

BEAN TRAGEDY IS HAPPING

Steamer Rock is Wrecked on Sticks Being Lost.

CAPTAIN SAVES HIS POST

His Log is Jammed Between Steam and Barley Injures Crew. Succeeds in Reaching a Lifeline After a Long, Hard Swim.

London telegram: More than 600 tons of beans on the steamer Rock of the Canadian-American Express, which went to the bottom early last week, are being recovered at the wreck site. The steamer was wrecked on the North Atlantic, 300 miles off the west coast of Scotland.

Of 775 tons on board the Danish steamer Norge, 118, including Capt. Gustaf are known to have been saved. One of the children died. Fifteen other children died in safety. For the missing 141 persons, search parties are enroute.

The emergency coast roll which was feared at the first news of the wreck has been decreased by the number of survivors, after many private inquiries had been made.

Search for Survivors. The horrors of the wreck itself are being described by survivors. The majority of the twenty who were landed at Greenwich, arrived at Liverpool, from where they will start on their way to Boston. Those are searching in the vicinity of the Rock for help in Capt. Gustaf's rescue. A search party was sent safely away.

No more tragic story of the sea has been known since that of the sinking of the Norge.

Many Tons to Hospital. Many Tons to Hospital. Thirty-two survivors of the wrecked steamer Norge were landed here by the steamer Carver. The rescued survivors were also taken to the Green Cross Hospital. The wrecked steamer was in a pitiful condition. Many were being treated in the hospital and had to be carried ashore.

Chief Officer is Drowned. Chief Officer is Drowned. The steamer was wrecked on the rocks. The chief officer was drowned. The survivors were rescued by the Carver.
