JAPS STILL PRESS ON

Fort No. 14, Port Arthur Defense, Captured on July 7—Gen. Oku's Army Continues Its Advance to the North.

Chefoo, July 12.—A Frenchman who arrived here on a junk from Port Arthur this morning reports that on July 7 the Japanese captured Fort No. 14. Tokyo, July 12.—The Japanese Taku-shan army is moving northwest from Suiyue. It fought a series of small battles with the Russians on July 9 and 10. The army is divided into two columns, which advanced against the Russians. When the column approached Chikuchang the Russians retreated southeast through the valley, but at 6 o'clock in the evening they took up a position on the heights west of Chikuchang. The Russians were dislodged at dusk, when the second Japanese column advanced along the road toward Tongchik, repulsing small bodies of the enemy en route. They attacked the advance line of the Russians near Sintangjaku. The Russians were reinforced and compelled the Japanese to withdraw. At dawn on July 10 both columns attacked and dislodged the Russians from the heights west of Sintangjaku. The Japanese pursued them and again attacked a strong position held by the Russians at Sintangjaku. After a desperate fight the Japanese occupied the position. After occupying Katchou Gen. Oku's army on Sunday moved northward. The Russians have strong defenses at Tapinghan, Nusenon, Nangmat, Chikuchan, and camps near Kuochia-pao. Gen. Oku will probably attack these positions as soon as his troops are rested. In the fights of July 8 and 9 the Japanese lost about 150 men. The Russian losses are believed to have been heavier than the Japanese.

Russians believe Gen. Kourou-patkin has decided to accept a general engagement near Liaoyang, where he is not offering strong resistance to the advance of the Japanese from Fenwangcheng, desiring to draw them on to his own selected ground. Eight Hundred Russian Dead in Battle Before Port Arthur. Chefoo, July 11.—Chinese junkmen who arrived here to-day from Port Arthur say that on Tuesday, July 6, a Chinese carrier brought into the town over 800 Russian dead, two of whom were high officials. They state that a part of the Japanese force advanced to within six miles of the besieged town, taking another column of the Japanese, and adds that he is proud his Wihorg regiment will have the honor of fighting for its emperor, the fatherland and the fame of the Russian. In concluding the emperor says: "My sincere wishes accompany the regiment. God bless its standards." A considerable section of the public even deduced from the message that Germany intends before long to abandon her position as a mere on-looker with regard to events in the far east. St. Petersburg Alarmed At Port Arthur's Plight. St. Petersburg, July 12.—The chief interest in the war centers at Port Arthur. During the day from many sources reports came that fast and furious fighting was in progress on land and sea, the Japanese keeping up an unceasing bombardment, with the effect that Port Arthur is now in a hard straits and does not know where to place the wounded. The cruiser Novik with the gunboats is making matters awkward for the Japanese batteries, which have been erected near the forts. Important Defense of Besieged City in Hands of Japanese. Tokyo, July 11.—The Japanese army now confronting Port Arthur advanced July 2, and after severe fighting on the 4th inst., at 2 o'clock in the morning captured Misao fortress, with eight guns. This is the first strong inclosed work south of Dainy. By this capture Port Arthur can now be more bombarded direct from that side. The fleet gave splendid assistance to the land attack, silencing the Russian guns and firing prisoners near Kaiping. Hard fighting is going on daily at all points of contact. The Russians are making a stubborn defense. The Japanese fleet at Port Arthur is co-operating with the army and is bombarding the forts. Reported Slaughter of Japanese. London, July 12.—Neither of the beligerents confirms officially the report of a serious Japanese repulse at Port Arthur. A Shanghai report says an attack was made on the western fort on July 10, and estimates the Japanese casualties from mines at 2,500.

A German map printed six weeks ago, from which additions have been made to this Japanese war department chart, places the Chikichan hill forts, captured by the Japanese, on the peninsula from which the Tiger's Tail promontory runs. This is southeast of Port Arthur and agrees with the location of the captured forts given in the Tokyo dispatches. There would, therefore, be little doubt of the accuracy of the position given in the above map. Chikichan hill is 554 feet at the summit. The forts on the sea side are built 350 feet above the sea.

the hills northeast of Port Arthur the Russians lost, according to Chinese reports, 100 men killed and fifty men wounded. Fifty Chinese carriers were sent out to bring in the Russian dead and wounded. A fair wind brought a fleet of junks from Port Arthur to-day, carrying both Chinese and Europeans. Reports which they bring of conditions at Port Arthur are contradictory, but they all say that a Japanese division from the northward is intrenching seven miles from the marine camp, while another division from the eastward is fighting continuously, and with the aid of the fleet is endeavoring to gain a position commanding the town and naval basin.

DEEP EFFECTS OF ANXIETY.

Whole Mental and Physical Being Disturbed by the Feeling.

In a paper read before the congress of French alienists at Grenoble Dr. Gaston Lalanne pointed out that anxiety is a disturbance which is expressed by the entire being. The exciting causes are sometimes physical, sometimes mental, and the symptoms comprise old feelings and chills of the scalp and body, general lassitude, incoordination of voluntary movements, far more apparent than real, emotional coloring of speech and vertigo which is dependent upon vasomotor cerebral disturbances or upon digestive troubles, such accelerated heart-beat, irregularity of the heart's action, heightened arterial tension and coldness of the extremities. Respiratory disturbances are also present.

The physical symptoms of "anxiety" include various degrees of vague dread and apprehensiveness, often taking definite forms, in which case they are designated as "phobias" or "obsessions of fear," weakening of the capacity of attention and of memory and a tendency to confusion of ideas. Hallucinations of the senses are prone to occur.

FREE TO TWENTY-FIVE LADIES.

The Defiance Starch Co. will give 25 ladies a round trip ticket to the St. Louis Exposition, to five ladies in each of the following states: Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri who will send in the largest number of trade marks cut from a ten-cent, 16-ounce package of Defiance cold water laundry starch. This means from your own home, anywhere in the above named states. These trade marks must be mailed to and received by the Defiance Starch Co., Omaha, Neb., before September 1st, 1904. October and November will be the best months to visit the Exposition. Remember that Defiance is the only starch cut up 16 oz. (a full pound) to the package. You get one-third more starch for the same money than of any other kind, and Defiance never sticks to the clothes. The tickets to the Exposition will be sent by registered mail September 1st. Starch for sale by all dealers.

Reminiscences.

"Ah!" exclaimed the new benedict, "I never began to realize how much happiness there was in the world until I got married."

"Yes," replied the cynical bachelor, "I suppose the poet was right when he said: 'A sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happier things.'"

Ne Wonder.

Oddball—You've got arguments seem to carry considerable weight. Enceph—You bet they do. She tips the scales at 250 pounds.

Don't you know that Defiance Starch is being absolutely superior to any other, it put up 16 ounces in package and sells at same price as 12-ounce packages of other kinds?

An artist, summoned for debt at an English court, said he got his living by painting pictures and then paying them.

Storekeepers report that the extra quantity, together with the superior quality of Defiance Starch, makes it next to impossible to sell any other brand.

CLARK SPEAKS TO DEMOCRATS

Missouri Statesman, as Permanent Chairman of the National Convention, Scores the Republican Party.

Champ Clark of Missouri was made permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention July 7. Temporary chairman Williams presented Mr. Clark as permanent chairman, and as Mr. Clark bowed in acknowledgment he was heartily welcomed. His speech follows:

"I am, I think, glad to say that all men are liars. Had he been in Chicago while Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was reading the Republican platform he would, no doubt, have pronounced the same opinion more leisurely, for surely there never was more mendacity packed into the same space in any document purporting to be a grave state paper."

"Shakespeare says: 'Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just.' And he but naked, though locked up in Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted."

"In the impending conflict our quarrel is just and we are in the right before all cavil."

"To state it in a general way, our contention is that the government shall be restored to the Democratic-Republican basis on which the fathers of the Republic intended it to rest and shall be made once more a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, instead of a government of the classes, by the classes, and for the classes."

"To state it with more particularity, we insist that exorbitant taxation shall be reduced to just and reasonable rates; that extravagance in appropriation shall cease; that economy shall prevail in all the transactions of the government; that all the departments shall be thoroughly investigated from top to bottom by congressional committees; that all evil-doers, of whatever degree, shall be driven from the public service and properly punished; that the trusts shall be proceeded against by indictment as are common and smaller criminals; that the constitution accompany American flag into our new possessions."

"To state it by an idiot."

"The proposition that we must support President Roosevelt's Philippine policy—if he has any—right or wrong, is the veriest rot—a tale told by an idiot. I am willing to go as far as any one in patriotism: I will support my country in any emergency. President Roosevelt is not the country."

"The time has not yet arrived—I pray almighty God that it will never arrive—when the American people will accept the arrogant dictum of Louis XIV. if repeated by an American President, I am the state."

"If President Roosevelt is at all worthy of his high position he must entertain a supreme contempt for those political supplicants, particularly those who claim to be Democrats, who go about with satirical moan, saying: 'The President is wrong in his Philippine policy, but we must support the President.' Out upon all such cringing idlers."

"Support the President's policy, eh? Will some gentleman please tell us what that policy is? He is any? If so, why doesn't he say so?"

"The truth is he has none. He is an opportunist waiting for something to turn up. He is letting things drift and they are drifting to the desert. Tomorrow our soldiers are being killed and are dying of disease in ghastly. For what purpose?"

Defiance to the Jingles.

"Will anybody venture to say I defy any jingo to stand up and declare with a straight face what the President's policy or the Republican policy is. No one will say, no one can say, but some say—more the pity and shame—the President is wrong, but we must support the President."

"To this complexion has it come at last by reason of the newfangled jingoism, that we must shut up our thinking, close our mouths, and chloroform our consciences in order to be considered patriots."

"No man ever found himself in worse political company than does President Roosevelt in this year of grace. He is in the hands of the Republican philistines and they will bind him with their wiles. In every state in the union it is a felony to get property of any sort—or to attempt to get it—by false pretenses."

"If the same rule applied to the getting of offices or to attempts to get them, the whole Republican party could be sent to the penitentiary."

Republican False Pretenses.

Mr. Clark then entered upon a discussion of what he termed the false pretenses of the Republican platform. He denied the Republican pretense that the Democrats favor free trade. He asserted that the Democrats favored reductions in the existing tariff rates, but not free trade. He continued:

"The true Democratic position on the tariff is this: Recognizing the fact that a large portion of our revenue has always been raised from customs duties or taxes, Democrats divide all imports into three classes—necessaries, comforts, and luxuries—and contend that the tariff taxes should be highest on luxuries, lower on comforts, and lowest on necessities. They furthermore say that taxes should be uniform on all articles belonging to one class."

"That is the Democratic party's position, from which it will not be driven or coerced or bullied. No amount of misrepresentation will cause them to budge from that position."

Greedy and the Merchant Marine. Chairman Clark took up the subject of the American merchant marine, declaring that "insatiable greed and criminal maladministration" had driven the "starry banner of the republic from the high seas." He continued:

"In 1860 we had the second largest fleet of ships in the world—our sails whitened every harbor and our flag floated in every breeze under the heavens."

"How sadly all this has changed after thirty-five years of Republican misrule. Last year of all the merchantmen that went through the Suez canal not a single vessel, great or small, except battleships, bore the American flag at its masthead, and our flag is seen in foreign waters only when flying over a men of war."

"We have things come to this shameful, this pitiful complexion in a country that has the finest material for ships and sailors in the world! Because our exorbitant tariff system has made it impossible for an American to build a ship in competition with the British shipbuilders on the River Tyne."

"Yet the Republican gang has the infinite gall to prate about its patriotism."

Attacks Philander C. Knox.

The chairman then devoted his attention to former Attorney-General Philander C. Knox. He declared that Mr. Knox had been made attorney-general through the influence of the trusts and was afterward transferred to the United States senate as a reward for his protection of the trusts. On this subject he said in part:

"People will open their eyes in astonishment and begin to inquire as to the why and wherefore of his appointment when they learn that the transfer of Mr. Knox from the Attorney-Generalship to the Senate was procured by the earnest and successful efforts of Mr. Frick, Mr. Cassatt, and Mr. Denham Cameron to induce United States Senator Boies Penrose, the new Republican boss of Pennsylvania, to permit Mr. Knox to be Senator for Gov. Pennypacker, who nominally made the appointment, does not appear to have been considered at all in the premises."

"The amazement of the people will grow like Jonah's quandary when they learn that Mr. Frick is the heaviest stockholder in the steel trust; that Mr. Cassatt is president of the Pennsylvania railroad company, which is one of the defendants in the coal trust suit now pending; and that Mr. Cameron represented the Standard Oil trust and Wall street interests in persuading Boies Penrose to let Mr. Knox go to the Senate."

"Folks who still dare to think will be forced to one of two conclusions: First, either that Mr. Knox is the only lawyer in America capable of conducting a suit against a trust—which is absolutely preposterous—or that Mr. Knox anti-trust crusade has been a bunko game from the beginning."

Chairman Clark then paid his respects to President Roosevelt and Wall street, saying:

"Here is a strange straw: It has been told in Gath and proclaimed on the streets of Askelon by the Roosevelt shouters for, lo! these many months that the trust magnates, especially those whose habitat lay in Wall street, are bitterly opposed to the President."

A change appears to have come over the spirit of their dream. It frames C. B. Loomis, assistant secretary of state, can be believed. That illustrious public functionary recently swung around the circle in New York and elsewhere to survey the situation. Upon his return to Washington he delivered himself of an interview, in which inter alia he said:

"While in New York I spent two days in Wall street, chatting with many representatives of the financial interests, and find that there is no longer any disposition to make a fight. And in accepting the situation, the feeling toward Mr. Roosevelt seems to have undergone a change, and I heard many friendly comments. I confess I was surprised at the extent of this change."

Plain People Bewildered.

Concluding his address, Chairman Clark said:

"Has the President changed his views, or have the trust magnates changed theirs?"

"Plain people cannot be blamed for being bewildered by all this kaleidoscopic performance."

"They cannot be censured because they did not see through it, for it is not that two and two make four, but that the transfer of Mr. Knox from Cabinet to Senate at the behest of Messrs. Frick, Cassatt and Cameron, taken in connection with the change of feeling in Wall street in favor of the President, has a sinister meaning."

"The trust magnates who secured the presidential nomination for Mr. Knox, since they have established the entente cordiale with that famous trust buster, ought to compel the young men of the future to take heed, who some time ago insulted and assaulted Mr. Knox in a public restaurant to go down on their knees and kiss the hands of the trustee."

"Then all will be lovely—away with the trusts and the trust-buster."

Secrets of Old Roman Bath. Women used to lose their hairpins a thousand years ago much in the same way as they do to-day. That, at least, is the impression one gets from the antiquities found during last year at the Silchester excavations. The most interesting discovery was the building which formed apparently the principal baths of the Roman town. The exploration of the baths yielded a number of architectural fragments, including a small altar, portions of capitals and bases, part of a large basin of purple marble, and some singular pieces of metal.

In a filled-up hypocaust were found at least 100 bone pins, which had evidently been used to adjust the back hair of Roman women who used the baths. Probably they had been dropped in the way women throughout the ages has shed pins, and were collected by the keeper of the baths. Some of them are quite three inches long and would make a man's hairpins for the present fashion.

Among the little known but keenly contested honors is that of being the champion bootblack of London. Since the title was first won by John G. Smith, who has been held by W. Coats, but recently at the annual competition at the headquarters of the Central (Red) Shoeblick society in Great Britain hall, the honor was won by G. Smith, who for a year will have the right to wear a gold medal and bar. At a given signal the six competitors attacked the boots of six members of the committee, and the rapidly with which the transformation from dirty to clean was effected was marvelous. Next of kind, who was present, distributed the prizes won.
