A portion of the second half will be devoted to a discussion of the last five chapters of "The Art of Study." Teachers will please bring a copy of "The Art of Study" with them. ### Schering-Bolte Wedding.

Miss Lizzie Schering of this place and Mrs. Ed Bolte, of Arlington Heights, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents in Palatine last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. J. Drogemuller, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding supper was served, only the immediate families of the contracting parties being present. The Arlington Heights military band serenaded the happy couple in the evening. The bride is a young lady of estimable qualities, and will prove a jewel in the home she is to grace. The groom is one of Arlington Heights most popular young men, and was recently elected to the office of village clerk. He is proprietor of a boot and shoe store at that place, and is a young man of steady habits. We extend the young couple our heartiest congratulations.

Obituary.

The funeral of Ralph L. Beutler was held at the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon. Rev. D. J. Holmes, pastor of the church, preached the funeral sermon and commented on the moral life of the departed in very favorable terms. A quartet, composed of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Heise, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smyser sang. The Palatine Athletic club, of which the deceased was a member, took a prominent part in the services. They escorted the body from the home to the church and from there to the cemetery. Each member wore white gloves and wore a white carnation in the buttonhole. The pall bearers were selected from the club members, and at the grave each member deposited his flower upon the casket.

The flowers were very numerous and beautiful, among them being tokens from former fellow employes in the Chicago and Northwestern railway's Chicago office, the Western Electric company's employes in Chicago, the Palatine Athletic club and the Epworth League.

Ralph was born in Palatine and attended school here, graduating from the High school under Prof. W. L. Smyser. Soon after his graduation he found employment in the Chicago and Northwestern railway office in Chicago, where by strict attention to business he received several promotions, being at the head of one of the tariff departments when he retired on account of his health four years ago. He went to Arizona to obtain relief from his disease, and bid fair to recover when other complications and diseases sapped his strength, and during the past few months he failed rapidly. He returned home April 28, and three days after he passed away. His death was as falling into sleep.

Ralph was of a cordial, happy disposition, always courteous, and one who made friends of those whom he chanced to meet. During his sickness in the west his letters home were full of cheerfulness and hope. He will be missed in the home and among his many acquaintances.

Board Proceedings.

The regular meeting of the village board was held on Monday night. In the absence of A. G. Smith, Trustee Kuebler was appointed clerk pro tem. The treasurer's report, showing a balance of $1,357.23 on hand, was read and approved.

Trustee Putnam, chairman of the drainage committee, reported on the three petitions for sewers and gave an estimate of the cost of each. The railway company was reported as probably willing to allow drainage under the tracks without making trouble for the village.

Upon motion the committee was instructed to go ahead with the work when they saw fit.

The following committees were appointed by President Olms and concurred in by the board.

- Finance—Comfort, Kuebler, Putnam.
- Streets and Drainage—Putnam, Ost, Horstmann.
- Fire and Water—Ost, Kuebler, Putnam.
- Sidewalks—Prellberg, Kuebler, Horstmann.

- Night Policeman—Henry Law.
- Special Night Policeman—Herman Schroeder.
- Special Police—Charles Seip, Wm. Linnemann, Wm. Langhorst.

The plat of M. Richmond's subdivision was presented, and upon motion was made a part of the map of the village.

LAKE'S GOOD FORTUNE.

Rural Routes to be Established in Every Section of the County.

At last Lake county is to the front in matter of rural delivery of mail. Officials having the establishing of new rural routes, for which a large appropriation is available, realizing that northern Illinois has been slighted in the matter of free rural delivery, whereas whole counties in other sections of the state now have this improved system in effect, have decided to remedy things, and as an initiative will establish a system of free rural mail delivery routes in conjunction with the three now operating, covering Lake county in its entirety. It is to be a clean sweep, and no portion of the county is to be overlooked, says the Libertyville Independent.

The new service is to be inaugurated just as soon as necessary arrangements can be perfected, and the officials are now busy mapping out the many new routes and attending to preliminaries.

To assert how many new routes their plans contemplate would be merest conjecture, but it is conceded thousands of dollars will be necessary to inaugurate a complete system covering every portion of the county and that the project is an extensive one, meaning much to Lake county.

There is no remedy so generally useful as Cole's Carbolsalve, and thousands of mothers know it. It instantly stops the pain of burns and cuts and heals without scars. Insect bites, plant poisoning, catarrh, inflamed eyes, boils, ulcers and all itching and torturing diseases are quickly relieved and permanently cured by it. Your money back if it fails to satisfy. 25 and 50c by all druggists.

Sunday afternoon witnessed the departure of Messrs. George C. Roberts and Earl L. Harrison for California, where they have gone for a rest from business and to regain their lost health. Mr. Roberts has for a long time conducted the drug store with the assistance of his wife. But the strain, connected with the unsettled condition of the weather, has gradually been depriving him of his fairly good health until he found it necessary to take a vacation in the glorious climate of California. Mr. Harrison, who holds a good position with Marshall Field's wholesale house, has found that too close confinement to business has demanded a change. They expect to be gone about two months, during which period Mr. L. A. Jones, of Chicago, will take charge of the business. We hope to see Mr. Roberts and Mr. Harrison return in the very best of health.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Caroline Glaubit, an Aged Lady, Victim of Heart Disease.

Coroner Taylor of Lake county was called here Wednesday to hold an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Caroline Glaubit, mother of Mrs. Charles Walbaum, who died suddenly Tuesday night at the home of her daughter on the Fred Wiseman farm.

Mrs. Glaubit had been a sufferer of heart trouble for six years past, although her general health was good. Tuesday she showed no signs of being ill, but seemed to be more interested in work about the house than usual. She ate a hearty supper and retired to her room about 9 o'clock. An hour later she complained of being ill, got up and went to the sitting room. Her daughter applied such remedies as had proved of avail before in like attacks, and the mother laid down upon the couch, apparently better and dropped off to sleep. A few moments later the daughter noticed a strange pallor on the mother's face and became alarmed. A messenger was dispatched for a physician, but before he arrived the aged mother had passed away.

A coroner's jury, composed of M. T. Lamey, E. M. Blocks, John Johnson, Charles Westphal, Edward Peters and C. H. Morrison, reviewed the remains and heard the testimony of Charles Walbaum, son-in-law, and Tena Walbaum, his wife, and daughter of the deceased. The verdict returned was death from heart disease.

Mrs. Glaubit was 67 years of age, a widow, and had resided in Illinois about 12 years. For the past two years she had made her home with her daughter.

The funeral was held today, Rev. Alfred Menzel conducting the services. Interment was in the German cemetery in this village.

Exit Salyards.

The Highwood Independent is no more!

The notorious little sheet which came prominently before the public a short time ago through its editor receiving a terrific beating for publishing offensive articles about two citizens of the place has been issued for the last time.

The editor, Richard Salyards, made no valedictory address, he merely quit business. Whether it was the defeat of his political faction which he represented which caused him to abandon the work; whether it was because he never fully recovered from the licking the citizens gave him, or whether he merely became tired of publishing a paper, is not chronicled.

All there is to it is that Editor Salyards has thrown down his "terrible" pen, the citizens no longer wait on the corners to see if he has said aught against them, and "ye editor" contents himself with doing a little job work on the side to remind him of the "happy" by-gone days.—Waukegan Sun.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Measures Under Consideration in the Capitol at Springfield.

CHANGE IN CHILD LABOR LAW

Senate Strips the Bill of Amendments It Had Put Upon It and Its Passage Is Assured—Canal Appropriation Goes Through.

The child labor bill was relieved by the senate of the amendments put upon it by that body. This was done by a vote of 36 to 3, which is taken as assuring the passage of the bill in its original form as it passed the house.

The amendments had been put on by Senator Walter of Alton to cover objections raised by the glass manufacturers. They cut out the prohibition of night work by children under 16 years of age, and changed the maximum working day allowed children under 16 from eight to eight and one-half hours in order to make the legal working day co-equal with the working day of the glass blowers. By the elimination of these amendments night work by children is absolutely prohibited in the bill, and the maximum working day for them is fixed at eight hours.

Local Option Wins. The local option bill has passed the house, although not in the shape its makers wanted. The bill as it stands now before the senate provides for a vote on saloons or no saloons in any city, village or town throughout the state, and when the will of the people is recorded it becomes mandatory on the local authorities to carry out that declaration for two years, whether the vote be for or against saloons. As the law is now, a city council or village board can continue to grant liquor licenses even when the people vote no license.

Speed Bill. The senate passed the Lyon automobile bill as passed by the house. It restricts the speed of automobiles on public streets, roads and highways to fifteen miles, except on city speedways, where high rates may be specially allowed. It also provides that in suit for personal damages by reason of horses being frightened by automobiles, the fact of the accident shall be prima facie evidence of the automobilist having been traveling at higher than the legal rate of speed, and puts on him the burden of proving the contrary.

Money for Canal. The house gave a large part of its time to appropriation bills. Only two of them provoked much debate, the appropriation of $142,000 for improvement and maintenance of the Illinois and Michigan Canal and the appropriation of $10,000 for dredging the Cache River in southeastern Illinois and reclamation of many thousands of acres of swamp lands.

Representatives Burke and Chicago and Parish of Kankakee were especially vigorous in opposing the state canal appropriation bill, speaking in explanation of their votes.

The bill was passed by a vote of 82 to 36. Thirty-one Cook county members voted for the canal appropriation and only eleven voted against it.

Sherman Is Facetious. "All this bill does is to make the Cache River navigable for the catfish coming up from the Ohio river," said Mr. Sherman, in attacking the appropriation of $10,000 for reclaiming swamp lands.

Mr. Bundy pointed out that it was always a case of "you tickle me and I'll tickle you" on appropriation bills; that southern Illinois had been voting regularly for other sections' bills and now asks only this little crumb which would bring into use thousands of acres of valuable land. The bill passed 58 to 26.

Epileptic Colony. Establishment of an epileptic colony is provided for in one of the appropriation bills passed by the house. The sum of $10,000 is set apart for it. The house defeated, by viva voce vote, a resolution declaring that building and roadway work done for the state should be done by union labor where such can be obtained.

Among other house bills passed by the senate were Mr. Russell's, permitting banks to deduct real estate from their capital stock assessment; Mr. Trautmann's, prohibiting the garnishment of wages earned in another state; Mr. Wheeler's, revising the law in regard to free employment agencies so as to conform to the recent decision of the Supreme court.

"Chicago Is Saved." "The senate concurs in the house amendment to senate bill No. 40," said President Pro Tem. McKenzie, "and Chicago is again saved." That marked the last legislative step, by an almost unanimous vote, necessary to make the Mueller municipal ownership street railway bill a law.

Legislators Are Busy.

The senate concurred in the house resolution for final adjournment on May 7. The resolution was hung up, however, by a motion to reconsider the vote by which it was concurred in. Action on this motion to reconsider was postponed and the adjournment is still "in the air."

Child Labor.

The child labor bill passed by the house will come up in the senate. Senator Walter had the bill recalled to second reading, and will offer a number of amendments, the principal of which makes an eight and one-half-hour day possible for boys employed in the glass works. The labor people who are advocating the bill oppose the amendments.

Regulates Pawnshops.

Mr. Grove's bill regulating pawnshops was passed by the house. The bill provides that pawnbrokers shall make daily reports to the sheriff of all articles pawned, with a description and address of the persons pawning them. No article thus accepted in pawn or purchased shall be sold until twenty-four hours after such report is made to the sheriff. The bill gives the sheriff close supervision over the pawnshops.

Kill Soldiers' Home Bill.

There was a sharp debate over the bill reducing the limit from the Soldiers' home at Danville within which saloons may be run from 7,000 feet, as at present, to 2,000 feet. Mr. Allen opposed the bill and moved to strike out the enacting words, and in support of his motion read a letter from Supt. Clement of the home. The enacting words were stricken out and the bill killed on a viva voce vote.

Must Pay in Full.

Mr. Chipfield called up his bill making it unlawful for an employer to withhold any part of the wages due an employe, under pretext that the amount so withheld is to be presented to the employe at a given time, conditioned on satisfactory service or good behavior. The bill passed.

Stock Breeding Act.

Mr. Bundy's bill amending the stock breeders' act by making the lien enforceable for one year was passed, as well as Mr. Shurtleff's amending the law in relation to the appointment of receivers by providing that property may be released where a bond is filed.

Fraternal Insurance.

Mr. Brundage called up senate bill 366 (Farnum's), exempting the property of fraternal insurance companies from taxation. Mr. Castle moved to strike out the enacting clause, but the motion failed, and the bill was advanced to third reading. Mr. Montellus called up senate bill 482 (Haas') to regulate the business of operating elevators. It was advanced to third reading.

Criminal Cases.

Mr. Breidt called up the senate bill providing that in the trial of criminal cases the jury shall fix the minimum punishment to be inflicted on the prisoner instead of giving an indeterminate sentence. Mr. Rinaker moved to strike out the enacting clause of the bill, declaring that it would amount to a practical repeal of the parole system. Messrs. Darrow, Norris and Mundy defended the bill. Mr. Rinaker's motion was lost and the bill was advanced to third reading.

To Pay Claims.

Mr. Curtis called up senate bill 105 to pay the awards made by the commission of claims. It passed—yeas, 93; nays, 0. The bill carries the following appropriations: To Harry E. Witte, $3,000; to Chicago League Ball club, $2,000; to Charles Hatfield, $1,000.

On motion of Mr. Curtis the consideration of house bill No. 866, making an appropriation for the maintenance of the Illinois and Michigan canal, was postponed. The bill failed to pass, and a motion to reconsider the vote by which it was beaten is pending.

Mr. Curtis called up senate bill 25, making appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the state charitable institutions. It passed—yeas, 95; nays, 0. The bill, as amended by the house, carries a total appropriation of $1,713,659 for 1903, and $1,972,150 for 1904.

ILLINOIS STATE NEWS

LAWYER'S SAD HALLUCINATION MUD COVERS GRAVEL ROADS

Imagines He Is a Presidential Candidate and Spends Clients' Money.

Fred A. Randle, an attorney of Hillsboro, was tried in the Circuit court for embezzlement. The jury found that the acts were committed as charged, but that at the time the defendant was a lunatic, and that such lunacy or insanity still exists. He was then ordered to be taken to the Jacksonville asylum for the insane by Judge Dwight. Ever since 1896 Mr. Randle has been engaged in an imaginary campaign for the presidency of the United States, spending large amounts in circulating campaign literature in his own behalf and in furthering this campaign he used some money collected by him for various clients, particularly the R. G. Dun commercial agency.

HEADS ROYAL ARCANUM.

Frank L. De Witt, the newly elected grand regent of the Grand Council, Royal Arcanum of Illinois, has been a prominent member of that order since 1886. A member of the Lagrange council, of which he has been regent, he was elected to the grand council in 1895, and since that time has held several important offices. Mr. De Witt is a druggist and for many years has been connected with Fuller & Fuller company of Chicago. He was born in Wisconsin and is a resident of Lagrange.

STRIKE OF BUILDING TRADES

Springfield Workers Quit Work When Demands Are Refused.

Building operations in Springfield are at a standstill because of the strike of the carpenters and stonemasons. The woodworkers demand an increase from 35 to 40 cents per hour, and the contractors employing union hands have refused. Powers' and Vredenburg's planing mills are closed, but the large plant of McGruce & Powell has granted the carpenters' demands. When the stonemasons in the Culver stone works declared a strike when their demand for 40 cents an hour was refused, Col. Culver discharged the entire force of men. Stonemasonry machines are now being installed. The brickmakers have been allowed an increase of 15 per cent in the wages to keep them at work, and the electricians are now receiving $3.20 for an eight-hour day.

Dies of Lockjaw.

Frank Haugh died of lockjaw at St. Mary's hospital, Decatur. It was thought when he was first taken sick that he was a tramp without a home. He would not tell of any of his relatives until he knew he was going to die, and then it developed that he belonged to a well-known family of Delphi, Ind. The mother and brother, Harry Haugh, arrived in Decatur before the man died.

No Sunday Shaving.

The Alton barbers will no longer shave their patrons on Sunday. At a meeting of the Barbers' union it was decided that all union shops must be closed on Sundays. Attempts to close barber shops on Sunday have failed before, but a heavy fine will be imposed on proprietors of any union shops allowing their men to work on Sunday.

Strike at Bloomington.

Bloomington witnessed the most extensive strike among trades unions May 1 that has been inaugurated in many years. Every member of the Carpenters' union, Horseshoers' union and several other minor organizations laid down their tools when the bosses refused to sign the new scale of increased wages.

Postpone Opening.

The opening of the new library building at Decatur, which was to have taken place May 1, has been postponed several weeks. The building is not yet completed.

Safeblower Is Killed.

Harry McMillan, a safeblower, who was shot and wounded while trying to escape arrest in Quincy three years ago, was recently shot and killed while attempting to evade arrest in Cleveland, Ohio.

Farmers Complain that Extra Horses Must Be Used for Small Loads.

The country roads in the vicinity of Charleston are in a condition never before known at this time of year. Farmers complain that an empty wagon requires the strength of a powerful team to drag it through the clinging clay, while extra animals must be added to haul even the smallest loads. The splendid gravel highways across the prairies east and south of Charleston have all but disappeared into the mud, and before they recover their former condition, must be entirely resurfaced. The road from Kansas to Paris in Edgar county, which has been instanced as a model of gravel road building, is, perhaps, in the worst condition of any. A cloudy spring, retaining the moisture in the earth is responsible.

ABANDONS NEWLY WED BRIDE.

Man Taken from Jail to Marry Leaves Wife in the Lurch.

Levi Gartside of O'Fallon, Ill., who was taken from the county jail at Belleville, to marry Cecelia Metzger of Collinsville in the court of Police Magistrate John S. Carson, deserted his bride and boarded a suburban car and left immediately after the ceremony. The bride waited near the courthouse for his return about two hours, and then learned what he had done. A warrant was issued for his arrest for wife abandonment.

DEATHS.

John Gottschalk of Urna died at St. Mary's hospital, aged 52 years. At Moline, Capt. Luke E. Hemenway, aged 87. Near Centralia, Mrs. George Porter. At Charleston, James Wheatley and Peter Ferry. Near Pleasant Plains, Daniel Fink, aged 80. At Mattoon, Charles Robertson and Mrs. Sarah E. Rhea.

Rounding Up Counterfeiters.

The running down of a band of counterfeiters who have put in circulation in western Kentucky and southern Illinois spurious national bank notes is expected to be completed soon. The bills are mostly of the $5 denominations, purporting to be issued from the National bank of Lebanon, Ky., and contain a photograph of Gen. James A. Garfield. The check letter is "D," the charter number 2150 and the bank number 1538. It bears the forged signature of O. D. Thomas, assistant cashier, and John D. Carlisle, vice president. The work is fairly clever. Besides these bills, the gang is supposed to have put in circulation a large number of silver dimes and half-dollars.

Buys Big Tract of Land.

J. F. Rauch of St. Charles has purchased a tract of land from P. D. Galaher, containing 1,679 acres, and located northwest of that city, for $83,950. He will drain 400 acres of the land, which are covered by lakes, and construct levees. Several houses will be constructed and the land used for farming. Adjoining the tract is the Baldwin farm, which contains several thousand acres.

District Road Overseers.

The highway commissioners of Edwardsville township have organized by the election of George Schon as president, Benjamin Epping vice president and S. J. Stubbs overseer. The district overseers appointed are: First, J. Tomasek and J. E. Lewis; 2d, F. Gebhardt and J. Sedlacek; 3d, Jesse Yates and C. Bollinger; 4th, J. Shaffer and M. Crda; 5th, Wm. Dickman and H. Heeren.

Falls on Hot Coals.

Phillip Horton of Venice will probably die from the effect of burns received at the roundhouse near Brooklyn. He attempted to jump over the ash pit, but slipped and fell into the hot coals. He was sent to Brooklyn for treatment. One of his legs was amputated, and it is believed that the other must be amputated.

Gets Heavy Fine.

Bert Murray of Jerseyville was taken to Carrollton by Sheriff Paul Wood on the charge of wife abandonment. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs by Judge King.

Gun Club Reorganizes.

The Litchfield gun club has reorganized with nearly 100 members. It has neatly arranged grounds, with trapehouses, clubhouse and all necessary appliances.

Big Mortgages.

Circuit Clerk Burkitt has received two mortgages to record that are record-breakers in Franklin county. One was from the Central Union Telephone company, consideration $6,000,000, and the other was from the St. Louis Valley Railway company, consideration $5,500,000.

Make 1,000 Arrests.

The annual report of the chief of police showed that during the fiscal year ended May 1, 1,000 arrests were made by the Decatur police force.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

BY AMELIA E. BARR.

Author of "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," "I, Thou and the Other One," "The Maid of Maiden Lane," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Dodd, Mead & Company. All rights reserved.)

CHAPTER V.—(Continued.)

The man and the time and the place had met and there was no doubting it. His words burned this assurance into the hearts of all who heard him, and when he struck his sword hilt to emphasize them, they answered with the same movement, unconscious and simultaneous.

In some remarkable way this tremendous national crisis had become known in every corner of the land. And the very vagueness and mystery of the conviction intensified its importance, for generally the information came as the wind blows, no one knew whence.

At Swaffham and de Wick this fatal feeling was aggravated by keen personal interests. To Mrs. Swaffham, and Jane the coming battle might mean widowhood and orphanage. To de Wick it might mean the extinction of the family, root and branch, the loss to the lonely earl and his daughter of the one love on which their future could build any hope.

On the third afternoon, there came rumors of a great Parliamentary victory, rumors that Charles Stuart had been slain in battle, suppositions and surmises innumerable and contradictory. Jane went as quickly as possible to de Wick, for if indeed there had been a Royalist defeat, Stephen de Wick might have reached home and life was hardly to be borne, unless some certainty relieved the tension cutting like a tight thong the heart and brain.

The neglect and desolation of de Wick Park had in it something unusual; it was that strange air of sorrow, new and unaccepted, which insists on recognition. It hurried Jane's steps; she felt sure she was either an hour ago, so tired he could scarcely sit his horse. He has had a warm drink and sleeps, but he says no victory was ever like it.

"And my father and brothers? What of them?"

"Your father is well; Tonbert and Will have some slight sword cuts. We must be ready to go with Dr. Verity to London on Tuesday morning. Your father desires it. To-morrow, being Sabbath, we can do nothing towards our journey, but on Monday all must be finished."

Jane worked rapidly. Her little box was soon packed, her room put in order, when there was a sharp, impatient knock at the door. Before she could in any way answer it, Matilda de Wick entered and threw herself on her knees at Jane's side.

"You said you would help me," she cried; "you said you would, with heart and hands! Now, Jane, keep your word!"

"What is it, Matilda? What is it you wish?"

"It is Stephen; it is his friend Hugh Belward. They are searching de Wick for them now. I have brought them to you. Jane, for God's sake save them; not for my sake, not for pity's sake, but for God's sake save them! They are now outside this door. Jane, Jane! Why don't you let them in? Oh, for God's dear sake!"

"How can I do what you ask me, Matilda? Think of what you ask—"

"I know; I ask life for two poor souls ready to perish. Jane, there is no time to talk. Let them through the door."

"I will call mother," she said; "let them in until I bring her here." Then she opened the door, and Matilda brought the wayworn, bloodstained,

"Last Wednesday, on the third day of this month."

"Mother, remember how sad we were all that day. You said to me, 'Jane, there is death in the air; and the men could not work, and they vowed the beasts trembled and were not to guide or to hold.'"

"The third of September!" said Mrs. Swaffham, "that was Dunbar day. A great victory was Dunbar!"

"Yes; and now there is peace."

"Peace comes too late for many a family. There are the de Wicks."

"I am sorry for them, and I could be sorer if they had suffered for the right instead of the wrong. What will the young lady Matilda do after her father's death?"

"Her aunt, Lady Jevrey, has been written for, more than a week ago. She may be at de Wick even now. I think Matilda will make her home with the Jeverys."

"Then she goes to London. I know their great house near Drury Lane. It has very fine gardens indeed. And now, Jane, dear, little Jane, listen to me. You are going to the great city, to Whitehall palace, to Hampton court, to the splendor and state of a great nation. You will be surrounded by military pomp and civil glory and social pride and vanity. Dear little girl, keep yourself unspotted from the world!"

"May God help me, sir."

"And let not the tale of love beguile you. Go often to the assembling of the saints and catch the morning dew and celestial rain of their prayers and praise."

Jane smiled gratefully, and her eyes were dim with tears as she laid her hands in Doctor Verity's to clasp her promise. Yet when she reached her room and sat quiet in its solitude, no one will blame her because many thoughts of love and hope blended themselves with the piteous ones she sent to de Wick, and to the two weary fugitives under Swaffham roof.

CHAPTER VI.

On the Tide Top.

The great day of triumph was over. Cromwell had entered London at the head of his victorious army, and the city was safe and jubilant. Standing at her mother's side, Jane had witnessed from a window in the crowded Strand the glorious pageant of Liberty.

And in the midst of this joyful turbulence she had caught sight of her father and brothers and lover; her father's face sternly glad, like the face of a man who had fought a good fight to assured victory; his sons imitating his bearing, as well as youth could copy age; and the young lord not far from them, proud and radiant and carrying aloft the colors of the Commonwealth.

As yet they had not met, nor had Cluny any certain knowledge of the Swaffham's location. Mrs. Swaffham had learned that Cluny Neville was personally objectionable to her husband and sons, and, as she could not see clearly what road to take, she very wisely stood still, waiting for some light and guidance. And it seemed unnecessary to trouble Jane's heart until there was a positive reason for doing so; yet her depression and evident disappointment fretted her mother.

"What is the matter with you, Jane?" she asked irritably one morning; "you look as if you had lost everything in the world instead of being as your father thinks, right on the road to many a good day. I wouldn't throw such a damp over things if I were you."

"You seem to have forgotten Cluny, mother."

"He seems to have forgotten us; he might have called, I think."

"Does he know where we are?"

"He could have found out. And, Jane, it is not maidenly to take any young man so seriously as you take Lord Neville until your father and brothers are satisfied."

THE MODERN MAIDEN'S TROPHIES.

Spoils of Victory Carried by Society's Sweet Pets.

We saw a damsel on the train—a damsel fair to see; her bonnie eyes were glad and bright, her smile was one of glee.

Her bonnet was the proper shape, her dress the latest mode—but, ah, the buttons, pins and things her natty costume showed!

Six army buttons on her cuff lent it a semblance gay. (They were no imitations, for they shouted, "U. S. A.!")

Adown the bodice was a row that glowed with polish great—ten buttons from the soldier blouse that's furnished by the state.

Four yachting pins, a jeweled badge some hero's deed had won; a golden trophy given to some expert with a gun.

A Harvard pin, a Princeton pin, Northwestern pins as well; U. C., U. I., U. M.—She must have been a college belle!

Three golden links, a Mason's charm, an Alpha Beta stud—we wondered then how many youths had found their names were mud!

Her finger bore a graven seal—the size that's made for men, and on her collar we discerned a college pin, again.

About her hat there stretched a band from some grim man of war. We wondered at the ribbon there, and what she wore it for.

And as we gazed, a youth who sat beside this damsel fair gave her a badge from off his vest; she tucked it in her hair!

Lo, the poor Indian, savage, crude, ill tempered, hard to tame—he ties his scalp locks to himself and glories o'er them the same!

IRVING M. SCOTT, "MAN WHO BUILT THE OREGON," IS DEAD

Irving M. Scott, vice president and general manager of the Union Iron Works, and known to national fame as "the man who built the Oregon," died at San Francisco last week.

Prominently mentioned as a candidate for the vice presidency on the ticket with McKinley in 1900, twice a formidable aspirant for the senatorship, and for many years a leading figure in the business and political life of California, Mr. Scott was a man whose death is regarded as a distinct loss to the state. He was one of the most progressive shipbuilders in the world, and besides constructing the Oregon his firm built the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila; the Charleston, the Farragut and other vessels of the American navy, and filled contracts for the navies of Japan and Russia.

Mr. Scott was educated at a public school in Baltimore, finishing his course at Milton Academy. Junius Brutus Booth was one of his fellow pupils, and the visits of Edwin and John Wilkes Booth to their brother are among his schoolboy remembrances. In 1857 he was engaged in the mechanical department of an engine works, and in the evenings studied draughting at a mechanics' institute in Baltimore. In 1858, Col. Peter Donahue of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, engaged him as special draughtsman and took him West. In 1862 he resigned and took up the manufacture of mining machinery. All those massive engines that developed the great mines of the Comstock were the product of Scott's ingenuity.

After his marriage in 1863 Scott was again engaged by Col. Donahue and returned to the Union Iron Works as superintendent. Two years later Donahue retired, putting Scott in his place as partner. The plant was greatly enlarged, becoming the most extensive on the coast and capable of turning out anything from a battle ship to a needle.

Mr. Scott never held a public office of much importance except that of presidential elector and chairman of the California commission to the World's Fair at Chicago. He leaves a widow and two children, and his brother, Henry T. Scott, who is now the head of the Union Iron Works.

GIVES UP PALATIAL ESTATE.

"JOE" CANNON'S CAUSTIC WIT.

Anson Phelps Stokes Tires of His Summer Home.

Anson Phelps Stokes has practically abandoned Shadowbrook farm, his splendid country place in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts. It represents an outlay on the owner's part of $650,000, a large portion of which was used in restoring the farm lands to something as near their natural condition as possible. Shadowbrook as a residence is too large for the use of anyone but an extremely wealthy man and is unfit for a hotel. Several persons have considered acquiring it, but no one has decided to do so, and therefore it will remain unoccupied for the coming season.

THE BISHOP'S WITTY REBUKE

What He Thought of Young Clergyman's Pulpit Effort.

New York is laughing over a rebuke that Bishop Potter is said to have administered recently to a young and presumptuous clergyman. This clergyman's charge is a small rural church and the bishop visited it one Sunday to confirm some boys and girls. The clergyman preached and at the end of the service complained to the bishop about the smallness of his salary. "Do you know, sir," he ended, "what I will get for my sermon of this morning? Six dollars, sir; only $6." "Six dollars! Is that all?" the bishop exclaimed. "Why, I wouldn't have preached that sermon for $600."

The Date of Adam's Birth.

With a view to ascertaining the exact date of Adam's birth, Dr. Lightfoot, a well-known scientific man, has spent much time during the last fifteen years. After making many calculations he concludes that Adam was born on October 23, in the year 4004 B. C. The learned investigator has not yet been able to arrive at the exact date of Eve's birth, but it is said that he is now grappling with this problem, and is confident he will be able to solve it within the next few years.

Mrs. Harrison May Sell Home.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of the late president, proposes to sell to Mr. Ingersoll, the millionaire bachelor, her beautiful home in the Adirondacks, Berkeley lodge. The place has tender associations for Mrs. Harrison, as she and the late general planned it together soon after their marriage and spent every summer there, but she has, it is said, received a tempting offer and is considering it.

Illinois Statesman's Good Answer to Shrewish Landlady.

"Joe" Cannon's wit is of the rugged western kind, lacking conspicuously everything in the way of Chesterfieldian grace. Here is a story which illustrates this characteristic of the distinguished Illinois statesman: On one occasion he was breakfasting at a hotel in a small country town when he accidentally upset his coffee on the table. The landlady commented somewhat shrewishly upon his carelessness, but Mr. Cannon made no reply. At the succeeding meal she took occasion to say: "It's a good thing for you that the coffee left no stain on my tablecloth." To which Uncle Joe calmly replied: "It was too weak, ma'am. You'll have to stain your coffee before you can expect to stain your table linen. Use more beans, ma'am, use more beans."

WORTH TAKING A CHANCE.

Secretary Root Gives Advice to the Postmaster General.

A story comes from Washington that a Chicago woman has been using the mails in an improper way. Postmaster General Payne ordered that her letters be excluded from the mails, whereupon the fair Chicagoan wrote asking him for a personal hearing so that her side of the case could be presented. "I feel sure," she wrote, "that if I could get a chance to look straight into your beautiful brown eyes you would hear my story." Mr. Payne by the way of a joke wrote on a blank leaf of the letter: "Respectfully referred to the secretary of war for advice" and sent it over to Mr. Root. The latter immediately returned it with this indorsement: "Risk one eye. Ellihu Root."

A Living Boquet.

A flower and vegetable quadrille was recently danced at a ball in Paris. While the gentlemen represented the homely vegetables of everyday use, the ladies were clad as blossoms, the most noteworthy being the rose, in pink satin, with a butterfly hovering over her head; the heartsease, with a violet velvet hood; the lily, with an arum blossom on the head and the large leaf as a fan; and the sunflower, with a small sun-dial on the bodice, while the flower on the head constantly turned toward a huge yellow fan imitating the rays of the sun. The camellia, wallflower and violet completed the living boquet, which entered the ballroom in a huge wheelbarrow drawn by two gardeners.

INTIMIDATION LAW IS DECLARED VOID

Federal Supreme Court Declares Invalid the Statute Guarding Rights of Negroes.

Washington special: The law enacted to carry out in part the provisions of the fifteenth constitutional amendment by prescribing punishment for those who, by intimidation, bribery or otherwise, prevent a negro from voting, has been declared entirely void by the Supreme court.

The previous decision had declared it unconstitutional so far as state elections were concerned, and the judgment makes the invalidity apply to federal elections also.

The case arose in Kentucky, where Henry Bowman and others were arrested for bribing negroes to stay away from the polls during the congressional elections of 1898. Bowman's case was made the test case, and he was released on a writ of habeas corpus, the district judge holding that as the statute had been declared unconstitutional so far as state elections were concerned, it was also void as to federal elections.

The Supreme court affirmed this view, six justices concurring in the majority opinion, Justices Harlan and Brown dissenting, and Justice McKenna taking no part in the case.

STUDENT IS BRANDED WITH RED HOT IRONS

Grand Rapids, Mich., special: John McPherson, president of the junior class of the Grand Rapids high school, bears an ugly mark on his forehead in the form of the figures '03 firmly imprinted there, he alleges, with hot branding irons by members of the senior class.

McPherson was inveigled into a vacant lot surrounded by bushes and trees, where the conspirators were waiting to decorate him and where a fire built in a hole in the ground heated the irons. He was firmly bound and then two young men who wore masks applied the brands. It is declared that they were chosen to do the work by a vote of the senior class and their names are kept secret.

After he had been freed by his assailants McPherson hastened to a physician, who counteracted part of the effect of the blisters, but he is marked probably for life. He has been urged to make complaint to the authorities, but refuses.

POLICEMEN CAPTURE YOUTHFUL BURGLAR

New York Detectives Arrest Eight-year-old Boy, Who Carries Full Set of Cracksman's Tools.

New York special: Detectives Little and Gaynor saw a light in Mr. Lauer's laundry at 171 Spring street late on Saturday night. The safe in the shop next to the laundry was blown open about three weeks ago and the detectives surmised that safe-blowers were in the laundry.

The detectives called Policeman Hennessy and stationed him in front of the laundry. A few minutes later a small boy wiggled through an opening under the stairway leading to the front of the laundry and ran into Policeman Hennessy's arms.

The two detectives marched their wee prisoner to the station, where he said he was Frank Lamonna, 8 years old, of 107 Thompson street. He had three skeleton keys, eight padlocks and several pieces of soap. The police think he used the soap to get the impression of locks.

FIND $4,000 OF STOLEN CASH

Express Company's Detectives Recover Funds Taken at Britt, Ia.

Sioux City, Ia., special: Detectives for the United States Express Company have recovered all the money said to have been stolen from the agent at Britt, Ia. Three thousand dollars was found under the agent's office and $1,000 more in a place not made public. No arrests have been made. The agent had received the money by express and placed it in his safe. Shortly afterward he reported that two men with revolvers held him up and forced him to give them the money.

MAY IMPORT SKILLED LABOR

Revised Immigration Law More Liberal Than the Old One.

Washington special: The first application of the revised immigration law to the question of contract labor came before the treasury department at the instance of the Broomley lace-making concern of Philadelphia, which wishes to import a number of English workmen. The revised law, on examination, is found to be more liberal than the old one and permits the importation of skilled laborers under contract where it is impossible to get them in this country.

SNOW KILLS STOCK IN KANSAS

Recent Losses Among Cattle Heavier Than During Whole Winter.

Sharon Springs, Kas., special: Snow in the valleys tells of the severity of the recent storm in western Kansas. Farmers are coming in with reports of serious losses of cattle. It is probable that more cattle have been killed than in all the storms of the winter combined. In Wallace county alone the losses will amount to 500 head. Several thousand head will only approximate the losses in western Kansas and eastern Colorado.

"Jane, Jane! Why don't you let them in?"

going to meet trouble or that trouble was following after her. She entered the hall and saw a man in his stocking feet softly descending the stairs. She knew his name and his occupation and her heart stood still with fear.

"Is that you, Jane Swaffham?" cried Matilda, running down stairs. "Come here, come here, come here!" and seizing her by the arm, she compelled Jane to ascend at her side. Jane made no resistance to such impetuous, imperative passion, and she was hurried up the steps and along the corridor until Matilda suddenly stopped and threw open the door of a darkened room.

"Go in, Mistress Swaffham," she cried, "and look your last on one of Cromwell's victims." And Jane shook herself free, and stood a moment regarding the placid face of the dead priest.

"Oh, God be merciful!" said Jane, and Matilda answered, "Yes, for men know nothing of mercy. Come, there is more yet."

Then she opened the door next to the death chamber, and Jane saw lying on a great canopied bed the dying earl. His last breaths were coming in painful sobs, but he opened his eyes and looked mournfully at Jane for a few moments. Then the physician sitting by his side motioned authoritatively to the two girls to leave the room.

"He is dying. You see that. He may live till morning—no longer," said Matilda; "he is only waiting to see Stephen, and Stephen will never come."

"What can I do for you, dear? Oh, what can I do?"

"I will have nothing from you, not even pity. I never wish to see your face again. And how poor Stephen loved you! And you—you have not a tear for his fate. I thank God I am not of your profession. I can weep for the death of those who loved me."

With these words Matilda turned sobbing away, and Jane, slowly at first and then hastily, took the road to Swaffham. For she remembered that the news which had reached de Wick was probably at Swaffham. So she made all possible haste, and as soon as she reached home she was aware of a change. Her mother came quickly towards her. Her look was flurried, but not unhappy, as she cried, "Have you the news, Jane? 'Tis the greatest victory that hath ever been in England. Dr. Verity came fainting fugitives within the sanctuary.

Mrs. Swaffham was not long in answering Matilda's petition. "Surely, surely, my poor lads," she said pitifully, "I will find hiding for you."

"God Himself thank you, madame," sobbed Matilda. "Father said you would."

"Yes, dearie, and Will shall saddle a horse and take you home."

"No, no, no! It would then be known I had come here in the dark. No one must know. I can find my way—and I must now go."

"Tell your father that they who would hurt the young men must hurt me first."

"It will be the greatest, the last comfort he can have in this world." Then she kissed her brother, and with a glance of farewell pity at his companion, went quickly and quietly away.

"Go downstairs, Jane," said Mrs. Swaffham, "and if Dr. Verity is waiting, order supper to be served. I will bestow our friends in the oak room, on the west side of the house."

To this room she took them, and then brought water and wine and bread and meat, and some of her son's clothing, showing them, also, that the wide chimney had been prepared for such emergencies by having stout, firm, iron stirrups placed right and left at very short intervals. "By these you can easily reach the roof," she said. She kissed them both and poured out wine and made them drink, and then left them to eat and rest.

In the parlor she found Dr. Verity eating a beefsteak pudding and talking to Jane, who sat with a white and anxious face trying to smile and answer him.

"Come and rest a little, Martha," he said. "And what think you? Here come a half-a-dozen riders awhile ago, seeking young de Wick. They said also that it was thought Charles Stuart might be with him, and they would have searched Swaffham—high and low—if I had not been here. I think we will begin our journey to London on Monday morning, Martha."

"I cannot. If I had as many hands as fingers, I could not. You may keep watch and ward to-morrow and Monday, and it may be well to do so; for, to tell the truth, I trust neither men nor maids in the kitchen. For a Parliament half-crown they would hide the devil. When was this great battle of Worcester fought?"

King Edward's Visit to the Continent.

There is much of international significance in the visit of Edward VII. to the continent of Europe. The British sovereign in this trip acts as a sort of advance agent of British statesmen. He first visits Portugal and cordially acclaims her as England's ally, because British statesmen deem it timely to remind Europe of England's foothold at her vital southwest corner; because, also, a friendly Portugal holding the side doors of South Africa means so much to England's newest colonies during the next decade.

Then follows a visit to Italy, which is accepted as an indication of England's desire to close the chapter of half estrangement which marked so much of Lord Salisbury's diplomacy.

The most importance is attached, however, to King Edward's visit to Paris, which is the first formal interchange of courtesies between an English monarch and a French president since the advent of the republic. It is an indication of an undefined yet undoubted Anglo-French national rapprochement which the statesmen at Paris and London will hardly fail to utilize. There are diplomatic disputes awaiting settlement in North America, north Africa and the far east, but above all there is the question of the ruinous increase of armaments which England, France and Italy, in agreement and with the assurance of the Russian czar's personal sympathy, could induce all Europe to consider seriously.

France now is engaged in cutting down her naval estimates and reducing the period of service in her army, while under a monarch who is free from the desire of military aggrandizement Italy also is rigorously pruning down her expenditure. The czar, animated by his Hague ideals, would gladly see Russia join, while King Edward undoubtedly realizes that there is a strong English national revolt against the maintenance of taxation at a war level in a time of peace; hence the high significance of this continental tour.

Immigration From Japan.

The Monthly Summary of Commerce and Finance of the United States, just issued from Washington, shows that the rate of increase in Japanese immigration to this country has been greater than that of any other nationality and that their total number now surpasses the immigration from England and almost approaches that from Ireland. The figures are for the eight months of the statistical year ending in February.

In those months Japan sent us 13,853 people as against 7,151 in the corresponding months of the preceding year, a gain of almost 100 per cent. In the whole of the fiscal year 1901-02 the Japanese immigration was only 14,270, while in the year before that the Japanese immigrants numbered only 5,289.

While the 13,853 immigrants were coming from Japan 11,916 came from England, 15,221 from Ireland, 19,603 from Germany and 21,116 from Sweden. The immigration from Italy, Austria-Hungary and Russia was 267,745 in this period, and the entire immigration into the United States was 402,750.

The figures are significant and show the changing character of immigration into the United States, which is most marked by the great preponderance hitherto attained by the Italian, Austro-Hungarian and Russian nationalities.

The governor of New Jersey has vetoed a bill prohibiting the use of the American flag for commercial purposes. This action he was forced to take because of a defect in the bill. That it was necessary to do so is to be regretted. The American flag should be denied to commerce except as it floats free to the wind.

It is estimated by Admiral Walker that 30,000 men will be employed in digging the Panama canal. This would allow about 1,000 diggers to the mile, or one man to less than six linear feet. How the dirt will fly when these 30,000 shovels get to work!

The New York pastor who compared society to a pie with an upper crust soaked in champagne, the middle reeking in cocktails and the bottom crust soggy with beer may have a vivid imagination, but his comparisons are somewhat "odorous."

Three impecunious European noblemen were haled before the courts in New York the other day on supplementary proceedings. How like dear old Lon'on the eastern metropolis is becoming!

The enmity between the coffee interests and the sugar monopoly may be to the temporary advantage of the consumer, but he will make up for it all when a reconciliation occurs.

Religion at the World's Fair.

Plans are now being discussed in religious circles for conducting evangelical work on an extensive scale during the world's fair at St. Louis. It is confidently expected that the Rev. Campbell Morgan will accept the leadership of the work, for which his broad experience amply qualifies him. It is the plan to associate with him many other noted evangelists both of this and other countries, giving the meeting a national and international as well as local significance. It is proposed that daily meetings be held in some centrally located building, if one may be secured; if not, it is the plan to erect a building specially.

The idea is an excellent one and, if carried out on the large scale contemplated, will doubtless constitute the greatest series of evangelical meetings in the world's history. As a part of a great scheme of concentration of the world's interest the project is fitting and proper. No great assembling of the nations would be complete or characteristic without its religious aspect and motive. The spiritual as well as material interests of humanity ought to have full representation. Christianity, civilization's dominant and eternal motive, should have perfect freedom of expression at such a universal undertaking as the St. Louis world's fair. As an exposition of the world's development and activities in the twentieth century it would be incomplete without the religious element omitted.

Japan is giving vent to her resentment over the fact that Russia still retains control over Manchuria, although the promised evacuation has been nominally carried out. So far as the port of Newchwang is concerned, the United States has as deep a grievance as Japan, because the manner in which Russia is arranging matters will effectually cut off a large and growing trade in American cottons. But neither Japan nor the United States is in a position to make an effective protest against the Russian procedure. The railroad and the troops kept on hand to protect it give Russia an advantage in Manchuria that will not disappear even if the Chinese tactical is finally allowed to take up his residence under Russian guns at Newchwang.

Robbers chloroformed a Kentucky family the other night and spent two hours ransacking the house, securing the total sum of $1.65. It would seem that, after deducting the cost of the chloroform, these men were working for ruinously low wages.

Considering the number and magnificence of the Vanderbilt wedding presents, it is surprising that St. Louis does not take steps to get them for exhibition at the fair.

The sultan of Turkey is reported to be busy with his new yacht. Doubtless he finds the Bosphorus more agreeable just now than the Balkans.

Tired when you go to bed, tired when you get up, tired all the time. Why? Your blood is impure, that's the reason. You are living on the border line of nerve exhaustion. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and be quickly cured. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Porto Rico's Lesson In Economy.

There are doubtless state legislatures in this nation that aim at economy in the expenditure of the people's money, but most of them appear to imitate congress in making appropriations as large as the taxpayer will stand, and sometimes they overstep the bounds and call down upon themselves vigorous popular protest. It is, therefore, refreshing to hear what James S. Harlan, former attorney general of Porto Rico, has to say of the legislature of that island.

In an interview with William E. Curtis, published in the Chicago Record-Herald, Mr. Harlan says that at the last session the appropriations were reduced in order that the surplus in the treasury might be increased. Think of it! Porto Rico not only has no debt and possesses a surplus of $500,000 in excess of all liabilities, but she proposes to put herself in still better financial condition. She takes the theory that her government is like a sound business enterprise with a future and not merely a spending machine. Furthermore, Mr. Harlan declares this policy to be the work of the native members of the legislature, who have exercised a "restraining influence" upon the American members.

Thus the little insular territory sets an example in economy that not only congress, but many of the state legislatures, might well follow. If this keeps up, the "mission of civilization" which the United States recently felt itself forced or called upon to undertake in the Lesser Antilles will be working with a perceptible reverse action. The Porto Ricans will be civilizing us instead of our civilizing them.

HOW HUSBANDS SHOP.

A Blouse That It Was Certain Would Not Please the Lady.

The pleasures of shopping are as rigorously denied to "mere man" as are the advantages of whistling to fair woman. The decree, being nature's own, is universal, and the attempts made to contravene it are few and unsuccessful. An exception, more apparent than real, was made a few days ago by an uxorious Berlin husband intent on presenting his better half with a new blouse. He hurriedly entered one of the first shops in the capital and confided his intention to the graceful young lady assistant. "I want a blouse—a good one. You understand. It must be silk—the best silk."

"May I ask what color you prefer?" inquired the superior young saleswoman, with a smile.

"Oh, I'm not particular about the color, but I may say that it may cost from 30 to 40 marks."

"And the cut?"

"The cut? Well, I really don't much care. After all, it comes to the same thing."

"May I ask about the lady for whom it is destined?"

"Why, she is my wife, of course! Whom else did you?"

"I beg your pardon. What I meant was what is her size, at least approximately?"

"It doesn't matter in the least. Please show me some blouses, one blouse, any blouse, and let me go, for I am in a hurry to catch a train."

"With pleasure, sir, but if you cannot give me an idea of the color, cut or size or anything else to guide me how can I hope to suit you?"

"Give me any blouse you like so long as the price is between 30 and 40 marks. It doesn't matter a straw what cut or color or size I choose, for in any case it's certain to be changed. I told you it is for a lady!"—London Telegraph.

SHOPS IN JAPAN.

The Floors Are the Counters and Squatting Places of Buyers.

To start a Japanese shop is the simplest thing in the world. You take the front off your house and arrange your worldly possessions on the floor.

Japanese floors are raised off the street, though nothing is raised off them. The transient customer sits on the edge of the floor sidesaddle. A real shopper who means to do the thing properly climbs up on the floor, which is also the counter, and squats on his heels.

Real Japanese shops have no doors or windows or counters. Shop windows in England do not leave much wall in the frontage, but even an English shop window does not take the whole front of the house.

The Japanese have not many regular shops. There are very few streets of shops even in Tokyo, which is as large as Berlin. Foreigners never buy anything but curios. If they are fools, they deal with shops kept by Europeans; if they want bargains, they deal with Chinamen.

There are many Chinese shops in treaty ports. The Chinaman is cheaper and more reliable than the Japanese. European shopkeepers do not set up in Japan for philanthropic reasons. Japanese shopkeepers are the lowest class of population except the outcasts. Servants and laborers take precedence of them in society, and precedence is the hobby of the Japanese.

You have a different bow and a different salutation for a man who is below you or your equal, and several for the people above you. You have even a different language for each, and Japanese writing wriggles like carving on their temples.—London Standard.

Didn't Bother Him.

A German clergyman who was traveling stopped at a hotel much frequented by wags and jokers. The host, not being used to having a clergyman at his table, looked at him with surprise. The guests used all their rally of wit upon him without eliciting a remark. The clergyman ate his dinner quietly, apparently without observing the gibes and sneers of his neighbors. One of them, at last, in despair at his forbearance, said to him: "Well, I wonder at your patience. Have you not heard all that has been said to you?" "Oh, yes; but I am used to it. Do you know who I am?" "No, sir." "Well, I will inform you. I am chaplain of a lunatic asylum. Such remarks have no effect upon me."

Chicago Faces a Milk Famine.

A milk famine has been added to the shirt and collar famine, the dearth of clean linen, the lack of waiters at the pie counters and the several other shortages in which the results of prevailing strikes are manifest.

Shipments of milk to Chicago in the last week have fallen off 20,000 gallons daily and although the decline in the quantity is due to commercial conditions the cattle on a thousand hills are showing their sympathy with the strikers by yielding the poorest lacteal fluid the big city has had in the last ten years.

It is said that in every can of milk that is shipped from the country water is found in abundance. Sometimes it comes from the farmyard pumps, sometimes it is the fault of the cattle. The percentage of butter fats has fallen from 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent and for a decade Chicago has not obtained milk so deficient in nutritive qualities.

The high price of butter is said to be responsible for decrease in quantity. It is said that in many sections of the city dealers find it impossible to secure milk enough to fill their orders. The bottling plants are increasing in number and attracting a clientele of patrons who refuse to use anything without a label. Thirteen cans of milk from the Wisconsin division of the Northwestern, was confiscated Wednesday and emptied into a sewer in the railway yards. The milk was heavily impregnated with filth.

Edith Sessions Tupper

Under the title "Random Shots at Men" which appeared in the Chicago Sunday Chronicle, says: "Between her divorces and her corsets the American woman is in a bad way. The bishops and clergymen are anathematizing her on divorce and the doctors are after her on the corsets.

"The divines say that in another hundred years she won't have a shred of morals and the specialists declare that at the end of this century she won't have a remnant of lungs.

"And when all's said and done, you know, a woman without morals or lungs is not a pretty sight.

"An eminent bishop got out his tongs the other day and attacked the divorce question very much as he would have handled a polecat. A brilliant physician is on the rampage just now for corsets. He states that a woman who squeezes her lungs, heart, ribs, stomach, kidney, intestines, liv-

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

WINE OF CARDUI

er, spleen and pancreas is a criminal and deserves to be treated as such.

"It is true that marriage is not the sacred institution it once was. It is true that our divorce laws are very bad. But who made the divorce laws? Not the women surely. Why does not the good bishop pitch into the men lawmakers of our great and glorious country?"

"And for whom does lovely woman squeeze her waist? For whom does she dye her hair and paint her face? For whom does she trick herself out like a squaw? Not for women surely. If there was no demand for distorted waists there would be no supply. The women are not the only fools on earth. There are, it is true, many light-headed men and women who think nothing of throwing off the marriage yoke and changing partners. But there are many more strong souls who suffer in silence, who never air their trials in courts.

"The divorces of fashionable society mere subtrefuges for fresh amours, are disgraceful and degrading. But the divorce that sets a fine man or a noble woman free from a hideous thralldom is a benefit to society.

"The good bishop had best save his mind. He could accomplish more by working for a liberal, universal divorce law than by railing at the American woman. Why, is there nothing on earth the matter with the American man? Has he no faults, no blemishes? Very few I admit. As a rule he is an easy-going, kindly disposed, generous, indulgent husband. But he loves his social glass and he loves the society of women, especially those of slim waists and tiny feet. His wife grows a trifle stout with advancing years and the cares of maternity. He does not mean to be dishonorable. But—

"Of course his wife should overlook his peccadilloes for the sake of the children and the glory of the church. As a rule she does. The American wife does a lot of eye-closing.

"I am sick and tired of having women jumped on for everything that happens from corsets to divorce. And I serve notice on bishop and physician that men have some responsibilities for both these evils.

"I want divines to do a little preaching about the degradation of the American man. And I want doctors to teach men to choose as mothers of their children women not of squeezed up liver and pinched-up pancreas, but those of strong limbs and splendid shoulders and Junolike waists"

SHOWER HONORS ON PRESIDENT

Colorado's Reception to the Nation's Chief Is Full of Enthusiasm.

NEGROES GIVE SILVER PLATE

Colored Citizens of Colorado Springs Show Their Appreciation of the "President of the People, a Friend to the Friendless."

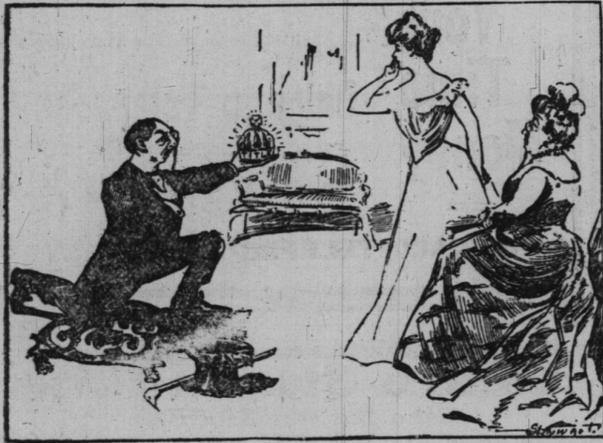

Pueblo, Colo., dispatch: The siren whistles of the steel works and smelters sounded a deafening good-by to President Roosevelt as his train sped away to the South and West after a remarkable welcome to him by a hundred thousand people of the Arkansas valley.

His special train arrived at the Mineral Palace park ten minutes ahead of time. A military escort accompanied the carriages to a decorated platform that had been built in front of the palace. Here the president spoke about fifteen minutes to an enormous crowd. Mr. Roosevelt seemed to enjoy the scene and spoke with hearty enthusiasm.

The last portion of the address was especially earnest, expressing his trust in the ability of the people of this republic to overcome the difficulties and problems that arise, not by genius or brilliant gifts, but by the exercise of plain and practical common sense and an insistence upon genuine liberty and fair play for each individual.

Speaks to Children. On the way downtown the long procession paused at the beautifully decorated Centennial school building, where the president addressed several thousand pupils of the public schools. The rest of the way to the Union depot was a mile of cheering crowds. At the station the president and the officials with him reviewed the military portion of the parade, and then he boarded his train with a smiling adieu and a hearty "good luck to you."

In Colorado every stop by President Roosevelt was observed in Fourth of July fashion.

The nation's chief executive was the guest of the city of Denver for two and one-half hours, and the people, regardless of political affiliations, greeted him with a warmth and heartiness of welcome not exceeded on his transcontinental tour.

Holiday in Denver. The mayor had proclaimed a holiday, and schools and business houses were closed.

The president made only one speech in Denver, and that was delivered in the open air on the capitol grounds, where no less than 25,000 people were assembled.

Breakfast in Tent. The president was treated to a women's breakfast at Hugo. A mess tent had been erected at the side of the track and when the president's train arrived breakfast was ready. It was partaken of standing and then the president shook hands with his hosts. The train pulled on amidst a chorus of cowboy yells.

On the train Gov. Peabody presented to the president a souvenir medal made of solid gold and taken from the El Paso mine at Cripple Creek and accompanied by a beautifully engraved presentation certificate.

Badges for All. A military escort was in waiting at the Union depot in Denver to receive President Roosevelt on his arrival. Mayor R. R. Wright, Jr., and the members of the reception committee presented the president with a neat morocco bound engraved program of his tour through the city and a magnificent gold badge, bearing the state

TRAIN ROBBERS CAUSE WRECK

Open Switches Telescope Coaches and Fireman Is Killed.

Houston, Texas, special: The Houston East and West Texas fast passenger train, northbound, was wrecked near Burk as the result of work of supposed train robbers. The switches were broken and pulled wide open by the wreckers. The coaches were derailed and two of them telescoped. Fireman Broughton was crushed under his engine, receiving fatal injuries.

crest and an appropriate inscription. Similar badges, wrought in silver, were presented to the other members of the party. As the president, with his escort, passed through the salty port a troop of city cavalry drawn up in line presented arms, and a band played "The President's March."

Is Honored by Negroes. Twenty thousand people welcomed President Roosevelt when he arrived at Colorado Springs. The President was received by Mayor Harris, a reception committee of 200 citizens, the staff of Gov. Peabody, which had reached the Springs on an earlier train; two companies of the Colorado National Guard; and a long line of uniformed men. The President spoke briefly upon the responsibilities of citizenship. Following the speech the colored citizens presented to the President a silver medal in the form of a square plate, with the inscription, "To the President, President of the people, a friend to the friendless."

The President thanked the committee of colored citizens, and said: "The only thing to do is to do the square thing," and then the Rev. Gladden expressed the thanks of the colored residents for the stand the President took on the race question.

SANKEY IS HOPELESSLY BLIND

Little Likelihood That Moody's Co-worker Will Regain His Sight.

New York dispatch: Little hope is held out by his physicians that Ira D. Sankey, the singing evangelist who was associated for many years with the late Dwight L. Moody, will ever recover his sight. Some weeks ago an operation was performed on Mr. Sankey and afterward he improved in health. For a time it was thought that he would recover his sight. It is probable, however, that he will never see again.

DR. COFFEE

Discovers Remedies That Restore Sight to Blind People.

Dr. W. O. Coffee, a noted oculist, 360 Good Block, Des Moines, Iowa, has discovered medicines for the eyes that people can use at home and cure Cataracts, Scums, Granulated Lids, Ulcers or Blindness and restore sight. Dr. Coffee has published an 80-page book on Eye Diseases which he will send free to every reader of this paper. This book tells how to prevent old sight and make weak eyes strong. Write Dr. Coffee to-day for his book.

And the Serpent Smiled. "Why, Adam," exclaimed Eve as her liege lord began to masticate the forbidden, "you eat apples like a pig." "Well, my dear," replied the head gardener of Eden, "if I'm a pig you are only a spare rib."

The May Century will have four full page reproductions in color of water-color drawings by Arthur Schneider, the American artist, who was instructor and intimate companion of the Sultan of Morocco from November, 1900, to March, 1902. The drawings show the sultan's first view of the ocean since childhood, the sultan and his minister of war watching the royal fireworks in the palace grounds, the sultan leaving Morocco in state for camp, and a portrait from life of Morocco's ruler. Mr. Schneider's story of his unique life and experience in Morocco will be illustrated further from numerous sketches in black and white.

Beginning with the May issue, the Northwest Magazine adopts the standard size of monthly literary periodicals. The popular demand of readers is cause of this change.

With the change of form, however, will occur no change in the policy of the Northwest Magazine, which has characterized it as one of the most original, interesting and unique publications in existence. Its field will still be devoted to the Great West, and, as in the past, its pages will reflect life on the prairies, on the mountains and in the mines—depicting in word and picture the most interesting features that have caused the eyes of the East to gaze longingly at the broad-Western domains.

FOREST FIRES IN MOUNTAINS

Flames in the Adirondacks Cause an Estimated Loss of $1,000,000.

BIG SAWMILL IS DESTROYED

Plant at Tupper Lake Gave Employment to 350 Men—Great Damage Is Done in the Pennsylvania Oil Field—Other Losses.

Utica, N. Y., dispatch: Wide-spread forest fires in the Adirondacks north of this city have devastated uncut timber, isolated camps, and cottages, and are threatening to destroy whole villages. The loss is estimated now at $1,000,000.

The flames in the blazing mountains shoot fifty feet in the air in some places, and the villagers have fled with few belongings. Everything is destroyed from the Meadowbrook farm property four miles from Saranac lake all along the road to Lake Placid.

Many deer, hedgehogs, rabbits, cub bear, and scores of other wild animals lie along this road where they fall.

Big Sawmill Burns.

The Hurd mill at Tupper lake, the largest sawmill in the United States, which gave employment to 350 men, has been wiped out. The woods in the vicinity of Bay point, the Rockefeller camp location, is on fire, and the extensive camps are in danger. The St. Armand house burned, and at Benson mines ten camps with their many buildings were burned. Five hundred acres of woodland in the vicinity of McKeever have burned. Newton Falls was saved partly by heroic work, although many of the buildings were destroyed.

Snow Checks Flames.

Until a means of communication with remote sections is re-established it will be impossible to learn whether or not there has been any loss of life. A heavy snowstorm set in, practically checking the fierce flames, and the temperature has dropped about fifty degrees.

Reports received here indicate that the Loon Lake house and the White Face inn at Lake Placid are safe, though possibly damaged by smoke, cinders and heat.

Virginia Town Suffers.

Richmond, Va., special: Four blocks of buildings in West Point, Va., the York river terminus of the Southern railway, are in ashes as the result of a fire of unknown origin. The people fought the fire with buckets until the arrival of the Richmond firemen, when it was put under control. Rough estimates put the loss at $125,000. The fire practically wiped out the business section. No lives were lost. Thirty families are homeless.

Rain Stops Fire.

Bradford, Pa., dispatch: Advice from Watsonville, the town supposed to have been wiped out by flames, indicate that it escaped. Mount Jewett also escaped with small loss. But in the vicinity of Simpson and Bingham the destruction of oil property was complete over a wide area. It is estimated that at least 1,000 oil well rigs in McKean county were destroyed. From points along the Bradford, Burdell and Kinzua road 125 refugees were brought to the city. Rain began to fall and the fires are dying out.

Loss in Oil Fields.

Oil City, Pa., dispatch: The heavy rains checked the forest fires which have been raging in Venango. Forest and Warren counties, but not before vast tracts of valuable timber had been destroyed, crops ruined and a number of dwelling houses consumed. Near Tionesta, Forest county, eighteen rigs and several tanks of oil were burned. At Kinzua two big sawmills were burned, and scores of derricks and small tanks filled with oil were licked up by the flames. The total loss in the district between Tionesta and Warren alone is estimated at $200,000.

Forests Burn in Canada.

Montreal, Que., dispatch: Extensive forest fires are raging about fifty miles north of here, between the towns of St. Jovite and La Belle. The flames have reached the Canadian Pacific railroad line and the more inhabited portion of the Laurentian district. The village of Morrison, containing a mill and about a dozen farmhouses, was entirely destroyed, and the flames were so severe on both sides of the railroad track that people could not stand on the platforms as the train rushed through. The inhabitants of the district are leaving their animals and possessions a prey to the flames.

Lumber Yards Burn.

Portland, Ore., dispatch: Fire broke out in the lumber district along the water front in North Portland and destroyed property valued at $210,000, with insurance of about $60,000.

THROW JEWS FROM WINDOWS

Many Women and Children Victims of Recent Russian Outbreak.

Vienna cable: Horrible brutalities are reported to have occurred during the recent riots at Kischeneff, Besarabia. Many women and children were victims of the mob, which included even the better classes of the inhabitants. Some of the victims were thrown from windows to the pavements. The rioters also pillaged and defiled the synagogues and killed the caretakers. What the looters of the houses were unable to carry off they saturated with paraffin and burned. The damage done to property is estimated at several million rubles. The Jews who escaped from Kischeneff are seeking refuge at Odessa and elsewhere.

LYNCH COLORED MURDERERS

Two Negroes Hanged to a Bridge by a Mob of White Men.

Vicksburg, Miss., special: Bob Bryant and Will Morris, assassins of W. H. Legg, were hanged to the Yazoo bridge at Haynes Bluff. Bryant had made a confession to officers who arrested him, implicating Morris, whom he accused of firing the fatal shot. At a point near the Legg place 200 armed farmers stopped the officers and took the two negroes away from them. Robbery was the motive for the murder.

THE BULLDOG STAYED BEHIND.

Haughty English Traveler Outwitted by Car Conductor.

"I saw an English nobleman get the worst of an argument in Naples not long ago," said Mr. George F. Washer of New York at the Hotel Barton.

"The funny part of it was that my lord thought he had carried his point. He had taken passage on a railway train bound for Rome and carried with him into the first-class carriage one of the fiercest-looking bull dogs I ever saw. One of the train officials politely told the owner of the brute that it was against regulations for animals to ride in the passenger coaches.

"Very good, my man; take him out then," said the Englishman, grinning, and dead sure the man wouldn't make the attempt. He didn't, either, but he played a trick worth two of that, for in less than no time the coach in which the aristocrat from Albion was seated was detached, another was put in its place, and the train steamed off, leaving Mr. Englishman and his bull dog in the car all to themselves, the owner not getting on to the real situation until the train was well on its way to Rome."—Washington Post.

Feels Younger and Stronger.

Festus, Mo., May 4th.—Mr. January S. Lilly, a highly respected old gentleman, aged 76, and whose home is in Festus, says:

"For many years I was falling in health. My kidneys were weak and gave me no end of trouble. I had pains in my back and hips so bad that I could not sit up straight without bracing my back, and could not sit only a few minutes in any one position.

"I had to get up during every night very frequently to relieve myself.

"Our doctor said I had Kidney and Bladder Inflammation. I have suffered for over five years in this way, always worse at night.

"I could get no relief, and was getting worse till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"After I had used a few boxes of this remedy I felt stronger and better than I have for years and years. My pains all left me and I can rest and sleep.

"Every old man or woman who feels as I felt should use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am sure they will not be disappointed. They brought me out wonderfully."

It sometimes happens that people who hand in items to the newspaper feel aggrieved because they are not printed precisely as written. They should bear in mind the fact that an editor holds himself responsible for all that appears in his paper as news or editorial; that certain rules are established as to phraseology, punctuation, capitalization, etc. These and other reasons make it impossible to publish every item or article just as it reaches the office. We are always glad to have the people hand us items, but don't want them to feel hurt if some of the items are changed a little.

Representatives of the Bowman Dairy company, which desires to locate in this village, were here Wednesday interviewing a number of our citizens. The company wishes to be satisfied relative to drainage before taking further steps. This important matter should have the immediate attention of our people. The village should offer inducements that will make it an object for the Bowman company to erect here one of the best plants in northern Illinois. We need something of this kind, and cannot afford to treat lightly any offer made to us. Get together on this important matter.

The Chicago papers of Wednesday contained an extensive report of the assault upon H. J. Zomansky by Frank O. Willmarth. It seems that Frank has been trying for some time to effect another reconciliation with his divorced wife, but Mrs. Willmarth refuses to be reconciled. Tuesday night Frank called at 3233 Indiana avenue, where Mrs. Willmarth is making her home. He asked to see her, at the same time displaying a gun. At the sight of the gun Mrs. Willmarth screamed, and appealed to her landlord, Mr. Zomansky, who ran to her aid. Mr. Willmarth proceeded to batter Zomansky with the butt end of the gun, inflicting serious wounds. The police took Mr. Willmarth in charge, and Justice Underwood held him in bonds of $1,000 for his appearance in court tomorrow.

Gus Blume, of the U. S. navy, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Shumacher. Gus entered the navy three years and a half ago, and the majority of that time he has spent in foreign waters aboard the U. S. S. Albany. He is now attached to the U. S. S. Columbia. He has seen much of the world since leaving Barrington, but says that life aboard a training ship is not what it is cracked up to be. "Of all the scenes and places I viewed in foreign lands there was no place any better than Barrington. If you have a grudge against a fellow being, get him to enlist in the navy," says Gus. Mr. Blume is now a petty officer, with the rank of second-class electrician.

HIGHLY APPRECIATED

Was the Entertainment Given by the High School Class.

The High school entertainment given Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows' hall was patronized to the extent that a crowded hall awarded the efforts of the students and teachers to present a program of interest. Much credit is due to the management of those who drilled the young people in their respective parts, and the natural genius developed was a surprise to many spectators.

Besides an orchestra formed of young women, which is an organization of much efficiency, our High school has also a girls' quartet that sings very sweetly in good accord.

Three readings given respectively by Miss Gordon and two small boys were amusing and greatly enjoyed.

The musical part of the program rendered by members of our large circle of Barrington musicians was received with attention and appreciation.

The two farces, "Too Much of a Good Thing" and "An American Harem," were the especial features of the evening, and were marked for the ease and skill with which the "dramatis personae" represented their assumed characters.

Not only have these plays pleased many and shown the ability of the High school pupils, but the work done will prove of vast benefit to the individual student in elocutionary and mental advancement.

This exhibition of what our young people are accomplishing under the direction of the careful instruction of Prof. Smith and his corps of excellent teachers might well be followed by further presentations, as school entertainments usually receive the most general interest.

About $50 were cleared which, with the allowance made by the school board, will make up a sum to defray the coming commencement exercises.

R. N. A. Entertainment.

The Royal Neighbors will give an entertainment at the Village hall on Monday night, the 11th inst., which promises to be the event of the season. A Chicago orchestra has been engaged for the occasion which promises all who attend a rare musical treat. Ice cream and cake will be served for 15c. The Royal Neighbors deserve the patronage of our people, because they carry out their promises and satisfy the public demand for something good.

Go to the village hall Monday night.

A FINE CONCERT.

Given in St. Ann's Church by Mme. D'Erina and G. R. Vontom.

Wednesday evening the second appearance in Barrington of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Vontom, dramatists and vocalists, under the patronage of the local branch of the League of the Sacred Heart, attracted an audience which filled St. Ann's Catholic church. Mrs. Vontom, who travels under the nom de plume, "Mme. Rose D'Erina," is a powerful singer of formerly great renown, having begun at the age of 16 to sing in the largest theaters and churches throughout Europe, and having sung many times for the especial amusement of royalty, among whom being ex-Empress Eugenie of France.

Her descriptive remarks preceding each song added much to the interest of her varied repertoire.

Mr. Vontom's pronunciation and enunciation were very clear, and he has a highly developed talent for mimicry and dialects in his readings, while his high tenor voice was well trained and in excellent control.

The entertainment netted a neat sum for church uses.

The Thursday Club and several invited guests were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Chas. Otis yesterday afternoon. The regular club program was carried out with the addition of several musical selections by Miss Beulah Otis. The parlors were prettily decorated with carnations and pansies, the dining room with apple blossoms and violets. Tea was served by the hostess assisted by her daughters Misses Beulah and Grace. The Club will meet next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Zoë B. Meyer, Oak Park.

The New Game Law.

A new game law has just gone into effect which interests Lake county people, because of the great changes the new law provides, and which from now on hunters throughout the state of Illinois will be compelled to observe.

Here are some of the most important changes embodied in the new law: Every resident hunter must hereafter have a license to do any hunting whatever, the license to cost $8, to be secured from the city or county clerk, who shall receive 10 cents additional for their work.

Non-resident hunters must have a license to hunt which shall cost $15 and pay an additional fee of 50 cents. Nobody is allowed to sell or ship game. (In other words, if one goes hunting, in order to make use of his game he must either eat it or give it away.)

It is unlawful to hunt with ferrets. There shall be no shooting whatever of prairie chickens for four years.

The law is regarded by hunters as a good one, and it is believed that its enforcement will have a tendency to do away with the promiscuous hunter who shoots merely for the sake of killing. The fact that every person who hunts must have a license will make those who go hunting decrease in great numbers, and the consequence must be that game will thrive, and that in a little while all kinds will be more plentiful throughout the state.

THE REVIEW CHIP BASKET.

Hewed by Hackney.

Speaking of large and healthy families, the kind President Roosevelt suggests, Fred Richards, a farmer residing near Alton, has done his share toward increasing the population. He boasts of being dad to 19 children, all living, healthy and well-developed. He is a man whom President Roosevelt must recognize as "a good American citizen."

State Senator McKenzie of JoDavies county has formally announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket next year. Mr. McKenzie is a well known and popular republican leader in northwestern Illinois, an able lawyer and has had legislative experience in both the house and senate.

A magazine has been started in the interest of the Smith family. If the Smiths all subscribe there will be a lot of money in it for the publisher.

A gentleman of legal attainments who makes Barrington his abiding place, attended the village caucus held some weeks ago. He was there in the interest of a friend who sought an office. The disciple of Blackstone had prepared a nominating speech—a good one—one of the kind that would have recalled memories of Webster, Clay, Calhoun and other great orators. He did not get a chance to unburden his eloquence. A brother lawyer surmised the intent and, with malice aforethought then and there bribe a plebian to block the orator's rise to local fame by requesting the said plebian to make said nomination. Now the would-be nominator says "man's inhumanity to man is enough to make even a lawyer weep."

One of our liverymen is wearing a smile. He has cause for it. A few days ago a couple of young ladies hired a horse to drive into the country. The liveryman told them that the horse would be all right if they kept the rein away from his tail. On their return they were asked by the liveryman if they had any trouble. "Oh, no," said one, "there was one little shower but we had an umbrella so that not a drop touched the horse's tail." What do you think of that?

Woodmen in State Convention.

The Modern Woodmen held their state convention at Bloomington this week and it proved the largest convention of that order ever held in the state. Wednesday a test of strength on the proposition to increase the assessments was made and showed that the faction favoring readjustment was in the majority, but not for the radical step rate plan advocated by the head officials of the order.

The convention voted in favor of Fred White of Pontiac as successor to Head Consul Northcott, and George Reilly of Danville for national director. C. T. Heydecker of Waukegan, who was an out and out candidate for Head Consul Northcott's place, failed to attract prominent support.

The large barn on the David Hayes farm near Gilbert's was totally destroyed by fire Sunday evening. The large barn containing farm implements, machinery, hay and grain, and the horse barn adjoining it, with six valuable horses, were burned to the ground. A number of cows were also burned.

MEETING OF VILLAGE BOARD.

Committees and Officials Appointed by the President.

The board of trustees of the village of Barrington met in regular session Monday evening. The new members, Trustees J. F. Gieske, Silas Robertson and Herman Schwemm, were given good positions at the mahogany table, and also a few pointers as to how the business of this municipality is conducted.

There was something lacking the council chamber when the president called to order—the familiar faces of William Peters, John Robertson and William Grunau, were not visible. Those gentlemen had carried the burdens shouldered upon trustees for a number of years, and last spring very wisely decided that they would give to others the salary and honors so generously bestowed by an ungrateful community. Those gentlemen have devoted much time to village affairs for which they were awarded but a small share of the credit to which they are entitled. Now they can sit back and watch the other fellows carry the load of criticism.

The new members have been assigned to important places on the several committees and will, no doubt, prove efficient officials.

There was some interest manifested in Monday night's meeting on account of standing committees to be named and officers to be appointed. President Lamey announced the following appointments:

Village Attorney—Geo. W. Spinner.
 Marshal and Street Commissioner—John Donlea.

Supt. of Water Works—Wm. Hager.
 Treasurer and Collector of Water Rates—H. K. Brockway.

Health Commissioner—Dr. C. H. Kendall.

Night Police—A. S. Henderson.

The appointments were confirmed by a unanimous vote. There were no applications for position except that of August Landwer who was an aspirant for the office of marshal and street commissioner.

The following standing committees were named:

Streets and Sidewalks—Plagge, Robertson, Donlea.

Judiciary and Accounts—Donlea, Schwemm, Plagge.

Buildings and Police—Schwemm, Robertson, Gieske.

Finance—Robertson, Hatje, Plagge.
 Ordinances—Gieske, Hatje, Donlea.

Licenses—Hatje, Schwemm, Robertson.
 Drainage—Donlea, Schwemm and Gieske.

Fire and Water—Gieske, Plagge, Hatje.

The following bills were presented and allowed:

L. F. Schroeder, material..... $49 13
 H. D. A. Grebe, tapping mains. 19 00
 A. L. Robertson, water supply 75 00
 C. H. Kendall, services..... 21 60
 Fire Department..... 11 75
 A. L. Robertson, lights..... 68 00
 L. H. Bennett, incidentals.... 1 65
 Ed. Wilmington, labor..... 5 50
 John Westphal, labor..... 2 63
 H. Pingel, labor..... 27 00

Bids for tapping the water mains will be received and considered at the adjourned meeting of the board to be held Monday evening, May 18.

Hygienic Kalsomine.

Sold by LAMEY & CO., Barrington

ton reached Chicago yesterday, binding the government to spend $350,000 building breakwaters, extending piers and dredging at Waukegan. The contract is the largest placed on Lake Michigan in five years. It will make Waukegan one of the safest harbors on the lake and provide a way for commerce driven away from Chicago by the tunnel nuisance and channels choked with sewage deposits.

In the improvement work, which will be done by the Chicago and Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, there will be 6,000,000 feet of timber and 108,000 tons of stone used. Three dozen cribs, each 100 feet long and 20 feet wide, will be constructed, towed to position and filled with stone as the basis for the pier extension and breakwater. In addition the inner harbor will be widened to permit the turning of a boat 500 feet long. Many hundred feet of dock will be built to surround the inner harbor.

For galls, wounds, sores and diseases of the skin or feet of horses and cattle there is no remedy equal to Cole's Veterinary Carbolisalve. It will not bother a sore on which it is used and it positively heals without scars. Guaranteed satisfactory. 50c and $1.00 by all druggists.
