

BARRINGTON REVIEW.

Vol. 14. No. 8.

BARRINGTON, ILL., SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1899.

$1.25 A YEAR

PALATINE LOCALS.

A. G. SMITH, LOCAL EDITOR

J. Jappa has had his store fixed up in nice shape.

Frank Knigge has been enjoying a few days' vacation this week.

Wm. King has had a large addition put on the west side of his house.

Miss Gracie Bray of Ravenswood has been visiting friends here this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frye, at St. Paul, Minn., on Friday, April 21, a son.

Willis Johnson has moved his barn further from his house and off the street.

If you are friendly to THE REVIEW bring us the news; if not, bring it anyway.

Rev. Hoffmeister returned from a visit to Prim Rose, Iowa, the first of the week.

August Kinnett is starting to build his house, on the lot just east of Mr. Zachow's.

The Epworth League has purchased four Welshbach lights for the Sunday school room.

Guy Baker returned from a pleasant visit with friends in Crystal Lake and vicinity Saturday.

Henry Pahlman returned from his school duties the first of the week, owing to a severe cold.

Miss Maud Dyan returned from Chicago with her aunt, Mrs. Chas. Lytle, and is visiting here for a few days.

Will Ahlgrim and Jesse Vele returned from their trip to Minnesota Saturday. They report a fine time.

Dr. Alverson has rented the room over James Moorhouse's barber shop, where he has opened up a down-town office.

J. G. Vele of Chicago and her two sons have been visiting relatives and friends in Palatine and vicinity this week.

C. W. Roth of Minnesota, former pastor of St. Paul's, was visiting old acquaintances in this place the first of the week.

Adolph Ganns went to St. Louis Tuesday, as a delegate to the general conference of the German Lutheran denomination.

About 50 members of the Maennerchor and their friends went to Dundee Friday, where they were received in a hospital manner by the Dundee maennerchor.

Dennis Putnam returned to Palatine Monday for a week's vacation, after which he will return to his labor as locomotive fireman for the North-Western road.

The fire company held its annual election of officers, Tuesday night. The following were elected: C. W. Ost, marshal; A. C. Bennett, assistant marshal; H. F. Batterman, treasurer; Harry Schoppe, clerk; W. G. Ost, foreman of hose cart; Herman Geiseke, assistant; Al Hanns, foreman hook and ladder; H. C. Mitzeman, assistant.

A conference of ministers of Plum Grove district of the Evangelical German church will be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, in St. Paul's church of this place. A public meeting will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, to which all are invited. Sixteen ministers are expected to be in attendance.

The Wesley Praying band of Chicago, which has been holding revival services in the M. E. church for two weeks, held their final meeting Sunday night. All who heard them were impressed with their sincerity and earnestness and no one could doubt the fact of the converting power of the gospel as shown in their experiences. A goodly number of adults have made their peace with God and many believers have become more firmly rooted and grounded to the faith. Many children also have come to Jesus and the tone of our public school will rise in consequence. The glory is God's, the blessings are ours.

The Praying band lost no friends on account of being shoved last Sunday.

Mrs. C. D. Taylor has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. Johnson of Barrington, and her sister, Mrs. Tuttle, of Dwight, this week.

The Athletic club played prize cinch in their rooms Friday night, and a number of ladies were present. Mrs. Clark won the ladies' prize and G. D. Stroker the gentlemen's prize.

Mrs. Barnes of Hunting avenue was buried at Arlington Heights Saturday. She settled in Elk Grove in 1832, being one of the first eleven settlers of that place. She was 90 years old.

The planting of the tree in the railroad park last Friday by the school was witnessed by a large crowd. Rev. F. A. Hardin of Englewood delivered a very appropriate address for the occasion.

Services in the M. E. church next Sunday as follows: 10 a. m., Sunday school; 11 a. m., sermon by the pastor, followed by communion; 12:15 p. m., class meeting; 3 p. m., Junior League; 6:30 p. m., Epworth League; 7:30 p. m., sermon by the presiding elder.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church has received a generous box of samples from one of the stores which they will make into pretty and useful articles for their fall bazaar. All ladies willing to lend a helping hand are invited to meet in the church parlors for work every Wednesday afternoon until further notice, excepting missionary day, which is the first Wednesday of each month.

Last Wednesday was the eightieth anniversary of Oddfellowship in America and the seventeenth anniversary of Palatine Lodge, No. 708. The wives and daughters of the members of the local lodge celebrated the event in Odd Fellow's hall Wednesday night. About 75 members and friends were present, and greatly enjoyed the occasion. A good program was given, in which the growth and work of the organization was given. Songs and recitations made up the rest of the program, all of which were well rendered. Attorney M. C. McIntosh of Barrington made a short address, and Mrs. McIntosh responded to a request for a recitation by rendering a dialect piece in excellent manner. A big luncheon was served, to which ample justice was done. This was followed by a social time in which all took an active part. Songs, music and games were enjoyed, and the hall was filled with the hum of pleasure throughout the evening. All present felt that Palatine lodge had justly celebrated the anniversary of the great organization of which it is a part.

The Literary society will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Julian next Friday night. The following program is arranged:

My Schaumburg School. Mr. Frank Bicknase Duet. Mr. Smyser and Mr. Hardin Humorous Selection. Mr. James Harris Piano Duet. Misses Harmenting and Torgler A Country Newspaper. Mr. Stuart Paddock Violin Solo. Miss Hattie Kuebler Recitation. Mrs. Clark Reading. Miss Jewell Music. Club Orchestra Recitation. Miss Amabel Hardin Humorous Selection. Miss Grace Beutler Music. Miss Lydia, Frank and Arthur Knigge

Prof. Sears' Recital.

Memorial Day.

A meeting was held at the Methodist church last Monday night to make arrangements for the usual Memorial Day exercises. A. R. Baldwin was elected chairman and F. J. Filbert secretary of the meeting. The following were selected as committees on preparation:

W. L. Hicks, marshal of the day.
Rev. F. B. Hardin, chaplain.
Rev. F. B. Hardin, orator.
W. L. Hicks, program.
J. W. Thurston, music.
Mrs. F. B. Hardin, vocal music.
Mrs. G. H. Arps, flowers and decorating.

F. J. Filbert, publication.
The school children were sent a special request to take part in the exercises.

The meeting was then adjourned to Monday evening, May 8.

Death of H. G. Willmarth.

Henry G. Willmarth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Willmarth, died at his home in this village Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock of heart disease after a short illness, age 67 years, 5 months and 16 days. He was one of Barrington's oldest settlers and well liked and honored by all.

The deceased was born in Adams, Berkshire county, Mass., on Nov. 10, 1831. In 1838, at the age of 7 years, he came to Illinois with his parents, who located on a farm at Barrington Center. In 1853 he was united in matrimony to Miss Elizabeth S. Jenks in this village. 6 children were born to this union, 4 dying in infancy, one, Alfred J., succumbing to death in manhood and Frank O., who still survives to mourn his loss. Mr. Willmarth also leaves a sister, Mrs. Alfred James, of Milwaukee, who arrived here yesterday morning with her husband and daughter.

When the war broke out he enlisted in Co. I, 52d Ill. regiment and was made 2d lieutenant and later was made 1st lieutenant. His regiment was pressed into hard service and he participated in many a hard battle, among them being the battle of Shiloh. During the progress of the war his health began to fail and in the fall of 1862 he was honorably discharged from service. He went to farming, but after a few years gave it up and embarked in the mercantile business with Leroy Powers, the firm name being Willmarth & Powers. After 14 years the firm mutually dissolved and Mr. Willmarth retired to private life.

Besides the son and sister, he leaves a large circle of friends and business associates to mourn his loss, to whom THE REVIEW extends its sympathy in their bereavement.

The funeral will be held this morning at 11 o'clock under the direction of the Lounsbury lodge, No. 751, of which society he was a member. Services will be held at the residence, Rev. T. E. Ream, of the Methodist church, will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery.

Base Ball Club Organized.

A base ball club was organized last Tuesday evening and the following officers were elected:

Manager, Ed Peters;
Committee on grounds, Max Lines, Roy Myers and Ed Peters.
Committee on arrangements, F. M. Barris, C. Hutchinson and J. Martin.
Treasurer, F. M. Barris.

The organization has been perfected but the club has not yet been christened. Donations are being received for the maintenance of the club, and it will be named after the most liberal donor. The team this year promises to be the best that has ever existed in Barrington and the boys will play good ball this year, as they have their "whole heart in the work."

Among the new members added will be Mr. Dickinson, who, it is said, is an old "vet." THE REVIEW wishes them success, and may our neighboring teams see in our club this year their Waterloo.

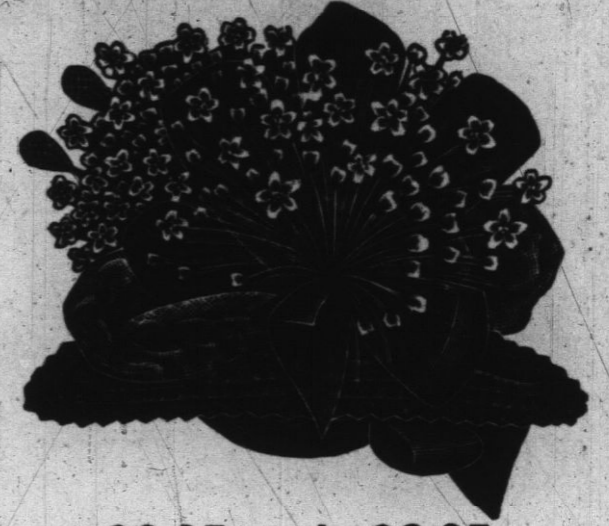

Kalsomine in many different shades can be found at J. D. Lamey & Co's. It makes a handsome and cheap finish for wall decorating.

Public opinion is never far wrong

You can cheat it for a time, but only for a time. The average life of a patent medicine is less than two years. They are pretty well advertised, some of them, but it isn't what is said of them, but what they are able to do which carries them through the years.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

(which made Sarsaparilla famous)

has never recommended itself to do what it knew of itself it could not do. It has never been known as a cure-all in order to catch all. For half a century it has been the one true, safe blood purifier, made in the best way out of the best ingredients. Thousands of families are using it where their fathers and grandfathers used it before, and its record is equaled by no other medicine.

Is the best any too good for you?

PHANTOM SHIP

—OR—
The Flying Dutchman.

—BY CAPTAIN MARRYAT.

In a few days Amine and Philip took leave of the priests, and quitted for Amsterdam—Father Seysen taking charge of the cottage until Amine's return. On his arrival, Philip called upon the directors of the company, who promised him a ship on his return from the voyage he was about to enter upon, making a condition that he should become part owner of the vessel. To this Philip consented, and went down to visit the Vrow Katerina, the ship to which he had been appointed as first mate. She was still unrigged, and the fleet was not expected to sail for two months. Only part of the crew were on board, and the captain, who lived at Dort, had not yet arrived.

So far as Philip could judge, the Vrow Katerina was a very inferior vessel; she was larger than many of the others, but old, and badly constructed; nevertheless, as she had been several voyages to India, and had returned in safety, it was to be presumed that she could not have been taken up by the company if they had not been satisfied as to her seaworthiness. Having given a few directions to the men who were on board, Philip returned to the hostelry where he had secured apartments for himself and Amine.

The next day, as Philip was superintending the fitting of the rigging, the captain of the Vrow Katerina arrived, and, stepping on board of her by the plank which communicated with the quay, the first thing he did was to run to the mainmast and embrace it with both arms, although there was no small portion of tallow on it to smear the cloth of his coat.

"Oh, my dear Vrow, my Katerina!" cried he, as if he were speaking to a female. "How do you do I am so glad to see you again; you have been quite well, I hope? You do not like being laid up in this way. Never mind, my dear creature! You shall soon be handsome again."

The name of this personage who thus made love to his vessel was Wilhelm Barentz. He was a young man, apparently not thirty years of age, of diminutive stature and delicate proportions. His face was handsome, but womanish. His movements were rapid and restless, and there was that appearance in his eye which would have warranted the supposition that he was a little flighty, even if his conduct had not fully proved the fact.

No sooner were the ecstasies of the captain over than Philip introduced himself to him, and informed him of his appointment. "Oh! you are the first mate of the Vrow Katerina. Sir, you are a very fortunate man. Next to being captain of her, first mate is the most enviable situation in the world." "Certainly not on account of her beauty," observed Philip; "she may have many other good qualities."

"Not on account of her beauty! Why, sir, I say (as my father has said before me, and it was his Vrow before it was mine) that she is the handsomest vessel in the world. At present you cannot judge; and besides being the handsomest vessel, she has every good quality under the sun."

"I am glad to hear it, sir," replied Philip; "it proves that one should never judge by appearances. But is she not very old?"

"Old! not more than twenty-eight years—just in her prime. Stop, my dear sir, till you see her dancing on the waters, and then you will do nothing all day but discourse with me upon her excellence, and I have no doubt that we shall have a very happy time together."

"Provided the subject be not exhausted," replied Philip.

"That it never will be on my part; and allow me to observe, Mr. Vanderdecken, that any officer who finds fault with the Vrow Katerina quarrels with me. I am her knight, and I have already fought three men in her defense; I trust I shall not have to fight a fourth."

Philip smiled; he thought that she was not worth while fighting for; but he acted upon the suggestion, and from that time forward he never ventured to express an opinion against the beautiful Vrow Katerina.

The crew were soon complete, the vessel rigged, her sails bent, and she was anchored in the stream, surrounded by the other ships composing the fleet to be dispatched. The cargo was then received on board, and, as soon as her hold was full, there came, to Philip's great vexation, an order to receive on board one hundred and fifty soldiers and other passengers, many of whom were accompanied by their wives and families. Philip worked hard, for the captain did nothing but praise the vessel, and at last they had embarked everything, and the fleet was ready to sail.

It was now time to part with Amine, who had remained at the hostelry, and to whom Philip had dedicated every spare moment that he could obtain. The fleet was expected to sail in two days, and it was decided that on the morrow they should part. Amine was cool and collected. She felt convinced that she should see her husband again, and with that feeling she embraced him as they separated on the beach, and he stepped into the boat in which he was to be pulled on board.

"Yes," thought Amine, as she watched the form of her husband, as she distance between them increased; "yes, I know that we shall meet again. It is not this voyage which is to be fatal to you or me; but I have a dark foreboding that the next, in which I shall join you, will separate us forever—in which way I know not—but, it is destined. The priests talk of free will. As it free will which takes him away from me? Yes, Yes. But he is not permitted, for he must fulfill his destiny. Free will! Why, if it were not destiny it were tyranny. I feel, and I have felt, as if these priests are my enemies; but why I know not; they are both good men, and the creed they teach is good. Good will and charity, love to all, forgiveness of injuries, not judging others. All this is good; and yet my heart whispers to me that—but the boat is alongside, and Philip is climbing up the vessel. Farewell, farewell, my dearest husband. I would I were a man! No! no! 'tis better as it is."

Amine watched till she could no longer perceive Philip, and then walked slowly to the hostelry. The next day, when she arose, she found that the fleet had sailed at daybreak, and the channel, which had been so crowded with vessels, was now untenanted.

"He is gone," muttered Amine. "Now for many months, of patient, calm endurance—I cannot say of living, for I exist but in his presence."

CHAPTER XV.

We must leave Amine to her solitude and follow the fortunes of Philip. The fleet had sailed with a flowing sheet, and bore gallantly down the Zuyder Zee, but they had not been under way an hour before the Vrow Katerina was left a mile or two astern. Mynheer Barentz found fault with the setting and trimming of the sails, and with the man at the helm, who was repeatedly changed; in short, with everything but his dear Vrow Katerina; but all would not do; she still dropped astern, and proved to be the worst sailing vessel in the fleet.

"Mynheer Vanderdecken," said he, at last, "the Vrow, as my father used to say, is not so very fast before the wind. Vessels that are good on a wind seldom are; but this I will say, that, in every other point of sailing, there is no other vessel in the fleet equal to the Vrow Katerina."

"Besides," observed Philip, who perceived how anxious the captain was on the subject, "we are heavily laden, and have so many troops on deck."

The fleet cleared the sands, and were then close-hauled, when the Vrow Katerina proved to sail even more slowly than before.

"When we are so very close-hauled," observed Mynheer Barentz, "the Vrow does not do so well; but a point free, and then you will see how she will show her stern to the whole fleet. She is a fine vessel, Mynheer Vanderdecken, is she not?"

"A very fine, roomy vessel," replied Philip, which was all that, in conscience, he could say.

The fleet sailed on, sometimes on a wind, sometimes free, but let the point of sailing be what it might, the Vrow Katerina was invariably astern, and the fleet had to heave-to at sunset to enable her to keep company; still the captain continued to declare that the point of sailing on which they happened to be was the only point in which the Vrow Katerina was deficient. Unfortunately the vessel had other points quite as bad as her sailing; she was cranky, leaky, and did not answer the helm well, but Mynheer Barentz was not to be convinced. He adored his ship, and, like all men desperately in love, he could see no fault in his mistress. But others were not so blind, and the admiral, finding the voyage so much delayed by the bad sailing of one vessel, determined to leave her to find her way by herself as soon as they had passed the Cape. He was, however, spared the cruelty of deserting her, for a heavy gale came on which dispersed the whole fleet, and on the second day the good ship Vrow Katerina found herself alone, laboring heavily in the trough of the sea, leaking so much as to require hands constantly at the pumps, and drifting before the gales as fast to leeward almost as she usually sailed. For a week the gale continued, and each day did her situation become more alarming. Crowded with troops, incumbered with heavy stores, she groaned and labored while whole seas washed over her, and the men could hardly stand at the pumps. Philip was active, and exerted himself to the utmost, encouraging the worn-out men, securing where aught had given way, and little interfered with by the captain, who was himself no sailor.

"Well," observed the captain to Philip, as they held on by the belaying pins, "you'll acknowledge that she is a fine weatherly vessel in a gale—is she not? Softly, my beauty, softly," continued he, speaking to the vessel as she plunged heavily into the waves, and every timber groaned. "Softly, my dear, softly! How those poor devils in the other ships must be knocking about now. Heh! Mynheer Vanderdecken, we have the start of them this time; they must be a terrible long way down to leeward. Don't you think so?"

"I really cannot pretend to say," replied Philip, smiling.

"Why, there's not one of them in sight. Yes! by heavens, there is! Look on our lee beam. I see one now. Well, she must be a capital sailor; at all events; look there, a point abaft the beam! Mercy on me, how stiff she must be to carry such a press of canvas!"

Philip had already seen her. It was a large ship on a wind, and on the same tack as they were. In a gale, in which no vessel could carry the top-sails, the Vrow Katrina being under close-reefed foresails and staysails, the ship seen to leeward was standing under a press of sail—top-gallant sails, royals, flying-jib, and every stitch of canvas which could be set in a light breeze. The waves were running mountains high, bearing each minute the Vrow Katrina down to the gunwale; and the ship seen appeared not to be affected by the tumultuous waters, but sailed steadily and smoothly on an even keel. At once Philip knew it must be the Phantom Ship, in which his father's doom was being fulfilled.

"Very odd, is it not?" observed Mynheer Barentz.

Philip felt such an oppression on his chest that he could not reply. As he held on with one hand, he covered up his eyes with the other.

But the seamen had now seen the vessel, and the legend was too well known. Many of the troops had climbed on deck when the report was circulated, and all eyes were now fixed upon the supernatural vessel, when a heavy squall burst upon the Vrow Katrina, accompanied with peals of thunder and heavy rain, rendering it so thick that nothing could be seen. In a quarter of an hour it cleared away, and, when they looked to leeward, the stranger was no longer in sight.

"Merciful heaven! she must have been upset, and has gone down in the squall!" said Mynheer Barentz. "I thought as much, carrying such a press of sail. There never was a ship that could carry more than the Vrow Katrina. It was madness on the part of the captain of that vessel, but I suppose he wished to keep up with us. Heh! Mynheer Vanderdecken?"

Philip did not reply to these remarks, which fully proved the madness of his captain. He felt that his ship was doomed, and when he thought of the numbers on board who might be sacrificed he shuddered. After a pause he said:

"Mynheer Barentz, this gale is likely to continue, and the best ship that ever was built cannot, in my opinion, stand such weather. I should advise that we bear up and run back to Table Bay to refit. Depend upon it, we shall find the whole fleet there before us."

"Never fear for the good ship Vrow Katrina," replied the captain; "see what weather she makes of it."

"Cursed bad," observed one of the seamen, for the seamen had gathered near to Philip to hear what his advice might be. "If I had known that she was such an old crazy beast I never would have trusted myself on board. Mynheer Vanderdecken is right; we must go back to Table Bay ere worse befall us. That ship to leeward has given us warning—she is not seen for nothing—ask Mr. Vanderdecken, captain; he knows that well, for he is a sailor."

This appeal to Philip made him start; it was, however, made without any knowledge of Philip's interest in the Phantom Ship.

A WEEK IN ILLINOIS.

MINOR HAPPENINGS OF PAST SEVEN DAYS.

It is Likely That There Will Be Another Arrest in the Taylorville Murder Case—A New Glass Factory for Ottawa—

Mrs. Burnett to Be Arrested.
Taylorville, Ill.—Mrs. Jennie Brunot, mother and fiancée, respectively, of Henry Brunot and Fred Sibley, the self-confessed murderers of Miss Jane Brunot, called upon them at the county jail this morning.

"You little fool, you are talking too much," was her greeting to her son.

"Oh, I guess not, mother," he laughingly replied.

Mrs. Brunot was not in the least affected at meeting her lover and her son under such circumstances. She upbraided them soundly for confessing their guilt of the murder of her sister-in-law, and wishing them a very "chilly" farewell, left them. Her parting words were:

"If you had remained silent you might have gotten only a few years in the penitentiary; now nothing can save you from the gallows."

New Glass Factory in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ill.—It is now practically settled that the Chapelle glass factory, which was destroyed by fire last January, causing a loss of $60,000 to the owners and throwing nearly 300 people out of work, will be rebuilt.

Though offered a large money bonus and land in other places, the firm made an offer to Ottawa to stay here for $5,000, to be used in rebuilding, and the offer was accepted, and the money is now practically raised. Workmen went to work yesterday morning clearing up the ruins preparatory to rebuilding. A different style of building and one better fitted for the use of the company than the old one will be erected. The new factory is to be ready for use Aug. 15.

To Welcome the Nashville.

Calro, Ill.—This afternoon there was a joint meeting of members of the city government, board of trade, Merchants' League, Alexander Club, and Knight of Mystic Krew of Comus, to make arrangements for the reception of the gunboat Nashville, now sailing up the Mississippi and scheduled to arrive here on May 6. The arrangements will be of a very elaborate character and thousands of visitors will be here to welcome the ship. Invitations will be sent to Governor Tanner and staff, Senators Cullom and Mason, and Congressman Smith to come as guests of the city.

Struggle in Joliet Council.

Joliet, Ill.—The city council met last night and canvassed the returns of the last election. R. J. Barr, Republican candidate for city attorney, who by the returns was shown to be elected, was ousted from office by the aldermen, and E. G. Pulkhiser, the Democratic candidate, declared elected by a plurality of five votes. The council fought for over five hours over the returns. There are ten Democrats and four Republicans in the council.

Thousands of Cigars Seized.

Rockford, Ill.—Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Marsh of this city today seized 20,000 cigars which had been consigned to a Rockford wholesale firm by a Chattanooga concern, the boxes bearing counterfeit revenue stamps, evidently made from the bogus dies captured by the authorities at Philadelphia last week. The goods were not ordered by the Rockford house, but were sent to their address, subject to sale.

How Children Lose Eyesight.

Dr. Seidelmann of the eye clinic at the University of Breslau, has compiled from the books of the institution 223 cases of injury to the eyes in children that resulted in blindness. He finds that more than 20 per cent of the accidents were caused by carelessness. The objects with which injuries were inflicted at play were as follows: Knives, seven cases; forks, three cases; scissors, four cases; lights, one case; slate pencils, two cases; cartridges, seven cases, and powder, three cases. About 12 per cent of the injuries were inflicted on companions by children during moments of anger. Blows with the fist caused ten cases; stones, two cases; sticks, two cases, and whips five cases. "This record of injuries," states the doctor, "I consider in reality a record of sins. Nearly 100 cases of blindness could have been prevented, as they had their origin in playfulness." He cautions parents to warn their children against the serious results of such injuries.

Giraffe Tongue a Delicacy.

The tongue of a young giraffe is considered a great delicacy by African epicures. The meat of the animal is said to taste somewhat like veal.

Two Valued Opinions.
A prominent western railway man, in speaking of the passenger service of the New York Central, says: "It begins right, ends right, and is right in the middle." An officer of one of the transpacific steamship lines says: "There is no train service in the world comparable with that of the New York Central's Lake Shore Limited." The best is the cheapest, and the best is always best. The New York Central stands at the head of the passenger lines of this country and has fairly earned the title of "America's Greatest Railroad."—Buffalo Commercial, February 14, 1899.

The Opening of the Ute Indian Reservation.
By proclamation of the President of the United States, the Ute Indian reservation in southern Colorado will be opened for settlement at noon of May 4, 1899. It comprises 600,000 acres of arable mesa land, which has long been considered the most desirable in the state. For free pamphlets, giving complete information, address S. K. Hooper, General Passenger Agent D. & R. G. R. R., Denver, Colo.

A Proof of Love.
Kind Father—My dear, if you want a good husband, marry Mr. Goodheart. He really and truly loves you. Daughter—Are you sure of that, pa? Kind Father—Yes, indeed. I've been borrowing money of him for six months, and still he keeps coming.—Tid-Bits.

How Dare You.
"The Father—Look here, young man, I don't want you to take the liberty of kissing my daughter again. The Culpit—But, sir, she—dared me to do it. "Dared you?" "Yes, sir; she said 'How dare you?'"

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!
Ask your grocer today to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. One-fourth the price of coffee. 15c. and 25c. per package. Sold by all grocers.

A Long Strain.
"Well, by Jawve, here's a New Jersey woman who has worn bloomers, don't you know, for ovah forty years!" "Must be getting awfully baggy at the knees, deah boy."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Oh That Delicious Coffee!
Costs but 1c per lb. to grow. Salzer has the seed, German Coffee Berry, pkg. 15c; Java Coffee, pkg. 15c. Salzer's New American Chicory 15c. Cut this out and send 15c for any of above packages or send 30c and get all 3 pkgs. and great Catalogue free to JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis. (w.n.)

Contradictions.
"There's one thing I don't understand," said little Harry, "that's why good-tasting things like pie make me ill, and bad-tasting things like medicine make me well. It ought to be the other way."

Chicago Great Western Increase.
The earnings of Chicago Great Western Ry., "Maple Leaf Route," for the first week of April, 1899, shows an increase of $27,090.28. Total increase since beginning of fiscal year (July 1st) to date, $64,543.05.

Inventions in Connecticut.
Connecticut holds the record in the invention line, the 331 patents granted to its citizens in 1893 being in excess of those granted to any other state.

Salzer's Seed Corn.
Does your seed corn test, Bro. Farmer? Salzer's does—it's northern grown, early and good for 80 to 150 bu. per acre! Send this notice and 10c for 8 corn samples and low prices to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. (w.n.)

It does not change the truth to look at it with colored glasses.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

PAINFUL PERIODS NO MORE

MRS. GEORGE OSMUN, of Belvidere, Warren Co., N. J., writes:
"Suffering as I had from weakness, irregularities and backache for several years, a release from this suffering was a blessing. Oh! how I wish more suffering women would accept your kind offer and be relieved. There is no need for women to suffer. Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will relieve them."

MRS. IDA PETERS, Milan, Tenn., writes:
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—When I wrote to you the first time asking your advice I was a great sufferer. Menstruations were irregular, sometimes a week too soon and then a week or two late, and when they appeared were very profuse; great pain and tenderness in the bowels, pain in back and limbs, leucorrhoea all the time. I was weak and nervous and had no appetite. Burning and choking sensation in my throat. I received your reply and followed all your instructions and now I am cured. I owe my recovery all to Mrs. Pinkham's advice and her wonderful remedies."

ELLA E. BRENNER, East Rochester, Ohio, writes:

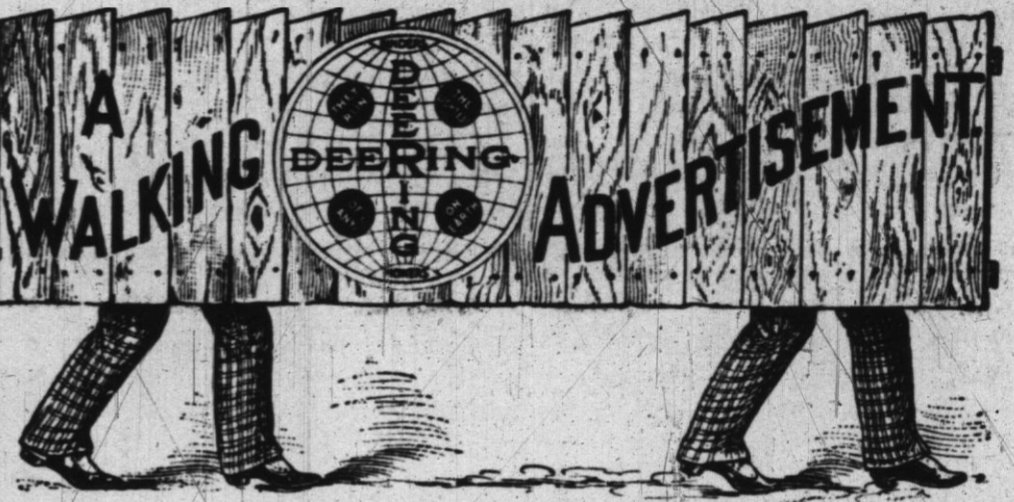

"I have been thankful a thousand times since I wrote to you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I followed your advice carefully and now I feel like a different person. My troubles were backache, headache, nervous tired feeling, painful menstruation and leucorrhoea. I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one box of Pills, one package of Sanative Wash and am now well."

MRS. MAGGIE P. STINE, New Berlin, Pa., writes:

"I have suffered with terrible backache in the small of my back for about seven years, and could never get anything to help me. I tried several physicians, but found no help. I have now taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and feel like a different woman."

MRS. H. A., 124 S. Cedar Street, Owosso, Mich., writes:

"Nearly three years ago I wrote to you asking advice in regard to my health. I was so miserable; suffered from painful menstruation and backache, was nervous, dizzy and faint. I received such a kind letter from you, telling me just what to do. I followed your advice and I now am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God for this pain destroyer."

Hundreds of thousands of farmers—United States farmers, European farmers, South American farmers, Australian farmers—men who farm for profit—representing the intelligence of the agricultural industry, are walking advertisements for Deering grain and grass harvesting machinery. Deering machines are profit producers. The harvest season is brief. Very often the weather conditions are such that unless a crop can be saved just "in the nick of time" a goodly percentage of it is spoiled, damaged, lost.

It is just here that Deering machines go in and win the day. Imminent disaster is changed to victory—seemingly loss to actual profit. Deering machines are the dependable kind. They stand the test of dire emergency. That's why the farmers of the world like them, buy them, use them, praise them.

Deering Ideal Binders, Reapers, Mowers, Corn Binders, Hay Rakes and Binder Twine are winners for '99.

Columbia Hartford and Vedette Bicycles for 1899

Our Chainless bicycles are always ready to ride because the running gear takes care of itself. There is nothing to entangle or soil the clothing. The machines are so constructed that the bevel-gearing cannot be cramped or twisted under strains, which accounts for their easy hill-climbing and splendid running qualities under all conditions of riding.

Our new chain wheels contain many improvements covering design, mechanism, and finish. The 1899 Chain Columbias are the same as the Chainless with the exception of the driving gear. Hartford's are of new pattern, have improved crank-shaft construction and are thoroughly reliable in every respect. As to the Vedettes we only ask you to compare them with any other machines obtainable at their price.

PRICES: Chainless, $75; Columbia Chain Models, $50; Hartford's, $35; Vedettes, $25 (men's); $26 (ladies').

Ask any Columbia dealer for Catalogue, Booklets, Folders, etc., or write to us enclosing 2-cent stamp.

The Problem of the Cities.

Chambers' Journal has attracted attention by an article showing how London would suffer if the grainships were blockaded in the Thames or harried on the high seas, and it draws a rather dreary picture of the immensity and helplessness of London. This is a very old scare, but the discussion of it shows with terrible force the great problem of vast city aggregates in which there is an almost total absence of civic unity and patriotic or social cohesion. The business interests of London lie in one quarter and the home interests in another. Combination of them is practically impossible. Persons in large cities live in a house for half their lives and never know the name even of their next door neighbor. They put up with indignities and inconveniences which the dwellers in the smallest of well regulated communities would not endure for an hour. In every large city like London the population wastes half its time in getting from its home to its business and silently enduring annoyances and risks that are incalculable. Unity of purpose in any great moral or civic reform is almost impossible except by using the most violent means of public exasperation. Two-thirds of the people herd in political groups, to be led by the craftiest champion. The other third stands aloof. They are wider apart than if they lived in different cities. How to create a common interest in the public weal is the problem alike of London, New York, Chicago and other great cities.

Absolutely reliable news about the czar of Russia can hardly be expected. Very little that is explicit and true is allowed to filter through the jealous guards who take care of that potentate. But the recent brutal measures taken with Finland, have spurred some of the papers in that country to outspoken statements and opened a new source of information. From this quarter we now learn that the young czar, who is really in a feeble condition, has never had a moment's peace since he committed himself to his disarmament manifesto. The Russian court, the pan-Slavish clubs and the Orthodox Greek church have thrown every conceivable impediment in the way of the young czar's peaceful intentions. The Grand Duke Michael, the czar's uncle, is virtually the power behind the throne, and it is now asserted that the intriguing court has succeeded in pushing the czar himself out of all administrative functions on the plea that his health will not permit him to take an active part in the affairs of government. These statements must be taken guardedly, but at the same time there are numerous corroborative signs that they have at least a foundation of truth. The czar's disarmament views are not popular among his own counselors or in the army. This we know from Germany, and it is a patent fact that no sovereign is so hedged about by cast iron precedents and a powerful ecclesiastical hierarchy as the czar.

Illinois is boasting over the fact that Mr. and Mrs. James Mansfield of Rio are both running for the office of school trustee and there hasn't been a domestic row in the family. One candidate is a Republican, and the other is a Democrat. One can eat no fat; the other can eat no lean. But why should there be a domestic row if the office is worth having? They probably fixed the matter up between themselves and quietly determined to lick the platter clean. Mr. Mansfield may have said: "I'm not sure of getting the place, for I don't know who will run against me. Can't you get the nomination on the other side, my dear? That would fix it, for whichever one is beaten, we shall keep it in the family." They probably signed and sealed it at once. Quarrel? Not much. They pooled.

The suicide of a woman, Miss Sarah Schwartz, has been laid at the door of Colonel R. G. Ingersoll's teachings by her husband. Some months ago the colonel wrote a paper entitled, "Is Suicide a Sin?" in which he undertook to prove that suicide might be a duty. Mr. Schwartz says that his wife read and reread the paper, and then made up her mind to kill herself.

Affairs in Cuba.

The condition of affairs in Cuba is just what might be expected after a long and harassing war, with all its distractions and waste and demoralization. It is always when the fighting ceases and reconstruction begins that the actual conditions are brought to the surface and the wisest counsels are needed. Without doubt, something very like chaos exists in all the outlying districts, where the unemployed fighting material and the struggling farmers have but a vague notion of the reformatory influences that are at work. These elements will bring about desultory violence for some time to come. But this condition is limited and must disappear slowly with a better understanding of Cuba's improved opportunities in the direction of peace and industry. It takes some time to extinguish all the passions and habits engendered by a long, bitter struggle. The corruption of the Cuban courts is a Spanish heritage that must be got rid of like the corruption of the Spanish custom house or the ballfights. General Brooke sees this clearly, but he is wise enough not to act precipitately and violently. Already the results of efficient fiscal and commercial administration, even under military rule, are becoming apparent. The customs receipts under a just provision have yielded for the first quarter, $3,500,000, and this money, instead of being shipped to Spain or squandered by corrupt officials, has gone toward the cleansing and improving of Havana and Santiago. The postoffice department is getting into good shape, and the promise of the tobacco crop is more hopeful than was at first expected. No one sees more clearly that a new era has already dawned for Cuba than does the veteran General Gomez, and no one so pathetically regrets the crass stupidity of the so called military assembly, which is doing all it can to delay and impede the work of rehabilitation.

Mr. C. H. Townsend of the United States fish commission, who has had a great deal of experience in deep sea soundings and dredgings, has recently stated in a lecture that the existence of the much talked of sea serpent is by no means an impossibility. He is rather inclined to the belief, which is shared by a number of eminent scientists, that there are monsters in the depths of the ocean of which we have no knowledge. The dredge has brought to the surface now and then vague hints of them. All that science can do, while waiting for direct evidence, is to reason from analogy. The reptilia are known to be enormously long lived and continue to grow in length as long as they live. There was at one time in the London zoo an African boa that measured 48 feet, and it was estimated that his age might be over 1,000 years. If, therefore, similar reptiles exist in the ocean, they might attain to prodigious size if they lived long enough. Such monsters find a place in the testimony of the mariners of all ages and climes, and there are no positive facts to overthrow their testimony.

It is not at all unlikely, now that Major General MacArthur has taken Malolos, that our boys will have a rest. There is no likelihood that fresh troops will be sent to the Philippines merely to keep up the flying game of Aguinaldo, who, in the very nature of things, must take to the mountains and go into a desultory bushwhacking resistance. To meet this more than probable result a plan has been matured in Washington, evidently under advice from the seat of war, to organize and employ natives to fight the insurgents after their own manner. The government can pay them better than Aguinaldo, and they are immune. Supposing that these levies are properly officered and are made to understand what it is that the United States is trying to accomplish, the insurgent opposition may draw out a lingering existence, but will hardly again reach the proportions of a well organized military campaign.

The efficacy of praying for rain was received a strong illustration in California. Mr. H. H. Fisher, president of the Bank of Livermore, told a number of preachers who came into his bank during a long drought that if they would secure four inches of rain by praying for it he would pay the debt of their churches. It now appears that about eight inches fell immediately after they began to get in their work, and the astonished president is in for about $4,000. At the latest accounts he was trying to compromise.

In making a raid upon a disorderly house in Brooklyn the policeman in charge of the squad found that he had arrested his own father.

WHAT TO READ.

Some Prominent Chicagoans Express Opinions.

In these enlightened times every person who pretends to keep in touch with the progress of the world must read a first-class daily metropolitan newspaper. They who would select the best should be guided by the opinions of prominent newspaper-men who know. Read the following:

"There is no question as to the position occupied by The Chicago Tribune. Its enterprise has been too often demonstrated. As a local and American news-gathering institution it has no superior and few equals. In the matter of foreign cables, no other paper west of New York can be compared to it. These are the things, of course, that go to make a complete and great newspaper. CARTER H. HARRISON." Now Mayor of Chicago, formerly publisher Chicago Times.

"The Chicago Tribune is the best newspaper in the world. I consider its make up and facilities for gathering news unequalled, although I do not agree with it politically. WASHINGTON HESING." The late Postmaster, Chicago, and publisher Staats Zeitung.

"The Chicago Tribune is beyond question the greatest newspaper in the West, if not in the country. MARTIN J. RUSSELL." Editor-in-Chief Chicago Chronicle. Your Postmaster or newsdealer will take your subscription for a trial period.

THE PLANO is the simplest and best.

Plano Jones Mower
 Longest Lived and Lightest Draft Mower in the world. It has no vibration.

no Noise, no Lost Power.
 No Cog Wheels to wear out.
 Free from Side Draft and free from Neck Weight.
 No backing up to start in the grass.

The following are a few of the points why the Plano machines are the best over other make:
 In the Plano Jones Lever Binder the knottor contains only 16 pieces, while the Deering has 44, McCormick 28 and the Champion 33.
 It is the only binder put up with lever power, carrying spring, friction clutch reel and jointless main frame.
 The main drive wheel is two inches wider than any other made, consequently the machine will not mire or settle down in soft or loose ground.

Farmers should examine this machine before placing their order.

It Pays to Use Poultry Food.

Granulated Bone Meal—provides a valuable food element for poultry at all seasons of the year. The phosphate of lime and gelatine contained into the formation of the eggs and largely increase the productivity of hens.

Meat Meal—is a composition of meat, blood and bones and constitutes a highly concentrated food which contains a larger percentage of nourishment than any other poultry food found on the market.

For Breeding Fowls—there is no better food known than Pioneer Clover Meal for fowls. It will hatch more and better chicks, prevent poor hatches and chicks dead in the shell, as it contains all the elements that are known to be the best for the development and growth of the embryo chick. A perfect egg is the result.

Lumber—Everyone will admit that in building a great deal depends upon the quality of the material to insure a good job. We have got the largest and best assortment of lumber in Barrington. On carload lots or at retail we will convince you we are selling at close figures, and we only ask a chance to figure on your material to prove our statement.

It's spring in old Lake county:
 You can tell it by the leaves
 Bein' put forth in the orchards
 On the pear and apple trees.

The posies are all sproutin'.
 The fields are lookin' green.
 The boys an' girls are shoutin'.
 The farmer's plantin' beans.

The birds are back a sligh'.
 They fill us with good cheer.
 And we're mighty glad to see em.
 For we know the summer's near.

Yes, it's spring in old Lake county,
 An' if it came a little late,
 It seems to make us feel more thankful,
 Just because we had to wait.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame backs, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. For sale by A. S. Olms, Palatine and A. E. Waller, Barrington.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Allen county grand jury returned five indictments against J. F. Schell, alleging embezzlement and larceny. Schell was until recently president of the Schell Loan and Investment company.

Wardner, Idaho—A big strike of miners is in progress in the Coeur d'Alene country. The miners of the Bunker Hill and Sunway mines at Wardner and of the Last Chances mines are out. The men demand $3.50 per day and recognition of the union.

Los Angeles, Cal.—It is reported that a deal has been made whereby the famous Yellow Aster mines at Randsburg will be transferred to the ownership of a French syndicate. The consideration is believed to be $3,000,000.

SCORES DOUBLE VICTORY.

Senator Quay Secures a Complete Vindication.

GOES BACK TO WASHINGTON.

Jury Declares Him Not Guilty of Conspiracy and Gov. Stone Immediately Appoints Him as His Own Successor in the United States Senate.

Matthew Stanley Quay was declared by a jury at Philadelphia to be not guilty of the charge of conspiring to use for his own unlawful gain and profit the funds of the state of Pennsylvania deposited in the People's bank of that city.

Immediately on receipt of the news that Mr. Quay had been acquitted of the charges against him, Gov. Stone appointed him United States senator to fill the vacancy until the next legislature meets.

A question as to the legality of this proceeding has been raised, and the matter will be carried to the United States senate.

EX-GOV. OGLESBY DEAD.

Unexpected Demise of the Great Illinois Statesman at Elkhart.

Ex-Gov. and former United States Senator Richard J. Oglesby died at his residence, "Oglehurst," in Elkhart, at 1:05 p. m. April 24. The immediate cause of his death was a fall, his head striking the sharp edge of a piece of furniture. The remote cause was vertigo, which caused the fall. Death resulted from concussion of the brain.

Ex-Gov. Oglesby would have been 75 years old on the 25th of next July. He was married a second time twenty-five years ago last November.

Fatal Explosion at Philadelphia.

By an explosion of benzol in Fleer's chemical works, Philadelphia, two men were killed, two others are unaccounted for, and one woman was fatally injured. A score of persons were more or less seriously injured. The loss to property is enormous.

Mine Owners Refuse Arbitration.

In Union county, South Dakota, the Missouri river is cutting into the banks toward McCook lake, an old river bed. Immense damage to property is feared.

TROOPS TAKE CALUMPIT.

Philippine Stronghold Captured with Small Loss to Our Forces.

The American forces, after a series of brilliant and daring forward movements, took and occupied the village of Calumpit, in the Philippines, April 25.

The American loss was small, considering the heavy fire which they encountered. The loss is thirty, of which only six were killed or fatally wounded. The enemy's loss is estimated at three hundred killed and wounded.

CONFESS PANA CRIME.

Murder of Miss Jane Brunot—Fred Sibley and Henry Brunot the Assassins.

Fred Sibley and Henry Brunot, two well-known young men of Pana, Ill., were arrested at the Brunot farm, six miles north of the city, charged with the murder of Miss Jane Brunot of Dana, Ind., who was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Brunot. They have confessed the crime. Their object was robbery.

CLEARED FOR ACTION.

Officer of the German Fleet Tells of the Situation at Manila.

A letter from a German officer on the Kaiserin Augusta, published in the Hamburger Nachrichten, said that German vessels went into Manila bay cleared for action. All the sailors were eager for and expected a fight with Dewey. The German intimates Dewey was afraid.

Gen. Brooke May Resign.

Gen. Brooke, commander of the military division of Cuba, will, it is said, shortly ask to be relieved.

Samoan Commission Has Sailed.

The members of the Samoan commission sailed from San Francisco on the Apia April 25.

CHICAGO'S "LEXOW" COMMITTEE.

Hon. H. F. Aspinwall, Hon. H. C. Begole, Hon. Edward McConnell, Hon. Chas. E. Hull, Hon. D. W. Baxter, Hon. J. W. Tempieon, Hon. P. F. Chapman.

Chicago is being "Lexowed" by a committee of the Illinois state legislature, as provided for under the constitution of the state. It is very likely that some startling developments will follow. It is pretty generally conceded in Chicago that there is something rotten in the city hall, and in the county building as well. Some three millions of dollars of the people's money are alleged to have disappeared within the past two years, and certain city contractors and officials have been waxing rich. The police department does not suppress gambling, except when the keeper fails to pay the "police rake-off." All kinds of vice thrive openly in the heart of the city, the only requirement being that those who profit by it "put up" to the city officials. It is impossible to get a grand jury of representative citizens or this sort of thing would have stopped long ago. All grand juries are drawn by a commission, which, for some reason or other, fails to select men from the masses of the people. The great corporations get all they want, but the poor people who are wronged get no chance of having their wrongs righted. Time and again efforts have been made with a view of having municipal crookedness investigated, but without avail. The matter had finally to be referred to the state. It is not impossible that the drag net that has been set will gather in some very rare specimens in the line of municipal looters. It is even hinted that a couple of editors are troubled with visions of striped suits for themselves as a result. The Lexowing is being conducted on a non-partisan basis.

KEEP UP NERVE WITH LIQUOR.

Heddest Operators on Wall Street Drink Deep and Often.

New York Correspondence Pittsburg Dispatch: Do Wall street men drink? is a question frequently asked, and the answer is "Yes," from the biggest man in the street to the smallest speculator. Many of the more noted bankers and brokers never touch a drop until after business hours, but there are men of great consequence in the whirlpool of speculation who cannot decide which way the cat is going to jump unless they have gazed into the bottom of several glasses that had been filled with "a little of the same." And there are many who have not the courage to invest unless "jagged." There are numerous instances here where men have won fortunes by taking a drink, and, on the other hand, that same drink has cost not only fortunes, but reputations. A handsome majority of Wall street men drink. Few drink to excess. Those who never touch a drop are the conservatives. The bold, fearless operators are half-drunk all the time.

A Boarding House Conundrum.

"When is a calf like a hen in hot water?" inquired the facetious boarder, addressing nobody in particular. "I don't know," replied the landlady. "Please tell us." "When it is a chicken stew," was the rejoinder. And a deep hush fell upon the assemblage.

"Courage and Strength in Times of Danger."

Read the warning between the lines. What is that warning? It is of the danger from accumulation of badness in the blood, caused by the usual heavy living of the Winter months. Spring is the clearing, cleansing time of the year; the forerunner of the brightness and beauty of glorious Summer.

Follow the principle that Nature lays down. Start in at once and purify your blood with that great specific, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It never disappoints.

Poor Blood—"The doctor said there were not seven drops of good blood in my body. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well." Susie E. Brown, 16 Astor Hill, Lynn, Mass.

Female Troubles—"I am happy to say that I was entirely cured of female troubles by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It helped my husband's catarrh greatly." Mrs. J. E. Waigors, 703 S. 6th Street, Camden, N. J.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ill; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Natural Cure for Indigestion.

Do you have pain in the stomach after eating? Do you have a yellow tongue? Wind on the stomach? Constipation? These things arise from Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

Digestion depends on digestive fluids or "ferments" secreted by certain glands. When the secretion becomes insufficient, indigestion results. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cause these glands to resume their normal action and good digestion follows.

Artificial ferments (of which most so-called Dyspepsia cures are composed) may give temporary relief, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People afford a permanent cure.

Poor digestion often causes irregularity of the heart's action. This irregularity may be mistaken for real, organic heart disease. A case in point: Mrs. Ellen Colson, Newport, Ind., had suffered for four years with stomach trouble. The gases generated by the indigestion pressed on the heart, and caused an irregularity of its action. She had much pain in her stomach and heart, and was subject to frequent and severe choking spells which were most severe at night. Doctors were tried in vain; the patient became worse, despondent, and feared impending death. She noticed that in intervals in which her stomach did not annoy her, her heart's action became normal. Reasoning correctly that her digestion was alone at fault she procured the proper medicine to treat that trouble and with immediate good results. Her appetite came back, the choking spells became less frequent and finally ceased. Her weight, which had been greatly reduced, was restored and she now weighs more than for years.

That others may know the means of cure we give the name of the medicine used—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. These pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. —New Era, Greengburg, Ind.

ALABASTINE is the original and only durable wall coating, entirely different from all kalsomines. Ready for use in white or twelve beautiful tints by adding cold water.

ADIES naturally prefer ALABASTINE for walls and ceilings, because it is pure, clean, durable. Put up in dry powdered form, in five-pound packages, with full directions.

LL kalsomines are cheap, temporary preparations made from whiting, chalks, clays, etc., and stuck on walls with decaying animal glue. ALABASTINE is not a kalsomine.

EWARE of the dealer who says he can sell you the "same thing" as ALABASTINE or "something just as good." He is either not posted or is trying to deceive you.

ND IN OFFERING something he has bought cheap and tries to sell on ALABASTINE'S demands, he may not realize the damage you will suffer by a kalsomine on your walls.

ENSIBLE dealers will not buy a lawsuit. Dealers risk one by selling and consumers by using infringement. Alabastine Co. own right to make wall coating to mix with cold water.

HE INTERIOR WALLS of every schoolhouse should be coated only with pure, durable ALABASTINE. It safeguards health. Hundreds of tons are used annually for this work.

N BUYING ALABASTINE, see that packages are properly labeled. Beware of large four-pound package light kalsomine offered to customers as a five-pound package.

USANCE of wall paper is obviated by ALABASTINE. It can be used on plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas. A child can brush it on. It does not rub or scale off.

ESTABLISHED in favor. Shun all imitations. Ask paint dealer or druggist for tint card. Write for "Alabastine Era," free, to ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Was Saying Nothing.

The following episode happened at the recent brilliant charge of the Twenty-first Lancers at Omdurman; One of them got his thumb cut off, and turning to his chum, an Irishman, ejaculated: "What ever shall I do? I'm done for life." Pat, taking things somewhat coolly, and thinking his chum was making a fuss over a mere trifle, responded solemnly: "Begorra, that's nothin' to make a fuss about; here's poor Sam Jones wid his head cut off, an' not a word is he sayin'!"

IOWA PEOPLE GO TO CANADA

Man Buys a Farm with Proceeds from Two-Thirds of One Crop.

W. R. Milburn, John Holmes, M. R. Dagger, E. L. Stetson, of Buena Vista county, Iowa, report as follows of the Canadian North-West as to its suitability for farming, and the advantages it offers to the agricultural immigrant from the United States: "We came here solely to look up improved farms and, if suitable, to select such as pleased us best. We have not visited the homestead districts at all, though we believe them to be very inviting. Our inquiries have been confined solely to the district around Hartney, Deloraine and towards the Souris River in Manitoba. Our impressions of all that region are in every way satisfactory, and we have decided to go back to Iowa at once, and, having disposed of our several interests there, to return to Manitoba in the month of March next, and, effecting our purchase of improved farms, which we find we can do at reasonable rates, immediately begin farming. We are greatly pleased with all that we have seen in that part of Western Canada. The soil we find to be more than equal to that of our own country for wheat-growing, and the other conditions of climate, schools, markets, etc., are all that we could wish for.

"To show what an energetic man can do we may mention that we found one such at Hartney who had rented a farm on shares, receiving two-thirds of the returns as his share of the crop. When he came to sell his own produce he found that his two-thirds, when converted into cash, was enough to buy the farm he rented out and out, which he accordingly did, and is now its owner. It is our intention to induce as many of our friends as possible, who are practical farmers, to remove from Iowa to this country, where we believe there is a better future for the industrious man than is now to be found anywhere on this continent. We are well known in our part of the state of Iowa, and we invite correspondence from its residents in all parts with regard to this region of Western Canada which we have visited, and to which we intend to return."

GOOD WAGES AND VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

Rand, McNally & Co. of Chicago, Ill., have just issued the expansion edition of the "Reversible Wall Map of the United States and World," six feet by four feet in size. One side shows an enlarged map of the world, with ocean currents, telegraph lines, and a short description of each country. The other side shows their best United States map, with counties, railroads, stations, etc.; also marginal maps of Porto Rico, Philippines, Hawaii, Cuba and Alaska. This is not an experiment, but has enjoyed a big sale for years, as it is something of standard usefulness and great attractiveness.

It will not require much time to become able to earn from $15 to $35 weekly—in fact, most agents do so at once. Many of the best salesmen have been developed from among the earnest, hard-working country people. You can try the sale in your own vicinity first, and then travel from town, thus gaining valuable experience that will fit you for more important work. Some of the most successful merchants owe their success in life to the experience of this kind. Every bank knows Rand, McNally & Co., and you can have a full copy of the map by sending $1.25 in stamps or postal note. They will allow you to return map if you do not decide to canvass; or write for terms.

An Old Warning.

The oldest Egyptian papyrus, which contains a series of moral aphorisms of the fifth Egyptian dynasty (3566-3333 B. C.), is said to afford the earliest instance of the moral treatment of intoxication, and the first warning in writing against drinking in wine shops. "My son," runs the injunction, "do not linger in the wine shop or drink too much wine. Thou fallst upon the ground; thy limbs become weak as those of a child. One cometh to do trade with thee, and findeth thee so. Then say they, 'Take away the fellow, for he is drunk.'"

Largest Workshop in America.

Lasting success does not come in a moment, and true success is never the result of "luck." It takes time and real merit, with plenty of experience and honest effort, to reach the top in anything. The history of the Deering Harvester Company of Chicago is an example of success on a large scale. With more employes than any other single manufacturing plant of any kind in America, it is now running day and night to fill orders. Since 1891, when Deering machines were put on the market with "bicycle bearings," the growth of the business has been marvelous. The day is not far distant when other manufacturers will be forced to build lighter draft machines or go out of business.

What's in a Name?

Mme. X. had been married to two brothers. After the elder one died she was wedded to the younger. The painted portrait of No. 1 hangs in the public art gallery. She stood before it, weeping gently, and was asked sympathetically, "Is he a member of your family?" "Yes, yes," she replied, between sobs; "he is my poor, dead brother-in-law."

BRAVE AMERICANS KILLED.

Our Troops Have a Furious Battle with Filipinos.

COL. STOLZENBERG DEAD.

Our Victorious Course in the Philippines Receives Its First Serious Check—Loss of the Enemy Very Light in the Fatal Engagement.

In an encounter with the Filipinos April 24, near Quingua, about four miles northeast of Malolos, seven Americans were killed and forty-four wounded. The following were killed: STOLZENBERG, JOHN M., colonel, First Nebraska regiment, formerly of the Sixth cavalry.

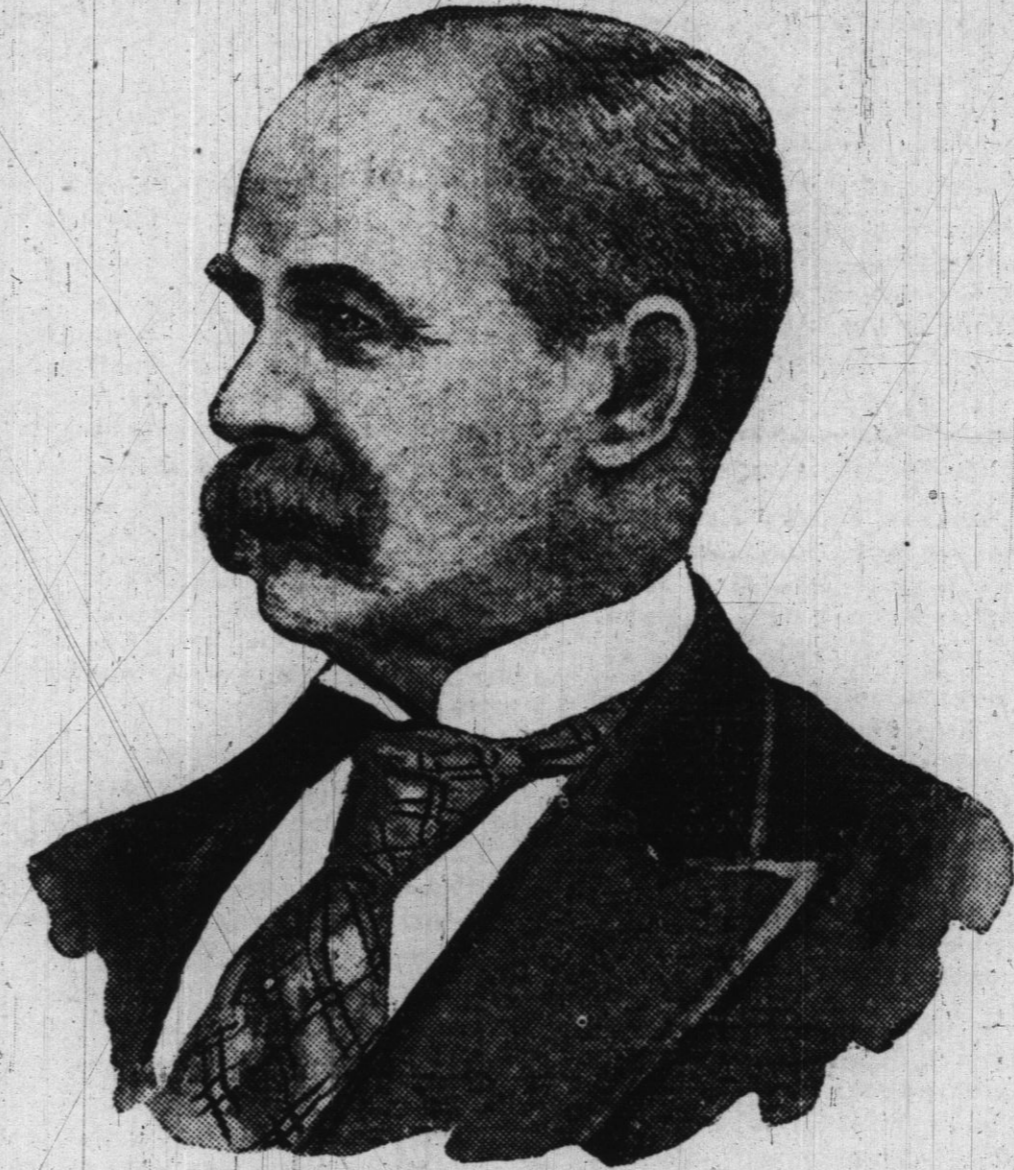

SISSON, LESTER E., lieutenant of the same regiment.

TWO PRIVATES of the Nebraska regiment.

The Filipinos retreated with small loss.

The Nebraska regiment lost two privates killed and had many wounded, including two lieutenants. The Iowa regiment had several wounded. The

LYNCHING IN GEORGIA.

Negro Murderer and Ravisher Burned to Death by a Mob.

Samuel Hose, the negro who murdered Alfred Cranford, and, it is claimed, criminally assaulted Cranford's wife, near Palmetto, Ga., was burned to death amid horrible torture, in an open field two miles from Newnan. Ex-Gov. Atkinson and Judge Freeman pleaded with the mob for moderation, but the enormity of the crime had stirred the crowd to madness, and the pleadings were unheeded. The Atlanta Constitution and the leading papers of the south, while deploring the event, justify the action of the lynchers. There was no attempt at concealment on the part of any of the members of the avenging party.

EX-GOV. OGLESBY BURIED.

Dead Hero Honored with a Military Funeral—Prominent Men Present.

The funeral of the late ex-Gov. Richard J. Oglesby was held April 25 at the chapel of St. John the Baptist, near Elkhart, Ill.

The funeral was a military one, under the direction of Gov. John R. Tanner. The most prominent men of the state were present, many acting as pallbearers and otherwise testifying their appreciation of the worth of the dead hero. A number of Illinois posts of the Grand Army of the Republic took part in the funeral services.

SOUTHERN UTE RESERVATION.

Indian Lands in Colorado Opened to Settlers.

The opening of the Southern Ute Indian Reservation has at last been accomplished. This vast area of arable lands, fifteen by sixty miles in extent, lies on either side of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, South and East of Durango. Under the law, the Ute Indians are entitled to 374 allotments, leaving about 636,000 acres, subject to entry under the desert homestead, timber and townsite laws and the laws governing the disposal of coal, mineral, stone and timber lands, and as the Indians may lease their allotments, intelligent white men will soon control many of them at reasonable rentals. The lands embrace both valley and mesa, or uplands, but the supply of water for irrigation is many times the amount required, making the lands suitable for grain and grasses, vegetables, alfalfa and fruit trees. Clover often yields three and one-half tons per acre. The stock industry gives promise of almost unlimited growth. The lands allotted to the Indians aggregate 60,000 acres and are generally in compact form. They may be leased for three years for agricultural purposes and ten years for mining and grazing lands. These leased lands are exempt from taxation and free from cost of water charges as the Indians own the canals and ditches. The rental is generally a small amount in cash and from one-third to one-fourth of the crops. The Indians may be hired to work at low wages. This money and the $50,000 which is to be paid to the Indians annually by the government "forever," means plenty of the circulating medium in the locality at all times. Homestead settlers are required to pay not less than $1.25 per acre, fifty cents of which, per acre, shall be paid at the time of filing. This provision shuts out the professional boomer and invites men of thrift and energy and industry. These will be the last of the public domain entries in Colorado. It is the last chance for cheap, fertile and enviable homes. The land offices are at Durango, Colo., the terminus of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. The traveler from the middle West should take the Missouri Pacific System to Pueblo where he will be taken by the Denver & Rio Grande which is the only line reaching the Ute Indian Reservation. It traverses for 60 miles the most desirable portions of the lands subject to entry.

Practical Puzzle.

Our readers who are interested in puzzles should secure one of the map puzzles sent out by the Chicago Great Western Railway. It is a map of the United States on heavy cardboard and cut up into states, each state and territory being on a separate piece. They are nicely colored and show the capitals of the different states, as well as the large rivers. The puzzle consists in putting the different pieces together so as to form the map of the United States. It makes more of a puzzle than would at first be supposed and will be found interesting as well as instructive to the older people as well as the young ones. Incidentally it is quite valuable as showing the comparative size of different states, and this will be a matter of some surprise. This puzzle will be sent to our readers if they will send 10 cents to Mr. F. H. Lord, G. P. & T. A., Chicago, Ill. "Mark envelope Puzzle Department."

Chinese Cooking.

Chinese cooking depends on the meat and the cook. They have literally no peculiar implements and no extraordinary methods. Despite Charles Lamb, they do not burn down a house to roast a suckling pig. They have, in fact, too little initiative; they love to imitate, and the housewife who grumbles at her Chinese cook generally has only herself to blame. She has shown him too much—so much that he is firmly convinced that the example is to be copied on each day and every occasion, and if a Chinaman has a fault it is that an idea once in his head is never got out. The true plan is to show him just enough for the particular occasion.

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

The heretofore rumored changes in the system of paying the employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad took permanent shape last week at a meeting of the heads of the several departments and general superintendents, called by General Manager Underwood for the consideration of that matter. It was determined to replace the present dilatory process of running the pay cars over the entire system, involving an expenditure of three weeks' time in distributing a large bulk of currency aggregating one million dollars per month, by a more convenient, expeditious and safer process of distributing through the hands of the station agents checks payable at any one of the 37 banks upon the line of the system and by any agent of the company. The new arrangement is effective May 1st.

Charles Hecker and sister Martha returned from Danville, Ill., Monday. While there Charles had pretty bad luck, having had his foot hurt by a train, disabling him during his whole stay there.

Ernst Lierman and his mother, Mrs. C. Lierman, and Martha Hacker, attended the marriage of Mrs. Lierman's son, Albert, to Miss Lizzie Schultz at Chicago Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lierman will make their home in Chicago.

We are in receipt of Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Hillsboro (Iowa) Tribune, with E. M. Barclay as editor. Mr. Barclay is well known in this section, having been in the employ of the Wauconda Leader, and will give the people of that vicinity a clean paper.

The electrical storm of Thursday evening hampered somewhat with the electric light and telephone service, burning out fuses on both systems. After a few minutes' of darkness, necessitated by making repairs, the electric lighting plant continued to furnish its patrons with that unexcelled light the balance of the evening. The long-distance telephone line was also put in its usual fine condition early the following morning.

School Entertainment.

The entertainment given by the pupils of rooms Nos. 1 and 2 of the Barrington public school last Friday evening, in Stot's hall, brought out a large crowd to listen to the pupils. The children all did fine, taking their parts and going through their lines like professionals. The proceeds, which amount to about $20, will go to swell the library fund of the rooms. Whooping Cough.

I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. Moore, South Burgettstown, Pa. For sale by A. S. Olms, Palatine, and A. L. Waller, Barrington.

Struck by Lightning.

During the storm Thursday evening the barn belonging to Henry J. Henning, who lives 6 miles south-west of Barrington, was struck by lightning and the barn, grainery and tool house were quickly reduced to ashes. The buildings burned so rapidly that nothing could be taken out of the tool house and grainery. All the stock in the barn was saved, excepting one horse and five cows. The barn and grainery were filled with hay and grain and most of the farming implements were in the tool house.

Mr. Henning's loss will amount to about $3,500, with insurance for $2,500 in the Barrington Mutual Fire Insurance company.
