 Mrs. R. H. Lytle visited her son George and wife, in Chicago, over Sunday.
 Will Vebis is working for the Chicago & North-Western railroad in Chicago.
 Brown Leghorn eggs for setting at 25 cents per setting. Alfred Hanns, Palatine.
 Mrs. M. Brown of Michigan visited old acquaintances here from Friday to Monday.
 Wallis Putnam drove to Sterling this week to get a fine new hearse for the livery stable.
 Mrs. C. W. Yost and Mrs. C. W. Meyer drove to Long Grove Wednesday to visit friends.
 Attorney Willard M. Smith returned from LaSalle Thursday, where he has been visiting his family.
 The high school team played the alumni last Saturday. The game was too uneven to be of much interest.
 "White Gem," "Little Tom," "Excellence" and "Auditorium" are new brands of cigars at Jas. Moorhouse's.
 John Biggs of Paris, Missouri, arrived in Palatine Friday to spend a few days with his wife and daughter.
 The railroad company has put a large scale on their property next to the stock yards, for the use of shippers.
FOR RENT—A farm of 150 acres commencing October 1st or later. For particulars call on M. Fosket, Palatine.
 Miss Mary Putman assisted by several of Mr. Sears' pupils will give a musicale at her father's home, Saturday, May 26th, at 5 o'clock.
 James Baker made a visit home Friday night. He has been in Kentucky with Carter's string of horses and returned with them to Chicago Thursday.
 The High school ball team will play the Chicago Manuel Training team on the local grounds this afternoon. Game called at 3 o'clock. Turn out and encourage the boys.
 C. D. Taylor will move his pigeon houses to the subdivision soon where he can better handle the birds. He will move onto the property containing the flowing well.
 The German Conference of the M. E. church has abolished the timelimit of preachers in one place. Heretofore a minister could not preach in one place longer than five years.
 I reckon not the seasons, Nor the years that come and go, Life's an all-around pleasure to me, Since taking Rocky Mountain Tea. Ask your druggist.
 A concrete sidewalk will be laid around the school yard lawn to take place of the present wood walks. The move is a wise one as a cement walk will last for years and always be good, whereas, the present walk has cost a large amount for constant repairs.

A crowd of young people from Chicago came out to Palatine Saturday night and went to Fox river for an outing with Palatine friends. They had a good time despite the cold weather.

Miss Emily Snider of Canada, sister of Sim Snider, has been engaged to teach the lowest room in the public school. The present teachers, with the possible exception of Miss Salzer, will be retained.

St. Paul's church choir will hold their concert on Saturday evening June 16th. Rev. J. C. Hoffmeister is working hard to make this the best concert by Palatine talent that our people have enjoyed.

G. A. Roberts of Liptner, Ill., suffered four years with a wad in his stomach and could not eat. He lost 65 pounds. Two bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin restored his appetite, cured his stomach trouble and today he is well and hearty and says he owes his health to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Chas. E. Churchill.

The Epworth League installed its new officers last Sunday evening. The exercises took the place of the evening sermon. The following are the new officers: President, Miss Grace Bentler; 1st vice president, Adella Smith; 2nd, Mr. Andermann; 3rd, H. A. Rea; 4th, Miss Blanche Schirding; secretary, Miss Mattie Hodgkins; treasurer, Miss Della Rea.

Last Friday afternoon was "parents day" at the public school and a large number of gentlemen and ladies listened to a program by pupils of the high school. Mr. Taylor, president of the board, made a short address and incidentally remarked that the Palatine young men who were holding best positions were graduates of the high school. After the program a luncheon of sandwiches, coffee, cake, pickles and olives was served by the young ladies. It was a very pleasant affair throughout.

Only a small number of persons gathered at the village hall last Monday to talk over township organization and the meeting was postponed to next Monday night at the same place, when it is hoped a large crowd will be present. Mr. Thieman told those present what was being done in Chicago to obtain control of the country towns, and it was enough to convince those present that some action should be taken to stop the movement going on in Chicago. If you don't want to pay taxes to maintain Chicago's political money grabbers come out next Monday night.

Henry Bartels, a wealthy farmer at Elk Grove, committed suicide by hanging Wednesday night. He lived in the same house with his son and was last seen at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and it was supposed he had gone to a neighbor's. When it was learned that he did not visit them a search was instituted and he was found hanging to a tree in a pasture. To enable him to commit the deed he obtained a strong clothes line, climbed the tree, and after adjusting the loop dropped from a limb about fifteen feet from the ground. He was 61 years of age and became despondent at times over his wife's poor health. Deputy Coroner Reynolds held the inquest Thursday evening.

Mrs. S. M. Johnson Surprised.
 Mrs. Solon Johnson was pleasantly surprised by a number of relatives at her home Tuesday afternoon. The guests began to arrive towards supper time but Mrs. Johnson suspected nothing for some time. She was finally told that she would be expected to keep the company until after supper. She told the guests that she would have to be excused for a time as she would have to go to town and add to the larder for such a large crowd. The guests made this unnecessary, however, for they had quietly left edibles at the back door before going in and those who had the affair in charge had things prepared to perfection. The hostess and her guests greatly enjoyed the occasion. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames R. M. Putnam, R. M. Gibbs, E. R. Converse, G. D. Stroker, F. A. Gibbs, G. H. Andermann and Mrs. R. L. Gibbs and Miss Mary Putnam.

Memorial Day Program.

Jephthah's Daughter:

A Story of Patriarchal Times.

Now, the young man Adina, having spent the night in ceaseless vigil also, was at the casement of his window, before the earliest streak of dawn, his life-blood throbbing to the thought that he was to see once more the form of her whom his soul so greatly loved, albeit speech and touch would be denied him. It had been the maiden's wish that she might not see him on this fateful morning, less that the sight of his unhappiness might cause her courage to give way. Still it was known to her the house wherein he dwelt, and he waited with his soul athirst, to see her make to him some sign of parting as she passed beneath the casement of his window. The blood flew surging to his heart as the group of maidens came in sight, their mourning garments rosied o'er by the glory of the rising sun, and their approach heralded by the wallings of the people who lined the streets on either side. His face went deadly white, and he was fain to clutch with both his hands at the casement of the window to keep from falling back.

Onward she moved toward him, the form that he was wont to fondle in his arms, screened from his loving eyes by those harsh draperies from which the ashes fell, as the morning breezes played about her. He was screened from view behind a curtain, but the resolution rushed upon him, that if she turned and looked, for even one instant upward, he would throw the curtain back and look at her, that she might see the mighty love-light in his face, and the compassion wherewith he pitied her. Strong man as he was it was a bitter thing to bear that she should go onward to suffering and death, and he stand by, in bodily safety, and see it.

But Namarah looked not up, and as she passed beneath his window, her head was bent forward, and she walked on calmly and as if in total unconsciousness of the dying heart that beat so near her. It seemed to him to be a cruel thing, untender and unthoughtful, and Adina rent his clothes, and turned away from the window with great groans of anguish that made one with the wallings of the people in the streets. It almost seemed to him as though he were nothing to her—as though she loved him not, and thought no more of him and of his love and woe. He paced the room, with the long strides of an angry beast, and ever and anon great sobs, that brought with them no soothing tears, shook mightily his strong young breast. All the day he spent alone, in the anguish of his stricken heart, fearing to go even unto Jephthah, knowing that his presence could be no comfort while that his grief so mastered him; but when evening was come he crept from the house, unseen of any, and went silently to the garden of Jephthah's house, that he might once more be in the place that had seen him so happy in the presence of his soul's love. Still and deserted was the garden, and the wan moon looked down to-night with the same cold face that she had turned upon the far different scene of last night. Adina wandered here and there among the trees, but ever he came back to the dear spot where lately he had stood with Namarah in his arms. The brook still babbled on, and the cooing of the doves came ever to his ears, as if to remind him that all was the same as before, save that Namarah was gone.

CHAPTER XI.

Resting his two arms against the trunk of a great tree, he laid his face upon them, shutting out the beautiful garden-scene, in which the maiden was not, and there he rested long in exceeding bitterness of spirit. Suddenly there was a sound of wings, and again the bird which he could recognize by its broken and injured plumage flew down, and hovering above him a moment, as if in doubt, came and nestled on his shoulder.

Adina took it softly in his hands, and turned his sad eyes silently toward the house where he lived alone. Even yet he had not the courage to go to Jephthah, but put it off until the morrow. As he walked along, ever smoothing the bird's feathers with caressing touches, he suddenly became aware of something smooth and hard fastened beneath its wing. Instantly the thought occurred to him that it might be a message from Namarah; but how, indeed, could it be so? Breathless with eagerness, he reached his chamber, and there found lights.

Carefully shutting himself in, and even drawing the curtains of the windows close, he severed the cord that held in place the little folded note, and opening the sheet, read:

"Adina, My Beloved: I can give thee no greeting as I pass thy window, but I shall even then have close to my breast the dove which is to bear this my last message to thee. The message is but this, that thou hast heard so often: I love thee, and I charge thee, by that love, give not thyself to heavy grief, but ever take courage and have hope. If thou lovest me, I would have thee bear up with patience under the heavy burden and to comfort my father Jephthah. Pray ever for deliverance for us both. Sorrow not, beloved, seeing that I ever love thee, both in this life and that which is to come. Thine, NAMARAH."

And underneath she had written the word "Mizpeh."

In reading these lines, the soul of Adina was greatly comforted, so that he felt a new courage come to him, and ever thereafter, until the two months were come to an end, he bore himself patiently and submissively and murmured no more. Each day that dawned saw him beside the old man Jephthah, sustaining, comforting and cherishing him, though, mayhap, his own heart was even at that same time sunk down with weariness.

And after he had brought the white dove home that night, it ever came to him afterward of its own accord, flying at sunset into his window and perching there, if he was absent, until he returned, and often he would take it in his hands and talk to it, such words as his frozen heart refused to utter unto human ears, and ever it seemed to give him greater comfort than any human friend.

As the two months of absence of the maiden Namarah began to draw to a close, the soul of Adina grew each hour more exceedingly sorrowful, and Jephthah also went heavily from morn till evening and took no comfort save in the presence and companionship of Adina, who was become to him even as his own son.

And when the eve of the return of Namarah and her maidens was come, all the people of Mizpeh were aware of it, but so great was their sorrow for the maiden, that they feared to look upon her face, and as at set of sun the children playing in the streets brought news that the maidens were returning, behold, the people gat them to their houses, they and their children, that none might look upon Namarah in her misery and her affliction.

And as Namarah and her maidens made their way along the streets of Mizpeh, behold, they made a picture sad to see, for their garments of sackcloth were torn and stained with their sojourn in the wilderness of the mountains, and their feet were sore and weary, and as Namarah walked first among them, her companions uttered a low wailing of distress. But the maiden herself was silent and made no sound, either with her voice or with the worn-out sandals of her feet, but ever moved noiselessly as a shadow, with bent head and hands clasped wearily.

No human creature did they see. The streets of Mizpeh were as uninhabited as were the mountain forests they had left, and a vast and solemn silence, more awful in this place of many habitations than in the open country, brooded over everything.

As they moved along in slow procession, suddenly above their heads there was the sound of wings, and a flock of snow-white doves came downward from high in the air, and, flying low, preceded them with slow and steady motions all up the empty streets. And as men or women here or there watched furtively from behind the drawn curtains of their windows, this most strange sight—the maidens in their mourning garments preceded by the flock of white doves—struck awe unto their hearts. And added to the sight there was a strange and awful sound, for even as the maidens crooned their low, sad wails, the doves from their flight in the air joined to the sound their plaintive cooing and complaining.

To the other maidens it seemed as but an accident that the birds should meet and join themselves to the procession; but Namarah believed it not. Her heart told her that her tenderly loved birds had recognized her, and before she reached the door of her father's house one of them had ever separated from its companions, and circling a moment, as if in doubt, above her head, presently flew downward and alighted on her shoulder. Then did Namarah unclasp her hands and take it under her cloak and press it against the warmth of her heart; and although the feathers of its wings had grown out again, and it was even smooth and shapely and snow-white as the rest, she knew it to be the messenger between Adina and herself. Howbeit, she knew not that it had earned a stronger claim to her affection yet, in that it had been the chief companion and comfort of her lover during the long days and nights of her absence. (To be continued.)

SURVIVAL OF THE UNFITTEST.

Instances in Nature Where Good Gives Way to Seemingly Evil.

A matter that has attracted the attention of all outdoor students for ages, and which still remains unsettled, is the fact that, although the farmer wages a constant warfare on weeds in order that his crops may grow, the food-bearing plants often fail to seed fruition, but the weeds never. The more noxious the plant the more certain it is to flourish, says a New England writer. What is true of the plant world is true of bird and mammal life. The English sparrows, which nearly every one hates, increase at the rate of millions yearly, in spite of rigid winters and bounty laws, while the birds which add the beauty of color and song to outdoor life are tending toward extinction. The frost that imprisons the grouse, by forming a crust over the snowbank where he has sought shelter, at the same time protects the field mouse pest from his natural enemies. The same crust bears up the wolf, while it practically imprisons the deer. Insect parasites kill the game birds, while the owl seems to enjoy their companionship and cares not how thickly they swarm within the cover of his plumage. The crows fly over morning and evening from roosting to feeding place and return in flocks as great as those of a century ago. The ducks and geese return from the south spring after spring with constantly thinning ranks. As the eastern writer puts it, the chances are that a hundred years hence, in the death of game, the leading sportsmen will be wrangling over the merits of their skunk dogs and bragging of their bags of crows and sparrows.

EXPENSIVE FLOWER SEEDS.

One Species Is Worth as Much as $120 an Ounce.

"At this time of the year there is plenty of work for the 1,200 girls who put up seed packets in the numerous wholesale flower houses in New York," says a correspondent. "Some of the big houses take on hands early in February, but most of the girls do not find steady employment until March and April, when the demand for flower and vegetable seeds is very large. Girls make the best packers of seeds because they are small fingered and alert, and do the delicate work more expeditiously than men. Seed packets hold anywhere from one-eighth of an ounce up to one pound or more, and a good hand will measure, fill and seal up ready for shipment from 1,500 to 2,000 packets in an hour. The girls are paid about 15 cents for each 1,000 packets they put up, and providing they work steadily for eight hours, they can earn from $1.75 to $2.50 per day. The most expensive seeds that are put up are petunias, the fancy, newly grafted kind, and calciolaria. A fine petunia seed is worth $25 an ounce. It is as light and fine as chaff or down, and must be handled very carefully to avoid waste. Extra fine grades of calciolaria and petunia seeds are worth as much as $120 an ounce. This may seem like a big price for such a small quantity of seed, but the greatest pains have to be taken to raise these plants and prepare the seed for market. In vegetables the most costly we have to consider is the cauliflower. This seed is worth from $25 to $30 a pound, and is put up and generally sold in very small measurements. The cheapest vegetable seeds are corn, peas and beans, and they are put up in 5 and 10 cent packages."

Her Unique Idea.

A Pittsburg girl, who was a genius for giving charming luncheons and originating novel features for them, introduced a flower-arranging contest the other day, which all her friends are copying. When each guest took her seat for this particular luncheon she found at her cover a pretty vase of Bohemian glass. Beside the vase she found two or three rosebuds and a few sprays of green. The hostess explained that each girl would be expected to show her artistic skill by arranging the flowers in the vase; that a prize would be given for the most exquisite grouping. Five minutes were allowed for the work, and at the end of that time some very dainty vases were ready to be judged. The prize was one of those smart little flower hampers which the florists are fitting out this winter. It was filled with violets and tied with violet ribbon.—Kansas City Journal.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL

Passed by the House—It Authorizes the Illinois River Survey—The House Passed the Senate Bill to Incorporate the American National Red Cross.

Thursday, May 17.

Wolcott in senate made speech attacking pneumatic tube appropriation and its lobbyists. It was rather strange, said the senator, that the postmaster of Chicago was recently violently opposed to the pneumatic tube service, but is now as violently in favor of it. A deputy marshal charged that bogus Cuban stamps were made in printing office at Muncie, formerly owned by Neeley; present manager of plant denied this. Washington officials fear Neeley cannot be extradited. House passed emergency river and harbor bill, which authorizes Illinois river survey.

Friday, May 18.

Deputy Auditor Reeves confessed and surrendered $4,500 given him by Neeley. Bogus stamp story false. Congress may pass law for extradition with Cuba. Gov. Smith of Montana appointed Martin Maginnis senator. House passed bill to pay Lee's men for loss of horses taken in violation of terms of surrender at Appomattox. Game will issue call for redemption of $25,364,500 outstanding 1891 bonds. Immigration of Japanese laborers more than doubled last year.

Saturday, May 19.

It is said that a syndicate secured an option on the Danish West Indies for $1,000,000 and tried to sell them for $4,000,000 to the United States. Secretary Hay learned of scheme and will wait until contract lapses and then negotiate direct. Rear Admiral Ahmed says his mission is to study naval construction and not to settle claim against Turkey. The white house has thirty-four servants. St. Louis likely to get $5,000,000 appropriation for its exposition.

William H. Hunt of Montana has been selected for secretary of state for the island of Porto Rico.

Monday, May 21.

Democrats on house committee filed minority report, declaring anti-trust bill designed for political considerations. House passed bill establishing eight-hour day on public works, including that by contract. E. G. Rathbone, director of Cuban posts, suspended; accounts will be investigated. House passed bill to make convict-made goods subject to laws of state to which shipped. Senate voted to continue present pneumatic tube service, but opposed extensions. Supreme court will hear drainage canal case during October term. Congress probably will adjourn on June 9.

Tuesday, May 22.

Spooner addressed senate in favor of his bill providing that upon suppression of the insurrection the government of the Philippines shall devolve upon the president until such time as congress shall direct. Senate committee declares methods of the Marcus "Committee on Distribution" of "The Messages and Papers of the Presidents" have for their object an intent to deceive, and copyright is illegal. W. A. Clark's latest credentials as senator from Montana laid on table in senate. The United States refused Liberia's request for an old warship. House leaders decided to reduce war taxes at next session. House discussed Alaskan bill.

ACCUSED OF CUBAN POSTAL FRAUDS.

Swedenborgians in Council.

The eightieth general convention of the New Jerusalem church began in Cincinnati Tuesday with about fifty ministerial and one hundred lay delegates. Rev. John S. Saul delivered the annual address before the ministerial council. Rev. James Reed of Boston was elected to succeed the late Dr. Worcester as president of the convention.

LOSES EEL RIVER LINE.

Indiana Wins Long Contested Suit Against Wabash.

By a decision of the Indiana Supreme court at Indianapolis the state will take possession of the Eel River road. Attorney-General Taylor declares that under the decision an effective anti-trust law can be enacted by the legislature. The court affirmed the case from Howard county, in which the state sought to throw the Eel River railroad, which had been absorbed into the Wabash system, into a receivership, claiming the Wabash destroyed the Eel River line's business in order to make it a system to the greater system. The people along the line of the Eel River road had voted $300,000 to the Eel River project in order to secure competition with the Wabash, and when the Wabash company destroyed this competition by absorbing the road the state brought action to annul the charter of the Eel River line and oust both companies.

To Prosecute for a Death.

The Masonic order of Topeka, Kan., particularly the Knights Templars, are planning to begin prosecutions due to the death of Mrs. John M. Torrence. Mr. Torrence was up to the time of his death, eight months ago, chief clerk in the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe car service department there. After Mrs. Torrence died the coroner's jury rendered a verdict declaring that she came to her death by peritonitis, due to typhoid fever; that the case was under the care of faith-curists and had no medical care or treatment.

Doctor and Patient Missing.

North Manchester, near Wabash, Ind., is agitated over the mysterious disappearance of Dr. T. A. Lancaster, a leading practitioner of that town and a man of means, and Mrs. C. R. Barratt, a married woman whom he attended professionally. Ten days ago Lancaster went to Bolivar, two miles from North Manchester, and there bought a ticket to Chicago. It was represented that he went to the city to buy a low rate ticket to California.

Havana Clear of Yellow Jack.

Surgeon-General Sternberg has received a report at Washington from Maj. W. C. Gorgas of the medical corps, chief sanitary officer of Havana, in which he says that while the death rate for April was 482, there were no deaths from yellow fever, the first month so favored since May, 1899, and the only month when there were no deaths from this disease during the past ten years, with two exceptions February and May, 1899.

Cholera Continues at Bombay.

It is officially announced at London that the viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, cables that the cholera continues to be very prevalent at Bombay and elsewhere, and that this fact chiefly accounts for the decreased number of persons on relief work. He adds that showers have been numerous, thus improving the water supply and fodder somewhat in parts. The total number of people receiving relief is 5,607,000.

Lutheran League in Session.

The fourth annual convention of the Lutheran League opened at Cincinnati Tuesday with almost 2,000 delegates present. The society is like the Christian Endeavor, the Epworth League and corresponding societies of other churches. The president is E. F. Eilert, of New York, and the secretary W. O. Olson, of Chicago. A chorus of 150 voices has been rehearsing for weeks for the song services.

To Push War Against Yaquis.

The government of Mexico is sending a large force of troops into the Yaqui country to re-enforce the troops now there under command of Gen. Torres in quelling the rebellious Indians. Two regiments have left Mazatlan. The summer campaign against the Indians is to be pursued with relentless vigor.

Will Sell the Mattoon Farm.

There will be no home at Mattoon, Ill., or elsewhere for aged and disabled engineers. The brotherhood after an all day's session at Milwaukee on the proposition to establish on the farm near Mattoon owned by the brotherhood a home for aged and infirm engineers decided to sell the property.

Insurance Agent Under Arrest.

Percy B. Sullivan of Chicago, operating in east Tennessee as C. F. Endicott of the British and American exchange, was released at Clinton, but was rearrested Tuesday. He is charged with operating in the state without a license for an unlicensed concern and for failing to attach revenue stamps.

Negro Escaped Lynching.

Near Ryan, I. T., Rufus Bunor, a negro, killed a 9-year-old girl who was living with his family and attempted to conceal the crime by burning the dead body. He was caught in the act and an attempt made to lynch him. Bunor was rescued and landed in jail here.

Giving Real Mothers a Chance.

The Iowa committee which has in charge the arrangements for the annual session of the National Congress of Mothers to be held soon at Des Moines intends to keep the "honorary mothers" in the background and give the real mothers a chance.

One of the plans to avoid the jests of the newspaper humorists is to give seats in the boxes of the auditorium where the sessions are held to all Iowa women who are mothers of 12 or more children. The plan was announced only a few days ago, and already a dozen claimants to the honor have appeared, one woman having 18 children. None has yet arisen, however, to equal the record of the mythical Florentine woman who died in 1570 and had 52 children or the Spanish woman who died in 1883 leaving 37 children.

Another idea of the Iowa women is to provide a kindergarten and day nursery in the convention hall for the benefit of those mothers who feel that they cannot attend the convention because they have little ones who cannot be left at home. The model kindergarten is to be under the direct care of the Des Moines Froebel association.

These are sensible innovations and will make certain the attendance of many mothers and will do much to prevent the jokes which have heretofore been perpetrated upon the Mothers' Congress.

The current number of Cassler's Magazine contains an article by E. Sherman Gould, in which he expresses a doubt whether Americans will hold the leading place among foreign business interests in Cuba. After remarking that no amount of Anglo-Saxon energy can accomplish much in that island without capital he goes on to show that capital will come in abundance as soon as a stable government of some kind is established. But this writer believes that British and other European capitalists will chiefly be the ones to enjoy Cuban prosperity because their business methods are more acceptable to Spanish speaking countries. They will come in with their system of long credits and beat the American competitor, who is given to insisting on short credits or cash payments. They thoroughly understand the grand tactics of commerce from long practice, and the American plan of presenting the goods in one hand and the bill in the other is not a part of these tactics. It is undoubtedly true that the American short credit system, which is admirable for home business and has now completely displaced the old long credits except in parts of the south, is non grata in Spanish speaking countries. The question is one that must be considered by American merchants and jobbers doing business in the island.

A Philadelphia judge has denounced the habit of women carrying their purses in their hands. This denunciation was caused by a trial before him of a man who had snatched a pocket-book from the hand of a woman on the street. The thief was caught almost immediately and promptly arraigned and convicted. The judge sentenced him to two years' imprisonment and then, looking sternly upon the complainant, said, "The careless manner in which women carry their purses nowadays imposes an unnecessary burden upon the police, although their carelessness is no excuse for theft." The subject of a woman's pocket and the carrying of her purse in hand is not a new one, and no adequate solution seems to have yet been suggested. Usually she has no pocket, and if she had one and made use of it the purse might cause the pocket to bulge, which would mar the fit of her gown, and that, of course, would never do. If this learned Philadelphia judge, instead of criticising the way women carry their purses, would devote his energy and talent to devising some solution of this vexed question, he would be a benefactor to half the human race.

A letter from Havana states that "one may walk at night the most unfrequented and darkest streets without molestation," which is very much more than can be said of many cities in the United States.

Our Claims Against Turkey.

There are those who contend that the Christian missionaries of this and European countries in Turkey are there not by treaty rights, but by the sufferance of the sultan, who is the head of the Mohammedan church as well as the head of the Ottoman empire and who holds that in preaching Christianity and opposing the faith of Islam they are guilty of sedition and their acts and teachings are subversive of the existing government and that, therefore, they are neither entitled to the protection of the Turkish authorities nor governments in which they claim citizenship.

In the case of the American demand for indemnity for the destruction of the property of missionaries from this country, even if tenable, this contention cannot now be raised, since the porte and the sultan have "confessed judgment" in the case, admitting the validity of the claims, which were originally $300,000, but have from time to time since been whittled down to $90,000. According to the undisputed statement of our diplomatic agents in Constantinople, the Turkish government has repeatedly promised to pay these claims, but has each time defaulted until now the patience of our government has about reached the limit of endurance. The Turks profess to be amazed that the state department at Washington should insist upon pressing the claims, even to the point of severing diplomatic relations with the sublime porte if necessary, and continue to quibble and temporize over the matter. With a view, doubtless, of placating the American legation at Constantinople and possibly securing more time the porte has agreed to allow the American missionaries to rebuild their establishment at Karput, which was destroyed by the Kurds, and also promises that it shall be protected against further outrages. If the promise of the Turk could be depended upon, which is open to doubt, this would be a distinct gain for the American missionaries, as it would establish their rights in that quarter.

While the newspaper talk about sending an ultimatum to the sublime porte and dispatching warships to seize the port of Smyrna and hold it until the dues collected are sufficient to pay the claim is no doubt premature, this government has given the sultan plainly to understand that payment must be made and that it must be done right away. While the amount demanded may be a paltry sum, vastly less than it would cost to collect it by force, it must be collected for the principle involved. Indeed were the claims for 90 cents instead of $90,000 the American insistence upon a settlement would and should be just as strenuous.

La Reforme Economique, a Paris publication, prints some interesting statistics of the French postal savings bank system, which show what great aid it is in encouraging thrift among the people of small and moderate incomes. During the year 1898 the enormous number of 451,716 accounts were opened, of which 227,739 were by men and 223,977 by women. The greater proportion of these were by children, who numbered 114,865, or 25.43 per cent of the whole. Second in number were domestic servants, of whom 67,825 opened accounts. Accounts were opened by 64,940 industrial workers, 62,604 day laborers and agricultural workers and by 37,215 clerks and other office employees. The total number of depositors in France now reaches the enormous number of 3,087,721, with $75,000,000 francs to their credit. The postal bank acts as a feeder for the larger savings banks, for the national bank will not receive deposits aggregating more than 1,500 francs from one person. Largely through the postal bank the other savings banks have received deposits of 3,405,000,000 francs, which is an average of 112 francs for every man, woman and child in France.

A Catlettsburg (Ky.) paper contains the announcement that the East Ashland Cow Insurance circle has called for another assessment, Noah McKenzie's cow having died. The circle is composed of 25 members, and when any one of them loses a cow an assessment of $1 each is levied, to go toward the purchasing of a new cow. This is a rather unique insurance company, but we don't see why it isn't a very good and neighborly thing.

A gold brick man who imposed on a farmer in Massachusetts the other day wrote him a letter afterward advising him to keep the affair quiet, so that people would not take him for such an easy mark. This looks like adding insult to injury; but, after all, it was perhaps good counsel.

Matter of Business

Grand Republic Cigars
are Good Cigars.
That's Business.

We don't claim them to be the best in the world, but do assert most positively that we know of no other as good for the same money;

That's our Business. If a better cigar can be made to retail at five cents each, it will be found out in time;

That's your Business. And inasmuch as business is Business.

We want you know how good the GRAND REPUBLIC CIGAR is, in order that we may both do

Memorial Day next Wednesday, May 30th.

Geo. Glynn is spending the week at Waukegan.

Geo. Hapke and Wm. Tekampe made a trip to Waukegan last Friday.

J. E. Pratt of McHenry, was a pleasant caller in our village Wednesday.

J. F. Grosvenor of Chicago, spent Sunday in our village with his mother and sister.

Prof. Jno. Hodge of Lake Zurich, was a pleasant caller in our village last Saturday.

N. B. Dwers and J. W. Torrance transacted business at the county seat last Wednesday.

Messrs. H. Maiman, J. Golding, J. W. Gilbert and M. W. Hughes transacted business in the city Wednesday.

The wedding bells are expected to ring in the near future for one of our male citizens. Watch for hand bills.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark and family moved into their new house last week which has just been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Spencer returned home Monday evening after spending a few days with relatives and friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fuller who for the past year have occupied the rooms above the cash store, moved into Mrs. H. H. Ruggles' residence the first of the week.

C. A. Hapke and G. W. Pratt performed the wedding act at the Oak Park pavilion last Saturday evening. They report a good crowd and a pleasant time.

Bert G. Snow, agent for the Home Life Insurance Co. of New York, who has been spending the past few weeks in our village, left for Chicago Sunday evening.

Mesdames A. Cook, H. Golding and Misses Mary Basely, Laura Harrison, Avis and Ruby Cook, Bell Taggart and Gracie Wells took a trip to McHenry Wednesday and report a very pleasant time.

B. J. Barker has purchased a new wheel and has been breaking it to ride for the past week. It is a treacherous beast though and bucks like a wild west bronco. Ben firmly believes, however, that he will conquer in the end and with this hope in view continues his task day after day.

A grand concert by the Barrington M. W. A. Band will be held at Oakland hall, next Wednesday evening, May 30th, under the auspices of the Wauconda Camp M. W. A. Admission, adults 25 cents; children, 15 cents. Forester drill at 6:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. M. L. Powers and son Arthur went to Elgin Thursday, to attend the wedding of Frank Horton and a young lady of Elgin whose name we have been unable to learn. Mr. Horton who was a former resident of our village will no doubt be remembered by many of our citizens as a fine, upright young man, and his many friends will be pleased to hear of his matrimonial step which we trust is for their mutual benefit.

The house and lot formerly owned by Miss Caddie Smith and recently advertised for sale by G. F. Mills of Woodstock, was sold at public auction Wednesday, May 23rd, at 11 o'clock a. m., to the highest bidder, who proved to be L. C. Price, for the sum of $1,780.00. In purchasing this place Mr. Price has secured one of the nicest homes in the village of Wauconda and at an exceptionally low figure. The house is very nicely arranged throughout and the lot is highly improved by trees and shrubbery as well as other improvements and is located in a nice part of the village.

The Wauconda Telegraph and Telephone company met in annual session last Thursday, for the purpose of declaring dividends for the past year and electing officers for ensuing year. The meeting was called to order by the secretary, John Golding, and L. C. Price was chosen temporary chairman, after which the business was taken up in its order. A brief sketch is as follows:

Officers chosen for ensuing year: H. Maiman, president; J. Golding, secretary; A. L. Price, treasurer. Directors: A. L. Price, L. C. Price

J. Golding, H. Seip, H. F. Hughes, T. V. Slocum.

Toll books for receipts for past year were examined and deducting expenses allowed, declaring of 11 per cent. dividend, which was accordingly done.

After a short discussion in regard to improving line a committee was appointed to look into the matter and report at next meeting which will be held subject to the call of the president.

CARY WHISPERINGS.

Miss Nellie Tomisky is the owner of a nice bicycle.

Rev. Dutton of Wauconda was in town Monday.

Biliousness is a condition characterized by a disturbance of the digestive organs. The stomach is debilitated, the liver torpid, the bowels constipated. There is a loathing of food, pains in the bowels, dizziness, coated tongue and vomiting, first of the undigested or partly digested food and then of bile. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets allay the disturbances of the stomach and create a healthy appetite. They also tone up the liver to a healthy action and regulate the bowels. Try them and you are certain to be much pleased with the result. For sale by all druggists, Barrington; A. S. Olms, Palatine.

LANGUID

How are the children this spring? Complaining a good deal of headache, can't study as well as usual, easily fall asleep, and are tired all the time? And how is it with yourself? Is your strength slipping away? Do you tremble easily, are your nerves all unstrung, do you feel dull and sleepy, and have you lost all ambition?

That's Spring Poisoning

Nearly every one needs a good spring medicine; a medicine that will remove impurities from the system, strengthen the digestion, and bring back the old force and vigor to the nerves. A perfect Sarsaparilla is just such a medicine; a Sarsaparilla that contains the choicest and most valuable ingredients; a Sarsaparilla accurately and carefully made, and one that experience has shown is perfect in every way.

That's AYER'S

"The only Sarsaparilla made under the personal supervision of three graduates: a graduate in pharmacy, a graduate in chemistry, and a graduate in medicine."

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

"I am perfectly confident that Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Pills have saved my life by taking them every fall and spring. I have kept them in the house for the past twenty years."—EVA N. HART, Buffalo, N. Y., March 29, 1900.

WINTER BILE

Causes bilious head-ache, back-ache and all kinds of body aches. Spring is here and you want to get this bile poison out of your system, easily, naturally and gently. CASCARETS are just what you want; they never grip or gripe, but will work gently while you sleep. Some people think the more violent the griping the better the cure. Be careful—take care of your bowels—salts and pill poisons leave them weak, and even less able to keep up regular movements than before. The only safe, gentle inside Spring cleaner for the bowels are sweet, fragrant CASCARETS. They don't force out the foecal matter with violence, but act as a tonic on the whole 30 feet of bowel wall, strengthen the muscles and restore healthy, natural action—buy them and try them. You will find in an entirely natural way your bowels will be promptly and permanently put in good order for the Spring and Summer work.

THE RELIEF OF MAFEKING.

After 217 Days of Hardships the British Column Comes to the Rescue.

Mafeking's remarkable siege and defense lasted just 217 days. The town and its story will furnish one of the most interesting episodes of the history of the war. Gatacre's reverses, Buller's failures and Kimberley's famous mines did not divert attention from the gallant defense made by the handful of men at Mafeking under the command of Col. Baden-Powell. The little half-British, half Bechuana settlement in the north on the Transvaal border was in reality hardly worth the siege or the defense to either side. But it was attacked vigorously and defended valiantly. On Oct. 12, only two days after the arrival in England of the Boer ultimatum, the burghers crossed the Transvaal border forty miles south of the town and cut off railway and telegraph communication. From that time the people in the place were compelled to subsist upon the stock of provisions in Mafeking at the beginning of the war. Baden-Powell's scouts and runners brought news to the outer world occasionally telling of attacks and repulses, of the sufferings inflicted some damage with their bayonets. The children became so accustomed to shells that they watched for them to burst and then fought for possession of the fragments. On Dec. 26 Mafeking prepared a sortie and carried death up to the very trenches of the enemy. Capt. Vernon and Sanford were killed and Lords Edward Cecil and Charles Cavendish Bentinck were wounded. On Jan. 6 word came from Baden-Powell: "We are making up our minds to stick this out as long as need be, and have food for another three months." Colonel Baden-Powell must have figured in his horses and mules as available food supply, for Mafeking had soon to begin dieting on that kind of fare. Meanwhile Colonel C. O. Plumer started with a formidable body of horse from Tuli in Rhodesia, and his long march south to the relief of the brave little town has been one of the most interesting features of the war. Toward the end of February the people of Mafeking began to feel the pinch of hunger, and to realize what a siege really means. On Feb. 19 it was reported that the garrison had been placed on the shortest possible rations. By this time the besieged were growing accustomed to horse meat, and that, too, in small quantities, of the besieged and of hunger and sickness, but always with the word that the heroic commander could still hold out. Two days after the siege began the Boers opened an attack, thinking they could take the city at once. They met with a bewildering repulse, which Baden-Powell described in the following message:

ON THE LOOKOUT OF THE WESTERN OUTPOSTS OF MAFEKING.

"Fight Monday. All right." After this the burghers settled down to a bombardment which lasted almost up to the very day when the town was reached by the relieving forces. After a few weeks of shelling and waiting a Boer messenger with a white flag approached the British works and asked for a surrender. Baden-Powell was sleeping when the messenger arrived. He was awakened at once, and after giving the Boer an excellent luncheon he told him to return to General Cronje. "Tell Cronje," said the undaunted colonel, "that when we have had enough we will send out to him and let him know." About this time Reuter's correspondent wrote: "Colonel Baden-Powell is always smiling. When the people see him walking down the street whistling they take heart."

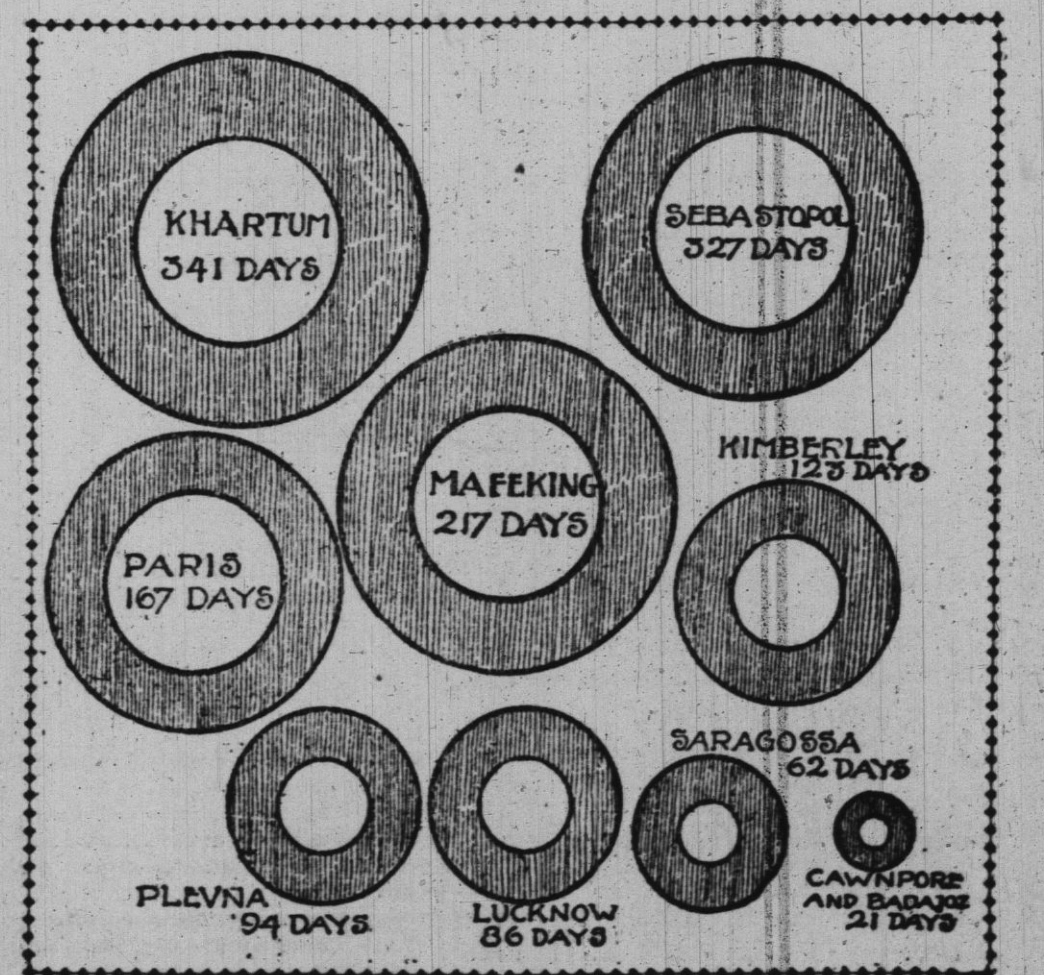

After the return of their man the Boers were inactive for several weeks. Then the colonel sent them this message: "You can't take us by sitting down out there. Why don't you come in and get us?" This started up the bombardment again. Week after week the shells shrieked over Mafeking. The convent was hit, the hotel hurt a little, and the famous dog was killed, but no British. Early in the siege Baden-Powell's men made a few sorties and Everybody was fed, but nobody was surfeited.

In spite of their short provisions, several sorties were made by the garrison, some of them successfully. Plumer's column reached the vicinity of the town early in March, but his attempts to relieve his friends within the works were futile. He was outnumbered by the Boers. With March came the scourge of fever, but even disease could not shake the courage of Baden-Powell. On April 15 came Lord Roberts' dispatch, in which he asked the commander of the garrison to hold out till May 18. Then began several relief movements toward the town, with the chief and successful one marching from the south. The last attempt of the Boers to take Mafeking was made on May 12, when they were repulsed with severe loss.

Queen's Girlish Feelings.

Gossip has it that pretty Queen Wilhelmina is by no means free from girlish feelings. Formerly she was too strictly controlled to be able to indulge in her natural curiosity in her neighbors, but now she has a keen delight in hearing from her ladies in waiting all sorts of pretty details of the lives and affairs of her courtiers and subjects.

GREAT SIEGES OF THIS CENTURY.

SLAYER AMUCK ON A STEAMER.

Kills Seven Persons and Wounds Five After a Robbery.

Philip Nordlund, after committing a robbery on the steamer Prinz Carl, plying between Koping and Stockholm, Sweden, murdered seven persons and wounded five others on the steamer. From cabin to cabin the slayer ran in a frenzy, shooting and stabbing all who fell in his path, until, exhausted by his madness and exertions, he clambered over the side of the vessel into a lifeboat, in which he escaped to land. Behind him the murderer left confusion and terror, so that much valuable time was lost before pursuit was begun. Women and men, forewarned by the screams of fellow passengers who were victims of the vicious attack, locked themselves in their staterooms, and in one instance several passengers trapped in the smoking-room were targets for the homicide. The man escaped in the lifeboat.

TAKE POLITICS OUT OF CHRITY.

Recommendation of the National Conference at Topeka, Kan.

At the session of the national conference of charities and corrections in Topeka, Kan., a report was made by Prof. F. W. Blackmar, of the Kansas state university, from the special committee appointed to consider the subject of "politics in charitable institutions." The committee recommended that such institutions should be taken out of politics entirely and civil service regulations provided. The document closes with the following: "We appeal to all parties, to statesmen and politicians, to see to it that the baneful influences of partisan politics be removed from the administration of our charitable and correctional institutions, that crimes and defectiveness may be decreased and the burdens of taxpayers be lessened."

Four Children Die in Fire.

The house of Thomas Brody, ten miles from Nashville, Tenn., was consumed by fire Sunday night and four of his children perished in the flames. Brody was a tenant farmer and lived in a small frame house. He, his wife and two grown daughters went to church in the evening. They left the four smaller children asleep. Returning from church at 10 o'clock the house was found in a blaze. The entrance was obstructed by flames, but the children could be seen still asleep in the room. The four were burned to death. Two of them were boys and two were girls and their ages were from 5 to 13 years.

Eccentric Woman Dead.

Mrs. Frances B. Hiller, most famous of woman eccentrics, died Friday at Wilmington, Mass. She will be buried in a $50,000 casket, which she had constructed two years ago, under her personal supervision, and will be laid to rest in a $500,000 mausoleum built by herself and her first husband. After her first husband's death Mrs. Hiller startled the community by marrying her coachman, Peter Surette, who for a large money consideration agreed to change his name to Hiller. A niece of Mrs. Hiller's gave Surette a sound thrashing with an umbrella for his action.

Starts Fight on Vivisection.

The story at Chicago that students of the postgraduate school at 2346 Dearborn street are paying 50 cents a head for dogs to be used for vivisection has aroused the anger of Mrs. Marion Alber, the Boston antivivisectionist, who is abiding in Chicago. Mrs. Alber has undertaken the task of stopping the practice in Chicago. She and Philip Peabody, the Boston millionaire, once made a strong pair of champions for the dogs of New England. Mrs. Alber is gathering signatures for a petition asking that "the brutal and inhuman" practice cease.

Christian Brothers to Build.

Official information has been received at the apostolic delegation in Washington, D. C., to the effect that the Christian Brothers of the United States have obtained permission to open a high school for boys at Minneapolis, Minn., $250,000 having been set aside for the building, which will be erected on Nicollet island. This movement on the part of the Christian Brothers evinces the fact that the fight against them is dying out.

Editor Cited for Contempt.

E. Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, has been cited to appear before the Supreme court June 5 to answer to a charge of contempt. The complaint was filed by Attorney-General Smyth, who charged Mr. Rosewater with printing scandalous falsehoods concerning the Supreme court in connection with the Omaha fire and police litigation.

CARTER MEDICINE CO. WINS.

Obtains Injunction in Case Involving Simulation of Labels.

Brent Good, president of the Carter Medicine Company, yesterday received a telegram from his lawyers in Chicago, Messrs. Lowden, Estabrook & Davis, informing him that a final injunction, with costs, had been granted against the Chicago Label and Box Company. This company makes a specialty of manufacturing labels, boxes, etc., for druggists. The Carter Company has been following them through the courts for two years on the complaint that the label company was making simulations of the labels of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They have now obtained a final injunction with costs, and the costs are very large, as the case has been submitted to a Master in Chancery for a final accounting.

The Carter Medicine Company has been the first and only one to prosecute printers or engravers who have prepared such labels and wrappers. It marks a new departure in infringement cases, and their victory is one of great importance to the whole "proprietary trade," and also of interest to retail druggists.—NEW YORK PRESS, MAY 2, 1900.

A Crushing Retort.

Foote, the great actor, was the guest of a wealthy banker at his country house. At dinner a dispute arose between the actor and a young nobleman who sought to disparage Foote by asking him what his father was. "A tradesman," said Foote. "Then, sir, it's a pity he did not make you one." "And pray, what was your father, my lord?" "My father, Mr. Foote, was a gentleman." "Then, my lord, it's a pity he did not make you one!"—DENVER POST.

PE-RU-NA

FOR WOMEN

The debilitating drains and discharges which weaken so many women are caused by Catarrh of the distinctly feminine organs. The sufferer may call her trouble Leucorrhoea, or Weakness, or Female Disease or some other name, but the real trouble is catarrh of the female organs and nothing else.

Pe-ru-na radically and permanently cures this and all other forms of Catarrh. It is a positive specific for female troubles caused by catarrh of the delicate lining of the organs peculiar to women. It always cures if used persistently. It is prompt and certain.

SEE TO THE WALLS.

A Danger in Schoolrooms and How to Prevent It.

Owing to the gathering of so many different classes of persons therein, the interior walls of churches, schoolhouses, hospitals, etc., are apt to become repositories of disease germs unless preventive measures are taken. These walls should always be coated with a clean and pure cement, such as Alabastine, which is disinfectant in its nature and more convenient to renew and retint than any other wall coating. The first cost is no greater than for inferior work, while renewals are more easily and cheaply made.

Several fine and classical selections were skillfully handled during the evening, demonstrating that the band is still making rapid improvement. The foresters of the camp also turned out and gave an excellent drill on the streets.

Freeport Journal: It is said that bogus census enumerators are already on the grounds. Their object is evidently to get signatures to a paper which turns up in some bank afterwards in the shape of a note for collection. Don't monkey with the bogus enumerator. The real thing don't begin work till June 1, and he will wear a government badge. If one of the frauds should pay you a visit beat him off with a wet elm club. Just knock the census out of him. But don't do that to the real thing next June.

A small change in the C. & N. W. Railway's time card is expected to take effect June 3rd. It is thought that the changes of the present time will be but little. It is possible that the summer Geneva Lake train will be put on on that date, arriving at Barrington in the afternoon and returning to the city in the evening, as heretofore. It has been current report that the changes to be made will require one of the Barrington trains to run to Crystal Lake and make that place its destination. It is impossible to state at this time which of the Barrington trains will make the extended trip.

Memorial Day.

Memorial Day will be fittingly observed in Barrington this year. The G. A. R. assisted by the W. R. The Simplest and Best

ANYONE who will stop to think for an instant cannot help but admit that the less parts used in any machine the less trouble and expense will be noticeable to the operator and owner. It must be admitted that in Simplicity is the Essence of Perfection.

The Jones Lever Binder has but 16 pieces in the knottor alone while on other machines the parts used for a like purpose are from 28 to as high as 50 pieces. It is the simplest, lightest draft and longest lived mower-made. It is made of steel and malleable iron for long wear and requires less expense for repairs than other machines.

THE JONES CHAIN MOWER

Is the leading grass cutting machine of the world. A glance will convince anyone that such is a fact. We invite you to call and examine the Jones Lever Binder and Jones Chain Mower.
