PALATINE LOCALS.

Foot Ball Notes.

PALATINE, 20; EGLESTON A. C., 6.
Palatine was once more victorious at foot ball last Saturday when it met the Eggleston Athletic Club team on the home grounds. Eggleston put up a poor class of football, which was very disappointing to the spectators. After each down, while the ball was in Palatine's possession, the visitors would take out three minutes after each scrimmage in order to lose time and prevent Palatine from piling up the score. The visitors showed other tactics of which gentlemen would refrain, and Palatine has blacklisted them so far as future games are concerned. Palatine showed its superiority from the start, and throughout the entire game. Large gains were made through the line, and the ends were circled for big runs. Freeman made the only "touchdown" for Eggleston, he catching the ball after his punt and carrying it through a clear field for a goal.

NOTES.

The Athletic club should keep the field clear during the game, and allow no one but those in authority to get within the boundary. Many ladies and some gentlemen complain of this, as it obstructs their view of the game and they pay just as much as the others. The habit is also very annoying to the players of both teams.

The school team has arranged a football game with the Mayfair school team for next Saturday.

Oct. 30—Blue Island at Blue Island.
Nov. 6—Pitzen Cycling club.
Nov. 13—Naval Reserves.
Nov. 20—St. Charles at St. Charles.
Nov. 25—Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co.

Pure cider vinegar 15 cents per gallon. L. PECK.

H. W. Leursen and wife of Iowa visited friends here this week.

Dr. Earle of Des Plaines was in town on professional business Saturday.

The Athletic Club has decided to purchase a piano for their rooms.

Oscar Gibbs of Richmond has been visiting relatives here since Tuesday.

Mrs. T. J. Julian and son of Algona, Ia., are guests of C. E. Julian and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Schultz visited their daughter, Mrs. J. I. Sears, at Barrington, Sunday.

Justice Whipple had a case on trial this week, and a number of young men served on jury.

A special meeting of the Village Board was held on Friday evening to transact water works business.

Wm. Tegmeyer has resigned the street commissionership, his resignation being tendered Monday.

A blind musician entertained our citizens with street concerts Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Fox and daughter, Jessie, of Lake Zurich, visited with Mr. Pinney and family in this place Thursday.

The High school football team of Des Plaines will play the High school team of this place this afternoon, on Nason's grounds.

FOR SALE—A lot, with good 8-room house and good barn on Plum Grove avenue, opposite the M. E. church. For particulars call on A. G. Smith.

The stock and household goods belonging to the Wm. Wilson estate, is to be sold at public auction next Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m.

Two students from Moody's Institute in Chicago will tell of their work among the city prisoners next Sunday evening in the Methodist church. Everybody is invited.

John Barnholz, who has been working for Mr. Crupp, north of Quentin's Corners, was the victim of a shot gun accident last Sunday. He was out hunting with a friend when the latter let his gun fall from his shoulder. The gun was discharged, and the contents entered Barnholz' ankle. Drs. Wadham and Pierman were called, who removed three gun wads, several pieces of pants, shoes and sock from the member, besides about 12 pieces of fractured bone. It is thought he will recover the use of his foot.

The schoolmates of Master Artie and Miss Delia Knigge surprised them at the home of their parents last evening, and the little folks had a splendid time.

Bert L. Smith, Will Williams and Misses Bertha and Anna Stroker attended the Slayton Jubilee Singer's concert in the Presbyterian church at Arlington Heights Tuesday evening.

FOR SALE, A BARGAIN.—Two-story, eight-room house, almost new, with barn, good well, and a large lot at corner of Wilson and Rose streets. This is an opportunity in a life time to get a nice home cheap, if taken at once. Terms easy. Apply to

PALATINE BANK. tf

The stereoptican views which were exhibited in the Methodist church on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, attracted large crowds. The views were fine, as well as instructive and entertaining. The description of the Alaskan gold fields, given by Dr. Palmer, was good.

Shooting accidents are becoming frequent of late. One man was killed on Grass Lake last Sunday. He and a friend were hunting in a boat and the friend placed his gun down in the bottom of the boat when it was discharged in some manner and he received the full charge in the back of the head, killing him instantly.

W. R. Comfort & Co. are building a grist mill on their property next to Mr. Battermann's house across from the town hall. The building will be 24x36, and the mill will be run by a 30-horse power gasolene engine. This will give the firm a good place to grind feed, etc., giving them much better facilities than heretofore. The original plan was to build the mill west of the elevator, but as this was on the old cross road through their property they decided to erect the building in another place to avoid complications in the future.

Fred A. Smith of this place and another reporter, of the Chicago Journal, caused a sensation among the other Chicago dailies by reporting the actions and discussions of the Luetgert jury while in their room. It is the first time that such a thing has been accomplished during the progress of such an important trial. They obtained the news by means of the air shaft running through the room, one of them being lowered in a chair, suspended by a rope from the room above, and watched the proceedings through the air register.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the parsonage Wednesday evening and decided to hold their bazaar on Thursday and Friday evenings, December 2d and 3d. The following committees were appointed: Candy booth, Mrs. H. Robertson; linen, Mrs. J. A. Burlingame; miscellaneous, Mrs. M. Richmond; doll, Mrs. A. L. Smith; house-keeper's, Mrs. M. Reynolds; India Curiosity shop, Mrs. J. A. Butcher; entertainment, Mrs. Dr. E. W. Wood; Mrs. F. Wilson and Miss Nellie Campbell; refreshments, Mrs. T. McMicking; Mrs. E. F. Baker and Miss Addie Pinney; cook book, Mrs. W. Taylor and Mrs. J. A. Butcher.

The young people of Palatine enjoyed a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith Monday evening in honor of the 21st birthday anniversary of their son, Bert. The event was the first of its kind that our young people have enjoyed for some time, and they made the most of it. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music, and Mrs. Smith served an excellent supper, which was much enjoyed. Bert was the recipient of a number of gifts, among them being a diamond ring from his parents. Those present were: Messrs. Will Mosser, Will Williams, Ralph and Ernest Bentler, A. G. Smith, Philip Matthei, Henry Pahlman and Frank Knigge; Misses Maggie Bergmann, Lydia Knigge, Emma, Bertha and Anna Stroker, Mammie Williams, Gertrude Lytle, Belle Taylor and Myrtle Smith.

SPRING LAKE.

Jos. Dworak is at home.

Wm. Gibson was an Elgin visitor Wednesday.

Forn Bros. delivered oats at Algonquin Tuesday.

Mr. Kelley of Duudee called on friends here Sunday.

John Dworak has resigned his position at Algonquin.

John Dworak and family entertained friends from Chicago Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Albright are rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing baby boy.

Several of our citizens attended the supper and social at Algonquin Tuesday evening.

Romil Hydza, who has been working for J. Bratzler, left for the city last week.

Otto Mocha, who has been employed by P. Kirdera for the summer, left for his home in Chicago Monday.

J. McCredie, of Marshall, Wis., and Miss Jane McCredie of Elgin visited Mr. and Mrs. Gibson last Friday.

Tom Gibson is now employed at the Miller's Grove factory. Tom's many friends will sadly miss him.

Board Proceedings.

The Village Board of Barrington met in adjourned session Thursday evening. With the exception of Trustee Collen, who was in Iowa, all the members were present.

The street commissioner was instructed to build a new sidewalk in front of the property of Mrs. Rogers on Liberty street.

Several other new sidewalks were contemplated, but no action was taken.

A gentleman representing a Chicago bank was present, and was very anxious to help the city float its bonds. In fact, so anxious was he that he agreed to save the city the enormous(?) cost of the printing of the bonds.

He visited the board to jump at the chance of making an agreement to let his firm have the bonds, and he would also see to it that their attorney would draw up the ordinance, so "that it would be legal."

The whole "upshot" of the business was that Trustee John Robertson was appointed a committee to ascertain the best bargain that could be made in regard to floating the bonds.

The general tendency was that the village bonds were to run either ten years or to be payable one each year after five years.

On motion Board adjourned to Saturday evening, October 30.

All kinds of job work promptly and neatly executed at figures that will defy competition, at REVIEW office.

Kansas City put women prisoners into men's clothes and made them break stone on the streets. New Brunswick, N. J., does something nearly as original. She puts a ball and chain around the legs of tramps caught within her corporate limits and sets them to work repairing streets and making new ones. The dose works like a charm. Every city in the Union ought to enforce some such ordinance till tramps should be regulated out of existence. Under such municipal law they would speedily commit suicide or conclude to earn an honest living.

The kidnaping and recovery of little Johnnie Conway of Albany bring to light the fact that New York has a law punishing child stealing. The penalty is 20 years' imprisonment, and its full extent will probably be visited on the wretches who decoyed the boy from home and nearly succeeded in getting away with him.

There is no likelihood that the price of wheat will decline before January and February, 1898, when the crops of Australasia and Argentina will begin to flow to Europe. Being south of the equator, the seasons in those countries are opposite ours, and their harvest comes in January. Meantime there is just now a shortage in the European wheat crop of 100,000,000 bushels. It will have to be made up mainly from the United States.

A Tale of Three Lions

BY

"So we went down to the beautiful spot that I have described, to wash. I was the first to reach it, which I did by scrambling down the ferny bank. Then I turned round, and started back with a yell, as well I might, for from almost beneath my feet there came a most awful snarl.

"I had lit down almost upon the back of the lioness, who had been sleeping on the slab where we stood to dry ourselves after bathing. With a snarl and a growl, before I could do anything, before I could even cock my rifle, she had bounded right across the crystal pool, and vanished over the opposite bank. It was all done in an instant, as quick as thought.

"She had been sleeping on the slab, and oh, horror! what was that sleeping beside her? It was the torn remnant of poor Jim-Jim, lying on a patch of blood-stained rock!

CHAPTER III.

"Poor Jim-Jim! We buried what was left of him, which was not very much, in an old bread-bag, and though whilst he lived his virtues were not great, now that he was gone we could have wept over him. Ludeed, Harry did weep outright; while I registered a quiet little vow of my own account that I would let daylight into that lioness before I was forty-eight hours older, if by any means it could be done.

"Well, we buried him, and there he lies where lions will not trouble him any more. So there is an end of the book of Jim-Jim.

"The great question that now remained was, how to circumvent his murderer. I knew that she would return as soon as she was hungry again, but I did not know when she would be hungry. She had left so little of Jim-Jim behind her that I could scarcely expect to see her the next night, unless she had cubs. Still, I felt that it would not be wise to miss the chance of her coming, so we set about to make preparations for her reception. The first thing we did was to strengthen the bush wall of the skerm by dragging a large quantity of the tops of thorn-trees together and laying one on the other in such a fashion that the thorns pointed outward. This, after our experience of the fate of Jim-Jim, seemed a very necessary precaution, since if where one sheep can jump another can follow, as the Kafirs say, how much more is it the case where an animal so active and so vigorous as the lion is concerned? And now came the further question, how were we to beguile the lioness to return? Lions are animals that have a strange knack of appearing when they are not wanted and keeping studiously out of the way when their presence is required.

"Harry, who, as I have said, was an eminently practical boy, suggested to Pharaoh that he should go and sit outside the skerm in the moonlight as a sort of a bait, assuring him that he would have nothing to fear as we would certainly kill the lioness before she killed him. Pharaoh, however, strangely enough, did not seem to take to this suggestion. Indeed, he walked away, much put out with Harry for having made it.

"It gave me an idea, however.

"Well," I said, "there is that ox. He must die sooner or later, so we may as well utilize him."

"Now, about thirty yards to the left of our skerm, if one stood facing down the hill toward the river, was the stump of a tree that had been destroyed by lightning many years before, standing equidistantly between, but a little in front of, two clumps of bush, which were severally some fifteen paces from it.

"Here was the very place to tie the ox; and, accordingly a little before sunset the poor animal was led forth by Pharaoh and made fast there, little knowing, poor brute, for what purpose; and we commenced our long vigil, this time without a fire, for our object was to attract the lioness and not to scare her.

"For hour after hour we waited, keeping ourselves awake by pinching each other—it is, by the way, remarkable what a difference in the force of pinches requisite to the occasion exists in the mind of pincher and pinchee—but no lioness came. The moon waxed and the moon waned, and then at last the moon went down, and darkness swallowed up the world, but no lion came to swallow us up. We waited till dawn, because we did not dare to go to sleep, and then at last we took such a broken rest as we could get.

"That morning we went out shooting, not because we wanted to, for we were too depressed and tired, but because we had no more meat. For three hours or more we wandered about in the boiling sun looking for something to kill, but with absolutely no results. For some unknown reason the game had grown very scarce about the spot, though when I was there two years before every sort of large game except rhinoceros and elephant was particularly abundant. The lions, of whom there were many, alone remained, and I fancy that it was the fact of the game they live on having temporarily migrated that made them so daring and ferocious. As a general rule, a lion is an amiable animal enough if he is left alone, but a hungry lion is almost as dangerous as a hungry man. One hears a great many different opinions expressed as to whether or no the lion is remarkable for his courage, but the result of my experience is that very much depends upon the state of his stomach. A hungry lion will not stick at a trifle, whereas a full one will flee at a very small rebuke.

"Well, we hunted all about, and nothing could we see, not even a duck or a bush buck; and at last thoroughly tired and out of temper we started on our way back to camp, passing over the brow of a steepish hill to do so. Just as we got over the ridge I froze up like a pointer dog, for there about six hundred yards to my left, his beautiful curved horns outlined against the soft blue sky, I saw a noble koodoo bull (Strepsiceros kudu). Even at that distance, for as you know, my eyes are very keen, I could distinctly see the white stripes upon its sides when the light fell upon it, and its large and pointed ears twitch as the flies worried it.

"So far so good; but how were we to get at it? It was ridiculous to risk a shot at that great distance, and yet both the ground and the wind lay very ill for stalking. It seemed to me that the only chance would be to make a detour of at least a mile or more, and come up on the other side of the koodoo. I called Harry to my side and explained to him what I thought would be the best course, when suddenly, without any delay, the koodoo saved us any further trouble, by suddenly starting off down the hill like a leaping rocket. Perhaps a hyena or a leopard—a tiger as we call it there—had suddenly appeared; at any rate, off it went, running slightly toward us, and I never saw a buck go faster. As for Harry, he stood watching the beautiful animal's course. Presently it vanished behind a patch of bush, to emerge a few seconds later about five hundred paces from us, on a stretch of comparatively level ground that was strewn with boulders. On it went, taking the boulders in its path in a succession of great bounds that were beautiful to behold. As it did so, I happened to look round at Harry, and perceived to my astonishment that he had got his rifle to his shoulder.

"You foolish boy! I ejaculated, 'surely you are not going to—' and just at that moment the rifle went off.

"And then I think I saw what was in its way one of the most wonderful things I ever remember in my hunting experience. The koodoo was at that moment in the air, clearing a pile of stones with its head.

All in an instant the legs stretched themselves out in a spasmodic fashion, and it lit on them and they doubled up beneath it. Down went the noble buck, down on its forelegs tucked up underneath it, standing on its horns, its hind-legs high in the air, and then over it went and lay still.

"Great heavens!" I said, "Why, you've hit him! He's dead."

"As for Harry, he said nothing, but merely looked scared, as well he might. A man, let alone a boy, might have fired a thousand such shots without ever touching the object, which, mind you, was springing and bounding over rocks quite five hundred yards away; and here this lad—taking a snap shot, and merely allowing for elevation by instinct, for he did not put up his sights—had knocked the bull over as dead as a door-nail. Well, I made no further remark, the occasion was too solemn for talking, but merely led the way to where the koodoo lay. There he was, beautiful and quite still; and there, high up, about half way down his neck, was a neat round hole. The bullet had severed the spinal marrow, passing right through the vertebrae and away on the other side.

"It was already evening when, having cut as much of the best meat as we could carry from the bull, and tied a red handkerchief and some tufts of grass to his spiral horns, which, by the way, must have been nearly five feet in length, in the hope of keeping the jackals and vultures (vultures) from him, we finally got back to camp, to find Pharaoh, who was getting rather anxious at our absence, ready to greet us with the pleasing intelligence that another ox was sick. But even this dreadful bit of intelligence could not dash Harry's spirits; the fact of the matter being that, incredible as it may appear, I do verily believe that in his heart of hearts he set down the death of that koodoo to the credit of his own skill. Now, though the lad was a tidy shot enough, this of course was ridiculous, and I told him so very plainly.

"By the time that we had finished our supper of koodoo steaks (which would have been better if the koodoo had been a little younger), it was time to get ready for Jim-Jim's murderer again. All the afternoon Pharaoh told us the unfortunate ox had been walking round and round in a circle as cattle in the last stage of red-water generally do. Now it had come to a standstill, and was swaying to and fro with his head hanging down. So we tied him up to the stump of the tree as on the previous night, knowing that if the lioness did not kill him he would be dead by morning. Indeed I was afraid that he would be of but little use as a bait, for a lion is a sportsman-like animal, and unless he is very hungry generally prefers to kill his own dinner, though when once killed he will come back to it again and again.

"Then we repeated our experience of the previous night, sitting there hour after hour, till at last Harry went fast asleep, and even I, though I am accustomed to this sort of thing, could scarcely keep my eyes open. Indeed I was just dropping off, when suddenly Pharaoh gave me a shove.

"Listen!" he whispered.

"I was all awake in a second, and listening with all my ears. From the clump of brush to the right of the lightning-shattered stump to which the ox was tied came a faint crackling noise. Presently it was repeated. Something was moving there, faintly and quietly enough, but still moving perceptibly, for in the intense stillness of the night any sound seemed loud.

"I woke up Harry, who instantly said, 'Where is she? where is she?' and began to point his rifle about in a fashion that was more dangerous to us and the oxen than to any possible lioness.

"Hush up!" I whispered, savagely; and as I did so, with a low and hideous growl a flash of yellow light sped out of the clump of brush, past the ox, and into the corresponding clump upon the other side. The poor sick brute gave a sort of groan, and staggered round and then began to tremble; I could see it do so clearly in the moonlight, and I felt like a brute for having exposed the unfortunate animal to such terror as he must undoubtedly be undergoing. The lioness, for it was she, passed so quickly that we could not even distinguish her movements, much less shoot. Indeed at night it is absolutely useless to attempt to shoot unless the object is very close and standing perfectly still, and then the light is so deceptive and it is so difficult to see the foresight that the best shot will miss more often than he hits.

WHITE HOUSE ETIQUETTE.

The Unwritten Laws Which Govern the President's Social Position.

When the President and his wife drive out the President sits on the right hand and his wife on the left, says the Illustrated American. If there are others in the carriage, whether ladies or gentlemen, they must sit with their backs to the horses. When Mrs. Cleveland was first married she tried the experiment of placing her mother opposite the president and herself in the presidential landau, but the people laughed at it so immoderately and professed to think Mrs. Folsom (as she was then) to be the maid, that it was speedily dropped. When the President's wife drives alone she sits in the right-hand corner—the place of honor. The lady of the white house cannot set foot within those splendid houses in Washington whose flagstaffs mark the foreign embassy or legation. She could not go without the President, and as an embassy or legation is technically a part of the country it represents the President could not go—so that she never sees the inside of a diplomatic house as long as she presides at the executive mansion. The President dines only at cabinet houses and his wife cannot dine anywhere without him. President Arthur dined with judges of the Supreme court and with senators; but as he had no wife the whole system was very much simplified for him. The President's wife may, if she chooses, go to luncheons where there are no gentlemen, or to teas, both being regarded as strictly informal; but the danger of giving offense by accepting one invitation and declining another is so great that it is seldom or never risked.

Traveled 8,000 Miles in Vain.

George Yeager cloped with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Yeager, two years ago, from Camden, N. J. The latter's husband suspected they had gone west, and he started for that section. After a long search, in which he obtained no trace of the couple, he went to Europe, thinking they might have gone to Germany. He traveled fully 8,000 miles in his search, and finally returned to Camden. While walking down the street Tuesday he came face to face with the pair, who were walking along leisurely, and in half an hour he had caused their arrest. They had been living there all the time.

Winter Tale of the Sea.

William F. Warden of Boston and E. C. Warden of New York saw an immense sea monster at St. Augustine, Fla., the other night. It was forty feet long with its head and pointed tail high out of water. The Wardens are positive that the monster was not a whale. It glistened like silver in the moonlight.—Exchange.

Zebra on the Boulevards.

The Prefect of Police in Paris has recently issued an order replacing the zebra on the list of draft animals allowed to be used in Paris. For some years the zebra has been permitted in the streets of London, where there is a famous carriage drawn by a team of 4 zebras and used by one of the financial magnates of the city. According to Figaro, the zebra by no means deserves his bad reputation as a restive and intractable beast; it is only necessary to begin his training early enough to make him a model of gentleness and docility.

LA GRIPPE IS COMING

We sound the alarm. Already it is claiming its victims by the thousands across old ocean. As in the past it will soon cross your threshold. We forewarn you and tell you how to best prepare for it. Don't wait until you have been attacked, but be prepared for the enemy when he attacks you. Send stamp for our 68-page book which gives symptoms and full treatment. Dr. Kay's Lung Balm is guaranteed to be the safest and most certain cure known for la grippe and every kind of cough.

Miss Nellie Penoyer, 1536 So. 10th St., Omaha, Neb., writes: "I have used your Dr. Kay's Lung Balm for a severe case of la grippe. My lungs were very sore, and in taking the Dr. Kay's Lung Balm I found it stopped any desire to cough at once. The soreness on my lungs and in my head soon disappeared. It is pleasant to take and does not cause sickness at the stomach like many cough remedies, yet it cures quicker than any I have ever tried." (Rev.) J. W. Wohlfarth, pastor First M. E. Church, Urbana, Ill., writes: "I am glad to record the fact that less than one box of your Dr. Kay's Lung Balm cured me of an awful cough. It is a remarkable remedy."

It is sold by druggists, or sent by us by mail for 25c per box. Don't wait until you have had no equal. Address Dr. B. J. Kay Medical Co., Omaha, Neb.

HORROR AT CINCINNATI.

Several Persons Killed and Many Hurt in a Theater.

TIMBERS FALL FROM THE ROOF.

Three Known to Have Been Killed and Two Score Injured Taken to the Hospital—Slight Warning Enables Hundreds to Make Their Escape.

The ceiling in Robinson's opera house at Cincinnati the evening of Oct. 15 caused the death of the following persons: Mrs. George Kleeman, Miss Lucy Cohen, unknown man.

The following are at the hospital more or less seriously hurt: Della Algeir, Daisy Fairhead, Mrs. J. Fairhead, S. E. Long, Mary Scudder of Newport, Pearl Hall, Grace Connors, C. J. Weiss, Will Moten, Joseph Algeir, John Algeir, Fred Jenks, scalp wounded, T. C. Wiley of Dayton, Ky., W. J. McCabe, Clint Deal, Jacob Weil, Mary Hess, John White, Amelia Weil, Mary Howe, Mary Moorman.

The ceiling of the theater was in the shape of a dome, which was formed by rafters rising from walls of the theater and jointed in the center of the ceiling by a circular bar of iron. This bar was fastened to the roof of the house by iron-rafters, the whole forming the inside shell of the theater. This whole mass was precipitated upon the heads of the spectators. The preliminary cracking and a slight shower of loose plaster gave a short warning, being enough, however, to enable many to get under the seats and thus save themselves.

The gallery, balcony and dress circle were untouched, but the occupants of these, fearing that the worst was yet to come, rushed from the building, and many were crushed and trampled upon as they attempted to get out.

All the lights in the theater were at once extinguished by the breaking of the main electric wire. It was half an hour before any light could be turned on inside and during all this time the groans and moans of the injured increased to a heart-rending extent. The search for the wounded was carried on at first by means of hand lanterns and was necessarily very slow. It was fully an hour and a half after the accident before the last body was taken from the debris.

Largely Attended Communion Service.

The most largely attended communion service ever held by the Christian church in this country was conducted in Hominson hall, Indianapolis, Sunday afternoon, when over 4,000 souls partook of bread and wine. The service was the leading feature of the Sunday program of the Christian conventions.

Loss of Life on the Cuban Coast.

The coasting steamer Triton, from Havana to Bahia Honda, province of Pinar del Rio, went upon a rock Saturday morning, between Dominica and Mariel, on the north coast of that province. Her cargo shifted and fifteen minutes later she sunk in 120 fathoms of water. One hundred and seventy persons were drowned.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Sixteen hundred St. Andrew's men from all over the English speaking world partook of the holy communion at Buffalo, October 15. The annual reports of both American and Canadian brotherhoods showed, not large, but substantial, growth made last year. The number of chapters is now 1,226.

The first international convention of the St. Andrew ended Sunday. The old council of the American Brotherhood was re-elected. Besides the president, Jas. Houghteling, of Chicago, it includes W. R. Stirling and Joseph R. Barroll of Chicago and Hector Baxter, of Minneapolis.

Exports Show Large Increase.

The treasury statement of the merchandise and currency imports and exports of the United States during September show exports of domestic merchandise to have aggregated $103,360,669, as compared with $83,746,362 for September last year. This brings the increase of such exports for the last nine months over the same period last year up to over $80,000,000.

$300,000 Fire at New York.

A $300,000 fire in the seven-story factory building at 279 and 281 Spring street, New York, taxed the energies of the fire department Sunday afternoon, and twenty engines and a large force of men were called out. The building was erected by the Trinity church corporation at a cost of $100,000. Nothing of it now remains but the blackened walls, and they will have to be rebuilt.

Young Women at Montreal.

The business meetings of the international board of the Young Women's Christian Association opened at Montreal, October 15. The corresponding secretary reported on the international board sixty-four associations, with 21,000 members. They had $3,340,000 invested in buildings and $169,000 in furnishings, with a debt of $320,000.

For International Federation.

The conference of the four railroad brotherhoods at Peoria, Ill., agreed upon a plan of international federation which will be submitted to the approval of the lodges of the trainmen, telegraphers, conductors and firemen in the United States, Canada and Mexico, and returns will not all be in until January 1.

Young Woman's Christian Association.

The international board of the Woman's and Young Woman's Christian association resumed its sessions at Montreal Monday in the parlors of the American Presbyterian church, with the president, Mrs. R. A. Dorman, in the chair. The principal business was transacted in private.

Li Hung Chang's Health Failing.

The latest advices from the East bring the announcement that Li Hung Chang's health has failed almost totally. It is reported he has despaired of the task of reforming China and is about to retire permanently from public life.

Funeral of Charles A. Dana.

The funeral of Charles A. Dana took place at Desoris, his late home, October 20. The service was read in St. Paul's Episcopal church in Glen Cove, L. I., and the burial will be in the cemetery adjoining that church.

SAFE ROUTE TO THE KLONDIKE.

The Steamship Columbia, of the Columbia Navigation and Trading Company, will sail from New York December 1 for St. Michael, by way of Magellan Straits, reaching the former place about the middle of May. As soon as the Yukon River opens the passengers will be transferred to the river boats and conveyed to Dawson City, thus making the entire journey by water. Those who prefer can take the steamer at San Francisco or Seattle. The advantages of this method of reaching the Klondike over all other routes are manifest. The chief one, of course, is that the passenger is assured of reaching the Klondike within a reasonable time and at a definite cost, as the company guarantees, for a stated sum, to deliver the passenger at Dawson City. Those who go by steamer to Skagaway or Dyea and thence over the dangerous mountain passes have no way of ascertaining the cost beforehand, to say nothing of having any assurance of reaching their destination at all, as these routes are fraught with hardships and perils that might well make themost vigorous and hardy hesitate before undertaking them. Raymond and Whitecomb, who have offices in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, and the principal cities, are general agents for this company, and are now reserving accommodations and can give those interested information regarding the Klondike.

At His Word.

Many postoffice names are queer enough to make one desire an explanation of them. Sometimes the explanation is queerer than the name itself. A minister in Cass county wrote to Washington in behalf of the residents of a growing hamlet, asking that a postoffice be added to its institutions. The request was favorably received, and he was asked to suggest a name that would be acceptable to his neighbors. He replied that they were not hard to please, so long as the name was peculiar. The postoffice department took him at his word, and "Peculiar" is the name of the office to this day.—Kansas City Journal.

NEW ROUTE TO HEALTH.

Little, fragrant, palatable tablets, in a dainty enameled metal box, just right for the vest pocket or the lady's purse. On the tablets are stamped the letters, "C. C. C." Cascarets, Candy Cathartic. Eat one like candy and the little tablet at once purifies and regulates the whole digestive canal. It destroys disease germs in the mouth and throat, stops souring of undigested food in the stomach, stirs up the liver, and tones and strengthens the bowels, making them act healthily and naturally. They are well and widely advertised in the press, but the best advertisement for Cascarets is the wonderfully mild yet positive action, which makes a Cascaret convert of everyone that tries them. We recommend them to all our readers.

Loyalty in England.

A British journal tells a queer story connected with the queen's jubilee. A Londoner was reproaching the owner of a house on the route of the great procession with having let it for the day to a citizen of the United States. "It is disgraceful!" he said, indignantly. "The queen graciously offers to show herself to a certain number of her London subjects, and they promptly let their windows and go to another part of the town. It is disloyal!" "Disloyal!" replied the house-keeper. "Just the contrary. We do it for the purpose of having as many portraits of our sovereign as possible—and all in gold."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ## AN OPEN LETTER

From Miss Sachner, of Columbus, O., to Ailing Women.

To all women who are ill:—It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for the boon given to suffering women in that excellent remedy. Before taking the Compound

I was thin, sallow, and nervous. I was troubled with leucorrhoea, and my menstrual periods were very irregular. I tried three physicians and gradually grew worse. About a year ago I was advised by a friend to try Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and Vegetable Compound, which I did. After using three bottles of the Vegetable Compound and one package of Sanative Wash, I am now enjoying better health than I ever did, and attribute the same to your wonderful remedies. I cannot find words to express what a Godsend they have been to me.

Whenever I begin to feel nervous and ill, I know I have a never-failing physician at hand. It would afford me pleasure to know that my words had directed some suffering sister to health and strength through those most excellent remedies.—Miss MAY SACHNER, 348 1/2 E. Rich St., Columbus, O.

CLAIM THEY ARE THE OLDEST LIVING TWINS.

The claim of the Newell brothers of Missouri that they are the oldest pair of twins in the country will not hold. Mrs. H. H. Johnson, recently of Kankakee, Ill., and now of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. David Noggle of Janesville are one month older, writes a Janesville, Wis., correspondent. These ladies are the twin children—Polly M. and Anna M.—of Benjamin and Eunice Mosher Lewis, and were born at Bristol, N. Y., May 29, 1815. They were the youngest of fifteen children. The twins went to Milan, O., when about 17, married there, and in 1837 Mrs. Noggle came to the wilds of Wisconsin to live the life of a pioneer. She and her husband settled at Beloit. Mr. Noggle was the first postmaster of that city. He was a lawyer and was afterward appointed chief justice of Idaho by President Grant. His health compelled him to return to Wisconsin, where he died in 1878, at the house of his son-in-law, Congressman Charles G. Williams. Mrs. Noggle is a woman of native ability and can tell many interesting tales of early life in Wisconsin. She is the mother of seven children, who, with her, are members of the Episcopal church. She is an excellent chess and whist player. Mrs. Johnson, later in life, went with her husband to Kankakee, Ill. She was a leader in Kankakee church work until she went to reside with her daughter, Mrs. John Dale of Omaha. The sisters are both in full possession of their faculties and are as active as women of 65.

The Woman's Board of Santa Fe.

When the World's fair was over, the ladies of Santa Fe who had engineered one of the exhibits of New Mexico there resolved to continue their organization under the name of the Woman's Board of Trade. Their object was to be the sole one of improving the city of Santa Fe and advancing its interests. There was no politics, neither any theology, in their aims, though there was plenty of religion, as the sequel shows. The society first attacked the famous but slovenly and unwholesome public square of Santa Fe. It was a dirty half park, half market and general loafing place. Today it is, says the New Mexican Review, a most beautiful square. The ladies cleaned it up first, then spent money repairing it. The money they raised among themselves, much in the way women lift church debts.

Having redeemed the public square, the ladies took up other lines of work. Through their efforts a small but valuable public library was thrown open. It only contains, however, 850 volumes. The attention of some of those rich women who are accustomed to spend $30,000 for floral decorations for a ball is respectfully called to this library. A burial ground for paupers, a reliable and helpful employment office, a woman's exchange for selling articles, for furnishing meals and various other purposes, are other monuments of their labors. The women also took vagrant children in the streets and put them to school and found often permanent homes for them. The municipal government of Santa Fe recognized from the first the invaluable character of the aims the ladies had in view and supplemented their efforts heartily.

Greater New York's Election.

Mr. W. T. Stead, the ablest and liveliest journalist in the British empire, has deemed it worth his while to come to America and bestow particular attention on the first municipal election campaign in Greater New York. He says there are various problems pertaining to municipal government which London has not yet worked out and that the council of that city is watching with deep interest the first use to which the great consolidated American metropolis puts its powers.

So far as it has gone, the outcome of these united efforts is a distinct disappointment to all who have at heart the question of good city government in America. So far as it has made a record as yet, Greater New York might better have remained New York the less, with all its different little sets of offices and of conflicting interests. The campaign is simply a squabble among forces contending for control of the $75,000,000 patronage the next mayor and his advisers will have the disposal of. New York has the chance here to form a government which shall be a model of honesty, efficiency and economy, an administration which shall in time present to all the world the cleanest, greatest, safest, most beautiful city in the world. Instead of this all there is a disgraceful and humiliating scramble among political bosses, fighting like fierce and unclean rats, each to drag away and secure for himself a particularly fat booty.

Here is a late ruling of the postoffice department: "Letter carriers are not required to subject themselves to the risk of being devoured by vicious dogs in delivering mail matter." One of the standing regulations of the department is that owners of vicious dogs must call at the postoffice and get their own mail unless in some way they make it entirely safe for the carrier to deliver it. A craze for dog keeping seems at present to possess city dwellers in this country, and the postoffice department takes occasion to inform owners of ugly tempered canines that it does not propose to let its servants be torn to pieces.

It is quite probable, so far from the Klondike and Alaskan mines being shut down and the miners remaining idle through the cold weather, that winter will prove the best season for gold digging. At any rate, there will be no mosquitoes then.

The name of the mollah of Haddah, who is making the trouble for England among the hill tribes of India, is Najam-din. His home, Haddah, is in the neighborhood of Jellalabad.

Famous.
A writer who knows what he is talking about says in an exchange:

Most of us are familiar with the way in which a horse or mule kicks, but few of us know how a camel expresses his anger. The camel doesn't seem to be out of temper. He lazily chews his cud, with his eyes half closed, and those not familiar with his ways might fancy that he is half asleep. But directly he draws a hind leg up under him, and then, as soon as the object of his wrath is in range, he sends his hoof straight back like a shot. I have seen a heavy man sent whirling several yards in a dense crowd by the kick of a camel.

An emu can kick as hard as a horse. I have seen men kicked so hard by this vicious bird that their legs were broken. If I had my choice of being kicked by a horse or an emu, I think I would take the horse. The emu stands on one leg and with the other strikes a quick and most paralyzing blow. I never would have believed that a bird had such power had I not had ocular evidence of it during this trip. After two or three of our men had suffered from the terrible kicks of these birds we did not venture near them, but, after running our horses till we got close enough, would bring them down with our rifles. We did not approach them till we knew they were dead.

We killed them for their feathers, although they are not so valuable as those of the ostrich. We also hunted for the eggs, which are to be found in the sand, but in doing this we took care not to collide with the emu. The eggs are more in demand than the feathers. They are very beautiful and are so tough that it is difficult to break them. Professional curio makers drill a hole in each end, take the inside out and then the shell is carved and mounted in silver.

The Drama, Past and Present.

Lamentation over the inferiority of the present to the past has been going on probably ever since there was a past sufficiently remote to be halcyon by distance, and critics of a certain class have always failed to realize that what they really regret is youth, not the conditions under which youth was passed. The deterioration of the stage has been for ages the constant topic of comment, which, considering the steady improvement in plays as plays, is as ludicrously unvarying as it is willfully inaccurate. The Pall Mall Gazette has dug out of one of its first numbers a criticism, written in 1865 by George Henry Lewes, and it calls attention to the curious likeness which his words present to what one not infrequently hears today.

"The present condition of the drama," wrote Mr. Lewes in the time which has come to be called "the good old days," "is deplored by all lovers of the art." And he went on in an amusingly familiar strain to say: "It is the more irritating because never were theaters so flourishing. A variety of concurrent causes, which need not here be enumerated, has reduced the stage to its present pitiable condition. We have many theaters nightly crowded by an eager but uncritical public and no one theater in which a critical public can hope to enjoy a tolerable performance. Yet there is a smaller public choice in its tastes and large enough to support a theater, which would eagerly welcome a fine actor or a well written drama." Surely it is to laugh.—New York Times.

Scene Painting as an Art.

It is a dangerous experiment now for even a barnstorming, melodramatic troop to carry inadequate and ugly scenery. While a writer in Le Figaro complains that "a subscriber of the Comedie Francaise would be ashamed to applaud a scene" an American audience is always prompt and hearty with recognition of a good stage picture and on occasions even calls out the painter. In all important productions the name of the painter of each scene is printed in the programme, and half a dozen names have thus become familiar to the general public. The very decent compensation for good scene painting and the fascinating problems that endear success should commend it most highly to the interests of the best artists. The painter with a tendency to landscape can find congenial employment for his highest flights of fancy and his most intimate psychologies of nature. The impressionist is particularly needed to carry out the revolution now waging on the stage against the old grayness and dun severity of the bituminous school.—Scribner's.

Only 2 per cent of the Siberian run-aways escape with their lives.

Queen Victoria's ideas of morality are peculiar to herself and based on the infallibility of British purity and propriety. Miss Elizabeth Banks, a young woman who introduced certain American newspaper methods into British journalism, advertised in London newspapers that a very wealthy American girl would pay handsomely for an introduction into high social life in England. Many members of the British aristocracy bit at the bait. They offered, for a consideration large enough, even to get with absolute certainty a titled husband for the rich American. Then Miss Banks, the live journalist, exposed them and the whole fiasco in a London paper. Queen Victoria was incensed, but instead of paying off her wrath on the foolish and greedy members of the British aristocracy, the ones and the only ones to blame for the unpleasant exposure, her fit of temper vented itself entirely on Americans who had had nothing at all to do with the matter. The old lady gave orders that thenceforth it should be hard for American women to get into British high society. The antecedents of every one should be taken up and investigated for as many generations as could be got at and only where everything was proper in the most conventional sense could they be admitted. If her majesty made the same conditions in regard to her own children, where would they be?

There are plenty of dance halls and whisky in Dawson City, but no drainage. The condition of the town is more dangerous than that of a yellow fever city. Mr. J. H. E. Secretan of Ottawa, who lately came from Dawson, calls it a "festering pile of putrid muck."

Croup Quickly Cured.

MOUNTAIN GLEN, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

LAKE ZURICH.

E. B. Adams of Racine was in town Saturday.

Louis Hillman was a Prairie View caller Tuesday.

Walter Evanson and wife of McHenry were in Zurich Saturday.

The Waukegan Gazette-Register is now a regular visitor in Lake Zurich.

H. Branding and John Wolff made a business trip to Chicago Monday.

J. F. Roney shipped several cars of swine, cattle and sheep this week.

Mrs. Wm. J. Bartholf of Chicago is visiting her folks at the Zurich House.

Wm. Pepper and H. Lohman were Chicago visitors Friday of last week.

Andrew McGowan of Libertyville visited relatives here the first of the week.

F. J. Setchell and M. Henry of Glen Ellyn were among the many callers here Sunday.

Louis Schultz' new house is fast nearing completion. Horstman is the contractor.

We notice that the new Long Grove cheese factory building is looming up in a hurry.

W. H. Sears of Rockford and Tom Williams of Richmond were in Zurich Tuesday.

The dance in the pavilion Saturday evening was well attended. The music was excellent.

Luther Clifford, in company with some friends, is at present taking an outing at the river.

Wm. Bicknase and wife of Chicago and other guests were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seip Sunday.

The highway commissioners of the Town of Ela transacted special business at a meeting held in the town hall Saturday.

John Blaine accidentally had his leg broken. Dr. Wells is in attendance, and at last accounts the patient was resting easily at his home in Gilmer.

A large party of telephone people were in town this week. They register from New York, and are making a tour on foot all the way to St. Paul, Minn., inspecting the line.

The Elgin Iroquois defeated the Lake County Unions at a game of ball played in the Oak Park grounds Sunday afternoon. The score was 8 to 11, and the playing was good.

The bids per acre for the farm of Fred Fischer, which was to have been sold at auction Friday of last week, were too low to be considered, and in consequence the farm of 86 acres is still for sale. Good house, new barn, etc. For further particulars call on Al R. Ficke, Lake Zurich.

The baseball season for Lake county, in our opinion, has come to a close for '97. The Lake County Unions played many games, being triumphant in a majority of them. The Unions of the season of '98 will be stronger than they were in 1897.

All who had the pleasure of attending the surprise party tendered Mr. E. Gainer, Saturday evening, pronounce it a most enjoyable affair. The occasion was Mr. Gainer's birthday anniversary, the gentleman being 70 years of age. The party was arranged by Mrs. Gainer and daughter. The dining room was tastefully decorated with evergreen, pink and white chifon and chrysanthemums. Mr. Geo. Spinner rendered several pleasing selections on the organ. The presents received by Mr. Gainer were many and useful.

WAUCONDA.

Joseph Haas was a Chicago visitor Tuesday.

Our teamsters are again busy hauling gravel.

M. W. Hughes was a Chicago visitor Thursday.

Frank Tekampe attended the dance at Arlington Heights last Saturday.

C. A. Hapke went to Arlington Heights Saturday to play for a dance.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeill of Fox Lake were pleasant callers in our village Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Freye of Nunda spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Sherman.

H. Maitman was in the city Monday purchasing his fall stock of ladies' capes and jackets.

A few people attended the ball game at Lake Zurich Sunday. Rather too cool for comfort.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Duers returned from the city Tuesday after spending a few days with relatives.

Joseph Haas has added a fine line of tobacco and cigars. Give him a call and note the improvement.

Did you see our new barber last Tuesday? Earl would no doubt be a good hand at the "biz" with a little practice.

The Baptist church is being treated to a new coat of paint. It was a long needed necessity and will greatly modify its appearance.

A pleasant reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Sherman last Friday evening, it being the event of their seventh wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Coggin of Florida spent Saturday in our village last week. Mr. Coggin was our former miller and his many old friends was happy to meet him again.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gieseler and family moved to the city Saturday where Mr. Gieseler has secured a position in Viles & Robbins' packing house. We wish him success in his new position.

G. W. Pratt was tendered a pleasant surprise last Monday evening, it being his fifty-fourth birthday. Quite a number of invited guests were present and spent the evening pleasantly.

There will be an entertainment and ball given at the Oakland hall next Friday evening, Oct. 29, under the management of Frank Quigley. It promises to be good, and all are cordially invited to attend.

when the new factory is completed our community will be more prosperous than it ever was.

Gotlieb Ernsting and family of Kansas returned to their home last week, after visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity for several weeks.

If you need any printing done and want it executed promptly, neatly and at a low price send it to THE REVIEW, Barrington. We get out auction bills in two hours, and give you a notice in both the Palatine and Barrington paper free.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by A. H. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

An Extraordinary Bargain.

I offer for sale my whole photographic outfit, which is complete in every respect, with everything in the Zurich studio, at a very low figure. This is a first class chance for some one to engage in a paying business, at a very small cost. I wish to state to my patrons, that I will continue to take pictures until sold. Apply to
Lake Zurich, Ill.

October Piano Clearance Sale.

We urge an early call from every intending piano buyer in Barrington and vicinity. We are making, during October, a general clearance sale. It includes second hand, shopworn, old style cases, rental stock and exchanged pianos of many makes, including several Bradburys. Some of these Clearance Sale pianos rank high musically. We recommend them for beginners. Our wholesale and retail departments have both contributed largely to this notable sale.

Every visitor is invited to inspect our complete line of Bradburys in uprights and cabinet and parlor grands, the foremost of all pianos. But we especially urge these cheap but serviceable "Clearance Sale" pianos just now. We need the room badly for new stock.

Terms: A proper discount for cash. But times are good, money easy, our own capital perhaps the largest in our line, (see Dun or Bradstreet) salaried positions secure, hence time buyers will be equally favored and may practically make their own terms. Our prices include free delivery. Selections now may be delivered later. If you cannot call, write for "Clearance Sale" list. F. G. SMITH,

NEWS TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Minor Happenings of the Past Week.

EVENTS OF LAST SEVEN DAYS.

Political, Religious, Social and Criminal Doings of the Whole World Carefully Condensed for Our Readers—The Accident Record.

Waukegan, Ill.—Horse-thieves raided Roundout and stole several valuable horses.

Saginaw, Mich.—Martin Salvner, 16 years old, while riding a bicycle ran into a team and his skull was fractured.

Dixon, Ill.—Conrad Thomann accidentally discharged his gun while hunting, sending the charge into his lungs. He died later.

Clinton, Ill.—John Warner's bank cashed a fraudulent check for $500 presented by a middle-aged man with iron-gray hair.

Elkhorn, Wis.—Joseph Bundy, who is in jail here on a charge of shooting Isaac Saxton at Darien, attempted suicide by cutting a gash in his throat.

Martinsville, Ind.—John Ferriter, who murdered Policeman Charles Ware of Indianapolis, was taken to the prison at Michigan City to serve a life sentence.

Butte, Mont.—John W. Baker, formerly assistant city treasurer, killed himself by shooting. He was formerly with the Northwestern in Chicago and Union Pacific in Omaha.

Prairie du Chien, Wis.—Robert Graham of Liverpool, England, while attempting to board a moving train was thrown under the wheels and both legs were cut off below the knees.

Boston, Mass.—John W. Hague, an actor, died, aged 58. He had supported many famous stars, including Edwin Booth, Mary Anderson, John McCullough and Charlotte Cushman.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Silver City, a settlement just outside the western city limits, was visited by a fire which swept away five stores and one dwelling. The loss will amount to about $15,000.

Cincinnati, O.—The Western Foundrymen's association convened here in annual meeting. President C. A. Sercomb of Chicago presided and A. Sorge, Jr., also of Chicago, served as secretary.

Muncie, Ind.—Edward Stiffer killed himself in the presence of Edna Myers, whom he had intended to kill at the same time. The girl had decided not to accept the young man's offer of marriage.

Greenville, Ill.—Scarlet fever has begun to spread to an alarming extent. The lower grades of the public schools are closed and the mayor has issued a proclamation requesting parents to keep their children at home.

Washington—The state department has refused the request of the Mexican government for the surrender of Jesus Guerra, who was one of Garza's lieutenants in the celebrated Garza raid into Mexico in December, 1892.

Washington—Col. Peter C. Haines of the engineer corps of the army, at present in charge of river and harbor improvements for the Baltimore district, has been appointed to be engineer commissioner on the Nicaraguan canal commission.

Valparaiso, Ind.—The will of Albert Hankins the well-known Chicago sporting man who was killed several months ago by being caught in a folding-bed, was offered for probate by his widow, Ella A. Hankins. The property amounts to $100.

Springfield, Ill.—Weber Bros., clothing, have failed. Kohn Bros., of Chicago, filed a chattel mortgage for $7,000.

Washington—The Supreme Court has advanced the argument of the Durrant murder case from San Francisco and set it for hearing November 15.

Selma, Ind.—Edward Stiffer, crazed by jealousy, killed himself by shooting in the presence of the girl he loved.

Urbana, Ohio.—A. C. Deuel, aged 75, for forty years superintendent of the public schools, was killed by a freight train.

New York—Bettina Girard, actress and former society belle, is now in Bellevue Hospital, utterly broken down in health. She is the daughter of Gen. Albert Ordway.

Austin, Pa.—Forest fires are under control after burning $200,000 worth of timber. The northern part of Cayuga County, New York, is ablaze, and great damage has been done.

Washington—The state department has refused the request of the Mexican government for the surrender of Jesus Guerra, one of Garza's lieutenants in the celebrated Garza raid into Mexico in December, 1892.

CASUALTIES.

Greencastle, Ind.—A freight train on the Big Four road was wrecked and sixteen cars demolished.

Manington, W. Va.—Thomas H. Brookiss was killed by an explosion of natural gas in the store of C. M. Martin. Walter Planter and two others were seriously hurt.

Niles, Mich.—Harry Potter, while fooling with a gun, shot and killed Wade Robinson near Swan Creek.

Niles, Mich.—Ephraim Dishony, a prominent Union City citizen, was accidentally killed while hunting.

Aurora, Ill.—Mrs. Joseph Spirch was fatally burned while attempting to light a fire with kerosene. The can exploded.

Kokomo, Ind.—A 3-year-old child of Ephraim Tucker of Greentown was killed and two barns burned by children playing with matches.

Denver, Col.—While driving down a steep grade on the way to a fire Lee Bottom, driver of a steamer of the city fire department, was thrown from his seat and instantly killed. W. R. Morley, a fireman, was also thrown from the engine and sustained injuries that are likely to prove fatal.

Elkhart, Ind.—Harry Sherman, aged about 30 years, and William O. Weaver were struck by a train on the Lake Shore railway. Sherman was instantly killed and Weaver was so badly injured that he will die.

Winston, N. C.—Lightning struck a tree near Union Ridge church just as E. P. Huntman and his wife drove up. Mrs. Huntman died an hour afterward. Many others were seriously injured and are not expected to live.

Evansville, Ind.—Christ Melnert was killed by being kicked by a mule.

Danville, Ill.—Oscar Croviston was kicked in the head by a horse and died in a few hours.

LaPorte, Ind.—Mrs. Manda Barely, aged 55, was killed at Wolfe lake, Noble county, in a runaway accident.

Herrick, Ill.—Otis Miller, 20 years old, was run over by the Cloverleaf cars and killed. This makes three young men killed in the same place.

Bremen, Ind.—Daniel Shenfield, employed at the Holland radiator works, was caught in one of the rattling machines and horribly mangled.

Saginaw, Mich.—Thomas Oliver, a miner at the Saginaw coal mines, fell from an elevator and was killed.

FOREIGN.

Madrid.—El Imparcial says that the negotiations between the government and the chiefs of the Cuban autonomist party have not produced the expected results.

Tacoma, Wash.—Chinese advices received by steamer say that Earl Li Hung Chang has obtained from the emperor indefinite leave of absence from his official duties as grand secretary of the inner state council at Peking, on account of ill health.

London.—Sir Edwin Arnold, the poet and journalist, author of "The Light of Asia," and colleague of Mr. J. M. Lesage in the editorship of the Daily Telegraph, married a Japanese lady in London.

London.—A dispatch to the Times from Buenos Ayres says that there have been good rains in the south and a slight rainfall in the north, so that the harvest is now secure. It is estimated that 1,000,000 tons of wheat will be exported.

CRIME.

Sioux City, Iowa.—Fred Benseer of Yelm, Wash., shot himself on the Milwaukee track, two miles west of town.

Milwaukee, Wis.—John P. Forster, a son of the late J. W. Forster, and one of the heirs of the Forster estate, committed suicide by cutting his throat.

Kansas City, Mo.—John F. Kennedy, on trial charged with being the leader of the Chicago & Alton passenger train robbery at Blue Cut, was acquitted.

Elgin, Ill.—The body of Albert Hammers, the official of the Modern Woodmen who disappeared three weeks ago, was found in an abandoned mill a few miles north of here. He had taken his life.

Keokuk, Iowa.—Sylvester S. Metz, a farmer living near Argyle, was found dead in bed with a revolver in his right hand. On his breast was a note which said that his troubles had begun in 1890 and had overtaken him.

Dermott, Ark.—A lynching in which the victim was a white man named Cole occurred near Wilmot. Cole had slain Constable Jones and was pursued, captured and strung up by a posse composed of the murdered man's friends.

Buenos Ayres.—Telegraph advices from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, state that a servant in the employ of William T. Townes, the United States consul general in Rio Janeiro, made an unsuccessful attempt to murder the consul general today. Mr. Townes's assailant has been placed under arrest.

Wheeling, W. Va.—Thomas Scott of Benwood gave his young wife of a month a glass of milk. She would have died but for the accidental arrival of her brother, who came from Lisbon, O., to visit her. Scott has disappeared, and an analysis shows the milk had arsenic in it. Scott, it is alleged has another wife living in Ohio.

MISCELLANEOUS.

New York.—The schooner Silver Heels, of Rockland, Me., is now on her way to Cuba, it is believed, with a filibustering expedition on board.

Crested Butte, Col.—A snowstorm struck this locality Sunday, which broke all records here for this time of the year.

Warren, Ohio.—In a Graeco-Roman wrestling contest Martin Muldoon of this city defeated Jack King of Pittsburgh quite easily, winning two falls in succession in twenty-six minutes and nineteen and a half minutes.

Prairie City, Ill.—C. A. McWhinney died at his home of heart disease.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The Waukesha Stone company made a voluntary assignment to William Goetz, who gave a bond for $65,000.

Dubuque, Iowa.—The G. A. R. posts have formally dedicated the mortars and shells recently received from Washington and placed in the soldiers' lot in Linwood.

Akron, Ohio.—Lotta Crabtree, better known as "Lotta," the actress, has sued the estate of Henry E. Abbey of New York for $20,000 and two years' interest on promissory notes.

San Francisco, Cal.—Mrs. E. J. Van Dusen, 70 years old, is in a padded cell at the receiving hospital for the insane. She was dressed in rags, yet on her person was found $4,457, nearly all in $20 gold pieces.

Charleston, S. C.—The United States revenue practice ship Salmon P. Chase went aground on Cumming Point shoal. The chase was pulled off by the tug Cecelia and towed to an anchorage in the stream by the revenue cutter Colfax.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Miss Emma E. Palmer, until recently, associate editor of the Northwestern Miller of Minneapolis, has purchased the Illustrated News, a weekly publication of this city devoted to society, literature and art. Under the new management the paper will be known as the Critic.

Charleston, S. C.—C. C. Pinckney, Jr., manager and the holder of controlling interests in the Farmers' Mining company, the Wappo mills, the Horseshoe mills and Magnolia Mining company, has suspended payment. The liabilities are about $200,000.

Lansing, Mich.—Charles Keisey of Marquette has been appointed probate judge of Marquette county by Governor Plagree.

Springfield, Ill.—Governor Tanner has accepted the resignation of H. B. Bilman as ensign, second division, Second battalion, naval militia of Illinois.

Zanesville, Ohio.—A. O. Jones, owner of the Jones Brick and Terra Cotta Company, has made an assignment. He will be able to meet all claims.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Mrs. Charles Loneragan has identified the body of a man found on the track at Mattewan, N. Y., as that of her husband. The body was sent to Chicago, where his mother resides.

St. Charles, Ill.—Diphtheria cases have become so numerous in this city that the public schools have been forced to close.

Mendota, Ill.—J. L. Watkins, for forty years a resident of this city, is dead. He was for thirty-six years ticket agent at this place.

Martinsville, Ind.—The body of a man was found in a field near Edwardsport. A memorandum book contained the name and address "R. O. Foote, Waterloo, Iowa."

Wabash, Ind.—No more veterans can be accommodated at the Soldiers' home at Marion. There are now on the rolls 2,208, and every bunk in the barracks has an occupant.

Vancouver, B. C.—A jury has awarded Mrs. Lang $20,000 damages against the city of Victoria for the death of her husband, Dr. Lang, in the Point Ellice bridge disaster in May, 1896.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The announcement by Senator Fairbanks that he will recommend James W. Hess for postmaster of this city has aroused the friends of the civil-service law, who will call upon the President to refuse to appoint Hess.

New York.—At the meeting of the new board of directors of the Western Union Telegraph company Thomas F. Clark, formerly assistant to the president, was elected as acting vice-president, to succeed Judge Van Horne.

HISTORIC TOWN BURNED.

Windsor, Nova Scotia, Destroyed by Fire.

THREE THOUSAND HOMELESS.

Fire Rages for Several Hours and Consumes Four Hundred Residences and Public Buildings—Two Lives Known to Have Been Lost.

The town of Windsor, N. S., was fire-swept Sunday, and 3,000 people are homeless. The fire started at 2 o'clock in the morning, and at 9 o'clock seven-eighths of the town had been entirely wiped out. The direct financial loss is $1,500,000, with about $500,000 insurance. Two lives were lost, Michael Whalen and his wife, an aged couple, and two children of Walter Mosher, a boy of 12 and a girl of 9, were badly burned. William Cleveland, a telephone operator, was dangerously hurt and several others more or less injured.

Windsor is a historic town in the land of Evangeline, about fifty miles from Halifax, and is famous as a seat of learning, containing a ladies seminary in Kings' College, one of the oldest universities in America. It was one of the wealthiest towns for its size in Canada, and contained about 4,000 inhabitants, 3,000 of whom are now homeless.

YANKEE WHO BROKE DOWN A TURKISH JAIL.

Colonel Patrick Henry Madden, consul of the United States at Smyrna, thinks he would like President McKinley to leave him there, and all the American missionaries in the country of the Turk have the same thought and desire. The missionaries love Colonel Madden, and not without good reason. He didn't do a thing but beat down a Turkish jail and liberate a number of Armenians who were American citizens. The way of it was this: About a year ago, when Christians were being slaughtered on all hands by Druses, Turks and Kurds, the Christians of Smyrna escaped. But the Turkish authorities arrested the Armenians right and left and flung them into jail by the score. That none of them were butchered was due to the fact that the United States frigate Marblehead was lying in the harbor. At last the Turks could not keep their hands off the missionaries and a number of them were arrested. Rev. Mr. Wiley protested with all his power, but his words were without effect. The local officer politely said he would report it to the commander, the commander said he would report to the governor, and the governor promised to report to the sultan. Mr. Wiley, not knowing what to do, went with his tale of woe to Colonel Madden. "What is to be done," asked the missionary in despair. Now, Colo-

Christian Church Conventions.

Three thousand representatives of the Christian Church in the United States attended the national convention of the church and its auxiliary organizations at Indianapolis. The woman's board of missions during the last year worked through 1,603 societies with 30,367 members. The contributions during the year amounted to $54,834. Illinois was awarded the prize for the greatest number of young people's societies. The state reported fifty-four as against fifty-three in Ohio. Indiana was third with forty-four.

To Work for Reciprocity.

John A. Kasson of Iowa, former minister to Austria, has been designated by the President to be special commissioner with plenary powers to carry into effect the reciprocity provisions of sections 3 and 4 of the tariff act approved July 24, 1897.

Mile in Fifty-Two Seconds.

The Follman friction-gear locomotive, in a trial on the South Jersey railroad, made a mile in 0:44 3/5 on the first trial and a mile in 0:43 in a second spurt.

New Rifle for German Army.

The German government, it is understood, has decided to rearm the entire infantry with the new 6-millimeter rifle, said to surpass the weapons of all other states.

Urges Independence for Canada.

An organization known as the Canadian Independence Club is urging Canada to throw off its connection with Great Britain.

Masons in Triennial Conclave.

The grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons held the final business meeting of its present session Thursday. Reuben C. Lemmon, of Toledo, Ohio, was chosen general grand high priest. The next triennial meeting of the general grand chapter will be held at Cincinnati in September, 1900.

Admiral Worden Dead.

Admiral John L. Worden, retired, died of pneumonia at Washington. He commanded the Monitor during its engagement with the Merrimac in Hampton Roads, March 9, 1862.

Wisconsin Y. M. C. A.

The twenty-third annual state Young Men's Christian Association convention opened at Baraboo, Wis., Oct. 14. J. M. Holley, of La Crosse, was chosen president.

Both May Run for Senator.

It is announced that ex-Gov. Matthews and Senator Turpin of Indiana have failed to come to an understanding in reference to the United States senatorship, and it seems certain at this time that both will be in the race next year.

Meet at Auburn, Ind.

The forty-third evangelical convention of the Lutheran Synod of Michigan and Indiana met October 14 at Auburn, Ind. Statistical reports show that the church has had a large growth during the year.

Miners Return to Work.

The miners in the employ of the Coal Valley Mining Company at Sherrard and Cable, Ill., after being out just three months, returned to work at the old scale of 46 cents.

ILLINOIS NEWSLETS.

RECORD OF MINOR DOINGS OF THE WEEK.

Seven Days' Happenings Condensed—Social, Religious, Political, Criminal, Obituary and Miscellaneous Events from Every Section of the State.

Morris—Ray Bothamley, a 15-year-old lad, shot himself because a school teacher humiliated him before his fellows.

Lewiston—Albert Bowman has been found guilty of the murder of Oscar Cox and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Rockford—The Methodist pastors of Rockford are home from conference, some to pack up and depart, some to resume their work. A farewell reception was tendered the Rev. F. H. Sheets of Court street church, who goes to Grace church, Chicago.

Ottawa—The grand jury of LaSalle county finished its work in two days this term and adjourned with only ten indictments returned. Gideon, who murdered Robert Oglesby, is indicted for that crime and the remaining indictments are for burglary, larceny and malicious mischief. It was the shortest session of a grand jury for years.

Springfield—The Toluca and Eastern Railroad company, to construct a railroad from the village of Rutland, La Salle county, to Toluca, Marshall county and to the township of Roberts, capital stock $50,000; incorporators, Henry Duggan, William W. Twist and James E. Potterfield, Toluca; Henry J. Miller and Chas. J. Devlin, Spring Valley; Joseph S. Wylie, Davenport, Iowa, was granted papers.

Galesburg—The fifth annual reunion of the Mexican war veterans was held here. The address of welcome was delivered by Captain T. L. McGirr, and the response was by Colonel L. F. Ross, of Lewiston. The Grand Army women treated the veterans to an elaborate banquet. These officers were elected: President, Colonel L. F. Ross, Lewiston; secretary, Rufus Cleveland, Galesburg. A camp fire closed the day's program.

Elgin—Stephenson county officers have been searching for a forger and horse thief who gave his name as J. W. Warren. The man whom he impersonates lives at Omaha, Neb., but has a brother in Elgin. The thief has been selling pictures and dealing in real estate at Freeport for some time. He tried to sell Judge Hyde of Freeport a forged mortgage on the farm of Michael Murray of Nora. He claimed to live at Poplar Grove.

Aurora—The season of church fairs has opened here and two churches are making their bids for patronage this week. The St. Mary's Catholic church people are holding their fair in a large frame building covering over a quarter of a block, which was constructed purposely for this event. Several thousand people have been in attendance every evening this week. The annual fair of St. John's Lutheran church is also being held in the Somarindyk-Schielder hall. George S. Hobbs, the night clerk at the Northwestern hotel, who was shot in the shoulder by Oscar Demery several weeks ago, had the bullet removed. It would have reached the heart had it not struck a small bone.

Mascoutah—The Shiloh community, northwest of here, is just now enjoying a sensation, caused by an elopement with romantic features. Miss Anna Obernhaut was the acknowledged belle of the community. Besides being exceedingly attractive, she is quite wealthy, and when she fell in love with a farm hand, named Ben Love, it caused a big stir in the rural district. There was no end of gossip about the love affair of the heiress and the farm laborer, and finally the young lady's father heard of the matter. He promptly went off into a rage, of course, and commanded his daughter to drop the young man without ceremony. Instead of obeying her father, the pretty but willful young girl took the first opportunity to elope with her lover to his home in Kentucky, where they were married. The report from Kentucky is that the young man comes of a fine family, and farmer Obernhaut has concluded that things are, perhaps, not so bad after all.

Alton—The Afro-American League of Illinois held a special session in this city Wednesday afternoon. Officers were elected as follows: President, J. S. Townsend of O'Fallon, Ill.; secretary, J. B. Turner of Chicago; treasurer, John Evans of Brooklyn, Ill. The convention indulged in politics to the extent of an indorsement of McKinley and Tamm. The resolutions adopted further state: We recognize in Prof. Booker T. Washington an able and safe leader of our race, and believe that the principles of "industrial education," advocated and successfully taught by him, are the nearest and safest steps toward the complete emancipation of our race from the effects of our previous condition—slavery. We advise Afro-Americans of this state to encourage and promote by every available means "industrial education" and "co-operative business enterprises." They should go hand in hand together for them, and in their success lies the future of our race on this continent.

Examine the Berry Vines.

The condition of the berry plant at the close of the growing season is a certain indication of the product the following year. Let us examine: Is the foliage free from rust and blight? Is the cane mature and well ripened? Is it stocky and well supplied with strong vigorous buds? Is it free from spot, speck and blemish? Are the roots light, fibrous and strong? Is the pith, the vital or essential part of the plant, bright, fresh and firm. If so, we are assured that with a fair season and proper winter protection, a full crop may be expected. In many localities I fear berry canes, now so promising, are injured by early spring frosts, severely freezing the young shoots when but a few inches high. This injury is observed only in the pith, the life marrow being dark and shrunk, a few inches above the ground. The cane above and below showing a fine vigorous growth. Canes so affected are almost certain to mature no fruit the coming season. Examine them closely. In any event it is important to save all good canes by most thorough winter protection. This is best done by bending bushes to the ground and covering with fresh earth. The process has been described many times, but needs to be repeated again. It should be understood that the roots or plants are very flexible and may be turned and doubled in any direction. Now, in laying bushes down for winter, the bending must be in the root and below the surface of the ground. It is not at all difficult, but simply requires a little care and practice. This method of protection is given at an expense of seven or eight dollars per acre. There is no doubt whatever as to the great advantage of such protection, and it should be practiced in all latitudes where the thermometer ever reaches 10 degrees below zero. Never attempt to grow berries in northern climates without winter protection. It may be done any time after frosts and before the ground freezes. Select a time when there is no frost in ground or bush, remove two or three inches of dirt from base of hill, gather the canes in close form, with a wide fork or well protected hands, and bend gently in direction to be laid, while second party inserts fork near opposite base or with foot pressed firmly against the hill, it is forced to the ground bending only in the root and covered with dirt. The top of succeeding hill resting along the side of preceding hill.—M. A. Thayer.

Campbell's Early Grape.

We have received from Geo. S. Josselyn, of Fredonia, N. Y., a basket of Campbell's Early Grapes. In the note that accompanied them Mr. Josselyn says: "These are from one-year old vines planted in year 1895, so this is the first year bearing. Old exhibitors tell us they have never been able to procure good clusters from first-year bearing vines. We think our clusters nice, however, but no doubt shall get larger next season." The grapes arrived in fine shape and showed no marks of their long journey. They certainly are good shippers. In quality and size they are remarkable, and bid fair to take a leading place on the market. We have never seen more compact or more beautiful bunches. All appearances indicate that they are excellent keepers.

Local Value of Fruits.—It is true beyond a doubt that local conditions of soil and climate cause fruit to greatly vary. Thus the Rhode Island Greening is a splendid apple in its own district, while in central Pennsylvania it is a tough, nearly worthless fruit. Smith's Cider is a valuable winter apple near Philadelphia, while it is not much grown elsewhere. In central Pennsylvania the Major is a valuable apple, not much known out of the central counties of the state. The Ben Davis is said to be an excellent apple in southwest Missouri. The Le Conte pear is of no value except in the south. Strawberries vary greatly within a very narrow radius. Planters should pay much attention to this matter in making their selections of fruit trees and plants.—G. G. Groff in Exchange.

Protect the Manure.—Manure made in summer wastes much faster than it does in winter. The warm weather hastens its decomposition. It is easy to prevent serious loss, however, by keeping the excrement piled and so covered with earth that no ammonia can escape. Where cows are allowed to lie in the barnyard during the night, much of their liquid excrement is wasted. All such wastes detract from the profit of dairying when, as milk and butter prices now are, the most must be made of everything to keep the balance on the side of profit.—Ex.

Harrow After Plowing.—In our anxiety to speed the plow when the ground is in good order after a rain we are apt to neglect harrowing just at the right time, thereby losing moisture and money. The big holes in the plowed ground should first be stopped, the soil stirred frequently, and particularly after every rain the entire surface should be broken. We have no right to complain of the soil drying out unless we first do all we can to save the moisture we get.—Ex.

The annual coal product of Montana has shown an uninterrupted increase each year since 1877.

DEATH OF CHARLES A. DANA.

Charles A. Dana, for more than a quarter of a century editor of the New York Sun, is dead. He died at his summer home, "Glen Cove," on Long Island, Sunday. Many kind things are now being said of him by other editors (some by those who abused him while he lived and labored for what he believed to be right), and there is much evidence that the deceased was the strongest character in American journalism, some say since Greeley's time, while better judges say the greatest of all. Greeley flourished at a time when powerful editors were few; Dana in an age that has seen the profession swarmed with able men, and at his death he stood head and shoulders above them all. Henry Watterson, Joseph Medill, Charles H. Jones, William Penn Nixon, have at various times crossed pens with Dana and been vanquished. Dana knew how to make a paper. He believed in individuality. He believed in honesty of purpose as the motive power for every newspaper. Once he said:

Dana's Tribute to Country Press.

"If a paper is honest in its convictions it makes no difference if it sometimes is on the wrong side of the question; it will eventually be found on the side of right. Dana did not like to send the Sun broadcast over the country. He said that he believed in covering his own territory thoroughly, that the outside territory belonged to other publishers. He believed that the country papers should not be wiped out by city competition. A few years ago he said to the country editors of Wisconsin in one of their state meetings: The logic of events demands that the country paper should fill its own field. That field should not be invaded by a descendant of Jacob, eldest son of Richard Dana, progenitor of most of those who bear the name in the United States. His boyhood was spent in Buffalo, N. Y., where he worked in a store until he was 18 years old. At that age he first studied the Latin grammar and prepared himself for college. He entered Harvard in 1839, but after two years a serious trouble with his eyesight compelled him to leave. He received an honorable dismissal, and was afterwards given his bachelor's and master's degrees. In 1842 he became a member of the Brook Farm Association for Agriculture and Education, being associated with George and Sophia Ripley, George William Curtis, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Theodore Barker, William Henry Channing, John Sullivan Dwight, Margaret Fuller, and other philosophers more or less directly concerned in the remarkable attempt to realize at Roxbury a high ideal of social and intellectual life.

Early Newspaper Work.

His earliest newspaper experience was gained in the management of the Harbinger, which was devoted to social reform and general literature. After about two years of editorial work on a Boston daily paper called Chronotype, Charles A. Dana joined the staff of the New York Tribune in 1847. The next year he spent eight months in Europe, and upon his return he became one of the proprietors and the managing editor of the Tribune, which post he held until April 1, 1862. The extraordinary influence and circulation obtained by that newspaper during the ten years preceding the Civil War was in a degree due to the development of Mr. Dana's genius for journalism.

During the first year of the war Mr.

the metropolitan press. Besides the metropolitan paper that is seeking new fields is very seldom a good one; it is generally disrespected at home, where it cannot exist on the local revenue. The way to drive out these papers is to print good solid matter that the people want to read. Give plenty of space to politics, religion and science. Always tell the truth no matter whom it may hurt. Bar sensational hogwash, and eventually you will drive out the pestiferous so-called metropolitan paper, with its polluting slush that spreads disease wherever it goes. A paper that cannot exist in its own territory ought not to exist at all.

The Metropolitan Slush Machines.

To all of which the country press in every state have long since said amen. The pestiferous metropolitan paper still exists, however, and its floodgates of pollution are always open. Just because they are from the big cities like Chicago and St. Louis the country people seem to think that they are respectable. Of course, it is nothing more than a fad. These papers are bought for the novelty of the thing. In reality they have little weight among country folk and at most little attention. Their day will soon be over.

DANA'S BIOGRAPHY.

Greatest American Editor.

Charles Anderson Dana was born in Hinsdale, N. H., Aug. 8, 1819. He was the German called "The Black Ant." In 1855 he planned and edited with George Ripley the "New American Encyclopedia." With General James H. Wilson he wrote a life of General Grant. His "Household Book of Poetry," a collection of the best minor poems of the English language, was first published in 1857, and has passed through many editions. He also edited with Rossiter Johnson "Fifty Perfect Poems."

Little Use for Reformers.

Toward reformers Mr. Dana's attitude was that of John Randolph toward sheep—he would go a mile out of his way to kick one. This was only a manifestation of his revolt against the commonplace, for he loved the fruits of reform as well as any man. He enjoyed good pavements, clean streets, well kept parks, an orderly city, and all the other desirable things that reformers aim to provide through good government. But the simple-minded "average man" commonly thinks it necessary to approve all reform efforts, and that was enough to set Mr. Dana against them. There is no particular amusement in supporting a reform movement. Lots of fun can be had in lampooning it and calling its promoters uncouth names.

Dana's Hobby.

Mr. Dana's hobby was botany. He had another—his type-fed menagerie. He would leave out good news at any time to get in half a column of solid nonpareil about a monstrous snake discovered somewhere or other. On Sundays he printed pages of such articles. The more improbable the better. Imagination is a quality for which he had the highest respect, and that accounts for the success of many of his "bright young men." Dullness he could not stand. He invited contributions of impossible yarns about impossible adventures. His correspondents were instructed to let slip no chance to get in a good reptile or animal story. These he always made room for. The general public having caught on to the "old man's" fad from time to time flooded his office with the most improbable stories ever concocted.

A Man of Letters.

The life that Mr. Dana chiefly cared for the life in which his enjoyment was keenest, and in which the powers of his remarkable mind found their most agreeable exercise, was that of a lover and student of art and letters. In the politicians, small and great, to whom he had in appearance been such a helpful friend, he felt no personal interest. Only such of them as had brains enough to talk entertainingly could get at him. But he delighted in the society of men who have something to say upon subjects which it is worth while for the human mind to concern itself about, and his own contributions to such exchanges were rich, varied, and of high interest. His personal tastes showed the fine quality of his mind. Poetry, languages, porcelains, paintings, bronzes, all of the most perfect and precious of their kind, were the delight and occupation of his leisure hours.

His Personal Characteristics.

Many who knew his prejudices have pictured him a grim, even a hard man. But this of all things he was not. He was sunny, light hearted, kindly mannered above most men.

His home life was beautiful. In his summer place at Glen Cove, a charming, cultivated island, he was the chiefest source of geniality and sunshine. Walking over his grounds, reading in his library, wandering among his choice orchards, driving, even at an advanced age, his spirited, blooded pair, he enjoyed life as is permitted to few to enjoy it. And, what is more, all who came within his influence enjoyed life too.

His health and vigor were remarkable. At 70 he was as vigorous as most men of 40. His bright, youthful eye, his glowing cheeks, his lustrous hair belied the snowy whiteness of his beard and hair.

But it was in his office that his real self was made known, for Mr. Dana was first of all a worker. Up to an advanced age he was always at his desk in his shabby corner room at 19 o'clock. He was often there earlier. He remained faithfully at work all day, often taking luncheon in his office. He rarely left for home much before 5 o'clock.

His activity and capacity for work were a source of constant wonder to those who labored beside him in his later years, but Mr. Dana had as firm and buoyant a step and as bright an eye as the youngest of his "young men," as he called his reporters.

Dr. Palmer of Chicago gave two lectures at the Baptist church Friday and Saturday evenings of last week. The lectures were given for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid society and were well attended.

Frank Cady brought to our office a sample of the second crop of cherries from a 2-year-old tree on his farm. Last spring over two quarts of cherries were picked from the tree, and the second crop is of a large variety.

Tomorrow evening, at the M. E. church, Rev. T. E. Ream will preach on the topic "The Life Out of Death," from the text II Timothy 1 ch. 10 v.: "He hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." The sermon will refer to the sudden death of George M. Pullman of Chicago.

Rev. T. E. Ream was called to Elgin on Wednesday to unite in marriage Mr. Harry G. Knott, a printer of Elgin, and Miss Anna M. Liddell of South Elgin, who has been at work in the watch factory for several years.

George Struckmann and Frederick C. Schwen, Cook county commissioners, were here Wednesday to inspect a new bridge in the Town of Barrington, and some newly graveled roads. They found the work done very satisfactorily.

The following topics will be considered at the Baptist church tomorrow: Morning (10:30), "A Helping Hand;" evening (7:00), "The Bridegroom's Voice." All are invited to these services. A half hour song service precedes the evening service.

The Choral class, under the direction of Prof. Harris, which holds forth in the M. E. church, is making excellent progress, and the people of Barrington may expect a musical treat at the closing concert, which will take place about the last week in November. A well-known elocutionist will take part in the concert.

F. Frye, agent for the Deering Harvesting works in Barrington, piloted a party of Barringtonians through the factory in Chicago on Monday. The party was composed of John Welch, Henry Winkler and August Meyer of Cuba; Frank Cady, Fred and George Bauman, Sam Lageschulte, Thomas Freeman, John C. Plagge and Henry Schaefer, sr.

Did you ever notice how "run out at the ends" (skirts or pantaloons) the persons are who everlastingly put off things until tomorrow. The tomorrow never comes with its hoped-for results to such people. Write to Mr. O. M. Powers, principal of the Metropolitan Business College, Chicago, at once, and secure a business education. Do this without delay and you will have no regrets.

A GOOD TIME PROMISED.—An entertainment and prize ball will be given at Oakland hall, Wauconda, next Friday evening, October 29th. The winner in the prize waltz contest will receive a beautiful gold watch. If you want a good time don't fail to attend.

The case of Kunke & Ahlgrim vs. Spinner Bros. to recover $87.50 alleged to be due on a milk wagon, was tried before Justice F. H. Plagge Tuesday. Spinner Bros. were represented by Attorneys Frank Robertson and Geo. Spinner, while Attorney Cameron appeared for Kunke & Ahlgrim. The case was taken under advisement.

J. P. Lindstrom, the tailor, is now located in the building situated on the north side of Schafer's meat market. Don't forget that you can get suits made to order at very low prices, and it will pay you to give him a call before buying elsewhere. He has an excellent line of samples of fall and winter goods to select from.

Use A. W. Meyer & Co.'s fancy patent flour. "Our Best" or "White Swan" $1.45 per sack.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Townsend and Mrs. M. Covey are visiting friends here.

Henry Schumacher, jr., on the Spinner Bros.' farm, had his arm caught in a corn husker Thursday afternoon, necessitating amputation just below the elbow. Mr. Schumacher has quite a family to support.

The ball game played at the Oak park grounds, Lake Zurich, Sunday afternoon was witnessed by a very fair crowd. The Lake County Unions crossed bats with the Elgin Iroquois, and the game resulted in a score of 9 to 11, in favor of the Iroquois.

These days are just cool enough to make a person feel uncomfortable without a fire. It is not cold enough, however, to put up your winter heater yet. The dilemma can easily be solved by calling at H. D. A. Grebe's hardware store and getting a Barler Ideal oil heater—a stove that's 'twixt and between. It is cheap, gives good heat and don't smell. No trouble or expense for you to examine and test them at Grebe's store.

John Ulrich and family removed to Elgin Saturday evening. Mr. Ulrich will, however, make regular trips each month to Barrington to attend to the wants of his customers. Announcement of the days on which he will be in Barrington will be made in our next issue. Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich made hosts of friends during their stay here, who regret to see them leave, and wish them success in their new home.

AUCTION BILLS.—Don't forget that THE REVIEW is equipped with good large, bold type, and is able to turn out work on two (2) hours' notice. The price is reasonable and each order for bills entitles you to a free notice of your sale in THE REVIEW, the best-read paper in western Lake and Cook counties.

The dance given by Proprietor Forbes in the Oak park pavilion, Lake Zurich, Saturday evening was good. Especial mention being due Mr. Forbes for the excellent music furnished. Although not as well attended as it would have been had the weather been more favorable, everyone present seemed to have a good time.

Geo. M. Jackson living near Spring Lake reports that on Monday evening while the family was away, and he was chopping wood a little ways from the house, his little 8-year-old daughter, who was alone at the house, was attacked by a man who traveled under the guise of a peddler. The object of the assailant was robbery, but the little girl refused to give him the keys of the house, and after being knocked down managed to escape and ran to her father's side. Search was immediately made, but no trace of the man could be found.

Miss Agnes Stokes and J. Edward Miller were united in marriage at Elgin at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday of last week. The bride was until recently employed in the watch factory, where, on account of her pleasing disposition, she made many friends whose well wishes go with her. Mr. Miller is a son of Newton Miller of Barrington Center, and was for some time weighmaster at the Northwestern depot at Elgin. He is now employed as baggage man between West Chicago and Aurora. They will make their home at West Chicago.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Barrington postoffice Friday, Oct. 22, 1897:

Geo. Brouden, W. L. Burge, Frank Camarote, John Fair, John Geraldsex, John Grether, W. H. Heath, H. Holand, F. E. Holley, J. J. McCorkell, Carl Miller, Chas. Toppel, Kuld I. Takelsin (Foreign), A. W. Wacker.

H. K. BROCKWAY, P. M.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

Eat, Sing and Are Merry.

The young people of the Baptist church Sunday school gave an entertainment and oyster supper at the Baptist church Wednesday evening. The attendance, although not large, was good, and those who failed to attend missed a rare treat. The following literary program was rendered in an exceedingly able manner:

Selection by quartette composed of Mesdames S. S. Hageman and Flora Lines, and Misses Dorrit Rouse and Nellie Lines.

Vocal Solo—Harry Vermilya.

Recitation—Mrs. F. E. Lines.

Duet—Misses Dorrit Rouse and Della Gleason.

Solo—Dr. Kendall.

Recitation—Master Willie Gruman.

Solo—Miss Gladys Lines.

Recitation—Mrs. M. Bennett.

Duet—Misses Myrtle and Cora Burtis.

Recitation—Miss Robie Brockway.

Duet—Miss Della Gleason and Mr. Harry Vermilya.

Selection by quartette.

At the conclusion of the program an excellent oyster supper was served in the parlors of the church, to which ample justice was done.

The proceeds are to be expended for a new furnace for the church.

Parlor Stove at a Bargain.

A medium sized and stylish parlor stove, which was in use but one month. If you want a heater, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity, for the stove will be sold at an extremely low price. For particulars inquire at THE REVIEW office.

Romance in an Iron Age.

Like a chapter from the wanderings of Don Quixote or one of the tales of the mediæval troubadours, drops upon the receding end of the nineteenth century the romance of Ensign Stone of the United States navy and his best girl, Miss Marie Conde. Grim Papa Conde frowned on the affair for the reason that he was the owner of millions, while gallant young Ensign Stone was worth only $1,500 a year, an income which would not keep Miss Marie in gowns, according to the way in which she had been brought up.

Our hearts are with young Stone all through. He has revived our belief in the times when lovers went in quest of daring deeds wherewith to prove their devotion to ladies fair. First, Stone tried to run away with the girl, she being altogether willing—at least it seems so—but a cruel brother and papa frustrated this scheme. Papa Conde forbade Ensign Stone to come to his mansion, but the girl of his choice wrote him to come. Stone bravely rushed past the bristling guard that defended the place and entered the enemy's fort.

Papa Conde reported him to his superior officer and demanded a court of inquiry should sit on him for conduct unbecoming a gentleman and an officer. The ungentlemanly conduct consisted in his going into the Conde house when his girl had written him to come. A fellow who would not have gone there under the circumstances would have been a poor stick enough.

And that is what the court of inquiry evidently thought, for they acquitted him. "What did you go for to do it for?" they in effect asked Ensign Stone. "Because I love her," spiritedly answered the young sailor. Where is another young man in America with that amount of nerve? And the court of inquiry thought it wasn't such a very bad thing, after all."

THE OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

The Year 1897 Promises to Be Notable in Highway Improvement.

It becomes more and more apparent that what was formerly a public request for good roads is now becoming a public demand, says The L. A. W. Bulletin. Where the people were once satisfied to make a suggestion they are now disposed to dictate. What is good for everybody nobody should oppose.

It is now pretty well understood that good roads are the most economical investment a people can put their money in. How to improve the public highways is now the topic of discussion. There is no longer any question that they should be improved.

The already overtaxed farmers are beginning to look upon the securing of good roads as a local means of increasing their welfare rather than as something to add to their present heavy burden of debt. There is a getting together of all the forces interested in the subject that warrants the prediction that 1897 is to be a notable year in highway improvement. The lawmakers and the roadmakers are being encouraged by all classes and ages to do something of a practical nature.

Burned Clay.

A writer in the Davenport (Ia.) Leader advocates burned clay as a road material. He says that he has seen a railroad track "ballasted" with the clay simply put on like ashes, and the surface was so hard that it was impossible to force one's heel into it. It seems, he adds, a simple solution of the road material problem, good and cheap.
