VOL. 13. No. 2.

BARRINGTON, ILL., SATURDAY, MARCH 19, 1898.

PALATINE LOCALS.

A. G. SMITH, LOCAL EDITOR

Town election the first Tuesday in April.

Milton Fosket is getting better very slowly.

Mrs. Aug. Fisher is reported much better.

G. H. Arps and family spent Sunday in Elgin.

Chas. Patten returned from California last Saturday morning.

Rev. W. L. Whipple delivered two good sermons at the Methodist church Sunday.

The German Lutheran church is holding one meeting each Wednesday during Lent.

Geo. Bolsinger, who was operated upon by Dr. Muffat last week, is improving rapidly.

Frank Keyes, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, is much better at present.

Miss Minnie Olms visited her brother, Dr. Frank Olms, in Elgin, the first of the week.

Mr. Leurssen will run his farm again this year, Mr. Birss having decided not to keep the place.

Miss Belle Cooper visited with her sister, Miss Deborah, at McHenry, from Friday to Sunday.

Our hunters have been taking advantage of the good hunting these days. The results seem to be scarce.

Attorney Frank Julian of Chicago visited his brother, Charles E., and family, in this place Saturday and Sunday.

There were some queer looking Irishmen in town last Wednesday if all who wore the green were descendants from the "old sod."

Al Hann's new house in the subdivision is being rapidly pushed toward completion. Al will have a nice home when it is finished.

The Northwestern railroad has commenced work on the elevation of its tracks into Chicago at Mayfair. The foundations are being put in and the work will be pushed rapidly.

FOR RENT.—The farm known as the Wm. Wilson farm, containing 80 acres; good house and barn; two miles north-west of Palatine.

MASON L. STAPLES, Receiver.

Rev. J. C. Butcher has had a pamphlet printed relating his experiences while making a trip on the borders of Tibet. The article is very interesting and is to be used as reading matter in the various missionary societies.

The Athletic club has rented Hartlett's hall as a gymnasium and has purchased some gymnastic paraphernalia to begin with. The club is pushing slowly but surely forward to a first-class athletic club in every sense of the word.

P. H. Hartlett will move his saloon into the building now occupied by A. S. Olms, and Mr. Olms and family will move into Mrs. Meyer's new flat, while the drug store will be moved into the new store room one door south of its present location.

The case of Landmann vs. Schirding, which came up before Judge Tutbill, was dismissed by the latter. The judge, after hearing part of the evidence, concluded that Landmann had no case and took the case out of the hands of the jury with the above result.

The Ladies' Foreign Missionary society will hold their thanks offering services in the M. E. church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Mr. Butcher will deliver a lecture on "India," which we know will be very interesting, and we hope there will be a good attendance to encourage the ladies in their work.

Mrs. C. D. Taylor gave a Pink Tea on Monday evening in honor of the fifteenth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Clara. Those present were: Rose Converse, Jessie Unson, Elvora Arps, Agnes Danielson, Adele Harder, Winnie Sawyer and Cora Schultz. Miss Clara was the recipient of a number of fine presents, and after spending a few hours the guests departed for home, all declaring they had a splendid time and wished the hostess might live to enjoy many more such occasions.

A. I. Roberts gave a splendid entertainment in the Methodist church last Friday evening. The affair was under the auspices of the public school and the audience and Sunday school rooms were well filled to greet the entertainer. Mr. Roberts captivated the audience at once with his genial and home-like manner, and he was continually greeted with laughter and applause. He is gifted with a splendid voice which is easy to listen to, and his variations of different persons speaking together with facial expression was out of the ordinary. Mr. Roberts will be largely greeted should he ever return for another evening's entertainment. The Club quartet, composed of Ralph Beutler, Bert L. Smith, Henry Pahlman and Will Williams came out to sing twice, but they had to make it four times before the audience would be satisfied. Their songs were well rendered and the young men should keep in practice for future occasions. The receipts at the door were $30, which was good considering the number of 10c tickets sold. Prof. Smyser is responsible for the evening's enjoyment.

To Whom It May Concern:

I hereby publicly declare that I have maliciously and purposely slandered the moral character of Revs. Harder, Bloesch and Menzel, and have thereby greatly injured the reputation of these gentlemen. I also hereby acknowledge that on Saturday, March the 5th, 1898, I, the undersigned, in company with Fred Blohm, called at the house of Mr. Harder and demanded money by threats of exposure. I further declare that I have seen nothing in the action of the forenamed gentlemen that in any way justified me to make such slanderous remarks, and therefore ask that they will pardon the wrong that I have done them.

Dated at Palatine, Ill., this 14th day of March, 1898.

G. F. BOLLENBACH.

Proof Positive.

To prove the fact that Barrington retail merchants sell as cheap and cheaper than the retail merchants of Chicago (when quality of goods is considered) it is only necessary to give the experience of two village trustees last week. They were appointed a committee to purchase 100 chairs of a certain standard for the new village hall. They started in right by getting figures of E. M. Blocks, the local furniture man, and then made a tour of investigation through the furniture houses of Chicago, even going to the big department stores like the Fair. At the end of their trip they discovered that the figures made by Mr. Blocks were a trifle below any obtained in Chicago, and Mr. Blocks paid the freight, while if the chairs were purchased in Chicago the village would have to pay the freight. It is needless to say that the chairs were ordered from the local dealer. This is the same case that you will find with Barrington's merchants in dry goods, groceries, etc. You may buy a trifle article, advertised as a leader by the big stores in the city, a little cheaper, but in the end you will have paid a higher price if you figure up what you paid for your other goods. Just make an investigation of your own some time and then stop to reason. Your local merchant contributes liberally toward any enterprise that will benefit the community and incidentally yourself. Should you not patronize him?

Graveled Roads Are Best.

The severe test given the roads during the past week demonstrates beyond a question of a doubt that the graveled roads are the only roads—at least for all kinds of weather and conditions. A number of farmers, being asked how the roads were, answered: "The roads are all right when we get on those graveled, but the dirt roads are simply horrible!" It is said that one farmer, who lives five miles from Barrington, made a trip here recently with only five sacks of corn and five sacks of oats loaded on a milk wagon, and it required three hours to travel that distance to town on account of the bad condition of the major part of the road which was ungraveled. If the entire road had been graveled the trip could easily have been made in an hour, besides the team would not be half as fagged out as they were, either. It is only by a trial of both kinds of roads, put under a severe test of genuine wet, spring weather of this kind, that the public readily realizes the superiority of graveled roads over those of dirt. However, there is one thing that can be said of the towns of Barrington and Cuba and that is the interest manifest in both townships for gravel roads, and the good work already done in this line, can only be admired. Nearly every farmer in this territory is compelled to make a daily trip to market to deliver the farm's products and to bring back the necessities of the household. The farmer, the business man and the citizen has a right to be interested in good roads, for what is beneficial to one is certainly a benefit to the other. By all means let us all put our shoulders to the wheel of improvements and work unanimsously for the continuation of this work which is of so great a value to all.

A New Stock of WALL PAPER.

Handsome Combinations.

Our Wall Paper Department is now filled with all the new and artistic effects in Wall Paper for 1898. This season has brought out a decided change in the colors and shading, and many new patterns which will give the rooms an entirely new appearance. We want you to come and let us show you these new effects in Wall Paper.

The Largest Stock—The Best Designs.

We carry all our patterns in stock. You are not obliged to select from sample books and buy more wall paper than is needed to paper your rooms. You can get from us just what you want, saving express charges and waste, and buying at a great deal less cost. We buy our wall paper direct from the manufacturer—getting all the discounts to the trade for spot cash. We sell you wall paper at one profit—there is no middleman to pay if you buy your wall paper from us.

Cheap Papers.

Bring the sizes of your rooms. We have a few bundles that are just large enough for one or two rooms. We want to clean up all the odds and ends, and we make prices accordingly to do so. The paper hangers are now ready to do your work and it is a very good time to have your papering done and have the muss out of the way while you can get men to do the work.

SATURDAY, MARCH 19, 1898.

Stood by Their Newspapers.

After all, the people are friends of their newspapers in spite of the depression and discouragement that sometimes come over an editor when his efforts to make a good paper do not seem to be appreciated. When occasion offers for appreciation to be shown, it is not lacking any more than it was in Denver when the great department stores undertook to boycott the newspapers of the city.

In Denver are 14 department stores. These, rivals in all else, formed a combine to beat down the price of advertising. They issued to the papers a manifesto that unless their advertising rates were reduced 20 per cent they would withdraw their distinguished patronage from the papers and would give the world knowledge of their goods through the distribution of handbills.

The publishers resolved not to be bluffed. They revealed the scheme through their papers and the public sided with them. The trade unions, through the printers, were of course in sympathy with the newspapers. So were the paper mills. So were all people who worked for wages, for they knew the newspapers stood by them. Finally the ladies of the city, those on whom the merchandise business actually depends, took up the cause of the newspapers and refused to patronize the department stores. They bought instead of the small dealers, and these, having a boom of business, advertised more largely than the big stores had done. The huge signs were empty and deserted. They themselves were boycotted. Nine days they stood it and then capitulated. The newspapers were merciful and did not take on a very much higher rate than they had intended to charge in the first place. The department stores will think twice next time they undertake to kill the newspapers.

Era of the Surgeon's Knife.

When the history of medicine and surgery of the nineteenth century comes to be written, the chronicler will find the most curious phase of it included in the period which may be designated the era of the surgeon's knife.

The tendency began with the use of anesthetics in 1856. The civil war intensified it. Seeing so much blood and mutilation of human bodies created an atmosphere of blood and mutilation around the army surgeons and impelled them to cut and carve their soldier patients. If a soldier's leg or arm was shattered, the first impulse was to remove it altogether. It is certain that hundreds, if not thousands, of limbs which might now be doing good service were thus sacrificed to the mania of the surgeon for cutting. The best medical authorities themselves admit that many a mistake was made in the cutting branch of surgery.

The era of the surgeon's knife continued after the war and lasted up till within a few years. Now the milder, more humane remedial science which the twentieth century will see is being ushered in and the ablest surgeons only resort to extreme cases to the knife. They find in at least half the cases where the cutting off process would formerly at once have been resorted to that it is unnecessary. Other and gentler means have been discovered of eradicating the disease. The craze for the surgeon's knife is passing away.

Complications the most exasperating and difficulties the most perplexing are constantly arising because of the customs regulations between Canada and the United States. The gold discoveries in the northwest have tangled tariff and reciprocity and international courtesy in the toughest kind of a knot. Matters, too, will be growing worse and worse in this respect as the northwest becomes populated. Only one of two things will finally put to rest the questions constantly arising, and these are either complete free trade between the two countries or political union.

The most arduous task of the state and navy departments in these critical times is denying the rumors of war set afloat by the newspapers that have hysterics. It apparently will shortly be necessary to have at Washington a government bureau especially for denying newspaper lies. The hysterical editors will go crazy in earnest after awhile if they do not stop their antics. To go insane is the usual fate of hysterical patients who keep up their shamming programme a long time.

Athletics and Physical Culture.

College athletics and physical culture are not the same. The college oarsman, football or baseball player develops tremendous strength and agility in certain muscles. He may be phenomenal physically in his particular line. After his career in the team or crew is ended, however, he usually stops short of all his training exercises and sinks to the level of common men as to the body. He lives no longer, neither is any stronger or healthier for being the stroke oar in a crew, the pitcher in a baseball nine or the champion wrestler in college athletic games.

The reason is that his development is not steady and harmonious. He trains for spasmodic expenditures of muscular strength and skill. The acrobat in a circus who swings from a rope with his hands attains huge bulging muscles in the upper part of his back and his shoulders, unsightly from the point of harmony and beauty. Other muscles of his body are frequently weak and small.

The true physical culture is a set of exercises, few and simple in number, which bring into play every muscle of the body in turn. They are exercises which can be practiced in a few minutes each day by the fat, overfed business man, the delicate woman or the boy and girl at school. There are such systems of exercises. They do more good to the person from 50 to 100 years old than they do to the agile boy. They keep the grown man or woman graceful, strong and in health. Nature gave everybody limber, graceful muscles to begin. It is our part to exercise them daily. If we did, they would never stiffen or grow weak and flabby. The steady will to exercise regularly is what is wanting.

The Baseball Dictator.

It seems that at length nobody short of an absolute dictator will be able to fill the duties required of the much burdened baseball umpire. The revised list of regulations submitted by the majority of the committee on playing rules in the National league provides for two umpires, a referee umpire and an assistant umpire. The referee is an ironclad autocrat, from whose decision there is no appeal. The audience may hurl decayed vegetables and opprobrious epithets at him after the ball is over, but nobody can move him on the field.

The assistant umpire is the referee's deputy. The referee shall stand during a game behind the batsman and act as the National league's majestic representative. He shall call balls and strikes and decide foul balls. The assistant shall stand near either the first, second or third base and shall decide points of play in running the bases, except the home base, which his czarship the referee umpire will attend to.

It appears that these two umpires are necessary, at least they are believed to be so, in order to deal with obstreperous players themselves. It is well known that baseball players kick harder than football players or Texas steers. One man is no longer able to stand it, so the infliction will be apportioned between two.

Moralists are accustomed to blast with their wrath the sensationalism in all its forms in newspapers, novels and otherwise. Yet sensationalism in one shape or another is exactly what the vulgar mind has fed on in all ages. The common mind is too inert and uncultivated to have resources within itself, consequently depends on coarse, exaggerated and lurid outside effects to stir its sluggish currents. That is why the horrible hanging, the penny dreadful novel, the hair lifting drama and the yellow journal are popular. They will be so till all the race becomes cultivated, refined and intellectual. The more stupid and sluggish a person is intellectually the more crude, powerful and repulsive must be the influences that move his mind.

The possession of Wei-Hai-Wei on the Chinese coast gives Japan a great advantage in the coming partition of China. Wei-Hai-Wei commands the gulf of Pe-chi-li and Port Arthur, where the Transiberian railroad is to end. Japan has therefore gained an important point over even Russia. Japan may safely count on the friendship of England in case of misunderstanding with Russia.

The awful gap left in the ranks of ordinary seamen of our navy by the blowing up of the Maine can only be properly understood when we consider that the government within four days after the disaster called for the enlistment of 300 men additional for the navy.

The harbor of Havana must be a nice place to go boating for pleasure in, filled as it is with submarine torpedoes.

Look Out For the Other Moon.

About 100 years ago astronomers discovered that the planet Uranus wobbled in its orbit at times. This led them to try to account for the disturbances. They finally concluded that these must be owing to the existence of another planet near enough to attract Uranus at times and cause a deflection in its orbit. Calculating from the irregularities of orbital motion, two of them, Leverrier and Adams, decided that if such a planet existed it would be in a certain place at a given time. Acting on this theory, Dr. Galle of Berlin swept with his telescope the portion of the heavens indicated and actually found the planet Neptune Sept. 23, 1846.

In like manner there have been unexplained irregularities in the orbital motion of our moon. Dr. George Waltemath, another German astronomer, a Hamburg professor, working on the theory that had successfully discovered Neptune, made calculations as to the size, orbit, etc., of a second moon that would account for the disturbances in the motions of the moon we already know about.

He has at length given to the world his calculations. From the oscillations of the moon we already have he calculates that the "little moon," as he names it, is only 435 miles in diameter, and that it is 640,000 miles from the earth. He says its orbit is so eccentric that it can only shine on us about half an hour at a time. Dr. Waltemath cites history to show that at five different times as many observers have seen with the naked eye a big, black, round spot moving across the face of the sun. The first occasion was in 1761, the last in 1879. The spot was caused by the supposed crossing of the "little moon" between us and the sun.

So now if Dr. Waltemath will kindly tell astronomers as nearly as he can where they may look for our second moon they can train their telescopes thitherward and perhaps discover it.

It is melancholy that after an existence of from half to three-quarters of a century the Central and South American republics have not yet got beyond the possibility of the dictator. The Uruguayans are an illustration. With their extensive trade and large cultivated territory they ought by this time to know enough to run on quietly and get rich. Instead of that, however, some shallow, violent whippersnapper is always springing up and making a revolution or else some equally violent whippersnapper in the presidential chair makes himself dictator, as the present so called president, Cuesta, has done. If Grover Cleveland had broken up the last congress that assembled during his term because it was Republican, while he himself preferred a Democratic legislative body, he would have done no more than Cuesta has lately done, yet the Uruguayans submit to it, and Uruguay passes under the name of a republic.

Switzerland will now make the experiment throughout of state ownership of railroads. The recent referendum decided that the state should buy the roads at present held by private companies. The outcome will be watched carefully by the political economists of other countries. If state ownership of railroads is a success in a small country like Switzerland, the probability is it would be in a large one.

It is to be observed that the men least clamorous for war with Spain are the old soldiers of the civil conflict. They have been in battles, and they, and they alone, know what war really is. They would fight again if there were need, offer their lives as freely as they did before, but they are not egging on the administration to declare war with Spain. Their example should be noted.

A few months ago Mr. Byron Every of Woodstock, Mich., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. His right leg was swollen the full length, causing him great suffering. He was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first bottle of it helped him considerably and the second bottle effected a cure. The 25 and 50 cent sizes are for sale by A. L.  A GOOD LETTER
 From the Clerk of the Circuit Court. FERNANDINA, Fla., Feb. 28, 1896.
 MR. J. GEORGE SURREY, Druggist, City.
 Dear George:—Please send a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I would not feel easy if I knew there was none of this valuable Remedy in the house. I have given it a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, although I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.
 Yours respectfully, GEO. E. WOLFF.

UNITED STATES ARMY MOVING.

Concentration of Forces on Atlantic Coast.

Secretary Alger Creates the Department of the Gulf—General Order Issued—The West Will Soon Be Without Troops Except Where Indian Uprising Is Likely—Great Activity in the War Department—Mortar Works Working Night and Day.

The war department, which up to the present time has been engaged largely in carrying out the policies of defense arranged before the prospect of war was seriously considered, on Saturday took action and made preparations the significance of which cannot be misunderstood. Heretofore the preparations of the military branch of the executive government have proceeded on a basis that it was well to have every feature under its control in perfect order for whatever might occur. Now, however, knowledge of what the war department is doing and intends to do, considered in connection with the activity in every branch of the naval service, shows the war now actually exists. More important than anything that has been yet arranged under the direction of Secretary Alger are orders providing for a general movement of the regular cav-organizations, and it will be necessary to resort to the emergency fund of $50,000,000 to meet the expenses of these changes in stations. Right in line with the general movement was the important order issued by Secretary Alger by direction of the president and telegraphed to all military posts and divisional headquarters concerned by the commanding general of the army.

Changes in Army Departments.
The text of the order follows: "By direction of the president the following changes are made in the territorial limits, designation, and headquarters of the geographical departments, to take effect March 12, 1898:

"1. The department of the east will embrace the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina, with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York.

"2. A department is hereby established to be known as the department of the lakes, to consist of the states of Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee, with headquarters at Chicago.

"3. The department of Dakota will embrace the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and so much of Wyoming as is embraced in the Yellowstone Park, with headquarters at St. Paul.

"4. The department of Columbia will embrace the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho (except so much of the latter as is embraced in Yellowstone Park), and the territory of Alaska, with headquarters at Vancouver barracks, Washington.

"5. The department of California will embrace the states of California and Nebraska, with headquarters at San Francisco.

"6. The department of Colorado will embrace the states of Wyoming (except so much as is embraced in Yellowstone Park), Colorado, and Utah, and the territories of Arizona and New Mexico, with headquarters at Denver.

"7. The department of the Platte will embrace Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas, Indian Territory, and Oklahoma, with headquarters at Omaha."

Gulf Department Created.
"8. A department is hereby established, to be known as the department of the gulf, to consist of the states of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

"The departments of Missouri and Texas are hereby abolished.

"The records of the department of Missouri will be transferred to the department of the lakes, and those of the department of Texas to the department of the gulf.

"Major General John R. Brooke is assigned to the command of the department of the lakes, and Brigadier General William M. Graham to the command of the department of the gulf. The officers of the several staff departments now on duty in the departments of the Missouri and rified field mortar, and, when finished, will be the first fully equipped 3.6-inch, breech-loading field piece ever manufactured by the United States government. The work of mounting guns at Long Island head and Fort Warren is being pushed rapidly. To-day thirty ten-inch shells were shipped to the former and twenty to the latter place, so as to have the guns ready for use as soon as they are in position. At Charlestown navy yard a consignment of new Lee straight-pull rifles has arrived, and the men are being drilled in their use. Lieutenant Benjamin Fuller received a telegraphic command from the navy department to report as soon as possible on board the United States cruiser Columbia, stationed at League island, awaiting orders. Lieutenant Fuller will be placed in charge of the marine guards of the Columbia.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS.

IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS OF LAST SIX DAYS.

Battery D of Chicago Has Been Disbanded by Gen. Reece—Young Girl Sues for Injuries Received in a Chicago Museum—Minor Items.

Battery D Disbanded.

Springfield: Adjutant-General Reece has issued a general order disbanding Battery D, Illinois National Guard, located at Chicago. Captain A. William Austin of the battery is ordered to issue honorable discharges to the enlisted men of the command. The disbandment of the battery, the adjutant general states, is made upon the recommendation of Major Alfred Russell, commanding the artillery, who says the old armory has been demolished and that adequate quarters for equipment and men cannot be obtained. General Reece says it is highly probable that the battery will shortly be reorganized and quarters obtained that will meet the requirements of the artillery service. Until this is done the battery is disbanded and the equipment ordered stored at the state arsenal here. The adjutant general also issued an order transferring Seaman Claude T. Hale from the First Division, First Battalion, Naval Militia, to Company F, First Infantry, Illinois National Guard, with rank of private. Private David W. Entsininger of Company F, First Infantry, Chicago, has been dishonorably discharged from the service.

Monkey Attacked Her.

Mable Hogle, 12 years old, who some time ago was attacked by a monkey in Middleton's museum, Chicago, has begun a suit in the Superior court, through C. W. Beck, to recover $10,000 damages. George Middleton and his wife are made defendants in the suit. The attorneys in the case say Mabel never has entirely recovered from the fright received at the time of the alleged attack, and is at present in a precarious condition, brought on by nervousness. The complainant is the daughter of George J. Hogle, a North Side real estate dealer. One day last fall Mabel accompanied her father to Middleton's Clark Street Museum, and, according to the attorney in the case, was attacked by a large monkey, which, it is claimed, was allowed to roam at large about the building.

Grand Council's Work Ended.

Rockford: The grand council of the Royal Arcanum completed its annual meeting and selected Quincy as the place of meeting next year. The list of officers was completed by the selection of the following. Trustees—W. B. Conkey, J. M. Carmody, Chicago; A. S. Hook, Ottawa. Finance Committee—T. W. Murphy, Streator; E. H. Popper, H. Chadwick, Chicago. Committee on Laws—C. Norden, Elmer Bishop, Chicago; T. M. Haskins, La Salle. During 1897 there were 1,431 new members initiated into the order in Illinois, a net gain of over 3 per cent.

Requisition Warrant Revoked.

Springfield: Governor Tanner revoked a requisition warrant issued Jan. 14, 1898, upon the Governor of Wisconsin for the extradition of Michael Isaacson, wanted in Chicago on an indictment of grand larceny and arrested at Milwaukee. Isaacson was brought to Chicago two weeks ago and taken before Judge Gibbons, who held that the facts in the case did not support the charges in the indictment. The case was continued by Judge Gibbons for two weeks. Upon this state of fact the Governor revoked the warrant.

Requisitions for Alleged Criminals.

Springfield: Governor Tanner has issued a requisition on the Governor of Pennsylvania for the extradition of Harry Heath and Annie McDermott, under arrest at Philadelphia and wanted in Chicago for larceny. A requisition is issued upon the Governor of Indiana for the surrender of Charles F. McKham, under arrest in Martin county and wanted at Chicago for forgery.

Opinion About the State.

Mrs. William Baumen of Belleville, Mrs. James Atkinson of O'Fallon and Winfield Scott, a prominent farmer, are believed to be among the heirs to an $8,000,000 estate in England, left by William Biggs. Biggs was a soldier in the Black Hawk war. He was captured by a band of Kickapoo Indians at Old Caholajia, but escaped before the day set for execution. He returned to England and accumulated the fortune which his American heirs have begun a legal battle to secure.

Mrs. Mahala Bently of Bloomington, Ill., has entered upon the 101st year of her life. She was born in Bourbon County, Kentucky, February 20, 1798. She went to Bloomington in 1864 and has lived there ever since. An aunt of hers was the first white child born in Kentucky and her mother was with Daniel Boone at the siege of Fort Boonesboro.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

To Those Coming to Alaska or the Klondike Gold Fields.
One thing should be impressed upon every miner, prospector or trader coming to Alaska, to the Klondike, or the Yukon country, and that is the necessity for providing an adequate and proper food supply. Whether procured in the States, in the Dominion, or at the supply stores here or further on, this must be his primary concern. Upon the manner in which the miner has observed or neglected this precaution more than upon any other one thing will his success or failure depend.

These supplies must be healthful and should be concentrated, but the most careful attention in the selection of foods that will keep unimpaired indefinitely under all the condition which they will have to encounter is imperative. For instance, as bread raised with baking powder must be relied upon for the chief part of every meal, imagine the helplessness of a miner with a can of spoiled baking powder. Buy only the very best flour; it is the cheapest in the end. Experience has shown the Royal Baking Powder to be the most reliable and the trading companies now uniformly supply this brand, as others will not keep in this climate. Be sure that the bacon is sweet, sound and thoroughly cured. These are the absolute necessities upon which all must place a chief reliance, and can under no circumstances be neglected. They may, of course, be supplemented by as many comforts or delicacies as the prospector may be able to pack or desire to pay for.—From the Alaska Mining Journal.

A book of receipts for all kinds of cookery, which is specially valuable for use upon the trail or in the camp, is published by the Royal Baking Powder company, of New York. The receipts are thoroughly practical, and the methods are carefully explained, so that the inexperienced may, with its aid, readily prepare everything requisite for a good, wholesome meal, or even dainties if he has the necessary materials. The matter is in compact though durable form, the whole book weighing but two ounces. Under a special arrangement, this book will be sent free to miners or others who may desire it. We would recommend that every one going to the Klondike procure a copy. Address the Royal Baking Powder Co., New York.

MINSTRELS' HUMOR.

Witty Answer of an Irishman Who "Never Argued with a Lady."

The minstrels of Ireland are not all gone from the highways and byways of Erin, says an exchange. The mournful harp and plaintive pipe may have given way to the breezy banjo and crooning violin, but the songs which these accompany are the songs of Ireland still. Down by the rotten Claddagh wharves of old Galway town I came upon a rapt audience, says a well-known traveler, enthralled by the dulcet notes of Tim Brennan, the "wandering minstrel of Tipperary"—one of the sweetest singers I ever heard and one who would have been great were it not for his love of "the cinder is it," as they aptly term the west of Ireland mountain dew. I had seen Tim many times before in Ireland. Our trampings had brought us into the same relations of artist and responsive auditor so many times that as he tipped me a comforting wink of recognition I noticed that his violin had been replaced by the temporary, though ample musical makeshift of a banjo wrought from the head of an ancient Irish churn. In the pause following his ballad I felt emboldened to toss him back his wink, with the query: "And, Tim, why didn't you bring the churn with its head?" "Faith yer honor," he replied, in a flash and with a winsome smile, holding the churn-head banjo aloft so all could see, "faith I never argue wid a lady—an', yer honor, a bould Irish woman stud at the other ind!"

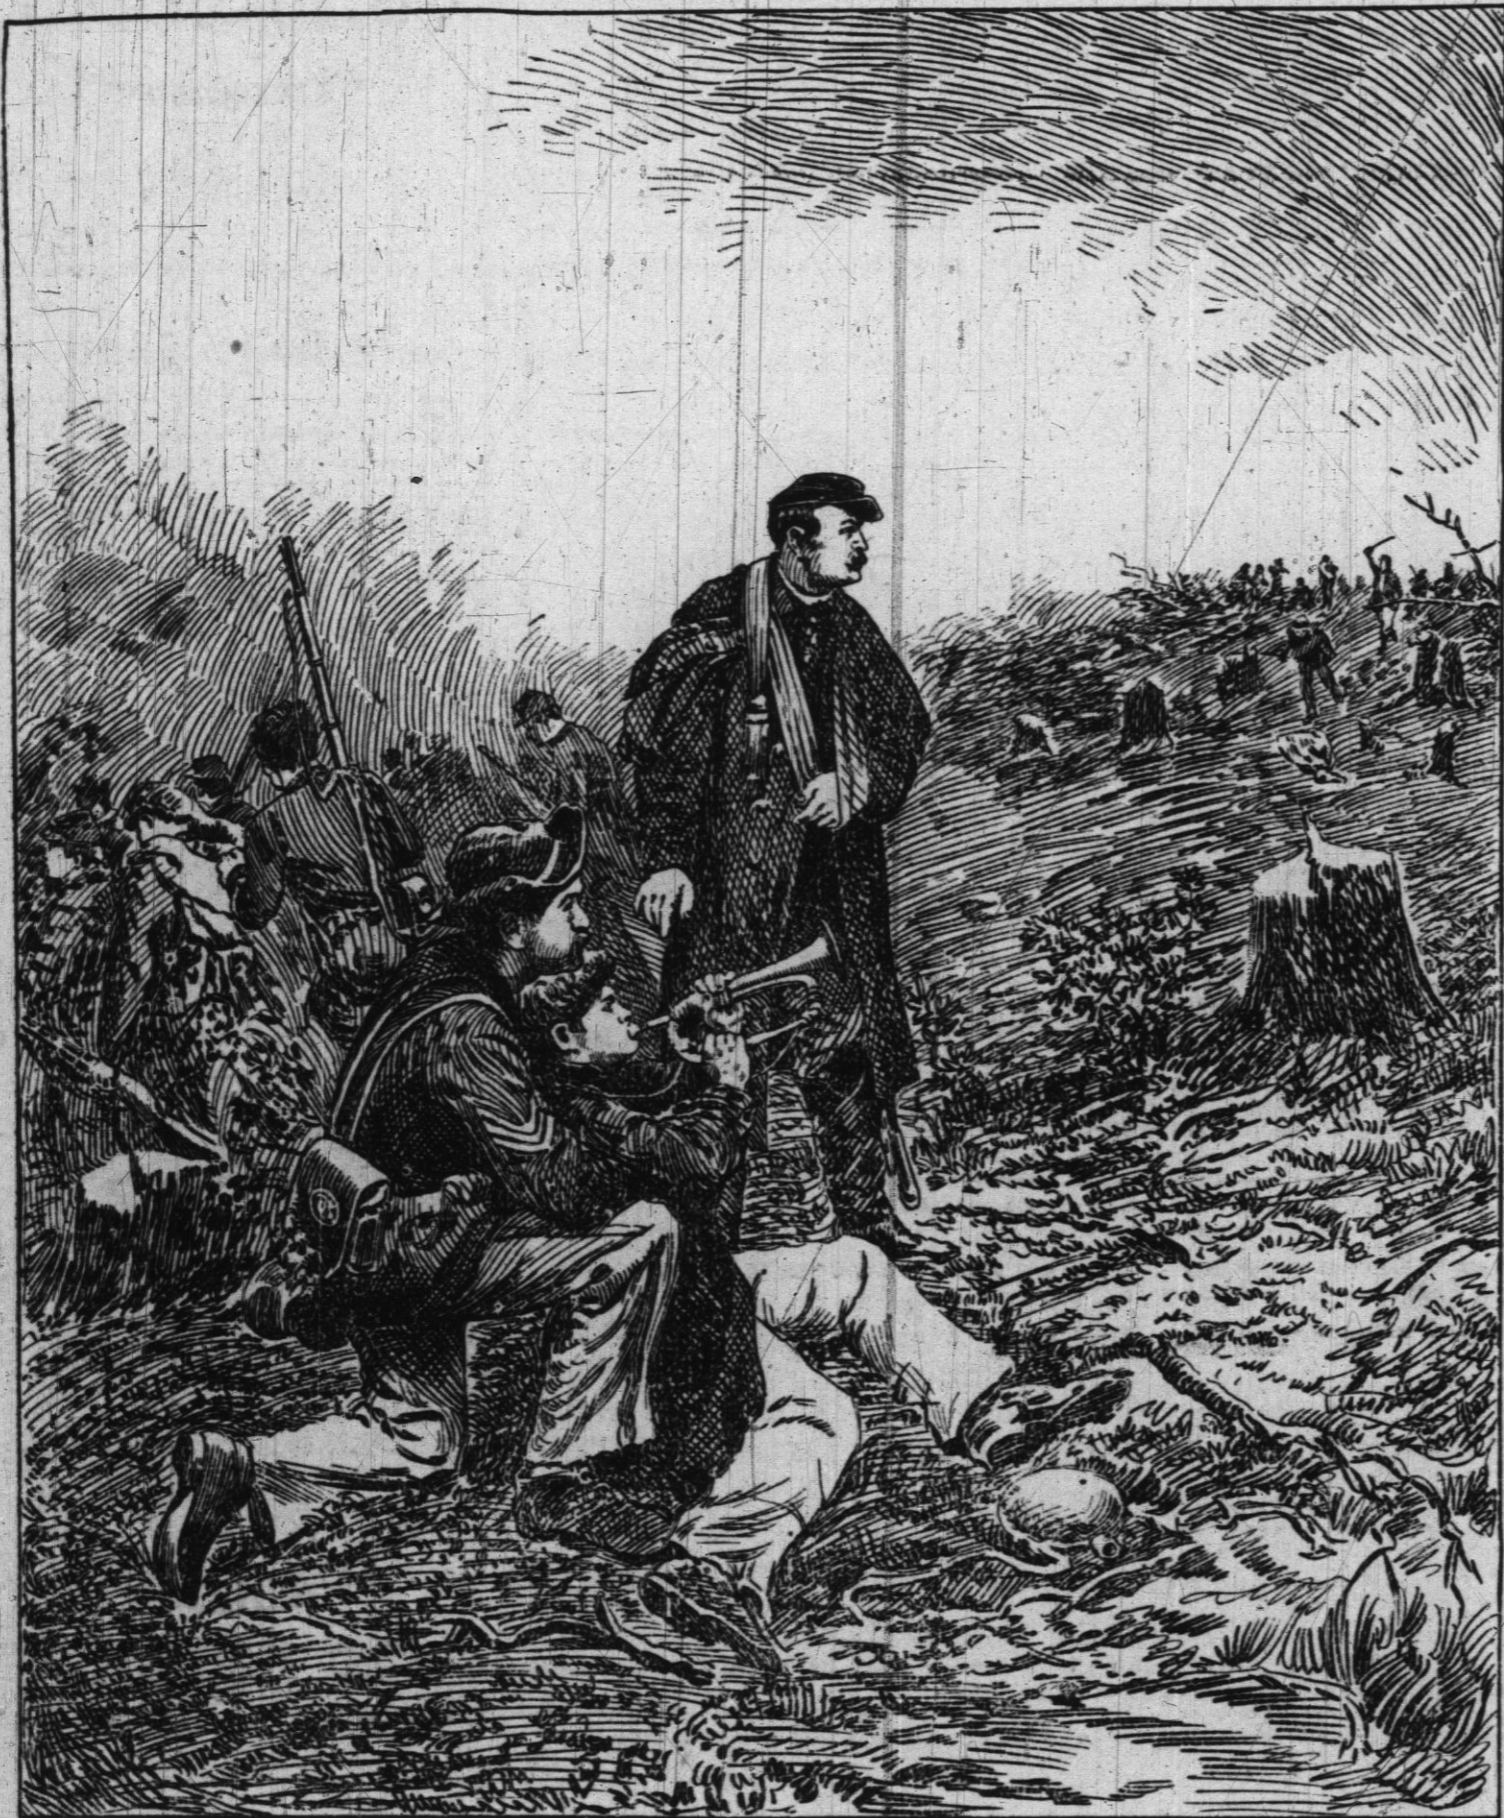

N. W. Ayer & Son.

N. W. Ayer & Son, the successful newspaper and magazine advertising agency of Philadelphia, have issued an announcement stating that Albert G. Bradford and Jarvis A. Wood were admitted to partnership in the firm January 1. The new members are not beginners in the advertising business. They have been connected with N. W. Ayer & Son for years and have worked their way to the top by careful attention to business and painstaking work for the firm and its patrons. In connection with the new partnership announcement, N. W. Ayer & Son review the history of the firm. From an humble beginning in 1868, when the business of the first year amounted to but $15,000, the concern has jumped slowly but safely until its annual business amounts to over $1,500,000—a sum that represents a daily payment to newspapers and magazine publishers of $5,000.—Chicago Times-Herald.

alry and artillery to the Atlantic seaboard. Nearly all the cavalry is in the west, where a majority of the infantry regiments are also located.

Few to Be Left in the West.

Of course it will be necessary to leave some troops in remote sections where Indian uprisings have to be considered as likely to occur at any time, but it is intended that nearly all companies and troops of infantry and cavalry, even those as far west as California, will be brought to points on the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico. With the addition of the 1,610 men recruited for the two new artillery regiments, the regular forces of the United States now number nearly 27,000 men. Seven regiments of artillery are now distributed or in course of distribution at the modern fortifications on the Atlantic, Pacific, great lakes, and gulf. Both new regiments will be assigned to duty along the Atlantic and gulf coasts, where most of the cavalry and infantry will be concentrated, so that at least 25,000 regulars will be garrisoned in the eastern and southern coast states in preparation for any emergency which may arise. The cost of transporting this great body of men, some of them coming more than 3,000 miles, will be too great to be borne by the scanty annual appropriation for heretofore unimportant movements of the army
