Messrs. Charley Dill, Al Youree and Wm. Ewing, of Barrington, were up here Sunday. From the amount of fish that the boys caught it is quite evident that they were pretty "fond" of fish. Come again, boys.

Our aldermen deserve special mention for the action they have taken in order to keep the lake up to its present height by means of damming up the outlet. Some of our citizens were opposed to the action on account of the damage it might cause during a wet season, but we hope that no damage will result, and when we see the improvement of the lake during the summer months, we think all will be well satisfied.

Henry Maiman transacted business in Chicago the first of the week. Owing to the hard times Mr. Maiman has decided to continue in business instead of trying to sell out. Mr. Maiman's sons, Herman and Philip, will conduct the store, and will be guided by the able counsel of their father. The sons are young gentlemen of sterling integrity and possess unusual business ability. Their father's motto: "Honest dealings," will be strictly adhered to by them. They carry an elegant stock of clothing and gents furnishing goods, and their prices are very reasonable. THE REVIEW wishes them success.

BASEBALL.

Saturday afternoon the first game of ball of the season was played at the Barrington Baseball park between the Dundee High School and Barrington teams. The day was quite hot, with a fair breeze. The attendance, as usual, was not as large as might be hoped for from a town of this size.

Up to the fifth inning not a single score was made on either side. The battery work on both sides was nearly perfect and the field work quite fair considering that it was so early in the season. The batting of both sides was fair, but the base running of Barrington was deplorable, in fact, did much toward losing the game. The Dundee boys deserve much credit for their gentlemanly conduct in spite of several adverse decisions by the umpire. The score was: Dundee 6, Barrington 2. Time, 2:02. Umpire, Sodt.

The thanks of the Barrington club are due Messrs. Davis and Wynkoop of Wauconda for their able assistance.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

The strawberry festival given in the parlors of the M. E. church Friday evening of last week proved a decided success. A goodly number of people were present, and the strawberries and cake served were simply delicious and to which ample justice was done. The following program was rendered:

Music by the orchestra.
Duet—Misses Carrie Meyer and Sadie Krahn.
Reading—Miss Effelyn Runyan.
Selection by orchestra.
Solo by Harry Vermilya.
Recitation by Mrs. Fred Lines.
Music by orchestra.
Solo by Harry Vermilya.
Violin solo by Prof. Sears.
Music by orchestra.

BARBERS CAN "PULL WHISKERS" ON SUNDAYS.

The gist of the decision of the supreme court of Illinois as to the Cady law is that the legislature has no right to discriminate against persons engaged in any particular occupation by forbidding them to follow that occupation on Sunday. The court holds that "if the public welfare of the state demands that all business and all labor of every description except that of necessity and charity should cease on Sunday" the legislature may pass a law to that effect. But it cannot order barbers to close their shops on Sunday unless it treats persons engaged in other occupations which stand on the same footing in the same way. Saloon-keepers, of course, stand on a different footing. It is admitted that there are police reasons why saloons should be treated differently from most other places where merchandise is sold or services are rendered.

MACCABEE "SMOKER."

On Tuesday evening the Maccabees entertained their wives and families at their new quarters in the Sodt building. A short program was followed by ice cream ad lib. and a few tables were then devoted to cards. The program, as rendered, differed materially from that arranged by the committee, owing to the failure of the Wauconda contingent to appear, and was as follows:

Recitation by E. M. Blocks.
Song by Harry Vermilya.
Harmonica duet by Masters Sodt and Plagge.
Recitation by Miss Sadie Blocks.
Cornet solo by John Kampert.
Song by Harry Vermilya.
"Confession" by E. M. Blocks.
Cornet solo by John Kampert.

Mr. McIntosh announced the program in his usual pleasing manner and got off a few good stories not down on the program. All of the Sir Knights turned in and assisted Chef Blocks in dispensing the cream, which was most excellent, and owing to the absence of half of the lodge members the capacity of those in attendance was taxed to the utmost.

Widows of High and Low Degree.

Not many Americans will object to pensioning comfortably the widow of a gallant officer who has died in the service of his country, or of one who has given to the country the years when he might have amassed a private fortune, and has died a poor man. But it is the growing tendency to abuse this custom and extend it to persons to whom it was never meant to apply that many Americans do object to.

We like what the Philadelphia Times says on this point:

This matter deserves consideration because of the growing tendency to grant pensions to the widows of deceased Federal officers. The simple fact that a man has long been drawing a salary from the government in the civil or military service is coming to be accepted as a reason why such provision should be made for his family when he dies, even though the plea of poverty may be lacking. This is particularly true concerning officers of high degree, thus favoring the idea that the larger the salary has been the greater the right is to a pension. The manifest injustice of such a discrimination is presented in the law which makes it necessary for the widow of a private soldier to show that she has no means of support but her own labor before she can get the pittance of $8 or $12 per month, and the proposition pending in congress to so amend this law that she can obtain a pension by proving that her annual income does not exceed $300 is being opposed on the pretext that it is calculated to open the floodgate of improvident expenditure. When claims of this order are antagonized, it is time to quit voting pensions for service in federal offices.

Ancient American Civilization.

Everything comes to light at last, and it seems that even the prehistoric ruins of Central America are at length explained—those mighty palaces and temples through whose broken arches the trunks of trees, themselves older than the discovery of America, shoot upward to the sky.

A number of years ago Dr. Augustus Le Plongeon and Mme. Le Plongeon spent several seasons wandering through the forests of Central America, studying the ruins which have baffled the archaeologists of modern civilization. Some results of these curious explorations have been given to the world in a volume called "Queen Moo and the Egyptian Sphinx." Dr. Le Plongeon finds in the Central American ruins traces of a civilization, an advanced one, which is older than that of Chaldea and Egypt. There is evidence, too, that the Phoenicians and Carthaginians visited America fully 500 years before the beginning of the Christian era.

When the Spaniards conquered Mexico and the surrounding region, they found many books describing the ancient Maya or Central American civilization. These they destroyed, every one, as they supposed. One, however, is known to have escaped, the Troano manuscript. This Dr. Le Plongeon secured. From it and from other sources he finds that the Maya people used the present convenient decimal system of enumeration, and also that they were as advanced as the French of today in making the meter the basis of their linear measure. The explorer unravels from monumental inscriptions, aided by the Maya book, the story of the destruction of the lost continent of Atlantis. He has been the first to discover the key which can decipher the inscriptions upon the ancient Central American ruins.

That is a good bill, with a touch of grim humor in it, the one introduced into the house of representatives by Mr. Cummings calling for an international conference to take measures in the interests of humanity and sanitation for the protection of animals and steerage passengers on ship board. It ought to pass.

It is a question liable to come up often in these times whether a divorced man is required to pay alimony to his former wife when she marries again. If he is, then mankind will agree that it is hard on him. In New York state it has been decided that the alimony ceases if the wife marries again.

The gold crushings of the South African Rand district for the month of January amounted to 20,000 ounces less than in December. No wonder. The reason is found in too much politics.

A slender little American woman, Clara Barton, seems to have more influence with the sultan of Turkey than all the powers of Europe have.

Half Work, Half Play.

One of the most delightful papers in late magazines is to be found in Harper's, in an article on beekeeping in California. It is indeed enough to make one desert politics, fame, wealth and all the life of cities—yes, how gladly all the life of cities—and speed to the foothill regions of California and go to raising honey by the thousand pounds. The author of the paper, Nina Eames, calls bee ranching "half work, half play." In the month of May she says it is wholly fascinating and delightful. Away from the annoyance of near neighbors, in blessed solitude, thinking his own pleasant thoughts, good company for himself all the while, the beekeeper lives.

In a good year California produces as much as 10,000,000 pounds of honey. The most noted of all is that secreted by the bees from the wild white sage plant. The acme of sensuous enjoyment is "to set one's teeth through an exquisitely frail comb brimming with the delicate nectar of the white sage under a singing sycamore," breathing mountain air spiced with countless odors, around one "the monotone of bees at their voluptuous toil, a landscape billowing up to gigantic summits and a stream hard by to keep the shout up in the heart."

From every point nature seems to favor the bees. The wild white sage grows in abundance, while the very fruit that gives southern California its fame furnishes in blossoming time millions of pounds of honey. As to the bee rancher's cottage, no matter how simple and homely, "fruit trees grow up like magic, roses and geraniums riot about the door." The bees suck with gluttonous greediness apricot blossoms. They appear to contain some kind of intoxicating quality for the poor little worker, who sometimes is so overcome thereby that he falls into a state closely resembling that of a human being when he is drunk. But all is fish that comes to the bee's net, whether flower of grape, fig, plum, nectarine, peach, goldenrod, horehound, mint, rose, jasmine or geranium.

Thousands of pounds of honey are also extracted yearly from trees, where the wild bees have stored it. Many men spend a good part of the year hunting these trees and robbing them. Sometimes a grizzly bear engages in the same sort of stealing at the same time; then the bee tree man makes off in a hurry. The wild bees are all descended from domestic colonies imported into the state.

Mrs. Eames reminds us that bees work as mankind ought to work—for the love of it.

Nothing in nature furnishes so felicitous an illustration of cheerful work as bees. They appear to be conscious that only omniscient love could have created the necessity to labor. Every hive has its multitude of ardent workers, all busy in a zestful fashion inspiring to witness. Ecstasy is the law of their being, and it bubbles outward in the sweetness of their humming and a tireless exuberance of energy.

In the interests of mankind and of civilization the time has come when the Cuban inhumanities should be stopped. Spain should be let down with as little hurt to her pride and dignity as possible. No nation would willingly humiliate a proud and civilized sister nation. But there is simply this to be repeated: The time has come when the war in Cuba must be stopped. The best way to stop it will be for the United States to propose to buy Cuba from Spain, giving a price which shall be mutually agreed on. Then let the United States reimburse herself for the outlay by accepting the promise of the Cuban republic to repay the amount as a loan. Cuba could easily and would gladly do that. Or if Cuba preferred to be annexed as a state outright to the United States she should have the option. Let her pay back to us the purchase money and remain independent, or let the United States buy the island as Louisiana and Alaska were bought, Cuba becoming at once United States territory. Thus Spain could back out of an impossible task with dignity and no loss of self respect. Cuba would be free, and the United States would be happy either way.

The action of old General Booth in ordering his son and daughter-in-law, Ballington Booth and Maud B. Booth, to step down and out from command of the organization they had built up in all parts of this country will be regretted by every one who appreciates the good work of the Salvation Army in America. Worst of all, it will not tend to make Americans regard England in any more of a friendly light. That sentiment has plainly cropped out already.

Now it is Oklahoma where there is excitement over rich gold finds. Gold seems to be cropping out in every part of this country.

In justice to General Valeriano Weyler, the new governor general of Cuba, it must be said he declares with the utmost solemnity and emphasis that not a prisoner has been shot since he arrived on the island. Reports to the contrary are fabrications of the rebels and of the sensational newspaper correspondents, he asserts. But he does leave it to be inferred that he will shoot the leaders of the revolution without mercy if he can catch them.

The persons who make the most money out of gold mines are usually those who sell them.

A certain young man who happens in this place seemed much grieved over an item that appeared in the columns of this paper. Now, no one could feel offended at the article referred to, neither is it the writer's policy to make a mark of any one. I make it a point to tell the truth, and have this as a motto: "Justice to one and all. Seek no revenge." Indeed, elevated heads are not always indicative of genius. Sometimes they are only monuments of the previous night's foolishness.

J. D. Lamey & Co., Barrington, have slashed prices on lead and oil. They are selling Shipman's strictly pure White Lead at $5.60 per hundred pounds, and the best linseed oil at 45 cents per gallon.
Mistakes are always liable to occur and anyone that is not altogether lacking in common sense would know that. Now, "that attack of summer complaint," "chronic bellyache," "49c stipend," "our pity, not sympathy," etc., makes one very tired, especially when uttered by such a weakly sheet. Hold your horses when you have gone far enough.

M. G. McIntosh for Congress.
M. C. McIntosh, of Barrington, a lawyer who practices in Chicago, will probably receive the democratic nomination for congress in the seventh district. The democratic managers are beginning to consider the candidates to be selected in the various districts, and intend to exercise extraordinary caution in nominating congressmen. Mr. McIntosh is very popular among his neighbors, and will probably have the united support of the northern part of the district. The seventh is hopelessly republican, but his friends are confident Mr. McIntosh will poll more votes than almost anybody else the democrats could name.—Chicago Post.

THE ENTERTAINMENT OF THE SEASON
will be given in the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday evening, May 20th, consisting of vocal and instrumental music. The following artists will assist the local talent: W. H. Winslow of Chicago, an excellent tenor soloist; A. H. Mole of Williamstown, Mass., a skillful pianist and organist; Miss Carrie Wolcott of Chicago will entertain on the piano and stringed instruments, and Miss Anna Krahn of Ravenswood, a soprano soloist well known in Barrington. C. A. Alberding and Prof. J. I. Sears, assisted by Misses Olga Waller and Maud Otis, will render some pleasing selections. Program will commence at 8 o'clock sharp. Admission 15 cents.

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—The quarterly balance sheet of the state board of charities shows that the total expenses of the thirteen charitable institutions under its supervision aggregated $328,812 for the three months ending March 31. The average gross cost per capita for maintenance was $38.67.
For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such away as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to change it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by A. L. Waller, druggist.
After reading the list of bicycle accidents it is easy to see why the doctors recommend the wheel.
Among other candidates whom the Chicago public desires to see elected this year is the Hon. Adrian C. Anson, nominee for the pennant.

Mrs. R. L. Lamson, of Fairmount, Illinois, says: "My sister used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for muscular rheumatism and it effected a complete cure. Waller, Druggist.
This beautiful spring weather would be most enjoyable if one could get over the suspicion that a large, hoary frost is concealed behind it somewhere.
HOW TO TREAT A WIFE.
(From the Pacific Health Journal.)
First get a wife; second be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefor, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by A. L. Waller, druggist.

Pretty low prices—but we find that is just what the public wants—the best at as low price as possible. Large sales and small profits is what we want, and our low figures, and first-class materials are certainly big inducements for the trade.
This spring, we bought 1,000 gallons of strictly pure Linseed Oil, and a large consignment of strictly pure White Lead when the market was at its lowest. We bought the stock to sell—and you can bet it is selling. That is what low prices will do every time.
If you are thinking of doing painting, you will find no better time than right now to buy your lead and oil.
We also have a complete stock of Hard Oils, Varnishes, Colors, Heath & Milligan Mixed Paints—to be short, there is nothing in the paint line but what we can furnish the trade.
