PARTIES HELD DURING THE WEEK.

MISS HOMUTH'S PARTY.

Monday evening about twenty of Miss Rose Homuth's friends assembled at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Homuth, to help her celebrate her birthday. Games of various kinds kept those present in a jolly mood until a late hour. "Poison," "I'll Bring Back What I Borrowed," "Keep House," "Fruit Basket," "Roll the Platter," and other games were played. At 10:30 o'clock a dainty lunch was served, girls choosing partners. A most pleasant time was spent by all. Among those present were:

Misses Tillie Hobein, Louisa Sadlic, Emma Schultz, Martha Groff, Maud Cady, Lillie Smith, Ella Homuth, Laura Homuth and Edna Homuth.

E. Weiseman, H. Robertson, Ed Groff, Charlie Schultz, Chas. Schwemm, Walter Homuth, Fred Schwemm, Reuben Homuth, Wilbert Smith and Mr. and Mrs. E. Hachmeister.

MISS ELVIDGE'S PARTY.

A very pleasant party was given Miss Esther Elvidge Tuesday evening, in honor of her 24th birthday anniversary. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing social games, of which "Clumps" seemed to be the most popular.

At 10:30 o'clock luncheon was served, which was very much enjoyed.

Among those present were: Misses Carrie Kingsley, Alvina Meyers, Eufelyn and Myrtle Runyan, Lizzie and Belle Catlow, Gertrude Kitson, Grace Otis, Grace Generaux, Carrie Meyer, Sadie Krahn, Myrtle and Flora Alensby, Millie Page, Cora and Delia Palmer, and Mrs. T. E. Ream.

Messrs. J. E. Doornoor, Frank Hockins, R. M. Lines, Wilber Harnden, George Otis, Henry Meyer, Roy Meyer, Wm. McCord, Chas. A. Mansfield.

Miss Elvidge was the recipient of many kind remembrances and well wishes.

MR. AND MRS. DIEKMAN ARE SURPRISED.

Thursday evening, February 27th, about twenty-five ladies and gentlemen took possession of the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Diekman, in Main street, and tendered them a pleasant surprise.

After greetings were over with, games were indulged in. At 11:30 o'clock refreshments were served, after which the guests again amused themselves by playing social games.

Among those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Gottlieb Heimerdinger, Henry Butzow, Dr. Max Clausius, Fred Meier, John Hatje, Henry Muller, August Krueger, Rev. E. Rahn, E. Schaefer.

Mesdames Christ Muller, Keolling, Kuhlman, H. Sadt, F. Sandman.

Messrs. H. Koelling and Gussie Blum.

EDDIE MARTIN ENTERTAINS.

Master Eddie Martin entertained about twenty-five of his young friends Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lamey, in Elm street.

The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner, social games and music furnishing the greater part of the amusement. At 9 o'clock the following menu kept the lads and lassies busy for a time:

Sandwiches
Ice cream
Fruit
Cakes
Candies

The occasion was Master Edward's 13th birthday, and many were the good wishes extended to him. The young gentleman was the recipient of a number of presents. Among those present were: Misses Lydia Sadt, Rose Volker, Lottie Palmer, Emma Pomeroy, Anna and Marie Dolan, Virginia and Hazel Purcell, Pauline Clausius, Luella Peters, Iva Runyan, Emma Jahnke, Nellie Graybill.

Masters Willie and Eddie Kirby, Willie and Henry Sadt, Karl and Leonard Volker, Samuel Peters, Willie Hatje, Willis Runyan, Alvin Meier and Clarence Fischer.

Miss L. Smith of Elgin was a caller here Tuesday.

Chas. Albright was seen hustling to Barrington Wednesday.

Mr. Wolthausen's team ran away Tuesday, but fortunately no damage was done.

C. G. Peebles, who has been employed in the creamery here, left for Hebron, McHenry county, Wednesday, where he will work in the creamery. Clayton is an industrious and efficient workman, and has many friends here, who join with THE REVIEW in wishing him success.

An Excellent Program Rendered.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young People's Missionary society of the Salem church, Tuesday evening, was largely attended. The following program was rendered in a most excellent manner:

Song by the Society.
Prayer—Rev. Suhr.
Solo, "An Ode to Carter Harrison"—Miss Lydia Suhr.

Reading—Miss Laura Reike.
"History of Our Society"—President Mary Frye.

Song—Society.
Instrumental Music—Miss Amanda Schroeder.

Pen Picture—Walter Roloff.
Duet—Misses Sadie Krahn and Carrie Meyer.

Reading—Miss Esther Lageschulte.
The report of the program committee was then read, after which F. J. Meier and Swan Peterson were elected to membership.

MORTUARY RECORD.

Mr. Henry Antholtz died at the residence of his son, William, in Hough street, Monday evening, March 2, 1896, of dropsy.

Mr. Antholtz was born in Hanover, Germany, August 16, 1816, and emigrated to America in the spring of 1836, coming direct to Illinois, and has lived in this immediate vicinity for about twenty-nine years.

The gentleman was a regular attendant of Zion's German Evangelical church. He leaves three daughters, one son, fourteen grand children and great-grand children.

The funeral was held from the residence of his son Thursday morning, at 11 o'clock, Rev. Theo. Suhr of the Salem church officiating.

John D. McCabe was born May 16, 1849, on a farm in the town of Wauconda. He was the youngest of seven children.

On Jan. 27, 1880, he married Sarah A. Coyle in McHenry, Ill., Rev. Father O'Neill tying the nuptial knot. He resided on the farm with his father until 1882 when he removed to Wauconda and engaged in business there up to the time of his death, which occurred March 1, 1896.

His funeral was held at the Catholic church, Wauconda, March 3, 1896, and his remains interred in the Fremont Catholic cemetery. The same pastor who officiated at his marriage conducted his funeral.

Besides his beloved wife, an aged father and one sister, Mrs. Mary A. White of Chicago, he leaves three brothers to mourn his loss—James, the eldest, who resides on the homestead; Michael of Chicago, and Martin of Carson City, Nev., who alone was absent from the funeral services.

John Welch, son of Mrs. Ellen Welch, and a brother-in-law of James McCabe, of Volo, Ill., died quite suddenly at a hospital in Ogden, Idaho, a few days since, and was buried in Salt Lake City beside his brother, who preceded him some years ago. His occupation was mining.

BOOM FOR LAKE ZURICH.

The Lake Zurich Golf Club Acquires Valuable Property.

On February 17th the Lake Zurich Golf club was duly incorporated, and on the 20th of that month the following officers were elected: Horace S. Oakley, president; F. L. Jewett, secretary and treasurer. Chas. B. Wood, Mason Bros. and F. L. Jewett are the committee on buildings. Other members of the organization at its inception being Messrs. Frank Sellars, Harrison Musgrave and M. C. McIntosh. The club has purchased 78 acres on the northeast side of the lake, part of it being timber land. Golfing links will be established on the cleared land back of the timber. The club is limited to 200 members, and is composed chiefly of members of the University club and Chicago Lawyers' club.

The buildings heretofore owned by Chas. B. Wood will be utilized by the club during the early part of this season, but it is hoped that the new buildings will be completed before its close. The buildings, as planned, will cost $3,600. The establishment of this organization at Lake Zurich will add materially to the value of that community as a summer resort.

RAILROAD SPECIALS.

The E. J. & E. road is doing more business at the present time than at any period in the history of the road.

Operator Webb and Chas. Dill made Chicago a visit Friday.

Operator F. L. Meyer of Plainfield, Ill., called on Night Towerman Jenks Thursday evening.

Car-repairers Killian and Graybill are kept busy of late equipping cars with standard drawbars. All cars interchanged must have drawbars 31½ inches above the level of the rail before they are accepted by connecting lines.

John Frye, the night hostler at the roundhouse, who has been quite ill for several weeks, expects to resume work about the 12th.

We understand Agent Kohl has resigned his position and will go into the grocery business.

A STORY OF THE NEW WOMAN.

INTERNATIONAL PRESS ASSOCIATION.

"Well, ma'am, since you know so much, you probably know also that I have sold my pension. How am I to live if I do not turn my hand to work?"

Mrs. Westmacott produced a large registered envelope from beneath the sheets and tossed it over to the old seaman.

"That excuse won't do. There are your pension papers. Just see if they are right."

He broke the seal and out tumbled the very papers which he had made over to McAdam two days before.

"But what am I to do with these now?" he cried in bewilderment.

"You will put them in a safe place or get a friend to do so, and, if you do your duty, you will go to your wife and beg her pardon for having even for an instant thought of leaving her."

The Admiral passed his hand over his rugged forehead. "This is very good of you, ma'am," said he, "very good and kind, and I know that you are a staunch friend, but for all that these papers mean money, and though we may have been in broken water lately, we are not quite in such straits as to have to signal to our friends. When we do, ma'am, there's no one we would look to sooner than to you."

"Don't be ridiculous!" said the widow. "You know nothing whatever about it, and yet you stand there laying down the law. I'll have my way in this matter, and you shall take the papers, for it is no favor that I am doing you, but simply a restoration of stolen property."

"How that, ma'am?"

"I am just going to explain, though you might take a lady's word for it without asking any questions. Now, what I am going to say is just between you four, and must go no farther. I have my own reasons for wishing it kept from the police. Who do you think it was who struck me last night, Admiral?"

"Some villain, ma'am. I don't know his name."

"But I do. It was the same man who ruined or tried to ruin your son. It was my only brother, Jeremiah."

"Ah!"

"I will tell you about him—or a little about him, for he has done much which I would not care to talk of, nor you to listen to. He was always a villain, smooth-spoken and plausible, but a dangerous, subtle villain all the same. If I have some hard thoughts about mankind I can trace them back to the childhood which I spent with my brother. He is my only living relative, for my other brother, Charles' father, was killed in the Indian mutiny."

"Our father was rich, and when he died he made a good provision both for Jeremiah and for me. He knew Jeremiah and he mistrusted him, however; so instead of giving him all that he meant him to have he handed me over a part of it, telling me, with what was almost his dying breath, to hold it in trust for my brother, and to use it in his behalf when he should have squandered or lost all that he had. This arrangement was meant to be a secret between my father and myself, but unfortunately his words were overheard by the nurse, and she repeated them afterwards to my brother, so that he came to know that I held some money in trust for him. I suppose tobacco will not harm my head, Doctor? Thank you, then I shall trouble you for the matches, Ida." She lit a cigarette, and leaned back upon the pillow, with the blue wreaths curling from her lips.

"I cannot tell you how often he has attempted to get that money from me. He has bullied, cajoled, threatened, coaxed, done all that a man could do. I still held it with the presentiment that a need of it would come. When I heard of this villainous business, his flight, and his leaving his partner to face the storm, above all that my old friend had been driven to surrender his income in order to make up for my brother's default, I felt that now indeed I had a need for it. I sent in Charles yesterday to Mr. McAdam, and his client, upon hearing the facts of the case, very graciously consented to give back the papers, and to take the money which he had advanced. Not a word of thanks to me, Admiral. I tell you that it was very cheap benevolence, for it was all done with his own money, and how could I use it better?"

"I thought that I should probably hear from him soon, and I did. Last evening there was handed in a note of the usual whining, cringing tone. He had come back from abroad at the risk of his life and liberty, just in order that he might say good-bye to the only sister that he ever had, and to entreat my forgiveness for any pain which he had caused me. He would never trouble me again, and he begged only that I would hand over to him the sum which I held in trust for him. That, with what he had already, would be enough to start him as an honest man in the new world, when he would ever remember and pray for the dear sister who had been his savior. That was the style of the letter, and it ended by imploring me to leave the window-latch open, and to be in the front room at three in the morning, when he would come to receive my last kiss and to bid me farewell.

"Bad as he was, I could not, when he trusted me, betray him. I said nothing, but I was there at the hour. He entered through the window, and implored me to give him the money. He was terribly changed; gaunt, wolfish and spoke like a madman. I told him that I had spent the money. He gnashed his teeth at me, and swore it was his money. I told him that I had spent it on him. He asked me how. I said in trying to make him an honest man, and in repairing the results of his villainy. He shrieked out a curse, and pulling something out of the breast of his coat—a loaded stick, I think—he struck me with it, and I remembered nothing more."

"The blackguard!" cried the Doctor, "but the police must be hot upon his track."

"I fancy not," Mrs. Westmacott answered calmly. "As my brother is a particularly tall, thin man, and as the police are looking for a short, fat one, I do not think that it is very probable that they will catch him. It is best, I think, that these little family matters should be adjusted in private."

"My dear ma'am," said the Admiral, "if it is indeed this man's money that has brought back my pension, then I can have no scruples about taking it. You have brought sunshine upon us, ma'am, when the clouds were at their darkest, for here is my boy who insists upon returning the money which I got. He can keep it now to pay his debts. For what you have done I can only ask God to bless you, ma'am, and as to thanking you I can't even—"

"Then pray don't try," said the widow. "Now run away, Admiral, and make your peace with Mrs. Denver. I am sure if I were she it would be a long time before I should forgive you. As for me, I am going to America when Charles goes. You'll take me so far, won't you, Ida? There is a college being built in Denver which is to equip the woman of the future for the struggle of life, and especially for her battle against man. Some months ago the committee offered me a responsible position upon the staff, and I have decided to accept it, for Charles' marriage removes the last tie which binds me to England. You will write to me sometimes, my friends, and you will address your letters to Professor Westmacott, Emancipation College, Denver. From there I shall watch how the glorious struggle goes on in conservative old England, and if I am needed you will find me here again fighting in the forefront of the fray. Good-bye—but not you, girls; I have still a word I wish to say to you."

"Give me your hand, Ida, and yours, Clara," said she when they were alone. "Oh, you naughty little pussies, aren't you ashamed to look me in the face? Did you think—did you really think that I was so very blind, and could not see your little plot? You did it very well, I must say that, and really I think that I like you better as you are. But you had all your pains for nothing, you little conspirators, for I give you my word that I had quite made up my mind not to have him."

And so within a few weeks our little ladders from their observatory saw a mighty bustle in the Wilderness, when two-horse carriages came, and coachmen with favors, to bear away the two who were destined to come back one. And they themselves in their crackling silk dresses went across, as invited, to the big double wedding breakfast which was held in the house of Doctor Walker. Then there was health-drinking, and laughter, and changing of dresses, and rice-throwing when the carriages drove up again, and two more couples started on that journey which ends only with life itself.

Charles Westmacott is now a flourishing ranchman in the western part of Texas, where he and his sweet little wife are the two most popular persons in all that county. Of their aunt they see little, but from time to time they see notices in the papers that there is a focus of light in Denver, where mighty thunderbolts are being forged which will one day bring the dominant sex upon their knees. The Admiral and his wife still live at number one, while Harold and Clara have taken number two, where Doctor Walker continues to reside. As to the business, it had been reconstructed, and the energy and ability of the junior partner had soon made up for all the ill that had been done by his senior. Yet with his sweet and refined home atmosphere he is able to realize his wish, and to keep himself free from the sordid aims and base ambitions which drag down the man whose business lies too exclusively in the money market of the vast Babylon. As he goes back every evening from the crowds of Throgmorton Street to the tree-lined peaceful avenues of Norwood, so he has found it possible in spirit also to do one's duties amidst the babel of the City, and yet to live beyond it.

THE END.

Young barrister (to young lady)—"I presume you play the piano?" Mother (aside, to her daughter)—"Better say 'No.'"—Fliegende Blaetter.

RUIN AND DESOLATION

NEW ENGLAND STATES SWEEP BY FLOODS.

Dam Breaks at Bristol, Conn., Letting Loose a Torrent of Water—Bridges and Houses Carried Away—Total Loss Will Exceed $2,000,000.

The greatest flood in the history of Bristol swept down the Pequaback valley Sunday morning, spreading ruin and desolation on every hand. Bristol was a heavy sufferer during the storm of a few weeks ago, when six men lost their lives, but the waste of waters before daylight Sunday morning eclipsed all previous records.

The heavy rain and melting snow on the mountains swelled the basin of the old copper mine dam in Whiggsville, the northern section of Bristol, until it burst, tearing away 160 feet wide in the granite masonry, and letting a volume of water, covering seventy-five acres and forty feet deep, into the river below, which itself was a roaring torrent. The break occurred about 2 o'clock. The great body of water tore down the valley with a roar that was heard above the noise of the storm for miles away. At Forestville, four miles below the dam, people living near the river were obliged to abandon their residences, as the water broke into the lower stories in many cases before the inmates were out of bed.

The highway bridges on nearly all roads crossing the Pequaback were swept away. Ten in all have gone out and others are badly damaged. The street of Bristol and the village of Forestville were badly washed in many places. The highway bridge at Forestville Center sagged several feet, and is in an impassable condition. It is estimated that the town of Bristol will lose from $50,000 to $75,000 by damage to the bridges and roads.

Hartford, Conn., Special: The great rainstorm which was in progress all day Saturday, Saturday night and Sunday, caused the greatest damage to property throughout the state that has occurred in twenty years. Many serious accidents, washouts and wrecks are reported. The Connecticut river is swollen until it has reached a point three times greater than its normal proportions. The big iron bridge at Middletown was in great danger all the afternoon and a portion of the false work was swept away, but the main structure is still intact. A bad freight wreck occurred early in the morning near Forestville. The engine of a special freight ran into a washout and was capsized. Seven cars were smashed to atoms and one of the trainmen badly injured. The storm in Winsted and other sections of Litchfield county was very severe. The Philadelphia, Reading & New England railroad tracks are under water in many places, and traffic has been suspended. The loss in Litchfield county alone is estimated at nearly $100,000. At Brooklyn a well-known mill owner lost his life, and several accidents are reported from many sections.

LOSS WILL REACH $2,000,000.

Reports Show that New England Has Suffered to This Extent.

Boston, Mass., Special: The loss caused by the forty-eight hours' rain in New England is beyond estimate, but computation of reports received from all accessible places shows over $2,000,000 damages. All railroads are tied up, wires are generally down and travel in nearly every direction is suspended.

Later Details.

The Merrimac river at Nashua is three feet above the record of 1869. Fifty houses are under water, and boats are utilized in the main streets. Two hundred looms in the Jackson mills are under water, a dozen other mills shut down and electric plant flooded, shutting off power of scores of factories and light for stores and streets. Three highway bridges to Litchfield are gone, and twenty-eight cars, each loaded with 85,000 pounds of iron, are on the Canal street bridge, which thus far has withstood the strain of acres of ice piled against it, but it is feared it will go. Taylor's Falls bridge below is shaky and impassable. The loss here is over $50,000.

Of the four mammoth bridges between Lewiston and Auburn only two are standing, and one of them, the Grand Trunk, is badly weakened. The north and south bridges were washed down upon the island yesterday, carrying terror to the 1,200 inhabitants. At Mechanic's Falls boats are used in the main square. The iron Portland & Rumford Falls railroad bridge has been moved three feet from its piers and hangs over the swollen stream. A big iron bridge at Page's Mill has been swept away, and the one at Turner Center, built last summer, was lifted like a feather and deposited in the flood below. At Fair Haven, Vt., Albert and William Rousseau attempted to cross the river in a boat and were capsized and drowned. Over 100 houses in Northampton can be reached only by boats, and the people are being rescued from second-story windows.

Personally Conducted Excursions to California.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line, in upholstered tourist sleeping cars, leave Chicago every Thursday via the North-Western Line. Low rates, picturesque route, quickest time and careful attention are advantages offered to those who join these excursions. Cost of berth only $6. Ask your nearest ticket agent for full particulars or address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A., Chicago, Ill.

Unity of Churches Urged.

The time will soon come when the various churches of the different denominations and those of the same sect will cease to drive one another farther and farther apart by means of a very miserable selfishness, narrowness and sheep-stealing propensity. There are still some narrow Methodists who see good only in their own church. This mean, low and degrading narrowness or selfishness must be driven out of the church and out of each member's heart before the spirit of unity will prevail.—Rev. Dr. Euster, Methodist.

Oranges from Jerusalem.

California and Mexico have a new competitor in the matter of supplying oranges to the rest of the world. The oranges grown near Jerusalem are light in color, of oval shape and the fruit is packed with more care than that from other countries. The first consignment, which reached this country recently, attracted much attention. The oranges were grown between Jerusalem and Jaffa and are worth between $4 and $4.50 a case.

Home Seekers' Excursion to the South.

On March 10, 1896, Land Seekers' excursion tickets will be sold from all points in the north and northwest over the Big Four route to points south and southeast at one fare plus two dollars. Tickets will be good thirty days returning. For excursion rates, time cards, and free pamphlet descriptive of southern farm lands address J. C. Tucker, G. N. A., Big Four Route, 234 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

The Fox Sustained.

The fox's reputation for smartness was well sustained by a member of the tribe near Falmouth, Me., the other day. A couple of hounds and the hunter were after it and the fox led the hounds to a frozen pond and out on the ice so thin that it just supported the fox, which escaped, while the hounds went through and were drowned.

Causes of Poverty.

The principal causes of poverty are inadequate natural resources, bad climatic conditions, defective sanitation, evil associations and surroundings, defective legislation, defective judicial and punitive machinery, misdirected and inadequate education, bad industrial conditions, unwise philanthropy.—Dr. Philip W. THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE LIVTH CONGRESS.

A Brief Report of the Doings in Upper and Lower Houses of the National Legislature—The Work of a Week Condensed.

Sixty-second Session.

There was another sensational scene in the senate. Senator Carter, of Montana, made the speech of the day. The burden of his argument was that the republican party had declared for bimetalism in the Minneapolis convention, and that the party has not lived up to the platform.

As soon as the senate met, Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, returned to the tariff question by referring to the statements of Mr. Morrill, Mr. Sherman and Mr. Platt during the exciting debate Friday. Mr. Allen said he had believed that it was the honest purpose of the republican party to enact a law placing gold and silver on equal terms, but that debate developed that the republican leaders under no circumstances would accept a free coinage measure. Under these circumstances he would submit a distinct proposition to the chairman of the finance committee, that he (Allen) would assure sufficient populist votes to give a majority of the senate, if the passage of the tariff bill was accompanied by the adoption of a free coinage amendment. "The populist senators are ready to swallow your nauseating and unjust tariff measure," said Mr. Allen. "If you will place silver on equal terms with gold, but you will not do it." In concluding his speech Mr. Allen held up a bill, exclaiming: "Now, to test your integrity and your good faith, I offer this bill. It is your tariff bill, without a 'T' uncrossed or an 'I' undotted except in the title. I say to you that if you are ready to show the good faith of your assertions for silver and link it with the tariff bill, we will pledge you six populist votes."

Mr. Allen's bill was then read, it being the tariff bill and a free silver bill combined. It went to the table temporarily.

Mr. Lindsay, of Kentucky, offered an amendment to the tariff resolution of Mr. Carter, directing the finance committee to report back a repeal of the one-eighth differential duty on sugar.

Mr. Carter then took the floor for the speech, which had been anticipated with keen interest, deeming his attitude on the tariff bill.

Mr. Hoar contended that the republicans of the east believed in a double standard of value in accordance with the constitution and the doctrine as promulgated by Alexander Hamilton.

Mr. Teller declared that the pronouncement for bimetalism in the republican platform of 1892 was a declaration for silver coinage, and he asserted that Mr. Sherman was the only high financial authority who contended that bimetalism could be secured by any other means than by the coinage of both metals on equal terms, and he asserted that anyone who held a contrary view was either ignorant or wanted to deceive.

Here the debate was cut off by the arrival of the hour for again taking up the Cuban question.

Sixty-third Session.

The house committee on foreign affairs, after a warm session of two hours, on Thursday adopted concurrent resolutions declaring it to be the sense of congress that a state of war exists in Cuba; that the insurgents be given the right of belligerents, and that it is the sense of congress that the government of the United States use its influence to stop the war, if necessary, by intervention, and pledging the support of congress.

A stirring speech by Mr. Vest in behalf of Cuba was the event of the day in the senate. It came unexpectedly, as Mr. Vest seldom announces his speeches or makes preparations.

Mr. Vest declared that if we, the great republic of the world, proposed to stand by these people in their struggle, akin to our own, then we must help them in their time of need. And if this aid was not given by sending our fleets and armies—for no one expected that—then at least it should be by stating to the world what the senator believed before God to be true, that Spain could never again establish her dominion over that island. Mr. Vest drew a vivid picture of Spain's bloody rule over the old Spanish-American dependencies.

At 4 o'clock Mr. Sherman suggested that the debate go over until next day, and an adjournment accordingly was taken.

Sixty-fourth Session.

By the overwhelming vote of 64 to 6 the senate adopted a concurrent resolution favorable to Cuban belligerency and independence. The resolutions as adopted are as follows:

"Resolved (by the senate, the house of representatives concurring). That in the opinion of congress a condition of public war exists between the government of Spain and the government proclaimed and for some time maintained by force of arms by the people of Cuba; and that the United States of America should maintain a strict neutrality between the contending powers, according to each all the rights of belligerents in the ports and territory of the United States.

"Resolved. That the friendly offices of the United States should be offered by the president to the Spanish government for the recognition of the independence of Cuba."

There was an enthusiastic demonstration in the house when Secretary Cox, of the senate, appeared and announced the passage by the upper branch of congress of the Cuba resolutions, but the matter did not come up in any other form during the day. After encountering the unexpected opposition of Mr. Boutelle Thursday the house leaders concluded to postpone taking up the resolutions until the legislative bill was disposed of. The whole day in the house was spent in the consideration of the legislative appropriation bill and considerable progress was made. The conference report on the pension appropriation bill was agreed to.

Sixty-fifth Session.

With only little more than an hour's debate the house on Monday adopted the Cuban resolutions reported by Chairman Hitt of the foreign affairs committee last Thursday afternoon. The resolutions are as follows:

"Resolved, by the house of representatives (the senate concurring). That in the opinion of congress a state of public war exists in Cuba, the parties to which are entitled to belligerent rights, and the United States should observe a strict neutrality between the belligerents.

"Resolved. That congress deplores the destruction of life and property caused by the war now raging on the island, and, believing that the only permanent solution of the contest equally in the interest of Spain, the people of Cuba and other nations would be in the establishment of a government by the choice of the people of Cuba, it is the sense of congress that the government of the United States should use its good offices and friendly influence to that end.

"Resolved. That the United States has not intervened in struggles between any European governments and their colonies on this continent, but from the very close relations between the people of the United States and those of Cuba in consequence of its proximity and the extent of the commerce between the two peoples, the present war is entailing such losses upon the people of the United States that congress is of opinion that the government of the United States should be prepared to protect the legitimate interests of Americans by intervention, if necessary."

Mr. Hitt opened the debate with a ten-minute discussion in which he held strictly to an explanation of the resolutions and the propriety of adopting some expression which would be in keeping with diplomatic intercourse between two nations. Spain having recognized the southern confederacy before the battle of Bull Run was fought, she could not take offense at the United States for recognizing a state of war in Cuba a full year after it had begun.

Secretary Olney had received a cable message from Minister Taylor in Madrid saying that the minister of state had called to express deep regrets for the mob violence at Barcelona, and that the Spanish government had taken every precaution to guard the legation and American minister's residence. With such explanations there was an end to the excitement over the Barcelona affair.

On the demand of Mr. Cummings the vote was taken by yeas and nays. Those who voted in the negative were: Atwood, Boutelle, Gillett, Grout, McCall (Mass.), Moody, Simpkins, Walker (Va.), Wright, republicans; and Black (Ga.), Cobb (Ala.), Culberson, Elliott (S. C.), Harrison, Russell (Ga.), Tucker (Va.), Turner (Ga.), democrats. The resolutions were adopted—263 to 17.

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the legislative appropriation bill. The bill to abolish the fee system was offered as an amendment to the bill, but without action the committee rose, and at 4:50 o'clock the house adjourned.

The bill passed by the senate for the increase of the navy attracted considerable attention in view of the tension of Spanish-Cuban affairs. The bill as passed authorizes the addition of 1,000 enlisted men to the navy, the enlisting for not more than two years of the naval militia forces in case of emergency, and the chartering of transport ships in case of emergency. The bill passed under the five-minute rule and by unanimous vote.

Another bill of general interest passed, which establishes a retired list for the revenue marine service, similar to the retirement system of the army and navy. Most of the day was given to the senate calendar, and many minor bills were passed.

A resolution by Mr. Allen (Neb.) was agreed to, calling on the secretary of the treasury for information on the earnings of the Pacific railroads from the time of their organization.

The bill was passed to prevent the carrying of obscene literature and articles designed for indecent and immoral use from one state or territory to another.

The bill to prevent the desecration of the national flag was made the special order for Friday next at 2 o'clock.

The house resolutions on Cuba were reported and on motion of Mr. Lodge were referred to the committee on foreign relations.

A Strange Logical Process.
"It is a wonder to me," said Willie Washington, "to see how quickly the minds of some men act. There are people who can decide in an instant what it would take others a long time to consider. I met a man the other evening who is that way."

"Was he a lawyer?"
"I don't know. But he had an intellectual grasp that was astounding. I met him in the hall just as he was reaching for an umbrella. 'Is that your umbrella?' he inquired. 'No,' replied I. 'In that case,' he answered, 'it's mine.'"—Washington Star.

Cod-liver oil won't kill them. We don't know a remedy which will. The germs float in the air and we can't keep from breathing them into our lungs. Then why don't all of us have consumption? Because a healthy throat, sound lungs, and a strong constitution won't allow the germs to gain a foothold.

CALIFORNIA REACHED SAFELY

A. W. Meyer Visits Some Interesting Points.

On January 5th, at 8 o'clock, I leave behind me New Orleans and start for Houston, Tex. We passed through some great sugar plantations, but as I was comfortably sleeping in my berth, did not see much of the country.

I stopped off at Government Hill, called Fort San Antonio, on the morning of January 7th. There are from 600 to 1,000 soldiers stationed at this place. From this point you obtain an elegant view of the surrounding country. I also visited the old Alamo building, which is 177 years old. This building was utilized by the Americans during the Mexican war, in 1836, as a fort. It was here that about 172 American soldiers did battle against 4,000 Mexicans. All of the Americans were killed, but they sold their lives dearly, for over 1,600 Mexicans bit the dust before the last of the Americans were sent to their eternal sleep. The only survivors of this battle are two ladies, one of whom is 113 years old. In this fight was killed Gen. Bowie, after whom the bowie knife was named.

Among other points of interest I visited was the old Veranendi building in which General Johnson was killed in December, 1835. The doors still show the bullet holes.

Next I visited Chilitown, run entirely by Mexicans, but only certain hours at night are allowed them to run their cooking stands.

Chilitown was the first city incorporated in the United States. The city is twenty years older than New York, but has grown but very little. There are but few buildings in the city which are three stories high. The street railway line is a good one, but the streets and sidewalks are very much dilapidated, in fact, they are nearly as bad as in Barrington.

On January 8th I left San Antonio at 8 o'clock in the morning. On the train I met Jessie S. Wilson and H. Putterbugh, accompanied by their families, who were also bound for California. They live in Mackinaw, Ill., and were acquainted with Fred Lines, and also knew H. H. Church. We reached Del Rio, in time for dinner, and at 5 p. m. crossed Pecos bridge. This structure is the second highest bridge in the United States, being 321 feet high, 2,180 feet long and weighs 3,640,000 tons.

At Sanderson we had supper. At this town all the eating houses are run by Chinamen. We got a fair meal for a dollar.

At 9:20 o'clock the next morning a party of us got off at El Paso and took up quarters at the Vendome hotel, after which we made an excursion to Juarez, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande river. Here we obtained our first view of real Mexican life, in the living of which I cannot find much merit.

When you leave El Paso for Los Angeles, you travel through a desert almost the entire distance of 800 miles.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon of January 12 I arrived at Los Angeles, and was most agreeably surprised by being met at the depot by Mrs. Meyer and Maude and Leah. I did not expect to meet them till the next day.

After greetings were over with we repaired to the Ramona hotel, and were pleased to note that the other Illinois people also made this hostelry their temporary home. After roll call we discovered there were sixteen of us from Illinois.

After a day's rest, we visited the park and viewed a balloon ascension. The park is adorned with beautiful palms and large cacti. One cactus measured 8½ feet in height and was one foot in diameter. Banana trees, laden with their delicious fruits, are also to be seen here. Instead of maple and shade trees shade is furnished by pepper trees. Some trees were in blossom. It was pleasant to see everything in bloom here, while Barrington is in the grasp of the ice king. The oil wells also interested us very much. The wells are 800 to 1,000 feet deep.

January 15th we took in an excursion to Pomona, a distance of thirty-three miles. The train was composed of seventeen coaches and two engines, and had on board 1,030 passengers. At Pomona we were given a free ride through fine orange groves, and each visitor was presented with a box of oranges. It was quite a treat to be able to pick your own oranges and lemons, and no one enjoyed it more than the children.

It has not rained here since April of last year. English walnuts and figs are grown here. Pomona is a pretty city of 5,500 inhabitants and supports four banks. The city boasts of some extra fine stores.

Los Angeles is an attractive city of 75,000 souls, and the scenes on the streets remind one of Chicago. Fine buildings, a great many six stories high, make the business portion look especially prosperous. The greater portion of the city has been built within the last eight or ten years. The climate is perfect, being warm in winter and cool in summer. About 40,000 tourists from the north and east furnish the principal portion of the revenue of the citizens. It is the first place since leaving Chattanooga that I would care to live in, and I would not swap my citizenship in Barrington for one here. Living expenses are very reasonable with the exception of fuel, of which very little is needed. A ton of coal is considered sufficient for a year's supply.

We paid $4.50 for a 21 meal ticket, and they were good meals, too. Oranges cost $1.15 a case, and 15 cents will buy a market basket full.

I must say that I am very much disappointed with the Southern cities, and California lacks a great deal of being what it is cracked up to be, and every visitor with whom I have spoken is of the same opinion. The universal opinion is that California is all right to live in providing you have an income from eastern or northern property.

Between Tracy and Alameda we traveled through some fine country. The country is infested with wild geese, ducks and jack rabbits. This would be a Mecca for the Barrington sportsmen. I was told by a gentleman, who is a resident here, that it cost one farmer $1,600 in one year to keep the wild ducks and geese from destroying his crops. Over 10,000 jack rabbits were killed in a county within one year. Quail also are plentiful.

A. W. MEYER.

What Is War?

The American public has heard a great deal of talk about war in the last few days and most of that talk has emanated from the members of the senate and the house of representatives. The threatening note has been repeated so often that it is beginning to lose some of its dread significance. One would think that war is a trifling affair to be set in operation whenever a misunderstanding occurs or a holiday-making mob in one country throws stones at the building where the representative of another country dwells.

What is war, then? Is it buncombe? Is it something to be transacted by word of mouth in legislative chambers? When a member of congress carelessly proposes to plunge two nations into warfare what does he mean? Does he mean a "war" of flag-waving and blank cartridges? Either this is the idea of some of the men in congress or else they simply have not paused to reflect what is the full significance of this careless playing with international peace. War is the most hideous and terrible of the enterprises in which men and nations engage. It is a matter of death and agony, rapine and murder, devastation and sorrow. It is a matter of thousands of deformed lives, or ghastly wounds and sufferings which pass description. It is the agony of men and the live-long desolation and suffering of women. Starvation and famine follow in its train. Years after its passage it leaves its mark in the poverty of homes and the mutilation of mankind. While it lasts it curses the people upon whom it is visited with horrors which all written history is unable to record.

And yet the people are becoming accustomed to hear members of congress treat this question with an almost jocular flippancy. It is time to call for an abatement of this puerile enthusiasm. No man who realizes what war means has a right to invite this affliction upon the people. It is not to be invited at all, but to be avoided up to the last point consistent with the maintenance of national honor and a cause high and just. If the United States is to keep its dignity before the world as a responsible nation, its legislature must stop alluding to war with the devil-may-care of a western frontiersman brandishing a "gun." The congressional talk is fixing upon this government a name for irresponsibility.

Last season Ike L. Hall, druggist of West Lebanon, Indiana, sold four gross of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and says every bottle of it gave perfect satisfaction. For sale by A. L. Waller, Druggist.

The antagonism to the third term is very bitter in some quarters. A story has been started that Mr. Cleveland, on his late duck-hunting expedition, secured only three ducks.

All last winter Mr. Geo. A. Mills, of Lebanon, Conn., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. At times it was so severe that he could not stand up straight, but was drawn over on one side. "I tried different remedies without receiving relief," he says, "until about six months ago I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. After using it for three days my rheumatism was gone and not returned since." For sale by A. L. Waller, Druggist.

Until further disclosures of his opinion are made mathematicians will do well to follow Prof. Roentgen's nomenclature and refer to Mr. Reed's views on the silver question as "X views."

A canvass among the druggists of this place reveals the fact—Chamberlain's are the most popular proprietary medicines sold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, especially, is regarded as in the lead of all throat trouble remedies, and as such, is freely prescribed by physicians. As a croup medicine, it is unexcelled, and most families with young children keep a bottle always handy for instant use. The editor of the Graphic has repeatedly known Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to do the work after all other medicines had failed.—The Kimball, S. D. Graphic. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by A. L. Waller, Druggist.

Gen. Weyler has issued a pamphlet denouncing the United States. This is too great a compliment to let go by without official recognition.

MISS CORA DAVLIN'S SCHOOL CLOSSES.

School in District No. 6, closed its winter term on Friday, February 28th. The following program was rendered: Greeting Song by School. Recitation—Myrtle Murray. Reading—Priscilla Davlin. Song—Marguerite Davlin. Recitation—Florence Grace. Reading—Myrtle Murray. Recitation—Marguerite Davlin. Reading—Florence Grace. Closing Song—School. Song, "As the Dance Goes On"—Priscilla and Marguerite Davlin.

A DECIDED SUCCESS.

A Most Enjoyable Entertainment Given by the Scholars of the Honey Lake School.

The entertainment and basket social given at the Honey Lake school on Friday evening of last week was well attended. The baskets went at unusually good figures, the demand exceeding the supply.

The program was of a high character, and was rendered in a most charming manner. The following was the program:

Greeting Song—The School. Words of Welcome—Grace Young. Recitation, "Luck"—Louis Wienecke. Recitation, "Simple Simon"—Emile Wienecke. Dialogue, "All Men Are Not Alike"—Charlie Wienecke, Henry Sandman and Willie Sandman. Recitation, "Little Johnny"—Clarence Neuman. Song, "Flowers"—Grace Young. Recitation, "Mother's Fool"—Henry Sandman. Recitation, "Little Helpers"—Leila Dobbyn, Grace Young and Clara Niemier. Reading, "How We Hunted a Mouse"—Charlie Wienecke. Song, "Upidee"—Emma Beelar and chorus. Recitation, "A Little Angel"—Laura Neimeir. Recitation, "Going On An Errand"—Charley Wienecke. Reading, "The Honey Lake Boomer"—Henry Sandman. Recitation, "The New Lochinvar"—Estella Grace. Recitation, "A Little Boy's Speech"—Clarence Neuman. Song, "Marching Through Georgia"—The school. Recitation, "Taking Up the Collection"—Thomas Young. Song, "Meet Me at the Fountain"—M. Dobbins.

The proceeds will be used for the purchase of a bell for the school. The total sum needed for the purchase of the bell lacks only a small amount, which is expected to be raised at another entertainment to be given in the near future.

The teacher, Miss Estella Grace, deserves great credit for the success of these entertainments.

Spain is making faces at Uncle Sam not so much on account of malice as because of those shooting pains that were contracted in Cuba.

NOT TO BE TRIFLED WITH.

From Cincinnati Gazette: Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble will end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are to-day countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and was therefore neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. L. Waller, Druggist.

HAVE YOU A COLD?

If so then, instead of taking so much quinine and other strong medicines, take a pleasant and mild stomach and bowel remedy, which will cleanse the system, and you will be surprised how quickly the cold will leave you. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do this better than any other. Trial size 10c (10 doses 10c), larger sizes 50c and $1. at A. L. Waller, druggist.

What with Alfred Austin in England and the cabinet in France these are troublous days for European governments.

MRS. M. P. O'BRIEN, Ivesdale, Ill., writes: "I have used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a family medicine with the best results. For derangements of the stomach and a general laxative I like it better than anything I have used. It is so pleasant to taste my children are always anxious to take it." Sold by A. L. Waller, druggist.

As a diffuser of bright flashes and fantastic colorings over monotonous legal proceedings Judge Goggin is as successful as a poster on a board fence.

FEMALE LOVELINESS

May be obtained by intelligent women. A well regulated system must of necessity show its fruit in the face. To regulate the system and keep it in perfect condition there is nothing so good as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin—Constipation and indigestion absolutely cured. 10 doses 10c. Large size 50c and $1., at A. L. Waller, druggist.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS.

A RECORD OF THE DOINGS OF SEVEN DAYS.

Some Social, Religious, Political, Obituary, Matrimonial, Criminal and Miscellaneous Happenings That Have Taken Place Since Our Last Issue.

M. F. Pfulfs, a retired farmer, was fatally injured in a runaway near Sterling.

The clothing store of J. B. Browne of Verna was burglarized of $450 worth of merchandise.

The Joliet Stone and Paving Brick company has been incorporated with a capital stock of $125,000.

Ben Wharton, aged 60, of Carbondale, city clerk and for many years local editor of the Free Press, is dead.

Mrs. W. R. Morrison, of Illinois, who has been seriously ill at her apartments at Washington, has improved somewhat.

The annual meeting of the State Dairymen's association at Princeton, Ill., has been postponed until March 4, 5 and 6.

Maeri Matting of Hammond, Ind., has sued the Illinois Steel company for $10,000 damages on account of injuries received by his son when in the employ of the company.

The Illinois Steel company is making plans to use the Roentgen photography for the detection of flaws in steel. If experiments along this line are successful, one of the greatest benefits of the new photography will accrue to manufacturing and metallurgy.

Last Saturday evening while Constable Reynolds of New Windsor was reading a warrant of arrest to a tramp who had robbed a jewelry store in that place the latter drew a revolver and shot the officer. The tramp then jumped into the constable's rig and drove away. A posse was in quick pursuit, but all trace of him was lost at Andover, a village fourteen miles distant. The officer died the next morning.

A fast run on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy was made Sunday from Galesburg to Mendota by the Texas flyer, the distance of eighty miles being covered in 79 1/2 minutes, including four stops of two minutes each, leaving the actual running time 71 1/2 minutes. The engine was No. 512, a class H high-pressure locomotive. Frank Bullard was engineer, W. J. Main fireman and Neal Ruggles conductor. The train consisted of four cars. This establishes a new record for the Burlington. The best run on that system previous to this was that of a few months ago, when the same distance was covered in 80 minutes.

The state veterinarian, Dr. M. R. Trumbower, recently made a tuberculin test on a herd of thirty-eight milk cows at Wheaton, Du Page county. He was assisted by Chairman Bartlett, of the state board of live stock commissioners. The test was made on January 21 and 22 and the herd was composed of Holsteins, Aryshires and Jerseys. Out of the thirty-eight four showed symptoms of tuberculosis from the test and upon the post-mortem examination the four were found to be badly affected with tuberculosis. The doctor regards the test as very satisfactory, as showing the value of the tuberculin test for ascertaining the presence of tuberculosis. Dr. Trumbower will shortly issue a special bulletin giving an account of the test in detail.

Every pastor in Rockford took up the matter of the civic federation recently organized and discussed it from the pulpit Sunday. The sermons were of a vigorous nature, all uniting in denouncing Sunday baseball and Sunday desecration in general, announcing that the federation would wage a ceaseless warfare this season and make as many arrests as possible. The liquor dealers also came in for a scoring for their effort to secure longer hours and other privileges. Manager Nicol, of the baseball team, says he intends to go ahead with Sunday games, and has assurances from business men that they will stand by him to test the law, furnishing bonds as often as necessary. Cards were distributed in all the churches and many new members of the federation secured.

Marcus Spillers, Arthur Randall and Charles Smith, of Frederick township, were returning from Beardstown the other evening in a wagon. They were intoxicated and became involved in a quarrel. They stopped at Frederick and went into N. Noel's store, where the trouble was renewed and Spillers struck Randall with a weight. They then clinched and Randall drew a knife, with which he stabbed Spillers twice, the first blow cutting a gash four inches long below the heart and the second entering his head near the temple. George Bringaurb rushed in, when Randall and Smith fled, leaving the knife sticking in the wound, from which it took two men to extricate it. A warrant for Randall and Smith was issued and Randall was found hiding in the home of Lyman Utter, where he was arrested, but was released later and held as a witness. Spillers' wounds are fatal. Spillers and Randall are about 22 years of age. Randall claims he did the cutting in self-defense.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Booker was found dead in bed at Decatur. It is believed to have smothered.

A number of farmers of Champaign county, Illinois, have left for points in Iowa, where cheaper land can be had.

Charles Soesche of Lenzburg, St. Clair county, has little faith in the stability of banks, and put his treasures in an old oyster can and buried it in the cellar. When buried the can contained $1,000 in money and $1,000 in notes, but when the owner examined it yesterday it contained only $80. The consideration of the thief in leaving the $80 surprises Soesche more than the loss of the rest of the money.

William Von Lossal, for several years residing in a cabin boat on the Illinois river opposite Beardstown, has been missing since last Thursday evening. He had been in Beardstown last Thursday on business, and about 9:30 o'clock that evening got into his skiff and started for home. This is the last seen of him alive. Friday noon his skiff, half filled with water, with one oar missing, and his hat, were found at Grape Island, one mile below town. He is supposed to have drowned. Parties have been dragging the river the past three days, but no trace of the body has been found.

The committee of the Thirteenth congressional district—the Champaign district—has decided to hold the congressional convention in Monticello, May 5. Col. Vespesian Warner, of Clinton, now representing that district, will meet with no opposition for renomination. The Champaign Daily Gazette has brought out Samuel W. Allerton, of Chicago; Thomas E. Ridgeway, of Shawneetown; and Mrs. Oglesby, wife of Gov. Richard J. Oglesby, of Elkhart, as republican candidates for the positions on the board of trustees of the University of Illinois, to be vacated this year by Richard P. Morgan, of Dwight; Dr. Julia Holmes Smith, of Chicago, and Nelson W. Graham, of Carbondale.

The jury in the breach of promise case of Dora Tindall vs. Tyra S. Vickers, which was on trial last week in the Circuit court of Montgomery county, after being out fifteen hours, returned a verdict in favor of Miss Tindall for $12,500 damages. The only contention among the jury delaying the verdict was the amount of damage, the first ballot showing a wide divergence of opinion, ranging from $2,000 to the full amount sued for, $25,000. The verdict was a popular one. The evidence showed that not only had Vickers broken his engagement to the plaintiff, but by his own evidence that during that time their relations were such as to entitle her to damages aside from the breach of promise.

Centralia is much excited over the disappearance of Robert J. Moore, secretary of the Centralia Building and Loan association and manager of the opera house. He left about ten days ago for a short trip, and nothing has been heard of him, though it is now a week since he should have returned. He is supposed to have gone to Chicago, but friends there have not seen him. Moore had resigned as secretary of the loan association, but his successor had not been elected when he left. He left the safe locked, and it was broken open by the officers of the association and an examination of the books begun. The loan association officers, however, think the examination will reveal no shortage of any consequence. Moore is 31 years old, single and without relatives in this vicinity.

The power of song and prayer saved Frank Wells from suicide at Vandalia last week, according to his own statement. Wells is the owner of a bakery at Effingham. He went to Vandalia last Thursday, and Friday evening was passing the door of the Free Methodist church when the songs seemed to appeal to him to go inside. He entered, and it was not long until he was noticed weeping, then he joined in the singing and finally he was on his knees praying. Then Wells stated to the congregation that he had left his family and had gone to Vandalia for the purpose of committing suicide, but that the songs and prayers had saved him. The congregation remained and prayed with Wells until midnight, when a number of the members went with him to the depot, where he boarded the train and returned to his family at Effingham.

The divorce case of Dr. Lewis A. Malone, at Jacksonville, has been decided in favor of the defendant. Dr. Malone stands high in his profession and has a large practice. He became acquainted with his wife while on a trip east and they are the parents of four children. The trouble began, so it is alleged in the wife's cross-petition, because of the husband's fondness for a nurse, and at last she thought they had better live apart and went to her friends in the east, agreeing, as she says, that the doctor might secure a divorce on the grounds of desertion. His suit, however, alleged adultery and cruelty. Then she filed a cross-bill, also alleging adultery and cruelty. The husband's petition named Dan Crotty, a base ball player, as co-respondent, but the evidence failed to prove more than a ride with him in broad daylight. This and some letters she wrote, which proved susceptible of explanation, were the main arguments.

ACTIVITY DISPLAYED IN SPANISH NAVY YARDS.

El Feeling Against the United States Still Further Displayed by Rucous Students—European Press Comment on the Situation.

Madrid Cablegram: The cable dispatches which are being received here from the United States are increasing the feeling of indignation which was aroused among the masses when it was learned that the United States senate favored the recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents, and the newspapers here confirm the report that a Spanish naval squadron, consisting of four cruisers and a dispatch boat, is to be sent to Cuba without delay. The greatest activity is being displayed in the government navy yards and every preparation possible is being made by the naval and military forces for the most serious eventualities.

The Imparcial declares that the utterances of the United States senate consist in an "unqualified and unreasoning provocation." El Liberal says it is impossible to compare the recogerally held by well-informed politicians in the reichstag and in government circles that the Spanish government will find an ally against the United States in Europe should she find herself compelled to fight against the United States.

There is great reserve displayed in government circles in expressing any opinion on the subject, as was to be expected. At the foreign office, however, it was said that grave fears were entertained there that serious international complications would be the outcome of the attitude of the United States toward Cuba. It may be said in a general way that everywhere astonishment was expressed at the turn taken by American policy.

MONEY FOR WARSHIPS.

Great Britain's Naval Program Involves Large Expenditures.

Mr. Goschen, the first lord of the British admiralty, presented the naval program in the house of commons Monday. In so doing he said that the estimates of the admiralty were not proposed with any feeling of alarm, although he hoped he might be relieved from the necessity of dwelling upon the critical nature of the times. Mr. Goschen said it was not necessary to look far ahead nowadays, as ships

RECLAIMS THE TITLE.

Corbett Wants to Get Back His Fistic Laurels.

At Flint, Mich., James J. Corbett sent the following.

"To Robert Fitzsimmons: When I retired from the ring it was with the distinct understanding that if the championship was won by a foreigner I should reclaim it. I hereby reclaim the title and as you also claim it, wish to direct your attention to the fact that I have deposited $1,000 with Will J. Davis of Chicago for a match with you. Please cover it at once and by so doing show that you are not again avoiding a fight with me as you did at Hot Springs. Now let us have a meeting and no more eriminations or newspaper talk. You are the one man in the world that I especially desire to fight and I will meet you at any place you name to arrange a match. If you really believe that you are my fistic equal, prove it by your fists and not by bombastic newspaper talk.

CURRENT READING.

NEWEST BOOKS FOUND ON SALE AT BOOK STORES.

"Recollections of Abraham Lincoln," by Ward Hill Lamon—"Professional Criminals of America," by Thomas Byrnes—"The Lamp of Gold," by Miss F. L. Snow

Of Interest to All Readers.

Recollections of Abraham Lincoln, 1847-1865. By Ward Hill Lamon. Edited by Dorothy Lamon. (Price, $1.50. Chicago: A. C. McClurg & Co.)

These "recollections" do not follow the beaten track of the scores of biographies which have appeared. Some of the latter have been ably written, copious in detail and are inestimable in value for the purpose which they were intended to meet. But these anecdotes and personal impressions, going back to when the author was a young man, in 1847, are unique. You seem to see the great man himself and not through the spectacles or even the eyes of another. Often the very words of Lincoln are given, as for example, when Mr. Lamon first saw Mr. Lincoln. The young man was dressed in "fashionable toggery"—swallow-tail coat, white neck-cloth, and ruffled shirt and had been favorably introduced. Mr. Lincoln said among other things: "Going to try your hand at the law, are you? I should know at a glance that you were a Virginian; but I don't think you would succeed at splitting rails. That was my occupation at your age, and I don't think I have taken as much pleasure in anything else, from that day to this."

Mr. Lamon, afterwards, became Lincoln's law-partner. Probably more than any book yet published this series of vivid pen-pictures brings out the very looks, attitudes and personal characteristics of Lincoln during his early manhood. His ready wit is often exemplified and he is called the very life of the "circuit" which it was the custom to ride in those days, as the Methodist ministers rode, on horseback. Mr. Lamon says the most trivial circumstance furnished a background for his wit. To our view this is the most entertaining book yet produced concerning the great and good Abraham Lincoln whom not only our nation but, in a scarcely less degree, the whole civilized world delights to honor.

A Pleasing Sonnet.

"The Lamp of Gold," a sonnet sequence composed of forty-nine sonnets divided into seven parts of seven sonnets each, is announced for publication in April by Way & Williams, Chicago.

The idea of the sequence is taken from the reference in Hawthorne's "Marble Faun" to the seven-branched golden candlestick (the holy candlestick of the Jews, which was lost at the Ponte Molle in Constantine's time.) Hilda remarked to Kenyon that "There was a meaning and purpose in each of its seven branches, and such a candlestick cannot be lost forever. When it is found again, and seven lights are kindled and burning in it, the whole world will gain the illumination which it needs." Hilda thought the idea an admirable one for a mystic story or parable, or seven-branched allegory, full of poetry, art, philosophy, and religion; and she promised to ask some one in America to write such a poem on her return.

But Hilda's poet was never heard from.

The author of the present sequence is Miss Florence L. Snow, the present of the Kansas Academy of Language and Literature.

The book will be exceedingly dainty, the entire edition being on hand-made paper, with the sonnets printed on the right-hand pages, and with symbolic decorations by Mr. Edmund H. Garrett.

For the General Public.

Superintendent Thomas Byrnes, the recently retired Chief of Police of New York, has just completed a remarkable work—"Professional Criminals of America."

It contains a gallery of over 400 pictures, taken from life, of the most celebrated criminals; Burglars, Counterfeiters, Pickpockets, Bank Sneaks, Shoplifters, etc., a majority of whom are now plying their vocation in our midst. It contains their descriptions, records and present whereabouts, and is brought down to date. It is a voluminous work of quarto size, and should be invaluable to Police Officers, Judges, Prosecuting Officers, Banks, to many Mercantile Houses, and others liable to come in contact with and be victimized by these most dangerous criminals. It contains a great amount of matter, particularly interesting to the general public, which has heretofore been hidden in the police archives. The book will be issued at once by G. W. Dillingham, New York, and will be sold by subscription, price $5.

From F. Tennyson Neely.

F. Tennyson Neely, New York, announces the immediate publication of the following works:

Bugler Fred, by Captain Charles King, with many full page illustrations will be published in Neely's Prismatic Library, 75 cents.

A Chorus Girl's Idea.

During one of the rehearsals at a theater recently a dance was being practiced in which the chorus had an eight-bar movement.

"Take one step forward to each bar," said the man who was directing the rehearsal.

The directions were followed and the chorus after eight steps found themselves in a bunch in the center of the stage and bumping up against the principals.

"That won't do at all," said the manager, who was watching the rehearsal from the front. "Have them take only six steps."

"There he goes economizing again," said a chorus girl, under her breath. "Trying to save expenses and cutting the steps down."—New York Herald.

Oklahoma and the Indian Territory.

A well-known New York financier, who recently made a business and pleasure trip through Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, in a letter to a friend gives some very interesting data and information relative to "The Land of the Fair God." He says, in part: "When I recall my experiences, while in Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, it seems to me to be more like a dream than a reality. I never was more favorably impressed with a people, and the resources of the country are truly wonderful."

"Before making this trip I was imbued with the idea, so prevalent among the people of the east, that this territory have little in common with the interests of our people, and was a place fitted more by nature for an abode for the red man and a rendezvous for outlaws than a home for a civilized and Christian people. A personal investigation and inspection of the country early dispelled this idea, and I found that nine-tenths of the sensational articles of outlawry and other tragedies credited to that country emanated alone from the fertile brain of some over-enthusiastic newspaper correspondent."

"The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas systems of railroads each lead into and across this country, and the great amount of cattle, hogs, wheat, cotton and other produce shipped out from there evidences the fact of the fertility of the soil and the productiveness of the country."

"The Indian Territory is rich in its mineral lands and coal fields, and these industries are only in their infancy, while the cheapness of the land and rich soil over the greater part of Oklahoma offers inducements to capitalists as well as the farming and laboring class of our people."

"There is still some fair hunting in the Kechi hills, southwest of Anndarko and in the Gloss mountains, and the streams are well supplied with fish."

"Crop prospects are exceptionally good, and undoubtedly the coming season will see a large emigration from the east to that country."

Florida Facts.

March is the best month of the year to visit Florida. The climate is fine and the social features at their height of interest. When you have made up your mind to go, you naturally want to go there as soon as possible and in the most comfortable manner. No matter whether you live in St. Louis, Chicago, Peoria, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York or Boston, you can take one of the magnificent trains of the "Big Four Route" from any one of these cities to Cincinnati, and with only one change of cars continue your journey to Jacksonville. Direct connections made in Central Union station, Cincinnati, with through trains of all lines to Florida. Call on or address any agent of the "Big Four Route," or address E. O. McCormick, Passenger Traffic manager, or D. B. Martin, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, Ohio.

All About Western Farm Lands. The "Corn Belt" is the name of an illustrated monthly newspaper published by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R. It aims to give information in an interesting way about the farm lands of the west. Send 25 cents in postage stamps to the "Corn Belt," 209 Adams St., Chicago, and the paper will be sent to your address for one year.

THE NORTH ATLANTIC SQUADRON OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

nition of the secessionists with the Cubans, and in explaining this assertion remarks: "Then America warmly congratulated Spain as a noble and honest friend. Can we do the same to the senate and President Cleveland?"

It is announced that a number of Italian ship-owners have offered, in the event of war, to provide Spain with steamships to be used as privateers. A number of students during the afternoon assembled in front of the university with the intention of making a demonstration against the United States as a result of the senate's action in regard to Cuba, and their intention was to mob the United States legation. But the authorities got wind of the affair and a strong force of police were turned out, all the streets leading to the legation were blocked and the students were warned that rioting would be severely punished.

Advices received by the Imparcial say that Cuban insurgents of New York are preparing to issue a loan of $100,000,000, of which a portion will be offered, according to the advices, to American senators and representatives, "on condition that they obtain recognition of the rebels."

The republicans everywhere are trying to make capital out of the popular agitation, which has increased on the news of the release of the Bermuda filibusters. The press is changing its attitude of conciliation, and the liberal papers advocate an understanding with the European powers to protect their common colonial interests against the United States.

GERMANY INTERESTED.

Press and Public Seem to Think This Country is Reaching Out.

Berlin Cablegram: The Cuban resolution is coupled in official circles here with President Cleveland's Venezuelan message in the public mind, and there seems to be a deep-seated conviction in the European mind that these incidents mark a determination on the part of the United States government to depart from its time-honored course of non-intervention in European affairs. The American action on the Cuban question is therefore regarded as an event of the first importance to the European world. More or less speculation is given to the manner in which the United States expects to reap profit by intervening in Cuba, and much of the argument on the question proceeds on the presumption that it is sought to take Cuba from Spain for the purpose of adding it to the United States.

It is generally admitted that as a belligerent force Spain would be no match for the United States in the event of hostilities arising out of the dispute. It is not believed here that Spain will brook any interference with her course in Cuba, such as is contemplated by the concurrent resolution of the senate, and the opinion is generally held by well-informed politicians in the reichstag and in government circles that the Spanish government will find an ally against the United States in Europe should she find herself compelled to fight against the United States.

Plans and drawings for the convention auditorium at St. Louis are completed. Probably no larger building ever was erected for a national convention. It will have a frontage of 260 feet, a depth of 180 feet and a total area of 46,800 square feet. Eight thousand persons will be seated on the ground floor, while a gallery forty feet wide overlooking the hall will accommodate an additional 6,000. The style is of the Renaissance period, and beauty as well as utility of purpose has been considered. Interior arrangements, entrances and exits are perfectly planned. The space occupied by the delegates and alternates covers 18,000 square feet.

The seats will be on the level and not in tiers. Seats for 924 delegates will be placed in front of the speakers' stand, while the alternates will be seated in inclosures to the right and left of the delegates. The speakers' platform will be in the center on the north side of the hall, opposite the main entrance. Immediately behind the platform will be seats for the national committee and invited guests. Four hundred and fifty newspaper representatives and 200 telegraph operators will be provided with seats, extending right and left from the speakers' platform. Tiers of seats could be built as rapidly as guns, officers and men could be prepared to handle them. He then said that the admiralty proposed to increase the navy by 4,900 seamen, etc., and by 500 extra marines.

The total estimates for this year are $21,822,000, of which sum for new construction there was $7,385,000, as compared with $5,393,000. The present estimates and the cost of the naval defense act were $21,000,000, while the Spencer program was $29,000,000. Therefore from 1889 to 1899 the expenditures for new construction and armament totaled $55,000,000. The government proposed that the estimates this year should amount to $22,000,000.

a direct loss of $250,000 and an indirect loss much greater. The fire started in the basement of the furniture warehouse and factory of Gordon & Keith, it is presumed by sparks from the stove having ignited a mass of inflammable matter. The heat was so intense as to melt the glass in windows half a block away. Gordon & Keith's building was entirely consumed, as well as their piano warehouses and music store, immediately to the north on Barrington street. A Connors' millinery store was damaged and her stock ruined. M. Conway's dry goods store, to the south, was badly damaged.

will rise from three sides of the central area, accommodating between 4,000 and 5,000. A band stand, capable of holding 150 performers will be placed in the north gallery. Four main entrances will be provided on each side of the building and five additional entrances and exits on each side leading to and from the ground floor.

Architect Isaac S. Taylor says 8,000 persons can take their seats on the ground floor in ten minutes. Twelve separate entrances and six flights of stairs will lead to the gallery.

The building will be constructed of wood, requiring 1,500,000 feet of lumber and 500 kegs of nails. It will be lighted by a skylight measuring 180 by 100 feet. Arc and incandescent electric lights will be provided. The total cost is estimated at $50,000. No contracts as yet have been let.

The site for the hall is directly south of the new city hall building now in course of erection and close to the dividing line between the northern and southern divisions of St. Louis. Three electric car lines run from the Union passenger station to the hall in five minutes. It is less than a mile from any of the downtown hotels and half a dozen electric railway lines will bring passengers from every part of the city.
