Candidates for village and township offices should announce themselves in THE REVIEW. We have the largest circulation in the township.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of assessor for the town of Palatine.

J. H. SCHIERDING.

The sermons by Rev. Blanchard of Wheaton in the Methodist church on Saturday and Sunday created considerable interest among those who attended.

Compare the news in this paper each week with any contemporary. You will always find that we are giving the news and not filling up uninteresting literary (?) matter.

A. G. Smith has rented the entire Knigge building and has fitted up the room next to his former place as an office. Arthur Bennett is learning the printers' trade with him.

Mildred Herschberger, daughter of Mrs. J. Herschberger, aged 10 years, died at the home of her mother in Rockefeller Tuesday. The child was buried in the family lot in the cemetery at this place yesterday.

Mrs. Sarah De Line of Chicago will speak next Sunday at 11 a. m. in the M. E. church on "Foreign Missions." In the evening at 7:30 she will speak on "Home Missions." Miss Grace Stewart of Grand Rapids will sing.

The school entertainment Tuesday night promises to be a big success. The pupils have been drilling for some time and the usual interesting program is promised those who attend. The object of the entertainment is to add books to the school library. Help a worthy cause by bringing a book Tuesday night.

The Maennerchor has about completed arrangements for their big masquerade next Thursday night. A good time is promised all who attend and many funny songs, etc., will be presented. A large number of tickets have been sold and other maennerchor members from out of town will come to help with the fun.

Friday of last week turned out to be a bad day for the market, but a good crowd was in town and a number of sales and trades were made. About ten horses were sold, besides a number of cows, hogs, etc. All those who had horses at reasonable prices soon disposed of them. If the day had been warmer the sale would have been a bigger success than the first one. Many will bring in stock in March.

New Flour Mill.

Palatine is to have a new flour mill. Wm. Sandman of Barrington will put up a mill and run it in connection with Battermann, Ablemann & Ost. The machinery is being sent from Chicago and will be put in place as rapidly as possible. The grinding room of the present mill will be used for the grist mill and ample space given for same. The flour will be made by the roller process and a capacity of from 75 to 100 barrels will be put in.

The new mill will bring a number of farmers to Palatine and prove another addition to our business interests. They expect to be ready for business about the first of May.

Rock River Assembly.

According to the talent already engaged for 1900 Rock River assembly at Dixon will, undoubtedly, hold its reputation as one of the best assemblies of this country.

Among the lecturers are Booker T. Washington, Anna Howard Shaw, Dr. Parks Cadman, D. F. Fox and Jehu DeWitt Miller. As entertainers there are the "African Boys," Chas. F. Underhill of New York, the master interpreter of great plays, the "American Vitagraph" and other features of equal merit.

In the way of music, Miss Sibyl Sammis, the noted soloist, has been engaged for eight days; the "Sappho" quartet of Aurora for seven days; Miss Pringle, violinist, for five days and the management will add more new features until the program is completed. Mrs. Wilbur F. Crafts of Washington, D. C., will have charge of the children's department and Miss Jessie Schryver of Aurora will conduct the school of physical culture.

The program for the first and the last days, July 31 and August 15, is not included in the above outline, as matters are under advisement with a view to making them in a high degree special days.

This assembly has a rule that no name shall be announced as on the program until a written contract has been signed.

Rev. F. B. Hardin was a caller at High school Monday.

No Two Thumbs Alike.

It is not alone on questions of handwriting that handwriting experts are called upon to testify. Thumb impressions, around which Mark Twain in "Pudd'nhead Wilson" built his ingenious story, have sometimes formed the basis of very convincing testimony. Conan Doyle said that Carvalho's deductions in the case of the robbery of $25,000 from a package of the American Express company, for nicety of reasoning and extraordinary coincidence, eclipsed anything any one ever dared put into fiction.

In 1894 Asa Guy Gurney was tried on the charge of stealing a large sum of money from the express company. It was proved that Gurney had opened the safe where the package had been placed, taken it out and deposited it in another safe. It was found that a large sum was missing.

The evidence was purely circumstantial. The envelope containing the money bore upon it, however, a thumb impression. Mr. Carvalho testified that the impression on the envelope and several impressions of Gurney's thumb corresponded exactly and contended that there were no two thumbs in the world alike. But such evidence was too subtle for the rural jury which tried the case, and the prisoner was acquitted.

It is to be recorded as a tribute to the accuracy of Carvalho's testimony that Gurney soon after confessed.—Chambers' Journal.

Severe Punishment.

Sterling is derived from the name by which the dwellers in eastern Germany were known in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. They were called Easterlings. The purity not only of their money was very famous, but that of their silver specially so, and coiners and silversmiths were fetched from those parts to improve the quality of our own manufactures.

So far back as 1597 two counterfeiters, who sold spurious silver articles bearing a simulated royal lion and the goldsmiths' marks, were sentenced to stand in a pillory at Westminster, with their ears nailed thereto and with papers above their heads setting forth the nature of the offense for which they were so disgraced. After this degradation they were publicly marched to Cheapside, put in the pillory there, and had each one ear cut off, finally being conducted back to the Fleet prison and having to pay a fine of 10 marks each.

It seems that in recent times the record price for Elizabethan silver was £70 10s. per ounce. For old articles in this metal the sum usually obtainable ranges from £5 to £17 per ounce, according to the artistic workmanship displayed on them.—London Telegraph.

Only Two Loads.

"At the close of the war," said a southern representative today, "a great many negroes in the south refused to leave their old homes. My father gathered his former slaves about him and told them they were free and must leave him. Some went and others remained. Among the latter was an old darky named Eph, who swore he would not leave, but would stay and take his chances. 'All right, Eph,' said my father. 'Just take four or five acres and go in on the three and four plan.'"

"'An what am dat, massa, fo' de Lawd's sake?'"

"'Why, if you raise three loads of corn you must give me one and you keep two.' So Uncle Eph went to work and raised a crop. At harvest time my father rode over the farm and noticed that Eph had cut his corn. Seeing the old fellow, he rode up and asked him why he didn't do so he had agreed about dividing the corn."

"'Well, massa, you said if I raised free loads of corn I was to gib you one as take two loads myself, as I done only raised two loads.'"

TO POPULARIZE MUNICIPAL LOANS.

The city of Salem, Ore., has tried an experiment in municipal finance that is deserving of imitation by other cities of the country.

RICHARD W. THOMPSON.

With the passing of "Uncle Dick" Thompson, Indiana lost its grand old man, and the country lost a representative of the highest type of manhood.

To serve the public faithfully where one can, to be a genial comrade and kindly neighbor, to be wise in council, strong in friendship, and gentle in the home, to enjoy the warm affection of the people of one's state, and the respect of the nation besides, and to die at the age of four score and ten honorable years, probably means that one has been about the best that one can be and enjoyed about the best life had to give.

THE SAME CHAIRMEN.

It is announced by Senator Hanna that he will again seek the chairmanship of the Republican national committee. It is very likely that the office will go with the asking.

ANIMAL PETS IN SCHOOL.

A wise old man down in Boston says animal pets should be kept in public schools to teach children kindness to the weak. The jokesters are already at work deriding one of the best thoughts anybody has had about education for a long time, because it seems, and possibly is, impracticable.

DEBATING THE FINANCIAL BILL

Wolcott of Colorado Accepts the Measure, but Asks a Pledge for International Bimetallism—The Ship Subsidy Bill—Routine Matters Reported.

Wednesday, Feb. 7.

In the senate the feature was a tilt between Messrs. Depew and Pettigrew over a letter from President Schurman of the Philippine commission, read by the New Yorker, flatly denying a statement made by the South Dakota senator during the debate some time ago that he (Schurman) "had tried to bribe the insurgents and failed."

Monday, Feb. 12.

In the senate speeches were made on the financial bill by Messrs. Wolcott, Elkins and Butler. Mr. Allen's resolution introduced Saturday expressing sympathy with the Boers went over without losing its place.

Tuesday, Feb. 13.

The senate heard Mr. Allison in support of the financial bill, and Mr. Jones of Nevada in opposition thereto. Passed bill appropriating $150,000 to enlarge public building at Portland, Ore.

TELLS OF KILLING HIS FATHER.

Confession of a Dying Boy Leads to His Mother's Arrest.

John Lewis Howard, the 15-year-old son, who is dying with consumption at Middleboro, Ky., sent for officers Thursday, and to them confessed that he and his mother, Mrs. Amanda Howard, killed his father, Thomas Howard, who was mysteriously murdered five years ago.

PORTUGAL BRITAIN'S ALLY.

Report That King Has Signed Protocol Is Believed in Washington.

The report that the king of Portugal has signed a protocol of offensive and defensive alliance with Great Britain is regarded as probably true in Washington. It has been known for some time that Great Britain had an understanding with Portugal by which Delagoa bay was to be secured in the event of necessity, and the patrol of that coast by British warships without protest from Portugal indicated the present compact.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

Latest Developments in an Affair of Commercial Importance.

New York, Feb. 5, 1900. A very great deal has been said and printed about "Liquid Air" and the wonder has been that up to the present time no one has, so far as the general public is aware, succeeded in introducing it as an active commercial agent, so to speak.

Its use is an economical power for navigation, for stationary engines, and for all purposes requiring large and cheap power, is fully assured because of the extreme cheapness with which it can be made by the Tripler process, and already very many large users of power are inquiring of the Tripler Liquid Air Co. as to making arrangements for its use at their works.

Applications from every state in the union as well as from many foreign countries, have been received by the Parent Co. here, for permission to organize local companies to make and sell Tripler Liquid Air, and it is the policy of the Parent Co. to dispose of their rights in the several states and abroad to companies of high financial standing, retaining a large controlling interest in each subsidiary company.

The use of "Liquid Air" for refrigerating purposes alone will bring in many millions to the Tripler Co., as every refrigerating plant will eventually adopt it because of its superiority in every way to that of the present ways of refrigerating, and its economy as well.

A limited amount of stock will be offered to the public, in a few days, and subscriptions will be received by the Parent Co. for shares at $5 per share. I really do not know of a more conservative investment than this, with the prospect of so large and so certain dividends. It is a rare chance.

"Polly Con."

An old lady lately asked President Hadley of Yale—he tells the story himself—what he was teaching. To his reply, "Economics," she said, thoughtfully: "Oh, you teach the students to be economical! That is good. When I was a young lady they never learned to be economical until they got married."

Girl Swindler Sentenced in Chicago—Alice Quilaia Confesses She Collected Subscriptions by Fraud—She is Only 18 Years Old.

Alice Quinn, an 18-year-old swindler, shed many tears without effect in Justice Prindiville's court at the Harrison street police station in Chicago the other morning. She was arrested by Officers Duffy and Tobin while canvassing with a book, purporting to be a request for subscriptions to a raffle of a cornet, the proceeds to be for the benefit of the Blessed Sacrament church. She carried a paper stating that she was sent out by Father E. J. Dunne. The priest had received word that such a book was being circulated on the north side and notified the police. The girl admitted having secured about $20, and told her story to the court. While working in a restaurant she said she met Gus Steiner, a waiter, who persuaded her to live with him. The man prepared the book, and told her to go out canvassing with it and turn the proceeds over to him. She continued the fraud after his desertion of her. The prisoner pleaded hard for clemency, saying that she was engaged to be married to a respectable young workman on the northwest side, who she feared would not marry her if she was convicted. The justice said that, while there were mitigating circumstances, the girl had shown waywardness in continuing the fraud after she had been deserted. He placed a fine of $85 against her and ordered her sent to the House of the Good Shepherd.

Practice Commission Meets.
Springfield telegram: The Illinois practice commission met in the Supreme court room and received suggestions from prominent members of the bench and bar in this city. The commission will in all probability not recommend the adoption of a new code, but will make changes that seem necessary in the present provisions. It has been decided to make the limitation on writs of error one year instead of five, as at present. Provisions will also be made for alias writs of attachments, and also to limit appeals to appellate courts to cases involving a specified amount, probably $100 or $200, appeals from justices of the peace to go to county courts. The jurisdiction of the Appellate court is to be extended.

National Guard Orders.
Springfield telegram: Adj. Gen. Reece has issued an order accepting the resignation of Charles C. Ames, first lieutenant and aide-de-camp First brigade. An election is ordered in Company A, First infantry, for captain, at which Maj. Miles of the First infantry will preside. The following enlisted men of the First infantry are honorably discharged: Corp. John Bierma, company E; Sergt. Henry Johnson, company H; Private Edward T. Bennett, company I; Corp. Ellsworth J. Sowles, company G, Fifth infantry. Seaman, Edward Jensen, Second division, second ship's crew, naval militia, is dishonorably discharged.

Preparing to Take the Census.
Waukegan telegram: Preparations have begun for taking the census in Lake county. It is the second Illinois district, of which William Jackson of Shabbona is supervisor. The county has been divided into eighteen enumeration districts, of which Waukegan city has two and Waukegan township one. Applications for positions as enumerators are now being received. The last census was taken just before a boom struck the county, so this year's figures will show a large growth all over the county, and about 100 per cent in Waukegan.

Stabbed Near His Jugular.
Carlyle telegram: Henry Stoff, Jr., and Clarence Hull engaged in a quarrel on the streets of Aviston. Both were intoxicated at the time, and a desperate encounter took place. Hull defended himself by using a knife, with which he made a frightful gash near the jugular vein on Stoff's neck. The latter is now at his home in a serious condition. The injured man is a member of the village board of Aviston.

Electric Line to Fox Lake.
Substantial progress is being made in the project of Chicago capitalists to build an electric railway from Waukegan to Fox lake. Already right of way for the line has been donated by one-third of the landowners over whose property the route was laid. No one has yet refused to give land when asked for it, as the coming of the road is hailed by farmers as adding value to their land.

To Raise Ferrets and Other Pets.
Waukegan telegram: Harry Totten-dale is to start a farm on the west side for raising ferrets and pet animals. Already he has contracted with a Chicago man to supply him with 1,000 ferrets per year for an indefinite period, besides 150 guinea pigs a month, 150 tame rabbits a month, game chickens and peasanets.

CASUALTIES.

A collision between two freight trains on the Beech creek division of the New York Central railroad, near Williamsport, Pa., Thursday, killed the two engineers, Oliver C. Bennett and Mark Macfarland, and one of the firemen, M. McAvenue. The injured are P. C. Creighton, brakeman; John Linquest, brakeman, and Thomas Kane, fireman, all of Jersey Shore. Both engines were demolished, and thirty-seven cars were wrecked.

Edward Conery of Albany, Ill., was accidentally shot in the head by his brother while hunting rabbits near this city. He died a few hours afterward.

CRIME.

A. L. Sheets committed suicide at Audubon, Iowa, by taking laudanum. He had been dealing on the Chicago board of trade for some years, and early this week, it is said, he floated numerous notes which were forged to obtain money. He was arrested Wednesday evening, and the sheriff permitted him to go to his home to see his wife before going to jail. While there he took the poison.

Edward Holden of Seneca county, Ohio, learning that the grand jury wanted him, suddenly left for parts unknown. Eight wives, and one of them claims the number to be twelve, are making things warm for him.

Edmund Ott, a carpenter, shot and fatally wounded his wife and baby Thursday at Middle Ridge, Wis., and after they had been removed by neighbors he set fire to the house and stood near the door, threatening to shoot whoever came near him. The wife was shot twice in the shoulder and side, and her wounds are undoubtedly fatal. The child is dead. The deputy sheriff of Bangor was notified, and hastened to the scene, but could not capture Ott, as he said he would kill him. No cause can be assigned for the deed, but it is supposed Ott became suddenly insane.

Henry Stoff, Jr., a member of the village board of Aviston, Ind., became involved in a quarrel with Clarence Hull, when the latter drew a knife and slashed Stoff across the face and neck, narrowly missing the jugular vein.

Burglars blew open the safe of the Bank of Malden, Mo., Thursday, securing about $4,000. They were detected by Marshal Davis and fired upon, but escaped in the darkness. Bloodhounds are on their trail.

Two robbers attacked Carl Warnecke at 12 o'clock Thursday night at Hamlin and Chicago avenues, Chicago. Warnecke drew a revolver and shot one of the footpads, killing him instantly. The other escaped. The name of the dead robber is not known.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Latest News from the Scene of Conflict.

BRITISH ARE BEING WORSTED.

The Boer Victory at Spion Kop Being Followed Up by a Succession of Lesser Ones—Gen. Kitchener and Roberts in the Field Reorganizing the Fighting.

Wednesday, Feb. 7.

The British columns are putting themselves in motion in all parts of the South African war field. A combined attack upon the Boers appears to be in progress. Gen. Buller has gained a footing on the plateau north of the Tugela after two days' hard fighting. On the far western border Lord Methuen has begun a turning movement against the Boer right, while Gen. Maedonald threatens the Boer flank, thus relieving the pressure on Lord Methuen's front. Lord Roberts, who, according to an informant in close touch with the war office, is in the middle of the theater of war, has begun the march on Bloemfontein. The Boers have taken the initiative against Gen. Gatacre, attacking two of his positions at Sterkstroom.

Thursday, Feb. 8.

Answering a question in the house of commons, George Wyndham, parliamentary secretary of the war office, stated that in addition to the 180,000 troops in South Africa, mentioned in a speech recently made by him, the government decided to send seventeen more battalions of militia and 3,000 yeomanry, making a total for the militia of over 20,000 men and for the yeomanry of 8,000. The total in South Africa, he added, would then be 194,000 effectives, exclusive of sick and wounded. Answering another question, Mr. Wyndham said that 2,235 officers and men of the British army were missing, but it was uncertain how many of them were at Pretoria. As to their protection in case the British besieged Pretoria, Mr. Wyndham said the government left that to the discretion of Lord Roberts. Gen. Buller is holding his own, according to the latest reports. An advance of five miles more will enable the Ladysmith troops to co-operate with him. His losses up to Tuesday noon numbered 233. Gatacre has strengthened his outposts near Sterkstroom, but has not massed his troops for an advance toward the Orange River. Boers in the Colesburg district have been bombarded by Gen. French, but they have received reinforcements and are assuming the offensive. Little is known in London as to the significance of Gen. Macdonald's fighting near Methuen's Modder River camp, but only skirmishing is reported. Secrecy regarding Lord Roberts' campaign plans is still maintained by the British war office.

Friday, Feb. 9.

The British, who were in possession of the kopje at Molen's drift, abandoned it after a bombardment by Boer cannon and retired across the Tugela river to their former position. The Neueste Nachrichten of Leipzig prints a special dispatch from a correspondent who claims that General Buller's third attempt to relieve Ladysmith has completely failed. A Boer dispatch asserts that on Tuesday 2,000 British soldiers sallied toward Colenso from Chieveley to create a diversion in favor of General Buller, but that they were quickly driven back. Colonel Plumer's Mafeking relief force, according to a Pretoria dispatch, was repulsed at Ramutsa by the Boers Friday, Feb. 2. Ramutsa is only a few miles south of Gaberones, showing that Plumer has made little progress since last heard from. General Gatacre has strengthened his outposts by driving back the Boers at Pen Hoek and Byrd's river.

Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 10-11.

Joubert has sent 6,000 men across Tugela, probably to outflank Buller. Boers also hold position south of Colenso. Roberts arrived on Modder river and forward movement is expected. Boers outflanked British near Rensburg. Boers threatening Pietermaritzburg. Shelling of Kimberley continued. Kimberley has been living on horse flesh since Jan. 8. The Times says war teaches inadequacy of British land forces to empire's needs. German capital said to control railroad from Delagoa Bay to Transvaal. Mr. Jolivet, Catholic vicar in Transvaal, says Boers treat priests well. Buller's third failure to relieve Ladysmith causes a falling of spirits throughout the British empire.

Monday, Feb. 12.

Official announcement having been made that Lord Roberts is personally in command of the British forces at Modder river, there is reason to expect important developments in the campaign in South Africa. An early invasion of the Orange Free State seems imminent. Hobirk's and Bastard's necks, which the Boers took possession of Saturday, have been recaptured by the British. The Boers were shelled out. There has been a heavy bombardment of Kimberley. The fire of the Boer big gun at Kamperdam has been very trying. Death rate enormously high. Supplies scarce.

Tuesday, Feb. 13.

The friends of Cecil Rhodes are becoming alarmed at his possible fate, and have sent an emissary to see Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Boers in Europe, in regard to the probable course the Boers would pursue in the event of his capture. Dr. Leyds assured the intermediaries that the Boers did not intend to kill Mr. Rhodes, but, he added, they would certainly hold him as a hostage until the indemnity for the Jameson raid was paid. In view of the developments since the raid the Boers have also decided to double the amount of the indemnity demanded, so Mr. Rhodes' friends will have to hand over £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) before he is released. The concentration of forces at the Modder river camp has apparently been accompanied by the weakening of the British forces elsewhere in Cape Colony, and it looks as though the Boers in the Colesburg district have been encouraged by the withdrawal of Gen. French with his cavalry. Telegrams from Rensburg cannot be considered reassuring. The British outposts have been driven back. Probably Gen. Clements will have all his work cut out to enable him to hold his own, as he is opposed by an enemy superior numerically and armed with better artillery.

Excitement continues around Elk City, Idaho, over the rich gold strikes.

COMPLETE NEWS SUMMARY.

Record of Happenings of Much or Little Importance from All Parts of the Civilized World—Prices of Farm Produce in Western Markets.

Thomas M. Merrill, one of the most prominent silver men in the west, died of pneumonia Sunday morning at his home in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was a warm friend of Senator Jones, chairman democratic national committee, and during the campaign in 1896 was connected with the democratic headquarters in Chicago. He was talked of as a vice presidential candidate on the silver republican ticket.

August, the 7-year-old son of Peter Hurlley of Chillicothe, Ohio, shot and fatally wounded his sister Friday. He found his father's shotgun under the bed, got it out, and aimed it at his 11-year-old sister, Dora. The gun was discharged, tearing away her right thigh and making a fearful wound, from which she died later in the day.

Mrs. Chase, wife of Alderman Sherwood Chase of Fort Atkinson, Wis., started to cross the railroad track in front of a train Friday. She was struck and thrown twenty feet, and died three hours later.

The remains of General Lawton were buried in Arlington Friday after an imposing funeral.

Beriah Brown, probably the oldest newspaper man in the west, died at Anaconda, Mont., Friday, aged 84 years. He was an intimate friend of Horace Greeley. He was the founder of the Democratic Press of San Francisco, which afterward became the Examiner.

Timothy M. Walker of Omro, Wis., and his son, Millard T. Walker, a machinist in Oshkosh, Wis., have received notice that they are sole heirs to a fortune of nearly $100,000 in cash and gilt-edge securities, left by the elder Mr. Walker's sister, Mrs. Nancy Maria Dikeman of Castleton, Vt., who died at Omro a few weeks ago while on a visit to her brother.

Charles B. White, an old-time lumberman, and for forty years a resident of Chicago, died Monday at the Hotel Metropole. He was 84 years old, and he had been in poor health for several months.

The Western Baseball league has completed organization with six clubs. The towns included are Des Moines, Denver, Pueblo, Omaha, Sioux City and St. Joseph. Minneapolis and St. Paul will be taken if they will both enter, but neither will be admitted alone. St. Paul has applied.

Russia's troops are being concentrated on the Afghan frontier.

Cullom delegates bolted the Sangamon county, Illinois, convention after the Tannerites captured the chairmanship. Two sets of delegates are chosen.

The commerce of the United States with the islands now under its control was greater in 1899 than in any previous year.

French people, roused by jealousy over a new Italo-American reciprocity treaty, may force ratification of the one pending between France and the United States.

The insurgents in Albay province, Luzon, have adopted harassing tactics, shooting burning arrows and setting fire to the towns.

The lawyers of Roland B. Molineux in New York say they still have hope of saving their client, despite the verdict of murder.

Banton G. Boone, ex-attorney general of Missouri, was stricken with heart disease Saturday and died Sunday at his home in Clinton, Mo. Gen. Boone was 62 years old. He was a prominent democrat. In 1874-76 he represented Henry county in the state legislature, and was elected speaker of the house. In 1884 he was elected attorney general on the ticket, with Gov. Marmaduke.

Joseph Stringham, formerly mayor of Oshkosh, Wis., died Tuesday, aged 90 years. He was formerly treasurer of New York state, and was once editor of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier.

H. H. Wells, military governor of Virginia in the reconstruction period, died at Palmyra, N. Y., Tuesday. He was born in Rochester in 1823.

The Rev. Lewis Blander, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Denver, Colo., died Tuesday. He formerly occupied pulpits in Chicago and New Orleans.

Henry J. Pierson died at Bloomington, Ill., Saturday night of pleuropneumonia. He was 83 years old, and came to McLean county, Illinois, from New York, in 1857.

"Bill" Sweeney, a self-confessed murderer, upon being acquitted by a jury, was hanged by a mob at Port Arthur, Texas.

Mrs. Theodore Thomas has removed her stocks and bonds outside Illinois to escape excessive taxation. Similar action by others is feared.

A Blessing in Disguise.

It almost seems that the invasion of the state of Massachusetts by the gypsy moth some years ago has proved to be a real blessing rather than a curse.

The position of the London Spectator in regard to the Nicaragua canal and the Bulwer-Clayton treaty is significant.

Miss Dorothy Morton, following the example of Miss Julia Arthur, rebuked a box party of giggling girls who, she insisted, were disturbing her while playing "The Greek Slave" in a Quebec theater recently.

Why would it not be appropriate to rename the Tugela river Buller's run?

Experiments in Agriculture.

In the current number of The Forum there is an interesting article by A. C. True on "University Extension in Agriculture."

When such experiments are wisely planned and thoroughly executed, they often give results of considerable value, especially as showing how the investigations of the experiment stations may be most successfully applied to farm practice.

But the chief value of co-operative experiments lies in their educational effect. They bring the advantages of the agricultural colleges and experiment stations home to many farmers who would otherwise know little or nothing of them.

The announcement of the formation of an appendicitis club in Cleveland would strike one at first as being somewhat unusual, but really it is not surprising.

The death roll in South Africa is certainly long enough, but we must harken back to our own civil war for the record of great carnage on the battlefield.

Reports as to the turning up of a new emperor of China and the turning down of another one are somewhat conflicting, like all the news that comes from that quarter.

It has been figured out that the average ministerial salary is $480, and out of this sum the parson has to feed his own family and about four donation parties a year.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

It has always been claimed for The Chicago Tribune that it would, in all probability, pass with the highest average in any competitive examination among the newspapers of the United States for excellence in all departments of journalism.

Under date of May 2, 1899, the Omaha World-Herald, editorially answering a letter from "Inquirer" asking the names of the five best newspapers in this country, points out that a newspaper may excel in one way and be inferior in another.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE HEADINGS (1) Most and best news, foreign and domestic, presented attractively. (2) Best possible presentation of news briefly.

Practically all high-class intelligent newspaper readers, comprising the best and middle classes in Chicago and vicinity, read The Chicago Tribune.

The Royal Neighbors will give a dime social in the M. W. A. hall on Tuesday evening, February 20. The public is cordially invited to attend. Good program, light refreshments and various social games will make up the evening's pleasure.

John Knipfel was instructed in the mysteries of the M. W. A. Wednesday evening of last week. The goat was exceedingly tame and let him off easy. Four other members were proposed for membership and accepted. Many others are promised soon.

L. C. Price, M. L. Powers, E. A. Golding, E. W. Brooks, A. Cook, J. M. Fuller, J. Golding, J. W. Gilbert, K. V. Werden, Carl Erickson and Harry Ford attended a meeting of the Odd Fellows at Cary Monday evening and were administered into the mysteries of the third degree.

The Woodmen will give a masque ball in their hall Thursday evening, February 22. Music will be furnished by the Lakeside orchestra and supper will be served by the Royal Neighbors. Costumes furnished by J. E. Gainer. Tickets 50 cents, supper extra.

The G. A. R. basket social Saturday evening was largely attended, hardly standing room being obtainable in the hall and the baskets being in such abundance that Auctioneer Powers began to think he had an all night job on his hands, but finally completed the task in good order. The program was exceedingly good and it was a big social and financial success and netted about $23.

A. T. Gilbert and Miss Shaw were united in marriage Wednesday, February 14, by the Rev. Elder Brooks. Both are young people of our village, Mr. Gilbert being especially well known, having made Wauconda his home nearly all his life and is at present conducting the meat market formerly run by A. C. Mathews. Miss Shaw has been a resident of our village a little less than a year and until recently had been employed as clerk in G. C. Roberts' drug store. Although she has been a resident but a short period her friends are many, who join in wishing the happy couple a pleasant and prosperous life.

Letter from the Orient.

Wm. Hodge, brother of John Hodge, writes the following letter from the Philippine Islands:

LOS BANOS, LUZON, Dec. 21, 1899. Being actuated by a desire to defend "Old Glory" as my father did, and partly by a desire to cross the great Pacific and see the wonderful countries on the orient, I enlisted at Chicago on the 22nd of August last for the 37th U. S. volunteers, being then organized in Luzon, P. I. The trip across the continent of America and the Pacific was truly magnificent. Echo canon, the Sierra Nevada mountains, the Golden Gate, and the inland sea near Japan, are truly beautiful sights, the pleasant memory of seeing which shall always remain with me.

I reached San Francisco August 26 and sailed from there September 6 on the transport Warren. We had a tolerably good passage and anchored in the harbor of Yokohama, Japan, September 21. We remained there two days, and I visited the city and saw many queer sights. Our ship then went through the inland sea, arriving in Nagasaki, Japan, on September 26. We remained there three days and took on 1,500 tons of coal. We arrived at Manila bay October 5 and saw the place where Dewey "did it."

Manila is a city of 300,000 inhabitants, two-thirds of whom belong to the Tagalog race. The remainder is mostly composed of Spanish, English and Americans. It is a much better and cleaner city than I expected. There is a part of it called the Walled City, about three miles in circumference, which is strongly fortified. The walls in places are about forty feet thick, built of cut stone and with large compartments used by the Spaniards as prisons. Here you can see the moat, the bridge and the portcullis, iron gate which Scott tells about in his "Lay of the Last Minstrel."

Two companies of my regiment are stationed here at Los Banos, with two companies of the 21st regulars. We are holding the place, doing outpost duty and occasionally going out on scouting expeditions. The town is 30 miles from Manila and is built on Laguna de Bay, which in English means 40 miles long and has an outlet through the Passag river into the bay of Manila. It is very picturesque around here, surrounded by high mountains, some of which seem to be lost in the clouds. This is called the south line and is insurrecto territory all around us, but there is not much fighting going on here at present. The heavy fighting is all on the north line now, but we will get our share here as soon as they begin to extend the south line. The walled city of San Puello is 7 miles to the east. It has 30,000 population and is held by the enemy. The investment of it will likely be one of our first tough jobs. Since I came here the weather has been all that could be desired. Occasionally we have a few rains, but all the rest is summer weather and not exceedingly warm.

The Filipinos, or Tagals, are a queer race of people. They are diminutive in size, resembling the Japanese, and live according to the most primitive methods. Their habitation is a little shack, built of bamboo poles and thatched with nipa, a sort of reed grass that grows in the marshes. I believe it would be a good thing for them if the Americans would remain in the islands. They are miserably poor and appreciate the American dollar as good as can be. Since pay day they crowd around us here selling chickens, bananas and eggs. Even the children hang around us when we eat and are crazy about American food. They consider even a hard tack, which none of us love, a delicacy.

The town of Los Banos, which means The Baths, was a Spanish health resort, like Hot Springs, Ark., before the insurrection. It has a large hospital with vapor baths on the first floor and sleeping rooms upstairs, in which we are quartered. There are a great many boiling springs, the water is so hot you cannot touch it for a moment with your hand. It is said to be a very healthy place. However, a good many of the boys suffer from fever. It is strange too, as we have nice canvas cots, sent by Helen Gould, to sleep on, plenty of good clothes, enough of good healthy food and every man bathes at least twice a week. The government keeps a commissary for us in which we can buy staple American groceries cheaper than we can in the States. Chickens can be had from the natives for 40 cents each and eggs 24 cents per dozen.

By the way, all of the reports received in the States before I left of the fighting here were about correct. I have been unable to hear of one instance where the American troops were defeated.

My turn comes for outpost duty every four days. In the interval we have drill and target practice. Some of the boys do a good deal of shooting at night, but never bring in any dead insurgents. On a dark night about a week ago they fired at least 100 shots on an outpost, and in the morning reported that they were attacked by at least 50 insurgents. A few days afterward the commanding officer issued an order that all sentrys on post would fix bayonets and stab all dogs and pigs approaching their posts instead of shooting at them.

This is my first Christmas in a tropical climate. It seems strange to have such fine summer weather at this time.

Rob Cleverdale's Adventure.

By Seward W. Hopkins.

Copyrighted, 1898, by Robert Bonner's Sons.

As Rob, dressed in his picturesque Spanish costume, stood on the deck, he thought he had never seen so many villainous-looking men. They would propel the large flat boats to the schooner's side, make them fast and jump aboard. Then the black boatmen and the crew of the "Black Cat" would be busy for a time in transferring from the hold of the schooner to the boats the packages and cases and casks of the contraband cargo. Captain Torrevo was here, there and everywhere, giving loud commands in a language that Rob did not understand, and which would scarcely be understood by any one whose tongue was limited to the precise language of any one country.

Captain Torrevo passed Rob several times without paying him any attention. What was Rob's great surprise, then, when the captain of the "Black Cat" suddenly turned on him with a frightful oath and struck him with a rope's end.

"Will you do nothing?" roared Captain Torrevo, in what appeared a most frightful rage. "Will you stand there, and me trying to get unloaded? Get to work there, or I'll kick you into the water!"

Rob was thunderstruck and terribly frightened.

"I'll do anything!" he cried. "Don't strike me! Tell me what you want me to do!"

"Get into that boat. Do your share of the work! Help carry the stuff to the cave!"

As Rob, without trying to soften the terrific wrath of his seemingly cruel master, turned to obey, he saw, standing on the shore, a large, black horse. Upon this horse was seated a man of apparently fifty-five years of age. This

Rob tremblingly took the package from the dark hands that held it out to him, and succeeded in getting it in place without a mishap.

In this way, with much roaring and cursing by Torrevo, the boat was loaded, and then started toward the shore. The tall man on the horse now got down on the ground, and stood with a heavy whip in his hand and a malevolent expression on his face. This man was evidently an Englishman or an American. Rob had thought the dark, evil faces on the "Black Cat" dreadful to look at, but there was something so utterly cruel in this man's face that he seemed to make the others gentle by comparison.

"Hurry up, there!" he shouted in English, flourishing his whip. "We are being watched every day now. There may be soldiers here any minute. Get the stuff ashore in a hurry!"

The men strained harder, and soon the flat nose of the boat was shoved up on the sand. The men leaped out, each one giving a quick look at the master, as if expecting every moment a cut with the heavy whip.

"Hey, Torrevo, who is this?" he shouted, pointing to Rob.

"That fool of a nephew of mine," shouted back the captain of the "Black Cat." "He is no good, but he would make a trip with me: Whip him, if he is lazy."

Rob remembered what Torrevo had said about his appearance as the nephew of the captain of "El Gato Negro," and wondered if he, as Rob Cleverdale, had any more to fear than he was getting as Torrevo's nephew. It seemed to be the object of Torrevo to make him out as stupid and worthless as possible, and to give the Englishman the impression that he hated his nephew.

"GET ON WITH YOU!"

man was tall, and had a heavy beard. He was dressed in a well-fitting riding suit, with high boots. There was a look of masterful cruelty about him that made Rob shiver.

Rob noticed that the blacks, and the crew of the "Black Cat" as well, shot glances of fear toward the calm and powerful-looking man on horseback. Poor Rob did not know what to do first. All around him were groaning and chattering blacks, and the cruel, sharp words of Torrevo were ringing in his ears.

"Take it! Take it!" said one of the laborers to him, holding out a package. Rob tried to take it from the fellow and put it with others, as he saw the men around him doing, but it was too heavy. He let it fall, and there was the sound of breaking glass. Immediately the captain of the "Black Cat" let out a shrill yell of rage, and leaped into the boat. He gave Rob a cut across the shoulders and even on his face with the rope's end he carried. Rob cried out with pain, but Torrevo cursed and struck him again.

"Cub! Good for nothing!" he screamed, seemingly beside himself with rage. "Will you break the captain's bottles? Take that for your clumsiness!"

The schooner was near enough to shore for the man on horseback to hear and see what was going on. He turned a calm, impassive face toward the boat.

"It's that good-for-nothing nephew of mine, Senor Captain," sang out Torrevo. "He would go on a voyage with me, and what good is he, except to steal and lie and break things? I'll break him! Come, take this and see if you can break it!"

put the burden they carried on the ground, roll or push it in, and then get down on their knees and crawl in themselves. Rob did just as he had seen the others do, and when he again stood upright he found himself in a great cave, almost totally dark, with the men moving like spectres of darkness here and there. After a few minutes he managed to see a little, and then found that the cave he was in was only one of a series of vaulted caverns, leading back from the ridge toward, and perhaps under, the water of the bay. There was a constant slope downward, and Rob judged that the bottom of the cave was at least fifty feet below the river bed. From one of the caverns men now came with torches, and Rob saw that this strange place was a vast storehouse of smuggled goods. Bales of tobacco lined one rock room. Bales of silk and cloth filled another. Here there were casks of brandy and in another place a quantity of liquor in bottles. There was wealth represented there—stolen wealth—for, even if the smugglers had bought the goods honestly, they were stealing it into the country, which was in itself dishonest. And if they would do this, no doubt they would steal it, and Rob did not doubt that the crew of the "Black Cat" were pirates as well as smugglers.

CHAPTER VI.

He felt a thrill of apprehension as he saw the black shadows cast by the blazing torches and heard the grumbling tones of the moving men in that grewsome place. Oh! What hiding places there were among these piles of bales or in those black recesses of rock, where he could hear the constant trickling of water from above.

Shivering, he went the whole length of the place, deposited his burden, and followed the line of spectres out again.

What glad sigh of relief escaped him as he breathed once more the fresh air outside. But there was no time to stop to enjoy it. The procession moved on, and Rob, with trembling limbs and perspiring brow, went back for another load. The boats had brought some casks from the schooner by this time, and these were to be taken into the cave.

It was hard work, and when Rob saw Torrevo standing on shore by the side of the Englishman, his heart gave a bound of fear. What was the mystery of the hatred felt by these men toward himself? He could not understand it. But it seemed certain that they were bent on his destruction; or, perhaps, he was to be henceforth a slave. Perhaps all these dark fellows were slaves. Rob did not know whether there were any slaves in South America now, but these men were slaves in reality, even if they were not such in name. And what would be his own fate?

Again he fell to work with the others, but could not resist sending a look of appeal into the eyes of Torrevo. The captain of the "Black Cat" saw this, and saw also that at the same time the tall Englishman was looking at the boy.

"Curse you!" shouted Torrevo. "I will kill you yet!"

He struck him fiercely, and poor Rob, feeling now certain that the friendship Torrevo had shown on board the schooner was assumed, fell to work with a heart that was like a lump of lead in his bosom.

He helped roll a heavy keg to the opening and was almost run down by it as it sped downward from the top of the ridge. A great, ugly fellow, half Indian and half negro, caught him in a powerful grasp and swung him out of the way to safety.

"Oh, thank you!" gasped poor Rob. "Uh! No thank!" said the black fellow, with a hideous grin. "Me no want to see kill. Capitang Elvin him kill soon 'nuff."

"Captain Elvin! Is that the man's name?"

"Ho! Yes. Him Capitang Elvin. Him great man. Him chief all de gangs. Him kill you."

"Why does he want to kill me?" asked Rob.

"Um! Me not know. Look out, dat all."

Again Rob went into the dark caverns, doing his best toward his share of the work. But it was an astonishing fact that as soon as they were out of sight over the ridge, no one cared whether he did any work or not. In fact, in the work of placing the casks, barrels and kegs, he was decidedly in the way of the experienced men, and they shoved him aside.

While doing nothing he looked around the caverns, but was sure to follow the men of his gang out when they returned for another load.

Four or five trips he made into the caverns in this way, winning nothing but blows and kicks and curses from Torrevo, no matter how hard he worked.

Not the First Time.

Mrs. Gillian—Now, Mrs. Wyckoff, we really must say good-bye. Dear, while you put your overcoat on, I want to tell Mrs. Wyckoff a secret. Mr. Gillian—All right, I'll just go and get my hair cut and meet you at the corner.

A FORMER AMERICAN SAYS.

Doubled Their Cultivated Lands and More Than Doubled Their Stock.

The following letter, written by Mr. John Cummings of Wetaskiwin, Alberta, Canada, formerly of Washington, to a friend in the United States, is only one of a hundred similar cases, and what was done by Mr. Cummings can more easily be done today by any good, sober and industrious farmer who chooses to make his home in the Dominion.

Dear Sir: You want to know how I got along since I came into Northern Alberta. I am happy to inform you that I am not ashamed to tell.

We located five miles northeast of Wetaskiwin; left Farmington, Wash., on the 29th day of May, driving all the way. We had time to build our log house the first fall, and to make us comfortable for the family and stock. We then built four stables, 18x20 inside, so that we could put everything inside them when the cold got down to the fifties, and worked hard getting up the stables, and got through dubbing on the 1st of December; but, to our surprise, we had no use for the stables only for the milk cow and two spans of horses. The balance of the horses lived on the prairie all winter, and took care of themselves. The doors of two stables were left open for them to go into in a cold time, but they would not do it, but stayed out on the prairie the coldest night we had and looked as spry as crickets.

I can go ten rods back of my house and count ten residents. I know all of their circumstances. Every one of them have doubled their cultivated land, and doubled their animals, and a great deal more. All of us are comparatively out of debt and an unusually big crop to thresh and prospects of a fair price, and I expect we are as well contented a lot of people as there is to be found from Florida to the Klondike.

My son bought two pounds of twine to the acre, and when we started to bind some barley we found that instead of taking two pounds to the acre, it was taking nearly five pounds. Then you ought to have seen him hitch up a team and make for town for 100 pounds more. I cannot say how it will thresh. All I can say is that it is well-headed, and takes an enormous amount of twine.

SENATORIAL COURTESY.

To Offend Against It Means Ruin to the New Member.

Senatorial courtesy is the great dragon which new members of the upper house must propitiate before they are received into the confidence of their colleagues. Some members of the senate, and there have been many notable instances, who disregard tradition never gain the good will of the great body in which they sit, and these rarely serve but one term, their presence during that term being tolerated rather than enjoyed. The antipathy felt for a former senator by his associates is still remembered. He sat among them, occasionally he spoke to empty seats, now and then he introduced a bill, and he exercised his official functions for the whole period of his term, but he was not of the senate. He was as distinctly outside as though he did not occupy a seat in that body. "What did he do?" asked a man to whom his story had been told. "Why should he be ostracized by his colleagues?" "In his early days," responded the other member, "he affronted senatorial courtesy. He has never been able to redeem himself. The affairs of his constituents have suffered from his unpopularity, and he is deservedly retired."

AVOID DANGER.

The Danger of Catarrh Ointments That Contain Mercury.

This journal, although more particularly devoted to all that interests finance, commerce and manufacturing, is nevertheless always awake to the need and wants of its readers, let the subject be what it may. We were asked to investigate and report upon the merits of the various catarrh remedies on the market. The production of preparations of injurious composition cannot, unfortunately, be stopped or restricted at present, or until our state legislatures can be induced to pass such suitable and stringent laws as will effectually prevent their appearance on the market. In the meantime, the people must look out for themselves. In this matter, we have made a most careful and painstaking investigation, realizing the confidence that would be placed in our reply. Our medical staff employed to make such investigations were most favorably impressed with the preparation known as Hall's catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. of Toledo, Ohio, and agreed that this peerless remedy deserves our highest indorsement. Many of the catarrh remedies on the market contain mercury, which destroys the sense of smell and deranges the whole system when entering through the mucous surfaces. From analysis we found that Hall's catarrh cure contains no mercury. It is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. We have no interest whatever in this matter beyond faithfully serving our readers, and as our indorsement is extended without reward of any kind, and is wholly unsolicited by this company, and will be received with the full credence that all our statements have met with for the past eighteen years.—Southern Review of Commerce.

None but the guilty can be long and complacently miserable.

Comedian, Confusion and the Congress.

A comedian in a Paris theater recently made a great hit out of a painful incident. While indulging in a bit of horseplay on the stage he struck his head accidentally against one of the pillars of the scene upon the stage. The thud caused a flutter of sympathy to pass through the audience. "No great harm done," said the comedian. "Just hand me a napkin, a glass of water and a salt-cellar." These were brought, and he sat down, folded the napkin in the form of a bandage, dipped it in the glass and emptied the salt-cellar on the wet part. Having thus prepared a compress according to prescription, and when everyone expected he would apply it to his forehead, he gravely rose and tied it round the pillar.—Collier's Weekly.

Sea Ports.

The memory of man runneth not back of the time when seaport towns and cities did not exist, thrive and flourish. There is a new and promising one growing up down south which bids fair to soon enjoy great commerce. It is La Porte, at the head of Galveston Bay on the gulf coast of Texas. A magnificent natural land-locked harbor already exists and extensive docks, wharfs and terminals are being constructed. The government is, to deepen Galveston Bay, affording a 26-foot channel into the splendid fresh water harbor bay of San Jacinto. As Newport News is to the Atlantic coast, and Duluth and Superior are to the inland seas, so La Porte is to be to the south.

A Story of Bismarck.

Bismarck was for some time an official reporter for one of the courts of justice. Upon one occasion, when questioning a witness, the latter made an impudent retort, whereupon the embryo chancellor exclaimed angrily, "If you are not more respectful I shall kick you out of the room!" "Young man," said the judge, interrupting the proceedings, "I would have you understand that this is a dignified court of justice, and that if there is any kicking to be done, the court will do it." "Ah, you see," said Bismarck to the witness, "if you are not more respectful to me, the court will kick you out of the room. So be careful, very careful, sir!"

MILLIONS OF WOMEN USE CUTICURA SOAP exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes, for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated or toilet soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

Initiation and Banquet.

The continued growth of the Barrington Social and Athletic club is very pleasant for us to chronicle. A special meeting held Wednesday evening to initiate into the society the new members accepted by the club at its last regular meeting swelled the membership roll considerably and it is needless to say that the hospitality accorded them that evening was fully enjoyed and the candidates agreed they never met a more social and gentlemanly gathering of young men than those who welcomed them at the door, and who afforded them entertainment throughout the evening.

At 10 o'clock all adjourned to the dining rooms of H. Butzow's to participate in the usual club dinner. Covers were placed for twenty-eight. Chief Butzow had all he could do at first to appease the appetites of the hungry clubmen seated at the tables, but the club members were compelled to surrender to "mine host" at the completion of the several courses served. The after-dinner speeches that followed, would have lowered a Depew from his pedestal and compelled him to admit that at last "there are others."

The club has already bulletined another candidate for membership. The prospects are very bright that many more will be added to the already large membership before another meeting is held.

Annual Entertainment and Ball.

The entertainment given on Thursday evening at Stott's hall by Barrington camp, No. 809, M. W. A., one of our most popular and live societies, proved to be a "howling" success. The large contingent of members and invited guests were at hand long before the doors were swung and within a short time every seat and available space in the hall was taken up. Fully 500 people were present.

From the time that Venerable Consul F. E. Smith arose and announced the opening of the evening's entertainment, in a few well-chosen words, until Prof. Sears' orchestra rendered the closing selection of the program, it is needless to say every number was greeted with hearty applause, and in fact was one of the best literary and musical events of the season. Refreshments followed, after which the hall was cleared and dancing was indulged in until an early hour.

A SURE CURE FOR COUGH.

Twenty-five Years Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of cough is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years constant use without a failure. For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

Basket Social and Entertainment.

The pupils of the Honey Lake school, under the instruction of Miss Priscilla Davlin, will give a basket social and entertainment Monday evening, February 19, commencing promptly at 8 o'clock. An editor prints his paper to give his patrons the news of the day and for the money there is in it. He is presumed to know of what he writes, and he generally does. When he writes as he does in the Leader Courier, Osceola Mills, Pa., without fee or hope of reward, that "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts magically, and we have found none better in our household. If you have a cough, try it," it may be accepted as an honest expression, worthy of credence. For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.
