a bewildering confusion of luncheons, dinners, operas and balls; a little time in which to design and order bewitching toilets, to devise a fresh campaign in entertainments that would rival those given by our friends; a few hours given to church going in plain gown and bonnet; a few dollars out of our abundance given to charity; a few hours spent in reading the latest novels, and in discontented thought, and when from ennuil life became unbearable we would wish for the rush that would once more stifle thought and memory. Then Easter would come to us in all its glory, Easter with its lilies and holy thoughts.

"ROBERT, YOU ARE IN TROUBLE!"

In the great fashionable church, where sunlight filters through beautiful stained glass windows, and heavenly music peals from organ and surplined choir; where hundreds of snowy lilies would lift their heads like censers unto Heaven; the minister, as fashionable as his church, in burning, eloquent words, would tell of that day so long ago, when the angel at the open sepulcher proclaimed a risen Christ. How many of us would regret the year of frivolity behind us, in which we had crushed every thought of God and His people from our hearts, and in which we had filled our minds and lives with vanity and folly? Easter would make an excuse for the wonderful display of beautiful costumes, of jewels, flowers, silks and laces which would fill the church. What a farce it would all be; and I—had I any right to sit in judgment; did I not fill my life as did they?

My beautiful home on Fifth avenue, with its white and gold drawing rooms, its priceless pictures and bric-a-brac, libraries, music-rooms, servants and equipages, what woman would not envy me, and yet the Dead sea fruit turned to ashes at my touch. Up in the nursery were my two beautiful children with their governess and nurse, toys and books enough for fifty children; but they scarcely knew their mother. To be sure when I stopped in the nursery for a moment they held up their rosy lips for my kiss, smoothed the glimmering folds of my gown with their little hands, and called me their "booful mamma," but their little sorrows and griefs, pains and aches they never thought of bringing to me; it was nurse who comforted them—mamma had no time for that.

And my husband—people said it had been a love match; to be sure we were both rich, but any woman could afford to love Robert Morton for himself alone. Handsome, aristocratic, wealthy, a cultivated gentleman in every sense of the word; and yet we had drifted apart; and now we seldom saw each other except when we entertained at home. Business on Wall street and his club held him fast; and I—did slave ever serve master more faithfully than I served society. I had noticed of late that Robert looked a little worn and tired, but he was always well.

Never mind, through Lent I would try to get acquainted with my children and win Robert back to my side; and with a sigh I left the conservatory, where the Easter lilies, just budding, had started this train of thought, and went slowly up the broad stairs to my boudoir. My maid was waiting to dress me for the Van Tassel ball.

As I stood before the pier glass, that stretched from floor to ceiling, I looked with curiosity at the figure before me. The green and pink brocade of my court train lay in shimmering folds far behind me; priceless Duchesse lace draped the front of the gown, and was caught here and there by a diamond star. The shoulders and arms were quite bare but for the diamond necklace that clasped the rounded throat. The proudly poised head, with dark, satiny braids, and the face, with its soft black eyes, were very beautiful, they told me; but I saw the discontented droop of the scarlet lips, and the reckless, disappointed glance from the eyes; and I wished, as I stood there, that I might change places with any woman who had lived a good, true and useful life. I was so tired of this endless round of pleasure for pleasure's sake; but who would have believed me if I had told them? In the eyes of the world I was one of the favored few.

Easter proved a beautiful day, so Robert and I, with our two little ones, went to the quaint old church. How different it all seemed. The bright sunlight streaming through the windows, and the only decoration was the bunch of violets on the desk. The congregation of true and earnest people sang as if their hearts were in the hymn; the minister prayed, as if he were having a talk with a loved friend, and the sermon was the plain and simple gospel of the Christ who is indeed risen.

As my little girl crept close to me and laid her golden head, with a confiding gesture, against my arm, my heart overflowed with thankfulness that at last I knew the joys of wife and motherhood, and was no longer "a soulless doll."

That evening, as we sat around our cheerful hearth, my husband, bending to kiss me, said:

"Ah, Margaret, this Easter, although without lilies, has been the truest Sabbath of our lives!"—Agnes W. McClelland, in Good Housekeeping.

resting on his arms, was my husband. Going to him, I laid my hand on the bowed head.

"Robert, you are in trouble; let me help you."

He sprang up, his face haggard and drawn.

"Margaret, have you heard? I am ruined—ruined."

"Yes, I know; but we have each other."

He did not seem to understand.

"It is not for myself I care. When I first knew all was gone there was a sense of relief. The strain had been so great; the sleepless nights, the terrible struggle, had worn me out. But then came the thought of you and the children. All is gone; do you understand, Margaret, your money, too? There is nothing but your jewels and the little house your grandmother left you."

"Robert," I said, putting my arms around him, "I know, but I have you. I have been a wicked, selfish woman; but if God will forgive me I will be a better wife and mother now."

In a moment I was clasped in his arms, happier than I had been in years.

Lent passed very differently than I had expected. Every moment was filled to overflowing, but I sang gayly over my work, and Robert and I felt as if we were living our honeymoon over again.

Of course there were many annoyances, direct cuts from people who had been glad to be entertained by us in our prosperity, and harder still to bear, patronage from persons who had been only acquaintances, not friends. Yet there was the happiness of finding we had made real friends; thoughtful kindness that touched our hearts. For if adversity shows us our enemies, it also shows us our friends.

We had decided to leave New York, go to the pretty town of Rushford and live in the little cottage that was left us. Robert would start in business with the money my diamonds had brought. It was almost without a pang that I saw my beautiful home dismantled, and the week before Easter found us safe in our new habitation.

Some of our plainest furniture was brought from our city home, and never did a room look prettier to me than did my tiny parlor with its gray carpet and dotted muslin curtains, and when my godfather sent me as a present the little piano that had stood in my boudoir, I believe it made me happier than anything that had ever been given me.

Easter proved a beautiful day, so Robert and I, with our two little ones, went to the quaint old church. How different it all seemed. The bright sunlight streaming through the windows, and the only decoration was the bunch of violets on the desk. The congregation of true and earnest people sang as if their hearts were in the hymn; the minister prayed, as if he were having a talk with a loved friend, and the sermon was the plain and simple gospel of the Christ who is indeed risen.

EASTER EGGS.

One of the Customs of Olden Times—Easter Cards.

Of the old Easter customs, that of coloring eggs and making presents of them is the principal one that survives, although on the western slope of the Alps a curious fashion still prevails which was alluded to in a very old chronicle of central France. On Easter day a hundred eggs—not boiled ones—are distributed over a level space covered with sand, and a young man and young woman execute a country dance around these eggs. The rule is that if they succeed in finishing this dance without breaking a single egg they will become affianced. There is a charming story told of the handsome duke of Savoy and the lovely governante of Flanders who became affianced after this fashion and were happily married. This is not a custom that is likely to spread, however, as civilization advances.

It is in Paris that Paschal eggs are to be seen in the greatest plenty. They are painted in all sorts of colors and transformed into many pretty and useful articles, and old women go about the streets with whole barrow-loads of them piled in separate heaps of white and colored eggs. In this country the dainty Easter cards seem to have taken the place of the eggs used in other lands; and, after all, is it not more sensible, as well as more truly Christian, to send as an Easter remembrance a suggestive and exquisite little picture with just a verse which shall remind the recipient of that greatest day in the history of the universe—the day when "Christ is risen!"—Helen M. Winslow, in N. W. Christian Advocate.

HONORS FOR A REFORMER.

Celebration of the 90th Birthday of Neal Dow, the Temperance Veteran.

NEW YORK, March 20.—It was made manifest at the meeting which the American Temperance union held Sunday in Carnegie hall in celebration of the 90th birthday of Gen. Neal Dow that the total abstinence advocates of this city look to the granting of suffrage to women as the only measure that will insure the abolition of the saloons and the general traffic in liquor in this city and the country in general. Carnegie hall was crowded when the anniversary exercises began. It had been expected that Gen. Dow would be present, but he sent a letter saying that a severe cold and an engagement in Maine on Tuesday rendered it impossible to undertake the journey to New York. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler delivered a vigorous eulogy of Gen. Dow's temperance work. Dr. B.

GEN. NEAL DOW.

B. Tyler, of the Church of Disciples, declared that women's votes were necessary to the cause. Noah Davis said that without women armed with a legal vote as an aid man could not battle with the temperance problem with any hope of success. Mrs. Mary T. Burt, Prof. Samuel Dickie, Rev. Dr. McArthur, Rev. Joseph Cook and others spoke and A. M. Powell, secretary of the National Temperance league, offered a series of resolutions praising Gen. Dow and favoring the annihilation of the liquor traffic all over the country.

The Brooklyn Temperance league celebrated the 90th birthday of Gen. Neal Dow at the union assembly room. Chairman Walker spoke of Neal Dow's birthday and said it was being celebrated all over the United States, England, Germany, France and Australia.

Neal Dow was born in the city of Portland, Me., on the 20th of March, 1794. His parents were of the Society of Friends. His first identification with the temperance movement was in connection with the Maine Temperance union, an organization composed of those who withdrew from a society which had by the form of its pledge, compromised with wine-drinkers. The union appeared before the state legislature in 1827, demanding the abrogation of all license laws, and the substitution of prohibition of the sale of all alcoholic beverages. His first public appearance as an advocate of the prohibitory policy was in 1832, when he appeared before the board of aldermen in his own city, and induced them to refer the question of "license" or "no-license" to a vote of the citizens. No-license was defeated by a majority of 36 out of a vote of 1,163. In 1842 he again succeeded in having the question submitted to the people, and it was carried by a majority of 440. He turned his attention to the state in 1843, printing and circulating petitions to the legislature at his own expense, pressing for a stringent law, and that "the traffic in intoxicating liquors might be held and adjudged an infamous crime."

In February, 1854, he went before the legislative committee, which reported a bill favorably. It passed the house, but was defeated in the senate. Meetings were held all over the state the next two years. Mr. Dow was speaking in school districts, and scattered a literature profusely everywhere over the state. In 1846 he secured the passage of a prohibitory law by a vote of 81 to 42 in the house and 23 to 5 in the senate. The penalties were insufficient, and the next year another bill was passed, but was vetoed by the governor. In 1850 he presented a bill of his own drafting, and secured its passage in the house, but it was lost in the senate by a tie vote.

In 1851 he was elected mayor of the city of Portland, and for the sixth time appeared before the legislature with a bill of his own, which passed the house 85 to 40, and the senate 18 to 10. Mayor Neal Dow issued a proclamation that he should promptly enforce the law, giving vendors sixty days to ship their liquors out of the city. He seized $2,000 worth of liquor and had it openly destroyed. Mr. Dow was reelected and a mob gathered to resist the execution of the law, but he was equal to the emergency, and the mob was repelled and dispersed. In 1853 he attended the world's temperance convention, held in the city of New York, and was made president of the convention. The "Maine Law" was repealed in 1856, but Mr. Dow rallied the people, and it was reenacted in 1857 with increased restrictions and penalties.

In 1861 he recruited the Thirtieth regiment of Maine volunteers and a battery of artillery, and entered the army. President Lincoln appointed him brigadier general in 1862, and he was twice wounded in battle, in the attack on Fort Hudson, Louisiana, and taken to a plantation in the rear, was captured by a squad of Loren's cavalry and taken to Libby prison in Richmond, Va. He was exchanged in March, 1864, for Gen. Fitz-Hugh Lee.

He was vice president of the national temperance conventions held in Saratoga in 1865 and in Cleveland in 1873, representing the National Division Sons of Temperance on both occasions. He visited England three times and delivered over 500 addresses under the auspices of the United Kingdom alliance, in every part of the kingdom. He was initiated into the National Division Sons of Temperance of North America at the session held in Richmond, Va., in 1852, and was elected most worthy associate of that body.

He was the candidate of the prohibition party in 1860 for the presidency of the United States, and received 10,300 votes. He was a member of the national temperance convention, held at Saratoga Springs in 1865, which organized the National Temperance society and publication house, and has been vice president of the society from its commencement.

LYNCHED.

A Mob Captures an Escaped Murderer and Hangs Him.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., March 17.—Richard Puryear (colored), who several weeks ago killed Christian C. Ehler and tried to murder the entire Ehler family, was lynched by a mob Thursday morning. By some means Puryear had secured a stick, with which he pushed back the bolt of the cell door during the night, and the outer door being unlocked through carelessness on the part of some one he gained access to the hall of the jail. He tried to force his way out through an upper window, but failed. He next secreted himself in the bath-room and waited until the sheriff should come in in the morning.

About 7 o'clock Thursday morning as Sheriff Kryes unlocked the door of the jail to take breakfast in to the prisoners and stepped into the corridor he noticed that the outer door of Puryear's cell was unlocked. At the same time the prisoner jumped from his hiding place and sped out of the open jail door, closed it quickly and locked the sheriff in. He then went out through the kitchen of the jail building, and running across some vacant lots was soon outside the borough limits. The sheriff shouted and attracted the attention of his wife, who unlocked the door and set him free.

A general alarm was at once sent out and an immediate pursuit of the escaped murderer was begun. As he had but a few feet the start of his pursuers there was no possibility of his getting away. The desperate man swam McMichael's creek, closely followed by a big negro, who caught him just as he landed on the opposite bank. Puryear resisted, but the sight of a revolver in his captor's hand caused him to yield. He was then brought back across the creek, where he was seized by a crowd that had gathered. Some one in the mob had a rope, which was quickly attached to the limb of a tree, and willing hands swung the desperado up. From the time he escaped from the jail till he was hanged only nineteen minutes elapsed.

DEATH OF AN AVENGER.

Francis E. Brownell, Who Killed Col. Ellsworth's Assassin, Passes Away.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Francis Edwin Brownell, a man whose name became a historic one during the late rebellion, died in this city at 10 a. m. For some years Mr. Brownell has been a clerk in the pension office here. Mr. Brownell gained his fame in the earliest days of the civil war by avenging the assassination of Col. E. E. Ellsworth, the famous commander of the Ellsworth zouaves, at Alexandria, Va. The incident created a furore at the north and fanned into intensity the blaze of patriotism then sweeping over the land.

Brownell was a private in the Ellsworth zouaves and was with that company when it went to Alexandria, Va., the day after the ordinance of secession was passed. Mr. Jackson, proprietor of the Marshall house in that city, hoisted the confederate flag over the building, Col. Ellsworth went to the hotel and hauled it down. When on the stairway he was shot dead by the proprietor, Jackson, who in turn was promptly shot and killed by Brownell. Brownell was awarded a medal of honor by congress for his act. He was also presented medals and other tokens by citizens of Troy, N. Y., New York city, Boston and Providence.

Brownell was 53 years of age. During his fatal illness he talked in his delirium of his efforts to disclose the conspiracy of the Knights of the Golden Circle, which he investigated while acting as assistant to the provost marshal general of St. Louis. He was a member of post 28, G. A. R., of Chicago, and of the commandery of the Loyal Legion of Washington. He filled a clerkship in the pension office at the time of his death.

FIFTY LOST IN A COLLISION.

Steamers Song Guan and Aing Hoo Lost in Asiatic Waters.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 17.—Oriental advices which have been received here announce that a disastrous collision occurred recently in the strait between Bengal and Cagal. Two steamers, the Song Guan and Aing Hoo, collided while going at full speed. Those on board the Song Guan jumped into the water and were picked up by the crew of the Aing Hoo. Hardly had they reached the wreck when both steamers lurched and went down. About fifty people were drowned and as many saved themselves by swimming ashore, among them being two Americans, Capt. Miller, of the Song Guan, and Chief Engineer Pirie.

THE IDAHO FLOOD.

Total Loss Probably Will Exceed $100,000—Trains Delayed.

BOISE, Idaho, March 17.—The damage from Indian creek flood is not so bad as reported. E. K. Mitchell, assistant manager of the Orchard Farm company, came in from there. He says about 60 feet of the lower wall of the dam broke, making a clear cut and emptying the reservoir, but that the farm was not overflowed nor damaged in any way. Ten thousand dollars will make the dam as good as ever, and this can be done in time to provide water for the prune trees. The town of Nampa was damaged to the extent of $20,000 and the railroad company $50,000. The water has subsided.

BARRINGTON, FRIDAY, March. 24

THE BRECKENRIDGE.

We are sure that the Macon, Ga. Telegraph voices the sentiments of the really chivalrous part of the South when it says:

Conceding what Mr. Breckenridge says is true, his case is helped very little in the estimation of the right-thinking man, however much it may go to mitigate damages in a court of law.

This seems a fair statement from a political friend and will stand the test. Even if the statement made by Colonel Breckenridge's counsel yesterday is true it will hardly change the opinion of the great body of the community already formed.

His is not the case of a warm nature overcome by sudden temptations; his is not the case of a simple nature beguiled by the blandishment of an artful woman; his is not the case of a brave and dashing libertine ruining yet partially protecting the victim of his passion.

ROSEBERY AND THE PRINCES.

The old story has been revived that Lord Rosebery is about to marry Maud, the youngest daughter of the Princes of Wales. This time it is learned from an authoritative quarter.

Of course the rumor is of interest. Lord Rosebery is a very promising man and the daughter of Wales inherits importance.

We hope that the rumor is true. We want to see Rosebery get on in life and we are sure Maud would find him a kind and domestic husband.

He will never take her to the third floor back of an $8 a week boarding-house. No; he can support her in the style to which she is accustomed.

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given by the Highland School, District 2, Town of Palatine; on Thursday evening, March 15, was an entire success.

Although it was the first time that any of the pupils had ever appeared on the stage they did exceedingly well. Among those who deserve special mention were Miss Lydia Meyer by her good impersonation of an Irish girl; Edward Hartz by his droll delivery of Hans Brightman Gives a Party.

The originality of the dialogue The Ghost in the Kitchen was highly appreciated by the audience.

Walter Meyer was the hero of this play.

Mrs. W. T. Harrower favored the company with two fine solos, Mary of Argyle and The Watch on the Rhine. She also gave them some recitations.

Mr. James McDonough by a request from Mr. Harrower, the teacher, also favored the audience with a very interesting recitation. Bergen on the Rhine being his subject.

Miss Ethel Harrower made a pronounced hit by rendering a recitation about a farmer boy, which of course found a place in the hearts of all present.

After the entertainment a collection was taken up by the Board of Directors. This money is to be used in procuring a United States flag for the school.

DR. MOORE'S LECTURE.

One of the finest, inspiring, uplifting and ennobling lectures was given in the M. E. Church Friday evening, March 16th, by Dr. C. A. Moore, under the auspices of the Epworth League.

"The Man for the Times" was the subject of Dr. Moore's lecture. He held that the most essential point of a man for the times was good, solid, common sense. A man with a good supply of common sense is made better by education but if he lack this essential, common sense, he is made no better. Another point he made was Do not ride a hobby.

Many more valuable points we might mention but for lack of space we have mentioned only a few main points. The lecture was said by many to be worth the entire price of the course of lectures.

VICTIMS OF A GALE.

Texas Visited by a Tornado Costly to Life and Property.

Eighteen Persons Are Reported to Have Been Killed—Many Others Injured and Some of Them May Die—Houses and Barns Ruined.

A FATAL STORM.

LONGVIEW, Tex., March 30.—A destructive storm passed over this place at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. Hailstones fell weighing fourteen to eighteen ounces. Chickens and turkeys roosting in trees were killed, while ducks, geese and hogs were pelted to death.

At Lansing Switch the cyclone struck the house of John Cains, occupied by a family of negroes. The house was destroyed and six persons were killed, three mortally wounded and five seriously hurt. Old man Alexander Lester was found entirely nude 50 yards from the house dead, Alexander Lester, Jr., 18 years old, the mother, Sarah Lester, Robert Lester, Jasper Collins and Sissy Lester, 2 years old, were also killed. Sissy Lester was found several yards away in a treetop.

Mollie Collins has a hole in her head and many bruises; Silas Johnson, who was visiting the family, received ugly abrasions from the crown of his head to his heels, he may die; Frank Dizer had his leg broken below the knee; Dock Simmons, a relative, has a badly crushed head and will die; Odessa Lester, 4 years old, was found in the field with her right leg broken above and below the knee, she will die; Arthur Lester, 6 years old, Willie Lester, 9 years old, were injured seriously.

Half a mile south of the ill-fated Lester house the house of John Buffitt, a white man, was dashed to splinters, leaving the family unhurt, except from bruises from hailstones. Two miles east the large barn of Nick Harris was unroofed, and 1 mile farther the house of Sallie James (colored) was destroyed. The inmates escaped. Lorilla James, 3 years, was badly and perhaps fatally hurt with hailstones. A Mr. Davis, living on the Little Nick Harris place, three-quarters of a mile from the Lester house, had his house demolished, escaping with many bruises.

At Emery, the county seat of Rains county, the entire western portion of the town was ruined at 7:30 Saturday evening. Miss Easter Alexander, Eras Henry, George Walker and the 4-year-old son of Henry Murray (colored) are the known dead.

Three unidentified bodies were found north of Emery Sunday. The post office was used as a hospital and morgue. SANTA ANNA, Tex.; March 19.—A tornado swept over portions of this town and of the cotton counties, wrecking buildings and leveling fences. At Trickham, in Coleman county, W. D. Watson's house was blown to the ground. Mrs. Watson and four children were killed outright. An infant escaped unhurt, while Watson's injuries will prove fatal.

IGNORED THEIR CRIES.

Three Persons Drowned in San Francisco Bay After a Long Struggle for Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Mrs. Mollie Martin, wife of a saloonkeeper, her daughter Ora, aged 6, and Miss Nellie McCarthy, who lived with the Martins, were drowned in the bay Sunday by the capsizing of a yacht. They were out on a pleasure trip with Peter Thornburg, a Swedish sailor. The latter gave the tiller to Mrs. Martin, while he adjusted the sails. She was inexperienced, threw the boat too close to the wind and it turned over. All managed to hold on to the overturned boat, which drifted with the ebb tide past the British ship Mary Down. Thornburg claims their cries for assistance were heard, but the officers refused to lower a boat, throwing out a life buoy instead. The women, exhausted, finally loosened their holds and sunk. Thornburg was rescued after being two hours in the water.

EVERY STORE ROBBED.

Thieves Carry Off the Plunder from Ooltewah, Tenn., by the Wagonload.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 20.—A telegram received by Chief of Police Hill from Ooltewah, Tenn., says that every store in the town was robbed Friday night and asking that men and bloodhounds be sent to trace the robbers. Officers were at once sent with dogs and mounted horses to scour the intervening country. Ooltewah, the county seat of James county, is 14 miles from here. The place has seven stores. The thieves loaded the booty on wagons. At one store they blew open the safe, but as the town has no officers their work was not discovered until Sunday morning.

MRS. NOBLE EXPIRES.

Wife of the Ex-Secretary of the Interior Dies Suddenly in Her Home.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 20.—Mrs. John W. Noble, wife of ex-President Harrison's secretary of the interior, died suddenly at her home in this city Sunday afternoon. The end came to her while standing in her dining-room chatting with friends and waiting for Gen. Noble, who had stepped from the room to call her carriage for a drive. She complained suddenly of dizziness and her maid caught her as she was falling and before she could be taken to a couch she was dead. The cause of death was organic heart disease.

HAS NO FEARS.

Gov. McKinley Anticipates No Trouble with Coxe and His Army.

COLUMBUS, O., March 20.—Whether Coxe and his army of peace, if one is gathered, can be legally suppressed as a public menace before they start from Massillon on the journey to Washington next Sunday is a question on which Gov. McKinley was induced to talk, though with evident reluctance. However, when seen, Gov. McKinley asked a number of questions about the army scheme. He wanted to know if Gov. Pattison had been appealed to or would take any cognizance of the case. The governor was decidedly loath to talk about the affair. He said:

"I have heard no fears expressed by anybody. Really I do not believe there is the least cause for alarm. Surely you do not think that a large number of men will gather and march to Washington? The country would not support them. Besides I can't see what they would accomplish in Washington if they got there. The whole thing is too visionary. If an emergency arose I would meet it promptly."

Gov. McKinley intends to go to Minneapolis this week, and will be out of the state when the army begins its march next Sunday. Under the Ohio laws the absence of the governor would not make much difference, for the mayor of Massillon or the sheriff of Stark county could order out the Eighth regiment if the soldiers were needed. Local militia in Ohio can be called out without a request to the governor. It may be added that the members of the regiment expect to have some work. In the Buckeye state the militia is frequently called out on slighter provocation than in Pennsylvania.

MASSILLON, O., March 19.—Commander Coxe and Lient. Browne were in town Saturday. They had spoken the night before at Trotter's Hill, a mining camp which is now sorely racked by a strike. Five hundred miners were at the meeting. With scarcely an exception the men endorsed the commonwealth march to Washington and many of them assured the speakers that they would accompany the expedition.

There is grave apprehension that the army will meet with trouble in Pennsylvania. The column will move through one of the most depressed industrial districts in the state, and it is firmly believed that the army will be joined by thousands of idle men before it reaches Pittsburgh. The mayor of Beaver Falls, a town through which the army is scheduled to pass, has publicly declared that he will stop the column the instant it swings into his territory. He argues that the army will be nothing more nor less than a band of vagabonds, without discipline or conscience. To bring such an army into Beaver Falls, he says, would be the crowning misfortune of a town which has been paralyzed for a year or more by industrial conflicts. On the other hand the village of Economy, a rich communistic community, through which the army is to pass after leaving Beaver Falls, has offered to feed and shelter the commonwealers for a day. The offer comes from one of the wealthiest men of the town and is indorsed by a score of citizens.

It is the belief of the men who look upon the pilgrimage in a conservative way that the army will be so unwieldy after it enters Pennsylvania that it will slip away from the control of Commander Coxe and become a noisy, pillaging mob, preying upon the henocoops and smokehouses of farmers and inviting and eventually receiving a stern reception from the troops of the state. Numerous applications have been received from enthusiastic women who wish to join the common weal. Gen. Coxe has decided that his army must not entangle itself with women. "If it were an ordinary military campaign," he says, "we might use our women sympathizers as nurses, but we expect no bloodshed, and under such circumstances a nurse would be an expensive luxury."

Lowell L. Marvin, of Falmouth, Ky., proposes to join the army with 200 men, and C. O'Brien, of Lagro, Ind., promises to be present with 600 of the unemployed.

Saturday several letters reached Coxe and Browne from various parts of Pennsylvania saying that Gov. Pattison has ordered Sheriff John Moon, of Green county, to meet the army on the state line and read the riot act. The general at once wired the governor and received the following reply, which he regards as highly noncommittal:

"The sheriff of Green county knows his duty and I have no doubt will fully perform every requirement of the law."

Cheap Rate for Veterans.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Eastern roads have announced a rate of a cent a mile for the Grand Army encampment at Pittsburgh in September.

A BOMB THROWER'S FATE.

Tries to Blow Up a Paris Church, But Is Killed Himself.

PARIS, March 17.—A dynamite outrage involving the death of the alleged anarchist who threw the explosive missile was committed Thursday afternoon inside the chief entrance of the famous Church of La Madeleine. In addition to killing the bomb-thrower, a number of people who were in his vicinity at the time of the explosion were more or less severely injured.

About the house mentioned a loud explosion was heard inside the church. A crowd of people immediately rushed to the church and in a short time the interior of the church and the Place de la Madeleine were in a state of great confusion and excitement.

The people who were the first to rush up the steps leading from the place to the main entrance of the church succeeded in entering the building and found it filled with smoke, and from the inside could be heard the shrieks and groans of apparently a number of wounded people.

Near a small door on the right of the main entrance the people who were first to enter found shattered human remains. For a time, owing to the smoke and excitement, the people who made this discovery did not dare to penetrate any further. As the smoke cleared away and the people regained their presence of mind, it was seen that the remains were those of a man who was terribly shattered by the explosion. Upon the body of the man who had been blown to pieces were found a number of papers and a portrait of Ravachol, the executed anarchist.

When the smoke had cleared away and examination was made of the premises, it was seen that the bomb or infernal machine, which had apparently exploded prematurely while in possession of the anarchist, had done but little damage to the church.

At the Lenten services, which were to have taken place at 4 o'clock, a large number of people would have been present, and the police expressed the opinion that the dead man intended to explode his bomb in the midst of the crowd of worshippers.

There were but few people in the church at the time of the explosion as the hour was too early for the Lenten service, but they were so alarmed that they set up a chorus of cries and groans, which led everybody to believe that the explosion had injured quite a number of them.

The door by which the bomb-thrower must have entered the church, according to the police, was the cause of his death. This door opens and shuts with a heavy swing, and it is believed that the bomb-thrower, pushing upon the door and having the bomb upon his person, forgot or did not know of the strong swing of this door, and, in closing, it struck him and exploded the bomb.

The corpse of the bomb thrower has been removed from the church to a morgue. After it arrived there Dr. Alphonso Bertillon made an anthropometrical measurement of the body and found that it coincided with the anarchist Pauwells, who was an intimate friend of the anarchists Bastard and Paul Reclus. A number of rivets similar to those used by skin-dressers were found on the body, and Pauwells was a skin-dresser. When the corpse was lifted up to be taken to the morgue it was found that one of the hands tightly clasped a revolver. Both hands were badly injured. The bomb was filled with nails and rivets which laterally ripped the abdomen of the anarchist into shreds.

THE GREAT NORTHWEST.

Capital Invested and Value of Product of Its Manufactures.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Statistics of manufactures in the United States, according to the figures from the census of 1890, make a showing for northwestern states as follows:

Illinois—Establishments, 20,482; aggregate capital, $62,004,512; value of products, $98,640,283.
Iowa—Establishments, 7,440; capital, $77,513,097; products, $125,044,183.
Michigan—Establishments, 12,127; capital, $362,412,340; products, $277,896,706.
Wisconsin—Establishments, 10,417; capital, $246,515,404; products, $248,546,164.
Indiana—Establishments, 12,354; capital, $132,435,366; products, $224,825,082.
Ohio—Establishments, 28,673; capital, $402,733,019; products, $641,688,064.
Nebraska—Establishments, 3,014; capital, $37,469,508; products, $96,037,794.

The total number of manufacturing establishments in the United States is reported as 355,401, as against 253,552 in 1880. The summary of totals gives the following figures for 1890: Capital, $6,121,475,305; miscellaneous expenses, $630,944,058; aggregate of the average number of employees, 4,771,112; wages, $2,282,823,265; cost of materials used, $5,158,868,353; and value of products, $9,370,107,624. The contribution to the wealth of the country, it is stated, is more clearly shown by deducting $5,158,869,353, the cost of material used, from the value of the products. This leaves $4,211,238,271 as the increased valuation of the raw materials.

Fire Destroys a Big Clubhouse.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—The interior of the Pickwick club, the handsomest in the south, was destroyed by fire Thursday morning, and only the walls remain. The building was erected in 1882 at a cost of $130,000, exclusive of the site. The furnishings cost $40,000, which does not include costly paintings and statuary. The combined loss on building, furniture, etc., is $178,000; insurance, $130,000.

After reading the following letters can any one longer doubt that a trust worthy remedy for that terribly fatal malady, consumption, has at last been found? If these letters had been written by your best known and most esteemed neighbors they could be no more worthy of your confidence than they now are, coming, as they do, from well known, intelligent and trustworthy citizens, who, in their several neighborhoods, enjoy the fullest confidence and respect of all who know them.

K. C. McLin, Esq., of Kempsville, Princess Anne Co., Va., whose portrait heads this article, writes: "When I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I was very low with a cough and at times spit up much blood. I was not able to do the least work, but most of the time was in bed. I was all run-down, very weak, my head was dizzy and I was extremely despondent. The first bottle I took did not seem to do me much good, but I had faith in it and continued using it until I had taken fifteen bottles and now I do not look nor feel like the same man I was one year ago. People are astonished and say, 'well, last year this time I would not have thought that you would be living now.' I can thank fully say I am entirely cured of a disease which, but for your wonderful 'Discovery' would have resulted in my death."

Even when the predisposition to consumption is inherited, it may be cured, as verified by the following from a most truthful and much respected Canadian lady, Mrs. Thomas Vansicklin, of Brighton, Ont. She writes: "I have long felt it my duty to acknowledge to you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Pleasant Pellets' have done for me. They almost raised me from the grave. I had three brothers and one sister die of consumption and I was speedily following after them. I had severe cough, pain, copious expectoration and other alarming symptoms and my friends all thought I had but a few months to live. At that time I was persuaded to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the first bottle acted like magic. Of course, I continued on with the medicine and as a result I gained rapidly in strength. My friends were astonished. When I commenced the use of your medicines, six years ago, I weighed but 120 pounds and was sinking rapidly. I now weigh 188, and my health continues perfect."

Mrs. Thos. Vansicklin

"Golden Medical Discovery" cures consumption (which is scrofula of the lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating and nutritive properties. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. While it promptly cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

"Golden Medical Discovery" does not make fat people more corpulent, but for thin, pale, puny children, as well as for adults reduced in flesh, from any cause, it is the greatest flesh-builder known to medical science. Nasty cod liver oil and its "emulsions" are not to be compared with it in efficacy. It rapidly builds up the system, and increases the solid flesh and weight of those reduced below the usual standard of health by "wasting diseases."

To brace up the entire system after the grip, pneumonia, fevers, and other prostrating acute diseases; to build up needed flesh and strength, and to restore health and vigor when you feel "run-down" and "used-up" the best thing in the world is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It promotes all the bodily functions, rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses, repairs, and invigorates the entire system.

A Treatise on Consumption, giving numerous testimonials with phototype, or half-tone, portraits of those cured, numerous references, also containing successful Home Treatment for chronic nasal catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, and kindred diseases, will be mailed by the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of six cents in stamps, to pay postage. Or The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1,000 pages, 300 illustrations, mailed for $1.50.

THE DOGS OF WAR.

They Appear to Have Been Chained at Denver,

Pending Proposed Action by the Supreme Court on the Cause of the Trouble
 —The Sanity of Gov. Waite Is in Question.

THE SITUATION STILL CRITICAL.
 DENVER, Col., March 19.—Gov. Waite went home Friday night, having promised a delegation of citizens, headed by I. N. Stevens, that he would give a definite reply to the arbitration proposition, and it was more than likely that he would agree and withdraw the militia from further service. The proposition is to submit to the supreme court the question as to who are the legal members of the fire and police board. This was strongly urged by the attorneys who had been employed by the new members, seeking through Gov. Waite's military prowess to get the coveted seats. They sent an ultimatum in the afternoon that they would withdraw from the case unless Gov. Waite gave up his ill-advised action in calling out the militia.

There has yet been no apparent movement on the part of the governor to again order out the militia, but Game Warden Callcott swore in 150 deputies, who, under the state law, have the powers of deputy sheriffs, to guard the governor and do his bidding.

When a committee waited on Gen. McCook Friday afternoon to inquire as to his plans he told them that the regulars would remain indefinitely until peace was declared by the governor and the city hall factions and there was no further evidence of insurrection or riotous conduct. The men have rations for ten days.

Gov. Waite was indignant at the stand taken by Gen. McCook. He says some one told him that the troops would assist him to maintain the law, which, defined by the governor, meant to assist him in capturing the well-defended city hall. When he found that the course to be taken by Gen. McCook was to keep the peace and prevent bloodshed he felt that he had been basely betrayed by some one. He talked the matter over with the experienced warrior Friday morning and came away satisfied that the general's stand was legally a righteous one, but decidedly humiliating to him, the commander in chief of the national guards. He was not pleased to find that McCook would not agree to the proposition to assist the militia, and did not enjoy having the chief of police assured that the troops would aid that side also to keep the streets from running deep with gore. The official correspondence is published showing that Gen. McCook had already stated his position Thursday night. Friday morning, after the conference, Gov. Waite officially withdrew his request for troops. "Now," said he, "the troops may do as they like. I shall pay no further attention to them."

A meeting of prominent citizens was held in Judge Yeaman's office Friday night, at which the question of the governor's sanity was seriously discussed. At 11:30 the meeting adjourned until morning. If it is decided to procure a lunacy inquiry affidavits will be filed with Judge Le Fevre of the county court, who will issue an order and it will become the duty of the sheriff to arrest the governor and hold him for a jury trial. The governor's office is guarded by personal friends, heavily armed, and his house is similarly watched at night. He repeats that he expects to be assassinated, and his doings during the last few days have been extremely erratic. He has issued orders and changed them, and made promises and broke them in the most extraordinary way, and even his closest friends are in ignorance of what can be looked for next. At least twenty people have called on the district attorney and urged him to have the governor tried as to his sanity. It is said that Drs. Eskridge, Pfeifer and H. E. Lemmon are willing to swear that he is insane.

Up to this morning Gen. McCook says he is without orders from Washington. Gen. McCook says there is no doubt that had a gun been fired Thursday the governor would have been lynched within half an hour, to the state's lasting disgrace. Gen. McCook says he has the United States troops here only to protect public property, and they will remain in town until the excitement is over, especially since there is a large number of desperate men in town ready to foment riot so as to make robbery possible.

The governor has not ordered the outside militia to come to Denver, but they are under orders and drawing pay. He has instructed livery stable men to have 100 horses ready for his use. This strange order has added to the general uneasiness. The old board holding the city hall says it will defy the whole state militia, which cannot muster much over 800 men.

The state troops at Durango, Boulder, Colorado Springs, Grand Junction and other centers have been uniformed and under arms all day, ready to take special trains to Denver, and the state troops in this city have been on call. Exciting reports have been flying all over the state. Many people regard the governor's military demonstration as a big bluff to show his contempt for Judge Graham's injunction and compel the judge, if possible, to arrest him.

KILLED HIS SISTERS.

For This Awful Crime John Hart Is Hanged at Rockford, Ill.
 ROCKFORD, Ill., March 19.—John Hart was hanged here Friday, the drop falling at 11:04 a. m. Hundreds of people flocked from all sections of the country to witness the execution, and the streets in the vicinity of the gall and stockade were blocked two hours before the hanging took place. Hart remained up and visited with friends until 4 o'clock a. m., when he retired and slept soundly until he was aroused at 7 o'clock. Three guards were with him all night and he talked freely of his impending doom. "So help me God," he declared to his watchers, "I know nothing of the crime that I have been charged with. My mind is a complete blank on the subject. I am not afraid to meet God and will die feeling that I am morally innocent of any crime."

When the procession which escorted the doomed man to the gallows reached the scaffold Sheriff Burbank led the prisoner to the deathtrap, over which the noose was swinging. He placed a chair for Hart to sit down. Said the latter: "I'll stand." Without a tremor Hart stood erect and faced the crowd in front of him. There was no perceptible change in his demeanor. He moistened his lips occasionally, and his eyes wandered from one part of the yard to another.

When offered a chance to say what he wished Hart replied that on the advice of his spiritual adviser he would say nothing. Sheriff Burbank placed the noose about his neck. Not a tremor was observed and the murderer was outwardly not affected. The sheriff then bound him with three straps, Hart offering no resistance, and a long white shroud was passed around his form and a white cap was drawn over his head. All was ready and the sheriff stepped back from the deathtrap. There was an instant's pause, awful in its intensity. Then there was a dull, grating sound, and the death-trap fell at 11:04 with a loud noise, and the body of the murderer shot downward. His neck was broken instantly.

[The crime for which Hart was executed was the most atrocious ever committed in this part of the state. On September 5, 1893, Hart was alone on the farm 6 miles west of Rockford with his mother and two sisters, Mary and Nellie. During the afternoon the mother left the house for a short time, going to the potato patch in the rear of the residence to get some potatoes for the evening meal. No sooner had his mother left the house than John Hart called his sister Nellie to the barn, telling her that the granary floor had sprung a leak and was letting oats into the basement below. When the unsuspecting girl had reached the bottom of the basement steps Hart turned on her, and after choking her severely forced her to drink Paris green out of a bottle. He then struck her on the head with a hammer and shot her in the stomach with a revolver, leaving her on the floor for dead. Going to the front yard where his elder sister Mary had been rocking in a chair Hart shot her four times after a struggle that left the porch besmeared with blood. When the victims were found Mary was dead, but Nellie recovered sufficiently to dictate a dying statement which was admitted as evidence in the trial and doubtless convicted the murderer. After completing his work Hart changed his blood-stained clothes, and mounting a swift horse rode to Rockford, where he was arrested in a barber-shop, the man who shaved him just telling the murders of the crime when the police entered.]

DEATH BY DYNAMITE.

One Member of a Minnesota Family Killed and Five Others Injured.

DULUTH, Minn., March 19.—Edward Wagner, a German laborer living in the outskirts of the city, put three sticks of dynamite in the oven of the family cook stove to thaw out while he was eating breakfast Friday morning. The house is now in ruins and the family in mourning. Otto Wagner, a 13-year-old boy, was killed, and Edward Wagner, his wife and two other children were badly hurt. The house was a total wreck.

Heavy Failure in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—Felix H. Bunckle, doing business as Hunnicke Brothers at 706 Lucas avenue, and dealing wholesale in hats, caps, etc., made an assignment to W. C. Jones for the benefit of creditors. The failure was caused by pressure of a claim for $12,000 borrowed money. The assets are about $75,000; liabilities, including the claim, about $175,000.

Easter.

What have you brought us, gentle spring? Songs the robins and blue birds sing, Emerald robes for branches bare, Blossoms of woodland, fresh and fair, I bring new life to the waking rill, I clothe in loveliness vale and hill, I call from the dark, unsightly mold Lilies of white with hearts of gold To crown the beautiful Easter.

What does the welcome Easter bring? Carols of joy the children sing, Prizes to One who has died to save, Hope that springs from an empty grave. It tells of a prison with broken bars, Of life and beauty beyond the stars, And when the days of our years are told, Out of the sepulchre, dark and cold, God's lilies shall crown the Easter.

A Singular Form of Monomania.

There is a class of people, rational enough in other respects, who are certainly monomaniacs in dosing themselves. They are constantly trying experiments upon their stomachs, their bowels, their livers and their kidneys with trashy nostrums. When these organs are really out of order, if they would only use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they would, if not hopelessly insane, perceive its superiority.

Miss Esther Elvidge, assistant primary teacher of the M. E. Sunday School, gave the teacher, Mrs. J. B. Harrower, and her class a party last Saturday afternoon. Eighteen children were present, their ages ranging from 10 months old to 7 years respectively. The little ones enjoyed themselves as children can, playing marbles, drop the handkerchief, hunt the thimble, etc. Many conundrums were given and guessed and a few pieces were recited. Twenty biscuit and jelly cookies with a big raisin on each, pattie cakes with a mysterious little candy doll baked in each cake (for a souvenir), popcorn, hickory nuts and taffy, chocolate caramels, dates and peanuts were served. Good-nights were then said, and if the old adage is true that 'actions speak louder than words' they had a good time.

Mr. A. G. Coykendall of Wauconda, one of the editors of the Wauconda Leader, passed through Barrington Monday on his way to Platteville, Colo., where he will spend a few weeks with his father and brother. Some time ago he was under the care of Dr. Dawson of Wauconda on account of pneumonia and lung troubles, which confined him to his bed. Dr. Dawson called on Dr. Richardson of Barrington for consultation, both doctors agreeing to a point and it was under their directions that he sought a change of climate in order to regain his health.

The United States secret service from Des Moines are trying to annihilate one of the most enterprising gang of counterfeiters that ever graced the leaf of criminal history. Their output as near as can be estimated amounts to $500,000, and their money will deceive even the bankers, containing the same ring, and as much good silver and alloy as Uncle Sam's genuine dollar. Their profit is said to be 51 cents on the $1, owing to the price of silver. The officers have a clew which they hope will lead to the arrest of the whole gang.

Dr. Moore gave one of the most instructive and inspiring lectures under the auspices of the Epworth League ever heard in this town. The Epworth League were so pleased with it that at their business meeting, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Harrower, it was decided to ask Dr. Moore to come again in the near future.

Do not fail to go to hear Dr. John Williamson, the revivalist, at the M. E. Church this week. He is a very interesting expounder of the Bible, and you will enjoy hearing him. He is original and can explain in a way that is both interesting and instructive.
