

BARRINGTON REVIEW.

VOL. 10. No. 21.

BARRINGTON, ILL., SATURDAY, OCT. 5, 1895.

$1.25 A YEAR.

Barrington Chips.

Geo. Barnett spent Sunday with his mother.

Rev. T. E. Ream made a trip to Chicago Thursday.

"Pillsbury's Best" flour is handled by Walthausen & Landwer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Powers returned from Springfield, after taking in the state fair.

WANTED—Boy 15 to 18, to assist in creamery ten miles from Barrington. Apply "Creamery," REVIEW office.

Another wedding is soon to come off in the southern part of our village. A long wedding trip is to follow.

While L. Tache was loading coal at Plagge & Co.'s yard, Tuesday, his horse got the best of him and took a trip down the north road.

If you want underwear go to A. W. Meyer & Co. Their prices are the lowest.

Mrs. D. A. Smith, of Mayfair, visited with her mother, Mrs. Crabtree, this week.

Rev. T. E. Ream will preach on the subject "Great Names," from the text: "A name above every name." Next Sunday evening the preaching service will commence at 7 o'clock. The Epworth League service at 6:15. All are invited to both services.

F. B. Bennett, of Woodstock, was in the village on business Thursday. Mr. Bennett has been associated with Attorney Frank Spitzer since leaving Barrington a few months ago, but hereafter will be with C. P. Barnes, one of the leading attorneys of Woodstock. Fred has many friends in this section who wish him every success.

Peters & Collen made a trip to Wisconsin this week, returning Thursday. They brought back with them two car loads of the finest looking cows that were ever shipped to Barrington, which they are going to sell at auction next Monday, Oct. 7th, at 9 o'clock, at their yards in Barrington. If you want a cow you should not fail to attend this sale.

Plagge & Co. received two cars with flour this week. Prices lower than ever.

Mrs. S. Gieske, Fred Bauman and Frank Landwer attended the Sunday School Workers and Keystone League convention in the Dearborn street Evangelical church, Chicago, Thursday.

George Schafer met with a serious mishap Tuesday of last week. While cutting meat the knife accidentally slipped, cutting his knee cap slightly. He thought nothing of it, however, and started for Minnesota the same day, little dreaming that it would be several weeks before he would be able to leave a sick room. When he arrived in Chicago his leg commenced to pain him so that he went to the home of relatives and called a physician, under whose care he has been ever since. Common rumor had it that blood poisoning had set in; another report had it that the leg would have to be amputated. All these reports, THE REVIEW is informed, are false. We hope for a speedy recovery for Mr. Schafer, and hope that he will soon be among us again.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Henry Rieck has a large force of men at work raising the track between here and Cuba.

Wm. Arnholt has charge of a section.

There were nearly 400 cars delivered to the E. J. & E. at this place last week by the North-Western. Business is on the increase.

A large number of cars, loaded with fruit, pass through here daily, enroute from Michigan to the Northwest.

Fireman Murphy, of the "J" pusher, is taking a vacation.

Agent Powers is back again after a week's vacation.

Lawrence Donlea is repairing cars for the Northwestern.

Henry Killian is going to leave to inspect cars on a bicycle (a new invention.)

CUBA.

"Behold!" There are others.

John O'Neil is home visiting his parents.

James Grace, who has been very ill for the past week, is improving slowly under the care of Dr. Wells.

V. E. Davlin visited friends in Barrington and vicinity Sunday.

Bert Clark, formerly of Wauconda, was seen on our highways Saturday.

Quite a number of young people attended the dance at Algonquin Friday evening and report a very enjoyable time.

Miss Agnes Murray entertained a few of her friends Monday evening.

Michael Slavin died at his home Wednesday morning of typhoid fever.

George Prouty, sr., called on his son Wednesday.

DEER GROVE.

George Page and Rudolph Timmerman are attending school at Palatine.

The funeral of Mr. Genson's youngest child occurred last Sunday.

The Deer Grove school opens Monday, Oct. 7th.

Miss Nellie Page entertained a number of her Sunday school mates at her home at Deer Grove last Saturday, those present from Barrington being Misses Carrie Meyer, Sadie Krahn, Myrtle Runyan, Gertrude Kitson, Flora Nelson and Esther Elvidge. It was rather cold, but the weather did not prevent them from having a most enjoyable time gathering nuts in the woods, and after partaking of a most bountiful supper, they were taken back home by Master George.

Thieves entered the residence of Fred Longhoff last Monday while the family were in the field husking corn. They secured a gold watch, a $35 suit of clothes, and many other valuable articles. Farmers should beware of tramps while in the field husking corn.

DEER GROVE BOYS WON THE GAME.

The first nine of Honey Lake played the Deer Grove's last Sunday afternoon. It was a very exciting game for the first two innings, when the Honey Lake boys gave up, two of them getting hurt quite badly. They would not accept the challenge of another game, as the score stood 3 to 7, in favor of Deer Grove.

EVERYONE WAS HAPPY.

T. V. Slocum Does Things Up in Grand Style at Wauconda Thursday Evening.

Wauconda never before seen such a brilliant assemblage as was gathered in the palatial Oakland hotel last Thursday evening to do honor to one of Lake county's most enterprising business men and his charming and accomplished young bride.

Long before 7 o'clock a stream of vehicles came pouring into the beautiful little village from all directions, and they kept it up until after 10 o'clock.

The brilliantly lighted hotel presented the appearance of a bee hive. It is safe to say 500 people called during the evening to offer their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Slocum.

Upstairs, in the hall, Slocum's orchestra held forth, and dancing was indulged in by the largest number of people that ever stood on a dance floor in Wauconda.

Over the stage hung suspended, in a frame of evergreens, T. V.'s famous expression, "Unsystematically."

At 11:30 supper was announced, and about eighty couples partook of a bountiful and daintily prepared repast served in the hotel dining parlors, by Mrs. J. W. Mullen, landlady of the Oakland. The tables were loaded down with edibles that would tempt the appetite, and the guests did ample justice to them.

WAUCONDA.

Frosts again, Monday and Tuesday mornings.

John Evanson, of McHenry, was on our streets last Friday.

W. Lamphere made us a visit last week.

Leroy Hughes, of Dixon, visited here Friday and Saturday of last week.

E. E. Gilbert made a trip to Chicago Tuesday.

J. Cook and wife returned Saturday from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Cady, of Minnesota, is visiting her parents at the present writing.

On account of sickness the attendance at the schools the past week has been comparatively small.

Simon Stoffel, of McHenry, was on our streets Tuesday of this week.

Editor Storms, of Antioch, made us a visit Tuesday.

The alumni Society of the Wauconda High school was organized last Friday, and promises to be a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wicke and daughter, of Des Plaines, visited at the home of H. Maiman Tuesday.

The entertainment given here Saturday evening under the auspices of the West McHenry band, more commonly known as the "Ice Cream" band, was not as well attended as it deserved. Those present listened to an elegant programme, rendered in a masterly manner.

D. N. Mallory, of Nunda, was on our streets Tuesday.

Editor Mullen made a trip to Chicago Wednesday.

George Wragg and wife, of Chicago, were visiting here last week.

Henry Branding, of Lake Zurich, was in our burg Wednesday.

S. Gilbert, of McHenry, was visiting Wauconda friends Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Freye visited at Nunda Tuesday.

Mrs. G. E. Sanford, of Englewood, visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Maiman visited at Barrington Tuesday.

W. Bryant, of Nunda, was on our streets Tuesday.

Miss Florence Ruggles returned from Chicago Tuesday.

Dean Ansley, of Gilmer, visited here Tuesday.

Justice Bangs is reshingling his house.

Frank Wynkoop left Monday morning for Chicago, where he has accepted a position as clerk in a drug store.

P. H. Maiman is spending the week in Chicago.

E. Oaks and family moved to Chicago Monday. Mr. Oaks just recently quit the Oakland hotel.

The trial of Nicholas Braun, charged with a dastardly crime, Wednesday, resulted in a verdict of "no cause for action." This is the case in which Tue Leader had the prisoner bound over to the grand jury in its report last Saturday.

SPRING LAKE.

Mrs. W. H. Heath is quite ill with lung trouble.

Wm. McCredie, of Elgin, called at the factory Tuesday.

Miss Louisa Schultz visited her parents at Barrington Sunday.

A number of our gay bachelors visited Barrington Sunday. What's the attraction, boys?

Rudolph and John Suchy are hauling their milk to the creamery this winter.

Monday morning showed the first frost around the lake.

C. Swim has moved into the old Pope house.

Potatoes are nearly all dug. Everyone reports a good crop except ye scribe.

Some of our young folks tripped the light fantastic at Barrington last Friday.

'Tis now that the good housewife gets up in the morning, ties a towel around her head, piles the furniture out of doors, makes you pound carpets and eat cold victuals, set up stoves until you wish you had never been born; for it is the semi-annual house cleaning time, and few women were ever known to miss it.

F. A. Cady measured a stalk of ensilage corn that was 14 feet long, and he has several more of them, too. W. H. Heath cut a hill of corn that had four stalks with six ears on them; the shortest stalk was 9 feet long. Next.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gibson visited Elgin friends Thursday.

DEATH OF F. W. MEYER.

An Old Barrington Settler Passes Away While Visiting in Nebraska—Was a Man Well Liked.

On last Thursday the sad news was flashed over the wires from Nebraska that Frederick W. Meyer was dead.

Mr. Meyer was born in Hessen, Germany, on March 13, 1830, and emigrated to America in 1869. On the 1st day of June, 1870 he came to Barrington, and engaged in farming, which occupation he followed until six years ago, when he removed to Barrington proper, where he has since resided.

Last September he started on a trip to Nebraska, and the ice water that he drank while on that trip is supposed to have caused his death.

Mr. Meyer was sexton of the Salem Evangelical church for the past six years.

Mr. Meyer leaves a wife, three sons and five daughters to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and a kind and indulgent father.

The remains will be brought to Barrington for burial, the funeral services to be held from the residence at 1 o'clock. Rev. Sahr, of the Salem church, and Rev. Landwer, of Wheeling will officiate.

THE REVIEW extends its sympathy to the bereaved family.

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS.

The Americans may have cornered the English cycle tube output, but the Britons still have plenty of the filling for the tubes.

Certainly it's no advance for women when the sex begins jumping from Brooklyn bridge. On the contrary, it is a great come down.

Lew Wallace says: "When the woman takes hold of the bicycle its future is secure." But what about the woman? People still feel anxious about her.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox utters a truth when she says there are twenty leaners to one supporter. And they too often make the one supporter very lean.

Some one has figured out that in 1920 Chicago will be the largest city in the world except London. The Chicago census-takers can be depended upon to bring this about long before 1920.

The owners of the Defender manifest confidence in the power of their boat to contest creditably and, probably, successfully, with the fleetest vessels that Europe can produce. It is their intention to sail her in the waters of the English Channel and the Mediterranean Sea, and to compete in all the French and English races that are open to foreign craft. It is to be hoped that the Defender will meet Valkyrie III, on her own cruising grounds, and that the contest may be unmarred by accident. The American belief is that the Defender can out sail the Valkyrie, or any other yacht, on any course and in any weather. Nothing will be more gratifying than proof positive of the soundness of that belief. The confidence of the owners of the Defender is shared by all their countrymen, and their resolution is approved by all.

This year the Swiss government has made a new departure in the way of monopolizing manufacture. It has declared the making of matches a federal exclusive right. The gains derived therefrom will not go into the federal treasury, but will be expended, first, toward improving the manufacture of matches, and, second, to reduce as much as possible their selling price. The use of yellow phosphorus in the manufacture of matches is prohibited, because it is injurious to the health of the workmen employed in match factories, and because it is, in many ways, dangerous to the public. The sale of matches in a retail way will be open to all, subject, however, to such restrictive regulations as will prevent misuse, the government supplying the retail trade exclusively. Federal legislation will regulate the traffic.

A paper devoted to the oil and paint trade says: "The flax crop of 1894 is now found to have amounted to only 7,500,000 bushels, which is but little more than one-half of the average crops of the four years preceding, and falls 5,000,000 bushels below the crop of 1893. The largest crop was that of 1891, which amounted to 19,000,000 bushels. The small crop of the past year would have caused a scarcity but for the large importations of Calcutta seed, and this has also prevented an increase in prices which the smaller supply of domestic seed otherwise warranted. At the close of the crop year the price for cash seed at Chicago, while lower than a year ago, was higher than at the close of either of the three preceding years, but at the close of the crop year of 1889-90, and on the eve of a then almost unprecedentedly large crop, the price was nearly 12 per cent higher. This may be taken as indicating the influence of free imports of foreign seeds. As to the crop of 1895 estimates vary greatly, but it appears to be conceded that it will exceed 10,000,000 bushels."

Considerable interest is being aroused in England by a suggestion to adopt the metric system of weights and measures instead of the intricate methods now in use. The same applies with equal force to the United States. We have taken one step in advance of England in having put our money on the decimal system, and we should follow it up by adopting the metric system throughout. Congress has already put its official seal on the metric system, which is more than can be said of the old systems. People, however, still cling to the old methods, because they can not be dispensed with except by a concerted movement. The people are in favor of the change, on account of the increased simplicity of all measures of quantity under the metric system. Most of the European countries have adopted the decimal system. When the change was made it was by the government setting a day when the old measures and weights were to cease and the new ones were to come into vogue. After a period of grace, those found using the old systems were fined. Thus the old order passed, and the new came into use. Americans want the metric (decimal) system.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

THE NEWS OF SEVEN DAYS UP TO DATE.

Political, Religious, Social and Criminal Doings of the Whole World Carefully Condensed for Our Readers—The Accident Record.

Ex-President Harrison is at home in Indianapolis hard at work upon a series of magazine articles to be entitled "This Country of Ours."

Lieut. Peary is at Halifax, where he appears to be anxious to avoid publicity. In order to dodge reporters it was published that he had left Halifax for Boston.

It is said that Jesse Potter, the son of Mrs. Charles Lux, will attempt to secure all of the $4,000,000 estate left by his mother, widow of the California cattle king. He was willed only $100,000.

Judge Hanford has substituted the Kneckerbocker Trust company for the Farmers' Loan and Trust company as trustee for the bondholders of the Central Washington railroad. Charles C. Hamberston of Spokane is made sole receiver.

The tin plate mills at Elwood, Ind., have started again, and the company expects no further trouble, although some of the strikers are in an ugly mood.

Governor Hoicomb, of Nebraska, has received a communication from Governor Culbertson, of Texas, asking for a copy of the statutes relating to prize fighting. There is little comfort in the law for prize fighters, since it is made a felony for all particulars.

At Shelbyville, Ill., republicans instructed delegates to Litchfield congressional convention for H. J. Hamlin.

The Standard Oil company has leased the ground of the rugby colony in Tennessee, expecting to find gas.

Secretary Herbert has awarded to the Herreshoff Manufacturing company the contract for building two of the new torpedo boats authorized by the act of the last congress. Mr. Herreshoff was the lowest bidder, at $144,000 for each boat.

At Caldwell, Kas., James B. Sherman, a relative of Gen. Sherman and a former comrade of Col. Cody and Wild Bill, has been acquitted of the murder of Mayor Meagher of Caldwell twenty-one years ago. It was the last of the cowboy battles.

Vice Consul Springer, of Havana, called upon Secretary Olney at Washington. It is declared his visit has no significance.

Foreclosure has been made on the merchandise of Charles W. Smith, a furniture dealer for thirty years in Lawrence, Kan.

The shearers at the American Tinplate works, Elwood, Ind., struck for an advance.

Freeman Graham, Jr., and Julius Graham, partners as Graham Bros., Rockford, Ill., assigned for the benefit of creditors to John D. Waterman. This does not affect the Graham Cotton mills, a corporation. Additional suits were filed against the Grahams to the amount of $79,000.

GEN. SCHOFIELD RETIRED.

President Cleveland Pays the Gallant Soldier a High Compliment.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The president's order retiring Lieutenant General Schofield was issued yesterday. It is as follows:

Executive Mansion, Washington, Sept. 30, 1895.—Lieutenant General John M. Schofield having reached the age entitling him to relief from active military service, he is, in accordance with the provisions of law, hereby placed upon the retired list of the army, to date Sept. 29, 1895, with all the pay and allowances belonging to his rank upon such retirement.

It is with much regret that the president makes the announcement that the country is thus to lose from the command of its army this distinguished general, who has done so much for its honor and efficiency. His gallantry in war challenges the admiration of all his countrymen, while they will not fail to gratefully remember and appreciate how faithfully he has served his country in times of peace by his splendid and successful performance of civil as well as military duty.

Lieutenant General Schofield's career, exhibiting an unvarying love for his profession, a zealous care for its honor and good name, a just apprehension of the subordination it exacts and a constant manifestation of the best traits of true Americanism, furnishes to the army an example of inestimable value, and should teach all our people that the highest soldierly qualities are built upon the keenest sense of the obligations belonging to good citizenship.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

SENATOR MAHONE STRICKEN.

Virginia's Ex-Senator Suffers a Stroke of Paralysis.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Ex-Senator Mahone, of Virginia, suffered a stroke of paralysis at an early hour yesterday at his room at Chamberlain's hotel. His physicians, Drs. Wales and Baker, were in consultation and think his chances of recovery very doubtful. The relatives of the ex-senator have been summoned by telegraph. The entire right side of the sufferer is paralyzed, including the right arm and leg. He is unable to speak, except a few inarticulate sounds. He has maintained consciousness, however, and seeks as best he can to assist those who are ministering to his comfort.

Advance Coal Prices.

New York, Oct. 1.—As a result of a consultation between the larger coal producers an advance was made yesterday in the line prices of anthracite coal. There was no general agreement, but prices were put up from 15 to 25 cents a ton. The Pittston people advanced 25 cents. This advance, it is said, will maintain the nominal difference as compared with the tidewater figures. No advance will be made, it is said, in freights on anthracite. The rate from the mine to tidewater is fixed at 40 per cent of the selling price on the bulk of the coal originating from independent operators. This, at the present price of coal, makes the rate from $1.40 on stove to $1.30 on broken sizes. The fixed rate now is $1.25. This rate is expected to be advanced in time, but in all probability not until the market improves.

Wisconsin Forests Leveled.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 1.—Reports that are coming in from the result of the late cyclone that swept through this part of the state last week show that millions of feet of standing pine have been blown down and the effects more serious than from the forest fires of last year. Acres of timber have been uprooted by the storm, cattle and horses killed by falling trees and men in the logging camps forced to flee at night to prevent being killed by falling trees. Such terrible results have never been known by the oldest lumbermen on this river. Marinette lumbermen, who own large tracts of pine, will be obliged to cut it into logs this winter to prevent its being destroyed by worms.

Denied by Spanish Embassy.

London, Oct. 1.—The Spanish embassy here publishes a denial of a statement cabled from the United States to the effect that Secretary of State Olney had given a warning to the Spanish government that unless they had succeeded in suppressing the insurrection in Cuba in the next three months the United States government would intervene for the protection of the insurgents. The Spanish embassy declares that the story is entirely fictitious, and that the Spanish relations with the United States regarding Cuba are working smoothly and with no apparent friction.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS.

HISTORY OF SEVEN DAYS IN THE PRAIRIE STATE.

Important Occurrences, Social, Religious, Political, Criminal, Matrimonial and Obituary That Have Taken Place Since Our Last Issue—State Brevities.

At Quincy Miss Nettie Smith died from a spider's bite.

At Ramsey, Isaac Balt, a farmer, fell dead in church. Heart disease.

Miss Lyda Keys of Arcola was bitten by a mad dog. She may recover.

At Walnut Grove, Miss Nellie King was fatally burned while lighting a fire with kerosene.

Newman has an epidemic of typhoid fever. Physicians say some cases are proving fatal.

At Racine, Wis., Wencil Peshek was held to the grand jury for the murder of his wife, Anna.

At Decatur, John Ray, formerly of Chicago, a barber, committed suicide while despondent.

The American Tinplate company at Elwood, Ind., is building a steel plant for making its steel billets.

At St. Joseph, Mo., Father Dominick Wagner of St. Mary's Church, is accused of having spirited away Maude Steidel, 16 years old, one of his flock. He denies the charge.

Rockford—The Rev. Mr. Hilander of Minneapolis and Miss Hilma Wallen were united in marriage at the Zion Lutheran church, a large number of Swedish ministers being present.

Litchfield.—The populists of this, the Eighteenth district, met here last week to nominate a candidate for congressman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Fred C. Remann. All the counties, Bond, Fayette, Moultrie, Montgomery, Madison and Shelby, were represented. After a few speeches, G. S. Culp, of Shelby county, was nominated by acclamation.

Monmouth.—The general committee of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church in session here, decided to hold the next annual institute and convention in Omaha, Neb., Aug. 19 to 23 next. The entire committee was present, including one member from New York city, three from Pennsylvania, and Rev. J. A. Duff and J. P. Tracey of Chicago. The last convention, held in Columbus, O., was attended by over 2,000 delegates.

St. Charles.—The thirty-sixth annual conference of the Free Methodists of Illinois is in session in this city. Twenty-five ministers and thirty-two lay delegates are present. Presiding elders were elected as follows: Fox and Rock river district, F. D. Brooke; Peoria, Galva and Joliet district, J. D. Kelsey; Chicago district, J. D. Marsh. The examination of the characters of ministers was also made, the first name called being that of Rev. M. V. Clute of St. Charles, the oldest member of the conference.

The habit which most well-to-do Americans have dropped into of swearing to the possession of very much less property than they actually own is one of the disgraces of the age. Men who would not stoop to a mean or dishonest act in ordinary business will go to the assessor's office and swear that they have only a few hundred dollars' worth of property when they are worth many thousands. Their excuse is that everyone else does it, that they would be robbing themselves if they should make honest returns, while their neighbors, possessing just as much, continue to pay taxes on but a modicum of their wealth.

Galena.—In accordance with a suggestion by Gen. John McArthur of Chicago the old colonel of Twelfth regiment Illinois infantry, a reunion of the surviving veterans of that regiment will be held in Galena on April 27, 1896, on the occasion of the annual celebration of the birthday of Gen. Grant. Galena contributed one company to the Twelfth, which was under the command of Gen. A. L. Chetlain, now in Chicago. The officers of the Grant Memorial Association, in connection with the survivors of the Twelfth regiment now living in Galena, will take action at once toward preparations of a programme.

Ottawa.—At a meeting of a large number of farmers and citizens here last week it was decided to apply for articles of incorporation for a co-operative flour-milling enterprise, which will stimulate business in Ottawa and Marseilles. The plan is to purchase the Marseilles mill of W. J. Dawall & Sons and the Victor mills of Cotton & Hamilton, in Ottawa, for about $50,000, and equip them with the latest machinery in order to compete with Minnesota flour. The shares will be sold to 400 persons, mostly farmers, each shareholder to secure flour at cost, and farmers owning stock to be permitted to ship their grain direct from the mills, giving them an advance over the present prices paid here for grain. It is believed that farmers who now seek other markets will take advantage of the inducements. The Victor mills have been closed down for several months on account of having out-of-date machinery and being unable to compete with more modern mills.

Hog cholera is estimated to cost the farmers around Fairbury $100,000.

At Murphysboro, W. P. Reeder seriously cut D. Jordan in self-defense.

The Auditor of Public Accounts, Illinois, has called for a statement of the condition of state banks.

Reports from the vicinity of Bloomington indicate about 2,000,000 bushels of old corn moving out to make room for the new crop.

At Moline, Nels Pierson, a mail carrier, was dismissed from the service. He had been found in a gambling-house, but acquitted of crime.

At Peoria it is announced the distilleries will not open Oct. 1, and perhaps not till Nov. 1. So ordered by the American Spirits Manufacturing company.

Peoria—The annual convention of the Evangelical association of Peoria district closed with a literary entertainment. The morning session opened with a paper by J. Haller of Chatsworth on the subject "Was Balaam a Prophet of Jehovah or Not, and How Are His Prophecies to be Explained?" A. Sender of Streator read a paper on "Repentance," F. Theis of Ottawa read a paper on "Full Salvation." The committee made their reports. J. Alber of Tonica was elected treasurer of the association. The other officers will be appointed by the executive board. The quarterly meeting of Trinity Church will begin tomorrow night and last over Sunday.

A lovers' quarrel ended at Chicago the other evening in a shooting at No. 12 Moffat street, in which Miss Helen Cramer was wounded. Hans Boyson, a cabinet maker, who fired the shot, escaped arrest. He is 38 years of age and lives at No. 8 Moffat street. Miss Cramer is 28 years old. Thursday night, shortly before 11 o'clock, Boyson met the young woman in front of her home. They had been keeping company for some time, but a coldness had sprung up between them, and when Boyson spoke Miss Cramer refused to notice him. Boyson then drew a revolver and fired one shot, which entered Miss Cramer's right arm, near the elbow. She was taken to her home and the police notified. She is not seriously injured.

The convention of the Liquor-Dealers' Protective Association of Illinois concluded its labors at Bloomington last week. Streator was chosen as the location for the next year's convention. President Gainty of Chicago was re-elected. Other officers elected were: General Vice-President, John Ohlweiler, Rock Island; Vice-Presidents, William Burke, Joseph Smykal, Joseph Seideneck, John Muensch, Chicago; James Costello, Bloomington; F. Tellebuescher, Quincy; Treasurer, August Lueders, Chicago; Secretary, F. Fitzgerald, Chicago; delegates to national convention at Washington, Charles Franz, Freeport; John F. Gainty, Charles Berger, James O'Hearn, Chicago; Jacob Slatter, Bloomington.

Waukegan.—The decision of the secretary of the interior vesting the title to certain swamp lands in this county in the state of Illinois instead of the United States may make the county a half million richer. All swamp lands in this state revert to the counties in which they are located, so the 5,424 acres in the Grass Lake region, which are included in this decision, should in due time become county property and be available for sale. The property has been in contest for about fifty years and has lately become quite valuable, as the Fox Lake region became a popular resort and the lakes dried up, leaving more and more dry land. There is other land in this county also in litigation which may be influenced by this decision.

Bloomington.—The farmers of McLean and adjacent counties are greatly alarmed over the seemingly irresistible ravages of disease which has already destroyed many thousands of hogs, and threatens to exterminate that class of animals in the affected territory. So far no remedy seems to have had the least effect in checking its progress. When once the disease makes its appearance on a farm the hogs are doomed. The disease differs radically from what has heretofore been known as cholera. The hog swells up, and in many instances bursts just before death. The post-mortem examination shows a highly inflamed and congested condition of the organs. The disease is found in nearly every township in this county and in many parts of the adjacent counties.

Walter C. Kelley, a Chicago printer, said to be an organizer for the American Protective association, was arrested last week on a peculiar charge. He was handing out circular letters to the pupils of the northwest division high school as they were being dismissed for the afternoon. He will be arraigned this morning before Justice Blume on two charges of violation of the ordinance relating to the distribution of circulars and handbills on the streets. The officers say they have been looking for him for several weeks on the same charge, but were unable to arrest him until yesterday. On one occasion they say he escaped from them by jumping on an electric car. The circulars which Kelley is accused of peddling contain allusions that the police claim are unfit for general reading, and especially for school children.

CHINESE VICEROY REMOVED FROM POWER.

The Official Who Was Held Responsible for the Riots in Which Missionaries Were Killed Is Degraded—Naval Demonstration Averted.

Minister Denby cabled the state department at Washington from Peking as follows: "Imperial decree issued. Abstract—Responsibility for Se-Chuen riots rests with officials. Viceroy Liu careless; took no notice of the beginning of the riots. He is deprived of office, never to be employed. Other officials to be punished."

This would seem to indicate that the crisis impending in China, involving a naval demonstration by the British forces, has been averted, for a time at least, by the compliance with the principal demands of the British. It cannot be learned whether the decree concedes all of the demands made, and the cablegram makes no reference to the sweeping conditions imposed by the British minister that the guilty officials be punished by suspension for three years on all promotions and appointments in the civil service in the province of Se-Chuen.

Viceroy Liu, whose fall is announced, has been in trouble before. It is understood that he was found guilty last November of misappropriation of funds, and later on, because the French investigations showed that he was responsible for the Ching-Too riots, he was obliged to pay an indemnity of $800,000 to the French Catholic missions from Western Baseball Association Meets at Quincy, Ill.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 1.—The Western Association of Baseball clubs met here yesterday to close up the affairs of the championship contest ended last week. Denver and Sioux City were applicants for admission. Next year's circuit was referred to a committee consisting of George W. Brackett, of Quincy; William Ebricht, of Lincoln, and Charles Flynn, of Peoria, who will report at the next meeting, to be held at the Tremont hotel, Chicago, November 12. The Quincy Street Joseph game here July 29, which was given to Quincy by the umpire, was thrown out because the umpire had failed to fine Marham, the St. Joe player, before ordering him out of the game. The three games scheduled at Peoria, September 4 and 5, given to Peoria by the umpire on account of the failure of the Lincolns to reach Peoria, were also thrown out. The official standing as adopted by the association is as follows:

Clubs—	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per Cent.
Lincolns	122	79	43	.648
Peoria	117	69	48	.590
Des Moines	117	68	49	.581
Rockford	125	67	58	.536
Quincy	124	64	60	.516
Dubuque	113	51	62	.451
St. Joseph	122	48	74	.393
Burlington	114	39	75	.342

The $40 a game guarantee will be done away with at the next meeting, and the percentage system substituted. The salaries of umpires will also be raised to $125 a month. Next year's circuit, which is favored by the committee on circuit, comprises Peoria,

ALL ON BOARD LOST.

SCHOONER ELMA SUNK IN LAKE SUPERIOR.

Vessel Dashed to Pieces on the Ragged Cliffs—Nine People Drowned—Schooner John Raber Goes Ashore at Whiting, Ind.

Marquette, Mich., Special: News has just reached here of the loss of the schooner Elma, with all hands, at Pictured Rocks during the gale Saturday night. The steamer Birkhead left Baraga loaded with lumber Saturday, having in tow the schooners Elma and C. B. Jones. Off Whitefish Point the wind shifted to the northeast, with such fury that they were unable to get around the point, and they put back in hopes of getting behind Grand Island. The Jones was lost sight of soon after turning back, but reports from the Soo state she anchored at Whitefish Point, and the crew are all safe, but she will go to pieces soon.

The only names of the Elma's crew obtainable are Captain John Thurston, wife, and child.

When off Miners' river, at the eastern end of the forty-mile angle of enormous cliffs known as the Pictured Rocks, the Elma parted her tow-line, and disappeared in the darkness. The Birkhead was unable to assist her unfortunate consort, and was compelled to hold on for Grand Island, where she found shelter early Sunday morning.

As soon as the gale subsided Captain Marstero returned down the coast in search of the Elma. Fragments of wreckage were found in the lake, which his own pocket. The present conclusion, which has been brought about apparently by British threats, will not involve the abandonment of the independent investigation into the Ching-Too riots which has been ordered by Secretary Olney. There has been a change in the personnel of the commission, and Commander Barber, the naval attaché, who has fallen ill, has been relieved from duty as a commissioner by Lieutenant Commander John P. Merrill, executive officer of the United States ship Baltimore.

The Asiatic squadron which has been concentrated at Chefoo has dispersed. The flag ship Baltimore has gone to Nagasaki, the Yorktown to Chemulpo and the Concord to Shanghai.

London Sept. 30.—It is announced that China has accepted the British ultimatum, and that the viceroy of Se-Chuen, who is held to have been responsible indirectly for the massacre of missionaries in the territory under his jurisdiction, has been degraded.

Honor an American Preacher. London, Oct. 1.—The Westminster Gazette publishes a column interview with Rev. William H. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the United States senate, who, according to the paper, is drawing large crowds to the various chapels in London, where he has been requested to preach.

Miners Get an Advance. Brazil, Ind., Oct. 1.—The block coal miners and operators met here yesterday to arrange a mining scale for the coming year, to take effect to-day. The miners' demand for 70 cents per ton was granted by the operators, notwithstanding a report is current that Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania operators would refuse the miners an advance. The miners are elated over the settlement.

Quincy, Des Moines and St. Joseph in the East, and Denver, Lincoln, Omaha and Sioux City in the West.

HOPE FOR AN ALIBI.

Durrant's Counsel Expect Medical Students to Testify.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 1.—Since the adjournment of the Durrant trial last Friday the prisoner's attorneys have visited Cooper Medical College several times, and have had frequent interviews with students, whom they will put on the stand in hopes of bracing up the alibi which the defense hopes to establish. It is thought several of the college boys will testify to having seen the accused between 1 and 2 o'clock on the afternoon of April 3, but if any will give evidence of the fact that Durrant was in the college until 3:30 in the afternoon he is not known. District Attorney Barnes and Captain of Detectives Lees are getting ready to put in their rebuttal testimony, which they expect to make almost as strong as the direct. They will have a lot of writing experts to combat any testimony that might implicate Rev. J. G. Gibson in having written the address on the newspaper in which Miss Lamont's rings were sent to her aunt, Mrs. Noble.

Drowned in Oneida Lake. Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Frank J. Devereaux, aged 27, and W. Porter Hunt, aged 22, two newspaper correspondents living at Oneida, drowned in Oneida Lake, off North Bay, yesterday. They went in a sailboat to Sylvan Beach and started to start the lake at North Bay. This was the last seen of them alive, and when they failed to return a search was instituted, and the oars, sails and cushions of the boat, with a straw hat, were found near North Bay. The articles were identified as belonging to the missing men.

left no doubt that the schooner had been dashed to pieces against the gigantic cliffs. The Elma had a crew of seven and a man and child on board, and that any of her company has escaped alive is out of the range of probability.

TWO SAILORS DROWNED.

Schooner John Raber Goes Ashore Near Whiting, Ind.

The schooner John Raber went ashore near Whiting, Ind., Monday. Two or more sailors were drowned.

The wrecking of the schooner was somewhat of a mystery to marine men. Monday morning, about 10 o'clock, the John Raber was seen three or four miles from South Chicago by the crew of the tug Elphicke, standing to the south under sail, and apparently all right. No signals were to be seen, and the proceedings of the vessel were somewhat strange, as there is no place where the Raber could land her cargo south of the Calumet. As there was no visible call for assistance, the tug turned back to the harbor. Shortly after the Raber was stripped of all canvas except the staysail, and under this she continued south. The next thing was the information that she had gone ashore. If the schooner had been bound for Michigan City she would not have followed the west shore up the lake, but steered across to the east shore before sighting Chicago.

Visible Supply of Grain.

New York, Oct. 1.—The visible supply of grain Saturday, Sept. 28, as compiled by the New York Produce Exchange, is as follows: Wheat, 40,768,000 bushels; increase, 1,383,000; corn, 5,451,000 bushels; increase, 40,000; oats, 2,725,000; decrease, 320,000; rye, 537,000 bushels; decrease, 27,000; barley, 1,916,000 bushels; increase, 908,000.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

Work Easily Performed in the Tumult of a Thunderstorm.

"Speaking of cinches," said the retired burglar, "the easiest, softest, smoothest snap I ever struck was in a house in a small town in Rhode Island. There was a thunderstorm coming up as I went along toward this house, and just as I got there it began to sprinkle. By the time I'd got inside it was coming down pretty hard, and I was glad to be under shelter, for I hadn't brought any umbrella with me. I hadn't had any supper either, and when I got into the dining room I thought I'd get something to eat. The sideboard was locked and the key carried up stairs, but a little jimmy opened the door as easy as a knife would open a pie. I set out a little snack on the table and sat down and ate it comfortably, with the rain pouring down outside. If there's anything I like, it's to hear a storm raging outside when you're settled down all snug and comfortable within.

"But here was something I hadn't counted on. The thunder was roaring and plunging like a dozen earthquakes busting down through the sky, and it kept the house in a tremble all the time. I knew nobody could sleep in that thunder. They'd be sure to be all awake, but here I was, and I hated to lose a night, and after I'd waited a little and the storm didn't show any signs of letting up I thought I'd go ahead and see anyhow. The very first room I looked into up stairs settled the whole business.

"Over in one corner of this room, beyond a bed, I saw a woman standing in front of an open closet door. Two children hopped out of the bed, and the mother pushed them into the closet, and then crowded in herself and pulled the door shut tight. It was all very simple. Husband away, no help; two children sleeping in another room, woke up by thunder, come into their mother's room, all scared; mother puts children in closet and gets in herself, as lots of folks do in thunderstorms. And then I walk over and turn the key in the lock, and there you are. No danger of their coming out till the storm is over anyway, but just as well to be sure about it, and then I just quietly go through the house. It isn't big, and it doesn't take long, and I come back before the storm is over and unlock the closet door again and skip, and that's all there is to it."—New York Sun.

Mme. Faure.

One of the ambitions of Mme. Felix Faure, wife of the president of France, is to become the leader of fashions for the republic, as the Empress Eugenie was for the empire, according to popular report. Consequently she not only dresses exquisitely, but keeps the names of her modiste and milliner a secret. At the Grand Prix races she wore a costume so beautiful that the fashion papers not only described it at length, but illustrated it in colors. It was a creation of brown satin, chiffon and cream lace.—Paris Letter.

A PUZZLED PHILOSOPHER.

Why Should He So Greatly Miss the Things That Are Not?

A philosopher dwelt in a house owned by Cleon. But one day Cleon came to the philosopher and said, "Why have you not sent me the money for last month's rent?" The philosopher said he knew of no reason except that he had no money, having gotten to the bottom of his purse.

"You will have to move out," said Cleon, "to make room for a cordwainer I know who wants this house and has money."

"Would you, then," said the philosopher, "turn me out when I am so comfortable here, having dwelt in this house 30 years?"

"It is my comfort," said Cleon, "and not yours that I consider."

"Then you prefer a cordwainer, I conclude, to a philosopher."

"No," said Cleon; "a landlord has no preference except to prefer rent money to no rent money."

So the cordwainer moved into the philosopher's house, and the philosopher went to live in the mean hovel of the cordwainer.

But once there, although contented enough, because he was a philosopher, yet he could not avoid the obtrusive facts of the absence of all those things which in his former habitation had grown habitual to him.

This was the first thing that puzzled him—how that which was not could be so obtrusive. "What," said he, "can be so entirely nonexistent as a negation? And yet here I am confronted with an obtrusive negation."

"I miss," said he again, "a chest of drawers, a table, a fireplace and the scenery from the window where I used to sit. I wonder if it will be so after we are driven out from our bodies because death, the final, inexorable landlord, demands a rental we cannot pay."

In time, however, the philosopher gradually ceased being oppressed by the obtrusive memories and grew accustomed to new associations.

"I wonder," said he, "if it will be so when we are immortals—after death at first painful regrets for what we have lost, and in the end nothing of the old but faint memories and a new set of associations. I wonder always and wonder most if philosophy will ever be anything better than clever wondering about the wonderful."—Chicago Open Court.

Animals Understand Hygiene.

Enough is now known of the nature of animal materia medica to excite interest and curiosity. There is abundant evidence that many species know and constantly make use of simple remedies for definite disorders, and at the same time observe rules of health to which only the highest civilization or the sanction of religious prescription compels man to conform.

It has been noted that the general condition of animal health, especially in the case of the herbivorous creatures, corresponds not inexactly with that of such tribes as the Somalis, men feeding almost solely on grain, milk, dates and water, living constantly in the open air, moderate in all things and cleanly, because their religion enjoins constant ablutions. Like them, wild animals have no induced diseases. The greater number do not eat to excess. They take regular exercise in seeking their food and drink only at fixed hours. Many of them secure change of climate, one of the greatest factors in health, by migration.

This is not confined to birds and beasts, for the salmon enters the soft water partly to get rid of sea parasites and returns to the sea to recruit after spawning. With change of climate, change of diet and perfectly healthy habits their list of disorders is short, though they readily fall victims to contagious disease just as recently numbers of the Hamran Arabs of the Sudan, as healthy livers and good Mussulmans as the Somalis themselves, friends and fellow hunters with Sir Samuel Baker, perished of contagious fever on the banks of the Nile tributaries.—London Spectator.

Bishop Fallows' Saloon.

The Home saloon of Bishop Fallows, in Chicago, fools a great many old toppers. His idea is to make the place as much like a first class saloon as possible and to sell in it something as much like beer as science could concoct without its being the real thing. The saloon has a big bar, with a substantial rail, from which hang half a dozen towels. Back of the bar is a white coated bartender, and back of him are big mirrors and rows of shelves, covered with black bottles bearing gaudy labels. A row of lemons and a bowl of cracked ice help to make up the illusion. Every day some thirsty victim wanders in and orders "beer." He gets a glass of foaming something that cools, may cheer, but can't inebriate. The victim usually gulps it down, then opens and shuts his mouth and tries to recall the taste, while a puzzled look spreads over his face. Sometimes he asks questions, but usually he walks slowly away, wondering whether or not his stomach is all right.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's new discovery in the house, and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman, druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's new discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested? Trial bottles free at A. L. Waller's drug store. Regular size, 50 cents and $1.00.

Its Value Recognized by Physicians.

As a rule I am opposed to proprietary medicines. Still I value a good one, especially when such is the source of relief from pain. As a topical (external) application I have found Chamberlain's Pain Balm the best remedy I have ever used for neuralgia of any kind. I have conscientiously recommended it to many persons. William Horne, M. D., Janesville, Wis. Sold by A. L. Waller.

If the new women ever enters the profession of train robbing, she certainly can't do worse than her blundering brothers have done lately.

Several years ago I was taken with a severe attack of flux. I was sick in bed about ten days and could get nothing to relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured me and has been a household remedy with us ever since. Miss Maud Booth says she never attacked bloomers, but—she doesn't like to see women in men's clothes.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers Mr. W. F. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years since, and before leaving home wrote, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she would bring a quantity with her, as she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequalled by any other. They are for sale here by A. L. Waller, druggist.

The laugh seems to be on Prof. Wiggins this time. Wonder if these weather prophets don't do considerable guessing, the same as other folks?

From all accounts Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a Godsend to the afflicted. There is no advertisement about this; we feel just like saying it.—The Democrat, Carrollton, Ky. For sale by A. L. Waller, druggist.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

No DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe. Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1880 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker. When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends." Louisville, Jan. 22, 1895. D. W. HILTON. Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health.

AS WE USED TO LI

Play that you are mother, dear. And play that papa is your beau; Play that we sit in the corner here, Just as we used to long ago; Play so, we lovers two, Are just as happy as can be, And I'll say, "I love you" to you. And you say, "I love you" to me! "I love you" we both shall say. All in earnest and all in play

Or, play that you are the other one That sometimes came and went away. And play that the light of years ago Stole into my heart again today! Playing that you are the one I knew In the days that never again may be, I'll say, "I love you" to you. And you say, "I love you" to me! "I love you" my heart will say To the ghost of the past come back today.

THE LIAR.

I never loved but one woman. I passed five years with her in perfect happiness. I can truly say that to her I owe my success, because of my freedom from care and because she imbued me with some of her great ambition. From the first moment we met it seemed to me that I had always loved her. Her beauty and character answered all my dreams. That woman never left me. She died in my house, in my arms and still loving me. But when I think of her it drives me mad- If I attempt to describe her as she was during the five years, in all the glory of her love, with her tall, svelte figure, her clear cut features, like an oriental Jew's, her luminous, pale face, her cheerful talk, her voice soft and sweet as her glance; if I try to bring again to my mind that vision of delight, it is only to say-I hate her!

Her name was Clotilde. In the house in which I first met her she was known as Mme. Deloche, the widow of a captain long since dead. She appeared to have traveled extensively. In her conversation she would sometimes say, "When I was at Tampico," or perhaps, "Once during a raid in Valparaiso." Aside from these remarks nothing in her manner, in her language, suggested a nomadic life-nothing that disorder and hurry incident to quick departures or untimely arrivals. She was a Parisian, dressed always with exquisite taste, without a burr or those eccentric serapes by which one recognizes the wives of officers and marines who are perpetually on the move.

When I found that I loved her, my only idea was to ask her hand in marriage. A friend spoke to her for me. She replied simply that she should never marry. Thenceforth I avoided places where I would see her, and as I was too unhappy to work I resolved to go away. I was making preparations for departure, when, one morning, in the midst of the confusion of packing, Mme. Deloche entered my apartment.

"Why do you go away?" she asked. "Because you love me? I also love you, only"-here her voice trembled a little-"only I am married." And she told me her history.

It was a story of love and desertion. Her husband was dissipated. He had beaten her. They separated at the end of three years. Her family, of whom she seemed very proud, occupied high positions in Paris, but since her marriage they had disowned her. She was a niece of the grand rabbi. Her sister, widow of an officer of high rank, had married for a second husband the general of the guard at St. Germain. As for herself, financially ruined by her husband, she had fortunately been highly educated and possessed several accomplishments, of which she now made use. She gave lessons in music in the wealthy families of the Chausse d'Antin and the Faubourg St. Germain.

Her story was touching, but quite long, full of the pretty repetitions and interminable incidents which crowd the talk of women. I hired a pretty little house in the Avenue de l'Imperatrice. I passed the first year listening to her, looking at her, without thinking of work. It was she who first urged me to enter my studio and fired me with ambition to become a great artist. I could not induce her to give up her pupils. This independence touched me deeply. I admired the proud soul which made me feel a little humiliated before the expressed wish to owe nothing except to her own exertions. We were thus separated every day.

With what happiness I returned home, so impatient when she was late, so happy when I found her there before me! From her pupils in Paris she brought me rare flowers. I often forced her to accept some present, but she laughingly said that she was richer than I, and the lessons must have been very profitable, for she always dressed with great elegance and always in black, which she wore through coquetry on account of her complexion.

Her beauty was enhanced by heavy veils, shining jets, lustrous satins and masses of silky laces. All her pupils, daughters of bankers and financiers, adored and respected her, and more than once she showed me a bracelet, a tangle of a piece of lace which one of them had given her.

Except when at work, we were never separated. Only on Sunday she went to St. Germain to see her sister, the wife of the general, with whom, long ago, she had made her peace. I accompanied her to the station. She returned the same evening, and often, when the days were long, we would make a rendezvous and go to row on the water or for a walk in the woods. She would tell me about her visit, how pretty the children were and how happy they all were together. It seemed to make her so unhappy that I redoubled my tenderness in order to make her forget her sorrow.

What happy times of work and confidence we had! I suspected nothing. Everything she said appeared so true, so natural. I could reproach her with only one thing-sometimes, in telling me about the families to which her pupils belonged, she gave a quantity of intimate details and told of imaginary intrigues. She saw always the romance around her and seemed to live in dramatic combinations. These dreams troubled my happiness. I, who wished to fly far from the rest of the world to live alone with her, often found her occupied with indifferent things. But I could pardon these dreams in a woman young and unhappy, whose life had been a sad romance, without hope of a happy denouement.

Once only I became suspicious, or, rather, uneasy. One Sunday evening she did not return. I was in despair. What should I do? Go to St. Germain? I could not do that without compromising her. However, after a fearful night, I had just decided to go there when she arrived, pale and troubled. Her sister was ill; she had remained to care for her. I believed what she told me, not suspecting the flow of words which met the least questioning. Two or three times, in the same week, she returned to spend the night; finally, the sister having recovered, she again took up her regular and tranquil life.

Unhappily, some time afterward, it was her turn to fall ill. One day she came home from giving lessons, trembling, weak, feverish. Inflammation of the lungs declared itself, became more serious, and soon-the doctor told me-irremediable. I was crazed with grief. Then I thought that I would make her last hours happy. Her family, which she loved so much, of which she was so proud, I would bring to her bedside. Without saying anything to her, I wrote first to her sister at St. Germain and went myself to the grand rabbi, her uncle. When I arrived at his house, I was ushered into an antechamber, and soon the grand rabbi came to receive me.

"There are moments, sir," I began, "when hatred ought to be forgotten." He looked at me in astonishment. I went on: "Your niece is dying!" "My niece! I have no niece! You are mistaken."

"I beg of you, sir, to forget that foolish quarrel. I speak of Mme. Deloche, the wife of Captain-" "I do not know Mme. Deloche. You are mistaken, my child, I assure you." And kindly he pushed me toward the door, taking me for a lunatic or a fool. I may have looked so, indeed. What I had heard was so terrible, so unexpected. She had lied, then. But why? Suddenly an idea struck me. I would go to the address of one of her pupils, of whom she was always talking, the daughter of a well known banker.

"Mme. Deloche," I began to the servant. "She does not live here." "Yes; I know that. She is the lady who gives piano lessons to the young ladies."

"There are no young ladies in the house-not even a piano. I do not know what you mean," and she closed the door in my face.

I went no farther. I was sure of receiving the same answer everywhere. Returning to our poor little home, a letter was handed me, postmarked St. Germain. I opened it, knowing already what its contents were. The general did not know Mme. Deloche. He had, moreover, neither wife nor child.

This was the last blow. So for five years every word she had uttered had been a lie. A thousand jealous thoughts seized me, and foolishly not knowing what I did, I ran to the room where she lay dying. All the questions which tormented me poured from my lips in a torrent of words. "What did you go to St. Germain every Sunday for? At whose house have you passed your days? Where did you stay that night? Come, answer me!" And I caught hold of her, searching through her eyes into the depths of her soul. But she remained mute-passive.

I was trembling with rage. "You never gave lessons! I have been everywhere. No one knows you. Come, where did you get the money, those laces, those jewels?"

She gave me one long, sad look, and that was all. I should have spared her. I should have allowed her to die in peace. But I loved her too much. Jealously was stronger than pity.

"You have deceived me for five years," I went on. "You have lied to me every day, every hour. You know all my life, and I know absolutely nothing of yours. Nothing-not even your name! Because it is not yours, this name that you bear. Oh, liar, liar!"

She was dying, and I not to know what name to call her! "Come, now, who are you? Where did you come from? Why did you come into my life? Speak! Tell me something!"

Instead of replying she turned her face to the wall, as if she feared that her last look would give up her secret. And thus she died-died without divulging her secret, a liar to the end! -Translated For Argonaut From the French of Alphonse Daudet.

A Famous Cook. The fattening of poultry has been made the subject of special attention by M. Josephs, the great chef who has started a restaurant in Paris. The poultry that he uses is fed according to his own directions. It is first allowed a run of 200 yards. A few days after this is curtailed to 175 yards, and then reduced daily until the poultry is confined in boxes. Beautifully plump and fat it then is and ready for the crowned heads who honor his establishment.

HOW TO BECOME A RUNNER.

One of the Most Healthful Exercises For a Boy. Running is one of the best of exercises for the whole body. It rounds out a hollow chest, drives the oxygen into the farthest air cells of the lungs, wonderfully increases the capacity and develops the leg, thigh, stomach and waist muscles. But it must be learned just as skating, swimming and bicycling have to be learned, and there are two things that must be kept in mind by the learner. The first is-whether in sprinting, distance or cross country running-to run entirely on the ball of the foot, or, as they say on the track, "Get up on your toes!" By striking on the ball of the foot, which is a sort of natural springboard, the runner takes a longer stride, and the spring that he gets enables him to lift his foot more rapidly and repeat the stride more quickly than the runner who goes flat footed. As length and rapidity of stride are what give speed in running it follows that a flat footed runner can never be a fast one.

The second point for a runner to observe is his method of breathing. Breathe through both the nose and mouth. Nearly every boy, when he first begins to run, has the insane idea that all the breathing must be done through the nose. There was never a greater mistake. Breathe through the nose in ordinary life as much as possible, but when you are running or exercising violently open the mouth and take in air in deep, rapid breaths, not gulping it in through the mouth alone, but letting the mouth and nose have each their share.

Take as long a stride as possible, but without overbalancing the body. Bend the body slightly from the hips, for if it be held too erect the stride will be shortened. Let the bent arms swing easily and naturally a little above the level of the hips, swinging out and back with every stride. This keeps the muscles loose, prevents them from becoming tired so easily as they would if held rigid and balances the body better. Take especial pains to keep the body from being stiff. Let it swing as easily and lithely as possible. In sprinting the stride is shorter and more rapid than in long distance running, and a sprinter usually runs with body thrown farther back, in quite different form from the long, easy lope of the distance runner. -S. Nicholas, Jr., in St. Nicholas.

How to Economize in Lamps.

Save much trouble and get more light out of lamps by taking care of lamp wicks. The first object to be attained toward getting a well lighted lamp is to get a free flow of oil. The wick should be held by the fire and thoroughly dried before using. By this means it will quickly absorb the oil, and the flow is not impeded. Another way is to soak the wick in vinegar and then dry it thoroughly. This prevents smoking. Oil will not flow through a dirty wick, and without a good flow there is little light. Foul wicks should be washed or boiled in soft water and soap, then rinsed and well dried. The reservoir of the lamp should always be kept filled. If the oil is low, the flow is imperfect, and the wick becomes charred. The lamp will then give a poor light and emit a disagreeable smell. A little attention to lamp wicks in the first instance will save a great deal of trouble and inconvenience.

How to Bake Mackerel.

Select a nice fat mackerel, wash and soak overnight. As this is best for lunch, change the water in the morning and keep it in a cold place. One hour before lunch time take it from the water and clean all the black from the belly piece. Chop fine 2 pieces of celery, sufficient parsley to make 2 tablespoonfuls, mix this with half a cup of crumbs. Add 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, a dash of cayenne. Fill this in the thin part of the mackerel, fold it together, and place it in a baking pan. Dust with pepper and put in the pan about half a cup of water. Bake in a quick oven 30 minutes. Baste at least twice. Dish and cover with tomato sauce.

How to Mark Linen.

The French or raised satin stitch is now considered the right thing in marking linens. In most cases pure white is to be used, though in taweling a tinge of red may be employed, and where colored articles are to be marked such shades are allowable as will blend harmoniously with the main colors. The tendency now is in quite large letters, but this is doubtless a temporary fashion.

How to Make Apple Sauce.

Six tart apples, one-half cup of water, sugar and nutmeg to taste. Pare, core and slice the apples, put them in a porcelain kettle with the water, cook and stir until soft, about ten minutes. Then mash them through a sieve, add butter the size of a walnut, sugar and nutmeg, mix well, and it is ready to use.

How to Write Comfortably in a Car.

When traveling in a Pullman car, get a pillow from the porter, put it on the lap and place writing materials on it. The elasticity of the pillow will insure smoothness. If a pillow can't be obtained, a coat will answer almost as well.

How to Make Lemonade Syrup.

To a tumbler of lemon juice add three-quarters pound sugar dissolved in a tumbler of hot water. Pour in a jar, and, when needed, add water. This is good at all times.

How to Quench Thirst Without Water.

In cases of illness, where water is forbidden and thirst is very great, an almost immediate relief is to be found in a teaspoonful of glycerin.

How to Keep Jellies From Molding.

After the jelly is cold pour melted paraffin over the surface. It is easily removed in a cake when necessary and is a sure preventive.

The Barrington Review. PART TWO.

Lake Co. Board of Supervisors. Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors, September Term, Sept. 10th, A. D. 1895.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, COUNTY OF LAKE. Proceedings of the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Lake County, Ill., at their annual meeting begun and held at the Supervisors' Room in the Court House in the City of Waukegan, in said County, on the Tenth day of September, A. D. 1895.

WOMENS' FRIENDS SCARGE.

The Conference Rejects Them as Delegates.

THE ROCK RIVER CONFERENCE ENDS ITS LABORS.

Rev. T. E. Ream to Come Back to Barrington—Prosperity of the Church—E. W. Ward Sent to Plato Center.

Tuesday the Rock River District Methodist conference, at Elgin, to the great surprise of believers in woman's cause, voted down a resolution to admit women delegates to the general conference of the church. As the Rock River is the most progressive and cosmopolitan in Illinois, women had counted upon certain victory, and believed it would have great weight in their favor before the general conference.

The resolution to admit them, introduced by Rev. Mr. Earnagey, started a warm debate, and woman's advocates were eloquent in her behalf, but the vote was unmistakably in the negative.

The report of Statistician Farmaloe shows the achievements with increase and decrease of the year in growth and strength of church membership, church contributions to pastoral support, benevolences and other church work. Among the more important items were the following:

Probationers in the church, 3,284; an increase of 54.
Full church members, 46,786; increase of 1,878.
Preachers in conference, 223; increase of 19.
Sunday schools, 402; increase of 9.
Sunday school officers and teachers, 7,105; decrease of 17.
Sunday school scholars, 59,370; increase of 1,165.
Number of churches, 365; increase of 4.
Valuation of churches, $4,008,438; increase of $128,480.
Total debt of conference, $278,925; increase of $4,683.
Total expenditures for pastoral support, $284,564; decrease of $4,199.
Free-men's Aid and Southern Educational Society, $5,523; decrease of $1,371.
Women's Foreign Mission Society, $13,831; decrease of $237.
Women's Home Missionary Society, $9,902; decrease of $4,481.
Total benevolent collections, $128,015; decrease of $4,031.

Rev. T. E. Ream is returned to Barrington, which is very pleasing to the members of the church here.

Rev. E. W. Ward is transferred from South Elgin to Plato Center.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Justice L. D. Castle Has the Misfortune to Lose His Left Eye.

While Justice L. D. Castle was splitting a piece of wood, about noon on Saturday, Sept. 14th, three miles from Barrington, a chip struck him in the left eye, causing the gentleman intense pain.

Dr. Clausius was called, and after a thorough examination told Mr. Castle that the wound was too serious to be treated by our local physicians, and advised him to consult some specialist in the city.

On the following Wednesday Mr. Castle called on Dr. F. C. Harnish, who is an expert oculist at Alexian Bros.' hospital in Chicago. After the doctor examined the organ he informed Mr. Castle that an operation would have to be performed, and the lens removed. Another specialist, Dr. Hoetz was called in, who agreed in every particular with Dr. Harnish, as to the operation and treatment.

On Thursday Mr. Castle was put under the influence of chloroform, preparatory of having the operation performed, and the doctors again gave the eye a thorough examination, convincing them that the eye would have to be removed. To avoid legal complications the patient had to be revived from the effects of the drug, and give his consent for the removal of his eye. This operation was successfully performed last Saturday morning in Alexian Bros.' hospital. No fears are entertained for the safety of the other eye, and the wound is healing nicely.

Justice Castle has only the highest praise for the Alexian Bros.' hospital management. In an interview with a REVIEW reporter, Monday, he said: "I could not have been treated better anywhere than I was during my stay at the Alexian Bros.' hospital. The rooms are pleasant and comfortable, the attendants polite and efficient, and the rates are very moderate. The physicians are gentlemen of the highest standing in their professions. In fact, everything is done to make the patients comfortable."

THE WESTERN SLOPE.

L. D. CASTLE.

As we move down life's western slopes,
We leave behind us many hopes
The good right arm, the stalwart frame,
That served me well in life's array,
Alas, they're not at all the same.

It's evident they've had their day,
The strong, the firm, and strident tread,
By which I reached life's summit crest,
I hoped to keep—that hope is dead,
Is dead and buried with the rest.

An accident the other day
Knocked one of life's strong props away.
One light went out, leaving a gloom
Profound and rayless as the tomb.

Why do I murmur and complain,
And sing to you this sad refrain?
For true it is, as well we know,
That good and bad together flow,
Adorn life's turbid stream.

Can we the good expect to gain?
Reject the bad? Shall we complain
If somewhere in the treacherous flow
We get a bitter, blinding blow?

Shall we then weakly quit the fray?
Give up the contest, yield the day?
Oh, No! We'll make the most of what is left,
And make the least of what's bereft.

STORY OF GIDEON'S BATTLE AT MOUNT GILBOA.

"And the Three Companies Blew the Trumpets, and Broke the Pitchers and Held the Lamps in Their Left Hands"—Judges, vii, 20-21.

THAT is the strangest battle ever fought. God had told Gideon to go down and thrash the Midianites, but his army is too large; for the glory must be given to God, and not to man. And so proclamation is made that all those of the troops who are cowardly and want to go home may go, and twenty-two thousand of them scampered away, leaving only ten thousand men. But God says the army is too large yet; and so he orders these ten thousand remaining to march through a stream, and commands Gideon to notice in what manner these men drink of the water as they pass through it. If they get down on all fours and drink then they are to be pronounced lazy and incompetent for the campaign; but if, in passing through the stream, they scoop up the water in the palm of their hand and drink and pass on they are to be the men selected for the battle. Well, the ten thousand men marched down in the stream and the most of them come down on all fours and plunge their mouths, like a horse or an ox, into the water and drink; but there are three hundred men who, instead of stooping just dip the palm of their hands in the water and bring it to their lips, "lapping it as a dog lappeth." Those three hundred brisk, rapid, enthusiastic men are chosen for the campaign. They are each to take a trumpet in the right hand and a pitcher in the left hand and a lamp inside the pitcher, and then at a given signal they are to blow the trumpets and throw down the pitchers and hold up the lamps. So it was done.

It is night. I see a great host of Midianites, sound asleep in the valley of Jezreel. Gideon comes up with his three hundred picked men and when everything is ready the signal is given and they blow the trumpets and they throw down the pitchers and hold up the lamps and the great host of Midianites, waking out of a sound sleep, take the crash of the crockery and the glare of the lamps for the coming on of an overwhelming foe; and they run, and cut themselves to pieces, and horribly perish.

The lessons of this subject are very spirited and impressive. This seemingly valueless lump of quartz has the pure gold in it. The smallest dew-drop on the meadow at night has a star sleeping in its bosom, and the most insignificant passage of Scripture has in it a shining truth. God's mint coins no small change.

I learn in the first place, from this subject, the lawfulness of Christian stratagem. You know very well that the greatest victories ever gained by Washington or Napoleon were gained through the fact that they came when and in a way they were not expected—sometimes falling back to draw out the foe, sometimes crossing a river on unheeded rafts; all the time keeping the opposing forces in wonderment as to what would be done next.

You all know what strategy is in military affairs. Now I think it is high time we had this art sanctified and spiritualized. In the church, when we are about to make a Christian assault, we send word to the opposing force when we expect to come, how many troops we have, and how many rounds of shot, and whether we will come with artillery, infantry, or cavalry, and of course we are defeated. There are thousands of men who might be surprised into the kingdom of God. We need more tact and ingenuity in Christian work. It is in spiritual affairs as in military that success depends in attacking that part of the castle which is not armed and entrenched.

For instance, here is a man all armed on the doctrine of election; all his troops of argument and prejudice are at that particular gate. You may batter away at that side of the castle for fifty years and you will not take it; but just wheel your troops to the side gate of the heart's affections and in five minutes you can capture him. I never knew a man to be saved through a brilliant argument. You cannot hook men into the kingdom of God by the horns of a dilemma. There is no grace in syllogisms. Here is a man armed on the subject of perseverance of the saints; he does not believe in it. Attack him at that point and he will persevere to the very last in not believing it. Here is a man armed on the subject of baptism; he believes in sprinkling or immersion. All your discussion of ecclesiastical hydropathy will not change him. I remember when I was a boy that with other boys I went into the river on a summer day to bathe and we used to dash water on each other, but never got any result except that our eyes were blinded; and all this splashing of water between Baptists and Pedo-baptists never results in anything but the blurring of the spiritual eye-sight. In other words, you can never capture a man's soul at the point at which he is especially entrenched. But there is in every man's heart a bolt that can be easily shoved. A little child four years old may touch that bolt and it will spring back and the door will swing open and Christ will come in.

I think that the finest of all the fine arts is the art of doing good, and yet this art is the least cultured. We have in the kingdom of God today enough troops to conquer the whole earth for Christ if we only had skillful maneuvering. I would rather have the three hundred lamps and pitchers of Christian stratagem than one hundred thousand drawn swords of literary and ecclesiastical combat.

I learn from this subject, also, that a small part of the army of God will have to do all the hard fighting. Gideon's army was originally composed of thirty-two thousand men, but they went off until there were only ten thousand left, and that was subtracted from until there were only three hundred. It is the same in all ages of the Christian Church; a few men have to do the hard fighting. Take a membership of a thousand and you generally find that fifty people do the work. Take a membership of five hundred and you generally find that ten people do the work. There are scores of churches where two or three people do the work.

We mourn that there is so much useless lumber in the mountains of Lebanon. I think, of the ten million membership of the Christian Church today, if five millions of the names were off the books the Church would be stronger. You know that the more cowards and drones there are in any army the weaker it is. I would rather have the three hundred picked men of Gideon than the twenty-two thousand unsifted host. How many Christians there are standing in the way of all progress! I think it is the duty of the Church of God to ride over them and the quicker it does it the quicker it does its duty.

Do not worry, oh Christian, if you have to do more than your share of the work. You had better thank God that he has called you to be one of the picked men, rather than to belong to the host of stragglers. Would not you rather be one of the three hundred that fight than the twenty-two thousand that run? I suppose those cowardly Gideonites who went off congratulated themselves. They said: "We got rid of all that fighting, did not we? How lucky we have been; that battle costs us nothing at all." But they got none of the spoils of the victory. After the battle the three hundred men went down and took the wealth of the Midianites and out of the cups and platters of their enemies they feasted. And the time will come, my dear brethren, when the hosts of darkness will be routed, and Christ will say to his troops: "Well done, my brave men, go up and take the spoils! Be more than conquerors forever!" and in that day all deserters will be shot!

Again: I learn from this subject that God's way is different from man's, but is always the best way. If we had the planning of that battle we would have taken those thirty-two thousand men that originally belonged to the army and we would have drilled them and marched them up and down by the day and week and month, and we would have had them equipped with swords and spears, according to the way of arming in those times, and then we would have marched them down in solid column upon the foe. But that is not the way. God depletes the army and takes away all their weapons and gives them a lamp and a pitcher and a trumpet and tells them to go down and drive out the Midianites. I suppose some wiseacres were there who said: "That is not military tactics. The idea of three hundred men, unarmed, conquering such a great host of Midianites!" It was the best way. What sword, spear, or cannon ever accomplished such a victory as the lamp, pitcher and trumpet?

God's way is different from man's way, but it is always best! Take, for instance, the composition of the Bible. If we had had the writing of the Bible we would have said, "Let one man write it. If you have twenty or thirty men to write a poem, or make a statute, or write a history, or make an argument, there will be flaws and contradictions." But God says: "Let not one man do it, but forty men shall do it." And, they did, differing enough to show there had been no collusion between them, but not contradicting each other on any important point, while they all wrote from their own standpoint and temperament; so that the matter-of-fact man has his Moses; the romantic nature his Ezekiel; the epigrammatic his Solomon; the warrior his Joshua; the sailor his Jonah; the loving his John; the logician his Paul. Instead of this Bible, which now I can lift in my hand—instead of the Bible the child can carry to Sunday School—instead of the little Bible the sailor can put in his jacket when he goes to sea—if it had been left to men to write, it would have been a thousand volumes, judging from the amount of ecclesiastical controversy which has arisen. God's way is different from man's, but it is best, infinitely best.

So it is in regard to the Christian's life. If we had had the planning of a Christian's life we would have said: "Let him have eighty years of sunshine, a fine house to live in; let his surroundings all be agreeable; let him have sound health; let no chill shiver through his limbs, no pain ache his brow, or trouble shadow his soul." I enjoy the prosperity of others so much I would let every man have as much money as he wants and roses for his children's cheeks and fountains of gladness glancing in their large round eyes. But that is not God's way. It seems as if man must be cut, and hit, and pounded just in proportion as he is useful. His child falls from a third-story window and has its life dashed out; his most confident investment tumbles him into bankruptcy; his friends, on whom he depended, aid the natural force of gravitation in taking him down; his life is a Bull Run defeat. Instead of twenty-two thousand advantages he has only ten thousand—ay, only three hundred—ay, none at all. How many people there are at their wits' end about their livelihood, about their reputation. But they will find out it is the best way after awhile; God will show them that he depletes their advantages just for the same reason he depleted the army of Gideon—that they may be induced to throw themselves on his mercy.

A grape vine says in the early spring: "How glad I am to get through the winter! I shall have no more trouble now! Summer weather will come and the garden will be very beautiful!" But the gardener comes, and cuts the vine here and there with his knife. The twigs begin to fall and the grape vine cries out, "Murder! what are you cutting me for?" "Ah," says the gardener, "I don't mean to kill you. If I did not do this you would be the laughing stock of all the other vines before the season is over." Months go on, and one day the gardener comes under the trellis and the grape vine says: "Thank you, sir; you could not have done anything so kind as to have cut me with that knife." "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." No pruning, no grapes; no grinding mill, no flour; no battle, no victory; no cross, no crown!

So God's way, in the redemption of the world, is different from ours. If we had our way we would have had Jesus stand in the door of heaven and beckon the nations up to light, or we would have had angels flying around the earth proclaiming the unsearchable riches of Christ. Why is it that the cause goes on so slowly? Why is it that the chains stay on, when God could knock them off? Why do thrones of despotism stand when God could so easily demolish them? It is his way, in order that all generations may co-operate and that all men may know they cannot do the work themselves. Just in proportion as these pyramids of sin go up in height will they come down in ghastliness of ruin.

Oh, thou father of all iniquity! If thou canst bear my voice above the crackling of the flames; drive on thy projects, dispatch thy emissaries, build thy temples, and forge thy chains; but know that thy fall from heaven was not greater than thy final overthrow shall be when thou shalt be driven disarmed into thy fiery den, and for every lie thou hast framed upon earth thou shalt have an additional hell of fury poured into thine anguish by the vengeance of our God, and all heaven shall shout at the overthrow, as from the ransomed earth the song breaks through the skies, "Hallelujah! for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth! Hallelujah! for the kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of our Lord Jesus Christ!" God's way in the composition of the Bible, God's way in the Christian's life, God's way in the redemption of the world, God's way in everything—different from man's way, but the best.

I learn from this subject that the overthrow of God's enemies will be sudden and terrific. There is the army of the Midianites down in the valley of Jezreel. I suppose their mighty men are dreaming of victory. Mount Gilboa never stood sentinel for so large a host. The spears and the shields of the Midianites gleam in the moonlight and glance on the eye of the Israelites, who hover like a battle of eagles, ready to swoop from the cliff. Sleep on, oh army of the Midianites! With the night to hide them and the mountain to guard them and strong arms to defend them let no slumbering foeman dream of disaster! Peace to the captains and the spearmen!

Crash go the pitchers! up flare the lamps! To the mountains! fly! fly! Troop running against troop, thousands trampling upon thousands. Hark to the scream and groan of the routed foe, with the Lord God Almighty after them! How sudden the onset, how wild the consternation, how utter the defeat! I do not care so much what is against me if God is not. You want a better sword or carbine than I have ever seen to go out and fight against the Lord omnipotent. Give me God for my ally, and you may have all the battlements and battalions.

I saw the defrauder in his splendid house. It seemed as if he had conquered God, as he stood amidst the blaze of chandeliers and pier mirrors. In the diamonds of the wardrobe I saw the tears of the widows whom he had robbed, and in the snowy satip the pallor of the white-cheeked orphans whom he had wronged. The blood of the oppressed glowed in the deep crimson of the imported chair. The music trembled with the sorrow of unrequited toil. But the wave of mirth dashed higher on reefs of coral and pearl. The days and the nights went merrily. No sick child dared pull that silver door-bell. No beggar dared sit on that marble step. No voice of prayer floated amidst that tapestry. No shadow of a judgment day darkened that fresco. No tear of human sympathy dropped upon that upholstery. Pomp strutted the hall and Dissipation filled her cup, and all seemed safe as the Millianites in the valley of Jezreel. But God came. Calamity smote the money market. The partridge left its eggs unhatched. Crash went all the porcelain pitchers! Ruin, rout, dismay, and woe in the valley of Jezreel!

Alas for those who fight against God! Only two sides. Man immortal, which side are you on? Woman immortal, which side are you on? Do you belong to the three hundred that are going to win the day, or to the great host of Midianites asleep in the valley, only to be roused up in consternation and ruin? Suddenly the golden bowl of life will be broken and the trumpet blown that will startle our soul into eternity. The day of the Lord cometh as a thief in the night, and as the God-armed Israelites upon the sleeping foe. Ha! Canst thou pluck up courage for the day when the trumpet which hath never been blown shall speak the roll call of the dead and the earth, dashing against a lost meteor, have its mountains scattered to the stars and oceans emptied in the air? Oh, then, what will become of you? What will become of me?

If those Midianites had only given up their swords the day before the disaster, all would have been well; and if you will now surrender the sins with which you have been fighting against God you will be safe. Oh, make peace with him now, through Jesus Christ the Lord. With the clutch of a drowning man seize the Cross. Oh, surrender! surrender! Christ, with his hand on his pierced side, asks you to.

In the Service of Christ.

A story is told by the Colporteur of a well-known preacher who in walking the length of the hotel piazza at a summer watering place, met a lady friend hastening toward the breakfast room. It was late in the morning. A casual remark of the gentleman as to the lateness of the hour for breakfast led to the following remark: "I am late because I was tired. I danced last night until I blistered my feet."

"May I ask one question?" the preacher said, and with consent he asked: "Did you blister your feet in the service of your Redeemer?"

A scornful look and a hasty retreat were the result. A bystander and mutual friend remarked that the question was faithful though rather severe. The two wondered what would become of it.

For several days the lady avoided her friends, and, in fact, was invisible. Nearly a week passed. Then followed an interview at the request of the offended lady, who, with real distress, confessed that, although angry at the preacher's question, she had been unable to justify herself, nor had sleep been possible since the morning of her confusion. "I come to ask your pardon and that you will tell me how I can blister my feet in the service of Christ. I am ready to do it now, and before I do anything else; I want to do it very much indeed; I want to make myself weary in his service. I will do anything to atone for the waste and folly of the past. It has been so heartless of me."

The Teaching of Patriotism.

We are accustomed to say that the stability of our republican institutions depends on popular education. Educate the people and the republic is safe.

The truth of that saying depends on what is meant by education. Reading and writing, grammar and arithmetic will do very little for the preservation of the state. Intellectual attainment, though they be of the highest, science developed in all its applications, knowledge universally diffused—there is no efficacy in these, however desirable for refinement and the comfort of life; there is no efficacy in these to save a nation or avert its downfall. If conscience decays while the intellect ripens, the rottenness will spread until it eats out the heart of the nation's life and prepares the way for the triumph of brute force, or what is the same thing, of unscrupulous demagogism over liberty and right.

Moral training is the crying want of the time. The one thing needful for the safety of the state is that the education of the moral sense in the young keep equal measure with intellectual discipline.—Dr. Hedge.

Christ, the Friend.

If you wear the livery of Christ you will find him so meek and lowly of heart that you will find rest unto your souls. He is the most magnanimous of captains. There never was his like among the choicest of princes. He is always to be found in the thickest part of the battle. When the wind blows cold, he always takes the bleak side of the hill. The heaviest end of the cross lies over his shoulders. If he bids us carry a burden, he carries it also. If there is any that is gracious, generous, kind and tender, yes, lavish and superabundant in love, you always find it in him. His service is life, peace, joy. Oh, that you would enter on it at once! God help you to enlist under the banner of Jesus Christ.—Last Words of Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

The Seaside Season of Novels.

Wherever you go among the summer retreats the average woman is sure to be found with a 25-cent paper-covered novel in her hands, trying to kill time by reading it. As a rule the worthlessness of these stories is their chief characteristic. Most of them are so trashy that the only chance of their securing a reading is in the form of cheap novels for the warm days of the summer season. At the hotels this literature is an exclusive. Nothing else sells. It has no rivals, and the publishers, accurately gauging the public taste, bring out nothing else till September. At other times the novel has to run the gauntlet with serious publications, but now, in reverse proportion to its worthlessness, it has the field all to itself. Even the magazines have caught the infection, and are chiefly filled with short stories for the summer months, because these are most in demand.

The Conference Rejects Them as Delegates.

THE ROCK RIVER CONFERENCE ENDS ITS LABORS.

Rev. T. E. Ream to Come Back to Barrington—Prosperity of the Church—E. W. Ward Sent to Plato Center.

Tuesday the Rock River District Methodist conference, at Elgin, to the great surprise of believers in woman's cause, voted down a resolution to admit women delegates to the general conference of the church. As the Rock River is the most progressive and cosmopolitan in Illinois, women had counted upon certain victory, and believed it would have great weight in their favor before the general conference.

The resolution to admit them, introduced by Rev. Mr. Earngey, started a warm debate, and woman's advocates were eloquent in her behalf, but the vote was unmistakably in the negative.

The report of Statistician Farmaloe shows the achievements with increase and decrease of the year in growth and strength of church membership, church contributions to pastoral support, benevolences and other church work. Among the more important items were the following:

Probationers in the church, 3,284; an increase of 554.
Full church members, 46,785; increase of 1,878.
Preachers in conference, 223; increase of 19.
Sunday schools, 492; increase of 9.
Sunday school officers and teachers, 7,106; decrease of 17.
Sunday school scholars, 59,370; increase of 1,165.
Number of churches, 365; increase of 4.
Valuation of churches, $4,068,438; increase of $128,480.
Total debt of conference, $278,925; increase of $4,983.
Total expenditures for pastoral support, $284,564; decrease of $4,199.
Freemen's Aid and Southern Educational Society, $5,523; decrease of $1,371.
Women's Foreign Mission Society, $13,831; decrease of $237.
Women's Home Missionary Society, $9,962; decrease of $4,481.
Total benevolent collections, $128,015; decrease of $4,031.

Rev. T. E. Ream is returned to Barrington, which is very pleasing to the members of the church here.

Rev. E. W. Ward is transferred from South Elgin to Plato Center.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Justice L. D. Castle Has the Misfortune to Lose His Left Eye.

While Justice L. D. Castle was splitting a piece of wood, about noon on Saturday, Sept. 14th, three miles from Barrington, a chip struck him in the left eye, causing the gentleman intense pain.

Dr. Clausius was called, and after a thorough examination told Mr. Castle that the wound was too serious to be treated by our local physicians, and advised him to consult some specialist in the city.

On the following Wednesday Mr. Castle called on Dr. F. C. Harnish, who is an expert oculist at Alexian Bros.' hospital in Chicago. After the doctor examined the organ he informed Mr. Castle that an operation would have to be performed, and the lens removed. Another specialist, Dr. Hoetz was called in, who agreed in every particular with Dr. Harnish, as to the operation and treatment.

On Thursday Mr. Castle was put under the influence of chloroform, preparatory of having the operation performed, and the doctors again gave the eye a thorough examination, convincing them that the eye would have to be removed. To avoid legal complications the patient had to be revived from the effects of the drug, and give his consent for the removal of his eye. This operation was successfully performed last Saturday morning in Alexian Bros.' hospital. No fears are entertained for the safety of the other eye, and the wound is healing nicely.

Justice Castle has only the highest praise for the Alexian Bros.' hospital management. In an interview with a Review reporter, Monday, he said: "I could not have been treated better anywhere than I was during my stay at the Alexian Bros.' hospital. The rooms are pleasant and comfortable, the attendants polite and efficient, and the rates are very moderate. The physicians are gentlemen of the highest standing in their professions. In fact, everything is done to make the patients comfortable."

THE WESTERN SLOPE.

L. D. CASTLE.

As we move down life's western slopes,
We leave behind us many hopes
The good right arm, the stalwart frame,
That served me well in life's array.
Alas, they're not at all the same.
It's evident they've had their day.
The strong, the firm, and strident tread,
By which I reached life's summit crest,
I hoped to keep—that hope is dead,
Is dead and buried with the rest.
An accident the other day
Knocked one of life's strong props away.
One light went out, leaving a gloom
Profound and rayless as the tomb.

Why do I murmur and complain,
And sing to you this sad refrain?
For true it is, as well we know,
That good and bad together flow,
Adorn life's turbid stream.

Can we the good expect to gain?
Reject the bad? Shall we complain
If somewhere in the treacherous flow
We get a bitter, blinding blow?
Shall we then weakly quit the fray?
Give up the contest, yield the day?
Oh, No! We'll make the most of what is left,
And make the least of what's bereft.

Hardening of the Liver.

HOW A PITTSFIELD, ILL., GENTLEMAN OVERCAME IT.

This Condition Often Induces Paralysis and Should Have the Best of Treatment.

From the Democrat, Pittsfield, Ill.

Mr. Valentine Smith, a farmer living in this county, whose post office address is Pittsfield, Ill., for the good of humanity in general and especially for the benefit of any who may be afflicted as he was, wishes to make the following statement with reference to the great benefit he has received from using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People:

His statement is as follows: "About a year ago I was living in the Mississippi bottom near the river, and I had become very much broken in health, suffering greatly from a distention or hardening of the lower part of the abdomen or bowels, besides being troubled with my kidneys and other complications which rendered my case, as I had supposed, almost hopeless. I had been in this condition, although of course not as bad as I was a year ago, for something over six years and had about given up all hope of ever being a well man again, when, by the many testimonials and advertisements I had read with reference to the wonderful cures perfected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I was induced to give them a trial. After taking two boxes I began to feel greatly relieved, and by the time I had used up five or six boxes I was completely cured and have been, comparatively speaking, a well man ever since. During all the time that I suffered with this dreadful disease, which I am unable to name, I passed many sleepless nights and was in great distress almost continually and was able to do but little work. Now I sleep and eat well, and, although I am sixty-one years of age, I am able to do a good day's work on the farm, having put in and tended eight acres of corn this season, besides doing a large amount of other work on the farm. In short, I think your medicine a great blessing to humanity and can cheerfully recommend it to all suffering as I was. I had been in this condition six or seven years and had given everything I could hear of, doctors included, a fair trial, but could get no relief.

VALENTINE SMITH.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 4th day of June, 1895.

MINNIE COLEY, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50—(they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Atlanta and the South.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois R. R. will during the time of the Exposition at Atlanta, Sept. 18, to Dec. 31, 1895, offer exceptionally fine service between Chicago and the South. A low rate ticket will be sold, and through cars run to all southern points. This is 55 miles the shortest route to Atlanta, Chattanooga and the South.

Came to Himself.

A negro brother while expostulating on that clause of the prodigal son where it says, "And when he came to himself he said," etc., explained it in this way: "Broders, after being long in want and hunger de son at last takes off his coat and sells it. When this fund has disappeared he takes off his vest and sells that. When this is gone he next sells his shirt, and then, broders, he came to himself."—Ruth C. Kloster, Rib Lake, Wis.

Kate Field in Denver.

Denver, Sept. 10.—My journey from Chicago was over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, one of the best managed systems in the country. I should say, judging by the civility of the employees, the comfort I experienced, the excellence of its roadbed, and the punctuality of arrival. I actually reached Denver ahead of time. The Burlington Route is also the best to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha and Kansas City.

FARM AND GARDEN.

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO AGRICULTURISTS.

Some Up-to-Date Hints About Cultivation of the Soil and Yields Thereof—Horticulture, Viticulture and Floriculture.

WRITER in Stockman and Farmer, in describing the methods of growing buckwheat, says:

"It is a question if buckwheat will pay on all kinds of soil, and the scorching suns of July and August are very hard on the crop.

It will flourish best in moist weather. The soil here is clayey, with occasional gravelly patches, and on the creek bottoms black loam, but always a clay subsoil at various depths. Land for buckwheat should be of medium richness; if too rich, will go mostly to straw and lodge so as to be difficult to cut, besides not filling properly.

"The ground should be plowed in the fore part of June and harrowed after showers until the 4th of July. No danger of getting too mellow or fine. Drill in about one bushel to the acre of the silver gray or old-fashioned black hull. If you sow the Japanese variety you will need a little more seed, as the kernel is larger and does not stool so much.

bushel of dry buckwheat will make from 20 to 27 pounds of flour. After a crop of buckwheat the ground is in good condition for the succeeding crop, as it will be mellow and generally free from weeds.

Harvesting Beans.

A San Luis Obispo bean grower gives an exchange his idea of bean harvesting in this way: Pull the beans after they shed their leaves. Instead of leaving them six or eight days exposed to the weather, they should be threshed the second or third day. This is usually done by selecting a piece of smooth, sandy ground and wetting the surface, then putting on a light litter of straw and driving from three to ten horses abreast over the ground, describing a circle all the time. After the horses have thoroughly packed the ground the straw is raked off and the floor is leveled with a large mall, then swept with a broom and allowed to stand a couple of days, when it is ready for use, and is nearly as hard as a wood floor. This floor is usually about fifty feet in diameter, although many are much larger. The beans are then hauled to the floor to the depth of about three feet, and the horses put on the same as when building the floor. The vines have to be turned a couple of times and shaken up, then tramped again, when they will be clean. The beans are screened by throwing them up against the wind. They are usually put in sacks of eighty pounds each, and sell by the pound, the price ranging from one and one-half to four cents, according to kind and quality. The southwest portion of San Luis Obispo

—Cord Grass.

Botanical name, Spartina cynosuroides. Stems upright, stout, becoming hard and woody, three to seven feet high, from very large, scaly, perennial root-stocks; leaves two or three feet long, involute, pointed, tough and rigid, rough on the margins; spikes five to twenty, usually from one and one-half to three inches long, upright at first, but becoming somewhat spreading at maturity; spikelets nearly half an inch long, one-flowered, flattened, sessile and crowded closely together in two rows; glumes awn-pointed with minute bristles along the back.

This grass is common in low places

The richer the ground the less seed needed. You can sow broadcast, but in a dry season it is better to drill quite deep, so the roots will be of uniform depth and will hold the moisture. It will be easier to harvest the crop if the land roller is used once after sowing.

When two-thirds of the grains are brown it is time to cut, which can be done best with side-rake reaper, though the binder can be used, leaving out the twine, or can be cut with grain cradle.

"After cutting, roll the bundles carefully and press the tops together, cone shaped and set firmly on the ground. In about a week or more of dry weather it will do to thresh. It is hauled from the field directly to the separator, and if dry will thresh very easily. Care must be taken not to have many spikes in the concaves, as the grain cuts very easily. Most threshermen have a special concave having about a dozen spikes for buckwheat. The yield per acre is anywhere from 8 to 40 bushels, according to conditions. It can hardly be classed as a paying crop every season. The hot suns' blight and early frosts often kill or injure it; one season the grasshoppers destroyed the crop, and heavy rains are a source of waste. A county is devoted almost entirely to this crop, and the yield runs from ten to forty sacks per acre, and good bean land readily sells for $200 to $300 per acre.

Early Plowing for Wheat.—It is hardly possible to plow too early for wheat, and the sooner this is done after the field to be sown is ready for the plow, the better for the crop if proper attention is given to it. Plow as soon as possible, and harrow as fast as plowed, no matter how hard and dry the soil is. Usually early plowed land can be harrowed effectively better than that which lies to the sun until August or the first of September. After a field is plowed it should be harrowed at intervals as the weeds start, and this will make a seed bed that is just what wheat needs. We once knew an old gentleman whose rule in harrowing was to harrow twice as much as necessary, and then all the time that could be given to it afterward, and he hardly ever failed of a crop of wheat or oats.—Farm News.

After which gracious speech he went in again to his more profitable customers.

"Badad," said Pat, with a look of determination on his face, "it's not meself who'll be after asking the way agin."

When next the landlord looked across the road there was no sign post, for Pat, afraid of again losing his way, had taken it with him!

Keep the Baby Fat.

"My baby was a living skeleton. The doctors said he was dying of Marasmus, Indigestion, etc. The various foods I tried seemed to keep him alive, but did not strengthen or fatten him. At thirteen months old he weighed exactly what he did at birth—seven pounds. I began using 'SCOTT'S EMULSION,' sometimes putting a few drops in his bottle, then again feeding it with a spoon; then again by the absorption method of rubbing it into his body. The effect was marvelous. Baby began to stouten and fatten, and became a beautiful dimpled boy, a wonder to all. SCOTT'S EMULSION supplied the one thing needful."
