THE BOARD OF LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS OF THE VILLAGE OF PALATINE.

Attest: A. G. SMITH, Clerk.

To Please Elijah II.

John Alexander Dowie has decided to change the appearance of Old Glory. He proposes to have it made over to suit the theocratic party, of which he is the head. Probably the government will change the national emblem to suit Elijah the Two Times and probably it will not.

The Chicago Tribune says: "Fellow Citizen Dowie also may decide to change the design of the postage stamps. Something neat, but not gaudy, with a picture of a haloed gentleman wearing some effervescent whiskers, may strike him as being better than the designs now in use."

Picnic at Algonquin.

Algonquin Camp M. W. A. will hold a picnic at Doig's Grove, near Algonquin, Thursday, Aug. 20. An excellent program will be offered. Neighbors from Nunda, Cary and Barrington camps are invited.

DUTY OF PARENTS

To Daughters as Decided by a Pennsylvania Jurist.

A unique case lately arose in the orphans' court in Bucks county, Pa., and was disposed of by the presiding judge in a unique and altogether sensible way. It appears that William Rissmiller and Mary Lorah of the town of Blandon had been lovers several years and were sincerely attached to each other. Miss Lorah is but twenty years of age and her parents contend, "too young and not sufficiently acquainted with household duties to marry," though she has incurred an obligation to do so. Rissmiller is twenty-three and earns $3 a day in the Blandon rolling mill. Allen Lorah, the girl's father, refused to sign the application for a marriage license and a petition was presented to the judge of the orphans' court to appoint a guardian who could give the necessary consent. This was done and the young couple were married in due legal form despite the objections of the obdurate parents. In his opinion on the case the judge said:

Some parents seem to think that the whole circle of their duty to their children embraces nothing but the supply of their physical needs and that if they clothe them, feed them and house them they have performed their whole duty. They seem to be unaware of the fact that all the value and beauty of life have their seat and source in the soul and that while the supply of the physical wants of children is necessary to the maintenance of their bodies the nurture of true cultivation of their spiritual life and character is the highest duty and most sacred function of the parent.

There is a significant statement of the answer filed by the father in this case and strongly persuasive as evidence that the petitioner has not received that home training to which she was entitled. The answer says that she "is too young and not sufficiently acquainted with household duties to enter the bonds of matrimony."

A large proportion of women marry under twenty-one years of age, and there is no good reason why a girl of that age should not be thoroughly trained in everything necessary to the proper management of a home.

This would appear to be good sense whether or not it is good law. If followed by other courts it will have a far reaching effect upon marriage and the rights of young women in relation to their parents' wills, it being held that where parents fail to act with wisdom the courts must step in and see that the futures of daughters are not blighted.

Death of Frank Wynkoop.

Frank Wynkoop died Saturday morning 9 o'clock at his home in our village, aged 35 years 9 months and 23 days.

Frank has for the past eight years been employed in a drug store at No. 1002 Madison street, Chicago. About one month ago he spent Sunday with his parents in our village and was not feeling well at that time, but could not be induced to remain at home to recuperate. However, when two weeks elapsed he was obliged to come home and place himself under a physician's care. In a few days his ailment was found to be a case of typhoid fever. A trained nurse was then secured to be in constant attention at the sick bed; but in the face of all that could possibly be done pneumonia set in.

Dr. J. V. Stevens of Jefferson, Wis., was then called in consultation with Dr. Hobbs, the attending physician. Everything was looking quite favorable when the attending physician returned to his home. But in a few days the patient became suddenly worse, and Dr. Stevens was again summoned. He remained with the patient during the night, and noting no alarming change left for home Saturday morning at 7 o'clock.

But again Frank was taken worse, and at 9 o'clock he bade the world and those around him a last farewell and crossed the great divide.

The M. W. A. Camp No. 643 and Lodge 298 A. F. & A. M. of our village and the Golden Rule Lodge No. 726 A. F. & A. M. of Chicago were in attendance, the latter having charge at the grave. Many beautiful floral tributes were presented by societies and sympathetic friends.

Frank was respected by all who knew him, and many are the sorrowing ones who mourn the loss not only of a true friend and gentleman but of a man—the grandest and noblest work of God's almighty hand.

LAKE ZURICH.

Geo. Murphy transacted business in Chicago Monday.

Ray Kimberley transacted business here Wednesday.

Herman Pehm transacted business in Chicago Saturday.

Miss Julia Courtney is visiting friends here this week.

A. J. Raymond of Volo was a pleasant caller here Wednesday.

E. A. Bruce and son Harold were Chicago visitors Wednesday.

J. S. Martin & Sons shipped a car of live stock from here Tuesday.

James Flood moved his household goods to Waukegan the first of the week.

There will be no ball game at Lake Zurich Sunday, but on Sunday, Aug. 23, the Des Plaines Reds will battle with the Americans.

John Forbes attended the ball game at Woodstock last Friday between the Chicago Nationals and the Olivers. The crack Olivers were defeated by a score of 12 to 0. About 3,000 people attended the game.

The funeral of Mrs. Henry Berkhorn was held at St. Peter's church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Henrich officiating. It was one of the largest ever held here, there being over 100 carriages.

Louis Geary W. Lorn, who has been in the employ of Wm. Bicknase for the past fifteen months, has resigned and gone to Waukegan to work for Wm. McKinney. Mr. Lorn has made many friends in Zurich during his stay here, and they wish him success in his new position.

Last spring our village dads did some talking in regard to putting in a town well somewhere in the vicinity of the public square, but it seems that the proposition has dropped out of sight. How about it? It is a public necessity for man and beast. Zurich should have a public watering place and not have the stranger obligated when he wants to water his horse.

CHIEF GRAIN INSPECTOR.

E. C. Hawley of Dundee Appointed to Succeed Daniel Hogan.

Edgar C. Hawley, a native of Barrington township, of late years a resident of Dundee, has landed into a fat state job.

Governor Yates selected him as successor to Major Dan Hogan, chief grain inspector, whose resignation was sent to the executive mansion the last of July. Mr. Hawley assumed his new duties Aug. 1. His appointment has given especial satisfaction to the members of the board of trade, with whom he is very popular, and the news will be received with pleasure by his many friends in Cook and Kane counties. He has been head clerk of the office where he is now chief.

Mr. Hawley has had abundant experience in the line of his new duties. In 1883 he was appointed by the governor as cashier in the state grain inspector's office in Chicago, and held this position for four years, returning to Dundee in 1887. A few years later he was elected to the state legislature, where he served two years. After his legislative experience Mr. Hawley returned to his home, and later secured his appointment as chief clerk in the inspector's office.

Will Be Very Strict.

The Modern Woodmen will begin active operations in Chicago to-morrow. For twenty years it has drawn its members from the rural districts and small cities, but at the convention at Indianapolis a few weeks ago a by-law was adopted providing that local camps may be organized in Chicago. John F. Harris of Harrisburg, Pa., and O. F. Avery, Logansport, Ind., have been appointed supervising deputy head consuls for Chicago. The membership in that city will be limited to those who live outside of the closely inhabited districts. The medical examinations for membership in Chicago will be more strict than in the country. A board of inspectors will pass on every application for membership, and the medical board of examiners.

CIRCUS TRAINS COME TOGETHER

Twenty-Three Lives Are Lost and Twenty-Eight Persons Are Hurt.

PLACES BLAME ON ENGINE MAN

General Manager of the Railroad Declares That He Failed to Observe the Rules and Puts Entire Responsibility on Shoulders of Employee.

Durand, Mich., dispatch: Two sections of Wallace Bros.' circus train crashed together in rear-end collision in the Grand Trunk railway yards at this point, killing twenty-three persons, seriously injuring four and inflicting hurts on twenty-four others. A defective airbrake on the engine of the second train is given as the cause of the disaster by the engineer of the second train, but the railroad officials say the brake is in good condition.

The circus travels in two trains of about thirty-five cars each. After the exhibition at Charlotte the two trains left for Lapeer over the Grand Trunk, the second section leaving a half hour after the first. When the first section pulled into the west end of the Grand Trunk yards here a red light was hung on the rear car to stop the second section. Engineer Probst of Battle Creek, who was running the engine of the der control. A brakeman sent back by the first train warned him of the danger three-quarters of a mile before he got to the standing section. For nearly half a mile before he got to the first train the track is straight and clear, and he should have been able to see the red light on the back of the train ahead in time to stop his train.

The official report on the accident issued by Supt. Brownlee declares positively that the air brakes have been tested since the accident and found to be in perfect condition, and there is evidence that they were not applied.

rear train, says he saw this light and applied the airbrakes, but to his horror they refused to work. He reversed his engine, but the momentum of the train behind was too great, and with a crash that aroused the people living near the yards the two trains met. Three cars of the stationary first section were telescoped and the engine and five cars of the moving train were demolished.

List of the Dead. Andrew Howland, A. W. Large, Lafe Larson, James McCarthy, W. J. McCoy, John Purcell, Robert Rice, Charles Sands, George Smith, Harry St. Clair, G. Thomas, Frank Thorp, James Toffelmire, Joe Wilson, Edward York and six unidentified men.

At the rear of the first section was a caboose in which the trainmen were sleeping and the next two were filled with sleeping circus employees. The greatest loss of life was in the caboose. One of the wrecked cars of the second section was occupied by five elephants and several camels. One of the elephants and two camels were killed outright, while the other animals and their trainer escaped injury. With the exception of this car, none of the menagerie was wrecked, the other demolished cars containing canvas or wagons. The elephants in the wrecked car behaved with surprising calmness and were led out of the wreck without trouble.

Engineer Is Blamed. The railroad officials unhesitatingly lay the blame to Engineer Probst. The officials declare that he could have stopped the train in time to have avoided serious consequences.

General Manager F. H. McGulgan said: "Probst knew that he was coming into a yard where trains usually stand and take on coal and water. The rules say plainly that engineers shall approach such yards with the trains un-

ASSASSIN FAILS TO KILL PREMIER

Anarchist Fires Two Shots at Premier Combes, but Misses Mark.

POLICE PROTECT THE ASSAILANT

Crowd Captures the Desperate Man, Who is Rescued by the Officers After a Hard Struggle—Prisoner is Disarmed and Handcuffed.

Marseilles cable: An Italian anarchist named Sanvaire Picole attempted to assassinate the French premier, M. Combes, here. He fired two shots at the premier, but both bullets flew wild.

The attempt on the life of the prime minister was witnessed by a large crowd of citizens, and the police had difficulty in protecting the would-be assassin.

Premier Combes was returning to the prefecture in a carriage from a banquet given by the Friendly Society of Teachers, at which M. Pelletan, minister of marine, and Henri Brisson, deputy for Marseilles, and a number of senators and deputies were present.

Fires Two Shots.

As the premier's carriage was passing through the streets a man fired two shots at him. The assassin was immediately seized by the crowd. He was dressed in the rough clothes usually worn by fishermen.

His companion drew a knife, but the police quickly disarmed him. The man who fired the shots struggled desperately, but was soon overcome, handcuffed, and taken to the prefecture.

The man said his name was Sanvaire Picole. He spoke French with a strong Italian accent. He denied that he had fired the shots, but when searched a revolver was found with two chambers which had been recently fired.

Police Report.

It is believed that Picole and his companion, who had effected his escape during the confusion, are both dangerous anarchists. The police are aware of the presence in Marseilles of a number of other anarchists.

The official report minimizes the incident. It states that a number of men threw tomatoes at the premier's carriage and that the police pursued, wounding three of them.

JUDGE WILL ACCEPT BAIL FOR MRS. GULLER

Alleged Poisoner of Bunker Hill Boy May Have Freedom on Filing Bond for $3,000.

Carlinville, Ill., dispatch: Mrs. Ida Guller of Bunker Hill was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Creighton of Springfield in this city and the woman was admitted to bail.

The defendant is charged with the murder of Ewart Checkfield of Bunker Hill, a 6-year-old boy, to whom she was charged by the coroner's jury with giving poisoned candy on July 25. Twenty witnesses were present to testify. The defendant arrived from Bunker Hill with her husband and two sisters.

After the entire day was taken up in the case, Judge Creighton decided that the case was bailable, and fixed the bond at $3,000, which Mrs. Guller will give.

The only point on which there was any controversy was the admitting of the statement of the boy to his parents as testimony. The child said upon his arrival home, after being at the milk depot where Mrs. Guller was working with her husband, that Mrs. Guller had given him some candy that was bitter. Judge Creighton admitted the testimony in the hearing, but said he was not prepared to say whether he would at the final hearing in September.

INSANITY MRS. GULLER'S PLEA

Attorneys for Defense in Poisoning Case Declare Motive Lacking.

Bunker Hill Ill., special: It is stated now that the attorneys for the defense of Mrs. Ida Guller, charged with the murder of 6-year-old Ewart Checkfield, will try to prove that Mrs. Guller's peculiarities are insanity and that her hatred for children was the outcome of a weak mind. They declare there was no motive for the poisoning. Mrs. Guller, who was held to the grand jury for murder, is much improved in condition. She sat up and took nourishment, but her nervousness, accompanied by heart attacks, still is acute.

DRINKING LIKE THE BRUTES.

How Edgar Allan Poe Wittily Answered Simon's Rebuke.

The late John Sartain, the eminent engraver of Philadelphia, knew Edgar Allan Poe intimately. He was free to admit that Poe in his youth had been somewhat profligate, but always denied stoutly that in later life the poet was anything like the drunkard gossip paints him.

"At the University of Virginia," Mr. Sartain once said, "Poe did not drink too much. In the middle of his freshman year there he gave a peach and honey party. Peach and honey was the drink of those days—a mixture of honey and peach brandy that was overpowering as it was sweet and pleasant.

"Poe sat at the head of the table. 'Boys,' he said to his guests, 'shall we behave like men, or like brutes?'"

"Like men, of course," a senior answered, in a rebuking voice.

"Then," said Poe, "we'll all get drunk, for it is something brutes never do."

"A Dead Give Away."

When Mrs. Dean went out to see if the cherries were ripe enough for picking she found one of her neighbor's children perched aloft in the tree not only helping himself, but also filling a pail with the fruit. She called him down and was about to administer a stern reproof when his mother came hurrying over to apologize. "I try every means to keep Leslie out of that tree," she said. "But he's bound to get into it. I shall punish him severely."

Much appeased, Mrs. Dean was about to offer her neighbor some of the cherries when the little boy tugged at her arm.

"Say, Missus Dean," he said, "do you know last year mother had to boost me into that tree, but now I'm so big I can climb into it myself."

Schwab's Good Story On Himself.

A little story on himself was related by Charles M. Schwab, the president of the billion-dollar steel trust, to King Edward, during the millionaire's recent audience with the sovereign. The story struck the King as particularly amusing and he laughed heartily. "My colored driver," said Mr. Schwab, "was handing me the reins of the buggy while driving in Pittsburg on day, when I overheard a poor woman on the sidewalk say to her little daughter:

"That's Mr. Schwab."

"Which one?" queried the child artlessly.

"Since that time, Your Majesty, I have never been able to help thinking I must be a great man."

Squelched. Feline amenities show themselves most forcibly at committee meetings. There was one of these latter gathered together to discuss a charity bazaar. The chairman smiled sweetly upon the artist's wife, and said:

"You'll get your husband to let us have some little thing of his for the art table, will you not, Mrs. Mahlstick?"

"Well; you know husbands are not always easily managed, my dear."

"Ah, but take him after one of your nice dinners and then put in a word for our worthy cause—but remember, we are not allowed to have anything which sells for over $25."

"Indeed!" and Mrs. M.'s eyebrows went up alarmingly; "then perhaps he'll induce one of his pupils to dash off something for you."

Too Delighted to Lie.

When the mistress of a Madison avenue home returned from shopping she detected the odor of her favorite brand of perfume, which evidently had been applied without stint. A new negro chambermaid immediately fell under suspicion.

"Annie," began the woman, expecting a flat denial, "have you been using my perfume?"

"Yes'm, yer'm," replied Annie, with genuine delight on her chocolate-hued face. "First time in mah life I ever smelt sweet."—New York Press.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

BY AMELIA E. BARR

Author of "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," "I, Thou and the Other One," "The Maid of Maiden Lane," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Dodd, Mead & Company. All rights reserved.)

"My dear Martha, I did not think of telling you this just yet, and especially to-day, but the words were at my lips, and then they were out, without my leave or license. Now there is nothing for it, but letting you know, plump and plain, that you and I, in our gathering years, must up and out of England. Oliver Cromwell is dying; when he is in the grave, what? Either Stuart, or civil war. If it is the Stuart, my head will be wanted; and as for fighting for Lambert, or even Fairfax, or Sir Harry Vane, I will not do it—verily, I will not! I have fought under Cromwell; I will fight under no less a general, and in no less a quarrel than he led in. That is settled. You said Martha, 'for better, or for worse.'"

She did not answer, and he dropped her hand and continued, "I will never force thee, Martha, not one step. If thou lovest England better than me—"

"I don't! I don't, Israel! I love nothing, I love nobody better than Israel Swaffham. I was thinking of Swaffham."

"I shall sign the sale of it to Cymlin as soon as Cromwell dies. I and thou can build another Swaffham; thou art but fifty, and my years are some short of sixty. We are in the prime of life yet."

"I am forty-eight—not quite that—Israel; and Swaffham was very up and down, and scarce a cupboard in it. Wherever you go, Israel, I will go; your God is my God, and your country shall be mine."

"I was sure of that, Martha. God love you, dearest! And any country where your home is built, and your children dwell, is a good country; besides which, this New World is really a land of milk and honey and sunshine. Tombert and Will could not be bought back here with an earldom."

"Now let me lean on you, Israel."

There is another thing, Martha, both of them are going to be married.

"Married! I never heard of such a thing."

"I thought I wouldn't tell thee, till needs be; but 'tis so, sure enough."

"And to what kind of women, Israel?"

"Good, fair women, they tell me; sisters, orphan daughters of the Rev. John Wilmot. Thou seest, then, Martha, there may soon be three families coming up, and not a grandmother among them to look after the children or give advice to the young mothers. I don't see what Tombert's wife, or Will's wife, or thy own daughter Jane can do without thee."

She shook her head slightly, but looked pleased and important. The wife and mother was now completely satisfied.

So the summer days went on, and England had never been so serene and so secure in her strength and prosperity. Cromwell was working feverishly and suffering acutely. His favorite child, the Lady Elizabeth Claypole, was still very ill; he had premonitions and visions of calamity that filled his heart with apprehension, and kept his soul always on the alert, watching, watching for its coming.

It is certain also that he knew the time for his own departure was at hand. He said to Doctor Verity, "I have one more fight, John. Dunbar was a great victory; Worcester was a greater one; but my next fight will give me the greatest victory of all—the last enemy that shall be destroyed is death! Do you understand?" And the doctor made a movement of affirmation; he could not speak.

After the death of his beloved daughter Elizabeth, the life of Cromwell was like the ending of one of those terrible Norse Sagas with the additional element of a great spiritual conflict. Israel Swaffham was constantly with him. The two men were friends closer than brothers. They had loved each other when boys, and their love had never known a shadow.

"But I am in great trouble about him," said Israel to his wife. "It can not last. Since Lady Claypole's death he eats not, drinks not, sleeps not; his strong, masculine handwriting, the very mirror of his courageous spirit, has become weak and trembling. I can tell you one thing, Martha, a thinking soul is always sorrowful enough, but when it is a great soul like Oliver's, and it is wretched for any cause, then every thought draws blood."

Cromwell had hoped that his great afflictions would bring his friends back to his side; but envy, hatred and greedy ambition are not to be conciliated. Even at this time Ludlow, Lambert, Vane, Harrison, Marten—all the men whom he had trusted, and who had trusted him, stood aloof from his sorrow; and their sullen indifference wounded him to the quick. His unfinished work drove at him like a taskmaster. He must make great haste, for he knew that the night was coming.

"I am glad he is back in Whitehall," said Martha to her husband, when she heard of the change. "I remember something that Jane said about that old, gloomy Court; he will get better in London."

"I know not, Martha," answered Israel, sadly; "Fairfax was with him to-day, and he might as well have drawn his sword on his old friend—better and kinder had he done so."

"Fairfax is proud as Lucifer. What did he want?"

"The Duke of Buckingham has been sent to the Tower—where he ought to have been sent long ago; but he is married to the daughter of Fairfax, and the haughty Lord General went to see Cromwell about the matter. He met him in the gallery at Whitehall and asked that the order for Buckingham's arrest should be retraced. And Cromwell told him that if the offense were only against his own life, the Duke could go free that hour, but that he could not pardon plotters against the Commonwealth. It grieved him to the heart to say these words, and the next morning, the 2d of September, being the ninth day of his hard fight, he bade his wife and children "a good-bye"; but into this sacred scene not even the tenderest imagination may intrude. Afterward he appeared to withdraw himself entirely within the shadow of the Almighty, waiting the signal for his release in a peaceful, even a happy mood, and saying in a more and more labored voice, "Truly God is good—indeed He is—He will not leave. My work is done—but God will be—with His people." Some one offered him a drink to ease his restlessness and give him sleep, but he refused it. "It is not my design to drink or to sleep," he said; "my design is to make what haste I can to be gone." The last extremity indeed, but one full of that longing desire of the great apostle "to depart and be with Christ, which is far better."

The next morning, the 3d of September, his Fortunate Day, "the day of Dunbar Field and Worcester's laureate wreath," he became speechless as the sun rose, and so he lay quiet until between three and four in the afternoon, when he was heard to give a deep sigh. The physician in attendance said softly, "He is gone!" And some knelt to pray, and all wept, but unmindful of his tears, Israel Swaffham cried in a tone of triumph: "Thou good Soldier of God, farewell! Thou hast fought a good fight, thou hast kept the faith, and there is laid up for thee a crown greater than England's crown, a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give thee."

But Dr. Verity went slowly to the beloved Dead; he put tenderly back his long gray hair, damp with the dew of death, and closed the eyelids over his darkened eyes, and kissed him on his brow, and on his lips; and as he turned sorrowfully away forever, whispered only two words: "Vale Cromwell!"

PRICES IN THE WIFE MARKET.

Rates Run From a Pair of Shoes Up to Twenty Oxen.

In Europe, says a foreign explorer, it is customary for parents to give dowries to their daughters when they marry, but in uncivilized countries quite a different custom prevails.

In Uganda a man can buy a handsome wife for four bulls, a box of cartridges and six needles, and if he has the luck to go a-wooing when woman happens to be a drug in the market he can buy a suitable damsel for a pair of shoes.

A Kaffir girl is worth, according to the rank of her family, from four to ten cows.

In Tartary, no father will surrender his daughter unless he gets a goodly quantity of butter in return, and in certain parts of India no girl can marry until her father has been pacified by a present of rice and a few rupees.

Twenty oxen is the regular price for a wife among the Mishimis, but a poor man has more than once succeeded in obtaining a bride on payment of one pig.

At Timor no girl will think of marrying a man not provided with a certain number of elephants' tusks, and at Unyoro any desirable but impetuous suitor may purchase his wife on credit, but will not be allowed to enjoy her company until he has paid the uttermost farthing.

Among many tribes of Africa and Asia it is customary for a suitor to work as a hired man for his future father-in-law in the same manner as Jacob worked for Laban. A certain value is set on the girl whom he selects as his wife, and when his wages amount to that much he gets her, and not before.

A man who falls in love with a native girl of the Manzoni territory fares better, for all he need pay for her is two deer skins.

something of what they said. Presently Dr. Verity joined him. They said a few words about the storm, their words were emphasized by the falling and crashing of trees outside the windows, and by thunder, and lightning and driven torrents of rain; and then Dr. Verity said in a low voice, "He knows nothing of this—he is still as death; he barely breathes; he is unconscious; where is he, Israel?"

"Not quite gone—not quite here—Is he watching the battle of elements in the middle darkness?" Then for some minutes only the pealing thunder and the howling winds made answer. But John Verity was thinking, and as soon as there was a moment's lull in the uproar, he said, "Oliver is no stranger to the Immortals, Israel. They have heard of his fame. In their way they have seen and helped him already. While his body lies yonder, without sense or motion, where is his spirit? Is it now having its last fight with its great enemy? Israel, I was thinking of what Isaiah says, about hell being moved to meet Lucifer at his coming."

"But, oh, John, John Verity, all this great life is to be a failure. All our travail and toil and suffering to be a failure!"

"No, indeed! There is no failure. No, no, nothing of the kind! We have ushered in a new era of Freedom. We have made a breakwater against tyranny. Kings will remember forevermore that they have a joint in their necks. Oliver has done, to the last tittle, the work he was sent to do. It is Oliver the Conqueror! Not Oliver the Failure. Remember, Israel, it is not incumbent on us to finish the work; we can leave it in God's hands. And though we have to leave it behind us incomplete, God will use it some way and somewhere, and the news will find us, even in heaven, and sweeten our happy labors there. I believe this, I do with all my soul."

The Passing of the Shakers.

Sooner or later failure comes to the communistic experiments in this country. Not long ago the Oneida community, after an existence of over half a century, wound up its affairs and went out of business. It was a flourishing community in its time, but it was forced more than once to adapt its practices to the ideas of contemporary society. In 1879 it introduced marriage and family life, and in 1880 it entirely gave up its community idea and became a joint stock company. After more than twenty years of corporate existence it found there was no place for it and wisely quit.

Now another community, no less widely known than the Oneida community, is about to share the fate of all such experiments. This is the Shakers of Lebanon, N. Y. Nearly a century ago Mother Ann's little family of the "United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing" settled in Lebanon and became the parent society of the sect familiarly known as "the Shakers." They had their peculiar religious beliefs, but there was nothing in them that did not tend toward good citizenship and good character. Though their dream of Christian communism may never be realized, it was no less a lofty and noble dream. They held their property in common, believed idleness a sin, and every one worked who could work. The sick and the feeble and the old were tenderly cared for. The Shakers had excellent schools. Their farms were model farms, and their farm products had a wide reputation and commanded large prices. There was a demand for them because people knew they were honest. From hundreds their numbers increased to thousands. For scores of years they prospered. Then the tide turned. Their numbers have dwindled down into the hundreds. Their farms are getting old and unprofitable, and their buildings are falling into decay. They have applied to the New York legislature for exemption from taxation upon the ground that they are a church. It is doubtful whether exemption will be granted. Even if it should be it is evident that the existence of the community will soon end.

As "it is not good for man to be alone," so apparently it is not good for communities of men to try to live in the world and yet apart from it. At all events, failure seems to be the ultimate fate of such communities, no matter how altruistic their motives and aims.

The Tide of Undesirable Immigrants.

Immigration statistics for the past fiscal year, lately made public by the chief of the immigration bureau, have caused renewed demands in the press of the country for prohibitive, or at least restrictive, legislation, and no doubt the subject will receive early attention in the coming congress.

The note of alarm expressed is not due to the numbers of immigrants—857,046 in the past year—but to the large proportion of undesirables among the new arrivals. Ten years ago Italy, Austria-Hungary and Russia sent us but 71,000 immigrants, while 353,000 came from England, Ireland and Germany. Last year the immigration from Russia, Italy and Austria-Hungary reached a total of 672,000, while the desirable element, composed of Germans, English and Irish, fell to 109,000.

With alien arrivals at our ports increasing at the rate of a quarter of a million a year, more than two-thirds of whom are undesirable additions to our population, it would seem to be about time to call a halt.

An interesting experiment in profit sharing is to be tried by the Cuyahoga Telephone company of Cleveland. It is proposed to divide one-fifth of the surplus earnings of the company with the employees for six months dating from July 1. If it is found that the efficiency of the service is increased the profit sharing plan will be made permanent. If no returns are noticeable the experiment will be discontinued. It is estimated that the division will range between one-half and a full month's salary for each employee.

Some western railroads are increasing the wages of their employees, which is highly commendable, but they are not forgetting to make more than even by increasing their schedule of prices for transporting goods. The public pays the freight.

If the Virginian who says he has discovered an immense ice cave, could remove it to Chicago, where the ice trust has been boosting up prices, it might net him a cool million.

King Edward seems to have made such a hit in Ireland that he deserves an encore. It certainly cannot be considered his farewell tour.

And now Kansas wants freight cars as badly as she wanted harvest hands a few weeks ago. Will the Sunflower State ever be satisfied?

Suburban Trolley Accidents.

The alarming frequency with which serious accidents occur on suburban and rural trolley lines gives timely interest and pertinency to some suggestions just made in an open letter sent to Governor Bates of Massachusetts by Mr. W. H. Wheeler of Worcester. Mr. Wheeler wants the legislature to see to it, first of all, that no motorman shall be employed on a country trolley line until he has had two years' experience and has, besides, proved to a state licensing board that he is able to do the right thing in an emergency as well as to manage his car when no dangers are in sight. Just how the test is to be made is not revealed, and not much would be revealed by prearranged difficulties. Still, something could be done in this direction, and the idea has certain merits.

In the next place, Mr. Wheeler would have the state pass a law forbidding one rapid transit car to follow another at a less distance than 100 yards, and ordering the equipment of all such cars with a double set of air brakes, so that one could be used in case the other failed. The regulation as to distance between cars, which seems extremely close, could no doubt be enforced, but in the matter of air brake equipment it will be difficult to force compliance while the world and corporations remain what they are.

Lastly, Mr. Wheeler would have it declared a criminal offense, even when no accident results, to "steal a switch"—that is, for one car to pass the place appointed for meeting another. This nefarious but rather sporting act, he says, is often committed, sometimes with the approval of the passengers, who would rather take large chances than to endure prolonged delays, and therefore he would have rewards offered to those who betray the offenders. One of the essential causes of so many accidents on suburban trolley lines is that they are in reality undersized railroads instead of oversized street car companies and follow the methods of the latter at the great peril of their passengers and the public using the highways over which they pass. While the trolley lines are a great convenience to the suburban and rural population, it is evident that there is still chance for great improvement in their management, particularly in relation to public safety.

Wall Street and the Country.

Whatever may happen among the bricks and stones of Wall street, the country at large is not likely to suffer materially. Speculative disturbances in New York cannot upset the solid basis of wealth in the country. Agriculture flourishes without regard to the quotations on the ticker. The range of prices of securities may have this or that relation to their real value, but the grain goes on growing, and the live stock keep on fattening. All of this is eminently satisfying to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who tersely remarks:

"I believe the country will continue to enjoy its prosperity, because I believe the whole system rests upon agriculture."

With an abundant yield of all the great food staples the country has much to sell, and there are foreign markets hungry for its products. Of our exports, 62.72 per cent are from the farms. That contribution to the world's table yields and will continue to yield its tribute in freight for carriage from field to port.

While speculative fortunes may dwindle and fade, the real wealth of the country goes on increasing. In 1898 the aggregate money in this country was $2,073,000,000. In five years this sum has grown to $2,688,000,000. Cash in the banks in 1902 was $839,000,000, an increase in ten years of $253,000,000. American farmers in 1890 owned $494,000,000 of implements and machinery. In 1900 this form of wealth had grown to $761,000,000. The farmers' products in 1890 were worth $2,460,000,000; in 1900 their value was $4,739,000,000. Simultaneously the factories are busy. Their output increased last year $1,950,000,000 in value over the previous year, and they paid out $282,000,000 more in wages.

It is these fundamental facts that give the country serenity and security while the stock manipulators, who have been sowing to the wind, are reaping the whirlwind. The country at large is not particularly disturbed by the antics of Wall street.

It is inferred that the two college professors who succeeded in climbing to the top of Mount Goodsir, the tallest peak in the Otter Tail range and one of the loftiest mountains in the Canadian Rockies, made the dangerous ascent in the interest of higher education.

"I had a very severe sickness that took off all my hair. I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor and it brought all my hair back again."
W. D. Quinn, Marseilles, Ill.

One thing is certain,—Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. This is because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair and the hair grows, that's all there is to it. It stops falling of the hair, too, and always restores color to gray hair.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Two Great Railroad Schemes.

Public attention is directed to two great railroad schemes which a few years ago would have been regarded as chimerical and impractical, but which now seem likely to be consummated within the next two decades.

One of these is the Transalaskan-Siberian project, which, according to the plans adopted, will connect the railroad systems of the eastern and western hemispheres and give an all rail route between New York and Paris by way of a tunnel under Bering strait. This scheme has been talked of for the last two years, and it now appears that the project is taking definite form. A number of great capitalists have signified their purpose of putting money into it, while eminent engineers declare that there are no physical obstacles which cannot be surmounted.

The other project is that of the pan-American railway, which contemplates the construction of a continuous trunk line from New York through Mexico, the various states of Central and South America which lie along the line of route, down to the southern limit of the South American continent. This scheme was suggested twenty years ago and was at first regarded by the public as a mere visionary project of an impracticable dreamer, though farseeing men believed that ultimately it would be accomplished. Among those who placed faith in the feasibility of the enterprise were the late James G. Blaine, Senator Davis of West Virginia and Andrew Carnegie, who in 1889-90 attended a pan-American conference held in Washington. One of the results of this conference was the appropriation by congress of a sum of money for an international survey, and the several governments along the contemplated route supplemented this sum by appropriations of their own to aid the work, which has been going on quietly for years. While the engineers engaged in the work modestly referred to their enterprise as a simple reconnaissance, the practical result of their labors is seen in the fact that their international survey has been followed in many places by actual railway construction until now, when it is estimated that the building of 4,700 miles more road will close all the gaps between New York and Buenos Ayres.

It is thought that $200,000,000 will be sufficient to bring together the various separate and at present disjointed links in the great railway chain, and moneyed men are beginning to take a keen and active interest in an enterprise which will ultimately link the North and South American continents in bands of steel. With the completion of a line of railway reaching practically from Cape Horn to the Canadian boundary James G. Blaine's great dream of a pan-American defensive and commercial alliance may yet be realized.

There are marvelous possibilities in these two great railway schemes, and twenty years hence it may be possible for a traveler to enter a train at Cape Horn, traverse the length of South and Central America, north through the western part of the United States to Alaska, across or under the Bering strait to the extreme northeastern point of Asiatic Russia, thence westward toward St. Petersburg or Moscow, thence southwesterly to Berlin and so on to Paris. The person who twenty-five years ago would have spoken of this as a thing likely to come to pass would have been regarded as a visionary of the extreme type, but in this age of science and progress the wild dreams of today are the accomplishments of tomorrow.

A curious use of the phonograph was recently found by the Hungarian Jews in Chicago, who wrote to the chief rabbi of Presburg, in Hungary, asking him to send over a good rabbi able to preach in the Magyar tongue. Since Chicago is too far away for a trial trip, the chosen candidate preached some of his best discourses in Magyar and in German into a phonograph, and when the records reached Chicago he was promptly elected. This plan would hardly work in many communities where a candidate for the pastorate is on trial, as the "cut of his jib" and clerical garments is frequently regarded as important as his ability to preach the gospel.

A dispatch from Ardmore, Pa., to the Philadelphia Record relates that Michael Costello of that place got grass seed in his eye while pushing a lawn mower, and in consequence of the seed sprouting will lose his eyesight. Some people have always contended that the lawn mower habit would lead to some bad end.

King Edward told the people of Dublin that he had long been in sympathy with movements to advance the well being of Ireland. Doubtless some of them are wondering why he didn't say so before.

The college yell appears to be the only evidence to support the scientific theory that the inhabitants of North America will revert to the aboriginal type.

Possibly Mr. Schwab may be seeking health under an assumed name, though it is pretty certain that he uses no alias on pay day.

After the failure of kerosene oil as a mosquito exterminator the Standard Oil company may feel constrained to raise the price to offset the decreased consumption.

In the neighborhood of Maxton, N. C., there are 400 acres of cucumbers, though no statistician has yet computed the number of aches to the acre.

CHICAGO'S BIG FETE.

Chicago's Centennial jubilee, to be given this fall, is beginning to attract attention throughout the Western states. From Sept. 26 to Oct. 1 the city will be the scene of a series of municipal fetes such as have been equaled only in the days of the Romans. Two of the most popular features on the program will be a military parade and a vivid reproduction of the burning of Chicago.

In the mimic conflagration 500 tons of Roman fire will be ignited simultaneously on the tops of the taller buildings within the area burned by the great fire of 1871. The skyscrapers will be especial vantage grounds for the display, and from the DeKoven street home of the famous Mrs. O'Leary, where the great fire started, there will be a big flight of bombs.

In one of the parks there will be a reproduction of Fort Dearborn, built in 1803. This was the first white man's building in the city, and it is to commemorate its construction that the jubilee is held. Four hundred Indians, descendants of the tribes that once lived in Chicago, will hold camp about the fort and make a daily attack on it. The structure also will be the scene of a reunion of the scattered pioneers of the city.

An industrial parade at night, brilliantly illuminated and containing many handsome floats, will be another spectacle.

The passenger department of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway is distributing an edition of a pamphlet which contains a synopsis of the plans of the entertainment committee for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the white settlement of Chicago, and setting forth the outline of a very attractive program indeed. The train service between Chicago and the west and northwest via the Northwestern line is such as to place all points within easy reach of Chicago. Arrangements for low rates will be announced later.

THE REVIEW CHIP BASKET.

Hewen by Hackney.

It's a queer old world we live in,
A world of strange conceits,
With praise for him who's honest,
And blame for him who cheats.

We spurn the common trickster,
But turn in friendly style
To greet the well-dressed sharper
Who has managed to make his "pie."

It is a mean thing for a man to go to heaven while his family goes to the poor house.

Blessed are they who do hunger and thirst after righteousness in social life. What the social life needs is a strong infusion of righteousness, charitableness, modesty, temperance, healthy amusement and intelligence.

A Berlin professor has discovered that seven out of ten girls who take piano lessons are attacked by nervous affections. It was long ago discovered that the people who have to listen to them fall a prey to nervous prostration.

Why should even a university professor assume to say what Christ would or would not do if he came to Waukegan? This assumption of confidential relations with Omnipotence by everybody from railroad presidents down to fortune tellers is becoming blasphemous and disgusting.

Rev. Whyte, Baptist, of Waukegan is trying to impress upon his parishioners what constitutes true Christianity and brotherly love. If he imparts the true condition of that city it is a second Sodom, and the reverend gentleman has poor material to work with. He says the people do not try to make conditions better. For example, he said that if the average citizen sees a drunk lying in the ditch he will call up the police and have the man arrested rather than, as he should, take him home and care for him by putting him to bed, in his own bed. That, he said, was true Christianity.

Chicago papers state that a meeting of prominent republican leaders of the state was held at the Great Northern hotel in that city last week at which United States Senator Hopkins and Congressman Lorimer were spokesmen, and means were devised to throw overboard Governor Yates. It is said that Senator Hopkins gently informed the governor that President Roosevelt was of the opinion that it was for the welfare of the party that he (Governor Yates) decline a renomination. The governor's friends say that the action of the senator and Lorimer is base ingratitude. It looks that way.

Static and X-Ray Appliances for Barrington.

Generally speaking, the use of static electricity and the X-ray has been confined to a comparatively few of the more successful practitioners in the larger cities, and the people residing in the smaller communities, in order to avail themselves of the great benefit to be derived from X-ray treatment, have been compelled to leave their homes and make more or less tedious and expensive trips.

A first-class static and X-ray equipment apparently covers such a wide range of usefulness that any physician, with even an ordinary practice, can employ such an equipment to good advantage, and we are glad that a resident physician of Barrington has equipped himself with one of the most complete electrical outfits, if not the finest, which can be found even in the larger cities.

Dr. C. A. V. Weichelt has installed in his office a Wagner Mica Plate Static and X-Ray equipment, with all of the latest accessories for applying the X-ray to the cure of malignant diseases, as well as the application of electricity in the treatment of the numerous chronic diseases to which it is applicable.

The principle feature of the machine itself is in the use of the mica plate, made from scales of mica pressed together with melted shellac in such a manner as to make the plate, or disc, so very tough that it may be revolved upwards of two thousand revolutions per minute without danger of breakage. Glass plates such as are commonly used in the construction of similar machines cannot be run more than four or five hundred revolutions per minute. The high speed at which the mica plates may be revolved produces not only a very large quantity of current but of tremendous high voltage, or tension, better adapted to X-ray work and for the treatment of most diseases. With the X-ray tube attached and the machine operated at high speed the penetrating force of the X-ray is most powerful, as the ray plainly shows through the body, outlining the heart, lungs and other internal organs. The bones of the hand are plainly visible quite a distance away from the machine.

One of the most remarkable attachments to this machine is the set of what are commonly called ultra violet ray tubes. The tubes are made of glass something similar to the X-rays, having the air removed from them in the same manner. These glass tubes fit into a metallic handle which is attached to the machine and charged with a very high frequency high tension current. The mode of motion imparted to the rarified air in the tube produces a beautiful ultra violet ray. The tube placed in contact with the skin produces but very little sensation but the ray, according to the best of medical authorities, will cure any skin disease such as Lupus, Acne, Eczema conditions. It also relieves inflammation and congestion on account of which fact some of the tubes are made so as to fit the cavities of the body. The one for the ear has been used with universal success in treating catarrh of the middle ear; catarrh of the nasal passages has also been effectively treated. In fact, the ultra violet ray tubes are used in the treatment of all malignant growths where they are not so readily treated by the X-ray itself.

There are so many interesting phenomena which are manifested from the operation of Dr. Weichelt's outfit that our space will not permit of their description. However, we feel quite sure from the pride which Dr. Weichelt evidences in his new outfit that he will be very glad to explain the working of the machine to any one sufficiently interested to pay his office a visit, and we feel confident that Dr. Weichelt will be successful in treating many diseases which heretofore have been unsuccessfully treated in Barrington.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At H. T. WINDOW CLEANERS.

Working in Skyscrapers is Hard on Nerves and Stomachs.

"The reason that we are always advertising for window cleaners," said the foreman of a company that employs 200 men in this business, "is that so many men throw up their jobs after they have been at it a week or so. Some of them even do not last so long as that. A window cleaner can make as good wages as a mechanic or a morman. The work is steady because nearly all the window cleaning in New York's big buildings is done by contract.

"Any number of likely young fellows really in need of work who promise well enough at the start give out within a few days. Sometimes it is their nerves that go back on them, but more often it is their stomachs. We send away half the men who apply for jobs without even giving them a trial. If a man drinks or is so nervous that he has to dodge trolley cars he should keep out of this business.

"When we take a man on trial the foreman breaks him in gradually. We don't put him on a skyscraper job right away. A great many private houses in this city have their windows cleaned by contract, and we start him in on that. If a man is no good at ladder work it is no use bothering with him. From private houses the beginner is sent to department stores and finally to the tall buildings. Once in awhile we find a man who can start in on skyscraper jobs right away without any trouble.

Don't look down. Look up at the time, is the constant admonition of the foreman. Not one man in ten is able to obey that order. The temptation to look down is irresistible. If a man can't break himself of the looking down habit it is all up with him. He is sure to come around sooner or later and give up his job."—New York Press.

YOUNG ALLIGATORS.

They Feed but Once a Month and Then Prefer Live Food.

"The thing of it being difficult to induce an alligator in captivity to eat is a mistaken idea," said a man who owns a young alligator and knows all about them. "The question is how. First of all, an alligator feeds but once a month and then prefers to eat anything that suggests life—anything that moves. For this reason anglo-worms, besides being good food for it, prove attractive to the eye of a small gator and later disappears with the same relish it would were the alligator in the streams of its native regions. Again, a small portion of raw beef makes excellent food for it, and the alligator never refuses to eat of a piece that is tied to a string and slowly drawn along in front of him, in this way giving a suggestion of life to the food. Another thing very important to know in the care of an alligator is to exactly understand how to make it comfortable. The best and simplest plan is to secure a box, any ordinary wooden box, and fill the bottom with sand, which is then covered with moss. Also have placed inside of the box, which must be kept in the sun as much as possible, a flower-pot saucer filled with water. This must be changed frequently. All of which makes the alligator very comfortable, for in case it should become tired of the water there are the moss and sand for it to get out upon. So with a properly arranged home or box and a little care as to its diet there is no reason why the little alligator tourists so frequently delight in sending their friends from Florida should not thrive in captivity."—Washington Post.

It is quite appropriate that Chicago should have the biggest museum in the world. There are certainly enough strange things in the Windy City to fill such a building many times over.

BELL HAS KITE AIRSHIP.

Langley Will Associate with Professor in Experiments.

Prof. Alexander Graham Bell declares that in a few days he hopes he will make an experiment which he hopes will place the feasibility of the airship beyond peradventure. Prof. S. P. Langley of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington will be associated with Prof. Bell in the conduct of the experiment.

Dr. Bell's work has been almost altogether with kites. He has abandoned the use of silk in the construction of his machines and has taken a lighter and stronger material, which resembles silk in its texture. Thus far he has succeeded in having his kite remain stationary in the air and has himself risen in one of the airships. In the experiments in which Prof. Langley will be associated with Dr. Bell the object will be to seek to obtain full control of the machine.

ANDREW CARNEGIE'S BIG GIFT.

Dunfermline, Scotland, Is Given $2,500,000 in Steel Stock.

In handing over to fifteen representative citizens of his native town, Dunfermline, Scotland, who were his guests at Skibo castle, a trust deed transferring to them $2,500,000 in 5 per cent bonds of the United States Steel corporation and Pittencrieff park Andrew Carnegie explained the objects he had in view in these words:

"It is an experiment the object of which is to attempt to introduce into the monotonous lives of the toiling masses of Dunfermline more of sweetness and light, to give them, especially the young, some charm, some elevating conditions of life which their residence elsewhere would have denied, so that a child in his native town will feel, however far he may have roamed, that simply by virtue of being such his life has been made happier and better."

Romance in Senatorship.

A romance extending over a quarter of a century came to a happy climax when Weldon Brinton Heyburn, United States Senator from Idaho, recently married Miss Yeatman of Chester county, Pennsylvania. Years ago young Heyburn met Miss Yeatman, like himself, a Pennsylvanian of Quaker ancestry, and they became friends. In 1884 the young lawyer went West and settled in Idaho. He became a leader of the bar, acquiring wealth, and last winter became United States Senator, but he did not forget the Quaker girl. Last week he went east and claimed his bride.

Drowned After Rescuing Mother.

After rescuing his mother from drowning in the surf at Coney Island, New York, Frank Masters, an expert swimmer from Brooklyn, lost his life in the undertow. There was a heavy sea breaking on the beach when Mrs. Masters, a fairly good swimmer, became exhausted, and Frank rushed to her rescue. He swam with his mother to the beach and then entered the water again. After a dive he failed to reappear, and the frantic mother, aided by the guards, found his body an hour later, half a mile away, thrown back on the beach by the tide.

Mrs. Golet's Gentle Rebuke.

Mrs. Ogden Golet, though a very wealthy woman, is much averse to extravagance and positively shudders at anything that savors of ostentation. Not long ago she gently reproved a rich young girl friend on account of an expenditure that was both silly and huge. The girl answered airily: "Yes, I suppose it is extravagant, but then I can well afford it." Quoth Mrs. Golet: "Reasoning by analogy, would I be justified in supposing that you would excuse your cook for oversighting your omelet because salt is cheap?"

IS MOST UNPOPULAR RULER.

Ferdinand of Bulgaria Detested by His Subjects.

European dispatches declare that prince Ferdinand, who now occupies the somewhat shaky throne of Bulgaria, fears that he may share the fate of King Alexander and Queen Draga of Servia. There is some reasonable ground for this apprehension, for Prince Ferdinand is perhaps the most unpopular ruler in Europe. When abroad in the streets of Sofia he passes unsaluted and unnoticed. This so annoyed him on one occasion that he said to a group of workmen who had scarcely glanced at him: "Why do you not salute me?" For a moment the men made no reply. Then one of them answered: "If you wish it we will salute you," and they did, most ceremoniously, but ironically. He once said, in referring to his subjects: "I can do anything with such a canaille." This remark became public and is still remembered with bitterness by Bulgarians.

SPUNKY GIRL TREES FLIRT.

With Aid of Pet Bulldog She Keeps Annoyer Aloft for Two Hours.

For two hours pretty Elsie Hoagland of Forest City, Pa., with the aid of a bulldog, kept a flirt treading, while a large crowd, attracted by the unusual spectacle, looked on, applauded the girl and "joshed" her victim. The latter was James Manley, a lineman, who was at work on a telegraph pole near the home of Miss Hoagland, when he espied her at the window. Humming "Elsie of Chelsea, a Sweet Little Girl," the lineman made desperate efforts at a conquest.

Tiring of his persistence, Miss Hoagland waited until he prepared to move toward the ground, then, with her bulldog, took a position near the foot of the pole. "Tige" obeyed her commands to "watch him," and for two hours Manley pleaded and begged pardons before he was forgiven. Miss Hoagland now is a heroine in Forest City.

DUTY OF RAILROAD COMPANY.

North Carolina Court Hands Down Important Decision.

The supreme court of North Carolina has affirmed the judgment of the lower court awarding Henry F. Seawell $4,500 for being struck by fifteen bad eggs while upon the premises of the Seaboard Air Line Railway company during the campaign of 1900. Mr. Seawell was then the populist candidate for attorney general, and was to speak to the people of Shelby. Arriving there he was told by a delegation of citizens that they did not wish to hear him. He decided not to speak, and while waiting to take the train a mob of his opponents pelted him with eggs, being aided and abated by the station agent. The court held that a common carrier is not only bound not to assault and maltreat an intended passenger, but after he has gone upon its premises it should protect him from indignity, assault and battery.

Has Learned American Methods.

One of the coming men in the English engineering world is undoubtedly Cecil Paget, who has just been appointed manager of the Midland railway locomotive shops at Derby. Mr. Paget, who is son and heir of Sir Ernest Paget, bart, chairman of the Midland Railway company, learned his profession in Derby works, but he has also visited America several times to study the methods in vogue here, which will almost certainly influence the policy he will now adopt. Mr. Paget, who is barely 30 years of age, will have under his direction about 4,000 men.

Official Baggage.

The English railways are about to devise a plan by which the loss of baggage in transit may be reduced to a minimum. In England there has hitherto been no adequate system of registering baggage, so that if the piece is stolen and replaced by another the loss is not discovered until the owner attempts to identify what he does not recognize. In the first quarter of the present year the French railway companies paid no less than 9,000 francs as reimbursement to clients from whom packages had been stolen.

A Fire Brigade of Women.

The town of Armidale, New South Wales, has a women's fire brigade that has earned distinction in numerous encounters with the flames. A dozen or more young women form the brigade, electing one of their number as captain. They drill with the town brigade appliances, and are capable of rendering assistance to the male firemen when necessary. They are expert in rescue work with the life-line and the jumping-sheet.

TREASURER ROBS PREACHERS' AID

Official Notifies Pastor That He Has Squandered the Funds.

SHORTAGE IS NEARLY $70,000

Although His Accounts Are Audited Annually, Willard S. Allen Succeeds in Embezzling the Money—Does Not Furnish a Bond.

Boston, Mass., special: Willard S. Allen, treasurer of the Preachers' Aid society of the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, is a confessed embezzler of nearly $70,000. The entire fund, with the exception of about $2,800, has disappeared. Allen now is in Canada, where he went fearing exposure. Allen was a man of considerable prominence in Boston. For more than forty years he was a respected resident of East Boston, for twenty-nine years he was clerk of the East Boston District court, for sixteen years he was a member of the Boston school committee and for twenty-five years was a member of the Preachers' Aid society, being its treasurer since 1891.

Accounts Are Audited.

The Preachers' Aid society was organized fifty years ago for the purpose of aiding and relieving the sick, aged and infirm members of the conference and the needy and distressed widows and orphans of deceased members. The corporation has no capital stock.

The fund amounted at the time of the last annual meeting in March to $72,709, invested mainly in conservative bonds. In addition the society receives and distributes over $6,000 annually, raised by voluntary contributions of the churches. The accounts of the treasurer have been audited annually and the securities examined, the same being kept in a vault hired by the society. His accounts were audited in March of this year.

Evades Giving Bond.

For more than a year an effort had been made on the part of the society members to have Mr. Allen give a suitable bond. This was not because of any suspicion of Mr. Allen's integrity, but because it seemed proper for the society to institute a business policy. Mr. Allen had shown some apparent sensitiveness about this step, but a vote was passed in May requiring a bond. Late in July other officers, finding the bond had not been deposited, made inquiry, and Allen promised to comply with the rule.

Tells of His Flight.

Recently Mr. Allen's pastor, who was on his vacation in Vermont, received a letter from Allen, dated and postmarked at Montreal, in which he confessed that he had, through speculation, lost the funds, and asked his pastor to notify his family and the society.

The officers visited the vaults and found the box empty, with the exception of certain shares of stock, amounting in value to about $2,800.

The officers of the society believe that Allen systematically speculated with the funds for a number of years and in anticipation of the examination annually, managed to procure the temporary use of securities.

Try to Save Woman.

Bunker Hill, Ill., special: The lawyers for Mrs. Ida Guller, who is charged with poisoning the Checkfield boy, will claim, if the analysis shows he died from having eaten a poisoned milk tablet, that he took it himself.

Rich Gold Strike.

Victoria, B. C., special: The steamer Aorangi has arrived with Australian advices reporting a rich gold discovery in the Tuena district. A big stampede is on in that direction.

PRESIDENT WARNS AGAINST LYNCHING

Declares That Mob Violence Weakens the Bonds of Civilization and Endangers Republic.

Oyster Bay, L. I., special: President Roosevelt has sounded a note of alarm over the increasing tendency toward the punishment of crime by mob violence.

In a letter to Gov. Durbin of Indiana the president warns the people of the entire nation that by permitting or condoning mob violence they are weakening the bonds of civilization and increasing the chances of the overthrow of the republic and of the substitution thereof of a system in which there shall be violent alternations of anarchy and tyranny.

The president calls on enlightened public sentiment to oppose with all its influence the tendency to mob violence. He declares that lynch law is lawlessness, that lawlessness grows with what it feeds on, and that when mobs with impunity lynch criminals for one crime they are certain to begin to lynch real or alleged criminals for other causes.

The president points out that when the minds of men are habituated to the use of torture to avenge crimes of a revolting description, other lawless bodies will use torture to punish crimes of an ordinary type.

President Roosevelt vigorously urges that the penalty for that crime which most frequently induces a resort to lynching shall be applied swiftly and surely, but by due process of the courts, so that it may be demonstrated "that the law is adequate to deal with crime by freeing it from every vestige of technicality and delay."

PROPOSE BIG WHEAT COMBINE

American Farmers Seek to Get Russia to Help Lift Price.

London cable: A dispatch from Warsaw says that an American association, said to comprise 38,000 farmers, has addressed itself to the Russian ministers of finance and agriculture requesting their assistance in raising the current prices of agricultural produce, particularly wheat, and saying that the association projects a great union between the wheat-growing countries of the world for the purpose of fixing an annual minimum selling price. In view of W. De Witte's abhorrence of trusts, it is doubtful whether he will accept the bait.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL WINS SUIT

W. Duncan in favor of the defendant company. He rendered judgment for damages covering attorneys' fees and the costs of defending the suit. Motion for appeal was made.

WHY HE THANKED HER.

Polite Old Gentleman Had Due Sense of Obligation.

"Do you see these?" asked the girl in the black sailor hat, holding up her hands incased in a new pair of heavy dogskin gloves. She was smiling as she spoke.

"Yes; what of them?" inquired her companion, who had met her on the elevated station.

"They just caused an unusual adventure. I was coming through Chambers street, when a dignified old gentleman stopped me. He took off his hat and held it in his hand as he said he wished to apologize for stopping me, but that he really must thank me. He was such a nice old gentleman that I smiled and asked him if I might know what for.

"As I came along," he explained, "I caught sight of your new gloves, and it reminded me that I had promised to bring home a pair just like them to my daughter-to-night. And now I will go and get them at once. Please let me thank you again for myself and my daughter." And then he bowed to me again and went on his way smiling."—New York Press.

She Didn't Care.

Maplehill, Ia., Aug. 10th.—"I felt as though I didn't care whether I lived or died, I was so miserable all the time."

In these words does Miss Nellie Barfoot of this place describe her condition. Every woman who is, or has been sick and suffering will understand and appreciate just how Miss Barfoot felt, and there are no doubt many thousands of similar cases.

It is truly an awful thing when a woman gets so low that she can say "I don't care whether I live or die." But Miss Barfoot tells a different story to-day, and her words should guide every suffering woman to the path of health and happiness.

"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I am cured. I feel like a new person, and I would say to every woman suffering as I did, give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial and you will not be disappointed. They are worthy of the highest praise."

Novel Taxation.

The municipal council of a little Swedish town has just introduced a progressive tax on stoutness. Below 135 pounds one is free from tax, from 135 pounds to 200 pounds one has to pay $3.12 a year, while from 200 pounds to 270 pounds the impost is $6. As to great weights, they will be a luxury for millionaires. One has to pay $6 for every twenty pounds in excess of 270 pounds.

Supreme Court Sustains the Foot-Ease Trade-Mark.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Justice Laughlin in Supreme Court has granted a permanent injunction with costs against Paul B. Yeager and others in New York City, restraining them from making or selling a foot powder which the court declares is an imitation and infringement on "Foot-Ease," now so largely advertised and sold over the country. The owner of the trade-mark "Foot-Ease" is Allen S. Olmsted, of Troy, N. Y., and the action in this suit upholds his trade-mark and renders all parties liable who fraudulently attempt to profit by the extensive "Foot-Ease" advertising, in placing on the market an imitation and infringement of the genuine "Foot-Ease." Similar suits will be brought against others who are now infringing on the Foot-Ease trade-mark rights.

Selling Eggs by Weight.

The provision officials of Prussia have been petitioned to have eggs sold in the future by weight instead of by number. The object of this request is the protection of German poultry and egg raisers against those of foreign countries, the statement being made that German eggs weigh on an average from 35.58 to 51.44 pennyweights, while those imported weigh from 25.77 to 32.15 pennyweights.

COMPELLED TO USE A CRUTCH FOR EIGHT MONTHS. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED MRS. P. CONLIN, CARBONDALE, PA.

Mrs. P. Conlin, 22 Greenfield Avenue, Carbondale, Pa., says: "I suffered with backache, and, despite the use of medicine, I could not get rid of it. I was compelled to use a crutch for eight months, and a part of the time was unable to walk at all. I fairly screamed if I attempted to lift my feet from the floor, and, finally, I lost control of my limbs through weakness, as I could neither bend nor straighten up to my full height, and if ever a woman was in a serious condition, I was. My husband went to Kelly's drug store and bought home a box of Doan's Pills. I felt easier in a few days, and, continuing the treatment, I

CLOSE MINES AT CRIPPLE CREEK

Eighteen Hundred Men Quit Work to Aid Their Fellow Workers.

OPERATORS WELCOME TROUBLE

United Effort Will Be Made by Managers to Cut Down Wages and Increase the Hours of Work From Eight to Nine.

Colorado Springs, Colo., dispatch: Eleven mines at Cripple Creek have been closed by a strike of 1,800 union miners, who walked out to aid the action of the Western Federation of Miners against the United States Reduction and Refining and the American Smelting and Refining companies.

The following mines are closed: Stratton's Independence, Portland, Vindicator, Ajax, Elkton, Anaconda, Findlay, Mary McKinney, Strong, Granite, and Gold King. The plants of the reduction companies treat 90 per cent of the camp's production. The remaining treatment plants of the district may also become involved. In this event the entire camp with its 7,000 employes may be closed indefinitely.

May Cut Wages.

The owners of the mines already affected generally welcome the strike. They are paying $3 for an eight hour day's labor, and the strike may be turned into a lockout by the mine-owners' association in an effort to secure a daily wage of $2.75 or even $2.50 for a nine hour day among the underground laborers and a twelve hour day for the surface laborers not directly connected with the mining. The smelting and reduction companies and the mine-owners' association are a unit in opposition to the Mill and Smelter Men's union and the Western Federation of Miners.

Claims Violation of Contract.

General Manager MacNeill of the United States Reduction and Refining Company, of whom an advance in wages and decreased hours was demanded recently, says the demand is contrary to the agreement made three months ago, when the strike then waging was settled by arbitration. He claims that his company is complying with the agreement then made. The mill employes struck some time since with a list of grievances. They have joined the dissatisfied smelter men and the two bodies are now on common ground.

GOULD IN A PAPER TRUST

Control of American Company Said to Have Been Secured.

Springfield, Mass., dispatch: Gould interests are reported to have gained control of the American Writing Paper company and large blocks of both common and preferred stock are said to have been bought by Edwin Gould within a few months. Mr. Gould was recently elected a director of the company, which has $17,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds, $12,000,000 of common stock and $12,000,000 of preferred. It is believed Mr. Gould obtained control of the company for considerably less than $20,000,000.

ONE OF THE LARGEST IRRIGATING CANALS IN THE WORLD.

A Project of the State of Idaho.

On the west side of the Snake river in Idaho, between Blackfoot and American Falls, there is being constructed by the American Falls Canal & Power company, under a contract with the state of Idaho, an irrigating canal 85 feet wide and 60 miles long. When finished, this canal will be one of the largest and most perfect irrigating systems in the world. By its means a valley of 100,000 acres of the most fertile and productive fruit and farm land in America will be reclaimed.

The climate of the valley is ideal. Cyclones, hot winds, floods or destructive storms have never been known. Grain, grass, vegetables and all varieties of fruit grow in abundance. A healthful climate, a sure crop, a heavy yield, high prices and a ready market, are features of this country.

Ten thousand acres of this rich land are now ready for irrigation and settlement. Purchase tickets to Blackfoot via Oregon Short Line Railway Co.

For full information concerning land, water rights, low prices, and easy terms, write, Evans, Curtis & Sweet Co., Salt Lake City, Utah.

Catarrh of the Stomach is Generally Called Dyspepsia—Something to Produce Artificial Digestion is Generally Taken.

Hence, Pepsin, Pancreatin and a Host of Other Digestive Remedies Has Been Invented.

These Remedies Do Not Reach the Seat of the Difficulty, Which is Really Catarrh.

E. X. U. S. Senator M. C. Butler from South Carolina, was Senator from that state for two terms. In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., from Washington, D. C., says:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine besides a good tonic."—M. C. Butler.

The only rational way to cure dyspepsia is to remove the catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh. Peruna does not produce artificial digestion. It cures catarrh and leaves the stomach to perform digestion in a natural way. This is vastly better and safer than resorting to artificial methods.

Peruna has cured more cases of dyspepsia than all other remedies combined, simply because it cures catarrh wherever located. If catarrh is located in the head, Peruna cures it. If catarrh has fastened itself in the throat or bronchial tubes, Peruna cures it. When catarrh becomes settled in the stomach, Peruna cures it, as well in this location as in any other.

Peruna is not simply a remedy for dyspepsia. Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Peruna cures dyspepsia because it is generally dependent upon catarrh.

RED RIVER VALLEY FARMS FOR SALE AND TO RENT.

I have over 200 of the finest farms in the RED RIVER VALLEY of North Dakota and Minnesota, for sale or rent. of all sizes from 160 acres to 2,000 acres to each farm, with fine buildings. Most of these farms are located along streams, having all the way from 10 to 50 acres of fine timber. They are all near railroad towns. Most of them are located in Cass, Traill and Steele Counties, North Dakota, and Clay County, Minnesota. I do not sell any lands in the northern or western parts of this state, nor in Canada, where drought and frost happen so often. Farmers in those remote parts of North Dakota and Canada have to do too much freighting on farm products to make farming profitable. You will save commission by coming to me direct, instead of buying your land through an agent. Case of Homesickness.

I want to get back to the orchard—
The orchard that used to be mine.
The apples are reddening and filling
The air with their wine.
I want to wake up in the morning
To the chirp of the birds in the eaves.
I want the west wind through the corn fields—
The rustle of leaves.
I want the old song of the river,
The little low laugh of the rills.
I want the warm blue of September
Again on the hills.
I want to lie down in the woodland,
Where the feathery clematis shines,
God's blue sky above, and about me
The peace of the pine.
O nights, you are weary and dreary,
And, days, there is something you lack.
To the farm in the little old valley
I want to go back.
—Lippincott's.

IT WAS AMUSING

To Watch the Smooth Tongued Fakir Pull in the Catch.

Take a paper, read it through, and note how many bled get, by confidence men and women too—well, the fools are not all dead yet. A man who will enjoy a hearty laugh as he reads of some Reuben who went down to the lake front to see the explosion, will bite like a bulldog in August when an oily-tongued fakir comes to town, and casts his bait.

When P. T. Barnum said "the American people will climb over each other to get swindled," he told the truth.

Last Friday evening a couple of well-groomed young men struck town and announced a concert to be given on the public square. Before darkness had settled over the village streets, the crowd had assembled around a wagon laden with trunks. Soon the fakirs appeared and after illuminating the scene with numerous torches, one of the young fellows began the opening address, illustrating to the multitude how Keller and Herrmann performed such wonderful feats of magic. He said that the American people were always looking for bargains—wanted something for nothing—and that Mandel Bros. had hired him to go about the country and demonstrate how cheaply good goods, such as gold watches, silver plated ware, diamond rings, books, stationery, etc., could be sold.

The party purchasing the last article offered for sale was to receive a beautiful gold watch as a gift.

From 8 o'clock until 11 o'clock that fakir continued to fish and every time he threw out a line he got a bite and landed the nibbler. The patrons of that fakir were, generally, a class who would pass by a home merchant who would not stoop to swindle. To those who purchased and got the worst end of it we have only this to say. Protect home institutions. Favor the men who show favors to you. Never run up against another man's game.

A Busy Place.

The Barrington Steam Laundry, under the careful and conservative management of the proprietor, J. F. Gieske, has earned an enviable reputation for prompt service and excellent work. It is a busy place every day in the week except Saturday afternoon and Sunday. From a small beginning Mr. Gieske has developed the business until now he attracts patronage from many surrounding towns. It is pleasant to note his prosperity.

Badly Bruised.

L. R. Lines, proprietor of the Commercial hotel, met with an accident Sunday afternoon, which laid him up a couple of days. His horse ran away, tipped over the buggy, and dumped Mr. Lines, his little daughter and brother, F. E. Lines, into the ditch near the Hawley Bros. farm, southwest of the village.

L. R. Lines and his brother had been out for a short drive about the vicinity and were returning home. F. E. Lines was driving, and was about to pass another vehicle on the road when the horse took the bit and plunged to one side, upsetting the buggy, breaking the top badly, and distributing the occupants on the highway.

L. R. Lines was holding his baby girl in his arms and saved her from injury, but in doing so suffered bad contusions on the head and the fracture of two ribs.

F. E. Lines escaped with a slight contusion on the head.

An Enjoyable Social.

The ladies of St. Ann's church gave an ice cream social on the Lamey lawn, corner of Elm and Chestnut streets, Tuesday evening, and it is the verdict of all who attended that the affair was most enjoyable.

The lawn was prettily illuminated by Japanese lanterns and gasoline torches, the Girls' band furnished excellent music and many amusements were offered, which kept the crowd interested until late in the evening.

The patronage accorded the affair was very gratifying to the young ladies who so ably managed every detail of the social.

When one hears another complain of being hard up it doesn't require the most scrutinizing investigation to ascertain a surplus of causes. If the old rule of producing on the farm practically everything necessary for the maintenance of its occupants was carried out, instead of buying everything, as is the common practice of the present day, Morgans and Sages would be found in the rural district without number. It may now be truly said that it costs at least ten times as much to live, according to the requirements of custom and fashion, as it does to live according to the demands of nature.

The wife of R. S. Burnett, a freight conductor who runs on this division, had $200,000 left to her recently by the death of a great uncle. She was busy washing when the news came. Mr. Burnett's many friends along the line are congratulating him very heartily over his wife's good fortune. He will continue on the road.

Mrs. Leroy Powers entertained last Friday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Sarah Church of Nebraska. The guests were Mrs. Church and Mrs. Jennie Davis of Nebraska; Mrs. Ella Harrower, of Chicago; Mrs. Louise Hendrickson of Elgin; Mrs. Katherine Church, Mrs. Sarah Benton, Mrs. Laura Hawley and Mrs. Jennie Powers of Barrington.

Next Thursday evening the Odd Fellows will entertain degree teams from Elgin and Carpentersville lodges which will exemplify work in the 1st and 2nd degrees. The local team will give work in the initiatory. At the close of titimistic work the visiting brothers will be given an example of Barrington hospitality, which will not be stinted. The Odd Fellows lodge of this village is very much alive.

The machinery and equipment at the foundry of the American Iron Company, Chicago Highlands, is being overhauled and put in shape for the reopening of the plant, which, it is said, will take place about Sept. 1. George Carmichael will be superintendent of the plant under the new management.

Labor Day falls on Monday, Sept. 7, this year, and as it is a legal holiday in Illinois, should be observed by all, not only the members of labor organizations, but by the business houses as well. A movement is on foot to request all places of business to close on that day. So far the blacksmiths have decided in favor of closing, and The Review will be pleased to join in a general observance of the day. A petition will be circulated, and it remains to be seen if our people will honor the cause of labor to recognize the day by cessation from business cares.

First Anniversary.

Barrington Lodge No. 856 I. O. O. F. will celebrate its first anniversary this evening. Invitations to the affair will be confined to Odd Fellows, their families and relatives. An entertaining program has been arranged and at the close light refreshments will be served in the parlor.

F. E. Hawley is making extensive improvements on his residence, corner of Grove avenue and Hawley street. The house has been raised and a roomy basement excavated under the main part and a substantial stone foundation constructed under the entire building. Mr. Hawley is also having a drain dug from the corner of Hawley street and Grove avenue to connect with the catch basin near Russell street, thus giving excellent drainage from his residence.

A Good Word for Dad.

We happened in a home the other night, and over the parlor door saw the legend worked in letters of red, "What Is Home Without a Mother?" Across the room was another brief, "God Bless Our Home."

Now, what's the matter with "God Bless Our Dad?" He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg, grabs his dinner pail and wipes off the dew of the dawn with his boots, while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly handout for the butcher, the grocer, the milkman and baker, and his little pile is badly worn before he is home an hour. He stands off the bailiff and keeps the rent paid up.

If there is a noise during the night dad is kicked in the back and made to go down stairs and find the burglar and kill him. Mother darns the socks, but dad buys the socks in the first place and the needles and the yarn afterwards. Mother does up the fruit; well, but dad buys it all, and jars and sugar cost like mischief.

Dad buys chickens for the Sunday dinner, carves them himself, and draws the neck from the ruins after every one else is served. "What's a home without a mother?" Yes, that is all right; but "What's a home without a father?" Ten chances to one it is a boarding house, father is under a slab and the landlady is a widow. Dad, here's to you; you've got your faults—you may have lots of 'em—but we miss you when you're gone.

Has Waited Many Years.

According to the gossip among federal officials Saturday, L. T. Hoy of Woodstock, secretary of the republican state central committee, will succeed Gen. H. H. Thomas as government appraiser. The republican leaders are said to have agreed on the appointment, and it was asserted that Mr. Hoy's name had been sent to the president as their choice for the position. Mr. Hoy was the campaign manager for Congressman Hopkins in his campaign for the senate, and is the secretary of the state board of pharmacy, secretary of the republican state central committee, boss of McHenry county politics, chief owner of the Woodstock Sentinel, an astute politician and a pleasant gentleman. Luman has waited many years for a federal appointment, having been mentioned for several fat, juicy jobs, and his services to the party are certainly deserving of recognition.
